Be just and fear not: Let all the ends thou aim'st at be Thy Country's, thy God's, and Truth's.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 17, 1892.

We publish this morning a case of kahunaism which is a very striking illustration of the powerful hold which the superstitions of ancient Hawaii still maintain on the people. "Scratch the Russian and you find the Tartar," was a witticism of Talleyrand's which admits a suggestive application here.

THE MINORITY CABINET.

The resignation which those who were disposed to think well of the Minority Cabinet expected yesterday, has not been heard from yet, and is not likely to be as long as the Ministers have any choice in the matter, which probably will not be long. We cannot believe that the fervid abhorrence of rank and station which the Hons. Neumann and Macfarlane have so loudly and so lately professed, was all talk.

REFERRED TO THE COURT.

After a morning passed in rather stormy debate the ministerial supporters and the opposition passed a resolution referring to the Supreme Court the question as to the number of votes required to pass a resolution of want of confidence. The opposition came into the House full of a spirit of lamblike conciliation and the resolution was proposed with a view to avoiding, if possible, unnecessary conflict.

The legal question—one of equal delicacy and importance—is now in the hands of the Judges for determination, and their opinion will doubtless be communicated to the Legislature at an early date.

REPRESENTATIVE NAWAHI.

Yesterday witnessed a scene in the House more disgraceful than anything which has been enacted there during the course of the present session. Rep. Nawahi took the floor when he was out of order, and maintained it in defiance of order, of the rules of the House, of the decision of the Vice-President and the vote of the members for nearly half an hour.

We are entirely within bounds in characterizing the course pursued by Rep. Nawahi as that of a miserable demagogue, and in a high degree dangerous as well as disgraceful. His appeal to the crowd was an act of anarchy, and a direct incitement to riot.

If the House has any respect for itself, for its rules, and for constitutional order generally, it should deal severely with the member who has manifested such a contumacious disregard for all of these. We are sorry to state that Rep. Nawahi is not the only sinner in this respect, and though Rep. White, Rep. Kaunamano, and others of that ilk have not displayed a similar excess, yet the exhibition of it in Rep. Nawahi would not have been possible without their tacit support.

ABOUT THE LOTTERY.

Some Able Remarks on the Evils of Gambling.

Suffer me to add a few weighty expressions of opinion from well-known authorities. "The gamester," said Horace Smith, "begins by being a dupe, speedily becomes a knave, and generally ends his career as a pauper." "Gambling," says Walter Savage Landor, "is the origin of more extensive misery than all other crimes put together."

Garibaldi's Son Coming.

The Italians in New York have been informed that Manlio Garibaldi, the youngest son of General Garibaldi and a sub-lieutenant in the Royal Marine, is on board the royal transport Garigliano with the monument of Christopher Columbus. The son of the great champion of liberty will be given a grand reception by his countrymen in that city.

WEATHER FOR AUGUST. Popular Record for Honolulu—One and a Quarter Mile East of the Post Office.

Weather table for August 1892, showing temperature (THERMOMETER) in degrees Fahrenheit and Celsius for each day.

Average for month 78. Rain 1 24-100 inch all fell in the night time, light showers by day. Rain on nine days. Wind—N. E. trade 29 days; S. and S. E. 2 days; moderate to fresh. Possible sunlight 393 hours and 57 minutes. Approximate sunlight was 289 hours and 30 minutes, or observation about one-third of the time.

Something New In Ranges.

THE PACIFIC HARDWARE COMPANY, Limited, have just received an invoice of the M. & D. Wrought Steel Ranges which are superior to anything of the kind yet invented. They have been adopted by the United States Navy after a severe test and are in use on the Charleston, San Francisco, Boston, and other new vessels, as well as on several of the new vessels lately built for the trade between Honolulu and the Coast.

An examination of these Ranges will at once show their many advantages over all competitors.

Monday, Sept. 12, 1892.

Next to the ministerial crisis the most important subject for discussion by Honolulu people is the scarcity of water. A subject which must have the attention of the present legislature or include the people of Honolulu and vicinity among the "great unwashed." In Wai-kiki the people object to salt water as a beverage, even though the chill be taken off with a dash of S. O. P.; while a little further towards the kick is against large deposits of mud placed in each glass of water. In Punahou district, where artesian wells are as plentiful as candidates for public office, the water is as scarce as prizes in a lottery.

What's to be done? The government calls upon the people to economize in using, what may now be called a luxury—it asks the people to be satisfied with bathing the lawn twice a day and yourself once a week. The next request will be to drink beef tea and set calabashes to catch rain water. It taxes the people twenty-five dollars per annum for a good water service then tells them not to use the water. The government asks the support of the people in maintaining a good water supply. Has it ever occurred to the government that we have done more in our poor weak way to give the people water than any one else? Does it recognize the fact that wherever a steel Aermotor is in use the people have all the water they want and can bathe three times a day? Does it realize that there is more real worth in one galvanized steel Aermotor than in all other forms of retrenchment? If not we'll send it a circular that would convince the statue of Kamehameha I in front of the Government House.

During the past week we have taken more orders for Aermotors than we ever have in any week since we have been the agents. The causes are obvious; in neighborhoods where there are artesian wells persons who have the city water (when there is any) have borrowed the artesian water to such an extent that the wells are running low. That's one reason; but why select the Aermotor in preference to any of the other wind mills occasionally advertised? Because by constant experiments the manufacturers have placed before the world the only perfect wind motor. Made of galvanized steel it will last longer than any other; the new oil box attachment reduces the bother of oiling to a minimum. The parts being accurately fitted together and the bearings so perfect in their adjustment that they are absolutely noiseless. Buy an Aermotor.

WHARF AND WAVE.

DIAMOND HEAD, Sept. 16.—9 P.M. Weather, hazy; wind, light east. Bkt. Discovery off Diamond Head.

The brigantine W. G. Irwin will leave for San Francisco with a half cargo next Tuesday.

The bark Paul Isenberg and the barkentine Tropic Bird will leave for San Francisco some time next week.

The barkentine Discovery, Capt. D. McNeill, arrived off Diamond Head at about 9 o'clock last night with a general cargo from San Francisco. She is about thirteen or fourteen days out.

The steamer Pele leaves to-day at noon for Makaweli and Wai-mea.

The schooner Haleakala will leave for Kalaupapa as soon as the carpenters get through fixing her rudder-post, probably to-day.

The Success hulk, whose history in the old convict days is so well known to all Australians, and which for many months past has been on show, first at Port Melbourne, and more recently at Sydney, has at last found a resting place beneath the waters of Sydney harbor, having sprung a leak which exceeded the pumping powers of the man in charge, and which finally deposited her on the mud on the 18th of July. It was the intention of the owner to navigate her to America and up the various waterways to Chicago, where he hoped that she would be looked upon as one of the chief of the thousand and one items of interest to the throngs of visitors from all parts of the world to the forthcoming exhibition.—Ex.

PHILADELPHIA, August 23.—The suspension of the shipping firm of George Tweedy & Co. of London, who were the principal operators of the North Atlantic Trident line of steamships between this port and Swansea, Bristol and Amsterdam, was made known here to-day at the Maritime Exchange and is the all-absorbing topic of discussion among shipping men, as the firm was regarded as one of the staunchest in London.

A Hongkong cable to San Francisco states that the new Pacific Mail steamer Peru arrived there on the 28th of August, making the run in the fast time of 23 days. She reached Yokohama in 15 days 2 hours, four hours longer than it took the reconstructed Rio de Janeiro on her first trip. Both boats will be pushed for another trip or two.—S. F. Examiner.

The managers of the ocean steamship lines are making great preparations for the immense travel next year, on the occasion of the World's Fair. The Cunard company is constructing two ships in Glasgow 600 feet in length, which is 18 feet longer than the largest passenger steamship now afloat.

The Inman line is also preparing to build three monster racers in American shipyards in compliance with the terms of the permission that was given it to fly the American flag, while other companies are also laying plans for new fleets of "ocean greyhounds," or for additions to those now represented upon the Atlantic. In this connection it is well to note the fact that never before this season have such uniformly fast trips been made across the ocean.

BATH (Maine), August 29.—The new U. S. Government ram, popularly known as the Ammen ram, which is building at the Bath Iron Works, will probably be launched the latter part of September. The big ram is now completed, save the addition of her shaft tubes, rudder and side-plates, none of which can be finished until the Carnegie Works are heard from.

IT IS REPORTED.—That Minister Macfarlane declares that the last three days were the warmest he has ever experienced.

—That the ADVERTISER receives a great deal of free advertising from the members of the Legislature, even President Walker quotes from this journal now.

—That irate Nawahii had the mob of Thursday evening at his back yesterday afternoon at the Legislature, and that the said mob would prefer making an assault on a big steak in place of tackling the members of the House.

That T. M. Starkey is of the opinion that the Pacific Club has not enough representation in the Legislature, and therefore he will run for Noble.

That Tommy Lucas' speech at the Hotel the other evening was a rhetorical gem, and if he keeps on there is just a chance of his excelling the efforts of E. E. Thomas in that line.

That the lessee and manager of Robinson's Hall says that if political bodies desire to rent that wigwam, it is money in advance, in case of fire.

That Friday Kenyon drew a neat sum of money for keeping the prison books while a prisoner really did the work, and that he will not disgorge unless the Legislature brings in a want of confidence resolution aimed against him.

KAHUNAISM.

Six Natives Will Go To Coconut Island for Their Health.

There arrived in this city by the steamer Mikahala last Sunday morning six natives from the Island of Nihaui—four adults and two children. The party will leave next Tuesday by the Kinahu to make a pilgrimage to Mokuola or Coconut Island, Hilo, Hawaii.

Several of the party were taken ill recently, and a kahuna doctored them in the old-fashioned way. In order to obtain a complete cure, the kahuna advised them to go to Mokuola, which means "Land of Life." This mandate the patients have obeyed, and they intend to carry it out.

"August Flower"

Mr. Lorenzo F. Sleeper is very well known to the citizens of Appleton, Me., and neighborhood. He says: "Eight years ago I was taken sick, and suffered as no one but a 'dyspeptic can.' I then began taking August Flower. At that time 'I was a great sufferer. Everything I ate distressed me so that I 'had to throw it up. Then in a few moments that horrid distress 'would come on and I would have 'to eat and suffer 'again. I took a 'little of your medicine, and felt much 'better, and after 'taking a little more 'August Flower my 'Dyspepsia disappeared, and since that time I 'have never had the first sign of it. 'I can eat anything without the 'least fear of distress. I wish all 'that are afflicted with that terrible 'disease or the troubles caused by 'it would try August Flower, as I 'am satisfied there is no medicine 'equal to it.'"

THE LEGISLATURE.

Ninetyth Day.

FRIDAY, Sept. 9.

The House met at 10:10 A.M. President Walker wished to speak to a question of privilege if the House would indulge him. The ADVERTISER had said this morning that his ruling was a weak one. Granted. If it had been the other way, would it have been a strong one? He had had the matter under consideration for some time, and four of the legal fraternity whom he met in a casual way, all said that 25 was the requisite number. The hon. Noble from Maui had intimated once or twice in previous remarks something to the same effect. He considered that Noble as good a lawyer as there was in the country—and charged nothing for advertising him either. It was only a couple of hours before the vote that he heard there was a difference of opinion between legal men. The member from the Third Ward said there were great doubts in his mind. He had looked up authorities and could not decide either way. The speaker wanted no office, and had no interest in the vote. He was satisfied with the honor already done him, and wanted nothing hereafter. He was required to rule the business of the House fairly and impartially, and felt that he had not gone back on himself. He had given, in his ruling, the defendants the benefit of the doubt.

Noble Baldwin moved the rules be suspended, in order that he might bring the following resolution:

Whereas, There was introduced into the Hawaiian Legislature on the 14th day of September instant, a resolution expressing a want of confidence in the Cabinet, and

Whereas, A vote was taken upon said resolution on the 15th day of said month, when, upon a call of the ayes and noes of the elective members of said Legislature, there voted for said resolution 24 of said members, and there voted against it 21 of said members, and

Whereas, At the time of the voting upon said resolution, there were in esse but 46 members of said Legislature who had been elected by the people, and other than said members of the Cabinet, and

Whereas, The President of the Legislature, upon said vote, declared and ruled that said resolution had failed to pass, for the reason that the same had not received the votes of a majority of all the elective members of said Legislature, as provided by Article 41 of the Constitution, and

Whereas, Said ruling has been protested and appealed against, and the interests of the country demand an authoritative decision as to its correctness or incorrectness, now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Legislature does hereby respectfully request their Honors, the Justices of the Supreme Court, to give their opinions upon the following questions:

"The Hawaiian Legislature, being composed of 48 elected members and four members of the Cabinet, and two of the 48 elective members provided for by the Constitution having resigned, their seats now being vacant, no persons having been elected to fill such vacancies, or either of them—how many of the 46 elective members of the Legislature are required to vote for a resolution of want of confidence in the Cabinet, before the same can be legally declared carried, or passed, in accordance with the terms of Article 41 of the Constitution?"

"A resolution expressing a want of confidence in the Cabinet having received 24 votes for its passage, out of a total of 46 elective members in esse of said Legislature, did said resolution fail of passage, or otherwise, under the terms of Article 41 of the Constitution?"

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution, attested by the President and Clerk of this House, be at once forwarded to their Honors, the said Justices.

The speaker continuing, said he brought this resolution without bias or personal feeling, because there might be a time when he would be very glad to get a decision that it required 25 votes to make a majority. The question was very important, and should be settled by the highest authority. There were lawyers of high standing who thought 24 sufficient. There were those who thought the House should carry the appeal, which they obviously could do if the vote stood as it did yesterday. Such a vote could, however, be regarded as a biased vote, and he therefore favored making use of the right of the House to appeal to the highest authority.

Noble Williams said it gave him great pleasure to support the resolution. It indicated what would ultimately have to be done. If the House should discuss the appeal there might be a recurrence of the disgraceful scene of yesterday.

Minister Neumann was glad to have the matter referred to the Supreme Court; but he opposed the resolution because there was no such thing as an appeal from the President of the House to the Supreme Court. An appeal was taken to the House; and, if that was sustained, a case could be made for the Court.

Noble Thurston said the Attorney-General did not know that an appeal had been taken. That was because the Attorney-General had got up with his supporters in the House, instead of staying and attending to his constitutional duties. The House was not adjourned, the President re-assumed the chair and so declared. An appeal is now pending.

Rep. Smith said the minutes of the Secretary would settle the whole question. The Secretary read the passage of the minutes in question.

Rep. Smith said the minutes showed that the appeal was noted. This resolution was brought wholly in the interests of peace and harmony, and he could not understand why there should be any objection to it. He did not wish to attribute to any member a desire to hold their seats at all hazards.

Minister Neumann said the Constitution provided that there was no appeal from the President of the House to the Court. What were the opposition afraid of? They could pass an appeal, as they had the majority.

Rep. Ashford—If we have a majority, why don't you go out like gentlemen? (Cheers.)

of the House against this, they would go out anyway. Here was a clear majority. Why did they not go out? They were determined to block the way to the Supreme Court by every means, and were anxious to keep their seats by every means. He judged him by his actions, not by his words. It had pleased the noble gentleman to comment on the tenacity with which the Reform Cabinet had stuck to their seats in 1890. Yet it went out on a vote of 24 to 24, though it did not have to do so. It had sufficient sense of the decency of the case to retire. The present Cabinet, though clearly outvoted and in a minority stuck to its seats and had no idea of resigning as he judged by the Attorney-General's course, putting his words into plain English. (Minister Neumann: They do not gain in veracity by going through your mouth.) If they had no veracity when they left your how can they have it from mine. His Excellency was pleased to submit that no appeal had been taken, and at the same time he said so ahead with your appeal. No case could be brought before the Court, only an opinion. He was not in favor of bringing matters unnecessarily before the Supreme Court, but in this case it could not well be avoided. The Attorney-General was very prone to attribute dishonest motives to everybody which was certainly suspicious. He would attribute none, however, to him.

Attorney-General Neumann said a short, effective and proper way to bring the matter before the Court was to carry the appeal and then let the Cabinet bring a case. The majority could carry the appeal, and then the Cabinet would raise the question and bring a writ of quo warranto.

Rep. Smith—The Cabinet will bring the writ against themselves? Attorney-General Neumann—Unquestionably. He proposed to take that action as soon as the appeal was taken.

Rep. Ashford thought the House was to be congratulated on having at last heard His Excellency's plans, that the Ministry would refuse to go out of office even if the appeal were sustained which had guessed before and knew now. It must now be obvious to everybody that there is no use in pursuing the appeal at this time. How does he propose to go to the Court? By a writ of quo warranto.

Let me show him if he is capable of being taught how imbecile his proposition is. Who is going to bring the writ? A friend of the Cabinet. Who is going to prosecute it? Another friend of the Cabinet. Just think of the Cabinet bringing a case against themselves to show that John Doe is a mummy. His Excellency simply wishes to get up in all his splendid eloquence, and knock the straw man out. (Minister Neumann: I thought you said a mummy.) And again His Excellency proceeds on an assumption which would make a tyro in the law laugh, when he pretends that quo warranto would be merely because a want of confidence vote had been passed. Such a vote does not of itself vacate the seats of the Cabinet. They do not retire until the Queen has dismissed them. Will his Excellency propose to make the Queen a party? That would be no more foolish than the rest of what he has advanced. If they advise Her Majesty not to dismiss them she will not, and then they are fastened upon us like four barnacles to a ship. He had been curious to know what the ingenuity of the Attorney-General would bring forth and he had brought something forth which would rouse the contempt of a school boy. The Attorney-General need feel no concern about the opinion being in the report. It would be there fast enough, and damning evidence of the tactics pursued by the Ministers to keep office against them. It was therefore useless to prosecute the appeal for the reason suggested by the Attorney-General himself, that the House would not be one whit further advanced. Let the matter be referred at once. If the decision were against the majority it will admit gracefully, cheerfully and loyally. As for the attempt of the Attorney-General to make people think there was not any appeal from the President to the Supreme Court that was all balderdash and moonshine, and His Excellency should know it. He would not say he did know it, for he had advanced such preposterous and extravagant ideas in the past few days that he began to doubt whether he knew anything.

Rep. Nawahi said there was no use asking the Court what Article 41 of the Constitution meant, because the meaning of it was clear. The block here was caused by the supporters of the resolution, who had voted against the resolution to adjourn until after October 4th. If after a vote on the appeal was taken there were still any doubt, it could be referred to the Supreme Court. Sections 9, 10 and 11 of the Civil Code prescribes the proper procedure. Rep. Ashford—One of these who made the Constitution, and he said 25 are required.

Rep. Ashford—When did I say anything of the kind? Rep. Nawahi—You said you were doubtful.

Rep. Ashford—I beg your pardon; His Excellency the President said so. But his memory was entirely at fault.

Rep. Nawahi continuing, said the House should settle the question for itself if possible, before referring the matter to the Supreme Court.

Rep. Bipikane did not pretend to be a lawyer but he thought 25 votes were necessary. The House would now have to give the Cabinet a trial for a few days. He therefore suggested that the resolution be laid on the table.

Rep. R. W. Wilcox said there was a difference of opinion in the House, and the only way to settle the question was by an appeal to the Supreme Court. It was obvious that the Cabinet did not intend to resign.

Noble Thurston said he had come here this morning as peaceful as a sheep. The Attorney-General had also looked sheepish. The Minister of Foreign Affairs had suggested this very course to him. The question was purely a constitutional one. In a House of 48 elective members, of course 25 were required, and that was the time when he had said 25 were necessary. There were two questions before the House; one as to the merits, one as to whether this is the proper course to take. The words of the Constitution were that the resolution requires a majority of "all the elective members" of the House. The reason why this word "elective" was introduced, was to prevent the Cabinet from voting on the resolution. If it had not been for that, it would have read by "all the members" simply, and there were many authorities on the meaning of that. He held in his hand a decision of the Missouri Supreme Court sustaining the constitution of the opposition. He merely mentioned that to show that the opposition were acting in good faith, not to discuss the matter fully now. The question was too important to be settled by a factious opinion in the House, as it affected the very meaning of the Constitution. If it were to be submitted, this was the way to do it. It might be submitted by the Cabinet or by the Legislature, it made no difference which. It would be under the same section in either case. For either not to abide by the opinion given when rendered would be revolutionary. The opposition would certainly abide by it loyally, and he believed the Cabinet would do so also.

Minister Macfarlane wanted to know how the member could doubt now, when two days ago he had said what he would read. The Minister read from the ADVERTISER's report as follows:

"We have advanced so far now instead of a Cabinet being formed in the king, we have one which is over his head, whose advice he is bound to take, and which can be only put out of office by vote of 25 of the elected members of the House."

Noble Thurston said he had been trying to explain for fifteen minutes that he was in no doubt at all. His expression the other day was general merely, and had no special reference to the present situation (in a House, i. e., of 46 members).

Minister Macfarlane said the Noble had certainly said his position before a few days. That was understood to be his position and a few days ago Noble Baldwin had stated that they had 19 votes and that 5 more would not be enough as 25 would be required.

Noble Baldwin said he was not a lawyer and might have made some such statement. He had been considering the matter a good deal lately and was in some doubt, and therefore wished the matter referred to the Supreme Court.

Minister Macfarlane said he was not speaking in a factious spirit, but it was very proper under the circumstances to call attention to the shifting of position on the subject.

Minister Parker thought he could shorten the matter. He agreed entirely with the Noble from Maui. He favored an immediate vote. There was no use in wasting time in personal allities between members and some of the Cabinet. Let them all go home to lunch and leave the Representative for the 3rd District and the Attorney-General to fight it out between themselves. He moved the previous question. Withdrawn.

Minister Neumann (amid loud calls of nobby), said he wished the matter brought before the Supreme Court, but not as an appeal from the decision of the Chair. That was no precedent to establish. The House should exercise its prerogative and vote on the appeal. If carried the Cabinet could submit the question to the Court. If lost the House might do so.

Rep. White moved a recess until 2 o'clock be taken in the interest of fair play. Two members in front of him were absent. If the previous question was going to be moved he did not propose to sit down at all, but keep the floor for the rest of the day. He intended to talk all day, in spite of the rules of the house. Others had violated it and so would he.

Noble Marsden said he had just 18 minutes more. He would have to abide by the rule of the House.

Rep. White asked why he had not objected to Thurston and Ashford exceeding the time limit. Was it because he was a native Hawaiian? Noble Marsden—Because they talked sense and you are simply obstructing business.

Rep. White said he only wanted the fair thing. At 12:50 the House took a recess until 2 o'clock.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The House re-assembled at 2:08. Attorney-General Neumann offered a substitute resolution as an amendment as follows:

Resolved, That the opinions of the Justices of the Supreme Court be required upon the following question, namely: "The Legislature now consisting of but 46 elected members, owing to the resignation of two members, are 24 or 25 of such members required to form a majority of all the elective members of the Legislature, within the meaning of Art. 41 of the Constitution?"

Rep. Smith seconded the amendment. Rep. R. W. Wilcox moved the previous question. Carried. The ayes and nays were called for.

Attorney-General Neumann did not believe there would be a single vote against the resolution. So what was the use of the ayes and nays. The call for the ayes and nays was withdrawn.

As soon as the motion for the previous question was made and seconded, Rep. Nawahi rose and kept the floor for twenty minutes. The Vice President ruled him out of order repeatedly. He appealed and his appeal was voted down by a large majority, but he still persisted in maintaining the floor, and upon Vice President Kaubane's intimating that he would have to call in the sergeant-at-arms, the refractory member twice turned and appealed to the crowd behind the rail to help him. He finally sat down and the tumult subsided.

The substitute resolution was passed by a large majority. At 2:40 the House adjourned until 10 A. M. Monday.

Labouchere Compliments Gladstone on His Chivalry.

LONDON, Aug. 27.—Labouchere has written a letter to Gladstone complimenting him upon his chivalry in accepting the responsibility for the arrangement of the Ministry. In a letter Labouchere declares his unswerving loyalty to Gladstone, but advises him not to permit the pressure of the Home Rulers to swamp Radical measures. Gladstone says that he alone is responsible for not presenting Labouchere's name to the Queen as a member of the Cabinet, and his reasons for not appointing Labouchere in no wise reflect upon Labouchere's public character or services.—Latest S. F. Bulletin.

"I don't quite understand this leap year business," said Gus de Jay to a young lawyer whom he met at the club.

"What is the point you don't understand?"

"Why, does a fellow stand a chance of getting damages for breach of promise and alimony and that sort of thing, or does he just have to go along unprotected?"

A Massachusetts Law Makes Trouble.

The fifty-eight hour law for women and children is already causing the displacement of women. Wright & Potter, the state printers, announce that in consequence of it women can no longer be employed by them. Many manufacturing establishments in the state will conform to it, and women and children employed in the mills cannot work more than fifty-eight hours a week. The intent of this law is, so far as it affects children, humane and commendable, but while men are working sixty hours a week it will complicate matters for women, and some employers threaten to reduce wages of women to correspond with their hours of work.

Advocates of women's rights believe it is false logic which discriminates against women. At Northampton seventy-five girls employed in the Nonotuck Silk mill, at Leeds village, have quit work on account of a reduction of pay under the fifty-eight hour law, and declare they will remain out till sixty hours' pay is given them. If one girl do not return to work the officers of the mill say they will supply their places with men.—Boston Woman's Journal.

A Clever Rifle Woman. Miss Leale, the Guernsey "lady shot" who distinguished herself last year at Bisley, is adding to her first laurels. Thursday she was again among the riflemen on Bisley common, trying her hand at 300 yards, and in three shots putting on a magpie and a brace of inners. The "chit of a girl," as her admiring colleagues of the National Rifle association called her, evidently "means business" when she enters the ranks of marksmen. Miss Leale is a tall, slight girl of twenty-one, fair haired and of a healthy complexion, neatly but very simply dressed, and perfectly natural and easy in manner. She believes in "a fair field and no favor" and seems to accept any advantage in the way of a rifle below the regulation weight, or any other privilege, because she happens to be a woman.—Fall Mall Budget.

Paris Law Students Try to Interfere. Mlle. Jeanne Chauvin, a lady law student, was to have appeared before the professors of the faculty of the law school in Paris, France, a few weeks ago, to deliver a thesis which she had prepared in favor of the "emancipation of woman." On the day on which this was to have taken place a number of law students were present and created such a disturbance that it was found necessary to postpone the young lady's examination till another time. Yesterday, without giving any public notice of their intention, the young lady was called up, but although such secrecy had been observed many of the students were present. They, however, confined themselves to loudly applauding any objections which the professors made to Mlle. Chauvin's arguments.—Gallegani's Messenger.

Successful American Women in Paris. Among the American women in Paris who have achieved a distinct success as painters are Miss Gardner, the follower of Bouguereau; the Misses Greatorce, Miss Cecile Wentworth; Mrs. MacMonnies, wife of the eminent sculptor, who was a Miss Fairchild, of St. Louis; Miss Kate Carl; Miss Lee-Robbins, the pupil and follower of Carolus Duran; Miss Kinsella, of Brooklyn; Miss Baker, Miss Pattison, Miss Brown, of St. Louis. Miss Shepley and Miss Dabney, of Boston, and Miss Nourse, of Cincinnati.—Paris Letter.

Adele Grant's Newport Eminent. One of Miss Adele Grant's prettiest Newport toilets thus far this summer is an ivory serge skirt, with narrow gold cord wrought into anchors and cable cord about the bottoms. With it is donned a cornflower blue serge coat, with revers and pockets of ivory. A narrow gold cord girdle holds the bodice close to the waist, and the ankles, straight brimmed blue straw sailor hat, is trimmed with ivory ribbons.—Newport Letter.

Good for the Hands. "How does it happen that you alone of your large family have soft, plump hands, while all the others have such thin, bony ones?" I asked a pretty woman. "I'm sure I can't tell why I am so favored," she answered, "unless it is because I take more care of mine. I never wash my hands without afterward rubbing them until they tingle with a piece of soft white flannel."

Women with a tendency to what they prefer to call emphysema for some time have carried about in pretty bonbon or plain pill boxes little pellets of saccharin ready for use in casual cups of tea or coffee in houses where the saccharin bowl has not been added to the scrubber.

The Working Girl's Vacation society, of New York city, is now in its ninth year. Nine hundred girls have been sent away for vacations of about two weeks each, and about 4,000 excursion tickets were given to girls who could only leave the city for a day at a time.

To rid the house of flies, moths, ants and water bugs, do not to include others more unmentionable, it has been found satisfactory to fumigate by burning sulphur candles, a far easier method than the old fashioned one of breaking up stick sulphur on hot coals.

Mrs. Mackay never wears any jewelry at her own entertainments. At her last party, which was a concert for the young Italian royalists, she wore such things as the Duke d'Aosta, the wore pale pink, without ornament. Her guests were jeweled to the point of barbarity.

The popularity of collegiate training for women is widespread. More than three thousand students were enrolled the past year at Vassar, Smith, Wellesley and Bryn Mawr.

Mrs. F. B. Mapp, of Milledgeville, Ga., is reported to have received a diploma and gold medal from the Inventive society, of Paris, for a bread raiser she has invented.

CORRESPONDENCE.

We do not hold ourselves responsible for the statements made, or opinions expressed by our correspondents.

Will Someone Explain?

MR. EDITOR: Neither your paper nor that vaunted friend of the people and of popular rights took any notice of a very grave feature of the torchlight mob on Thursday evening. I refer to the taking of the band from its usual concert-place and placing it at the head of the boys. Here is the position. A Ministry, whether good, bad or indifferent, is of no importance, had just been defeated by a vote of 24 to 21. It still held the reins of Government (and probably will till an outraged people bodily fire them out), and it is therefore responsible—(or is the Palace?)—for the lending of the band to head a procession, the object of which was to defy, insult and annoy the majority of the Legislature which had just, by a decisive vote, decided that the Cabinet has not the confidence of the country, and therefore must go no longer.

Imagine the same thing taking place in London with similar circumstances; or in Paris or Berlin, or in any of the United States. A popular riot would be the result, or such demonstrations as would compel a very prompt disclaimer or apology.

Who is responsible? The Ministers or the Palace? The Marshal probably means the latter.

VINDEX.

Honolulu, Sept. 16, 1892.

Let's Have a Race.

MR. EDITOR: In the issue of the newspaper Liberal of the 14th inst., "Flaneur" likens the present situation of our aquatic sportsmen to "a declaration of war between two great powers."

Although I cannot grasp the magnitude of that gentleman's metaphoric allusion, yet do most cordially agree with public opinion in its desire to see a race.

"Myrtle's" insinuations in his letter of the 1st instant undoubtedly called for some show of "bone and muscle" on the part of the Healanis; and yet they have so far done nothing but object to the few necessary stipulations accompanying said challenge.

The Healanis have given in to all their objections, and now they ignore the matter entirely. Why? Surely they are not scared.

The Myrtles spoil the Pearl harbor race on 2nd inst. by their cussiness and now are doing their best to uphold their past policy. I refer to their failure to meet the "Fesian" crew, the "Baby," and lastly, on the 11th June last year, the Healanis "Kid Crew."

But let them make a race anyhow, even if they have to get the carpenter, or the ex-hackman, which current gossip says were in the strictly representative crew that they were to pit against the Healanis on 2nd inst.

Let us have a race anyhow, even if they have to hire a crew to row it. There's not time to import one for the 24th.

Honolulu, Sept. 16, 1892.

A National Insult.

MR. EDITOR: The offense of Marshal Wilson, in his gross violation of the privilege of the Legislature is bad enough, and he probably will be punished as he ought; but what can be said of Mr. Nawahi?

The offense he has committed is far more outrageous than Mr. Wilson's. He yesterday occupied the floor of the House for a quarter of an hour, more or less, contrary to the expressed wish of the House, contrary to all decency! As if his contumacious and outrageous conduct were not sufficient to call down upon him the stern repression of law and the discipline of the House, he added to his offense by threatening the President that if he proceeded to enforce order, he would call in the assistance of rowdies back of the rail! In many years of acquaintance with Hawaiian Legislatures, I do not recollect of so gross an insult to the Legislature and the nation. To have a member of the law-making body invite a riot, to incite disturbance, is certainly a matter which the Legislature cannot overlook. It seems to me and to many others who saw and who did not see that the limit of forbearance has been reached. The facts should not be disguised. Had a white man taken such a course he would probably have been expelled. No distinction of color should be made. Mr. Huntsman, in The Liberal, is right; everyone should be judged upon merit not nationality. We, the outside public, shall watch with interest to see if the Legislature can and will vindicate itself.

SPECTATOR.

THE LATEST IN SHOES.

Are you on the look out for something exceedingly handsome and serviceable in Shoe leather? If you are, you will look a long time before you will find anything that matches our Gent's $4 Shoe. It may be easy enough to match it in some respects; it is just about impossible to match it in all. We don't pretend to be prophets, but we are pretty near right when we predict that it is unquestionably destined to be the most successful Shoe of the season. No Shoe is better made, no Shoe has a finer finish, no Shoe surpasses it in durability, no Shoe has better material in it and no Shoe that we know of will give greater satisfaction.

OYSTERS AND SEEDS

Are valuable for what's in 'em. Good and bad oysters look alike in the shell. Good and bad seeds often have the same appearance. Any one can tell a worthless oyster on opening it. The value of a seed must be determined by its growth. This makes its quality worth considering. You want seeds that will grow, and you want the product to be of value. There is but one guarantee; the reliability of the firm from which you buy.
