

THE PACIFIC Commercial Advertiser.

EUROPEAN CORRESPONDENCE—No. 11. PARIS, October 2, 1867.

The interest of the American section, we notice that every thing appears confused, and articles are mixed up together. In the group devoted to liberal and applied arts we see some excellent samples of book-binding and some good photographs—conspicuous among which are Lawrence and Housewirth's views of California.

The American Bible Society here expose samples of the bibles which they print for different countries, and the American Tract Society the little books they send off, and which find their way into a great many Sunday school libraries.

Chickering's and Steenway's pianos are to be seen here. Both these firms were awarded the highest premium. An instrumental concert seems to be always in progress here, the quality of the instruments being of a tested and some performer.

One should not fail, in passing through, to note a wheel making machine by Mr. Jacobs, of Portland, Oregon; also, a machine for binding books, by Mr. Snow, of Boston; a composing machine, by Mr. Sweet, Syracuse, New York, and a machine for file cutting, exhibited by the Becklin File Manufacturing Co.

After finishing up this department we will go into the American Restaurant, kept by Dows & Guild. Here one can be waited on by a colored man, an American institution, and can order Boston brown bread, Indian pudding and squash pies.

From the great number of American drinks, one ought to be suited. You can call for brandy-cocktail, whisky-punch, or brandy, gin and claret-punch, brandy-ling, sherry-cobbler, mint-julep, and egg-nog. It is very common to see the Parisians trying these various drinks. But the great institution here is the soda fountain.

There are three or four of these soda water stands, which are usually surrounded with a crowd. On warm days the jam is terrible; I have been as long as half an hour getting up to the counter to get a glass for a lady. The charge is 50 centimes, equal to one American dime per glass.

The proprietor will undoubtedly retire with a fortune after the Exposition closes. EUROPA.

The Hawaiian white bark, Capt. Bismarck sailed on a regular run to Honolulu...

The ship BELVIDERE, which passed the port on Monday, was spoken by the WILHELM on Sunday last...

Business of all kinds is dull, and mechanics complain of no work...

The Gazette publishes the following item of telegraphic news, which we do not find in any of our San Francisco exchanges...

Our latest dates from San Francisco are to the 14th of January. The Murray will bring dates to February 1, and the steamer to February 15.

On our last page we publish in full the report of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce on the Hawaiian Reciprocity Treaty...

There are in all twenty-seven representatives returnable from all the districts. It may be well here to glance at the political complexion of the new body...

Up so the hour of going to press we have no report of any kind from Hilo or Puna.

On Thursday next, housekeepers will have an opportunity to buy new furniture, as Messrs. Wallace & Kidder will sell out the balance of their stock...

The election will show that the people have intelligence, that they do not believe the malicious slanders which have lately been promulgated by the Government press...

On Maui the contest was quite earnest, and in each district there were several candidates. The following was the vote at Lahaina:

On the first count of votes Kauai was said to have stood second on the list. On the next day the ballots were all recounted, with the above result.

On Hawaii the result is given as follows: Kuliiani, (elected), 117 votes. K. Kuliiani, 117. K. Kuliiani, 117. K. Kuliiani, 117.

Election and the Ministry. The excitement of the past few weeks has not passed off with the election. That popular influence have, as a general thing, a healthy influence on the people, in awaking their patriotism and love of personal liberty.

During the late elections, the campaign documents issued from the government press, and the speakers employed to advocate the government ticket, gave utterance to the basest slanders and falsehoods.

gone and done it," and they've let in generally and shown the Americans just what a cussed set they are, and told them how that they came down here to steal the Islands—a good many, as long as thirty years ago—and how that they want to make slaves of the natives, send them all to Kahaloa, gobble up their taro patches, and eat their poi, and issue paper money, and, oh! lots of worse things.

The election will show that the people have intelligence, that they do not believe the malicious slanders which have lately been promulgated by the Government press.

On Maui the contest was quite earnest, and in each district there were several candidates. The following was the vote at Lahaina:

On the first count of votes Kauai was said to have stood second on the list. On the next day the ballots were all recounted, with the above result.

On Hawaii the result is given as follows: Kuliiani, (elected), 117 votes. K. Kuliiani, 117. K. Kuliiani, 117. K. Kuliiani, 117.

On our last page we publish in full the report of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce on the Hawaiian Reciprocity Treaty, the former document inserted by us some weeks ago, having been merely a garbled report.

There are in all twenty-seven representatives returnable from all the districts. It may be well here to glance at the political complexion of the new body, which is to convene in May next.

Up so the hour of going to press we have no report of any kind from Hilo or Puna.

On Thursday next, housekeepers will have an opportunity to buy new furniture, as Messrs. Wallace & Kidder will sell out the balance of their stock at the store formerly occupied by Aldrich, Walker & Co.
