CURIOUS CONDENSATIONS.

The peanut grows wild in Africa. The first almanac was printed in Hungary in 1740. Union county, Ga., has never produced a bale of cotton.

There is enough iron in the blood of forty-eight men to make a 24-pound plowshare. The female fly is always larger and lighter in color than the male.

In the early days of the fifteenth century sea captains used globes instead of charts. There are associations in Great Britain which insure against elopements, matrimony and twins.

A negro at Madison, Wis., owns a bulldog with three eyes, one in the center of the head. A detachment of 100 Mexican troops found ample shelter at one time under a tree in Oaxaca.

A colony of Japanese are to settle upon rich agricultural lands in the southern states of Mexico. Rouen has a clock tower which gives the time on three sides and the height of the tide on the fourth.

Passenger elevators were in use in Paris in the seventeenth century under the name of "flying chairs." During the settlement of New England the white man's smallpox was more fatal to the Indians than the white man's gun.

An observatory is approaching completion on Mount Blanc at an altitude of 15,781 feet above the level of the Mediterranean. At the time of the Persian wars all Greek men wore long hair, tied on the top of the head in a knot and fastened with a hairpin. The Chilkat nation in Alaska is divided into sections, each named after some living thing. There are the Ravens, Wolves, Eagles, Snails, Bears, etc.

MR. STEVENSON.

Mr. Robert Louis Stevenson has arrived at Honolulu, and has been received by his friends, of whom he left many when he left Hawaii several years ago. Mr. Stevenson is a novelist that no man who has once read him will ever regret, and his literary style is such that it is sure to call to the perusal of his works more than the ordinary man. The literary work of Robert Louis Stevenson, when viewed by itself, is something out of the ordinary line of literary production, and deserves the calmer thought of those who are ready to judge it as such. The people of these islands feel the arrival of Mr. Stevenson here is an epoch in Hawaiian literary history which those who really appreciate his worth shall never forget. To the student of literature who occasionally delves into the thoughts of men, the works of Mr. R. L. Stevenson will be a revelation. The writer of the present article has never read but two of this gifted author's works, but the impression left upon him, as upon the majority of the readers of this author, has been that a master hand was guiding the pen which drew the purest English from its source. The fact that Mr. Stevenson is an invalid does not detract from his picturesqueness as an author. The ADVERTISER both appreciates and welcomes him.

Daring Mountaineers.

Mr. J. A. Scott, the government school teacher at Waianae, is an adventurous mountain climber. For a long time he has desired to scale the dizzy heights of Kaala, the highest mountain on this island, being over 4000 feet. Last Friday Mr. E. O. White, of E. O. Hall & Son, paid a visit to Mr. Scott, and together the next day ascended to the topmost peak of the mountain. It required nearly the whole of the day for the climbers to reach the summit, having to cut a road most of the distance. After spending a few hours on the top the gentlemen returned over the same course, accomplishing the return trip in about two hours. The regular route to the mountain top is from the Waialua side, but Messrs. Scott and White ascended from the Waianae side.

The Last Ditch.

The New York Herald quotes approvingly the endorsement by Captain May of Nordhoff's Hawaiian letters and lies in favor of the restoration of the deposed queen and against the Provisional government and Minister Stevens. Mein grashus! ish dot so? Captain May is the captain of the British war ship Hyacinth, sent to Honolulu to prevent annexation of the islands to the United States, and to prevent American supremacy there in the hope of ultimately annexing Hawaii to Great Britain. And Captain May praises Nordhoff and the Herald is delighted thereat. Of course.—Troy (N. Y.), Budget.

A Boom For Hawaii.

We have not a doubt that ex-Minister Blount, who has returned from Hawaii, is justified in the remark that "there will be a boom in the islands, which must enliven all branches of business as soon as certain matters now in contemplation go through." The chief matter to go through is the annexation of the islands, so that American law shall be extended over them and permanent peace and order shall be established in them. When this is brought about there will surely be a boom in Hawaii.—N.Y. Sun.

Daily ADVERTISER, 50 cents per month. Delivered by carriers.

PAUL ANSWERED.

The Way an Islander Looks at Annexation.

MR. EDITOR: In my last I promised to look into the probability of annexation "without the expression of the will of the" people to be annexed.

Mr. Neumann has declared that annexation "is undeniably impossible without an expression of the will of the Hawaiian people. The United States would not without such an expression annex this country in any form or under any conditions." The above, fairly interpreted, aims to have the reader believe the United States never did annex a territory without first getting a willing expression of the people to be annexed; that it is and always has been the settled policy of that country not to annex a territory if the people objected. Mr. Neumann is a learned man, well acquainted with history, and he knows the acts of the United States when annexing a territory have invariably been the opposite of what he would have us believe. The United States government has, I believe, always dealt with the government having jurisdiction over the territory sought for annexation, and has never consulted the people.

When Florida was obtained from Spain, Mississippi from France, or Alaska from Russia, no "expression" was asked of the people; one government wanted to sell and the other to buy; neither consulted with nor cared what the people of those territories preferred. The two governments did all of the business.

When Texas was annexed, the government holding it in possession was the only party consulted. Mexico claimed it, but, not being in possession, its claim was not regarded. Texas wanted a stable government—as Hawaii now does. The United States annexed the territory and gave it stability, and prosperity followed in consequence, as was the case with all former annexations made by the United States. Therefore, from past precedents, prosperity must attend Hawaii after annexation.

When New Mexico, Utah, Arizona and California were annexed, Mexico and the United States did all the bargaining. The people of that territory were not consulted; if they had been, no annexation would have taken place, as an overwhelming number of the citizens were natives of the soil, and were of the same race as the Mexicans, used the same language, lived in the same manner, had the same religion, sympathized with and had willingly fought on the side of Mexico against the United States in their war, then just ended. And they would have voted as they had fought and prayed, if they had been allowed an "expression."

If the annexation question had been left to the people of those territories to decide, that whole territory would yet be Mexican, and no more advancement or improvement made in it than there has been in Lower California, Senora and other almost lifeless states of Mexico during the last forty years.

Fortunately for the world, the statesmen of those countries did what they thought best, as it was impressed upon them by their surroundings and their foresight of coming events, without stopping to say grace by consulting the people, the majority of whom, as a rule, know no more about political economy or what would be best for them or their country than a pig does about literature. To leave such great questions to be decided by them, with their prejudices, selfishness and ignorance, instead of by intelligent statesmanship, would be to thwart manifest destiny in its progress in the world; it would almost defeat the inevitable.

Now comes Mr. Neumann, the "genial Paul," the esteemed citizen, the learned lawyer, the skilled diplomat, the ex-minister, the honorable noble, the would-be statesman, the brainy politician, the eloquent advocate—and sinks himself from his honorable position to that of a pettifogger, by pleading to the people who are the jury in this case, endeavoring to make them believe that all of the above facts relating to annexation of territory by the United States are only fancies.

He pleads not by presenting facts, not by reasoning, not by pointing to precedents, but by his eloquence, by his assertions, by his assumptions, by his advice, by his flattery and by his threats he tries to make us disbelieve what we know to be facts. He endeavors to convince us that the United States never did annex any territory without first getting a willing expression or consent of the people of that territory, and of course will not annex Hawaii without a similar expression. Such, at least, are the inferences to be drawn from Mr. Neumann's letter formerly referred to.

Mr. Neumann appears anxious to restore confidence to the business community, but his acts and his words voice a contrary course. He knows that it is the agitation against annexation by such as he and Mr. Spreckels, that causes all the unrest now existing among business men. If opposition to annexation, such as they offer, was withdrawn, confidence would be restored, annexation, stable government and prosperity assured, which would end all unrest now felt by business men.

Again, Mr. Neumann is so anxious for annexation that he gives the following advice to the Provisional government as to how they must proceed if they hope for an annexation, viz.: Before applying for annexation they must get an "expression of the will of the Hawaiian people. The United States would not without such an expression annex this country in any form or under any conditions."

You have no right to refuse to take it or impede or prevent it, if you are honest. This is bold advice and like the fox's very disinterested. Inasmuch as the United States have annexed at different times several large territories, the advocate's plea would have had more effect upon the jury if he had referred to some facts relating to it, and pointed to a few precedents where the United States had demanded an "expression" of the people's will, before annexing their territory; but as he has produced none, we conclude there were none to produce. And if precedents are to be followed, Hawaii will surely be annexed.

ANNEXATION.

Hawaii, Sept. 18 1893.

As Others See Us.

The following extract is taken from the San Francisco Call of September 1, 1893, and doubtless represents the view of the Honolulu correspondent of that paper. The Provisional government will be edified upon reading the extract and, if not over obtuse, may be able to locate the inspiration and authorship of the excerpt:

Three weeks ago it was known that Japan was again pressing the Provisional government in a sharp and coercive manner for the concession of the franchise, and the idea was disseminated that Minister Blount had intervened on behalf of Hawaii. The government has refused to allow the local papers to publish any of the facts connected with the new Japanese demands, although it permitted the correspondent of the Associated Press to send it to San Francisco. This has led to some friction between the local papers and the government and to the determination of one paper at least to print everything in the shape of news it can get hold of regardless of the wishes of the government. Its editor argues and tells the government that if it does not want the news to be printed its officials must show no favoritism in giving it out and must keep their mouths shut instead of blabbing the matter on the street after binding him to secrecy. That the local papers have been thus handicapped since the 17th of January every one knows. The government has been trying to be as dumb as the proverbial oyster or Minister Blount, but without his ability to keep a close mouth. It appears that when the fresh Japanese demands were received the Provisional government called Minister Blount into consultation and showed him the correspondence.—S. F. Call, Sept. 1, 1893.

BUILT FOR BUSINESS.

In these days of business dispatch no office is equipped without a typewriter.

The New Caligraph commends itself to business men desiring a substantial, practical and efficient typewriter. It is built for business and will last many years. There is nothing complex about this machine. It is capable of the greatest speed. There is no manifold equal to the Caligraph.

Using a typewriter secures exactness of expression, does away with writer's cramp, permits of great speed, producing a business letter of the highest grade.

You are going to own a Caligraph some day; why not buy one now? Your correspondence will then be a pleasure instead of drudgery.

Call and inspect the New Caligraph, and procure a little book on typewriters.

Next to the painting of our store with Hendry's Ready Mixed Paints, the arrival of the "Philadelphia" was the only event of interest to the people last week. The warship is the biggest vessel that has ever entered the harbor, but in importance it does not exceed our list of enterprises in introducing to the people of Honolulu the means of painting and generally beautifying their homes at a very slight cost. Painters who have used other mixed paints say that "Hendry's Ready Mixed" excel them in every particular. Ours will cover a large surface and present a finer finish than any other sold here. It is made especially for us by a San Francisco firm and guaranteed to contain more Japan and more oxide of zinc than the average ready mixed paint. People who have watched the changes made in the front of our store have noticed what a free spreader the paint is. We have all the shades necessary for inside and outside work.

Just a word or two about house furnishing, because wedding presents will have to be bought within a week or two and purchasers should look around for something useful. We have in addition to Haviland China and Fischer Steel Ranges, a large stock of glassware either plain, engraved or genuine cut. We have solid hardware ice chests and refrigerators, table knives, silver plated spoons and forks, pickle dishes, napkin rings, castors, salvers, tea sets, everything in fact that is needed by persons going to house keeping or their friends who want to show their friendly appreciation by making presents.

ELEPHANTS and a few other things we do not sell, but when you want

as the small boy says "we're right in it."

We've got the most complete stock in the islands, and if you'll come in for a few minutes and look over our stock, we will soon convince you of the fact.

We've called your attention for the past few weeks to several lines of handsome undergarments, but we haven't commenced to tell or show you one third of the lines we carry. We would like to have you come and see for yourselves.

Nine tenths of the married ladies of Honolulu shop for their husbands. To these we would say we can give you bigger variety, better and more serviceable goods in the men's line generally, than can be obtained elsewhere and at the same prices that you pay for vastly inferior goods.

Dr. Jaeger's Sanitary Woolen Goods is a theme we've harped on before, but we believe it's a subject that will bear repetition. We are firm believers in the sanitary value of these goods and the public are rapidly coming to the same conclusion. The last four months we have more than doubled our output of these goods, notwithstanding the determined efforts of interested parties to discredit them.

We have recently added the "Gauze Grade" of these goods to our stock. They are the nicest thing imaginable, as soft and light as silk; you can blow almost through them, and yet every thread is wool, pure wool guaranteed.

The "K" Grade we keep constantly on hand in all sizes, and we have also added a few lines for ladies. Anyone doubting the authority under which we sell these goods can have all doubts dispelled by reading the authority conferred by Dr. Jaeger on the parties with whom we deal, a copy of which we have inserted in our window.

JOURNALISTIC VENTURE.

A Tri-Weekly Japanese Newspaper Soon to Appear.

A reporter of the ADVERTISER has been enabled to learn the following in regard to the new Japanese paper soon to appear in this city: The name of the paper will be Nijuseiki, the meaning of which is, the twentieth century. The object of the paper is to advance the interests of the Japanese people, in this, in their own, and in any other country where they may be. Of course special attention being to look after the best interests of the Japanese population of these islands.

The publishers of the paper will be Messrs. Chester. A. Doyle, H. Mezuza and H. Aoki. As Mr. Doyle is to be the business manager, it will be of interest to ADVERTISER readers to know something about him. Although a young man he has traveled considerable and has had large business experience, aside from newspaper work. He has held several important positions in railroad management and has been agent for some of the trans-continental lines of America. In 1890 he published the Ju Ku Saki, in San Francisco. The name of the paper meant the nineteenth century and had a circulation of 500 in the two cities of San Francisco and Oakland, while the circulation in Japan was 1500.

The paper took too bold a stand to suit the authorities in Japan, which, as is well known, is not tolerant of criticism, and the paper was refused circulation in that country. In order to evade the prohibition of the Japanese government, the name of the paper was frequently changed, so that in the course of three years the name of the paper was changed eight times. Mr. Doyle is proficient in the Japanese language, speaking eight dialects. He is the recently appointed Japanese interpreter for the Hawaiian Islands.

The declarations of the projectors of this new venture are certainly fair and commendable, and the paper promises to be successful from a business standpoint from the start, as they have a guaranteed circulation of nearly 2000 copies, 300 on this island, 200 on Maui, 200 on Hawaii, 75 on Kauai and 1000 in Japan.

Messrs. Mezuza and Aoki are highly educated Japanese gentlemen, so the business and editorial management is in good hands, and as the paper will appear three times a week, it will be a ready means of communication with the Japanese people.

The Kaiser's Contest With His People. Our Berlin correspondent says he has no reason to change his opinion that the next reichstag will reject the military bill. He has been traveling a good deal and ought to be in touch with the people. The "classes" favor the government policy, but the "masses" do not.

Here is the danger to imperialism, as we have before pointed out. The men who influence the masses, like Richter and Bebel, are keen, clever and cautious. It is well known that social democracy are making great gains in the fatherland, all the more reason why Emperor William should be cautious. We are in a position to be cautious, just as above all constitutional in his acts.

Our correspondent believes that the kaiser will make the unpopular bill a law by his ipse dixit. Then will come the tug of war on the financial question—how is the money to be raised to pay for the increase in the army?

There is no getting over the fact that the army is quite large enough for present purposes. The Grand Duke of Baden recently said that experience proved one obtains better results from the excellence of an army than from its quantity. This is another fact hard to get over.—New York Herald.

If Cholera Comes.

It is well to keep in the medicine chest, or where they may easily be found, a bottle of the spirits of camphor and one of the old standard remedy known as the "Sun mixture," the prescription published by the New York Sun under official direction in the time of the great cholera epidemic. The medicine is not expensive and can be bought of any druggist in country, town or city. Experienced bacteriologists say that five drops of camphor in a small glass of brandy is the best medicine to give until the arrival of a physician. For little children there are camphor pellets sufficiently sweet to be palatable. The use of "prevention" for those acting as nurses or otherwise exposed to contagion. To absorb disagreeable odors in a sickroom nothing is better than cascarilla bark sprinkled upon hot coals. For an ordinary disinfectant rosin is excellent, but care should be taken not to place too much at a time upon the fire.—Ladies' Home Journal.

A Big Reward For a Small Boy.

Little John Walsh, the newsboy of New London, Conn., who found the two 4t carat diamonds belonging to Mrs. Johnson, a wealthy woman in that city, received the $3,000 reward offered for the return of the diamonds at the office of Tiffany & Co. Monday.

The money was paid to young Walsh personally by Mrs. Johnson. Dr. N. A. Harris, an uncle of the boy, and Detective Thomas Jeffers of the New London police force came to this city on Saturday to claim the reward in behalf of the boy. They were notified that the reward would only be paid to John in person, and they telegraphed accordingly. John, accompanied by his mother and sister, came to the city and went direct to the store of Tiffany & Co. A few minutes after their arrival Mrs. Johnson, accompanied by her son, reached the store, and in the presence of several witnesses the fortunate little fellow was paid the reward.—New York Telegram.

WHARF AND WAVE.

DIAMOND HEAD, Sept. 21, 10 P.M.:

weather, clear; wind, light north. The U. S. S. Boston will finish receiving 620 tons of coal this afternoon. She is now drawing sixteen feet of water forward.

The bark Alden Resse, Capt. C. S. Friis, will leave at noon today for San Francisco with 800 tons of sugar and rice.

Captain Schmidt, of the barkentine Irmgard, yesterday discharged his three union sailors who refused to work because the captain shipped some Japanese sailors. Three men who worked their way from the colonies on the steamer Mariposa, took the places of the discharged men. The Irmgard will leave the latter part of next week, and the captain expects to take up a full list of passengers.

The four-masted schooner Alice Cooke will come down from the marine railway tomorrow. She will leave next week for Puget Sound with seventy-five tons of ballast.

The steamer Hawaii brought yesterday one hundred tons of machinery from the old Huelo sugar mill, Maui, which was closed down several years ago. The machinery will be stored in Wm. G. Irwin & Co.'s warehouse for the present. The Hawaii will take about 400 tons of coal to Kahului next Monday.

The steamers to arrive today are the Waialeale and C. R. Bishop.

The steamer W. G. Hall's new boiler built by the Honolulu Iron Works, has been tried several times during the week. Tomorrow afternoon after the schooner Alice Cooke is lowered, the W. G. Hall will go up on the marine railway and remain there twelve days. She will be stripped of her old copper and replaced with new. The hull of the vessel will also be recaulked. The painters have nearly completed painting the saloon and the staterooms. The Hawaiian Electric Light Co. has put in wires for electric bells connecting each stateroom with the saloon. This is the first steamer of the I. I. S. N. Co. to receive a complete set of electric bells, and the company intend supplying the steamer Mikahala with the same modern convenience in the near future. The remainder of the electric material for the W. G. Hall is expected to arrive here by the Australia due on October 7th.

The steamers Pele and James Makee will leave for Kauai next Monday.

The steamship Mariposa left yesterday morning for San Francisco. Besides her cargo in transit, she took from this port 560 bags rice, 644 pieces hides, and 852 bunches bananas. The domestic cargo was valued at $4626 50.

Capt. Darrah, of the American ship Detroit, discharged all his crew yesterday morning because they refused to work. The captain obtained three Japanese from the barkentine Irmgard, and he is looking around for more good Japanese seamen. There being no money due to the strikers, the eight sailors left the ship without receiving a cent from the captain.

Captain Cameron, of the steamer Hawaii, reports that the first northerly swell of the season set in last Saturday afternoon.

VALLEJO, Sept. 6.—Commander Henry Glass, United States navy, captain of the yard at the Mare Island navy yard, has received orders from Washington to appear before a board of naval examiners for examination for promotion to the grade of lieutenant-commander. This promotion will in no way affect Commander Glass in his detail of duty at Mare Island. The examination will take place as soon as the board can be convened.

Captain H. D. Leland, of San Francisco, master of the steamer Los Angeles, of that port, has received from the British government, through Secretary Gresham, a fine pair of binocular glasses, in acknowledgment of his bravery in rescuing the crew of the bark King James, which burnt at sea and was abandoned last March.—Ex.

Wm. Curtis, a sailor belonging to the bark Alden Besse, met with a serious accident at 11 o'clock yesterday morning, while that vessel lying at Allen & Robinson's wharf. The gang plank was ordered to be removed, and Curtis went on the wharf to help take it on board. The gang plank served as a support for a pile of lumber landed from the bark Topgallant, and when it was moved away the entire pile of lumber fell, striking Curtis on the left leg, breaking the ankle bone. Dr. McGrew set the fractured member and Curtis was removed to the Queen's hospital.

To the Hawaiian ship John Ena, which arrived at Port Pirie a short time since, belongs the honor of bringing the largest cargo of timber to Australia, as well as the largest which has left the shores of America in one bottom. She has the enormous quantity of 2,580,797 superficial feet, which is equal to 5376 tons of forty cubic feet. The ship, which has made a smart passage of sixty-nine days, is consigned to the Globe Timber Mills, limited, and is the second vessel to arrive of the fleet chartered in fulfillment of their contract with the Broken Hill Proprietary Company, limited, for the supply of 10,600,000 superficial feet of mining timber.—N. Z. Herald.

A CURE FOR SNORING.

A GREAT OPPORTUNITY FOR A SOBER PHILANTHROPIST.

A Terrible and at Present Incurable Disease That Breaks Up Homes and Destroys Lifelong Friendships—A Cure For This Would Be a Boon.

Several years ago, when that best of table companions, Don Platt, was, we had arranged to have a little dinner together at an up town cafe. I was on time, but Platt was late. When he did come, he looked grave and said in the low and well modulated voice so memorable:

"I am sorry, but the simple truth is I discover that I am afflicted with an ailment that will not yield to treatment—one indeed for which 6,000 years of medical science have not been able to find a cure."

"Though always on my guard for a joke, the sadly solemn face of my friend absoled him this time, and with all the sympathy I could throw into my words I exclaimed:

"Why, my dear Platt, don't you believe it? What is this malady?"

"Alas, old age! I set out to walk here. It was too much of an undertaking."

The timeliness of this reference to the infirmities of age is accentuated by several important cases in court that have depended upon the incurability of snoring. This vexatious affliction to which the human family is heir has increased in this country with alarming rapidity since the advent of the alarming increase in the number of people addicted to snoring. It is a peculiarity of this malady that the sufferers are not confined to those attacked. Like the delirium tremens, the cornet habit and other obnoxious forms of nervous unrest, snoring awakens an antagonism in the human breast that more medicine is powerless to subdue.

Those who fail to agree with me as to the gravity, the seriousness or the timeliness of these remarks are requested to communicate by mail, and they will be made acquainted with a case in point that will amply convince them.

An acquaintance living on West End avenue is now suffering from the most thoroughly developed case of snoring that has appealed to medical science in recent times. His life up to the past year has been exemplary, but it is the plain, unvarnished truth to say that he now looks upon himself as a victim to the inadequacy of medical science to reach his case. His wife has left him, taking the children with her, and while it is unlikely that the case in Wisconsin will be taken as a precedent for procuring a divorce there can be no doubt that the couple are irretrievably separated. That husband was deeply attached to his wife, and he took the best of medical advice. He even visited that city of physicians, Philadelphia, in the hope of restoration to a normal method of sleeping.

His medical experience was extensive. He began with anodyne and ended with a serious contamination of deadly strychnine. He tried opium and bromides, nerve foods and antifebrils, lactic acids and iodides and chlorides, acids and alkalis, oatmeal and cornmeal. Alternating with these he took beer, bathos and blisters. Knowing that belladonna made large drops of the pupils of the eyes, he searched for a medicine that would have the effect of a mydriatic upon the nostrils. Then he went to Dr. Curtis and had the cartilage of his nose removed. Somebody told him about the Prince of Wales being cured of insomnia by the use of a hop pillow, and he tried that without success. He resorted to atrophine, camphine, benzine—bomazine! At this stage his wife left him, and one by one the servants in the house gave notice.

Thus was a household wrecked because the head of it snored.

We all regard with serious apprehension the threatened approach of epidemics from the old world, and we remember that from the same old world was brought the sad, sad infirmity of snoring—a gift that we could have done without and would have been happier had they kept it at home.

Now that a recognition of the deplorable seriousness of snoring is forthcoming, I would solemnly suggest that a philanthropist offer a prize for the specific that will antagonize and destroy this sunderer of homes and destroyer of happiness. The remedy must be real and the cure effected permanent.

Snoring must be removed from the category of incurable afflictions.—Julius Chambers in New York Recorder.

The Proprietor's Only Remedy. A certain clerk in a Detroit establishment, who has money of his own, but holds a position for the looks of the thing, recently became impressed by the idea that he was working too hard, and he went to the manager about it.

"I came to see you," he said to that potentate, "about my duties here."

"What about them?" inquired the manager.

"I want fewer working hours."

The manager had his own views on the subject.

"Well," he said thoughtfully, "I don't see how we can arrange it, unless we make more than 24 hours constitute a day," that ended the strike.—Detroit Free Press.

The Question of the Hour.

Are you going to keep up with the times and have your House lit up by Electricity, or are you going to keep right on in the same old rut and burn oil simply because you have grown used to the uncomfortable heat, the strong odor, to say nothing of the danger from explosions, and both of cleaning and filling your lamps, ordering your oil, etc.? Which is the easiest, to have a switch at the head of your bed and turn on a 16c.p. lamp when the baby begins to talk politics at 1 a. m., or to get up, fall over three chairs and pull off half the wall ornaments feeling for the match safe and then be told, just as the lamp is well lighted, to "please put out the light, baby is alright now?"

In a few short months the

will be able to furnish all the Light and Power the City of Honolulu will require, and, as we now have some six large wiring contracts to begin on, as soon as the Australia gets in with a big lot of assorted wire, we would call the attention of those wanting ELECTRIC LIGHTS in their Houses at an early date to the advisability of having the wiring done soon.

As only a limited number of good house wire men are to be had, contracts for wiring will have to be taken up in turn in the order received.

After the Australia gets in we will have a complete line of everything needed to wire any building, including Electric controllers, Brackets, etc., and a large assortment of plain and fancy Shades.

Leave your order early and have the satisfaction of having your House ready for the lights when the current is turned on from the New Station now under way.

Finance Department, Sept. 20, 1893.

After presenting his report Minister Damon said he thought it was due the department, the military and himself to offer some explanation of the military affairs of the government. He thought the government was at present under exceptional financial circumstances, but thought where such large expenditures were being made, as at present, it was the duty of the ministers to lay the matter before the advisory council of the government. He therefore proposed a committee of three be appointed to inquire into the matter of military expenditures and report same to the councils.

The motion was carried, and temporary president Brown appointed

E. D. Tenney, James F. Morgan and John Eua as a special committee. Mr. C. Bolte reported from the military committee as follows: Honolulu, Sept. 21, 1893. His Excellency Francis M. Hatch, Vice-President of the Government of the Hawaiian Islands.

Sir: The undersigned, to whom was referred a requisition of Colonel J. H. Soper, for certain equipments for the military, beg to report that they recommend the purchase of seventy five pairs of shoes at $2.50 amounting to $187.50 and fifteen pieces of white duck costing about $150, be authorized.

Your Excellency's respectfully, C. BOLTE, ALEX. YOUNG, Military Committee.

The report was referred to the judiciary committee. The second reading of the bill to regulate the sale of alcoholic spirits was called up.

Minister Damon said he wished to present a draft of a bill which he had recommended to the committee. He read the draft as proposed and offered to submit it but on the suggestion of temporary Chairman Brown he withdrew it to be presented to the committee privately.

The alcohol bill was called up. Attorney-General Smith moved the original bill be read.

Mr. Tenney moved the original bill pass.

Temporary Chairman Brown called attention to the fact the original bill could only be taken up on motion. On motion the original bill was taken from the table.

Mr. Tenney moved the bill be read a first time.

On a vote the temporary chairman declared the bill before the house. The secretary read the original bill.

Mr. Tenney moved the bill pass first reading.

Mr. Emmeluth said that some provision should be made so that alcohol could not be drawn out of the custom house without restriction.

Temporary Chairman Brown said he thought the law as it now stands covered the point of Mr. Emmeluth.

Mr. Emmeluth replied that he knew alcohol had been drawn out of the custom house lately.

Attorney General Smith pointed out that Mr. Emmeluth was laboring under an error as to the grade of alcohol drawn out.

Attorney General Smith stated he had received a letter from President Dole by the last mail from Hawaii.

At 2:20 o'clock, on motion of Attorney General Smith, the councils went into special session.

Spreckels on Sugar. The San Francisco Evening Bulletin says: Claus Spreckels has abandoned for the present his original intention of going to Washington on sugar matters, and will now await a summons from some of the congressional investigating committees. He says he doesn't expect to go there on Hawaiian politics, but to work for the continuance of the sugar bounty.

"The beet sugar industry is certainly not yet ready to stand alone," said he today. "In a few years it may be, for improved machinery is all the time lessening the amount of labor required. For example, when we began at Watsonville we had to plant by hand, and had to have hundreds of Chinese to hoe the young beets. My son invented a planter, and all the planting is now done by machine. Then we devised a peculiar cultivator which does more in two hours than one hundred Chinese in a day. Now we are just perfecting a machine for topping."

It is driven through the field when the beets are ready to be harvested. Men pull up the beets and throw them into the machine. It cuts off the beet tops, throws the beets into a box and drops the tops on the ground. Heretofore it has taken many men to do the work.

"I believe this country ought to produce all the sugar it uses—somewhere near 1,800,000 tons. It now produces only 300,000 tons. With encouragement of the beet sugar industry I believe this will be brought about. We need the bounty for a few years yet. Certainly the cane sugar men of the South need it. With the bounty we have only been able since we started to declare one dividend of 6 per cent.

"The sugar product of the islands has increased remarkably since 1876. That year the product was about 16,000 tons. Last year it was over 150,000 tons, or about $13,000,000 worth of sugar."

KOHALA NEWS.

The Country Suffering for Want of Rain—Notes.

KOHALA, HAWAII, September 17. —Crops and cattle are suffering for want of rain. The weather shows signs of changing; light showers are falling, but local rain kahunas do not promise rain before the 25th. All signs have failed this summer; we have had what experts call wet moons and dry moons, and doubtful moons, and the result has been the same—sunny days and dewless nights. It would touch the heart of a graven image to see our sad-eyed grangers growing gray: With eyes all red and a drooping head.

He wanders among his cane. Oh, pitiful sight by day or by night, A granger praying for rain. Dust, dust, dust, And Hope with craps on her arm, It's hard for a fellow with cane turning yellow To sing at his work on a farm.

Oh for the days, the good old days, When Noah manded his ark, And the rain just poured, and the forgers roared From daylight until dark! Rain, rain, rain, Give it us damp and dank, Until it has drowned the dreadful sound Of the granger's blanket blank.

Every week's drouth now means thousands of dollars loss in Kohala. Other lands can boast of showers, of fish and manna and other luxuries, while we are perishing for the simple necessities of life, the pure and limpid fluid that always cheers and would at present almost intoxicate with joy.

Rev. A. Ostrom and wife have returned from Hilo and the volcano. The moonlight nights are being looked forward to as propitious for riding parties.

The difference of opinion in regard to the road to Waimea is to be submitted to a jury, and it is to be hoped that some definite result will be arrived at that will be satisfactory to the traveling public.

Planters are busy burning off and getting ready virgin soil to increase their available acreage for the next planting season.

The Claudine, coming into Kawaihae for cattle, took an extra mail to Honolulu on the 16th. Now if the central postal officials will back up the efforts of local officials and steamer lines, as the sugar season approaches we can have a new and better era in our mail service. We are indulging hopes of getting Monday's foreign mail some time before Saturday.

President Dole is still rusticiating and growing fat.

"German Syrup"

A Throat and Lung Specialty.

Those who have not used Boschee's German Syrup for some severe and chronic trouble of the Throat and Lungs can hardly appreciate what a truly wonderful medicine it is. The delicious sensations of healing, easing, clearing, strength-gathering and recovering are unknown joys. For German Syrup we do not ask easy cases. Sugar and water may smooth a throat or stop a tickling—for a while. This is as far as the ordinary cough medicine goes.

Boschee's German Syrup is a discovery, a great Throat and Lung Specialty. Where for years there have been sensitiveness, pain, coughing, spitting, hemorrhage, voice failure, weakness, slipping down hill, where doctors and medicine and advice have been swallowed and followed to the gulf of despair, where there is the sickening conviction that all is over and the end is inevitable, then we place German Syrup. It cures. You are a live man yet if you take it.

Music In the Air

And also at the Music Emporium of the Hawaiian News Co. In the past month, we have made many improvements and additions, both as to variety and quality of stock and general arrangement of the department.

Our latest importations in the Piano line consists of the celebrated make of "Everett" of Boston and "Schillier" of Chicago; unequalled for brilliancy of tone and perfection of action and considered by all connoisseurs of the music art as superior instruments in every respect. Three of these Pianos just to hand by last steamer; also cabinet Organs for parlor, church or schools; every instrument fully warranted for five years. The installment plan for the sale of Pianos and Organs inaugurated by us five years ago, has proven a great success as many a home in Honolulu can bear testimony. We shall continue same and increase our facilities in this branch as the trade demands.

Just landed—a new line of piano Stools in various styles, prices from $1.75 up; also genuine made American Guitars, elegant tone and well finished $7.50; cheap German make as low as $4.

Special Order Department—for Sheet Music and Music Books—if you will hand us your orders and same cannot be filled from our large assortment in stock, we will book it in our "special orders," which go forward to the publishers every mail; in this way we will save you much trouble as well as money, as we make no charge for postage.

It is our aim to keep in stock everything connected with the music trade; parties out of town will find it to their advantage to deal with us and not send their orders abroad.

AN INDIAN WIND SONG.

The wolf of the winter wind is swift,
And hearts are still and cheeks are pale
When we hear his howl in the ghostly drift...

THE SLIPPER TRICK.

This varnished dancing pump was clipped off the foot of an exquisite young man at a reception at one of the leading salons of Paris.

Octave Latournele—that is my exquisite young man's name—was not only a perfect dancer. He possessed not only two very nimble legs, but two very nimble hands, whereof the adroitness was the admiration of all his friends.

Trust in the loyalty of his young wife was not to be laughed at. He enjoyed many a Palais Royal farce—with his wife by his side more often than not,
which was imprudent perhaps—but he also escorted her to balls, never pleading his age as an excuse, and waited patiently for her till after the cotillon, and to all appearances his wife was quite content.

Perhaps she was so. But there were plenty of young fellows who would look down at you from the high superiority of their 25 years if you ventured to express such an idea and say:
"With an old fellow like that! Really you are too refreshing."

"Bless me," said he, putting up his glasses, "there's my wife at a waltz table.
I certainly thought she was waiting for poika or something, and that there she is playing whist. She must be very tired, for she never plays cards and is always dancing. I shall have to scold her, he added, with a laugh, "for indulging herself so much in her favorite pleasure that she has to do penance at the card table," and he strolled leisurely toward the players.

A jostle knocking his glasses from his eyes as he reached the whist table, he stooped to pick them up and saw beneath the table a slipper, a patent leather pump, from which its tenant had escaped, and now, shod only in fine black silk hose, was pushed against the little foot of the general's wife. But he also noticed that the latter constantly avoided
the foot that so persistently pursued her own.

your arm, and I will introduce you.
Your audience is growing impatient."
"Certainly, madame, in just one moment," said Latournele, feeling with his foot for his slipper, and so recognizing the remarkable jig executed by the general a few moments before. Now the other players laughed outright—which they had not dared to do the first time. And the mistress of the house stood there, surprised at being kept waiting so long and wondering how much longer her escort would keep her in that attitude. Impatient ladies came in shoals to add their solicitations to those of their hostess.

Our young man positively had to get out of the predicament some how. He did get out of it, but with only one shoe,
for he also had stooped down and discovered the disappearance of the misguided slipper, and he marveled in deep anxiety how he was going to explain such a state of affairs.

His one shod foot provoked general hilarity, then delighted applause and cries of "It's a trick! It's some trick!"
The petted darling of the ladies smiled
a weak smile and stammered:
"Yes, ladies, it is a trick."

Applause, accompanied by a general clapping of hands, greeted this announcement, while Latournele kept saying to himself:
"Oh, yes, it's a great trick, but some one has played it on me, and I don't find it so very funny. If I only knew who it was"—then, struck with an idea—"Heavens! It could be the general—his singular performance just now—and I saw him stoop down—if it was really he, it would be a pretty uncomfortable joke on me. How can I make sure?"

As he escorted the lady through the room he tried to get near the general.
He managed to do so, and, with the back of his hand he cautiously knocked against the pocket of the general's coat which he suspected contained the slipper. There was nothing there! He tried to sound the other pocket, but a slight move on the general's part carried him out of reach. To touch it, it was necessary to pass around on the side where it was.

"Where in the world are you taking me?" demanded the lady on his arm.
"Why—er—to the head of the room," and as he was now on the right side of the general he wanted to try the other pocket. Here was a new obstacle that he had not foreseen. The fact that the lady had the arm nearest the general
made any attempt at exploration impossible. He offered the other on the pretext of an old wound which was paining him and was able at last to repeat his former tactics. This time he was satisfied. "It's there!" he murmured, and he did not enjoy the reflection that the husband of his adored one had discovered his maneuvers under the table.

"Well, I'm in a pretty mess," he concluded.
Everybody had crowded into the room,
there was an expectant hush, and all were on tiptoe for the promised trick.
There was no way to retreat.
"Here goes," said the imprudent lover,
"must take the plunge, come what may." And he plunged.
"Ladies," he said, "I have lost my slipper. I have not got it concealed about my person; my pockets are empty"—he turned them inside out—"nor is it in my coat"—he held it open—"nor in my waistcoat"—he unbuttoned it—"nor in my sleeves"—and he turned them up to his elbows. "You see, ladies, I have nothing in my hands or my pockets. I must find out, then, where the lost article is.
Nothing is more simple. I have only to make a slight cabalistic calculation."
With this he covered his face with his hands and assumed an attitude of profound cogitation. Then, without resolving his hands, he counted: "One, two, three, four, five. My slipper," he cried, "is in the left pocket of the sixth person to my right."

This person was the general.
"Nor bad!" the latter exclaimed under his breath, and in obedience to the universal cries of "Search yourself," search yourself, general," he drew the slipper from the pocket indicated.
A storm of applause was evoked by the brilliant success of the trick. Then, after much whispering, several voices cried, "Oh, the general is his confederate."

"Yes, yes," came a chorus of voices,
"he's the confederate."
The conjurer protested.
"Do it again, then," some one demanded, and everybody took up the cry: "Yes, yes! Do it again!"

"Oh," said a lady, "the general has just been whispering to M. Latournele."
And the cry went up again that he was a confederate.
The general affirmed that he was in no sense furthering the conjurer's devices.
"But you were just now whispering with him," insisted the witnesses of the conference.
"The exact truth is this, ladies: You asked the conjurer to repeat his performance. I just at this moment told him that it was one of those tricks that should not be tried a second time. Did I not say?" said the general significantly.
"Precisely, general, and I shall follow your advice," replied Latournele.
"it shall not be repeated."

And it never was.—Translated for Argonaut from the French of Jules Molnanx by L. S. Vassault.
Boiling Water During the Summer.
A medical friend of the Listener writes him to do something to arouse public sentiment to the duty of filtering and boiling drinking water this summer. He thinks that, in view of the possibility of cholera, people should acquire the water boiling habit as soon as possible. No doubt this is quite true.
And, cholera or no cholera, there are no end of germs in the ordinary water of Boston and the towns about. It is really extraordinary how our people have kept up so long the practice of drinking water without filtering or boiling it,
and still more extraordinary, no doubt,
that we should cool our water by putting ice into it, when it can be cooled just as effectively by putting a large bottle of it corked into a refrigerator or otherwise into contact with ice.

A good way out of the difficulty, if one thinks he does not like boiled water, is to drink no water at all. There are plenty of other things to drink. From all accounts, cholera can be taken only through the stomach, and there is nothing so discouraging to a microbe of any sort as a temperature of 213 degrees.—

THE HAWAIIAN GUIDE BOOK

1892. - - 1892.

ILLUSTRATED

TOURISTS' GUIDE

Through the Hawaiian Islands

H. M. WHITNEY, Editor.

Price in Honolulu, 60 Cents per Copy

The Book has 176 pages of text, with 20 Full Page Illustrations of Island Scenery and a description of the Pearl Harbor Railway enterprise, and surrounding country.

It has also FOUR MAPS of the larger islands, prepared expressly for it.

The GUIDE gives a full description each of the principal Islands and Settlements in this Group, and will prove an invaluable hand-book for tourists, and for residents to send to their friends abroad.

Some of the illustrations in the new book are very fine specimens of the Photo-tint process of engraving, and accurately represent the scenes portrayed.

For sale at Hawaiian News Company's, and at T. G. Thurston's Up-town Stationery store.

The Guide will be mailed to any part of the islands for 64 Cents per Copy.

Or, to any foreign country for 70 Cents
