

PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY HENRY M. WHITNEY.

THE PACIFIC Commercial Advertiser.

Speech of the Hon. E. H. Allen.

On receipt of the news of the assassination of Abraham Lincoln, President of the United States of America, the Minister Resident at this court, J. McBride, Esq., issued a call to loyal citizens of the United States to meet at the Fort Street Church at noon of the 9th inst. After the opening exercises, Mr. McBride introduced to the meeting the Hon. E. H. Allen, Chief Justice of the Kingdom, who was pleased to address them as follows:

I greet you, my friends, this morning in sorrow and anguish of spirit. I know full well the painful impression made on your hearts by the sad news, announced on our arrival yesterday from San Francisco. The grief, the general, the noble Lincoln, President of the United States, has fallen by the hand of an assassin.

I was in San Francisco when the sad intelligence reached there. You can imagine the reaction which it produced on the popular feeling so excited by the recent news of a succession of great victories, the fall of Richmond, and the surrender of General Lee and his army. The grief, the general, the noble Lincoln, President of the United States, has fallen by the hand of an assassin.

This is not the occasion to give an analysis of the character of Mr. Lincoln. Few men have appeared in history of greater eminence in the world's affairs in times so momentous and with responsibilities so great. To do justice to his character, to give a true and just reflection of his life, would require a volume as large as the world's history.

When he assumed the duties of President, his first steps were marked by difficulties. He had no military or naval experience, and he had to deal with a country that was in a state of anarchy.

I apprehend that he, in common with many leading statesmen of the nation, did not realize fully the extent of the rebellion of the South until it had reached a point where it was difficult to stop it.
