FOR OLD COLLEGE BOYS.

The Greek Letter Fraternities Will Have an Interesting Show at the Fair.

The Greek letter college societies have had space allotted to them and will make an interesting and instructive exhibit at the World's fair. This will include a collection of books, charts and documents relating to the fraternities, bound volumes of their songs, magazines, annuals, etc., and a complete display of all their badges and paraphernalia. But the chief feature of the exhibit will be a reproduction of the choragic monument of Lysicrates, which is said to be the most famous specimen of Corinthian architecture in existence, and which will be restored in every particular and put in the center of the space devoted to the exhibit. The monument is 40 feet high, and the walls are black, the woodwork being all ebonized and ornamented in gilt.

CHORAGIC MONUMENT.

It may be well to explain for the benefit of those who do not know that a choragic monument was a building erected by a victorious chorus leader for the exhibition of the tripod received as a prize in the musical contests in Athens. Besides that of Lysicrates to be reproduced for the fraternities there is another still to be seen in Athens, that of Thrasyllus.

The Scientific Method in Politics.

True intellectual manhood has not been attained until men have learned to trust nature, to test all opinions and schemes by the touchstone of natural law, and as a necessary result to despise swaddling clothes and leading strings and all the paraphernalia of creeping childhood or timorous imbecility. We see before us, as we believe, a prospect of manhood for the American people—such a manhood as they have never before attained to—one of the chief signs of which will be a proud confidence in themselves, and in connection and through harmony therewith a noble and generous bearing toward all other nations.

Heretofore men politically prominent among ourselves have not been ashamed to suggest that the best policy for us was the one that wrought most evil to other countries, and have thus fed and stimulated all that was meanest and most malignant in the minds of those whom they addressed. There has thus been cultivated among a people which ought, from its advantages of position, to be the most cosmopolitan and broadly philanthropic of all nations a tone of feeling more petty and parochial than could perhaps be found in any other community of the modern world. The mark has, however, been overshot, and the better feeling and better sense of the American people are now, we may trust, about to assert themselves.—Popular Science Monthly.

Tempting Providence.

"Mary Jane," said the Dakota farmer to his spouse, "it seems like flyin in the face of Providence to name the boy Elijah. It sounds too much like the old feller in the Bible that was carried away by a cyclone. I don't think it's a proper name at all fer this country."—Indianapolis Journal.

Government "Deadheads."

In some of the departments at Washington there are so many clerks that the useless ones stand in the way of those who are disposed to work. The working clerks are a splendid force of experienced and capable men, but the Tite Barnacles are found everywhere.—Pittsburg Post.

Voice of a Philosopher.

The man, be he editor or reader, who imagines that the public feels the faintest degree of interest in his envies, jealousies, complaints, grumblings or quarrelings is an idiot.—Pascagoula (Miss.) Mirror.

ANOTHER CRITIC.

Mr. A. Hoffnung, who holds a commission from the Provisional Government as Hawaiian charge d' affairs in London, has written a pamphlet against annexation. It is the work of a blunderer, lacking the skillful insinuation and dissimulation of Mr. Nordhoff's Herald letter. There is a suggestive peculiarity, if not a similarity in the names of these two gentlemen; yet it is a fact they both claim nativity of the two great nations whence they hail.

At the outset of the attack Mr. Hoffnung errs in quoting Sir Edwin Arnold to give the ex-queen a "good character" before beginning his special pleading for deposed royalty. Unfortunately for Mr. Hoffnung, people here are aware that the poetic Sir Edwin was only a few hours in Honolulu; hence it is not generally believed his statement that the ex-queen "is as real and true a royal lady, in spirit and education, as the courts of Europe could furnish," is either exact or conclusive. In fact it is very clearly understood here that Sir Edwin Arnold has made a complete success of mistaking his fancy for facts, since his harried visit. In any event Englishmen in Hawaii, and Americans for that matter, will draw a long breath of relief that Sir Edwin did not include England's honored Queen in his invidious comparison. The courts of Europe can call Sir Edwin and Mr. Hoffnung to account, if needs be, when the facts become more fully known and the bitter irony of the comparison makes itself more keenly felt.

Mr. Hoffnung is of the opinion only two drawbacks to annexation exist; one being the monarchy, and the other native sentiment. The Hawaiian Charge d'Affairs in London seems to be purposely unaware that the monarchy of Hawaii has forfeited all its claims to continuance, by violating the fundament law of the land. He also gratuitously assumes native sentiment to be wholly opposed to annexation, which it is not, and openly declares that the claims of royalty should take precedence over such paltry national factors as the tax-payers of Hawaii and our domestic and foreign commerce.

Mr. Hoffnung is quite as positive as Mr. Nordhoff that the United States does not want Hawaii, and he somewhat broadly intimates that even if she did, she should first ask the consent of all the residents,—Mr. Hoffnung being of the opinion an anti-American contingent could be raised in the mean time to support the royalist cause. Kind Mr. Hoffnung, Hawaiian charge d'affairs in London! It is delightfully refreshing to hear an Englishman raising such an objection after one contemplates the facts of English colonization and conquest the world over. Happily, however, unprejudiced people are in the habit of admitting that the end has justified the means in the bulk of English colonization. The advance of the world's civilization, in which England has been one of the chiefest banner bearers, seems a somewhat stronger argument than Mr. Hoffnung's second-hand plea for temporarily restoring an insufficient and worn out native monarchy.

The meat of the Hawaiian charge d' affairs' pamphlet is, however, in the last paragraph but one. He, like Mr. Theo. H. Davies, has a proposition to make. Mr. Hoffnung coolly asks the restoration of the ex-queen, with the "constitutional safeguards" now existing! He promises she will be good hereafter, as she has learned a lesson! Is it possible Mr. Hoffnung does not know the ex-queen attempted the same puerile game, when it was too late—too late, happily, for monarchy to linger in Hawaii, with the consent of the bone and sinew of the country? Mr. Theo. H. Davies made similar promises for Kaiulani. He, however, had lived long enough in Hawaii to know it was useless to try the ex-queen again; but, like Mr. Hoffnung, he foolishly promised for the good behavior of his ex-royal charge, and her case consequently broke down.

Gentlemen scribblers, please take notice that the great majority of the Hawaiian people are tired of royal promises; they will hereafter demand guarantees of good government, and these they intend to furnish themselves.

ANNEXATION GROWING.

Nearly every incoming mail brings word of the successful organization or encouraging advancement of native annexation clubs on the other islands. It is a significant fact that the leaders of these movements are principally men of pure Hawaiian blood, who represent the best classes of natives in the country districts.

Every week that now passes shows time will strengthen and complete, rather than weaken, the annexation cause. The foreign and half-caste royalist leaders of Honolulu, who are at present seeking a new pretext to rally their adherents around, will soon drop their demand for a vote on the annexation question when they find they will have to meet the issue squarely in the country districts. A few months hence they will be found joining the ex-queen in some new demand, backed by a solemn protest against submitting the alleged sacred rights of royalty to the decision of the common people, whom they have always politically oppressed and socially despised.

The present royalist plea for democracy is hardly skin deep. Had not contact with western civilization forced republican ideas upon the present family of pretenders, placed upon the throne of the Kamehamehas by the aid of foreign gold, the royal tabu would still be in force against political and industrial freedom, and the native Hawaiians would be paying over, as of old, two-thirds of the "avails of their industry" to support an indolent, licentious and spendthrift court.

On the other hand, if the crown lands are divided, every native in the islands can have a home where he will again have the chance to make his family and himself comfortable and happy. The natives are rapidly seeing these facts; they prefer to take their chances with the men who have succeeded in Hawaii, than with the old disreputable palace crowd who have succeeded in bankrupting themselves, and now coolly ask the natives to exert their patriotism to aid in completing the political and financial ruin of the country by restoring the monarchy.

The natives are still patriotic enough, but they are learning that patriotism pays best when exerted in their own, and not in royal interests.

SOME CREDITABLE WORK.

Colored Views of Hawaiian Fishes.

In the office of Drs. Whitney and Nichols, corner of Fort and Hotel streets, there is a collection of sixty-one water color paintings of Hawaiian fishes, executed by Mrs. J. M. Whitney. The list embraces some of the rarest and most beautiful fishes in our waters, and probably a few that have never before been shown. The colors of these specimens include all the tints of the rainbow, and have been copied from life with a fidelity that must receive the applause of all interested in the piscatorial branch of zoology.

The collection will be taken to Chicago by the doctor who leaves in the Australia, May 24th, accompanied with Mrs. Whitney, and it will probably find a place in the fisheries building, as Hawaii has no department allotted to it. It is certainly a credit to Hawaii that an amateur artist can be found here, who can prepare an exhibit like this. The collection will be open to the public for two or three days at the above place, and lovers of the beautiful in nature should not fail to see it.

AT THE CHURCHES.

Cathedral Services — Children's Day at the Central Union.

The usual services at St. Andrew's cathedral were held yesterday. The morning service of the second congregation was enlivened by a large attendance of officers and men from the British warship Hyacinth. The singing at this service was more than usually good, the choir being reinforced by a number of volunteers. The singing of the anthem, "How Lovely are Thy Dwellings Fair," was especially fine. The cathedral was well filled again at the evening services.

Yesterday was Children's Day at the Central Union church and services appropriate to the day were held. As usual this church was crowded at both services.

At the Catholic church the attendance was so large at the morning service that the congregation extended to the sidewalk, as it usually does.

The regular services of the Y. M. C. A. were held at their hall and an evangelistic meeting at Bethel hall.

TUG-OF-WAR.

A Valiant Pull Which Ended in a Draw.

There was great excitement on Saturday evening in the vicinity of Emma street, the occasion being a tug-of-war between a team of four Portuguese and two Hawaiians from Paoua valley and six Hawaiians from Emma street, for a purse of $60. The contest, which took place near the old British legation, commenced at 5:50 o'clock and lasted till 9 o'clock, when it was postponed to some future day, the participants being thoroughly exhausted.

At the commencement of the pull the Emma street boys gained about four inches, which they maintained until the end, the rope not varying two inches either way afterwards. Considerable money was wagered on the pull, and some four or five hundred natives were interested spectators. The fact that the two teams are so evenly matched will create much interest in the final bout.

The advantage to be gained by the use of superior oils in lubricating the machinery in mills and steamships, has been demonstrated times without number, but it has not always been possible here to secure the quality necessary.

After months of careful study and research, we put on this market a year ago the now celebrated brands of "Colorado Mineral Oils," which almost instantly jumped into popular favor. The high price of lard oil places it beyond the reach of most consumers, and practical men who have tried the "Colorado" Oils, pronounce them superior in quality to any other in use and answering all purposes to which lard oil is put. We confidently recommend these Oils to any person in charge of machinery, no matter how finely constructed or how intricate. We keep always in stock Cylinder, Engine, Dynamo and Mineral Castor, and can supply consumers in large or small quantities.

Three orders for Hendry Breakers last week adds to the popularity of that implement of agriculture; its strength and lightness of draught is what sells it, the latter feature making it possible to do work with fewer mules or horses than ever before. It saves stock and it saves time, two important items in the life of the plantation manager. Time is money in these times and must be saved by every one who wants to get on in this world. We believe the "Hendry" to be the best Breaker on earth. Suppose you try one, just to see if you can agree with us.

H. F. WICHMAN

The vacancy in my Watch Repairing Department caused by the death of my old Watchmaker, has been filled by a competent man of experience from the States.

We are now in a position as of old, to do any and all work in this line, and to guarantee satisfaction.

No work too intricate.

No watch too complicated for us.

The excellent reputation gained in the past for fine work and only such will be maintained at all hazards.

My OPTICAL BUSINESS is now an established institution, and hardly needs mention. Yet as I am making this a FEATURE and a LARGE ONE of my regular business, I want to keep it constantly before you. The many flattering testimonials I have received from my patients the past two months, and the daily increasing business convince me that you appreciate my knowlege, and are willing to profit thereby.

A failure to correct any trouble which glasses can correct IMPOSSIBLE.

My system of testing is so simple and yet so perfect, that the whole thing becomes a pleasure to you, instead of a tedious and painful operation.

Will you bear it in mind?

☞ No charge for testing.

DEATH OF AN ARTIST.

Robert Barnfield Passes Away After a Long Illness.

Mr. Robert Barnfield, who died yesterday afternoon at the Queen's hospital, and who was so well known in this community, has been a great sufferer for many years, and in his last illness was the cause of great solicitation among his many friends.

He was a native of Gloucester, England, the son of a retired naval officer. In early life he was articled to an architect in that city, eventually taking up stone engraving, which he followed in London for a short period. He emigrated to New Zealand about ten years ago for the benefit of his health, being at that time, as indeed during most of his life, a great sufferer from asthma. From New Zealand he went to the Phœnix group in the old Explorer, then owned by Mr. Arundel, eventually coming on to Honolulu in the same steamer, where he has resided for the last eight years.

Mr. Barnfield leaves many friends to morn his loss. He was a man of very genial qualities, and will be long remembered by those who knew him. He leaves behind him some excellent water color sketches which are much admired by art lovers, and which will keep his memory fresh both as an artist and a man.

DECIDEDLY COOL.

The Way a Japanese Reported the Death of a Child.

One day last week a Portuguese child of 18 months was drowned in one of the Wailuku streams. Before it was missed a Japanese went to the stream to procure a bucket of water, pulled the child out, then filled his bucket and, leaving the corpse behind, returned to the store, where he reported the accident with as little concern as though it had been a dog.

A Surprise Party.

A number of the friends of Postmaster-General J. Mort Oat surprised him at his residence on Emma street last Saturday evening by taking possession of his house and proceeding to have a good time generally, the occasion being the anniversary of his birthday. The evening was enjoyably spent with music, progressive euchre and other amusements, refreshments being served in the intervals. The party broke up at a late hour.

Valuable Pictures.

Two handsomely-framed pictures have just been added to the attractions of the Criterion saloon. The first is a painting of the pali, from the Koolau side, the view being taken at the second turn of the road from Honolulu, just below the spring. The other is a painting of the volcano during the flow of 1888, representing the molten lava overflowing on the Maunaloa side. Mr. Dee, the proprietor of the Criterion, values these pictures at $300 each.

Longer Hours.

The government has determined to lengthen the office hours of all government employees. Commencing today the regular office hours will be from 8:30 A. M. to 5 P. M. It has also been ordered that hereafter a clerk shall be kept in each government office during the noon hour. On Saturdays the office hours will be from 8:30 A. M. to 1 P. M. without a recess. This will greatly add to the public convenience.

Of the foreign issue the 5 cent numbers 387,500, followed by the 10 cent, of which there 150,000. The 12 cent and 18 cent are next, with 94,250 and 50,000 respectively. WILL HE LIVE?

A Five-Year-Old Boy at Lahaina Swallows a Mango Seed.

A singular accident occurred at Lahaina last week, which may prove fatal. A lad 5 years old swallowed a mango seed, which can be distinctly felt in the stomach. Dr. Davison, who has the case in hand, is trying a very low diet with his little patient, hoping that the gastric juice may dissolve the seed. The only other course will be to perform a surgical operation, which involves a risk of the boy's life. The question is, how did the boy swallow so large a thing as the seed of a mango.

NOTICE OF DIS-INCORPORATION.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR,
HONOLULU, April 27th, 1893.

IN THE MATTER OF THE DISSOLUTION AND DIS-INCORPORATION OF THE PACIFIC IRON WORKS COMPANY.

DECLARATION OF DIS-INCORPORATION.

To all to whom these Presents shall come, I, J. A. King, Minister of the Interior of the Hawaiian Islands send Greeting:

Whereas on the 15th day of February, A. D. 1893, the Pacific Iron Works Co., a corporation incorporated and existing under the laws of this Kingdom, wishing to dissolve and dis-incorporate itself, presented to the Minister of the Interior its petition, together with a certificate setting forth that at a meeting of its stockholders called for that purpose, it was decided, by a vote of 643 shares out of a total of 654 shares of its stockholders, to dissolve and dis-incorporate the said Corporation, which said Certificate was signed by J. F. Hackfeld and Ed. Suhr, the presiding officer and Secretary, respectively, of said meeting which said petition and certificate were entered of record in the office of the Minister of the Interior.

And whereas, notice was thereafter caused to be published in the English and the Hawaiian language for sixty days once each week for nine successive weeks in the HAWAIIAN GAZETTE and Kuokoa newspapers published in the City of Honolulu, in the Island of Oahu, that is to say on the 21st and 28th of February, and the 7th, 14th, 21st and 28th of March, and the 4th, 11th and 18th of April, 1893, in the HAWAIIAN GAZETTE and in the "Kuokoa a me ko Hawaii Pae Aina i huiia" in the issues of February 18th and 25th, and March 4th, 11th, 18th and 25th, and April 1st, 8th and 15th, 1893, in the regular weekly editions of said newspapers, a notice of said petition and certificate, copies of which said notices as so published are hereunto attached, and whereas I am satisfied that the vote certified as aforesaid was truly taken, and I am further satisfied that all claims against the said Pacific Iron Works Company are now discharged.

Now, therefore, know ye that I do hereby declare that the said Corporation, the Pacific Iron Works Company, is dissolved, and that its surrender of its Charter, dated the 28th day of March, A. D. 1893, is hereby accepted in behalf of the Hawaiian Government.

Given under my hand and official seal this 27th day of April, A. D. 1893.

ARRESTED FOR LIBEL.

TWO ROYALISTS IN THE CLUTCHES OF THE LAW.

The Editors of the "Holomua" and "Ka Leo" Arrested on a Charge of Criminal Libel.

On Saturday morning a complaint was sworn out by Attorney-General W. O. Smith, accusing John E. Bush, editor of the Ka Leo o ka Lahui, and George Carson Kenyon, editor of the Hawaii Holomua, of criminal libel. The parties were immediately arrested by Police Captain Juen and conducted to the police station, whence they were shortly afterwards released on bonds in the sum of $500 each.

Kenyon was arrested for the publication of the following article reflecting on the good name of United States Minister Stevens, entitled:

"THE HOWL IN HAWAII."

Minister Stevens had gone beyond his authority in hoisting the flag of the United States over Hawaii. He had attempted to steal the Island and overthrow recognized government authority to which he was accredited as minister. His was the act of a robber chief. A few bold characters upon their own motion, through the assistance of United States marines and under the threatening guns of the warship Boston, deposed the Queen and set up a Provisional Government. For the protection of the Provisional Government, and to give sanctity and prominence to the steal, Minister Stevens lent the authority of the United States, under the national emblem known to all nations.

President Harrison, in reply to Minister Stevens' official notification of his action in the revolutionary movement, rebuked the minister and disavowed his authority of impairing the sovereignty of the Hawaiian government by substituting the flag and power of the United States."

Mr. Blount, as commissioner from the United States, in pulling down the flag at Hawaii, has only carried into effect the disavowal and implied order of President Harrison.

Under their own flag and government the people of Hawaii are no longer prisoners, but free to act with our accredited agents in the matter of annexation or establishment of protectorate.

There was no other line of action left open to President Cleveland than that he has chosen. Every movement surrounding the late Provisional government, proclaimed theft and infamy. Speculators, free-booters and filibusters must not steal the good name and flag of the United States under which to advance personal ends and unholy schemes. If Hawaiians decide on closer relations with the United States, or if it be to the advantage of our government, that annexation should be had, let negotiations be conducted fairly, and without restraint, and with the autonomy of the weaker power fully recognized. That policy which is for the best interests of all will prevail, and whether annexation, protectorate, or former condition remain, all will be for the honor, glory and advancement of the United States.

The charge against Bush was brought about by the publication of the following article in the Ka Leo, entitled, "He Pilikia," containing libelous reflections on the financial management of the affairs of the Provisional government:

Few days ago some Hawaiian government bonds were disposed of by the officials now holding offices temporarily. The sum of $25,000 was obtained for those bonds, and the price when sold was fifteen or twenty per cent. below the actual value. Outside of paying the interest on them, and hereafter the nation and taxpayers have to pay the principal in full at 100 cents per each dollar. This is the first time that the Hawaiian bonds sold at so low a price. At the time when the government officials were those who were opposed to the reform party the bonds were then sold for 100 to 109 cents. This shows the truth, that our present government are not trusted by those who have money now residing in our midst. It is worse in foreign countries. They don't purchase any of these bonds on account of the revolution, as we now see within these days. Whereas this is a government only for the time, these actions can be condemned. In other countries this kind of action can be condemned, and debts obtained in this way can be rejected when the permanent form of government be restored.

The hearing of both charges will come up before Police Judge Foster this morning.

Saturday's Cricket Game.

There was a good attendance of cricketers at the scratch game on Saturday afternoon, resulting in a very pleasant game. A meeting of the club was held at the Hawaiian hotel in the evening which was well attended. Bye-laws were framed and other matters of interest to the club discussed. The club now has a membership of fifty, including honorary and playing members.

At the Armory Tonight.

There will be a meeting of the members of Prof. Loheide's athletic club at the Beretania street armory tonight. It is expected that a full attendance will be present, as the meeting is called not only for practice but for the purpose of listening to and acting upon certain business propositions to be made to the club by the professor.

THE DIAMOND FIELD.

Third Game of the Season—Kamehamehas Win.

The third base ball game of the new season took place on Saturday afternoon at the League grounds, between the champion Kamehamehas and the Crescents. The Crescent boys had an off day, and as a result the game was not particularly interesting. Angus was in the box for his club, but the schoolboys hammered his delivery from the start in great shape, and finally in the fifth he was replaced by James Lemon, who, although being batted freely, pitched a steadier game. Mahuka's men played well with the exception of the sixth innings, when several of the players became rattled and allowed the Crescents to pile up four runs.

The prettiest play of the day happened in the third innings when Lemon, who was stationed at second, made a double play with the assistance of Soper.

Hay Wodehouse, for the Crescents, distinguished himself by hauling down three flies. The game was a noisy one throughout.

THE SCORE.

Kamehamehas...5 1 0 1 0 2 0 0 1—10
Crescents.. .....0 0 0 0 0 4 0 0 1— 5

GRAPHIC ACCOUNT OF THE WAILUKU FIRE.

Annual Meeting of the Maui Racing Association—Personal Items—Social Events—Stray Scribblings.

On Wednesday, the 10th inst., about 11:45 P. M., the keeper of the Wailuku jail discovered the house of the manager of Wailuku plantation to be on fire. In great alarm he immediately roused his neighbors, and together they rushed up the hill to the scene of the conflagration. They found the beautiful building completely wrapt in flames, and were powerless to do aught, save to watch its rapid destruction.

At 12:30 A. M. everything had been consumed; there was no pile of ruins, every stick had been burned and there was nothing to mark the site save a brick chimney in the rear and the large fireplace toward the foreground. Even the beautiful rose bushes, palms, limes, ferns, etc.—all were either withered or consumed. The only structure left standing on the premises was a small house containing the electrical apparatus. The furniture and other household effects belonging to the Walbridges had been sold at auction the day before, and upon the day of the fire had been removed by the different purchasers.

Mr. C. B. Wells, the new manager, was indeed most unfortunate, for besides some household goods purchased at the sale, he had that same day brought some valuable paintings from Waihee (his former residence), and of course these were not spared by the flames. His loss is estimated at about $700.

At the time of the fire, the dwelling had no inmate, Mr. Walbridge having vacated it several days previously, and Mr. Wells being about to take up his residence there.

It is the general opinion on Maui that the burning was caused by incendiaries, and the police authorities are hard at work upon the case. Whatever has been discovered by them has not as yet been divulged, though it is rumored they are following up certain clews with hopes of success.

The cane field in front of the house caught fire, but no considerable damage resulted, as the flames were quickly extinguished.

The whole event took place so suddenly and so quietly that with a few exceptions people did not know of it till the next morning. One family living across the street knew nothing of it till daybreak.

The building destroyed was erected under the careful direction of Mr. Walbridge only a few years ago, and was perhaps the finest modern residence on Maui. It was provided with electric bells and lights from a most excellent plant, the storage batteries being run by a water-wheel near by. Through economical management the building cost less than $6000, but it would take $10,000 to replace it. It is said to have been well insured.

Public sentiment is strong in stating that this outrage (the incendiarism) was committed to gratify some personal spite for a fancied wrong. While it is true that incident to the change in managership of the plantation quite a number of employees have been dismissed or have voluntarily left, it hardly seems possible that any of these men would commit arson for so slight a reason. It is more charitable to attribute it to accident caused by the stump of a cigar abandoned by some of the teamsters during the day, or to the ignition by some forgotten matches by the rats which had taken possession of the vacant rooms.

During Saturday evening the 16th inst. the annual meeting of Maui Racing Association took place at Wailuku Court House. The new officers chosen for the ensuing year are Hugh Center, president; W. H. Cornwell, vice-president; L. M. Vettlesen, re-elected secretary; and E. B. Carley, treasurer. After the executive committee Messrs. Hopke, Robinson and Broad, who arrange the programme for the 4th of July races at Kahului, had been chosen, several speeches were made advocating fewer events and larger purses; the argument being that such a course of action would increase the interest in racing by bringing forward better horses, thus acting as a stimulus to improve the racing stock of the country.

Mr. W. A. McKay moved a vote of thanks be tendered Mr. R. D. Walbridge, the retiring president, for his efficient services in the past.

Shortly after 9 P. M., the assembly adjourned and accepted Mr. Walbridge's invitation to take lunch at his residence.

Messrs. A. F. Hopke, Wm. Robinson and C. H. Broad are the executive committee for the racing association.

A HAPPY JOURNALIST.

James N. K. Keola and Miss Lily Paehaole Married at Halawa.

Mr. James N. K. Keola, marine reporter on the ADVERTISER, was married on May 4th, at Halawa, Molokai to Miss Lily Paehaole, daughter of a member of the last Hawaiian legislature.

The wedding took place at the home of the bride's father at 11 A.M., the ceremony being conducted by Rev. Mr. Kaalouahi, assisted by Rev. Mr. Manase. The bridesmaid was Miss Julia K. Kahee and Mr. Edwin S. Dairum was best man. After the wedding a reception was held at half past eleven o'clock when the happy couple received the congratulations of many friends from different parts of the island.

From 1 until 5 o'clock in the afternoon a grand luau was held in the real Hawaiian style at which over 500 packages of cooked food were served. At 4 o'clock dancing was begun in the large lanai, 30 by 50 feet, erected in front of the residence. The decorations consisted of maile, lehua and other mountain evergreens. Between four and five hundred guests were present during the day and evening. Dancing was kept up until after midnight. The decorations were the work of Mr. H. Von Giesen, principal of the Halawa school.

The ADVERTISER office unites in wishing "Jimmie" and his bride "long life and prosperity."

There is a decrease of over twenty-five per cent. in the amount of shipbuilding work under way in Great Britain at present as compared with this time a year ago. There is no prospect of a change for the better for some time to come. The amount of idle tonnage is large and general trade does not promise immediate revival. Wages in the shipbuilding trades in England will probably be reduced. The dock laborers trouble at Hull adds to the general depression, and taken altogether the shipping industry in England is having a bad time of it. Some authorities seem to think that this will continue for some time, but it is bad to prophesy in these days of electrical changes and a few months hence may see a more prosperous condition. Whichever way the tide goes, however, ir will serve the best purposes of out own merchant marine, which is now taking on new strength.—[New York Maritime Register.

"I inherit some tendency to Dyspepsia from my mother. I suffered two years in this way; consulted a number of doctors. They did me no good. That was three years ago, and I am still first-class. I am never Two Days. without a bottle, and if I feel constipated the least particle a dose or two of August Flower does the work. A GRAND SIGHT.

THE NAVAL DISPLAY IN NEW YORK HARBOR.

The International Land Parade—Jack Tars from Many Countries in Line.

NEW YORK, April 27.—Rain on the roof, rain on 10,000 roofs, rain washing the sidewalks and pavements, rain pricking the river surface into a rash of white spatter, rain wetting the decks of the pulseless war monsters riding at anchor; wetness above, moisture below, permeating, saturating everything, everywhere—such were the conditions of early morning about this flag-covered, bunting-decked city. In the night a storm that had stolen over the Jersey hills wrapped the squadrons on the river, settled down on the city and blotted out the dark brow of the sea from the view of the people ashore.

Promptly at 1 o'clock, President Cleveland and party left the Victoria hotel, drove to the dock and embarked on the steamer Dolphin and steamed away to review the squadron, in spite of the still unfavorable weather.

There have been naval reviews of an international character before, but none so striking as this. As a peaceful demonstration the one of today eclipsed all others in interest. Yet some of the fleetest and most formidable vessels in the world were there.

The quaintest part of the day's proceedings was that of the post of honor at the head of the review, which was given to the Columbus caravels, which with infinite care had been towed from Cadiz to Cuba by a United States war vessel and from Cuba to Hampton roads and New York by Spanish warships. These pygmy boats were anchored opposite Ninety third street and formed practically the turning-point of the review. The contrast of four centuries of naval development could not have been more strongly and picturesquely marked.

The line of vessels reviewed was over three miles in length, stretching in two columns from Twenty-third street to Ninety-fifth.

The President was escorted to the Dolphin by naval aids, accompanied by Mrs. Cleveland and members of the Cabinet and their wives. The Duke of Veragua, the nation's specially invited guest, the lineal descendant of Columbus, followed the Dolphin in the army boat General Meigs, and the members of the diplomatic corps occupied the coast survey steamer Blake.

As soon as the President stepped on board the Dolphin she tripped anchor and fired one gun as a signal. This was responded to by a boom which seemed to shake the whole city. The double-turreted monitor Miantonomah, lying at the rear of the port column, fired one of her new 10-inch guns, charged with nearly 250 pounds of powder. At once the whole fleet was called to quarters and the yards were manned. The scene was as pretty as well conld be imagined.

During the half-hour or more the Presidential progress lasted the cannonading never ceased until more than one thousand six hundred guns had been fired. Toward the close one titanic roar, with flashes of red flame and dense, sulphurous clouds of smoke were all the spectators on the shore could distinguish.

The last of the ships in the reviewing line was the steamer Monmouth, upon which were Senators, members of Congress, Governors of the States and other invited guests. When the Dolphin reached the end of the line at Ninety-fifth street she dropped anchor, and made preparations to receive the commanding officers of the foreign squadrons, who were presented to the President by their respective Ministers.

This interesting part of the ceremony completed, the President left the vessel and entered the cars to land at the foot of Ninety-fifth street. As he did so, every vessel in the fleet again manned the yards and once more fired a salute of twenty-one guns.

The President's flag was then lowered from the Dolphin, and the public ceremonies of the day were considered over.

THE LAND PARADE.

NEW YORK, April 28.—Remarkable as was the gathering of foreign men-of-war in our harbor to participate in the naval review, still more remarkable was the spectacle presented today. The uniformed forces of foreign nations armed and accoutered as for battle marched in our streets. Not since the British evacuated New York has such an occurrence been witnessed here, and in no country but ours is such an occurrence possible. With muskets at their shoulders and small arms by their sides the foreigners invaded our soil today and marched down America's greatest street—Broadway. Grim, fierce looking Russians, sturdy Britons, ruddy-faced Germans, trim, quick-moving Frenchmen and dark-visaged Italians marched in file after file, with their own officers commanding and with their own bands playing the airs that they love best. But they were our captives. Our marines and blue jackets preceded them and our national guardsmen followed in their rear. The arts of peace had superseded the strategy of war and the armed forces of nine nations marched in our streets as though our country and theirs were one and they and we were brothers.

A steam launch from H. M. S. Blake with a squad of blue jackets was the first of the foreign contingent to land. A midshipman was in command, and, beardless boy that he was, he seemed proud of the distinction of landing the queen's troops on American soil.

At 9 o'clock a naptha launch, towing three boats, all loaded with blue jackets from the Concord, drew in along the pier, and before the British middy noticed it Uncle Sam's men climbed over the string piece of the wharf and instantly fell into line. They marched down one side of the pier while the Britons stood at attention on the other side. It was the first contact of the foreigners with the home forces, and there was no clash of arms.

A few minutes later the steamboat Mattewan landed 600 Britishers, marines, infantry and seamen, at the end of the pier. Commander Bailey was in charge.

With the British was the goat of the Magicienne, decked with a royal red blanket. The Myandert Starin landed the French soldiers at 38th street pier at the same time.

The Sam Sloan, with United States marines from the Chicago, Newark and Philadelphia, landed at 40th street at 9:40.

All the men formed in rank and marched to 42d street, where they took places assigned to them in the line. The Russians, Italians and Hollanders landed at the piers just above 42d street. A detachment of naval veterans commanded by Capt. Osborne received the admirals and seniors of command of the ships at the foot of 42d street.

Carriages were in waiting and the mounted police acted as their escort to the head of the line.

The Spanish alone kept out of this pageant, which was so unusual in its plan that American naval men had not supposed it could ever be brought about. The rest entered into the novel and attractive project with eager willingness.

THE START.

Governor Flower rode at the head of the procession, followed by details from the United States army and the engineer corps. Then came the admirals and other officers in carriages, the foreigners being escorted by United States officers.

Following these came the first division, consisting of United States sailors and marines, led by a marine band.

The second division contained sailors of the visiting fleets and marines of Great Britain and Holland, the only two nations represented, besides ours, which have marines. Following the British, in the order named, came the sailors of Argentine, Russia, Holland, France and Germany. There were no Spanish sailors in line. Next to the foreigners came the naval reserves of New York and Massachusetts, and then the state national guard bringing up the rear.

The column moved from Forty-second street into Fifth avenue, and down that thoroughfare to Waverly place, to Broadway, down Broadway to the City hall, where Governor Fower left the column, and, with Mayor Gilroy and other city officials and visitors, reviewed the column, which disbanded in Lower Broadway. After the parade the governor received the visiting admirals and other officers in the governor's room at the City hall.

President Cleveland did not assist at the review. He drove to the stand, but the parade was late, and he was compelled to take the train for Chicago before the head of the column reached the stand. In getting into the carriage at the hotel to drive to the reviewing-stand, the President struck his head against the carriage door, abrasing the skin on his forehead. The doctor at the hotel dressed the wound, and after a delay of ten minutes the President proceeded. The march down Broadway was a continued ovation to the foreign visitors.

After the parade the governor and Mayor Gilroy received the visiting admirals and their officers in the governor's room of the city hall.

There was a collation at the city hall and the junior officers of the ships were entertained at the Waldorf.

Pronunciation of Two Names.

It may seem like trying to gild refined gold or paint the lily to suggest the possibility of an improvement in the pronunciation of proper names adopted by Mr. Daly's company of players, but I have always imagined that the heroine in "As You Like It" was Ros-alind, with the accent on the first syllable, and that Shakespeare made a humorous point in the stretching of the pronunciation in Orlando's love verses. This point is entirely lost by pronouncing the name Rosalind, with long "i," and equal stress on first and last syllables, all through the play. The first intimation that the melancholy Jacque was a ruralized prototype of the Chatham street character also comes from Mr. [illegible] George Clark is addressed in his "As You Like It" role as Jakies. Is there any authority for either of these novelties?—Cor. New York Advertiser.

A Great Bald Eagle Killed.

The largest bald eagle ever killed in this vicinity was shot in the town of Concord, a few miles west of Oconomowoc, Wis., recently by Richard Yates. It measured 7 feet 3 inches from tip to tip, and weighed eleven pounds. The talons, measured along the convex surfaces, are nearly two inches in length and very strong. It was perched upon a lofty elm, when Mr. Yates discharged both barrels of his shotgun at it simultaneously, after which the bird flew a few hundred feet and suddenly fell to the ground dead.

A golden eagle, measuring nine feet from tip to tip, was captured by Johnnie Spahnhumer, a sixteen-year-old boy, a few miles south of West Bend, Wis., on the same day.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Chlorobrom For Seasickness.

In contradiction of Dr. Dutton's statement of his belief that in seasickness drugs do perhaps more harm than good, M. Charteris writes to The Lancet that he has plenty of evidence showing that chlorobrom is an efficient remedy in long or short sea voyages.

What is a one wheel?

Why, a wheelbarrow of course.

If you want to take a ride before breakfast or after work in the afternoon, you do not get into a wheelbarrow, but you jump on your COLUMBIA PNEUMATIC BICYCLE—providing you have one, and if you have not got one, call and see the Columbia Bicycle Agent, and he will sell you one.

The Yost

WRITING MACHINE.

Years ago, Mrs. Yost built a typewriter, the Remington No. 2 and Caligraph which were good enough then. But the family has increased by thousands. Other folks have hitched on extensions to hold 'em. But it's the same old typewriter, same ribbon, same scales, same rickety print. We want something modern, and we get it in the NEW YOST, which rises superior to the difficulties of any ribbon machine. The ribbon blurs print, wears full of holes, clogs type, takes power to pull it along, weakens manifolding and costs $8 or $10 a year. Our ink pad outlasts twenty ribbons. Can be changed in ten seconds, and costs less than $2 a year. And as to permanent alignment the YOST is the only machine which accomplishes this much desired feat.
