NOTES AND COMMENTS.

The news from Kalalau of the killing of three soldiers is distressing, but not unexpected. After the deliberate murder of Deputy-Sheriff Stolz by the leper Koolau it was expected that he would fight to the last, and he will probably die game, either at the hands of the expedition or by his own suicidal act, as he has threatened.

By the last mail the advance sheets of a new book on the "Recurrescence of Leprosy and its Causation," have been received. The book is by William Tebb, who visited Honolulu about three years ago, during the course of his investigations into the causation and increase of leprosy in the British colonies and elsewhere.

As will be seen by our foreign dispatches, President Cleveland has called an extra session of congress to assemble on August 7th. The grave and serious nature of the financial crisis which has extended to the United States will be the chief subject, and it is intimated, the only one treated. It is not at all unlikely, however, that both the scope and time of the sitting may be extended when that body meets. In such a case it is not improbable that the question of the annexation of Hawaii may be brought up.

The splendid time made by the steamer China on her last trip from San Francisco shows the practicability of shortening the mail time between that port and Honolulu by at least a day. There is no reason why this should not be accomplished, without passing the usual coal limit, by all the new vessels that are put on. The steamer China has performed the feat easily and can do much better by burning more coal. The opening of the isthmian canal means better and faster ships than at present compose the Pacific fleet.

PASTOR PALI.

HE IS SUSTAINED BY THE MAUI PRESBYTERY.

The Church Opened After the Arrest of the Obstructionists.

The meeting of the Maui Presbytery for which a call was lately issued, met Saturday, July 8th, in the Wailuku church, Lahaina. Six pastors, five delegates, and Secretary Emerson being present.

Access to the church building was at first denied by the trustees, an attempt to enter on the part of A. L. Kamauna, the chairman of the new board of trustees, being resisted with violence. Later on a warrant was issued by Judge Kahaulele, and the leading actors in obstruction were arrested, and, by the hour appointed, the association was peaceably housed in the church.

There was great harmony shown throughout the entire meeting. But for the presence of one obstructionist, the pastor at Kaanapali, the presbytery acted as a unit. The gist of the action of this meeting was the approval of the action which its committee took some time since in refusing to recognize the contumacious portion of the church. The church, as it now stands, recognized by the Maui and Molokai presbytery, is composed of its pastor and all who are loyal to him.

The high-handed attempt of a part of a church, albeit a majority, to dismiss its pastor without a trial before the presbytery, is not justified by the rules which govern the Hawaiian churches, and it was this attempt which was persisted in with such violence that necessitated the non-recognition by the presbytery, of the recalcitrant members. As soon as they show a willingness to return to the fellowship of the church they will be welcomed back. The only offense which the opposition claimed Pastor Pali to have given, was in declaring himself in the pulpit to be in full sympathy with the missionary fathers, and hence an American at heart. But it must be owned that the pastor had the provocation to make this claim of being at heart an American, for he had reached his ears that if he should make it he would be shot, and he certainly showed his metal in making it.

The presbytery passed a resolution discouraging the obstruction of partisan politics into pulpit utterances. It also scored the Kaanapali pastor for the part he took in helping the faction party in seeking the unrighteous expulsion of a brother clergyman from his pulpit. This the brother did by acting as moderator of their meeting and by signing the papers they had culminated against Pastor Pali.

Honolulu Educators.

Among the arrivals on the Australia were eighteen teachers from Honolulu, some of whom are bound for the World's Fair and others to various parts of the country for their summer vacation. Several are from Punahou College, the old missionary school of Honolulu, and others from the Kamehameha School, a boarding-school for natives, the Kawaiahae Seminary, for native girls, and other institutions of learning. The party consists of the following persons: P. H. Dodge and wife, Miss Brewer, Miss Louise F. Dale, Miss J. Deyo, Miss C. A. Gilman, Miss Gorten, N. E. Hammond, Miss Hoppin, Miss Knapp, Dr. A. B. Lyons, Miss E. G. Lyman, L. C. Lyman, Miss E. B. McLeod, Miss Patch, Miss Pope, Miss Snow, Miss H. Sorenson and Miss Grace Wing.—S. F. Chronicle.

HAWAII'S NEW CONSUL.

Mr. C. T. Wilder Arrives in San Francisco.

Charles T. Wilder, the new consul of the Hawaiian government at San Francisco, arrived on the China and is stopping at the Occidental. When interviewed he declared that the people of the islands are as anxious for annexation as ever. "We have an annexation club down there," he said, "which now numbers nearly 6000 members, and upwards of 1000 of them are natives."

"The Provisional government is doing nicely and is fully able to take care of itself until such time as there shall be a change for the better. The general impression at Honolulu now is that the annexation situation will remain in statu quo until congress meets. Blount is hard to decipher. He has said positively that he has not recommended an American protectorate or anything else in his report to President Cleveland."

Mr. Wilder is a son of Mr. W. C. Wilder, one of the Hawaiian annexation commissioners. He sent on his commission to Minister Thurston upon his arrival, and expects to succeed Consul F. S. Pratt in about a week.—S. F. Chronicle.

July 10, 1893.

There is a season in the year when most dealers are out of certain lines of stock; we get out occasionally, but we fill up as quickly as most people. For instance we've had to dis-appoint some customers for table cutlery, but now we have all that is required, and of the very best quality. We have also filled up short lines of the celebrated "2196" Haviland, an article that never grows old.

So many people here like hashed meat that we have imported a new style and very good meat cutter that must win the admiration of the celestial who acts as manager of the culinary department of your house. And when you are thinking of something for the kitchen, think again and get a tin of Putz polish that will brighten up every kind of metal. The water taps, that usually get dirty with age can be polished with Putz liquid so they will be as bright as gold.

Individuals who need something to sharpen their wits or their razors can find nothing better for the purpose than one of Emerson's Razor Stropps. They are the best in use and sell very cheap.

We neglected to mention in our notice of Haviland China that our stock now contains an assortment of chocolate pots such as are in use in every house where people like to drink chocolate.

If any of our readers are admirers of works of art, their attention is called to a very excellent water color sketch by the late R. C. Barnfield in our makai window. It is an island view and has been pronounced by judges to be one of the late artist's best.

ARRIVAL OF THE CHINA

She Touches Her Nose on a Sand Spit But Comes Off Without Damage.

The P. M. S. S. China, 2461 tons, Wm. Seabury commander, arrived off port at 4 o'clock on Sunday morning, having lowered her previous record by three hours and forty minutes, her exact time from San Francisco to port being 5 days, 14 hours and 12 minutes, steaming at the rate of 15.6 knots per hour. The captain reported a fine passage since leaving the Golden Gate.

When she arrived off the harbor the captain could not hear the bell buoy, and while searching for it he brought his vessel in too near being owing to low tide and the drift of the steamer, she "touched her nose" on a sand spit in nineteen feet of water. It being low water at the time the ballast was pumped out of the upper tanks and at 9 o'clock the steamer came into the harbor without further mishap.

Pilot Shepherd boarded her soon after she struck, at about 4:15 A.M. and remained until she came in and the P. M. S. S. Company's wharf at 11 A.M. She brought no cargo for this port, but has 400 tons of cargo and 130 Chinese steerage passengers in transit.

This is bargain week for the ladies. Read the list of articles offered by N. S. Sachs' in his special column this morning. The bark Albert won the ocean race from this port to San Francisco in twenty days. The Irwin and S. C. Allen went over in 21 and 22 1/2 days respectively.

Owing to the holidays, the steamer Australia did not leave San Francisco until July 6th; she will consequently arrive here next Thursday morning with three days' later news. DEATH OF MRS. F. Her Funeral Largely Attended Yesterday.

Mrs. Bindt, a native of Hanalei, Kauai, and a resident of this city for many years, died at the Insane asylum on Saturday night. She was about 60 years old. She lived at Hanalei for a number of years, where she was well known and greatly liked by the natives. The deceased leaves a large family to mourn her loss. Two sisters, Misses Ellen and Frances Johnson, and a son are in Honolulu. Her husband and daughter Bertha and several sisters reside in California.

Rev. E. G. Beckwith conducted the funeral services at the family residence yesterday afternoon. Among those present were President S. B. Dole, Attorney-General W. O. Smith, Messrs. B. F. Dillingham, W. E. Rowell, and many others. The remains were interred at the Nuuanu cemetery. The pall bearers were Messrs. W. O. Smith, Henry Smith, H. Waterhouse, D. P. Kellet, C. M. Cooke and F. Wundenberg.

Almost a Fatality. A little native boy narrowly escaped being killed by a carriage last Saturday morning near Queen Emma hall. The little fellow was sitting on a handcart when a carriage collided with the cart. The force of the collision threw the boy violently to the ground and the wheels of the carriage passed within a few inches of the child's head.

Saturday's Game. The baseball on Saturday afternoon between the Hawaiis and Crescents was witnessed by a small audience. After many defeats, the Crescents scored their second victory over the Hawaiis by a score of 6 to 5 runs. The following is the score by innings: Crescents 1 0 0 0 3 0 2 6 Hawaiis 2 0 0 1 0 0 1 1-5

Two Day's Arrests. Seven arrests were made by the police on Saturday night. One Chinaman for having opium in possession, four drunks, Nawai for assault with a deadly weapon, and a native crazy woman. The arrests yesterday were three Chinese opium smokers, one drunk and four Chinese gamblers.

At the Opera House. The entertainment given at the opera house Saturday night drew a fair audience. It consisted of interesting incidents in Hawaiian history, followed by a solo-drama entitled "The days of Kamehameha I.," and "Kanipaa, the royal Haunahback."

Reception to Ex-Minister Stevens. AUGUSTA (Me.), July 29.—A public reception was tendered Hon. J. L. Stevens, ex-Minister to Hawaii, tonight. He discussed Hawaiian affairs.

SAN FRANCISCO LETTER

Per S. S. China, San Francisco, July 3, 1893.

(From our San Francisco Correspondent.)

Sugar. NEW YORK, July 3, 1893.—Cuban centrifugal, 96 test, 4.37; granulated, 5.37; net.

The Financial Condition. A Washington dispatch of June 30 says the president has called a special session of congress by the following proclamation:

EXECUTIVE MANSION, WASHINGTON, D. C., June 30, 1893.—Whereas, the distrust and apprehension concerning the financial situation which pervade all business circles have already caused great loss and damage to our people, and threaten to cripple our merchants, stop the wheels of manufacture, bring distress and privation to our farmers, and withhold from our workmen the wage of labor; and, whereas, the present perilous condition is largely the result of a financial policy which the executive branch of the government finds embodied in unwise laws which must be executed until repealed by congress; now, therefore, I, Grover Cleveland, President of the United States, in performance of a constitutional duty, do, by proclamation, declare that the extraordinary occasion requires the convening of both houses of congress of the United States at the capitol in the city of Washington on the 7th day of August next, at 12 o'clock noon, to the end that the people may be relieved through legislation from present and impending danger and distress. All those entitled to act as members of the fifty-third congress are required to take notice of the proclamation, and attend at the time and place above stated. Given under my hand and the seal of the United States at the city of Washington on the 30th day of June, in the year of Our Lord, 1893, and of the independence of the United States the 117th.

GROVER CLEVELAND.

The action of the British government on June 25th in closing the mints of India and stopping the free coinage of silver with the object of establishing the gold standard, dropped the bottom out of the silver markets of the world and sent the price far lower than ever before.

The proclamation of Cleveland has had a quieting effect and bankers and others are breathing easier, believing that the silver purchase law will be repealed.

The Cholera in Europe. WASHINGTON, June 30.—The reappearance of cholera in Europe does not cause any alarm among the treasury officials. Reports are daily received from United States consuls and other agents abroad, and they concur that the climatic conditions so far in Europe are not conducive to the spread of cholera there. Precautions, however, will not be relaxed.

Cause of the Victoria Disaster. An investigation in the loss of the warship Victoria has led to the conclusion that the disastrous catastrophe was due to an inexcusable blunder of the vice admiral, in giving such an order and to the fact that Admiral Markham obeyed it and rammed the Victoria. The latter will be tried by court martial. The loss will reach fully 400 men.

Shot Down Like Dogs. Folsom prison has furnished another dreadful tragedy which is a disgrace to the state, and should result in Warden Aull serving a long term for his part in it. On June 27th several of the desperate convicts who had planned an escape made a break in the guard, headed by George Sontag, one of the famous bandits. They captured the foreman of the gang and used him as a shield against the shots of the guards and having several guns and revolvers made a fight. The guards opened fire on them from all directions and lastly, after the foreman had escaped from his captors, the gattling gun was turned loose on the poor wretches with the result that three were killed and four wounded. Sontag being among the latter and suffering severely. After the three men were killed and the gattling gun began operations the desperate convicts used the bodies of the dead as barricades to protect themselves. A subsequent examination showed that one of the victims had been pierced by twenty-four bullets. Warden Aull says he knew an outbreak was intended and he imported a lot of sharpshooters from the mountains, making them temporary guards and ordering them to kill at once any one who attempted to escape. The butchered men were A. Dalton of San Francisco, Henry Wilson, Solano county, and Frank Williams a life timer. Two young convicts who were merely spectators were shot, one, Thomas Schell, fatally.

The Midwinter Fair. The big midwinter exposition is now a certainty, and the preliminary work of organizing and arranging for the collection of funds is progressing rapidly. Herr Cornely, the German commissioner to the World's Fair, who suggested the San Francisco exposition, has been made director-general and he will have a board of directors to co-operate with him. Money to carry out the plan is offered quite freely from all parts of the state, and there is now no doubt that San Francisco will have a great exposition which will last six months. It will doubtless be located in Golden Gate park.

American News. Governor Attgelt of Illinois has called down the wrath of the people of this country by pardoning the three Chicago anarchists who in May, 1892, led the Haymarket riot, in which seven people were killed and sixty-six wounded.

Miss Force of Atlanta, Georgia, the young woman who poisoned her two sisters, was acquitted of the charge on the ground of monomania.

The present depression in business has caused the shutting down of two large cotton mills near Philadelphia, and more are expected to close soon. According to the estimate on the basis of the new Chicago directory, just out, Chicago is now the largest city in the country. The editor of that publication makes a total population of 2,100,000.

On June 21 President Cleveland summarily removed from office, Collector of Customs Lotan of Portland, Oregon, for engaging in fraudulent practices in Puget Sound.

Evans and Sontag, the wounded bandits, recently captured, have been taken to Fresno jail for safer keeping.

The expense of the grand naval review at New York was only $76,000, although $300,000 was appropriated.

An express train from San Antonio, Texas, was stopped on the afternoon of June 21 by robbers, but they were driven off by armed train men. Another train robber came to grief the following day near Oklahoma City.

On July 1st the Mount Wilson railroad of Pasadena was opened to the public.

Foreign News. A dispatch from Burmah of June 21, says: For several days Moslems have been preparing to celebrate a religious festival today. This morning they were forbidden by Mr. Fleming, British magistrate, to sacrifice a cow near the Hindoo temple. When the police appeared near the temple with the announcement that the Mohammedans were forbidden, they began to stone the British magistrate, but the Mohammedans held their ground stubbornly and fought back with sticks and stones.

At last Fleming ordered them to fire and twenty Mohammedans fell dead and many more were severely wounded. Four companies of military then charged on the Mohammedans and dispersed slowly and still fighting. The military is occupied in clearing the streets. Many Mohammedans and Hindoos have been killed and scores wounded. The regulars are regarded as unequal to the work of subduing them, and the volunteers have been called upon to do duty in the streets.

Latest returns from the German elections indicate that the Emperor will have a slight majority in the Reichstag.

Cornelius Herz, who fled from France to escape arrest in connection with the Panama canal, is dying in London. He has not yet told his story and probably will not.

A dispatch to the London Times from Bangkok, the capital of Siam, says the French gunboat La Poudre is anchored in the river opposite the center of Bangkok and has made preparations to fire upon the city.

The dispatch adds, though most anxious to maintain friendly relations with Siam, Siam is quietly determined to resist aggression and is preparing for any contingency. The defenses of the country prove stronger than expected.

Three ships have been sunk at the entrance of the Menam, a river on which Bangkok is situated, about twenty miles from its mouth. This reduces the channel to the narrowest possible for use and the government is ready at a moment's notice to complete the block to prevent the ingress and egress of vessels.

The election in Northeast Cork to fill the vacancy in the House of Commons caused by the withdrawal of the House of Michael Davitt, the anti-Parnellite, was held June 25th. William Abraham, an anti-Parnellite, was elected without opposition.

Chile is threatened with another revolution with Pirola as its leader. He desires to be president and considers war the only way to succeed.

A report from Panama says that General Ferdieo Gutierrez, the Costa Rican liberal leader, has arrived here from San Juan del Sur, having been released permission to land at Punta Arenas. In an interview General Gutierrez predicted an early and successful revolution in Costa Rica against the Bourbonist despot.

The Herald's correspondent at Rivera telegraphs that General Selgado surprised the garrison at Carpintera and captured the town after routing the Third Infantry. General Saravia is marching toward Sansorja.

D. NAWAI SHOOTS HIS WIFE AND A NATIVE HACK DRIVER.

He Is Released On $500 Bail.

Jealousy Caused the Trouble—Statement of the Husband—The Stories of the Woman and Ioela.

A shooting affair took place on Saturday night, between 9 and 10 o'clock, at Kepohoni, below the Kaumakapili church, where D. Nawai Nanaiehua shot his wife, Haili, and her alleged paramour, Ioela.

After arrest he was seen by a reporter of the ADVERTISER at the station house yesterday morning, where he made a statement briefly as follows:

Last Saturday night, at about 9 o'clock, after partaking of a glass of gin with his friends in a house on Queen street, he left, saying that he was going to do something mysterious. He went straight to his house, at the corner of King and Alakea streets, in the rear of P. G. Camarinos' fruit store. He found his little adopted daughter alone in the house. He asked where his wife was and the little girl replied that she did not know.

Nawai then headed for Mr. Geo. Shaw's place, on Smith's lane. He suspected that Mrs. G. E. Richardson had taken his wife to Shaw's house. On reaching the house he went up the stairs and opened the door. He saw two people lovingly embracing each other, and he immediately recognized them to be his wife, Haili, and Ioela, a native hack driver. Nawai at once fired his 32 calibre pistol, at his wife first, and then turning, fired two shots at Ioela.

Nawai said there was no light in the room and that all the people belonging to the house were in an adjoining room. After firing the third shot, Ioela rose up and tried to wrest the pistol from him. During the struggle Nawai fell in a poi barrel and Ioela succeeded in securing his pistol.

Ioela then began to hammer Nawai's head with the pistol. Nawai, finding himself unable to defend himself, feigned to be dying and groaned. Ioela left the room and went down stairs. No one tried to interfere between them, as people were afraid of the pistol. Nawai followed Ioela without being seen. He jumped over a rear fence and ran to Maunakea street, where he found a hack and was driven to the police station. There he surrendered himself.

When Nawai arrived at the station blood was flowing freely from three deep cuts made on his forehead by Ioela with the pistol. Dr. Day dressed his wounds. Nawai's pants were thickly smeared with poi.

Nawai was married to Haili at Wailuku, Maui, seven years ago. He was charged with assault with a deadly weapon, and was released during the morning on $500 bail, furnished by Messrs. Jno. Kaimi and Keohokii.

Ioela's friends were greatly surprised to see him out driving his hack, No. 62, early yesterday morning. He showed his wound to the ADVERTISER reporter. The ball passed through a thick coat and lodged in the flesh near the right shoulder blade. His story is as follows:

At about 9 o'clock last Saturday night, they were eating at Geo. Shaw's place on Smith's lane. There were present besides himself, Mrs. G. E. Richardson, Mrs. Nawai, Nanaiehua and three others. Nawai entered the room and fired a shot at Haili, his wife. Nawai next fired two shots at him, one missing, and one struck him near the right shoulder blade. He jumped up and caught Nawai by the arms. While they were struggling, all the people left the room. He and Nawai fell upon the poi calabashes and plates of fish. He knocked Nawai down and took away the pistol, and then went down without hurting Nawai at all.

Mrs. Nawai was shot through the mouth, the ball passing out the right cheek and penetrated the right shoulder. She was seen at the Queen's hospital yesterday afternoon, and her story is as follows:

Her husband Nawai found her and several others eating at a house on Smith's lane. She saw her husband coming, and was about to call him to come and eat when he fired his first shot at her. She ran down stairs and then became unconscious. She did not know when Dr. Day extracted the ball from her shoulder at the police station on Saturday night. She was sent up to the Queen's hospital at about 10 o'clock the same night. Passed a comfortable night. She is a half-caste Chinese woman and about 38 years of age.

Nawai is a native, and 30 years of age. He is a painter by trade, but has been working of late as a longshoreman owing to hard times. The couple have been living harmoniously together lately until Ioela rented an adjoining room several months ago. Nawai then noticed his wife's manner toward him changing. It was her custom to get up in the morning and do the cooking. Since Ioela's arrival she refused to cook for her husband. On several occasions Nawai found her cooking food for Ioela. He warned her to desist, but she was headstrong. Whenever she wanted to go out for two or three days she would raise a family row as a pretext. Stories by eye-witnesses relating to his wife's conduct during his absence at work were continually brought to him, but he tried the best he could to settle the matter peaceably with his wife.

On the other hand, Mrs. Nawai accuses her husband of being a drunkard, and when she remonstrated against his cravings for liquor it would only make the matter worse. Her husband had threatened to kill her before, and on that account she had hidden his pistol. Nawai either bought a new one, or had borrowed one.

Rev. Mr. Williams Heartily Endorses Hood's Sarsaparilla.

We are pleased to present this from Rev. A. A. Williams, of the Sillsbee street Christian Church, Lynn, Mass.:

"I see no reason why a clergyman, more than a layman, who knows what he speaks, should hesitate to approve an Article of Merit and worth, from which he or his family have been signally benefited, and whose commendation may serve to extend those benefits to others by increasing their confidence. My wife has for many years been a sufferer from severe

Nervous Headache for which she found little help. She has tried many things that promised, but performed little. Last fall a friend gave her a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla. It seems surprising what supply one bottle could and did do for her. Her nervousness, her headache, her number and were less violent in their intensity, while her general health has been improved. Her appetite has also been better. From our experience with

Hood's Sarsaparilla I have no hesitation in endorsing its merits."

Plans For Capturing Koolau—Four of the Missing Lepers Surrender—A Graphic Account to the Last Moment by the Advertiser's Staff Correspondent.

CAMP DOLE, KALALAU VALLEY, July 4, 1893.—The departure of the Waialeale yesterday morning was the occasion of much weeping and wailing on the part of the lepers who were parting with the residents of this valley. The people here are related in a more or less degree, and while they seemed glad to have the lepers captured, a feeling of kin got the best of them as they were placed on the ship's boats and lamentations were loud and frequent.

After the steamer departed with her tainted freight, Larsen ordered all the non-lepers to go at once to our camp with the intention of reading them the riot act for the second time, to see if they were attempting to conceal from him regarding the whereabouts of Koolau, the murderer, and the five other lepers. They were questioned and cross-questioned but they repeated their first story, and declared that they knew nothing of the missing men. One of the natives, however, stated that the people now at Haena, who deserted the valley at the time of the murder, were relatives of the lepers and he was of the opinion that the four men and one woman, not including Koolau and his family, had taken the Hanalei trail and no doubt were on their way to that place to join their friends.

This information seemed reasonable and Larsen decided to send natives to Haena to ascertain, if possible, if the lepers had gone that way. Wahinealoa, who it will be remembered, was the man who was sent to secure the surrender of the lepers in the valley, was sworn in as a special policeman and accompanied by two others, he departed for Haena on horseback. At sundown the three men returned in company with William Kinney. Kinney is a half-caste and has lately leased a fertile valley between Haena and this place. He is a very respectable young man and an intelligent one also. He informed Larsen that he had not seen anything of the lepers, but said that after sundown a night or two since, his dogs commenced to bark loudly. It was such an unusual occurrence that he made an investigation but discovered nothing. Wahinealoa went about a mile and a half beyond Kinney's place and found out that some taro had been taken from a patch, but there was no other evidence to show that a party had recently gone over the trail.

After 9 o'clock yesterday morning the small howitzer was dragged to the top of a hill near the camp for use. It was aimed at the eastern side of the valley and in quick succession five shells were exploded. The noise was terrific and the echoes could be heard rumbling through the valley for some time after the shell struck the earth. This display of force was made in the hope that Koolau would become frightened and give himself up. He did not seem worth a cent, and in this writing his whereabouts is just as deep a mystery as it has been since the arrival of the expedition.

A second party, consisting of C. B. Reynolds, Officers Hilbus, Mitchell and Marmont, and the leper Paoo, returned yesterday morning, after spending the night on the ridge of the valley in which the murderer is supposed to be hidden. Nothing was seen of Koolau according to the trustworthy members of the party, but Marmont took several of the soldier boys to one side, so they say, and gave the startling information that he had seen Koolau and had actually shaken hands with the fellow. Marmont was asked why he did not place him under arrest but to this question a deaf ear was turned. Marmont is a government detective and during the examination of Crick, Sinclair and Walker, the alleged conspirators, he convulsed everybody in the courtroom with an illustration of the royalist's secret sign.

they had borrowed the paper from Koolau, who had received it from Koolau.

A woman mentioned tells an account of the shooting by Koolau which differs in several respects from the accounts previously published. She says that when Stolz visited the place several weeks ago, he had every inhabitant of the valley congregated on the beach. He informed them that the board of health had determined to remove all lepers in the valley to Mookai. He talked nicely to them with the result that every one of them with the exception of Koolau consented to go. The officer took a list of all those who were present and then departed for Waimea. When he returned he changed his tactics and commenced to bully the natives. He informed them that his second visit was for the purpose of taking them away, and if any of them attempted to escape he would shoot them. This statement, according to the woman's story, frightened the lepers and later in the day they took their effects and went to the head of the valley, where they remained until they surrendered to Larsen.

Her husband, Paoo, ventured out of the hiding place and was captured by Stolz. He took the captive down the valley towards the seashore. They ascended to the top of a hill where several cottages stand when Koolau was seen. The leper was standing behind a big boulder, and when Stolz called on him to surrender he answered with a shot from his rifle. Stolz fell and when he struck the ground the leper fired the second shot. After searching the top of the hill for some time, the leper was found in the valley where he is said to be located now.

The scouting parties have orders to search every house and hut, and to meet with their travels. The house near which the deputy sheriff was killed was entered and between two mattresses a police badge was found besides several empty envelopes which were addressed to Stolz.

Late yesterday afternoon the special police were ordered in a body to proceed to the head of the valley to camp for several days. The distance is about two miles from the regular camp.

In speaking of Koolau, a native says that he is a very arrogant person, and since his advent here he has been a continual source of trouble. He has been a resident of the valley for only eight months. He was formerly employed as a vacquero at Kekaha, this island, by Gay & Robinson. He ran away from the place, mentioning to escape being sent to Mookai. By a strange coincidence, it was Stolz who discovered that he was a leper. He is not bodily diseased, so the natives say, as his face and ears are the only parts affected. The hut formerly occupied by him was found yesterday, and, in ransacking the place, a bundle of personal letters were found. They were from relations and friends, and contained nothing that would interest the public.

At 3 o'clock this morning Captain Larsen and C. B. Reynolds left in a whaleboat for Haena to see if anything could be learned of the whereabouts of the missing lepers. The boat was manned by five natives, and it took two hours to row the distance. On their arrival at Haena, Deputy Sheriff Deverill was found with a guard. Deverill informed Larsen that shortly after sundown on last Saturday two natives answering to the description of the missing lepers approached their camp, and, after asking the native, who was on guard, several questions, they took the road towards Hanalei. Deverill said he was asleep while all this was going on. This information did not have a soothing effect on Larsen, and, as a result, the deputy-sheriff received a scolding for his neglect.

The whaleboat in which the natives departed for Haena after they deserted this place, as mentioned in my last letter, was launched and half of the natives were ordered to go into it, while the other half remained on the boat. Both boats put off, and the whole party arrived here about 10 o'clock. The natives seemed to be very glad to return to their homes.

Upon his arrival here, Larsen decided to send two natives after Manuia and his four companions. One of the natives selected for the purpose is a brother to one of the lepers. The natives, however, were ordered to capture the party, he was told that if he did not succeed, his house would be destroyed and his land confiscated. This threat had the desired effect, and he returned to camp with a companion, started off for Hanalei to search for the lepers.

In the meantime no word had been sent to camp by the policemen, so a squad of fifteen soldiers, under command of Major J. W. Pratt, started out to make a thorough search of the head of the valley for the hiding-place of Koolau and family. After Pratt and his party left, things were dull until after lunch, when Marmont, with vivid imagination, and another officer arrived with a fairy tale. This was about 1 o'clock. The gist of the story was that, while they were searching a gulch, they were startled by seeing a native minus any wearing apparel. They did not stop to take the native "dead or alive," according to orders, but hurried back to camp for aid. While Marmont was eating his lunch, every one gaped him unmercifully, but no amount of joking would interfere with his appetite or make him alter his story.

In an interval of quiet prevailed until the arrival at camp of "Dick" Taylor and another policeman. They brought the important information that the soldiers had located the stronghold of Koolau. The news was gratefully received, and in a few minutes the balance of the soldiers in camp were in readiness to reinforce the contingent located at the head of the valley. They marched away under command of Lieutenant King.

While Larsen was preparing to follow the men two soldiers arrived, breathless and laboring under a great deal of excitement. The men were corporals McAuton and a private, whose name I cannot recall at this moment. They stated that they had located Koolau, and in an attempt to reach him one of the men named Marmont had located the stronghold and another was badly crippled.

This sad information cast a gloom on all who were present at camp, and many expressions of sympathy were spoken for the brave soldier who was shot while doing his duty. While both messengers were eating some lunch they gave the following particulars of the march which ended with the loss of one life. About 8 o'clock the party started from the camp for the head of the valley. While on the way up they met with their every grass hut they met with. They were followed by Koolau, so their march was continued. By and by a fresh trail was discovered by Miller at the head of the creek. It was evident to him that some one had lately been over, as some poi which had evidently dropped from a container was seen now and then. The men who were with Miller were Evanston, Gunther, Blum, Thoenes and Johnson.

The party followed the trail through some thick brush, and after walking a long distance they came across a camp, which had evidently been left in a hurry. Some fresh orange peel was found on the ground, a piece of fish wrapped in ti leaves, two bags of taro, one bag of piai, some salt and a coat containing two cartridges. There were some sleeping places which indicated that at least eight persons had slept there last night.

After everything was examined word was sent to Major Pratt, who was searching for his party in a different direction, and his men repaired to the newly-discovered camp. When he arrived he came to the conclusion that Koolau and his family had been living at that place and that when they heard the soldiers coming they ran further up the side of the mountain, not even remaining long enough to take any food with them. The rest of the story is told in the words of Corporal McAuton: "By all appearances Koolau and his family must have left when our searching party came upon them. We found the cartridges and the coat which had dropped when they loaded their rifles. By the appearance of the camp there must have been eight or nine persons who camped there last night. By the thorough search we made a new trail which led us across a small creek. The path took us up a steep ridge, to a height of about 500 feet at least, until we struck a straight cliff. Pratt ordered one of our men to volunteer for the purpose of finding out where the trail led to. Evans-ton and Anderson agreed to go. They both started to climb the ridge, following Miller and another soldier whom I could not distinguish. Anderson gained the top and shouted down, 'Boys, I have got the trail.' He hardly had the words out of his mouth when two shots were fired simultaneously. Evans-ton dropped on top of me, while I in turn dropped on Pratt; Miller fell on all of us. The next thing I knew I was among a lot of vines rolling down the ridge, as I could not get a foothold.

"We then retreated, and while we were on our way to the camp where the police headquarters were, firing on the ridge, where Koolau was located, was kept up for fifteen or twenty minutes. He was reported that he fell down from the rock and rolled down the ridge. He did not stop rolling down the ridge until he reached a gulch—a distance of about 600 feet. He lost his gun and cap, and is badly bruised. We retreated as far as the camp where the lepers slept last night, and then Pratt detailed me to report at headquarters for reinforcements."

During a conversation with McAuton, it was learned that Koolau is entrenched on a ridge on the Waimea side of the valley. He is resting on a sort of tableland on which there is a large rock which protects him from rifle balls. He is situated in such a way that he can shoot every man who attempts to get near him. As it was the soldiers were about twenty feet from him when Anderson was shot.

The next information to reach Camp Dole was of a more pleasant nature. It was to the effect that Manuia and the four men who were on their way to the valley. Soon after the party was sent descending a hill on the Hanalei side. They were accompanied by William Kinney and the two natives who were sent to search for them. The lepers were found on the trail near Haena. They surrendered willingly, as they had nothing to eat for about twenty-four hours. They had one rifle and one revolver with them, which were left at Kinney's place. The lepers soon reached the camp, and were given something to eat, and under guard were placed in a hut under guard.

The following is a list of the lepers: Kala, age 25 (k.); Kaili, age 15 (k.); Meliaka, age 18 (w.); Nihoa, age 24 (k.); Manuia, the only one who is a leper. He is married to Meliaka, and is detained as a witness to the murder of Stolz.

CAMP DOLE, KALALAU VALLEY, KAUAI, Wednesday, July 5, 1893.—Two more members of Company "A," named McCabe and Hirschberg, were killed by Koolau, the leper outlaw, and Hirschberg met his death by the accidental discharge of his rifle.

The news was brought to camp in the forenoon by Larsen, who was returning with the body of John Anderson, who was shot and killed the day before. He could give no particulars of the deaths, as he was not present when the men were shot. During the afternoon C. B. Reynolds arrived at camp and gave the following information regarding the finding of the body of Anderson, and the death of the two others: "Myself and Larsen left camp this morning about 5:30 o'clock with some natives to bring back the body of Anderson, if it could be found. After about a mile's march we stopped at the police camp for a few moments and then started for the front, where Koolau was supposed to be. When we got within a short distance of his hiding place, the searching party spread out, and commenced to look for Anderson's body. After considerable searching, one of the soldier boys found it. The body was dressed only in a pair of trousers, and fragments of an- nances he had taken off his shirt as soon as he discovered he was shot. The wound was plugged up with some fern leaves. He had evidently crawled some distance before he was shot to get a safer place to prevent himself from rolling to the bottom of the valley. He was found lying on his back with both hands folded over his abdomen and his head was resting on his cap.

"We tracked the marks of blood for some distance up the hill towards Koolau's stronghold to see if we could find the dead man's rifle. We picked up his cartridge belt and found the bullets finding his shirt and necktie. These articles were found about fifty feet from where the body laid. A short while after this Larsen gave an order to fire some volleys towards the place where Koolau was supposed to be. I did not think this was a good plan because it betrayed our position, but we fired the volleys according to orders. After about sixty shots were fired Larsen placed the squad of men in my charge with orders to get as near as possible to Koolau's place. He then left for the camp.

"We advanced in skirmishing order and reached a position within thirty yards of where the outlaw was hiding in the bluff, as we were under the impression that he had cleared out because he did not reply to our volleys. After we got in line orders were given to the men to cover our advance. Corporal Miller, myself and a private started to get closer to Koolau. At this moment two shots rang out simultaneously, one of which struck Private John McCabe in the head and he dropped back to dead. Hirschberg also fell to the rear but I did not know at the time that he was shot. I thought he was retreating for another cover. There were several shots fired about that time by our boys and someone sang out that Hirschberg was dead. In my opinion he was killed by an accidental discharge of his gun as the brush where we stood was very thick, and the trigger must have been caught in a heavy vine. McCabe was shot by Koolau as we saw a flash at the leper's hiding place when he fell.

"We immediately sent a messenger to the lower camp to report the death of the two men and meanwhile held the position we had gained until we received word to bring the bodies down to the camp. After recovering the bodies I returned to camp. Dr. Cooper who was stationed at the head of the valley at the time of the fatal shooting made an examination of both men and found that in each case death was instantaneous. He came to the conclusion that Hirschberg met with an accidental death, as powder burns indicated close range. The bullet entered the left side of his head, passed through the ear-ribs and made an exit just below the right ear. Hirschberg was a native of Sweden, aged 25 years and was supposed to be a single man.

John H. McCabe, the victim of Koolau, was 48 years of age at the time of his death. He was an Irish-American, and is said to be a veteran of the civil war. I am informed that he is married and lives in Honolulu. He has been a resident of this country for a number of years and is well known on the island of Hawaii. In his case the bullet passed through the left side of his head and entered the parietal bone and laid open the brain.

Of John Anderson, who was shot yesterday, but little is known. He was a Norwegian and had been in this country but a few months. Before joining the militia he followed the sea for a living. The bullet which ended his career entered under the right clavicle and passed out just below the shoulder blade of the same side. In the opinion of the doctor he lingered some time after he was shot.

Shortly before noon his body reached the camp. The sun was very warm and it was thought best to bury him at once. The natives around the camp were notified to dig a grave, which they did in a short time, and just at 12 o'clock the body of the unfortunate man was consigned to the mother earth. At the grave stood Officer Larsen, Luther Wilcox, your correspondent, Officer Kamaa, and three members of company "A," who paid their late comrade the military honor befitting his position.

Later in the afternoon the bodies of McCabe and Hirschberg were brought in. They were laid side by side in a double grave next to Anderson's resting place. Their burial was attended by Lieut. King, C. B. Reynolds, Dr. Cooper and several others. A salute was fired over their grave also.

CAMP DOLE, KALALAU VALLEY, Friday, July 7th.—Matters have been very quiet about the camp since yesterday morning. Reports from the front are to the effect that Koolau and his deadly rifle, has not been seen since Wednesday. A strict guard is kept night and day within a short distance of where he is located to prevent him from decamping. Yesterday morning early the mountain howitzer was carried up to the brow of a steep hill which is situated nearly opposite the stronghold of the lepers. The plan was to shell the place, but the imperfect knowledge of his hiding place, it was a difficult matter to drop the shells to advantage. In all nineteen shells were exploded against the place, and it is thought that the last shot reached the required spot. Of course it is only a conjecture and for fear of losing another life no one has been sent to investigate.

Larsen has made up his mind to resort to strategy, and this morning three natives were sent to the top of the Waimea pass, under the guard of two soldiers. The idea is to have the natives pass to Waimea for some giant powder, or some other strong explosive. After securing the same, the natives will guide the soldiers to a spot immediately over the place where Koolau is hidden and blow him to pieces. At this writing the plan mentioned seems to be the only possible one as our men cannot reach him without a further loss of life. This programme was carried out tomorrow, it is expected.

ON BOARD THE STEAMER IWALANI, Saturday A. M., July 8th: Word was received last night that the giant powder could not be obtained by the guards at the Waimea pass. This fact is not a great disappointment, as in the opinion of the guards, it would be impossible to reach a position immediately over the outlaw, which would be necessary to use the explosive to advantage. While the men were returning to camp, and while they were on the Waimea trail, they saw the hiding place of Koolau. They say that the small ledge on which he stands holds a large boulder which offers him ample protection from bullets fired directly opposite his place. Behind the rock is a small cave, which is estimated to be about 10 feet deep. The leper, with his wife and child, live in this. Another report is that he has captured last evening as a means of advancing the murderer. It is, in brief, to cut a new trail on the side of the mountain to a point where his stronghold can be commanded. It would be a little hard work to accomplish this, but, in the opinion of the best men in the camp, it is a good plan, and one that will win if it is carried out.

The other day the soldiers found two Winchester rifles buried under some rocks near one of Koolau's deserted camps. These were brought to camp, and last night one of the Waimea guards was sent to camp with the rifles to the Stolz party. A large pistol is the only weapon missing now. The natives say that Koolau has it. C. B. Reynolds, who is in Hanalei in the opinion of the Iwalani. He is accompanied by six members of Company "A." The party will visit a valley near the place mentioned, to capture ten lepers who, it is reported, are there. The party will be in Hanalei, they deserted Kalalau previous to the shooting of Stolz. They are said to be relatives of Officer Peter Reynolds, and, in the opinion of Larsen, he has been attempting to shield them from the authorities.

Larsen leaves for Mana this morning to look up Koolau's relations. He finds them they will be taken to the valley to act as decoys to draw the outlaw from his hiding place. Luther Wilcox returns to Honolulu on the steamer. Everybody regrets his departure, as he is more than a pleasant company.

Larsen informed me this morning that he had written to the government to send a steamer either next Monday or Tuesday to convey the expedition back to Honolulu. Everybody about camp is well. We return one member of Company "A" to Honolulu. His name is Johnson, and he was injured by falling down a hill the day Anderson was shot, since which time he has been on the sick list. FRANK L. HOOPS.

"August Flower"

There is a gentleman at Malden-on-the-Hudson, N. Y., named Captain A. C. Pareis, who has written us a letter in which it is evident that he has made up his mind concerning some things, and this is what he says: "I have used your preparation called August Flower in my family for seven or eight years. It is constantly in my house, and we consider it the best remedy for Indigestion, Constipation and Dyspepsia. My wife is troubled with Dyspepsia, and at times suffers very much after eating. The August Flower, however, relieves the difficulty. My wife frequently says to me when I am going to town, 'We are out of August Flower, and I think you had better get another bottle.' I am also troubled with Indigestion, and whenever I am, I take one or two teaspoonfuls before eating, for a day or two, and all trouble is removed."

H. F. WICHMAN, FORT STREET.

Having now the much desired space for the proper display of my splendid stock of FINE GOODS, and late additions thereto, it is a pleasure to see you in and show the arrangement of the different lines, as compared to my old and cramped quarters; it is simply paradise. My stock of staple and new Goods will from now on, be found complete, and any suggestion in the way of new fads will be eagerly attended to.

As a starter on new Goods, my very fine line of Leather Purses and Card Case combinations are well worth your attention. Leathers in all the delicate colors of dress materials, mounted in fine sterling silver in intricate designs as well as the plain; they must be appreciated by those who have always been obliged to send away for these goods. Carrying in this line the products of the leading makers of fine Leathers in the United States, it is possible for me to offer you a choice assortment from the comparatively inexpensive to that which takes dollars to buy.

The Gentleman's full Dress Card Case, seems to be the correct thing from the way they caught on—just large enough to fit the proper pocket. Another little thing on which sales are rapidly increasing, the dainty little individual Butter Spreader in sterling silver and plate, probably the best and most useful little conceit ever thought of in connection with the table service. Remaining on the table throughout the meal, they entirely take the place of the desert knife for spreading butter, certainly more dainty and giving the other instrument a chance to be used for what it was intended. To those of refined tastes and a sense of the fitting, very little need be said in their favor. It will not be long before every table in Honolulu will be supplied with these very necessary little articles.

MAUI NEWS.

GRAND FOURTH OF JULY BALL AT WAILUKU.

The Spreckelsville Party - Stray Scribblings.

(Special to the Advertiser.)

MAUI, Saturday, July 8.—Late in the post meridian of the Fourth, people returned from the Kahului races tired from the excitement and pleasure of a long day and bronzed with the dust that was continually blowing in their faces from the much-used track. Yet Terpsichore was to hold high carnival in the skating rink, and fond remembrance of her many charms soon caused forgetfulness of travel-stains, weariness and care. The rink—the scene of the evening's pleasure—is a magnificent dancing hall, triple the size of any like structure on Maui, with a superb floor, spacious in extent, glassy in its smoothness and simply perfect for "tripping the light fantastic."

The interior was resplendent with large pendent lamps and a hundred Chinese lanterns, the bright beams of which gave lustre to the lively colors of bunting, banners and flags, which hung from the ceiling, draped the walls and waved from the platform, behind which a Honolulu orchestra played most exquisite music. The green of ferns also played an important part among the red, white and blue, and, altogether, the interior decoration was something more lavish and more beautiful than has been seen on our island for a decade of years.

The pretty programmes, printed in Fourth of July tints, contained the names of Messrs. J. W. Kalua, C. F. Horner and Geo. Hons, who were the handsome red and gold rosettes of the reception committee; W. H. C. Campbell, floor manager, was distinguished by a badge of white and gold; and the floor directors, Messrs. T. J. McLaughlin, W. C. Aiken, and F. W. Hardy, were conspicuous with fluffy light blue ribbons with gold buttons. All Wailuku was there, together with strong representations from Lahaina and Makawao districts. The ladies, many of whose toilets were most elaborate and elegant, outnumbered the thirty dancing men, and thus by their fair presence gave a most pleasing relief to this most successful reception of Terpsichore. From a long sideboard, which stretched across the entire maula end of the hall, chicken, salads, ice cream, iced drinks, cakes, etc., were dispensed to the 150 or 200 guests of the occasion. That dancing under the given conditions was most exquisite pleasure goes without saying, and the only marplot of the evening's gaiety was the early departure of the train, bearing with it the Makawao guests and the band boys. Many thought it most ungracious of the Kahului Railroad Co. to cause the best and largest party of the year to break up at 10:45 p. m., especially so since it has been learned on good authority that the Likiepika did not leave for Honolulu for more than three hours later. However, the pleasures of life, which are "short and sweet," are perhaps the most appreciated and the longest remembered, especially as regards an event like this, which vividly recalled similar past celebrations in some of the large towns at home.

THE PARTY AT SPRECKELSVILLE.

On the day before the 4th, numerous invitations were issued to a dance at Spreckelsville hall for Tuesday evening. To put it mildly, people generally were much astonished—"two dances on Maui during the same evening." Why, invitations to the ball under the auspices of the annexation club were issued long ago and to everybody. "What's the matter?" Echo answers, "Don't know," for it can't be possible that people in polite society would knowingly mix political and social affairs together. However, the party occurred under favorable auspices, and a most pleasant time is reported. The National band furnished delightful music, and fifty people partook of a most bountiful spread in the large supper-room. As is always the case at Spreckelsville, the gentlemen outnumbered their fair partners; still a good time was inevitable, as can be seen by consulting the following list, which includes the names of many of the evening's guests: Mr. and Mrs. David Center, Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Wilder, Dr. and Mrs. Laidlaw, Mrs. Widdifield, the Misses Corwell, Vida and Douglas, Misses Widdifield (2), Misses Park (2), and others. The gentlemen, not mentioned, consisted mainly of those in the employ of the Hawaiian Commercial Sugar Company.

STRAY SCRIBBLINGS.

Sheriff Chillingworth made a seizure of liquor at a Chinaman's in Wailuku and poured it out on mother earth during the evening of the 3d instant. Mrs. C. W. Wells, of Wailuku, has recently returned from Chicago. Makawao people gave a very pleasant picnic and merry-making during the 4th in a Haiku gulch. Mrs. Crozier made a short visit during the week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Campbell of Paia. Some of the notables that occupied the grand stand at the races were Messrs. Claus Spreckels, C. F. Horner, David Center, Sam Parker,

V. V. Ashford, "Prince" David Kawananakoa, C. W. Macfarlane, W. H. Rickard. Mr. G. E. Simpson of Paia has just passed through a most severe illness. The Maui schools close generally July 17th, 18th and 19th on account of the approaching school convention.

"Lot Slocum" made 2:39, 2:38 1/2 and 2:42 breaking the record of the Kahului track for trotting—pretty good for an old "cripple."

Dr. and Mrs. Andrews of Detroit are at Miss Paris', Haleakala.

W. H. Rickard watched the running of "Lord Brock" most closely during the 4th, thinking of his match race, September 2d.

The first bicycle sulky ever seen on Maui was hauled around the track by old "Lot Slocum."

"Jack" the Wailuku trotter distanced all competitors twice during the 4th.

The J. D. Spreckels, Capt. Christiansen, left on Thursday for the coast with a hold full of sugar. The vessel was finely trimmed with bunting on the 4th.

Weather—Pleasant but windy on the 4th.

FOURTH AT HILO.

CELEBRATED WITH A PICNIC ON COCOANUT ISLAND.

Pleased With the New Mail Facilities—Return of Volcano Party—Sugar Mills Closing—Down—Etc., Etc.

(Special to the Advertiser.)

HILO, July 6.—The appearances were a couple of weeks ago that the Fourth of July would again pass unnoticed. Whether the American patriotic spirit is slumbering, or the want of a few choice spirits to rouse the patriotism is needed, certain it is that for several years past now the great national holiday has passed without celebration. This year, however, it was taken in hand by J. R. Wilson, of the Volcano stables, and with persistent energy a large picnic was worked up on Cocconut island, which gave a number of people who would otherwise have been lost for entertainment a splendid chance of enjoying themselves. The day was all that could be desired, and by 10 o'clock the crowd began to move inlandwards, where facilities for getting across to it were at hand. Everything went gaily till the luau was ready, when about 200 people sat down and tried to dispose of the enormous feast prepared.

After the luau some sports were attempted, but the limited area would not allow of much going on. The excitement centered on a tug-of-war between the whites and natives which was won by the latter with considerable ease. Good order prevailed during the day, and all left after having had a good time. The evening before a ball was given in the court house, which was well attended and passed off very pleasantly. On the Fourth a number of private picnic parties enjoyed the day at various picnicking grounds. Rev. E. P. Baker returned last week from his trip to the top of Manna Loa. The party was made up of eight gentlemen, all of whom were well pleased with the excursion. It is with pleasure we notice that the Provisional government propose to improve our mail facilities by giving us another mail by way of Kan and the volcano. This is especially desirable now that the sugar season is over, and we are not likely to have other than the regular ten-day communication by steamer with Honolulu. Last year a number of times the foreign mail laid in Honolulu for eight and nine days, greatly to the annoyance of the whole coast line. The present arrangement will most likely obviate any such delay occurring again, and besides at other times will give us our mail several days earlier.

Within the next couple of weeks the boom of the sugar mills will not be heard any more along the coast for some time. Wainaku and Waikoa finish grinding this week, the others following in quick order. The crop has been a good one in the district, as the weather has been entirely favorable. In most cases the returns will over-run the estimate. Planting of the new crop is well advanced, and the weather being again everything that could be desired, the young plants look very thrifty.

The assessors are now busy at work on the new assessment and the collection of the personal taxes. La grippe has swept through the town pretty thoroughly, and is now wearing itself out for lack of material to work on. The brig Geneva, Nelson, sailed for San Francisco on the 30th ult. with 15,550 bags sugar (11,965,450 lbs.), valued at $76,514.28.
