CHE FA CABINET.

The only Cabinet which can be appointed, according to present looks, is one which is "loyal" to Hawaiian institutions, meaning by Hawaiian institutions the Station House and opium and che fa combination.

It is laid down by that coterie that everyone who is not with them is an annexationist, and therefore unfit to be trusted. Further, the idea is now advanced that no one who had to do with the Reform movement of 1887, is eligible for a Minister.

It remains now to be seen whether the Legislature, which voted out Parker and Neumann, will take them back at the behest of the combination above named.

It seems very evident that such men as Messrs. Marsden, G. N. Wilcox and C. L. Carter, the latter for Attorney-General of course, will not answer the requirements of the "Hawaiian institutions."

A CRITICISM ANSWERED.

Mr. T. R. Walker contributes a letter to this paper criticising an article lately published entitled "The Case of the Queen vs. the Constitution." The gist of Mr. Walker's argument seems to be that there is no unwritten constitutional law in this country, and that therefore the Sovereign may do anything she likes, as long as the anything is not expressly prohibited by the Constitution.

ginal instrument, making it fuller, richer and more concrete. The American Constitution is no longer the mere written instrument, but the instrument plus the judicial decisions of a hundred years. In particular it was enriched by the great series of decisions rendered by Chief Justice Marshall.

The Hawaiian Constitution is an attempt to establish a certain political system, to create, or define certain political relations between sovereign and people. When the Constitution is silent as to contingencies which may arise, it is obligatory upon each branch of the government to do whatever is required in order to realize the fundamental idea of the system.

THE PRINCIPLE INVOLVED.

The principle which the majority of the Legislature are contending for is "Representative" Government as opposed to "Personal" Government. This principle has been consistently and persistently striven for.

Is the Macfarlane Cabinet one which has been constructed in conformity with the principle, or is it a personal Government Cabinet?

It is submitted that it is an exponent of personal government, of the most pronounced type.

It is claimed that the Cabinet was formed by Mr. Macfarlane; that he is the head of it; that he was one of the leaders of the majority of the Legislature, and consequently that the principle has been complied with, and the present is a Representative Cabinet.

The facts, however, belie these propositions.

The majority of the House, including Mr. Macfarlane, have been contending for the calling of one of their number who, upon consultation with the majority, should form a Cabinet.

On the other hand the back stairs Personal Government faction have been forming a Cabinet of their own; advising the Queen to refuse to send for a member of the Legislature possessing the confidence of the majority, and looking around for a sprat with which to bait their ready-made Cabinet, and give it the appearance of a Representative body.

Early last week Mr. Parker and Mr. Neumann were developed as necessary members of this combination. Mr. Gulick was discovered and placarded later. All of these were selected without regard to the wishes of the majority in the House voting out the Cabinet, and in defiance of the resolution signed by thirty-three members of the House.

Then the manipulators began to look for their sprat. They first lit on Mr. Pratt, and thought they had their quartette completed. It was stated all over town that these four would take their seats on Friday morning. Mr. Pratt had more sense than the combination gave him credit for.

They next spread their net for Mr. Marsden. Like an honorable gentleman, he immediately took counsel with his co-legislators, and as the result of the consultation he declined.

The vacant position was then offered to Mr. J. M. Horner, and declined.

The position in the ready-made Cabinet, which had been hawked about town for a week, finally fell within reach of Mr. Macfarlane's yearning gaze, and with a fluttering sigh and the murmur "be still," his yearning heart was still, he swallowed the bait at one gulp, without consultation with the majority—without even speaking to the four or five remaining members of his own little faction. And this is the gentleman who bristled with righteous indignation against Mr. Neumann but one short week ago, because, forsooth, he must be taught a lesson, and shown that he could not trifle with a party, and work things according to his private notions!

This Cabinet is paraded as being one "formed by a leader of the majority," in pursuance with the principle formally declared by the majority, and formally conceded by Her Majesty. Bah! It is a whitened sepulchre. A wolf in sheep's clothing. Mr. Macfarlane has stultified himself—gone back on those whom he was acting with; abandoned the principle which he purported to be striving for, and is playing stool-pigeon for Prerogative and Personal Government.

We believe that the majority of the Legislature will not be turned aside by reason of the difficulty of the way, nor allow themselves to be cowed or tired into submission.

"Be sure you are right, and then go ahead," is as good a motto now as it was two weeks ago. Mr. Neumann wilfully put his head on the block two weeks ago; the Representative Government knife fell and off it rolled. Mr. Macfarlane apparently thinks the edge of the principle has been dulled by use, and that it will no longer cut. He has accordingly rushed in and defies fate. Let him R. I. P. while the majority proceed on their way and establish the principle they are fighting for.

Next to the ministerial crisis the most important subject for discussion by Honolulu people is the scarcity of water. A subject which must have the attention of the present legislature or include the people of Honolulu and vicinity among the "great unwashed." In Waikiki the people object to salt water as a beverage, even though the chill be taken off with a dash of S. O. P., while a little further townwards the kick is against large deposits of mud placed in each glass of water. In Punahou district, where artesian wells are as plentiful as candidates for public office, the water is as scarce as prizes in a lottery.

What's to be done?

The government calls upon the people to economize in using, what may now be called a luxury—it asks the people to be satisfied with bathing the lawn twice a day and yourself once a week. The next request will be to drink beef tea and set calabashes to catch rain water. It taxes the people twenty-five dollars per annum for a good water service then tells them not to use the water. The government asks the support of the people in maintaining a good water supply. Has it ever occurred to the government that we have done more in our poor weak way to give the people water than any one else? Does it recognize the fact that wherever a steel Aermotor is in use the people have all the water they want and can bathe three times a day? Does it realize that there is more real worth in one galvanized steel Aermotor than in all other forms of retrenchment? If not we'll send it a circular that would convince the statue of Kamehameha in front of the Government House.

During the past week we have taken more orders for Aermotors than we ever have in any week since we have been the agents. The causes are obvious; in neighborhoods

BACK AGAIN.

Return of the Waianae Concert Club After a Successful Tour.

The Waianae Concert Club, under the management of Rev. J. Kekahuna, pastor of the Waianae Church, returned to Honolulu from a successful concert tour of Kauai by the steamer Mikahala last Sunday. There were twenty-four members in the club. They all were satisfied with the hospitable treatment accorded them by the natives of Kauai. Their board, lodging, and overland conveyances were furnished them gratis, the Kanaianians doing their utmost to make the visit of the Waianaeans pleasant and satisfactory. The club gave concerts and tableaux at Hanalei, Kilauea, Anahola, Kealia, Lihue, Koloa, Makawala, and Waimea. The members did not confine themselves to concert making, but also have done extensive sight seeing; in fact, they had visited almost all the places of note on Kauai, and they returned not only loud in their praises of their reception and financial success, but also of the grand sights they had seen—from the wonderful caves of Haena to the barking sands of Nohili. The club received from concerts a little over $400, and about $200 from contributions and promises. After paying their passenger fares, there will remain a sufficient sum for repairing and renovating their church at Waianae—the object which prompted them to undertake this concert tour. The steamer C. R. Bishop leaving this morning for a tour of this island will bear them back to their homes at Waianae. Rev. Mr. Kekahuna intends going to Hawaii to ask for further aid for his parish.

Public Concert.

"August Flower"

"I inherit some tendency to Dyspepsia from my mother. I suffered two years in this way; consulted a number of doctors. They did me no good. I then used Relieved in your August Flower and it was just two days when I felt great relief. I soon got so that I could sleep and eat, and I felt that I was well. That was three years ago, and I am still first-class. I am never without a bottle, and if I feel constipated the least particle a dose or two of August Flower does the work. The beauty of the medicine is, that you can stop the use of it without any bad effects on the system. Constipation While I was sick I felt everything it seemed to me a man could feel. I was of all men most miserable. I can say, in conclusion, that I believe August Flower will cure anyone of indigestion, if taken Life of Misery with judgment. A. M. Weed, 229 Bellefontaine St., Indianapolis, Ind."

CORRESPONDENCE.

We do not hold ourselves responsible for the statements made, or opinions expressed by our correspondents.

MR. EDITOR:

The serpent said to the woman of old, And now he says to the men— "Taste, Oh! taste, of the apple of gold, For gods ye will all be them."

And men looked longing and dreamed of gold. And figured awhile on the cost. The Paradise here has got mighty cold; But how about Paradise lost!

We learned our lesson when Adam fell; He made a mistake through haste. The devil has woven a subtle spell— But it costs too much to taste.

Sept. 5, 1892. J. B.

A Lame Excuse.

MR. EDITOR: The statement in last night's Bulletin, that I borrowed 50 cts. from Mr. Crabbe is absolutely false. I believe Mr. Gregson did borrow that amount, with the plain idea of showing up the character of the place, which we did very thoroughly. The account in the Bulletin is a very weak crawl, and does not meet one of the facts which we have charged the police with. If nothing better can be advanced than has been so far, the police had better stop lying and tell the truth for a while.

Sept. 12, 1892. P. GARDINER.

An Indignant Voter.

MR. EDITOR: In common with many others, I am indignant. Can it be possible that the people are to be imposed on by the appointment of a Cabinet, two members of which have lately been discharged for incompetency? And a third member was put out, even by Gibson, for a similar reason. And here we have three "lame ducks" imposed on us to give credit to the Government at a time when the Government needs men of sterling ability to steer the ship of state through the breakers which threaten on every side to swamp us all. No wonder that indignation is painted on every man's countenance. And how long is this state of things to last? Echo answers—how long!

A VOTER.

A Miserable Dodge.

MR. EDITOR: The attempt to jockey the majority of the Legislature out of its constitutional rights as to the selection of the Ministry, must be resisted to the end. Twenty-seven members—an emphatic majority of the Legislature—put their names to a plain and dignified document demanding a Ministry satisfactory to their majority. Six other members, with their signatures, endorsed another and a different document. The selection of Mr. Peterson to form a Cabinet, under the circumstances, was a slippery dodge—an insult to the twenty-seven members, the legislative majority who signed an unconditional document. To put forward anyone to form a Cabinet "outside of the majority" of twenty-seven is to defy the plain meaning of the Constitution. The unscrupulous tricksters who lead the Queen on this dangerous ground, in thus insulting the representatives of the Hawaiian people, deserve the severest censure. These irresponsible men should understand that the public is not deceived by their shallow devices. It is no time for child's play. Let the Legislative majority stand firmly to their ground, make no compromise with the tricksters, no compromise will save the Kingdom from grave perils, and in the end the Queen will find that her safety is best secured by taking the Legislative majority into her confidence. Mr. Macfarlane no more than Mr. Peterson represents the Legislative majority. The sacred parliamentary rights of the Hawaiian people are not to be gambled away.

What Our Visitors Will Do For Us.

MR. EDITOR: If we wish to remain unknown, unvisited, and unimportant; if we wish to drag out a sleepy existence a century behind the times; if we wish to remain isolated, a back number among the nations of earth; if we want the cobwebs on the wall and the grass in our streets, then let us close our doors to visitors, choke off the stream of travel, fill up our harbor, and be happy. That is a clamlike view to take of the matter; but we might as well look at matters in that light if we do not desire a closer connection with the outside world. What is wanted in Hawaii? A cable, steamships, palatial hotels, and water enough to keep the dust in subjection. Nature has given us everything else. If we had the four things mentioned, our everlasting prosperity would be established beyond doubt. If anyone doubts this proposition, he is incapable of grasping any ordinary proposition, because he has nothing to grasp it with. Conversely, we will never be worth map-room until these improvements are accomplished; the nations of earth regard Hawaii no more than they do the state of the North Pole—not half so much. How, then, are we to have a cable, and steamships every week? When will we have them? The answer is quite plain. We will have steamships when there are people to engage staterooms. If 50,000 people in New York started to-morrow for this country, what would happen? Half a hundred ocean greyhounds would turn their noses towards San Francisco at once. Start the people for this country and steamships will appear like magic. The trouble is not with the vessels; it is with the passengers. Provide passengers and capital will be forthcoming to take them anywhere on this round globe. The next point is, what can we in Hawaii do to help along this matter? We can do a great deal; we can do more than you ever dreamed of, friend; we can do everything.

We can advertise this country as the Pearl of the Pacific, the Home of Summer, the Modern Eden. We can do all this for money, and when we have accomplished our task, the people will start for San Francisco, and the steamships will start at the same time. Some of the steamship companies of the Atlantic would be only too pleased to order their vessels into the calm waters of the Pacific. Everybody believes in advertising goods, wares, etc., but when it is proposed to advertise a whole country some hesitate and doubt. "Hawaii for Health and Pleasure" is a motto that can be heralded from the Atlantic to the Pacific; it can be made as familiar as Southern California or Florida, or the Yellowstone Park. The first step then is to treat this matter from a business standpoint. Proceed in a logical, systematic manner to set Hawaii before the world as a new discovery in health resorts—the very latest thing for pleasure and recreation.

Hawaii can be made familiar to the world at large as something more than the place where "Cook was killed and eaten (?) by the cannibals." When it is recognized as a resort with first-class attractions, the people will come. Capital will watch the stream of tourists and will build hotels at convenient points. Imagine a palatial hotel at Waikiki with rooms for a thousand guests! It is something that can be brought about easier than might be imagined. Our first step is to get tourists interested in this country. To do that we must compete with Bermuda, Florida, Los Angeles and Alaska; and, strange as it may seem, visitors are seeking Greenland's icy mountains for recreation, change and amusement. We cannot offer anything in the icy line, but we have something equal to India's coral strand, and without the snakes.

This matter, if followed up, will put the country on the legitimate road to prosperity. No treaty or McKinley bill can then affect us. With the coming of the tourists come the steamers; with the steamers come the cable; with the cable come men-of-war and merchant vessels by the score. After all this, a deluge—of dollars. Is it worth while to advertise little Hawaii? E. E. C.

MR. EDITOR: Your issue of the 9th instant is conveying throughout this kingdom and to other countries an editorial headed by the words "The case of the Queen against the Constitution." What the effect of this article may be, at home and abroad, upon the national reputation and commercial credit of Hawaii, is a question entirely secondary to the more important one of the accuracy of its very notable heading and subsequent statements; and I think that many of your readers will search in vain in it for any statement of established facts which might justify such a leading notice.

Presumably, the Hawaiian Constitution of 1857 is the Constitution alluded to in this heading. In later numbers the Advertiser speaks of the (unquestionably admirable and desirable) constitutional practice of other countries. But your readers of September 9th will understand a direct reference to the Hawaiian Constitution only; and you do not show that the Sovereign has acted otherwise than in strict accordance with its provisions; nor do you establish that any conditions whatever have been imposed upon those members of the party lately in opposition whom the Sovereign has since August 29th requested to accept Ministerial appointment. The duty of such appointment is a responsible one, placed by the Constitution upon the Sovereign, whose fidelity to this Constitution is as solemnly promised as that of the Nobles and Representatives. I fail, therefore, to see in your article the justification of its heading.

The constitutional practice, by which the sovereign should consult one adviser and accept his counsel in the selection of others with himself for her appointment, is a very valuable one. So desirable are its results in the form of ministerial harmony and good understanding between sovereign and ministers that such a course has become elsewhere practically embodied in unwritten constitution. And such a course is understood to be favored by an influential part of the legislative assembly. Whether this course, hitherto I believe unknown to Hawaiian sovereigns and legislators, has been followed, or attempted, by the reigning sovereign, or whether it has not, I think that your article does not prove any case of "the Queen against the Constitution." With no more accuracy can it be said that, as regards the provisions of the Hawaiian Constitution, "the Queen is pitted against the Legislature." Everyone knows that wherever really constitutional government prevails "the law and the constitution are arrayed against personal prerogative." Is it desirable to advertise this historical fact, unless you show that the law of this Kingdom or the Hawaiian Constitution has been threatened? Great is the public appreciation of those men who have striven and still labor for the principles of constitutional government. But, sir, the desire to support such principles, whether they are already embodied in our Constitution or shall afford material for constitutional amendment, or are to be in future regarded as constitutional precedent, I feel sure that you will agree with many of your readers that they must not be obtained by any unfair or insupportable statements of what has been done by either Sovereign or Legislators under the Constitution which all are alike bound to respect. Thanking you for your courtesy in affording space for this letter, I remain, sir, yours, etc. THOMAS RAIN WALKER. Honolulu, Sept. 12, 1892.

THE LEGISLATURE.

Eighty-Seventh Day.

MONDAY, Sept. 12. The House was called to order at 10:02 A. M. Minutes of the preceding day read and approved.

The President stated that he had a message from Her Majesty which the secretary read. It states that she has been pleased to commission as Cabinet the Hon. E. C. Macfarlane Minister of Finance, Hon. Saml. Parker Minister of Foreign Affairs, Chas. T. Gulick, Esq., Minister of the Interior, Hon. Paul Neumann Attorney-General.

Minister Macfarlane—As announced it has pleased Her Majesty to place the administration in the hands of myself and colleagues. We desire to conduct the affairs of the country in such a manner as to gain and hold the confidence of the Legislature and people. We realize that many of you are men of affairs who are sacrificing time and money for the public welfare. We desire to expedite business and believe that this can best be done by taking time to gather the reins of government into our hands. I suggest therefore an adjournment for such time as the House may see fit.

Noble Thurston—Mr. President: Thirteen days ago the House exercised its prerogative and voted the Cabinet out of office. The Queen has now exercised hers and sent a Cabinet here. The House has now to decide whether it will exercise its prerogative again and remove them. The House cannot decide in five minutes' time what course it will pursue. I admit that if they are to gather up the reins of government they should have time, but it must first be decided whether they are to be allowed to do so or not. In order to settle that question I move an adjournment until Wednesday morning. (Cries of "Aye.")

Rep. Kamaoha moved the House adjourn for one week. Rep. Kauli opposed the motion to adjourn one week. Three-quarters of the Cabinet had been members of the House and Ministers.

Rep. Kamehili favored the motion to adjourn for a week. It should appoint a committee to wait upon the Queen and express their confidence in the Cabinet. The President stated that that would be unwise, and an unusual course.

Rep. R. W. Wilcox moved the House adjourn until to-morrow morning. It was not necessary to take a week to decide what to do. The Queen had done what the House asked her to do, and called a leading member to form a Cabinet. Now the question simply was—whether the House had confidence in the Cabinet so formed or not? There was no need of delay. The Premier was a member of the House. He was posted, and should be able to proceed at once. If the speaker was in order, he would ask for no delay at all.

Rep. Kamaoha favored a week's delay. It was true the new Attorney-General had been Attorney-General for twenty-seven hours; but he was so busily occupied during those twenty-seven hours that he had no time to consider the details of business.

Rep. Ashford admitted the argument of the last speaker. The fact that these gentlemen were Ministers did not show they knew what should be done. The House had had experience enough of that from the last Cabinet. Yet two of them were back. Why, heaven only knows—and perhaps one or two political athletes besides. The gentleman who stood sponsor to the new birth—the new political entity—should be advised not to waste any time getting the threads into his hands, as he would probably have no use for them after the next meeting of the House. The gentleman in question was a skillful political acrobat, and might make a fortune at the business. Picking up the threads was a secondary matter, and a work of time. The House could be ready in twenty-four hours to relegate these gentlemen to the political obscurity which they so well deserved.

Rep. White favored an adjournment for a week. He had an ax to grind, and so had Reps. Ashford and Wilcox. Their axes needed sharpening badly. Rep. Ashford—I do not intend to take mine to the Government grindstone, and see whether they will sharpen it or not.

Rep. White said that was just what he was getting at. The member from the Third District thought he could get up a Cabinet which would grind his ax better. He had his hatchet—his Lottery bill—and he wanted to find out whether the Cabinet would support it or not. Noble Horner wanted to find out whether the Cabinet would support his Banking bill. Noble Thurston whether they would send the band to Chicago, etc. Therefore he favored an adjournment for one week. The Cabinet should have a week to formulate a policy. More over the House needed a rest. For ten days it had been in the slate business, and was all tired out.

Rep. Ashford—This Cabinet is enough to tire anybody out. Rep. Wilcox withdrew his motion. Minister Neumann said he had not intended to speak, but, as he remembered, the objection to the last Cabinet was that it presented no policy. He did not need to be reminded that the Cabinet held their positions at the pleasure of the House; and as for himself, it made no difference whether he was voted out on Tuesday, Wednesday or Monday. It was, however, only fair to give the Cabinet some time to formulate a policy. If the Noble from Maui (Thurston) had considered that he would not have spoken as he did. As to the remarks of the member from the Third District, they needed no reply; everyone knew he was witty and somewhat splenetic. If he was really anxious to save time, he might have done so by being more silent.

Noble Thurston said the Attorney-General was entirely mistaken, as there were principles involved which had nothing to do with his policy. The questions were as to their person; their relation to the late Cabinet and the way in which this was appointed. These questions must be settled first. The motion to adjourn one week was lost.

The motion to adjourn until Wednesday was carried, and the House adjourned at 10:45 A. M.

ANOTHER REBUFF.

St. Andrew's Church Association Condemns the Lottery Scheme.

Remarks by Rev. Alex. Mackintosh and Captain Mist—An Interesting History of the Lottery Evil.

The special meeting of the St. Andrew's Church Association, held last evening in the Sunday School room, was attended by about forty ladies and gentlemen. After prayer by the Rev. Alex. Mackintosh, Captain H. W. Mist, president of the association, gave a brief history of the lotteries in Europe, England, etc., three centuries ago.

Rev. Alex. Mackintosh said that it was a foregone conclusion that all present would agree with the remarks of the president. But as they were all against the lottery it would seem an ex parte meeting, and he desired those who were in favor of the lottery scheme to give their arguments, if any. On failing to find an opposition, he continued, saying that the offer of the lottery people had a great tendency to dazzle ordinary people, but he asked whether anyone could prove that such large sums of money would ever come to these shores. Louisiana is a refuge for everything that is vile. These large sums are the outcome of people that are beggared by them. The speaker remarked that it would be better to live the life of old Hawaiians over again, than to beautify Honolulu with money obtained from such a source. Its evil effects on the people are not only confined to the two or three tickets they buy, but also selling everything they possess. He reminded his hearers of the effects of the fa playing on the natives. The argument that the lottery will stop all private gambling is fallacious, but the truth is that the big gamblers will swallow up small gamblers. America had tried it for a number of years and had thrown it out, but not because she had received so much money. Yet they say that the lottery would give the poor Hawaiians a chance to get some money. That is a very poor argument. The speaker said that the railroad people are going to take summary means against those who use the name of their corporation in any advertisement. Fools only would allow their names to be used in such a way. He longed to hear one argument in favor of the lottery. Twenty eight millions are collected yearly by the lottery people and fourteen millions are spent. Where does the fourteen millions go? He wished that question to be answered before he would go into any lottery scheme.

Capt. H. W. Mist moved, seconded by His Excellency Major J. H. Wodehouse, British Minister Resident, to adopt the resolution, which was adopted, as follows: PREAMBLE. Whereas, the establishment and maintenance of lotteries we believe to be opposed to the moral and social welfare of any community, which may adopt or further any such establishments or maintenance of lotteries; and

Whereas, a bill has been brought before the Hawaiian Legislature for the introduction into the country of a lottery system; be it Resolved, that the following respectful petition be presented to the Legislative Assembly now sitting. Signed on behalf of the St. Andrew's Church Association by its President, Secretary and Treasurer.

HONOLULU, Sept. 13, 1892. TO THE PRESIDENT OF THE LEGISLATURE: At a special meeting of the St. Andrew's Church Association, held this day, Monday, Sept. 12, 1892, the undersigned officers, on behalf of the said association, make respectful petition to the Honorable Legislative Assembly that it will decline to pass any bill which would legalize the establishment or maintenance of lotteries in this kingdom, we believing that the existence here of a lottery system would be terribly injurious to the welfare, moral, social and economic of the peoples of various races who constitute this Hawaiian community.

The meeting then closed with the benediction by Rev. Alex. Mackintosh. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, famous for its cures of bad colds and as a preventive and cure for Croup, 50 cents per bottle. Chamberlain's Pain Balm, a general family liniment and especially valuable for rheumatism, sprains, bruises, burns, and frost bites, 50 cents per bottle.

DARKIES HUSTLING.

ONE WAY OF MAKING THE EASY GOING NEGRO STIR HIMSELF.

A Pleasant Industry for the Charleston Colored Folk Originated by New York Tourists—Scrambling for Silver—Diving for Greenbacks.

A steamer was just leaving Charleston, bound for Jacksonville, Fla. A stop of several hours at the famous old earthquake city had made a pleasant break in the three days' run from New York. Many of the passengers had taken advantage of it to drive about the quaint old town, curiously observing the great cracks caused by the upheaval that still remains in many of the buildings. Others took a sail over to Fort Moultrie or to Fort Sumter, where the civil war was started. Perhaps the most interesting point for the sightseers who remained ashore was old St. Michael's church. Some of the more sturdy climbed far up into the steeple, from whence General Beauregard had watched and directed the battle, until the Yankee gunners had got the range of his observatory and put a cannon ball right through the steeple, not far from the general's head, when he discreetly retired.

These passengers were so much impressed with the historical associations connected with the place that it was almost a relief when a half hour's diversion came to them. As the steamer was moving away from her pier an ambitious little tug that puffed and snorted and tooted enough for a couple of ocean liners missed its hold, and the big steamer's bow drifted slowly around until she lay broadside to the outer end of the pier. Here she was held for awhile by a stiff breeze that pinned her up against the pier and by the mud that gripped her keel.

Perhaps it was the cheerful recollection of past experiences which they hoped to have repeated that caused all the darkies, big and little, the six-year-old pickaninny and the gray-headed, stoop-shouldered reminiscence of slavery days to hurry down to the end of this pier. There are few things that will arouse the dusky southerner who makes his home along the river front. He is an easy-going, happy natured fellow, fonder of a laugh than he is of work, who finds his greatest content in dozing away in some sun sheltered nook upon the wharf, resting to the full from the arduous toil that he fancies he may be called upon to perform in the week to come.

They were of this class who came trooping down to the steamer by the dozen and were, careful packing into one suit of the attire of half of them would have made a beautiful crazy quilt garb for one. It is doubtful if the most conscientious and painstaking cobbler could have constructed a decent pair of shoes out of the material he found upon that pier.

However, it was a diversion to the passengers on the upper deck to see that motley crowd, and when a dumpy little fellow with a wondrous mouth, that must have created a great vacuum in the atmosphere every time he breathed, pranced to the front and shouted, "Now, ladies and gents, jes' you to a dime at dia yer hole, 'n' if I don't ketch it she don't count," there were instantly three or four dimes aimed at the "hole." But none of them made a bullseye. I fancy the game must have been played before, for the instant the dimes flashed in the sunlight a half dozen white negroes leaped upon the shoulders of the possessor of the mouth and bore him to the ground.

Then there was a scramble! A Yale-Harvard football scrimmage is supposed to contain as much of writhing, contortions, unseemly humanity as it is possible to get into a given space. But a Yale-Harvard tangle would be a sort of kindergarten frolic in comparison. That one scramble lasted more than ten minutes. During that time the pile of dusky humanity was ten feet high at least, and there were trossers of writhing forms in the heap, all struggling with desperation to get at the unfortunate fellows down below who were supposed to be clutching the dimes. I'll warrant that during that ten minutes there was an individual waste of energy that would have kept the participants in food for a week if otherwise directed.

But that was only the beginning. The sport became as exciting to the watchers as to those who took part. Quarters and half dollars began to shower upon the wharf, which was now thronged with an eager, dark faced multitude, whose eyes glistened. The most sober minded passenger caught the infection and began to feel around in his clothes for silver. A well known Bellevue hospital physician, Dr. J. S. O'Neil, gathered together all the silver dollars that had been given him in change in Charleston, and kept half a dozen heaps of darkies in turmoil at once.

The climax came as the steamer began slowly to move away from the pier. Some one waved a two dollar bill and asked who would dive for it. "I will!" came from two dozen throats, and there was a general peeling of jackets—from those who were dusky enough to wear jackets. The bill fluttered on to the water ten feet from the pier. There was an anxious, hesitating, regretful pause and a scratching of heads. Then there was a plunge, a few sturdy strokes by a young negro, and he clutched the bill. The passengers gave him a cheer and the steamer sailed away.—New York Herald.

A Costly Meal. Pigs spare no expense when they wish to enjoy a feast. One in Bucksport, Me., made a costly meal by devouring forty dollars in greenbacks. The woman who owned him, while supplying the animal with food, dropped into the pen twenty dollars in gold coin and fifty dollars in bills. When she missed the money some hours later a search was made for it in the pen. She found the gold and a few scraps of a ten dollar note. Then the pigs was slaughtered and its digestive organs examined, but the money had evidently been thoroughly digested.—Yankee Blade.

Mild Winter Weather in Maine. Lumbermen returning from the headwaters of the Machias river report that the weather was so warm in that region during January that hornets left their nests. On Jan. 10 a teamster in Township 41 accidentally drove into a hornets' nest hanging from a bush, and the hornets, aroused by the collision, issued in fierce swarms and stung the horses so badly that they broke and ran two miles to the hotel before they could be stopped.—Exchange.

SUMMER ICEBERGS.

HOW THE ATLANTIC LINERS HAVE BEEN IMPERILED.

The Ice Crop in the Arctic Regions Seems to Have Been Unusually Large This Season—Hunting for Overdue Vessels. Experiences of Explorers.

It really tries one's faith in the hot season to read that the Atlantic liners are having unusual trouble to dodge the icebergs. On the most prostrating day of the recent heated term the New York papers announced that twenty-three small sailing vessels were "lost in Hudson's bay" and a swift little steamer had been sent out to search for them, and the first excursionists of the season to return from Europe told how they had to don their heaviest overcoats and wraps while in the iceberg belt. The bergs seldom get south of latitude 42, but at certain long intervals they outdo themselves and are thick in latitude 40. Below that the gulf stream, as a rule, soon proves too much for them. It was in the year 1817 that this periodicity was first noted. The Danes of Iceland and Greenland observed that the ice field covering many thousand square miles east of Greenland and north of Iceland, was on the move. They had noticed no change in it in 400 years, yet in a few days after the first perceptible movement the whole mass went out to sea, and while some fragments of it went nearly to Iceland others went far south of the usual limit. It is a curious fact that the preceding summer, 1816, was the coldest ever known in North America, but the connection is not apparent.

Dr. Kane declared that "the most remarkable place for the genesis of icebergs on the face of the globe" is at Jacob's Light, on the west coast of Greenland, in latitude 71 degs. Their genesis is well known. The vast mountain of ice that covers interior Greenland many hundred feet deep is ever sliding down the slope toward the sea. As it nears the shore sections of it are pressed into the narrow valleys which head the fjords. The lofty walls of these rocky inlets are worn to glassy smoothness by ages of such ice planing. At length the tongue of the moving ice mountain is thrust far into the sea, it breaks away with a noise beside which the loudest report of artillery is but a still small voice, and is carried seaward by the ocean currents.

Dr. Isaac I. Hayes had the rare good fortune to witness such a breaking away, but under circumstances which left him no wish to see another. The Danish captain of the little steamer which carried his party decided after a careful survey that the face of the famous glacier of Sermitssialek was safe against fracture for many a month and anchored so near that the upper edge of the ice hung far over the vessel.

The doctor and some of his party reached the summit and rambled for miles over its surface, jumping over the great cracks and climbing far down into the icy canyons, but the sudden fractures and deafening reports alarmed them.

After two days' exploring and sketching the captain decided that, after all, distance would be an advantage, and they moved to a point out of danger. All at once there came a report louder than the loudest thunder, and they saw the whole vast wall moving down toward the water. It moved quite slowly for a few minutes, then seemed to suddenly turn completely over. In a minute or two the water reached them; the ship rose till the deck was almost perpendicular, then went down almost upon her beam ends, every one clinging desperately for life, and the next instant a deluge of salt spray descended and almost buried them.

"And there before us," says the doctor, "floating in the sea, above which its crest rose 140 feet, was a glittering mass of blue ice lapis lazuli a quarter of a mile in diameter set in chased silver, as the sea was but a mass of foam. An iceberg had been born."

As about eight-ninths of a berg is under water, this one must have been over 1,200 feet deep. It is a curious fact that Greenland has been steadily growing colder since first occupied by the Norsemen. In the year 983 Red Eric made a settlement which soon expanded into two provinces with many thousand inhabitants. Of the eastern province only the little fishing hamlet of Juliana Shaaf remains. Of the eastern there is not a trace save the foundations of a stone church and one granite tombstone. When recovered in 1825 it bore in old Runic characters an inscription thus translated:

Vigdils, Daughter of — here. God Rejoice Her Soul.

Increasing cold, famine and isolation from Europe reduced the colonists to a handful, and these were massacred by the Eskimos. Abandoned by man and covered most of the year by ice the place is indeed desolate, and from the adjacent sea at intervals of many years start those enormous mountain masses of ice which make the seasons of unusual danger for the Atlantic liners.

Ho Chooses the Speakers. Hon. William M. Hahn, manager of the speakers' bureau of the Republican national committee, has long been known in Ohio politics as a hustler. He was born in Carlisle, Pa., and taken to Ohio at an early age.

At sixteen he entered the army as a drummer in the Sixty-fourth Ohio infantry, but soon took part as a soldier, served on General Hooker's staff and was twice wounded. In 1859 he located at Mansfield, O., and there became noted as a successful insurance man and general business manager. He learned the trade of a carpenter and worked at it some time, was seven years deputy United States marshal, and in 1858 was elected a member of the state board of public works and subsequently re-elected. In 1883 he became noted as a manager in state politics and advanced rapidly to the post of chairman of the state Republican committee, which he filled with ability.

STAND BY PABST BEER.

Workingmen Say it is Purely a Union Product.

No Reason Why it Should be Boycotted.

The Federated Trades Council Declares that the K. of L. Boycott is the Result of Rivalry Between the Pabst and Anheuser-Busch Co.'s—The Pabst Company Much More Favorable to Labor than the St. Louis Brewers.

The Federated Trades' council at its meeting last night listened to a report from a delegation from the local Journeymen's Brewers union, and then passed by a unanimous vote the following resolutions:

"Whereas, The Executive board of the Knights of Labor, in session at Pittsburg, Pa., May 14, 1892, placed a boycott upon the Pabst beer of Milwaukee in favor of the Anheuser-Busch beer of St. Louis, alleging that the Pabst beer is a non-union made product; and "Whereas, the situation relative to the employment of labor by the two breweries is as follows: The Pabst Brewing company's beer is an exclusively made union product. All its ingredients are prepared by union labor, while the malt used by the Anheuser-Busch company, as alleged, is bought largely at malt houses located in small towns, where non-union labor is employed at a greatly reduced figure. Within the year unions in every branch of labor employed by the Pabst Brewing company have been formed, and such labor is now working under a scale perfectly satisfactory to them and which continues in force one year from its adoption. The Anheuser-Busch labor, which is represented both by the union and Knights of Labor, operates under the jurisdiction of the international Brewers' association. The labor employed by the Pabst Brewing company also operates under the jurisdiction of the same association. The union employed by the Pabst Brewing company, in settling its scale for the present year, secured all requests sought by it and no dissatisfaction exists relative to it among any of said employees, and "Whereas, There appearing no reason why organized labor in any form should complain at the Pabst Brewing company's method of dealing with its employees or with the rights of organized labor, the Pabst Brewing company being only one of the brewing concerns of this and other cities in which the same scale is in use, all working under the same jurisdiction of the International Brewers' union; therefore

"Resolved, That by selecting the Pabst Brewing company for a boycott under the above circumstances, the Executive board of the Knights of Labor has perpetrated not only a manifest injustice on the Pabst Brewing company, which employs labor which cannot be brought out, but upon the cause of organized labor which can offer no valid reason for the placing of said boycott. "Resolved, That it is the sense of this council, that it is the duty of organized labor to give the same protection to employers of such labor in the distribution and sale of their product that is demanded by such labor of employers in the recognition and employment of such organized labor. "Resolved, That inasmuch as we know the charge that Pabst beer is a non-union made product to be utterly false and without foundation, and believe that the boycott placed at Pittsburg has been incited and instigated by and through the agents of the Anheuser-Busch company because of the rivalry existing between it and the Pabst company, we hereby appeal in the interest of fairness to the Pabst company as well as in the interest of organized labor which cannot prosper under the employment of such diverse and unfair methods, to the International Brewers' union to demand that the Executive committee of the Knights of Labor lift immediately said boycott, and that widespread public announcement be made of the same when done. "Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the officers of the American Federation of Labor at once with the request that they adopt the same or other resolutions to the same effect."
