BY HENRY W. LONGFELLOW.

Labor with what zeal we will,
Something still remains undone,
Something uncompleted still,
Waits the rising of the sun.
By the bedside, on the stair,
At the threshold, near the gates,
With its moans or its prayer,
Like a mendicant it waits;
Waits, and will not go away—
Waits, and will not be gained.
By the caress of yesterday
Each to-day is heavier made,
Till at length it is, or seems,
Greater than our strength can bear—
As the beam of our drama,
Pressing on us everywhere,
And we stand from day to day
Like the darts of time gone by,
Who, as Northern legends say,
On their shoulders held the sky.

VARIETY.

Always at trifles scorn to take offense,
It shows great pride and very little sense.
Old age is a relentless tyrant; it forbids the pleasures of youth on pain of death.
An expert farmer down east has succeeded in raising a calf from the "night mare."
For parents.—The industrious and virtuous education of children is a far better inheritance than that of a great estate.
The literary style of asking for a slice of ham at dinner, is "I'll thank you for an elegant extract from Bacon."
Some mischievous wags one night pulled down a turner's sign, and put it over a lawyer's door. In the morning, it read: "All sorts of twisting and turning done here."

With time and patience the mulberry leaf becomes satin. What difficulty is there at which man should gnaw when a worm can accomplish so much from a leaf.
The average depth of the Atlantic is set down at 12,400 feet, and that of the Pacific at 18,000. On the western side of St. Helena sounds were made, it is said, to the depth of 27,000 feet—five miles and a quarter—without touching the bottom.
White procelain reflectors have been placed on the street lamps in Paris; an excellent plan, worthy of adoption, for by it the light which passes upwards and is lost in space would be then thrown down upon the street.
A man down East has invented a machine to renovate old bachelors. Out of a good sized, fat, grey, old bachelor, he can make quite a decent young man, and have enough left to make two small puppies, a pair of leather breeches, and a small piece of soft soap.

The celebrated German theologian, David Friedrich Strauss, who for many years has been one of the most indefatigable opponents of the Christian faith, has recanted his errors, and has yielded to the force of the arguments which his writings have elicited from the hands of his opponents.
The Denver Globe, of Nov. 23, gives a description of a newly discovered waterfall on the Lewis Fork of the Columbia River, which threatens to eclipse the far famed Niagara. The entire volume of the river pours over a precipice 198 feet high. The Lewis Fork is equal in size to the Niagara River and the fall is 88 feet high.

The rebel authorities issue bills promising to pay various amounts of money after the recognition of the independence of the Confederate States of the United States. That's much like the promise little boys are sometimes in the habit of making to do a thing "next day after never."—Prentice.
Business in Washington.—The three principal hotels at Washington city have cleared from $30,000 to $10,000 a year since December, 1861. Fortune has been made by men in every department of business there. The amount of business taken to Washington by means of the war has been sufficient to enrich almost all the inhabitants.
A married man falling into misfortune is more apt to retrieve his situation in the world than a single one, chiefly because his spirits are soothed and retrieved by domestic endearments, and his self-respect kept alive by finding that although all abroad darkness and humiliation, yet there is a little world of love at home over which he is a monarch.

An Old Coin.—A coin has just been discovered in a wood near Eatin, France. It bears the impression of the head of Apollo, crowned with laurel on one side, and on the other a person being drawn in a car by two horses, and in large Greek characters the word PHILIPPOS. It is a coin of Philip II., King of Macedonia, father of Alexander the Great, who reigned from the year 359 to 336 B. C. The money is upwards of 2,000 years old.
The King of Denmark has recently ordered the vigorous prosecution of researches in the Nydam Moss, in Sundevidt. Objects of antiquity of various kinds have lately been found there. They are stated to belong mostly to the second and third centuries. In course of six hours' search, besides a large Gothic vessel of war, a boat of various lengths was brought to light. Various weapons were found at the same time, some of them lying in the boat, others around it, among which were an iron arrow-head and three swords, with bronze ornaments on the sheaths. The excavations are going on with success.
Weddings are thus classified by a contemporary: A "honey-wedding" is when you start in wedded life, a "wooden wedding" is the tenth anniversary, when five little ones make everything look wooded to some folks. A "silver wedding" comes on the twenty-fifth anniversary, when the "old man's" pile begins to swell, and his hair is growing silver. A "golden wedding" comes on the fiftieth anniversary of the match, when riches become solid gold, and the golden days of enjoyment are past. A "diamond wedding" must come on the seventy-fifth anniversary, for no one runs up to the 100th in this climate; then all is sparkling—in the future; and that is about the last of it, on earth.

The SAILOR.—We trust our lives to seamen, and who nobly they fulfil their trust! They are, under Heaven, as good as gods to us. While we sleep, their untiring watchfulness keeps guard over us. All night through that bell sounds at its season, and tells how our sentinels defied us. It rang when the Amazon was on fire, and chimed its heroic signal of duty, and courage, and honor. Think of the danger those women undergo for us; the hourly peril and watch; the familiar storm; the dreadful iceberg; the long winter nights when the decks are as glass, and the sailor has to climb through icicles to bend the stiff sail on the yard. Think of their courage and kindness in cold, in temper, in hunger, in woe! "The women and children to the boats," says the captain of the Birkenhead, and with the troops formed on deck, and the crew obedient to the word of glorious command, the immortal ship goes down.—W. M. Thackeray.

PACIFIC Commercial Advertiser.

By Authority.

IN ACCORDANCE with Section 996 of the Civil Code, A. E. McGregor, Wana, and the Rev. E. Johnson, have been appointed Commissioners of private ways and water right, for the District of Hanalei, Island of Kauai.

WHEREAS, the Minister of the Interior has provided two places to be used for the deposit of rubbish and filth to be carried from the city, viz: the loko called "Poki," near the south end of Queen street, and the vacant land near the windmill belonging to the Messrs. Sumner, maka of the prison; therefore,

All persons are hereby strictly prohibited, in accordance with Sec. 28 of the Civil Code, from depositing any rubbish or filth upon any street, lane, wharf, or vacant lot, within the boundaries of the city of Honolulu, under a penalty of not exceeding, one hundred dollars, for each offence.

Tu. C. HEUCK, Secretary Board of Health.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 27.

THE appointment of Mr. John Montgomery to the Police Magistracy, which transpired on Monday last, failed to surprise us, after the numerous surprising appointments that have been made during the past two months, although it did create warm and pretty plain talk among many of our most worthy citizens, accompanied with some not very flattering denunciations of the incumbent. No one, we presume, questions his ability as a lawyer to fill the position, but there are other qualifications required besides legal knowledge, which he does not possess, and in default of which the office should have been filled by one who does possess them. We refer to the knowledge of the Hawaiian language.

The police court, as is well known, is now the chief resort of the native population for the settlement of their numerous difficulties, and probably three-fourths of the cases brought before it involve natives. Formerly there were here in Honolulu two police courts, one for natives presided over by a Hawaiian, and another for foreigners. Some two or more years ago, with the purpose of retrenching the public expenses, these courts were merged into one, presided over by Judge Davis, whose knowledge of the Hawaiian and English admirably qualified him for the duties which had heretofore been performed by two judges. It gives us pleasure to bear testimony to his general fitness for the place, although we at times had occasion to sharply criticize his acts. But we can say with truth that he has acted faithfully as a judge, assuming the position of an adviser and pacificator among the natives, who have looked to him almost as a father. Probably not more than two-thirds of the cases brought to him for adjustment have been heard in open court. We refer now to those numerous cases which may be termed pitiable, constantly arising between neighbors and others. These cases he has taken to his chambers, and after giving them a full and patient hearing, which his perfect knowledge of the native language enabled him to do, was able to adjust many of them to the satisfaction of both parties without bringing them into court.

It is impossible for a foreigner, who knows nothing of the native language, to understand the little minutiae of these patently trifling cases, and consequently he is totally unfit for the office, however good a lawyer he may be. He may give satisfaction in the foreign cases, but ought not to be permitted to sit and adjudicate complaints which he cannot understand only through an interpreter, and of course but very imperfectly in this way. We must remember that natives have rights as well as whites, and that their grievances are to them as burdensome and important as are those of foreigners. Taking this view of the subject, all agree that the Police Magistracy is now very poorly filled, and the court must lose its influence. Among the natives we find but one sentiment—general dissatisfaction.

There is another thing in connection with the appointment which has been overlooked. During the last Legislature, when the subject of voting the salary of the police judges was up before the House of Representatives, the natives demanded an appropriation for a native court in Honolulu, to be used only in case it was wanted. The house was informed, however, that Judge Davis had offered to perform the duties of both courts, and the appropriation was therefore superfluous. They argued, however, that in case of a vacancy, a foreigner might be placed in the police court who was ignorant of their language. Thereupon a statement was formally made to the representatives (we do not now remember whether it was in open session or by the nobles in joint committee,) that in case of a vacancy, the place should be filled only by a person conversant with both languages. Thus the salary of the native district judge was dropped, with a mutual understanding that the office, in case of vacancy, should be filled only by a qualified person. The appointment of Mr. Montgomery has thus been made in open contravention of a distinct understanding with the House of Representatives, to which the nobles, through their joint committee, were a party. The people therefore have a right to demand the removal of Mr. Montgomery or the appointment of another judge capable of trying native cases.

During the past few years, the police court has been an excellent school for native lawyers to practice in, and the result has been, a worthy class of men, (such as Kahalewai, Kahanu and others) is springing up, winning the respect of both natives and foreigners. But the placing of a judge on the bench who knows English only, effectually bars them from pleading, as natives don't care to make fools of themselves by a display of their oratory before one who can't understand a word of what they say. This appointment virtually deprives them of their occupation, and will send them back to raising taro and catching fish. So little do our foreigners protect the rights of the red skins, to whose kind generosity alone, our public men owe their living, and so little do we care whether they rise to become our equals or remain only "hewers of wood and drawers of water."

COMMERCIAL CALENDARS.—We shall issue during the coming week our annual calendars for 1864. The delay has been unavoidable, as the calendar would be comparatively worthless unless it contained the new Government officers. The appointments having now been made, we can soon issue it complete.

NOTES OF THE WEEK.

TRANSPLANTING TREES.—The season of the year has arrived when this subject should attract the attention of all lovers of fruit and shade trees. As we have water so abundantly in Honolulu, it is a very easy matter to rear up trees compared with the labor it required in former years to bring forward a tree to maturity. It has been ascertained that mango trees can be transplanted when three or more years old. In order to preserve the roots, it is well to knock the bottom from an old cask or barrel, and after digging around the tree, allow the barrel to slide down, and enclose earth sufficiently for the purpose of keeping the roots in their place. If possible, preserve the tap roots, although some imagine the tree will bear sooner and better if it is cut off. Dr. Hillebrand has introduced a new species of shade trees, called the pepper tree, specimens of which are now growing in front of the Queen's Hospital. It grows rapidly, and the wood is tough, and will bear strong winds. Persons wishing to obtain trees for transplanting, would do well to visit the Agricultural Gardens. If any persons have good shade or fruit trees for sale, it might be advantageous to advertise the same. This is a subject that demands special attention at this season of the year. With two such fine trees as the mango for fruit, and the algeroba for shade, any cottage or house lot may soon be embowered. The latter tree, especially, will grow in the driest soils anywhere on the islands, if only protected for the first three or four years. The grove of these trees around Kawaiaho Church is a wonder to all who remember the desert-like look the place had ten or fifteen years ago. No trees will better repay the attention bestowed on them than those named above, and now is the time to start them.

A YANKEE DINNER.—Last Monday was not only the birthday of the "Father of his Country," but also that of our respected townsman, Commodore J. P. PATY, who may be called the Father of the San Francisco Packet lines, as he has been on the route nearly 30 years, and made 134 passages over it. The Commodore, though well on to fifty, evidently felt as sprightly as the day he first landed on our beach, which was somewhere about the years 1824 or 5, and wishing to meet some of his old friends who with him had "braved the surging waters of the briny deep," ordered his steward to prepare a codfish dinner. At 2 o'clock, in company with some twelve or fifteen of our oldest citizens, we sat down to a genuine Yankee codfish dinner. It is of no use to try to describe it, for this institution, like a true codfish, is indescribable, and can be got up or enjoyed only by Yankees, "to the manor born." The cod was as fresh and tender as if it had just been landed from a Gloucester smack. An hour rolled by as pleasantly as any of the party ever enjoyed, and on shore, interspersed with anecdotes and toasts. May the gallant Commodore's flag float till it numbers twice 134.

INCENDIARY FIRE.—The people of Hanalei appear to have some graceless scamps living among them of the name of the "Yankees." The English school house at Waoli, Kauai, was set on fire on the night of the 23d, and nearly consumed. A correspondent writes that the fire was discovered between twelve and one o'clock at night, and had been started in the thatch of the roof. It having rained heavily on the 20th, and also lightly on the previous night, the fire made but slow progress. The furniture of the school, as well as the frame doors and windows were saved, but the roof was mostly consumed. This is the second incendiary fire that has occurred at Hanalei within a year past, and the Sheriff of the island should offer a reward sufficient to bring out those engaged in it, for it appears evident that both were caused by the same party. This is the surest way to put a stop to such villainies.

"A DIRTY REBEL SHEET."—Rev. J. P. Green has sent us a copy of "The Daily Rebel Banner," printed at Murrefreesboro, Tenn., just before that place was captured by Rosecrans. It is printed on a half sheet of quite dark printing paper, badly soiled—but probably affords a fair specimen of the condition of things at the South at present. It is printed so poorly that we can with difficulty read it. Among other items, we find the following piece of news: "Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe has accepted from the Crown Prince of Saxony, the gracious bestowal of a villa, the leaves her country for her country's good, at least what little there is left of it."

Like all the Southern papers, this has numerous notices of slaves and other property running astray, which misfortune seems to be on the increase all over the South. "Lost his horse."—A foreigner (Mr. Demick) while traveling around East Maui, where the ravines and paths are as dangerous as any to be found, was so unfortunate as to lose his horse in descending one of the paths, near Honomau gulch. It was raining at the time, and his horse trod on the outer ridge of the path, slipped, rolled down the slope and off a precipice, and was instantly killed on the rocks of the beach. It was a noble animal, formerly belonging to Mr. Green of Makawao.

Miscellaneous.—THE KOOKU.—Mr. Whitney, the builder of the iron-clad Kooku, has gone to Charleston, to assist in the operations for raising that unfortunate craft. It is thought she will be got afloat again. This R. Agnew, merchant, has bought the Church on Fifteenth street, between Broadway and Eighth avenue, New York (the Rev. Dr. S. B. Bell's) for the purpose of presenting it as a New Year's present to the congregation, free of all encumbrance. Some weeks ago, the residence, at Washington, of the famous Dr. Garnett, son-in-law of Wise, the man who called upon thousands of Virginians to help in the hanging of John Brown, was sold under the Confiscation Act, for $3,600, and is now renting for $2,800 per annum.

The manner in which the promise made by Jeff. Davis, on Mission Ridge, that Tennessee should be cleared of Yankees before the winter season set in, the discontent and dependency at the result are inexpressible. BISHOP COLEMAN.—A London letter says:—"Almost seven feet high, slender, but well-formed, remarkably erect and handsome, with clear-cut features, and full of light, there walked the great Banquo of the English Church—Bishop Coleman."

The Washington correspondent of the New York Herald says:—"Mr. Riddell, elected Governor of Louisiana at the recent election held in that State, was, as will be remembered, the Postmaster at New Orleans at the time that State seceded from the Union. He refused to pay over to the rebel government the postage which accrued at that office previous to the establishment of the rebel Postal system."

THE MEXICAN QUESTION AND THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.—Washington correspondence says that considerable comment has been made in diplomatic circles upon the reticence of the President in his Message respecting Mexican affairs. The Mexican Legation consider it a good omen. At the French Legation, on the other hand, this silence is accepted as an unfriendly indication. Commander-in-chief of the British navy on our eastern coast, in his reply to an address of the merchants of Halifax recently, paid a high tribute to the naval commanders and authorities and the Government of the United States, for their unflinching support of the British cause, and for the Government of that country acted honorably and promptly with regard to every communication sent to it by him. This reply has been "gallant and warm" to the rebel sympathizers in Halifax, and they would gladly suppress it, if they could.

Gov. Andrew.—Gov. Andrew's proclamation appointing Thursday, Nov. 26, as the day of thanksgiving in Massachusetts, contains this passage: "Blending the temper of forgiveness with an unflinching integrity of purpose; weeping with the bereaved who mourn the beauty of our Israel slain upon our high places; but catching the sublime spirit of those who have sealed their testimony with their blood, may we fail not to implore on this, our annual festival, strength from above to exercise carefulness in all our ways, and to strive for the vindication of right, and the overthrow of wrong."

AMERICAN RELIEF FUND.—A movement has been made in this city to provide a fund for the relief of destitute Americans residing in these islands. There are some needy Americans here who have no claim on the United States' or Queen's Hospital, and yet are fit objects of charity. It is proposed, however, to aid only such as have resided here at least one year, and have been employed in some branch of industry, and not strangers. A subscription paper was circulated last week, and over one hundred names pledged to contribute one dollar per month for this object. On Monday evening the subscribers met and organized by the choice of the following officers: A. J. Cartwright, President; J. L. Linton, Secretary; A. D. Cartwright, Treasurer.

The good which such a society can do depends very much on its management. If conducted so as not to invite objects of charity from abroad or to encourage a life of profligacy in a country where there are a thousand incentives to it, much good can be done. But to effect this, officers must continue to be men capable of carrying out the object of the organization and the wishes of the donors.

FEBRUARY 22d.—The anniversary of the birth of Washington occurred on Monday last, and was observed as such by Americans. The U. S. Minister, Dr. M. B. Rice, kept open house, and received the visits of his countrymen and others. In this connection, it may be well to record an incident relating to the late King Kamehameha IV. About the time that the Hon. Edward Everett was lecturing to aid the American ladies in raising a fund to purchase the Mount Vernon Estate, His Majesty the King directed Mr. Wylie to forward $50 towards the fund, which he did, accompanying it with a smaller sum for himself. Mr. Everett acknowledged the gift in a beautiful and complimentary letter, characteristic of the man. On another occasion our late King spoke in terms that showed him a fervent admirer of Gen. Washington, whose life was an example which any sovereign may study and imitate.

FROM THE GIANT ISLANDS.—The schooner Helen, Capt. Bush, arrived from the Guano Islands on Monday, having been absent a shorter time than was anticipated. Her report will be found in our marine column. Capt. B. speaks very highly of the schooner, and found her an easy comfortable vessel. Her best day's run was 209 miles, which, for a fore-and-aft of her size, 60 tons, is very good sailing. On Thursday she was purchased by the Haku Plantation Company, as a packet to run to Maliko, East Maui. The increase of trade and travel to that port renders a larger vessel than the Kamehameha IV necessary to do the business, and the company has secured one that must become a great favorite. The price paid, we understand, is $5,800, and she is worth every dollar of it, for she was built by her late owners, the Messrs. Foster, "on honor," and every stick and nail is guaranteed.

The replies of the Germanic Confederation and Denmark in regard to the Congress are published. All accepted. It was reported that Austria had sent a note definitely declining the invitation. It was stated that Drouyn de L'Hay had sent a circular to the French Diplomatic agents relative to the Congress, stating that the refusal of England had frustrated the combination; but France was ready to come to an understanding with the Governments, and is willing to debate peacefully upon these questions liable to lead to complications.

GREECE.—The King arrived at Athens on the 31st October, and attended a Te Deum immediately. All the ambassadors of foreign powers were present at the ceremony. Great enthusiasm prevailed. The King issued a manifesto, of which the following is a summary: "I bring neither ability to govern nor practical intelligence, but sincere love for the people. I believe the future identity of our destinies. I shall endeavor to love Greek customs, and shall respect your manners and language. I shall strictly observe the Constitution, and shall surround myself with the most experienced men of the country, without regarding out political divisions, and shall strive to make Greece the model State of the East."

STARTLING EUROPEAN REMOVS.—The Paris correspondent of the New York Journal of Commerce, writing on the 27th of November, says: "According to some views the reply of Russia to the Emperor's proposal is more earnest for its adoption than that of the other great powers. It expresses a great desire to come to an understanding with the Emperor Napoleon, in order to bring about a general pacification." The Russian organs insist that the Emperor Alexander's letter is 'of a nature to lead to the renewing of the best relations between France and Russia.' Such language gives some color to the rumors, and American opinion having been contemplated from the first by the Emperor Napoleon in case of his proposals being refused by the other powers. According to this version Russia and France are to coalesce Germany to yield the frontiers of the Rhine to Napoleon, while England is kept neutral partly through the influence of America and partly through her own inclination and policy. In return for this service France guarantees Russia from all European interference in favor of Poland and the United States from the same in favor of the South. But these startling rumors are probably only the inevitable consequences of the general disorder and disarrangement which at present exist."
