AT THE BIG FAIR.

The Latest Exposition News Photographed.

One of the most attractive features of the Pennsylvania exhibit will be a mountain, with its forests and streams, glens and lakes and other natural scenery. Upon its rocks and slopes will be exhibited 1000 stuffed specimens of the various species of birds and beasts and reptiles which are natives of Pennsylvania. And the botanical show is said to be as perfect in its reproduction as the art of man can make it. The caves in this mountain showing wild cats, mountain lions, etc., emerging, are lighted with electricity. The surprises that are said to exist for most persons in regard to the variety and surprisingly great number of wild animals belonging to Pennsylvania's mountain realms are represented to be many and decided. The exhibit was suggested by Dr. Harry B. Warren, the State Ornithologist.

Antonio Pem, the Hungarian traveler who left Buenos Ayres early in August last intending to make the journey thence to Chicago on foot in time to visit the Exposition, has arrived in Puno, Peru.

On Wednesday there arrived at the World's Fair ground 56 Cingalese natives, who come here from the island of Ceylon to install the exhibit from that country.

One of the most interesting of the Spanish exhibits will be that of the War Department, which intends to send to Chicago a rare collection of ancient artillery of the kind used in the days of Columbus.

There will be lombards and falconets, cannons and mortars, shells and projectiles of every description, all of Spanish manufacture. In addition there will be an exhibit of modern war materials.

Two hundred thousand dollars is the guarantee which the Chicago Board of Directors furnishes to insure the safety of crown laces and other work of similar character which Queen Marguerite of Italy and the Queen of Belgium will send to the Fair.

The electricity department was the first to complete its plans, first to allot space, first to close up its acceptance of space, and on Wednesday sent in its copy for the catalogue—the first finished copy to reach the printers. Only two exhibitors have withdrawn after receiving space, and both of them were from New York. One of them has since asked for his original space, but it was gone half an hour after he relinquished it.—Ex.

Coal in New South Wales.

The area of the coal-bearing rocks of New South Wales, between the Blue Mountains and the sea, is, it is stated, computed at about 18,000 square miles, and there are other beds in inland districts of about equal extent. The amount of available coal in seams over 2 1/2 feet thick, and within 4000 feet of the surface in New South Wales, is estimated as amounting to 78,198,000,000 tons, or about the same quantity as the coal fields of Great Britain within the same limits of depth, but including seams over 2 feet thick. The quality of the coal is variable, being bituminous, splint or steam coal, and coking or non-coking. The beds are so situated as to be readily accessible and workable without deep mining, as in this country.—[Ex.]

THE DAILY

PACIFIC COMMERCIAL ADVERTISER

Six Pages.

Be just and fear not; Let all the ends thou aim'st at be Thy Country's, thy God's, and Truth's.

THURSDAY, MARCH 16, 1893.

Mr. P. C. Jones has resigned his position as a member of the Executive Council, the condition of his health being assigned as the cause, and Mr. T. C. Porter has been appointed to succeed him. Mr. Porter is a man of business standing and ability, and has played a prominent and useful part in Hawaiian politics in the past.

The complaint is made that the band concerts on Saturday afternoons are disturbed by the persistence with which riders and drivers dash around the little park. Emma Square is not Hyde Park, and it is not a convenient place for the wealth and fashion of Honolulu to make so prominent an exhibition. For an imposing display of the kind indicated there is more room at Kapiolani Park, or even at Thomas Square.

SIR EDWIN ARNOLD ON THE HAWAIIAN SITUATION.

Sir Edwin Arnold is a third rate English poet who has earned a great deal of popularity among the masses in England and the United States. He has lately visited Japan and the visit gained him still further notoriety of a less enviable character. On his way back from Japan he passed several hours in Honolulu, which he spent with the Queen and Sam Parker, and in their company it appears that he acquired a profound knowledge of Hawaiian affairs. This knowledge he has utilized in the comments on the Hawaiian situation which he has lately given to the world in the columns of the London Daily Telegraph.

It does not militate against the strength of the annexationists that a weak and watery combination of the Tory and Sentimentalist, such as Sir Edwin appears to be, should take sides against them. It does not appear that Sir Edwin knows anything about the history, the traditions or the character of the inhabitants of this country. He cannot, in the nature of the case, be acquainted with the details of the controversy which resulted in the revolution, except as he may have learned of them through the American press. If indeed he were an accurate and philosophic observer, he might have at least guessed something of the battle which is still waging here between the forces of progress on the one hand and those of retrogression on the other. As a mere poet even, he might have divined something of this drama of civilization and heathenism which, small as the stage is, still has so much of high interest to the student of social laws. But the muse of Edwin Arnold is not dramatic, and, if the tales of his Japanese sojourn may be believed, his interest in this form of art would be concentrated upon its decoration, the ballet.

The reasons which have led Sir Edwin Arnold to his conclusions are not far to seek, for he confesses them himself. He opposes annexation to the United States because the Queen gave him a lei, which he still cherishes, because she has "placid and gentle features and the dark soft brown island eyes." Add to this that she seems to have praised the climate of England, and what more should be needed to move a poet's heart. It may be observed also that the "suffering" of Kaulani "for her people," seems to have made a deep impression on the sensitive heart of Sir Edwin Arnold, and doubtless served to intensify his conviction that annexation to the United States would be a bad thing for Hawaii.

As the charms of the female members of the Hawaiian Royal Family have convinced Mr. Arnold of one thing, it need surprise none that the presumably still greater charms of the females of Japan have convinced him of another. Sir Edwin wants Hawaii annexed to that country. He is satisfied that this is all which Hawaii needs to complete her felicity. It is a consummation devoutly to be wished, and would bring to the islands "a prosperity hitherto undreamed of." Moreover, the racial affinity between the Japanese and the Hawaiians—an ethnological discovery which Sir Edwin seems to have made in the course of his travels—will be a sufficient guarantee that the two peoples will live side by side in a golden age of peace and friendliness in their island Eden.

These are the vagaries of a mind which has lost its Anglo-Saxon fibre. They do not show that Sir Edwin Arnold, Poet, is of unsound mind. They merely show to what pitiful inanities even gifted men may sink, when they chloroform the reason and the moral sense with a solution of maudlin sentimentality.

FOR ANNEXATION.

An Organization to be Formed by Supporters of the Government.

There is a movement on foot to form a political organization among all friends of annexation. Lists were circulated about town yesterday, and before nightfall a large number of the supporters of the Provisional Government signified their willingness to join the society. As soon as a sufficient number of names have been secured a mass meeting will be held. The lists are headed as follows:

"For the purpose of supporting the Provisional Government and to assist, as far as in our power, in securing the annexation of these Islands with the United States of America, we, the undersigned, agree to unite in the formation of a political organization with that object in view."

COURT MATTERS.

In Probate. In the matter of the will of Peter Dalton; petition of the Executor for a discharge. Referred to F. W. Wundenberg, Master in Chancery.

In Probate. Petition of the will of Annie G. Dowsett be admitted to probate. The petition was granted.

In the matter of the estate of Mariano Comancho; petition that J. M. Vivas be appointed administrator vice A. G. Correa, resigned. Continued owing to the absence of some of the parties.

A Cable Necessary.

One of the first necessities entailed by the annexation of Hawaii would be the laying of a cable between the ports of San Francisco and Honolulu. Such a connection would be indispensable to the government for military and naval purposes, the requirements of the weather service, etc. Yet it would not necessarily follow that the work should be undertaken by the government. As a commercial enterprise alone such a cable would probably prove profitable, and with a government guarantee there would be of distinct value as opening up a great new field in a quarter of the globe hitherto but little more than a terra incognita to newspaper readers.—[Phil. Record.

"Free trade with the United States or annexation to the United States" is becoming every day a more tolerable thought among the people of Canada. They have gone far enough in the policy of taxing trade to find out that trade may be destroyed without building up home industries; and they naturally look to reciprocal commercial relations with the United States as a means of relief.—[Ex.

For Seasickness.

Use Horford's Acid Phosphate. Dr. Price, of the White Star S. S. Germanic, says: "I have prescribed it in my practice among the passengers traveling to and from Europe, in this steamer, and the result has satisfied me that if taken in time, it will, in a great many cases prevent seasickness."

HILO BUDGET.

DISCUSSING THE ADVANCEMENT OF HILO.

Two Newspaper Correspondents Are Present at a Meeting Held for That Purpose.

A public meeting was held in Sheriff Hitchcock's office on Saturday evening for the purpose of discussing the advancement of Hilo. The presence in the town of two such prominent newspaper correspondents as Miss Knapp and Mr. C. H. Wetmore, representing such influential papers and their desire for as full information as to Hilo and the surrounding country, was the reason for the call of the same. On leaving Honolulu their knowledge of the place was that Hilo was a stopping place on the way to the Volcano and was swamped in perpetual rain. Since their landing, however, and opportunity to look around they have become very considerably impressed with the importance of the position we occupy as a coaling and way port in the broad Pacific, with our natural harbor awaiting development, with our extensive stretch of tributary country, which ought in the natural order of things to pay tribute to this port, with our magnificent stretches of back country as yet practically unknown, and lastly our many attractions for the many tourist public. In view of the annexation of the islands they will all obtain special notice as an American possession and the wish to have it known generally, that there is something on the islands outside of Honolulu, that invites American capital and brains and is the most beautiful and wonderful place on the islands for the travelling public, was fairly well set before them. That as an American possession we will excite enquiry, and that we have something here that is worth enquiring after was the text of the meeting.

The bridge over the Mokohoua stream on the Government road leading out of Hilo on the Hamakua side fell with a crash on Thursday last. The abutments had become loosened with the rain and the whole affair, abutments and bridge went tumbling into the stream. Fortunately no one was injured although a number were on the spot to see it fall, who were withheld from crossing by seeing it tottering for a number of minutes before the crash came. A temporary structure was soon thrown up and traffic (except drays) proceeded as usual.

An attempt at incendiarism was made a couple of nights ago to burn up a Chinese laundry on the corner of Bridge street and Waianuenuenu avenue. Old clothes and shavings saturated with oil were placed under the building and fired, but the smell and smoke awoke the proprietor of the place and it was soon put out.

Apocryph of a fire here, we have a good water system and a fire company, but no hydrants or appliances to put out a fire. An appropriation for the former has been made, and it should be expended as early as possible. The appliances, we understand, are to be furnished from the Government store in Honolulu. The fire company thus early formed are to hurry the consummation of the above.

We understand that Mr. William Vannatta has been appointed Superintendent of the Hilo Water Works, in place of Mr. James Walsh, deceased. We wish him all success in his new position.

The steamer Lehua is here to load Hakalau sugar on the bark Annie Johnson. In the meantime the latter is receiving sugar from Waiakea and Waiakua.

The bark Harvester is due from the Coast and the Lurline is expected in a couple of weeks.

The last trip here of the Kinaw was one of the roughest she has experienced and the passengers got a good shaking up.

The steamer Likelike was in the bay Sunday. She will haul out in the morning, deliver her freight and take sugar down the coast.

Miss Knapp and Mr. C. H. Wetmore leave for the Volcano on Tuesday morning.

Judge Hitchcock and wife will celebrate the thirty-sixth anniversary of their marriage this evening by a party at their home.

Hilo, March 13, 1893.

ARE YOU GOING TO THE WORLD'S FAIR?

If so, what about the trip? Wouldn't you like to stop at some of the principal resorts, like Banff and Glacier, on the Canadian Pacific R. R.; Colorado Springs, Manitou Springs, and Salt Lake, on the Denver and the Rio Grande R. R.?

Wouldn't you like to do all this and at the same time AVOID ALL HOTEL BILLS? Wouldn't you like to have your rooms secured in advance at Chicago? Wouldn't you like to have a select and pleasant party to travel with to and from the Exposition? And wouldn't you like to know just when and how you are going?

The Pacific Excursion Co.

of San Francisco, can save you much worry and a deal of unnecessary expense. They will buy your ticket and secure you rooms at Chicago. Their trains run over the most scenic routes, side-tracking sleepers at all points of interest, thereby saving hotel bills.

If interested drop in and get a circular with full information about going to the World's Fair. THOS. W. HOBSON, 3328-t Agent for the Haw'n. Islands.

AMERICAN

Waltham Watch Co

Our last talk with you was about Dr. Jaeger's Sanitary Underclothing. We hope you have taken our advice and commenced to profit by it already.

We have another subject to discuss with you to-day. The cut at the head of this will show you that our remarks will be on TIME.

You are not perhaps aware that we are the Agents of the American Waltham Watch Co. of Waltham, Mass. We have been such for many years and keep constantly on hand a large assortment of Time Pieces of this company's make.

In fact we make a specialty of their goods and handle none of any other make.

Let us tell you something about this famous Watch Co.:

Established in 1854 at Waltham, Mass., the pioneer of American Watch Co.'s, with a daily capacity of 2000 Movements, 500 Gold cases and 1000 Gold filled, Silver and Metal cases; and in the making and sale of these, employment is given to about 4000 people.

Big concern aint it? We carry a big assortment of their goods; all sizes and grades.

Come and see what we can do for you before purchasing elsewhere. We have Open face and Hunting cases in Gold and Silver Pendant, Lever Setting, and non-magnetic movements. In these days of common use of generators of electricity, your Watch should be non-magnetic to secure accuracy in time-keeping.

We guarantee all our Watches to keep good time. We have in our employ a reliable watchmaker and can repair watches of any make with accuracy and dispatch and at the most reasonable prices.

Got a Baby at Your House? If you Have, then Give it

In hot weather more infants die than in all the rest of the year. Why is this? Principally because they are fed on unsuitable food. Nestlé's Food is known as the safest diet and best preventive of Cholera Infantum and all summer complaints. Consult your doctor about this important fact. For fuller information write for our book "THE BABY," which will be sent free to any address. Please mention this paper.

I would also add that any protection that may have been considered necessary for the American Legation or for American interests in the city would have been cheerfully furnished by Her Majesty's Government. With the highest respect I have the honor to remain Your Excellency's obedient servant, SAMUEL PARKER, Minister of Foreign Affairs.

"German Syrup"

"I have been a great sufferer from Asthma and severe Colds every Winter, and last Fall my friends as well as myself thought because of my feeble condition, and great distress from constant coughing, and inability to raise any of the accumulated matter from my lungs, that my time was close at hand. When nearly worn out for want of sleep and rest, a friend recommended me to try thy valuable medicine, Boschee's GERMAN Syrup. I am confident it saved my life. Almost the first dose gave me great relief and a gentle refreshing sleep, such as I had not had for weeks. My cough began immediately to loosen and pass away, and I found myself rapidly gaining in health and weight. I am pleased to inform thee—unsolicited—that I am in excellent health and do certainly attribute it to thy Boschee's German Syrup. C. B. STICKNEY, Picton, Ontario."

KOHALA NEWS.

MR. RICKARD ORATES WITH LITTLE SUCCESS.

He is Opposed to Annexation, but He Tells his Audience to Tolerate the Government.

The demagogues of Honolulu are beginning to send out their carpet-baggers into the country districts. These fellows, under the thin veneer of opposing annexation, are endeavoring to stir up the natives to agitate for the restoration of the throne of Hawaii.

The palaver of these political evangelists may not be very brilliant; but harm may result from this attempt to stir up race prejudices. Such men have always been the especial curse of the Hawaiians.

Some of the islands may get capable speakers, but North Kohala has to put up with the infliction of W. H. Rickard. What we have done I do not know—but it looks like a judgment on us for past offenses.

The address of this orator, who has for some time been crazy to get a foothold in politics, was the dreariest fizzle that ever struck Kohala.

In early days, before we grew prosperous and haughty, we used to be satisfied with very modest accommodations for our public officials to hold up the scales of justice; and the old court-house, long since abandoned, never was an imposing edifice. It stands up a little lane back of the Catholic church, and one gentleman, who complained about missing Mr. Rickard's exhibition in it on Friday night, said, with much surprise, that he always took that house for a deserted hogan. This probably accounts for the small audience that greeted Mr. Rickard's maiden effort.

It must have been nearly 8 o'clock before the meeting was opened. The audience was more than half children with about six or eight native women. The native pastor, who acted as chairman, announced "Nearer my God to Thee" as the overture, during the singing of which a catastrophe was narrowly averted. A little scamp of a boy, without the slightest provocation, snatched the music book from the leading soprano, and got a clip from her fair hand that made everything jingle, and fetched young impudence up in a sitting posture and a dazed condition. After the singing was brought to a successful conclusion, the chairman offered up a short prayer, and then introduced the orator of the evening.

The audience listened patiently and kindly to the proxy address, the only disturbance being the usual evidence of colds, and a little scuffle among the boys over a lantern. Otherwise with the utmost decorum prevailed, and when the speaker finally subsided into his chair, there was that pathetic and embarrassing silence which is charity's kindly sympathy for discouraging failure.

Mr. Rickard spoke chiefly in Hawaiian, but twice gave a resume in English of what he had said. He began by exhorting his audience to abide by the laws and tolerate the Provisional Government. He said he was opposed to annexation. He said we would not get any of the bounty on sugar; but neglected to say that we would get what is far better—the same benefits we had under the treaty before the McKinley bill brought hard times.

He bitterly complained that the American Minister had said annexation was opposed by the hoodlum class. He rejoiced to say that he, Rickard, was one of these hoodlums. This remark naturally called forth a smile.

The only prominent personages there, were Messrs. Kynnersley and Wallace, Kamaoaha, Representative, and the native pastor. There was no sound of applause or approbation from out the profound gloom. To do the Hawaiians justice they seem to appreciate the motives of these political evangelists. They know well that all this slopping over of affection is as treacherously selfish as it is unscrupulous. It is only their easy-going disposition that lets the Hawaiian fall a prey to the wiles of the foreigners who throw themselves sobbing into their arms.

The exceptionally high trades have fallen, and gentle showers sprinkle down at intervals. It is splendid growing weather for the young cane. Two schooners are outside beating up against the wind, evidently trying to make Kohala harbor. We have been hoping they might have the foreign mail aboard, but cannot find out at this mail closes.

Miss Tulloch and Miss Moesman are late arrivals in Kohala, and are stopping with their parents. The sugar mills are all grinding and work is going forward merrily. The crops are mostly turning out better than was hoped for three months ago.

The days are quite warm, and the nights are exceptionally dark. Kohala, March 14.

ANOTHER BURGLARY.

Thieves Walk off With a Heavy Iron Box Containing Valuables.

It was reported at the Police Station yesterday morning that the residence of William McCandless, at Palama, was entered during Tuesday night and a heavy iron box containing money and papers was taken. Mr. McCandless was absent during the evening and the sole occupant of the house was a boy. The thieves are supposed to have committed the burglary between the hours of 6 and 8 p. m. The box was taken from the second story of the house. It contained $45 in coin and some valuable papers.

The Bureau of Information was not in it when it came to advertising the islands; it was lacking in the essential qualifications to get up a boom, besides the expense was an item for the consideration of the stockholders. Hawaii is getting a bit of advertising now that could not be influenced by any organized body for that purpose or be bought with coin. We're getting it editorially too—the best kind of an "ad" and have you noticed that Poi and TARO FLOUR are being praised in song and story. Somehow TARO FLOUR is getting there—and so it should.

Try it in a Poi Cocktail.

FROM THE MOUNTAINS

TWO POETS WHO DRAW INSPIRATION FROM LOFTY HEIGHTS.

They View Life as It is Seen in the Rockies, and Write About Men Who Are Types of Western Character—A Strange Neglect of Nature's Charms.

The poets of the mountains are not yet classified in the United States, as were those of the lake school in England, the highland bards of Scotland or other local singers. At first view it would seem very remarkable that amid the glorious scenery of the Rocky Mountains the poets should treat of men rather than nature, yet it is a fact that to the poetesses rather than to the poets do we owe the finest touches on nature's sublimity.

Miss Sarah Carmichael (later Mrs. Williamson), the Salt Lake poetess, wrote of the mountains and the great salt sea near her home in lines of wild and wonderful beauty, as in her poem called "The Origin of Gold" she told how—

The fallen One looked on the earth and sneered. "I can guess," said he, "why God is feared."

The poem then tells how he took the lightning and shattered the mountains, and how—

The splintered light in the earth grew cold And the dictation of mortals pronounced it gold.

And other poetesses have tried to portray the majesty of mountain scenes, but Joaquin Miller, Bret Harte and their contemporaries only touch upon nature incidentally; man and his local eccentricities is their favorite theme. A new poet, however, has risen—Cy Warman, of Denver—and he is evidently struggling to express somewhat of the emotions roused in him by Colorado's sublime views. His recently issued "Mountain Melodies" contains some fine touches, in which, however, the sublime occasionally yields very suddenly to the commonplace, as in this, for instance:

I want to go where the flowers blow On the mountains high and hoary;

Where the summer winds shake the peasant pines

And the sun in its glory Falls o'er the stream where the ripples gleam;

Where the shores are shoal and sandy; I want to walk where the flowers talk On the banks of the Rio Grande.

I love the stills in the running rills— The willow rills half hidden

That lie in the lap of the gentle hills— In the lap of the hills unhidden.

I love the loas where the honey bees Are making sweets from the clover, And when I walk where the flowers talk I just feel good all over.

"The author offers no apology for the publication of these rhymes. They were inspired largely by nature and nature's God. If you have a kick coming, kick higher."

Francis Bret Harte ceased some years ago to be an American poet, and since 1880 could hardly be called an American writer, even in prose. Indeed for the last few years of his residence in New York he was lecturer and collaborator rather than writer. In 1875 he was appointed United States consul to Crefeld, Germany, whence he was transferred in 1880 to Glasgow, remaining consular there till a new administration came in.

He was born Aug. 25, 1834, in Albany, and in 1854 went to California with his widowed mother. Life was pretty hard with him for the next seven years, and as teacher, miner, compositor and editor he gained much more experience than money.

Little by little, however, some clever local sketches he had written for the papers on which he worked as compositor gained a reputation on the coast, and in 1864 he was appointed secretary of the United States branch mint, with leisure enough to cultivate his gifts. During the four years he held that place he wrote "John Burns, of Gettysburg," "The Elococo Skull," "The Society Upon the Stianilow" and other pieces, which gave him such a fame that in July, 1868, he was made editor and manager of the new Cleveland Monthly.

The second issue of The Monthly contained his "The Luck of Roaring Camp," and in the next number "The Outcasts of Poker Flat," which were read in every part of the English speaking world and raised the author at once to an international fame. His subsequent sketches and poems are too well known to need mention.

TRACKWALKING

A RAILROAD OCCUPATION THAT MUST GROW TO BE TEDIIOUS.

How the Big Transportation Companies Keep Their Roadbeds in Repair—Looking for Loose Nuts and Protruding Spikes Along the Line.

The terrible accident that happened to Peter Daugherty, the "trackwalker," gave to many readers a new word in the vocabulary of "trades and occupations." That there was such an occupation as trackwalking under the big cover of the stary dome not one man in a thousand ever imagined.

"A trackwalker, a trackwalker?" exclaimed one citizen when asked the definition of the term, "Why, yes, of course. A trackwalker is a fellow who walks the tracks. See? Just as easy! Now ask me something real hard."

If pressed for a closer explanation of the long word's meaning, the citizen proceeds to get facetious: "Oh, wacher trying to ring in on me now? A trackwalker is—a trackwalker. When the carnivorous tramp is hustled from his lair in one city he emigrates to another. On the way thither, my friend, he is a valuable specimen of the genus trackwalker. When the manager of an "Uncle Tom's Cabin" troop folds up his pocketbook and, like an Arab, silently steals away, leaving sweet little Eva, good old Uncle Tom and religious Miss Ophelia to swear at his memory for their salaries, why, then they are very likely to become trackwalkers. Then, again, you might call hucksters who drive their wagons up and down the street car tracks track walkers. He, he, he! See?"

Which all goes to show that the real bona fide trackwalker is comparatively an unknown cog in the great machine of the world. If that cog was suddenly taken out of place and thrown away the world would very soon discover its loss. From the crashing of wrecked trains would come the death rattle of the dying; from the ruddy glare of burning cars would come the shrieks of tortured wretches pinned beneath heavy timbers, and the one cry sounded from end to end of the land would be, "The trackwalker deserted his post! Hide along any road for five or ten miles and you will overtake him, plodding along beside the track. He is not dressed in the latest cutaway diagonal, and his trousers, if noticed, bag at the knees. He only gets $1.50 a day here in the west, and in some eastern districts still less. He carries a wrench and a hammer, and now and then stops to tighten a bolt in a rail or drive a spike into a tie. He tramps along thus for twelve hours out of the twenty-four, and at the end of the day "can sleep without rocking."

A reporter found Daugherty yesterday in one of the pleasant wards of St. Mary's infirmary. Bending over him, with her sweet face full of sympathy, was one of the sisters of the order. "He's doing very nicely," she softly said, "but must not be excited."

"You see, it's my shoulder there now," exclaimed Daugherty, raising his left arm and dropping it to the sheet again with a shudder of pain. "It seems as though it was under a trip hammer and the hammer was pounding for all it was worth. It's a terrible pain, and now as it was good gracious, but that old engine did hit me a clip!"

"How did it happen?"

"All fired sudden. I was walking along between the tracks, peaceable as you please, when down rolls a train on the left hand. Being afraid that the steam or something would hit me I stepped into the right hand track. Whack! Biff! Yours truly got it in the neck sure as you live. An engine was flying down the right hand tracks, you see, and I merely tried to stop it by putting my 'shoulder to the wheel.' I don't remember what happened then. The lights went out. When I arrived in sight of myself again I was here."

"My walk is from Carr street to the other end of the bridge in Madison. I'm not complaining of the walk at all, understand. They always treated me white as long as I've been working for 'em, which is only a couple of months. I'm just a little sorry that the company is such a new one. They haven't got any hospital of their own yet, you know. That's why I'm here. Of course I'm being treated splendidly here—just as if I was at home—but, you see, I don't know exactly who's going to pay these good sisters for taking care of me. I'd hate to see 'em do all their work for nothing."

Daugherty gazed reverently at the crucifix hanging on the opposite wall before answering. "Speaking of the work, it's all right. I get $1.50 a day, just the same as the other laborers on the road, and it isn't as hard as digging. All you've got to do is to be sure and go over your section as many times as you're ordered, and see that the rails are in proper shape. If you find a loose bolt you take your spikes and tighten it. If you find a spike poking its head into the air, give it a clip with your hammer. That's all there is to the business. If you should happen to find something out of whack and can't fix it yourself, why, you go for help; that's all. You see, I know just enough about trackwalking to do my work well. I have never had any of the adventures that some of the men have. If you want to hear some funny stories you ought to go down to Twelfth and Gratiot streets."

"Some of those fellows have been walking the tracks all over the country for years. Some of 'em know every square inch of rail between here and New York, I'll bet, and can tell you with their eyes shut where they are if set down on any one of the roads between this town and Chicago. A fellow gets to know the weight of the ties on every mile he walks over, and from day to day learns to pick out which bolts are going to be loose and which spikes will poke their flat heads above the flanges of the rails. It's like anything else; if you stay with it you'll learn it as you do your friends' faces, and it becomes a sort of instinct."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

The Yost

WRITING MACHINE.

Years ago, Mrs. Yost built a typewriter, the Remington No. 2 and Calligraph which were good enough then. But the family has increased by thousands. Other folks have hitched on extensions to hold 'em. But it's the same old typewriter, same ribbon, same scales, same rickety print. We want something modern, and we get it in the New Yost, which rises superior to the difficulties of any ribbon machine. The ribbon blurs print, wears full of holes, clogs type, takes power to pull it along, weakens manifolding and costs $8 or $10 a year. Our ink pad outlasts twenty ribbons. Can be changed in ten seconds, and costs less than $2 a year. And as to permanent alignment the Yost is the only machine which accomplishes this much desired feat.
