NAVAL NOTES.

(From the Washington Star.)

Mr. Herbert, chairman of the House naval affairs committee, has reported favorably to the House a bill which extends to naval officers the privilege of retiring from the service after thirty years, in the discretion of the President. The purpose of the bill is to place naval officers on the same footing in this respect as officers of the army.

Passed Assistant Paymaster Harry R. Sullivan of the navy, who is under suspension for negligence in the performance of his duties, has filed a petition with Secretary Tracy for a further remission of the penalty imposed upon him.

The gunboat Machias, now nearing completion at the Bath iron works, will probably be assigned to duty on the Asiatic station after the close of the naval review. The Chinese station is pretty well depleted of naval ships, and the only ship of modern design now there is the little gunboat Petrel, whose service is confined almost exclusively to the Chinese rivers.

Commander George M. Book has been detached from duty at the navy yard, New York, February 28, and ordered to command the Alert on the Asiatic station per steamer of the 14th inst. from San Francisco. Commander Book was formerly in command of the Pinta in the Arctic station and was court-martialed for being absent without leave. His offense consisted of coming to Washington to urge the repair of his ship, instead of making his wishes known to the department in writing by mail. Since his conviction he has been promoted and his present detail is regarded as a further condonement of his lapse in official etiquette.

CHANGES IN THE NAVY.

The Naval Register for 1893 shows that during 1892 there were in all thirty-seven resignations and thirty-three retirements. The retirements included one rear admiral, one commodore and two captains. One officer was wholly retired. Death carried off twenty-nine, of which number twenty were on the retired list and three in the marine corps. Two naval cadets were honorably discharged and two dismissed.

The first of January last Admiral Gherardi was the senior officer on the active list. Commodore Weaver heads the list in his grade. Capt. Carpenter is number one among the captains, Commander Batcheller among the commanders and Lieut. Commander Strong in his grade. Lieut. Delehanty stood at the top of the 250 lieutenants, but since January 1st seven officers have been promoted and Lieut. Ingersoll, at Annapolis, now heads the string, with the President's relative, R. M. G. Brown on deck. In the junior grade Lieut. A. N. Dodd is number one, and with the ensigns Leiper is at the top. Surgeon General Brown stands at the head of the medical corps, John H. Gihon among pay inspectors, J. M. Flint among the surgeons, Drake in passed assistants' grade and Field in the assistants. Pay Director Fulton leads the pay corps, Pay Inspector Caswell his grade, Paymaster Bash his, Passed Assistant Peterson in his and Assistant Heap the lower grade. The engineer corps has Chief Engineer Henderson at the top, Passed Assistant Ogden in that grade and Assistant Engineer Harry Hall in the last grade.

"The Brief History."

Owing to a big demand for the "Brief History of the Hawaiian Revolution," the Gazette Company has printed a second edition. It contains everything up to date regarding the overthrow of the monarchy, including the raising of the stars and stripes on the Government building. It can be had at this office or at the newsdealers. Send a copy to your friends abroad.

The phonograph is now located in the Thomas block, on King street. Mr. Stoeckle has a big collection of new records which cannot fail to please the general public.

SATURDAY, : MARCH 11, 1893.

PAUL NEUMANN is working very hard with Senators and Representatives, trying to get a delay in the ratification of the treaty. He has stated that annexation is inevitable, and he only wants to get as much as he can for the ex-Queen. He claims to be a leading annexationist himself, and merely objects to the present move because he does not like the people who are its prominent promoters. The latter statement is one of the few strictly true which he has said since his arrival in San Francisco. He has filed a "precis" with the State Department which purports to be a true account of the revolution and of the causes leading up to it. The "precis" is not a good one, if precision means accuracy. It contains many suppressions, many garbled statements, and many falsehoods; but we do not believe it contains enough of any of these things to pervert the minds of the American people.

MR. THEO. H. DAVIES has reached New York with Kaiulani in charge. There does not seem to be any reason to suppose that his visit will have any bearing on the result of the negotiations now pending. Mr. Neumann and Mr. E. C. Macfarlane do not approve of Mr. Davies' move on the common enemy. They probably think, and with reason, that when Congress goes into the business of restoring deposed queens by force, as these ardent annexationists devoutly hope that Congress will, the existence of two rival claimants to the Throne will be embarrassing. In this they are certainly right.

Mr. Davies' expectation that the presence of his young and charming ward will excite a degree of sympathy for her cause, may not be without foundation. But we shrewdly suspect that it will be a barren sympathy. We feel here a certain sympathy for the Princess, whose hopes are disappointed through no fault of her own, but the sympathy will not be enough to reinstate her, either as sovereign or as heir. In the 19th century all future claims upon a Throne are tainted with a double portion of uncertainty, and heirs presumptive should take this into account.

A WRONG IDEA.

There is an idea current that Mr. Cleveland has declared himself in favor of sending a Commission to these islands to ascertain the state of public sentiment, before annexing them. There is no foundation for any such idea. The paragraph upon which it is based, is the following, which is clipped from the San Francisco Bulletin:

The question of annexation, with direct reference to Hawaii, occupies a prominent place in the address. On this point Cleveland speaks with more directness. He disapproves of any hasty action in the matter. He is averse to going into the question rashly. He advises annexation after a careful inquiry, not inquiry after annexation. The President-elect is in favor of annexation of the islands in case an examination of both sides of the question shows that such a course is desirable and expedient.

Mr. Cleveland may or may not intend to send a commission to these islands, but whether this is so or not, there is no hint of any such intention in the foregoing, which for that matter is probably nothing more than a guessing substitute for authentic information.

FROM WASHINGTON.

The Monowai brings little that is new in regard to the negotiations at Washington. No action had been taken by the Senate prior to the sailing of the steamer on March 3d, so that the question is left to the Cleveland administration to settle. The principal reason for deferring action appears to have been the fact that the Senate was crowded with work, as day and night sessions were necessary in order to get through with the appropriation bills. This would probably of itself have been sufficient to cause the delay, but there was no doubt other factors in the case. Prominent among these was the desire on the part of some Democrats to capture the glory of the annexation for their own party. The desire for a fuller discussion was also operative, while considerable opposition to the Treaty was manifested in some quarters.

Though there has been some delay, it does not appear that there has been any very material change in the situation. We learn from the Provisional Government that their dispatches are favorable. The Commissioners were hopeful that action would be taken by the Senate within a fortnight after March 4th. The Senate was to meet immediately after the inaugural, and there was no business before it besides the confirmation of appointments, except the Hawaiian Treaty. As the senators are generally in a hurry to get home, the Commissioners feel hopeful that the treaty will be acted upon promptly. They have been assured by prominent senators that the delay is in no way due to opposition to the treaty.

Death of Edward P. Bond.

Mr. Edward P. Bond, the founder and Secretary of the Union Safe Deposit Company, whose death at West Newton occurred on February 11, was for a number of years a resident of the Hawaiian Islands. He was born in Boston in 1834. In the pursuance of his duties in connection with the sacred calling to the Unitarian pulpit his health failed, and he took the long voyage around Cape Horn to the Islands to restore it. On his arrival he officiated in some slight degree to the few friends in Honolulu of liberal sympathies. Mr. Bond's character soon made itself felt in the community, and, although differing theologically from the large body of the Orthodox American missionaries, he was soon a most welcome guest in every home wherever he went throughout the group. The natives were quick to recognize in Mr. Bond a friend, and in the official relations he held with them in various government offices that he was called to fill he was always sure to win not only their respect, but aloha (love). His leaving the islands to return was a distinct loss to that community. For years he was secretary of the Hawaiian Club of Boston, composed of returned former residents of that island kingdom, and his interest and sympathy were ever alive for the land he always loved so well. His son, Laurence Bond, is the Hawaiian Consul for Boston; there are also two daughters, all living at the pleasant home in West Newton. "Aloha nui oe, e Bona."

G. D. GILMAN.

An Old Missionary Gone.

The Monowai brought the news of the death of Dr. Seth Lathrop Andrews, the father of Dr. George P. Andrews of this city.

Dr. Andrews was well known in these islands, for he was one of the early missionaries and came to Honolulu as a member of the large company which arrived in 1837. He went to Kailua, Hawaii, where he built a stone house, which is still standing. In 1846 Mrs. Andrews died, and in 1848, Dr. Andrew's own health failing, he took passage with his only remaining child on a whaler bound to New York via Cape Horn.

In 1852 Dr. Andrews married Miss Amelia Dike, of Pittsford, Vermont, and settled in Romeo, Michigan, where he practiced his profession until old age compelled him to retire from active service, and where he resided until his death, which occurred on February 17, 1893, at the advanced age of 83. His death was the result of a heart trouble of long standing and the end came gently and painlessly.

Dr. Andrews was a man of high personal as well as professional character; an earnest Christian and a devoted and tender husband to the last.

The Late Afternoon Sheet.

MR. EDITOR:—We note by Bulletin this evening that "twenty-three cases of arms and ammunition arrived by the S. S. Monowai, consigned to E. O. Hall & Son." This is a sample of the way the Bulletin gives "news," etc. Twenty-three cases of arms and ammunition were received ex Monowai, consigned to whaling schooner Nicoline, care of E. O. Hall & Son, agents, and after resting a few days in bond, will be turned over to said vessel. We have ordered no arms or ammunition since January 16, 1893, having been requested by the Provisional Government not to do so at present.

Truly yours,
E. O. HALL & SON.
March 10, 1893.

Mr. Sheahan Kicks.

MR. EDITOR: A few days ago I was unfortunate enough to incur the displeasure of your confrere of the Bulletin, through no fault of mine, but simply because his sporting editor did not happen to know the difference between a fight and a race. He got so warm over the subject that he openly charged me with the heinous offense of being an Irishman and the possessor of a cultivated brogue of the Doric order. I am shamelessly guilty on both counts.

I am glad, however, he did not say I was an American by trade; the tribe are too numerous here, a good many of them coming, like myself, from that land of six months winter and the other six pretty late in the fall.

It is very natural under the present circumstances that the Bulletin man should take a jaundiced view of things, his remarks in a measure deriving their coloring matter from a disordered liver, but I hope the young man who writes funny articles for your paper, did not derive the coloring matter for the pantaloons he was good enough to furnish me with from a like source. This is by no means the first time a paper or two has got after me, in fact I have had them camp on my trail, and in every such case sure and rapid promotion followed, but now I am old, and strange as it may seem, I am not hungering after promotion.

J. E. SHEAHAN, Policeman.

Volunteers Again.

MR. EDITOR: Professor Brigham is entirely wrong in his conclusions on the Volunteer-Government employment question. The men were there for business and not for pleasure. Massing of troops does not in every case mean bloodshed. The great Powers make naval and military display when they have their points to gain. Such demonstrations are often made and matters in dispute amicably arranged without a blow being struck. What has been claimed by all writers on the above subject up to date seems fair enough, viz.: that when vacancies occur a volunteer should be given a preference wherever he can fill the bill. Then in regard to Government officials of the old regime: all of those who are known to be out-and-out Royalists should be removed. Warming vipers is not a very safe pastime. As matters have turned out so far, there is no armed force against the Provisional Government, but as we are not nearly out of the woods, it is as well to be watchful on that score. To every moral, however, there hangs a tale, and the Professor's remarks about howling for office reminds me of a little incident:

Once upon a time, not far from Honolulu, an aggressive canine was found in a gentleman's garden, neither armed nor loaded it is true, yet the gentleman got mad and pelted the unfortunate dog with missiles to his heart's content. During the encounter the dog got the worst of it, and howled, looked around for an office, a drain pipe, or hollow tree, anywhere to escape from the wrathful householder. So you see, Professor, there are two sides to almost every important question. The dog howled, its owner kicked, and that was not the end of it.

PRIVATE B.
Honolulu, March 10, 1893.

Well-earned Praise.

An editorial in a strong Democratic paper published in New Jersey, commenting on a letter recently published in that State on Hawaiian affairs praises George C. Stratemeyer for the part he took in the late revolution. It will be remembered that he was one of the three men who enjoy the distinction of raising the stars and stripes over the Government building.

In conclusion, the editorial says: "The raising of 'Old Glory,' as briefly described by the letter from Mr. Stratemeyer at Honolulu is enough to thrill the heart of every American who reads his hurried, but patriotic, description of the event."

Our last talk with you was about Dr. Jaeger's Sanitary Underclothing. We hope you have taken our advice and commenced to profit by it already.

We have another subject to discuss with you to-day. The cut at the head of this will show you that our remarks will be on TIME.

You are not perhaps aware that we are the Agents of the American Waltham Watch Co. of Waltham, Mass. We have been such for many years and keep constantly on hand a large assortment of Time Pieces of this company's make. In fact we make a specialty of their goods and handle none of any other make.

Let us tell you something about this famous Watch Co.:

Established in 1854 at Waltham, Mass., the pioneer of American Watch Co.'s, with a daily capacity of 2000 Movements, 500 Gold cases and 1000 Gold filled, Silver and Metal cases; and in the making and sale of these, employment is given to about 4000 people.

Big concern aint it? We carry a big assortment of their goods; all sizes and grades.

Come and see what we can do for you before purchasing elsewhere. We have Open face and Hunting cases in Gold and Silver Pendant, Lever Setting, and non-magnetic movements. In these days of common use of generators of electricity, your Watch should be non-magnetic to secure accuracy in time-keeping.

☞We guarantee all our Watches to keep good time. We have in our employ a reliable watchmaker and can repair watches of any make with accuracy and dispatch and at the most reasonable prices.

How it
Will Thrive.

In hot weather more infants die than in all the rest of the year. Why is this? Principally because they are fed on unsuitable food. Nestlé's Food is known as the safest diet and best preventive of Cholera Infantum and all summer compiaints. Consult your doctor about this important fact. For fuller information write for our book "THE BABY," which will be sent free to any address. Please mention this paper.

WHARF AND WAVE.

DIAMOND HEAD, Mar. 10.—10 P.M.: Weather, clear; wind, fresh N. E. The whalers Hunter, William Baylies, Horatio, Andrews Hicks and Alice Knowles, lying off and on.

The S. S. Monowai arrived at Honolulu, March 10, 1893, at 5 A. M. Sailed from San Francisco on the 3d inst. at 5 P. M. and had a fine weather run with fresh easterly winds the last two days. The Monowai slowed down on Thursday evening so as to make land at daylight, otherwise her run if she had come right on would have been made in 6 days, 7 hours, a very remarkable performance.

On Wednesday the 8th at 6 P. M. a steerage passenger, James White, died from general exhaustion caused by intemperance. He was on his way to join the steam whaler Navarch, as sailmaker, at Honolulu, and was a man of about fifty years, supposed to be an Englishman. No papers to establish his identity were found upon him and his effects have been handed over to the British Consul. He was buried next day at 6 A. M.

The W. G. Hall reported very strong winds prevailing all along the windward ports.

The steamer Hawaii is on the Marine Railway. She was taken up yesterday.

Several whalers were off port yesterday. The captains of some of them arrived yesterday by the Monowai. Three Hawaiians are on board the Horatio.

The Hesper and S. N. Castle will leave for San Francisco next week.

The Naniva is receiving her supply of coal from the lot just imported from Japan by the Miike Maru. The Kongo is being supplied with Australian coal.

SAN FRANCISCO ITEMS.

Departures: Feb. 25th, brig J. D. Spreckels for Kahului; 26th, schr. Transit for Honolulu; 28th, bark S. C. Allen for Honolulu; brig W. G. Irwin for Honolulu; Mar. 1st, s... for Honolulu.

Projected De... Angel... Honolulu; 15th, S. S. Australia for Honolulu; 31st, S. S. Alameda for Honolulu and the Colonies; April ... S. S. Gaelic for Honolulu, China, etc.; May 4th, S. S. Belgic for Honolulu, China, etc.; bark Alden Besse for Kahului; Italian bark Cavaliere Luigi D. and bktne. Irmgard for Honolulu; schr. John G. North for Mahukona; bark Mauna Ala and bktne. Planter for Honolulu.

NEWCASTLE, N. S. W.—Feb. 24th, sailed the British ship Greta for Honolulu.

BREMEN—Arrived Mar. 1st, Ger. bark J. C. Pfluger, from Honolulu via San Francisco Oct. 13th.

Recently it blew a gale of 82 miles an hour at Point Reyes. This is the highest ever recorded on the coast of California.

The whalers are now nearly all away on their cruises, and quite a fleet will go north without calling at Honolulu.

The schooner John G. North arrived this evening, 21 days from Mahukona, Hawaii, with a thrilling report of an encounter with last weeks' northwester. Capt. Carlson says it was blowing fully eighty miles an hour on the 24th ultimo, when the North was in latitude 36·27 N., longitude 132 W., and that the seas which broke on deck were the worst he ever experienced. All the sail set was blown away, and the weight of water was such that fifty-five barrels of a deck-load of molasses were stove and lost, together with all the water-casks. Nearly all the provisions were spoiled, and the cabin and forecastle were so full of water that dry clothes were unknown for the rest of the voyage. The mate had his shoulder dislocated in the storm. —S. F. Examiner, March 1.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

An advertiser wants room and board in a private family.

Four Chinese were arrested last evening for smoking opium.

V. V. Ashford returned yesterday, after a lengthy enforced absence.

Bills against Engine Co. No. 1 must be sent in on or before the 18th inst.

Messrs. W. C. Wilder and C. M. Cooke returned from Washington yesterday.

Capt. James G. Blaine was a passenger for this port by the Monowai yesterday.

Mr. C. Witt, 341 East 86th street, New York, wishes to purchase used Hawaiian stamps.

The Rev. D. V. Lucas of Montreal will address the Y. M. C. A. to-morrow evening at 6:30 o'clock.

The Monowai had a heavy passenger list for this port. Very few Honolulu people were among the number.

Several captains of whalers arrived yesterday on the Monowai. They will await the arrival of their respective vessels.

Joseph Cook, the defaulting police court clerk of San Francisco, who was recently in this city, was captured at Astoria, Oregon.

John E. Bush is expected home on the next Australia. His visit to San Francisco was not a success either politically or financially.

Thirty-three new instruments arrived yesterday for the ex-members of the band. The boys intend to give a public concert in the near future.

The Rifle Range will be open this afternoon for practice. The postponed semi-annual match of the Association will take place on the 17th inst.

Entries for the postponed rifle match of the Hawaiian Rifle Association will close on the 16th inst. A list of prizes for the winners appears elsewhere in this issue.

The Hawaii Fonoi Dramatic Company will present their new historical drama at the Opera House for the first time on April 3. It is entitled, "Laieikawai, or the Lady of the Twilight."

F. S. Pratt, who was lately appointed Hawaiian Consul at San Francisco, is reported as working against the Provisional Government. There are several more on the Government's pay roll who are in the same boat.

Chas. F. Peterson, secretary to the Hawaiian Commissioners, returned yesterday by the Monowai. He was more than pleased with what he saw in Uncle Sam's land. He has brought with him one of the latest Remington typewriters from Washington.

Last evening shortly after seven o'clock a Chinese was severely burned about the lower limbs, caused by the explosion of a lamp. The accident happened in a coffee house on Queen street, near Richards street. The injured man was taken to the hospital. The fire department was called out but the blaze was extinguished before its arrival on the scene.

THE HAWAIIAN MUDDLE.

The seat of the Hawaiian war has been transferred from Honolulu to Washington, and there the combat goes bravely on. Paul Neumann has evolved the somewhat remarkable theory that Queen Liliuokalani has not been deposed, but has merely gone into temporary retirement to await the withdrawal of opposition to her reign and the collapse of the Provisional Government, but if this be so, what is Neumann doing in Washington? Why should he be sent on an extraordinary mission from the Queen if her throne is still her own and may be resumed at any time?—[S. F. Chronicle.

PUPILS' RECITAL.

Enjoyable Musicale Given at Oahu College.

The invitations sent out to the friends of Oahu College to attend a musical entertainment given at that institution last evening were responded to by a large number of the recipients. The parlors were filled to overflowing and the hallway and veranda served to accommodate those who were unable to secure seats inside.

PROGRAMME.

Schumann. ..... "Gypsy Life" Girls' Chorus.

D. Stiebelt ..... "Rondo Turc" Hattie Austin.

Meyer-Helmund ..... "Maiden's Song" Jessie Neill.

Beethoven..... "Sonata," Op. 49, No. 2 Ralph Wilcox.

Kjerulf..... {a. "Afar in the Wood" b. ..... "Last Night" Kate Fleming.

Chopin..... "Waltz, Arranged by Maylath" Elsie Waterhouse.

Rizzo..... "Amami" Edith Eldredge.

Schumann..... "At Evening" Esther Lyman.

Meyer-Helmund..... "The Daily Question" Clara Glade.

Heller..... "Etudes," Op. 46, Nos. 18 and 28 Edith Eldredge.

Mendelssohn..... "Spinning Song" Etta Wilcox.

Barnby..... "Who Shall be Fleetest" Girls' Chorus.

It was noticed with interest the decided improvement of the younger pupils, and also the advancement of those who took part in a similar entertainment some time ago. The class of music being taught is of a high grade, as none but the compositions of the most famous composers are selected for study.

The self-possession of the participants might well be imitated by many who contribute musical talent for entertainment in Honolulu. It is hardly necessary to give a description in detail, suffice to say the enthusiastic applause denoted the appreciation of the audience among whom were some of the best musical ears of the community.

Too much cannot be accredited Miss Dale in her zealous and untiring work in this capacity, her every effort is being crowned with the success that would naturally follow.

All were pleased with the kind attention shown them by President and Mrs. Hosmer and the faculty, and the evening proved a thoroughly pleasant one to those present.

The Illustrated Tourists' Guide

That popular work, "THE TOURISTS GUIDE THROUGH THE HAWAIIAN ISLANDS," is meeting with a steady sale both at home and abroad. "German Syrup"

Martinsville, N.J., Methodist Parsonage. "My acquaintance with your remedy, Boschee's German Syrup, was made about fourteen years ago, when I contracted a Cold which resulted in a Hoarseness and a Cough which disabled me from filling my pulpit for a number of Sabbaths. After trying a Physician, without obtaining relief—I cannot say now what remedy he prescribed—I saw the advertisement of your remedy and obtained a bottle. I received such quick and permanent help from it that whenever we have had Throat or Bronchial troubles since in our family, Boschee's German Syrup has been our favorite remedy and always with favorable results. I have never hesitated to report my experience of its use to others when I have found them troubled in like manner." REV. W. H. HAGGARTY, of the Newark, New Jersey, M.E. Conference, April 25, '90.

BY AUTHORITY

ACT 21.

An Act to Prohibit Gambling and Gaming.

BE IT ENACTED by the Executive and Advisory Councils of the Provisional Government of the Hawaiian Islands:

SECTION 1—Every person who contrives, prepares, sets up, draws, maintains or conducts or assists in maintaining or conducting any lottery is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SECTION 2—A lottery is any scheme for the disposal or distribution of property by chance among persons who have paid or promised to pay any valuable consideration for the chance of obtaining such property, or a portion of it, or for any share or any interest in such property upon any agreement, understanding or expectation that it is to be distributed or disposed of by lot or chance, whether called a lottery, raffle, che fa, pakapio, gift enterprise or by whatever name the same may be known.

SECTION 3—Every person who sells or buys, gives or receives, has in possession or in any manner whatever deals with any ticket, chance, share, or interest, or any paper, certificate or instrument purporting or understood to be or to represent any ticket, chance, share or interest in or depending upon the event of any lottery, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SECTION 4—All moneys or property offered for sale or distribution in violation of any of the provisions of this Act are forfeited to the Government and may be recovered by information filed or by action brought by the Attorney-General or his authorized representative.

SECTION 5—Every person who deals, plays, or carries on, opens or causes to be opened, or who conducts either as owner or employee, whether for hire or not, any game of faro, monte, roulette, tan, fan tan, or any banking or percentage game played with cards, dice or any devices for money, checks, credit or any representative of value or any other game in which money or anything of value is lost or won, and every person who plays or bets at or against any of said prohibited game or games, and every person present where such game or games are being played or carried on, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SECTION 6—Every person who by the game of "three card monte," "shell game" or any other game, device, sleight of hand, pretention to fortune telling, trick or other means whatever by use of cards or other implements or instruments, or while betting on sides or hands of any such play or game, fraudulently obtains from another person money or anything of value is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SECTION 7—Every person duly summoned as a witness for the prosecution on any proceeding had under this Act who neglects or refuses to attend as required, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SECTION 8—No person otherwise competent as a witness is disqualified from testifying as such concerning any offense committed under this Act on the grounds that such testimony might criminate himself, but no prosecution can afterwards be had against him for any such offense concerning which he has testified.

SECTION 9—Every person who lets or permits to be used any building or vessel or any portion thereof, knowing that it is to be used for setting up, managing or drawing any lottery, or for the purpose of selling or disposing of lottery tickets, chance, share or interest in or depending upon the event of any lottery, or who knowingly permits any game or games prohibited by this Act to be played, conducted or dealt in any building or vessel owned or rented by such person in whole or in part, is guilty of a misdemenor.

SECTION 10—Every person guilty of a misdemeanor as provided in this Act shall be punishable by a fine of not more than one thousand dollars or imprisonment at hard labor not exceeding one year.

SECTION 11—District Magistrates shall have jurisdiction to try and determine all cases arising under this Act.

SECTION 12—No suit or prosecution pending for any offense committed or for the recovery of any penalty or forfeiture incurred under any law heretofore enacted shall in any case be affected by the passage of this Act.

SECTION 13—The following laws and parts of laws are hereby repealed:

Section 1 of Chapter 39 of the Penal Code.

Chapter 5 of the Session Laws of 1870.
Chapter 22 of the Session Laws of 1884.
Chapter 41 of the Session Laws of 1886.
Chapter 41 of the Session Laws of 1890.
Section 75 of the Civil Code and Section 26 of Chapter 55 of the Penal Code.

SECTION 14—Section 80 of the Civil Code and Section 28, Chapter 55 of the Penal Code are hereby amended by striking out the following words, to wit: "Nor allow any gaming on such table or alley."

SECTION 15—This Act shall take effect upon publication.

Approved this 7th day of March, A. D. 1893.

NOT IN A HURRY.

Annexation Moves Rather Slowly.

A HINT FROM LAKEWOOD.

The Commissioners Say Nothing, but It Is Believed Cleveland Will Favor Their Cause.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—The Herald's Washington special says: It is quite evident that the Senate is not in any immediate rush to ratify the Hawaiian annexation treaty, and it is apparent, too, that its advocates will have to use a little coercion to bring the measure to a vote before the close of the session. It cannot be said that the opposition has increased in numbers since the terms of the treaty became known, but it has become stronger in its purpose to stave off action during the present administration. It has not thus far developed that any party lines have been drawn, as there are Republicans as well as Democrats in the opposition column. The Democratic opponents, however, appear to be in the majority, and for this reason the Democrats have been accused of trying to prevent action until after March.

Even should the treaty fail of ratification at the present session of the Senate, the Hawaiian Commissioners speak hopefully of securing favorable action at the extra session following immediately March 4. They do not pretend to have any direct assurance from Cleveland as to his attitude on the treaty, but their confidence in the incoming administration indicates that they are not without some hints from Lakewood. It is also the opinion of the State Department officials that Cleveland will favor annexation.

Thurston, Castle and Carter, the members of the special Hawaiian annexation commission, have determined to remain in Washington until the Senate disposes of the treaty of annexation now pending before it one way or another. It had been their intention to sail from San Francisco for Honolulu on March 3, but within the past few days they have changed their minds.

No Doubt of It.

Marsden said: "I think there is no doubt whatever that annexation will take place. The sentiment of the legislators is nearly all our way. We did no lobbying whatever. We had a plain business proposition, and we presented it as such. I think it hardly probable annexation will take place during this administration, but early in the next. Having gone as far as it has, the United States cannot well recede. If it should, it would be a great blot on American statesmanship. England has ships filled with soldiers now on the way to the islands, and if the Senate makes a false move, or gives Great Britain the least opportunity she will only be too glad to embrace it, and will in no time gobble the islands, never to give them up."

Senator Allison's Views.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Senator Allison does not hold the views attributed to him by several newspapers as being opposed to annexation. "It is not right," he said, "that I should be quoted as having said I was against the treaty. I did not say so. What I did say was, that the general appropriation bills should be disposed of before anything else was done, as little more time remains for doing the business required of us. That, I think, is a common sense view of the situation. Our necessary work finished, the treaty can be taken up at any time. I wish to add, also, that the treaty will be before the Senate at its special session on March 4th and March 6th, and as long as the session lasts. It is not absolutely necessary to consider it at this time." Senator Allison intimated that the treaty would be ratified when presented.

Patriot Morgan.

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—In honor of Senator Morgan, who sailed on the New York yesterday, a committee of well-known merchants and others gathered upon the deck of the American liner to wish the Senator godspeed. Replying to an address made by the chairman of the committee, Mr. Morgan spoke in part as follows:

"It is singular at this time that there are grouped together three immense propositions relating to that great body of water, the Pacific—the Behring Sea arbitration, which also may be said to involve the whole North Pacific; the Nicaragua canal, and then the Hawaiian proposition. The three together must convince all thinking men that there never was a moment in history of this Government, saving the period of our civil war, when so much wisdom, courage, manhood and intrepidity, foresight and determined American pluck were necessary as just now.

"We have come to a pivotal point in American destiny, the moment when we must go back or forward. We cannot take a middle ground. In thinking of the Pacific Ocean and our duty in connection with it I don't want to see repeated what was perpetrated upon us at the time we acquired our independence. Though France was at our back we did not have the foresight to acquire all that belonged to us. We did not take Newfoundland, the Bahamas, Bermuda, the Windward Islands, Jamaica and all that territory. Why should a people of 35,000,000 hold against a people of 65,000,000 all these islands? I am not criticizing them; I admire them. I wish Americans would be as much like them as possible, only more so.

"Great Britain has already planted herself in Australia and New Zealand, and is now approaching the Sandwich Islands—that Gibraltar of the Pacific. Only recently she raised her flag on one of the islands. At the present time the Hawaiian Government and our own are protesting against that occupation. Let me ask you, when they get there and complete the chain, including Vancouver, Victoria, Hawaii, Hongkong, New Zealand and Australia, will we not then see repeated in the Pacific that miserable, despicable policy which has been perpetrated in the Atlantic, when there would be nothing left but for us to put the eastern islands into a bill-of-sale treaty?

"With these three great questions confronting us—the Nicaragua canal, Behring Sea arbitration and Hawaii, the last ready to drop into our laps like a ripe pear—we have need of that spirit of manhood, energy and endurance which was superbly developed when we were fighting one another with a million men in the field. Then we shall see the outcome of the power and spirit of a great people on a great occasion. Let us move to the front."

Kaiulani Wants a Crown.

NEW YORK, March 1.—Princess Kaiulani, niece of the deposed Queen Liliuokalani of Hawaii, arrived here to-day on the steamer Teutonic. With her were Theophilus H. Davies and Mrs. Davies, the English guardians of the Princess, Miss Davies and Miss Wartoff, the companions of the Princess. E. C. Macfarlane, ex-Minister of Finance to the dethroned Queen Liliuokalani, and Dr. Mott-Smith, present Hawaiian Minister to this country, went down the bay on the revenue cutter Chandler to meet the young Princess.

She had come to the United States, she said, more for the purpose of learning and observing for herself the nature of the people who have been asked to take control of her country, than to make a formal petition for her crown.

"That," she said, "is rightfully mine, and if the Americans are the noble-minded people that I have learned to regard them they will not be a party to the outrage by which I have lost my birthright."

In regard to her views on the various aspects which the Hawaiian Government is likely to assume the Princess Kaiulani referred to her guardian, Mr. Davies, but she issued to night the following address:

"To the American People: Unbidden I stand upon your shores to-day where I thought so soon to receive a royal welcome on my way to my own kingdom. I come unattended, except by loving hearts that come with me over the wintry seas. I hear that commissioners from my own land have been for many days asking this great nation to take away my little vineyard. They speak no word to me, and leave me to find out as I can from the rumors in the air that they would leave me without a home or a name or a nation.

"Seventy years ago Christian America sent over Christian men and women to give religion and civilization to Hawaii. They gave us the gospel. They made us a nation, and we learned to love and trust America. To-day three of the sons of those missionaries are at your capital asking you to undo their fathers' work. Who sent them? Who gave them authority to break the constitution which they swore they would uphold?

"To day I, a poor, weak girl, with not one of my people near me, and with all these Hawaiian statesmen against me, have strength to stand up for the rights of my people. Even now I can hear a wail in my heart, and it gives me strength and courage, and I am strong—strong in the faith of God, strong in the knowledge that I am right, strong in the strength of 70,000,000 of people, who, in this free land, will hear my cry and will refuse to let their flag cover dishonor to mine?"

Much Too Pretty.

NEW YORK, March 2.—The Commercial Advertiser editorially says: In greeting Princess Kaiulani there must be no mingling of sentiment and business. The one irresistible fact in the whole controversy is that native domination is wholly impracticable. The kanakas tried it a century ago and failed. To put Kaiulani on the throne will sooner or later be followed by a fresh collapse, when all this negotiation must be repeated. Cleveland's friends assume great responsibility for delaying the final step. Should England, which has been ominously quiet, eventually come into possession of Hawaii, the American people would never quite forgive the incoming administration, with which the destiny of the Pacific kingdom now rests.

Mr. Davies Criticized.

NEW YORK, March 2.—The coming to America of Theophilus H. Davies with the Princess Kaiulani is regarded by Paul Neumann, E. C. Macfarlane and others as a most unfortunate thing for the anti-annexation movement, and they have not hesitated to express themselves regarding it. Neumann, when he learned that the Princess had left England, said that the step was a most unwise one. Macfarlane said that he did not know any good reason for the presence of Kaiulani here, and that her coming was an unfortunate thing for his side of the case; and now Prince Kawananakoa of Hawaii, better known as Prince David, adds his share to the objections made against the Princess leaving England.

Mr. Neumann criticised the action of Mr. Davies in starting to the United States with the Princess Kaiulani, and also his reported proposition to Minister Lincoln in London to accept a United States protectorate over the islands with the Princess on the throne with a regency for three years.

"Why for three years?" he asked. "The Princess will be of age next year, and if she ever is qualified to reign it will be then. Mr. Davies acted, I believe, without authority. The friends of the Princess in Honolulu opposed the project of bringing her to this country, but she seems to have been started off before letters from the islands could reach her. I do not believe the officials of the United States will be inclined to receive with a kindly spirit the intermeddling of this Liverpool merchant."

Macfarlane says that he regards the coming of Princess Kaiulani as a most unfortunate thing for the anti-annexation movement.

"Her coming will do no good," said he, "especially when she is under the wing of an ultra-Britisher."

Dr. Smith, the Hawaiian Minister, agrees with Macfarlane regarding the advisability of the visit of the Princess to this country. "It is a most unfortunate thing for the anti-annexation people," he says. "The Princess has no business here. The Queen has not abdicated the Hawaiian throne, and she can have no official weight. Her coming was entirely against the wishes of her father.

"Cleghorn sent Davies word not to come with the Princess, but he either did not get the word or he has disregarded the father's wishes. He certainly did not wait until he had obtained Cleghorn's consent. In fact he did not trouble himself to ask for it. He simply took the entire affair into his own hands and took passage on the Teutonic without seeking any advice."

Wants a Protectorate.

It is reported that Davies, acting on behalf of the Princess, proposed to Minister Lincoln in London to accept a protectorate on the part of the United States for the Princess, Queen Liliuokalani's claims to the throne to be ignored in case the proposition was accepted. To Dr. Mott-Smith, Hawaiian Minister in Washington, it is said that Davies made a similar proposition, although in somewhat more extended form. It is said that the action of Davies in bringing the Princess to the United States was taken against the advice of her friends, both in this country and in Honolulu, but that Davies, in communications upon the subject, has expressed his opinion that a visit to the United States by the Princess could not fail of resulting in benefit to her cause.

THE OAHU RAILROAD.

What Annexation Means for a Prominent Industry.

Mr. B. F. Dillingham, who is now in New York, writes under date of February 20th to a gentleman of this city, as follows:

The outlook for brighter days in Hawaii under the stars and stripes seems good. Whether the Senate will ratify the treaty for annexation in time for the news to go back by this steamer of March 3d I cannot now say. It may be that the business will be held over by Democratic influence until after the 4th of March; but that it will be an accomplished fact within sixty days I have little or no doubt, unless some new and unexpected complication should arise. The Lancashire Mortgage Trust and Insurance Corporation had just decided to take up our bonds when the news of revolution came to hand. I do not expect to meet with much delay after the ratification of the annexation treaty. "Let Patience have her perfect work."

With the bountiful advertising this country is now getting throughout the world, the "Poi Cocktail" comes in for a share. The impression formed by newspaper writers in the East leads one to believe that the cocktail is suited only for the man who has had a "jag." This is erroneous, because it is an excellent thing for people whose stomachs become weak from any cause. Seasickness makes weak digestive organs and causes a revulsion to food. In such cases TARO FLOUR thinned with water is the only remedy.

Ask your grocer for it.

SAN FRANCISCO LETTER

Latest News Advices per R. M. S. S. Monowai, March 3d.

[From our San Francisco Correspondent.]

Sugar.

NEW YORK, Mar. 3.—Cuban centrifugal, 96 degrees, 3⅜ cents; Granulated, 4 62-100 cents.

The local market is quiet. Receipts are very free.

San Francisco News.

A. W. Foster and Sidney V. Smith, of Santa Rosa and San Francisco respectively, have bought the controlling interest in the San Francisco and North Pacific Railroad (Donahue line) for $850,000. The road is mortgaged for about $4,500,000.

Jose Gahill, a half-bred Mission Indian, was hanged at San Quentin prison on the 3d. He was the first man to be hanged in the penitentiary under the new law. His crime was the murder of two old German settlers near San Diego.

The San Francisco and Great Salt Lake railroad has collapsed, and E. L. G. Steele, the chief promoter, is about to go to Cuba for a pleasure trip. About $50,000 in all was spent on the line in surveys, etc. Steele and several other fine leading spirits are now engaged in active wordy war over the causes of the failure.

John W. Mackay, D. O. Mills, J. L. Flood and S. L Jones are considering a plan to pump out the deep levels of the Comstock lode and continuing explorations. At present no mining is done lower than 1500 feet, though in one instance in the Hale and Norcross mine the exploration has been carried down 3400 feet.

Another highbinder war is on in Chinatown between the Bing On Tong and the Suey On Tong. It started up during the new year's festivities. So far, five or six fighting men have been wounded more or less severely.

Park policeman S. W. Harper has been acquitted for shooting and killing Harry de Greayer about a year ago. The jury decided that it was a case of self defense.

A. C. Hastings, millionaire and founder of the Hastings Law College, died recently at his home in this city, aged 79 years.

The World's Fair Commission is receiving photos of the young ladies who want to pose as models for a statue of the "California Venus," which is to be placed in the California building in the Woman's department.

According to Secretary J. H. C. Bonte's report, the wealth of the University is represented by an endowment of $12,323,438, as follows: Capital, at 5 per cent., $8,000,000; Berkeley and Mount Hamilton plants $2,685,000; Hopkins House, $1,500,000; non-invested, $113,438; other property, land, etc., $25,000.

The Hobart estate has been appraised at $5,273,366.

The North Pacific Coast railroad has been purchased by a syndicate headed by Leroy G. Harvey, and the new owners will at once build a branch to Bolinas Bay.

Whitelaw Reid, of the New York Tribune and Harrison's associate on the Republican ticket last year, is on the Coast for his health. He had not been here for several years.

The wholesale fish dealers of the city have entered into a trust.

Count Festetics, who married a daughter of Louis T. Haggin, has obtained a master's certificate from the local School of Navigation. He is building a yacht, and when it is done proposes to sail around the world, Honolulu being the first objective.

J. W. Girvin & Co., rubber dealers, have failed. Liabilities, $123,805.

The marine collection of George W. Lichtenthaler, of Bloomington, Ill., celebrated all over the country, has been donated to the Stanford University.

John W. Mackay, the mining millionaire, was shot in the side and back on the 24th ult., by W. C. Rippey, while passing through Lick place. Rippey is an old man who lost heavily in mining speculations. After shooting Mackay, Rippey put a bullet into himself. Mackay is recovering nicely, but Rippey is at the point of death. The bullet he intended for his heart went through the lungs, and as he is a man of about 70 it is not believed that he can live.

Baroness Blanc's theatrical company has been stranded here, and all the wardrobe, etc., is in the hands of the sheriff to secure unpaid notes, debts, etc.

Dal Hawkins and William Miller fought before the Pacific Club a short time ago. Hawkins won and in a few hours Miller was dead from concussion of the brain. This will stop prize fighting in California. The California Club has disbanded, $6000 in debt. Hawkins is held to answer for manslaughter.

American News.

The row between the Kansas Populists and Republicans is not yet over. The Supreme Court of the State has decided that the Republican legislature is the legal body. The Populist governor undertook to override the law and was checked by the sheriff with 1000 special deputies. The Populists will be forced to compromise.

Ex Senator Spencer of Alabama is dead. He was the last of the "carpet bag" senators.

The effort to remove the California Railroad Commissioners from office, has failed thus far owing to the influence of the railroad company, who appear to have the legislature in harness.

A popular subscription is to be raised to build a home for Mgr. Satalli, the Papal delegate.

The failure of a firm in Cleveland, Ohio, whose paper had been endorsed by Governor McKinley has left the latter penniless. Friends offered to assist the great tariff maker by subscription, but he declined all such overtures and will begin at the bottom of the ladder again.

It has been finally decided that President Harrison will take the chair of law at the Stanford University. He will arrive here in May and begin his course of lectures.

The United States Government is about to buy gold in the London market. Secretary Foster of the Treasury Department has decided to issue $50,000,000 of bonds under the law of 1875, known as the resumption act, and to place them in London. In fact the issue has been already arranged for, and on Saturday last Drexel, Morgan & Co. offered one half the whole issue, or $25,000,000, of bonds for sale in the London market.

The most impressive scene ever witnessed in the walls of the California Capitol building was on the recent occasion of memorial services for the late James G. Blaine, the great statesman and friend of California.

The latest effort at a big combine is that of Eastern capitalists who are trying to secure control of the entire natural gas fields of Indiana and thereby gain a monopoly of furnishing fuel for manufacturing purposes.

The death of Rufus Hatch, who was once one of the kings of Wall street, is announced, at the age of 62. He made and lost many fortunes and died poor.

A Washington special says: After a conference with Secretary of the Treasury Foster, Carlisle said he could not see any occasion for apprehension in financial circles, as the Government would not allow gold to go to a premium. "My course as Secretary is very plain," he said to a friend. "One of my first official steps will be to issue bonds. This will be followed by a special session of Congress. The Sherman Act will be repealed."

Cremation is growing in favor in New York. The latest subject was Henry de Mille, the noted playwright. The crematory in that city is now kept quite busy.

The coast line railroad to the south is being completed by the Southern Pacific Railroad Company. Two thousand men are now at work in San Luis Obispo county and the gap will soon be closed. This will bring all southern overland passenger traffic up the Coast and the line will be a very popular one.

The inauguration of President Cleveland will take place to-morrow. Elaborate preparations have been made for the ceremonies and the accommodations of Washington are taxed to care for the thousands who will attend. Many Californians have gone east to see the affair.

The Columbian Government has granted an extention of the franchise to the Panama Canal Company till March 31, when it will be determined whether or not further time will be allowed.

Warren B. English has served notice upon Congressman Hilborn of Alameda county, Cal., that he will contest his right to sit in the next Congress. English charges fraud in the counting of votes.

A Washington dispatch says: The Nicaragua Canal bill is dead. Its friends look for a glorious resurrection in the next Congress, but the present one has no hopes to offer it. It may pass the Senate, where the the two half-acre maps still hang upon the wall, but the House will not attempt to consider it. The sub-committee of the Committee on Foreign Affairs appointed to investigate the subject has decided to hold no more hearings. The members have come to the conclusion that there is no chance of pulling the bill through at this session, and they see no use in wasting any more time on it.

Julia Force, a prominent young woman of Atlanta, Georgia, committed one of the worst crimes in the history of the country, by wantonly murdering her two grown sisters, and justifying herself in the act to the police to whom she surrendered. She asserted that she had been for years persecuted not only by her mother but by her brothers and sisters, and that she was forced to kill the latter for self preservation. An examination showed that the woman was insane.

Allen Manvel, President of the Santa Fe Railroad Co., died in San Diego, Cal., on February 24, of Bright' disease. He had brought the great railway system out of ruin to practical success.

The next Secretary of the Navy, Herbert of Alabama, has declared in favor of a larger navy. He says we want not to fight if it can be avoided, but we wish to put ourselves in a condition to command peace whenever peace is possible. In his report as Chairman of the Naval Commitee, which is accepted as a fair outline of the policy he will pursue, he stamps with his approval the policy of making the United States perfectly independent of foreign countries in the matter of shipbuilding and equipping by the encouragement of home industries.

He says: "We have secured sources which will give us ample home supplies of the best powder for light-power guns, of smokeless powder, of armor piercing projectiles superior to the best foreign make, and also of first class torpedoes of the Whitehead type. Important improvements have also been made in the manufacture of high explosives at the torpedo school. Main batteries of rapid fire and machine guns are now being supplied in abundance, all of domestic manufacture and superior in quality, it is belived, to any got elsewhere."

The Reading company has gone to pieces as the result of a panic on 'Change in New York, and bad management. Three receivers have been placed in charge of the affairs of the corporation to see what can be saved from the wreck.

The Bethlehem Iron Company's officials have received notice that a contract has been awarded them for over $2,000,000 worth of heavy armorplate, the entire contract being $8,000,000. The Carnegie Works at Pittsburg secured the rest of the contract.

The strike of railroad men in Chicago is growing more serious, and not only are trains being derailed, but the non union men assaulted. The military will probably be called out to protect property and lives.

Foreign News.

A despatch from St. Petersburg shows that cholera is not the only pest that Europe will have to deal with this year. In Russia the Government is now having a struggle with an epidemic of what is commonly called the "black death," which has recently appeared in the Caucasus. Thence it has spread with frightful rapidity all over Southern Russia. The number of deaths is increasing daily, and all measures to check the frightful calamity have so far proved useless. Whether the authorities will be able to suppress the plague or not remains to be seen.

It is said that the Ribot Government in France is about to collapse, and bring on another crisis in the affairs of the nation. The Royalists and Socialists are hard at work to bring about anarchy, and it is alleged that England is engaged, through secret agents, in attempting to embroil the Republic.

Dr. Cornelius Herz, the man most seriously implicated of all in the Panama scandals, is still ill at the hotel at Bournemouth, which he has bought up entirely for himself. An English detective sits beside his door in the house and two French detectives hover in the distance outside, but are not allowed within the hotel. A reporter managed to get into the hotel, and to have a brief talk with Mrs. Herz and a few words with Dr. Herz. Curiously enough both seemed more disturbed about the charges of being a spy than about anything else. He is afraid that the Chamber will resort to extreme measures in dealing with him.

Another revolting crime has been committed by Sicilian bandits near Palermo, Italy. Eleven of the villains have been sentenced to penal servitude for life. The crime for which these men were arrested was most atrocious, although it has had many parallels in Sicily. In August last they captured a wealthy landowner named Billotto and demanded for his release the sum of 500,000 lire. In letters written from his place of captivity, Billotto called upon the members of his family to forward the money to his captors, stating that if it was not sent the brigands they intended to kill him. This money was raised, but it failed to reach the robbers at the time they had set for its delivery to them, and they therefore proceeded to put their threats to kill Billotto into execution, and the testimony showed that he was tortured and then burned at the stake.

The Tribunal of Arbitration on the Behring Sea question met in Paris on February 23, and adjourned to March 23. They will decide the case between England and the United States.

M. Jules Ferry has triumphed over his enemies and is again president of the French senate. He was well received.

Another duel has been fought in France in consequence of the Panama scandal, in which one was wounded in the side.

The editor of the London Times the "Thunderer," has been called before the bar of the House to apologize for comments upon the Home Rule bill.

The newspapers are again figuring out the amount of the Queen's wealth, and the sum is placed at between £4,000,000 and £5,000,000, exclusive of landed property. It is publicly predicted that by the terms of Her Majesty's will her private property will not go to the Prince of Wales, the Duke of Edinburgh or the German Empress, but that the bulk will be divided between her favorite son, the Duke of Connaught, and her favorite daughter, the Princess Beatrice.

The jubilee mass of Pope Leo, on February 19th, was held in St. Peter's at Rome. There were 30,000 pilgrims and as many local Catholics in the vast edifice to witness the ceremonies as performed by His Highness. Forty thousand people were turned from the doors. The affair was one of the most brilliant of the kind in the history of the world.

Personal.

The Hawaiian Planters' Monthly for January, which has reached us since our last issue, announces the intention of Mr. Wibray J. Thompson, of Calumet Plantation, to visit the Sandwich Islands during March. We are sorry to say that this cannot now be confirmed. Although Mr. and Mrs. Thompson proposed sailing from San Francisco for Honolulu on the steamship Monowai, March 3d, for a three months' absence, and to that end had perfected every arrangement, unforeseen events have lately conspired to prevent the execution of their plan. It is to be regretted that Louisiana thus loses the advantages likely to have accrued from the careful study of Hawaiian means and methods which Mr. Thompson would certainly have given them. His letters from Cuba, on a previous occasion, have not been forgotten.

As sugar production from cane has nowhere else attained such high degrees of excellence in so many directions as in the islands, it would probably pay our planters richly to send a commission of experts over there for investigation and report.—Louisiana Planter, February 25.

CHURCH SERVICES.

ST. ANDREW'S CATHEDRAL.

The services of the Second Congregation of St. Andrew's Cathedral to-morrow, the third Sunday in Lent, will be as follows:

Advertising Hawaii.

A private view of the grand stereopticon exhibition, "Honolulu and the Hawaiian Islands by Limelight," illustrating the present revolutionary crisis in Honolulu, was given in the City Hall last evening. The representatives of the Press and a number of prominent citizens attended by special invitation and were highly pleased with the artistic excellence of the pictures of ancient and modern Hawaii, the picturesque scenery, illustrations of the manners and customs of the natives, and especially with the grandeur of the views of the great volcano of Kilauea, the "Inferno of the Pacific." Upwards of one hundred views were shown, accompanied by a graphic, eloquent and humorous descriptive lecture. The exhibition will be publicly given for the first time in the colonies at the City Hall to-night.—[Auckland Herald, Feb. 9.

IT WILL MEET IN CHICAGO AND BE AN IMPORTANT ASSEMBLY.

The Subjects That Are to Be Discussed and the Prominent People Who Will Be Present—The Congress to Be Managed by Laymen.

[Copyright, 1893, by American Press Association.]

THE announcement has recently been made in an official manner that, although the congress of members of the Roman Catholic church in America—both lay and cleric—that is to be held in Chicago during 1893 is yet months in the future, the programme for the meeting has been arranged.

This congress will in many respects be the most important that has been held in the United States. The policy of holding these meetings of lay churchmen is an old one in Europe, more especially in France and Belgium, but it is as yet new to Roman Catholics of America. They were brought about largely through the influence of Cardinal Gibbons.

The first congress was held in Baltimore in 1889 and was in every way a notable gathering. More than seventy archbishops and bishops were present, in addition to Cardinal Gibbons and Mgr. Satolli, the papal ablegate. Every state and territory in the United States was represented in the congress, and the then prime minister of Quebec, Hon. Honori Mercier, was among the delegates. The success of the congress was great, and the idea of making these meetings a permanent feature in this country met with immediate favor.

Three of the most distinguished members of the congress of 1889 are now dead. These are Daniel Dougherty, the famous orator; United States Senator Francis D. Kernan, of New York, and John Gilmary Shea, the eminent historian. But despite the loss of these men the coming congress will unquestionably be a most brilliant one.

The essential feature of these congresses is that, unlike the recent council of archbishops in New York and other Catholic church councils, they are dominated by laymen. The clergy participate, but they do not control. The delegates to the congress are nominally named by the bishops of the various dioceses that they represent, but in reality are selected by leading laymen. Nor have the church officials anything to do with arranging the programme of the meetings. However, it is the custom of the leaders prior to holding a congress to lay their plans before the ruling church officials for their approval. In this way the Chicago programme was as a formal matter of respect laid before the archbishops of the church at their late meeting in New York city and was by them approved.

The Chicago congress will be a big affair in point of numbers, for there may be present from 1,500 to 2,000 delegates aside from church officials and invited guests. Under the rules that will govern the congress ten delegates may attend from each diocese or archdiocese or vicariate apostolic, with five additional for every 25,000 of the Catholic population in each diocese. As this plan will give the great city of New York, with its immense Catholic population, over 150 delegates, and Boston, Philadelphia, St. Louis, Chicago and other cities almost as many, and as every Catholic university, college and seminary may also send delegates, it will be seen at once that it will require a large hall to hold them all.

As for the programme of the congress, it is simple enough. It will in no manner savor of politics or sectionalism, the sole aim being to advance the interests of the Catholic church along all legitimate lines. The school question in all its phases will be a prominent subject for discussion, as will socialism in the light of Pope Leo's most recent pronunciamento on that question in rebuke of the modern anarchistically inclined school of socialists.

But the main feature of the congress will be patriotism and Americanism. Other subjects will be secondary. Coincident as the congress will be, and in the same city with the Columbian celebration, it has been decided by the committee that has the matter of arrangements that it will be but fitting that the congress

The opening address will be upon America, and while the orator has not yet been definitely selected it may be said that he will be worthy of the occasion. Despite the death of Daniel Dougherty, who was long considered the representative Catholic American orator, the church is rich in orators of the first class. Then the historic facts involved in the discovery of America, the motives and character of Columbus, Ferdinand, Isabella and the other actors in that momentous period, with the results and consequences that have followed, will be dealt with in orations and papers by men especially selected for the occasion.

In short, patriotism and Americanism in all their phases will be the keynotes of the proceedings of the great gathering. There will be some historic names on the list of delegates who will attend the Chicago congress. Among these will be that of John Lee Carroll, of Maryland, of the famous family of "Carrolls of Carrollton," among whose members in this country were not only a signer of the Declaration of Independence, but also John Carroll, the first bishop of Baltimore, and for that matter in the United States, which was at the time of his appointment within his archiepiscopal territory. It was Pope Pius VI who in a special bull created the hierarchy of the United States in 1789, and it was in 1790 that John Carroll was consecrated bishop in the chapel of Lulworth castle, England, and was sent to rule over the Catholics in the new republic of which George Washington had been inaugurated first president but a year before.

At that time there were in the United States 40,000 Catholics, thirty priests, one college and no Catholic asylum or hospital. The Carroll of today lives in a year when Catholic churches are to be found from Florida to Alaska and from northernmost Maine to the Rio Grande—in fact, wherever the flag of the United States waves. For that matter the islands that Columbus first saw are now a part of the Roman Catholic archdiocese of New York, so many changes have been wrought between the times of John Carroll, first archbishop of Baltimore, and the present John Lee Carroll, his namesake, who is also—as his name indicates—a connection of the "Virginia Lees."

Another historic name is that of Charles J. Bonaparte, also of Maryland, and a leading lawyer of Baltimore, the grandson of Elizabeth Patterson, of Baltimore, and her husband, Prince Jerome Bonaparte, brother of the great emperor, who were married in Baltimore in 1803 by Bishop John Carroll, before spoken of.

But there is no lack of other laymen of prominence who will be present in the Chicago congress.

Among these will be William J. Onahan, of Chicago, a man of affairs in that city and a writer of no mean order. He was chairman of the committee that called the first Catholic congress of 1889. Another distinguished Catholic who was a member is Henry J. Spaundhorst, who, as his name shows, is a German and perhaps the most influential of German-American Catholics, while yet another is Daniel H. Rudd, of Cincinnati.

RYAN AND IRELAND.

Maurice Francis Egan, formerly editor of the New York Freeman's Journal, latterly a professor of literature in Notre Dame college, Indiana, a poet, novelist and scholar, will be another delegate, and he will be in good company, for several well known writers will be there as well. There are few of us who have not at some time enjoyed the delightful stories of Richard Malcolm Johnston, racy as they are, of the south, or the tales of Thomas C. Janvier, also redolent in fancy of the south, the southwest and the land of the Aztecs. They will both be at the Chicago congress, and so, for that matter, will be James Jeffrey Roche, who succeeded to the editorship of the Boston Pilot when Boyle O'Reilly died; Nugent Robinson, the poet and story writer, of New York; Conde B. Pallen, of Church Progress, in St. Louis; Manley Tello, of The Catholic Universe, Cleveland, and any number of other Catholic laymen of a literary turn.

Eugene Kelly, the great New York banker, will be a delegate in all probability, as will be James J. Farrelly, the head of the American News company, and his bosom friend, John D. Keiley, of Brooklyn, commandant of the Order of St. Gregory, the great and close friend of Cardinal Gibbons. Morgan J. O'Brien, of the New York supreme bench, will be present, and John Good, named count by Leo XIII, and Richard Croker, head of the famous organization known as Tammany Hall, will very likely be among the delegates, as will be Henry L. Hoguet, another successful New Yorker.

In addition to these laymen, every prominent church official in the United States will participate in the coming meeting in Chicago, headed by Cardinal Gibbons. Every college will send its best scholars. Headed by the gifted Dr. Keane, the national university at Washington will be represented by its ablest professors. Indeed the flower of the Roman Catholic church in this country, its brains and its wealth and all that is best in it, will be represented in Chicago, and it is believed that the result will be the most imposing church congress ever held in the United States.

JOHN FITZGERALD.

The Colorado Poet.

Cy Warman is a very stout, ruddy gentleman of perhaps thirty-five years, and looks as little like the conventional poet of fancy as any prosperous miner in the Rocky mountains. He did some very good writing while an editor in Creede, Colo., and also while editing The Western Railway. Before that he was an engineer, and thinks he absorbed some poetic fire while guiding his engine on night runs through the sublime scenery of the mountains. He lives at present in Denver, with a wife lately acquired, and not long ago made his first visit to New York.

What Might Be, but Isn't.

What might be every day, but isn't, occurred on a train coming into Detroit from Toledo one day last week. There was a good looking young woman in a seat by herself when at a way station a rather fly drummer came on.

"Is this seat engaged, miss?" he inquired, stopping in front of her.

"No," she replied promptly.

"May I sit here?" he asked as he began to pile in.

"No!" she said with such a snap that he slid along the aisle and dropped into a place alongside a great, coarse man.—Detroit Free Press.

Why New York Has No Big Hall.

The reason why New York city has no town hall for popular gatherings is because it doesn't pay. Meeting halls here are erected by philanthropists, the number of whom does not apparently keep pace with the growth of the population.—New York Sun.

The Yost

WRITING MACHINE.

Years ago, Mrs. Yost built a typewriter, the Remington No. 2 and Caligraph which were good enough then. But the family has increased by thousands. Other folks have hitched on extensions to hold 'em. But it's the same old typewriter, same ribbon, same scales, same rickety print. We want something modern, and we get it in the NEW YOST, which rises superior to the difficulties of any ribbon machine. The ribbon blurs print, wears full of holes, clogs type, takes power to pull it along, weakens manifolding and costs $8 or $10 a year. Our ink pad outlasts twenty ribbons. Can be changed in ten seconds, and costs less than $2 a year. And as to permanent alignment the YOST is the only machine which accomplishes this much desired feat.
