Six Pages.

Be just and fear not; Let all the ends thou aim'st at be Thy Country's, thy God's, and Truth's.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 30, 1893.

AS AN EVIDENCE of the bitter feeling in the United States, we quote this from the Springfield Union: "Secretary Gresham's announcement of the policy of the Administration has aroused the utmost indignation throughout the country. It is worse than a blunder. It is a crime against humanity and the cause of liberty."

TODAY Hawaii joins with the Great American Republic in her observance of a day of Thanksgiving to Almighty God for the many benefits received during the past year. President Cleveland, in his proclamation, says: "On this day let us forego our ordinary work and employments and assemble in our usual places of worship, where we may recall all God has done for us, and where from grateful hearts our united tribute of praise and song may reach the throne of grace. Let the re-union of kindred and social meeting with friends lend cheer and enjoyment to duty, and let generous gifts of charity for the relief of the poor and needy prove the sincerity of our thanksgiving."

THOSE of our readers who know the Hon. John L. Stevens need no assurance that the letter signed by him and published in yesterday's paper, is based on incontrovertible facts, and those who took part in the establishment of the Provisional Government will also bear witness to the truth of the statement made by him as regards the order in which the events referred to took place. We have never had an American Minister here who was more careful as to what he said and did while in office than Mr. Stevens, nor one who was more thoroughly posted with the diplomatic correspondence and instructions of his home government, nor more careful to keep within the rules prescribed for his observance. At the same time while ever watchful to guard the rights of his countrymen, he refused to encourage any act which seemed unjust or unlawful.

Some statements in Mr. Stevens' letter are very terse and forcible, this for instance: "All that American piety, American benevolence, American schools, and American patriotism have accomplished in Hawaii in the past seventy years, is now centralized in the Provisional government, and stands in its support. It is a government honestly and ably administered, and the best government that Hawaii has ever had."

Again he says, and with great force, of the revolution:

"It was a united and irresistible movement of the same men, with now increased numbers, that took away the despotic power of King Kalakaua in 1887, and crushed the Wilcox revolt of 1889. They gathered at the Armory with their rifles in hand, which were increased by other arms openly carried in a carriage with only three men in charge. The only government that existed or could exist under those circumstances, was the Provisional government. Whoever denies this, has no other basis for denial than perjured affidavits, hundreds of which are obtainable in the slums of Honolulu at two dollars each."

The story of the revolution as told by Mr. Stevens, is correct, and his narrative unimpeachable. And those who know him will believe what he says in preference to the garbled statements of Mr. Blount, based on the partizan evidence of bitter royalists.

TWO NOTED "WRECKERS."

About twenty years ago the fine steamer Costa Rica, commanded by Captain Lapidge, of the Pacific Mail service, plied between Honolulu and San Francisco, as a regular packet. On her last trip, when approaching the Golden Gate, with a smooth sea and the usual fog the captain undertook to enter port without a pilot, and the result was that she ran onto the rocks near Point Bonita, where the City of New York was recently stranded. The accident was judged to have been one of gross carelessness, and the captain was dismissed from service. The steamer was badly stove in on the rocks, and filled with water; and it appeared to be a case where total loss could not be avoided. The Lougee brothers, who lately assisted in rescuing the steamer Miowera at the entrance of this harbor, were applied to by the owners of the Costa Rica, to ascertain whether they could save her. They had already gained a reputation as wreckers of stranded or sunken vessels, and were considered as experts in their line. The wreck lay wedged among the rocks, careened over, and full of water; and while she lay in this condition, they went under her, in their diving apparatus, inspecting the damage, which was very bad. There was but one way to save her, and that none but Yankee ingenuity would ever have undertaken. They reported the case to the owners, and after concluding the terms, on which the work was to be undertaken, immediately commenced operations on her. The plan was to fit board patches closely over the rough jagged holes that the rocks had torn in her iron bottom, and fasten these patches on the outside by bolts running through cross pieces on the inside, and screwed up tight. The work had to be nicely and securely done under water, while the breakers were rolling over and around the ship. When all the holes were fastened, pumps were set to work, the water discharged from her hold, and the ship gradually righted and floated off the rocks. It was considered at the time, one of the most skillful jobs of the kind ever performed. The Lougee brothers were born in Vermont, and went to California some forty years ago, where seeing an open field in saving wrecked vessels, adopted this as their business, which they have followed ever since. They have rescued vessels and sunken property all along the coast from Panama to Alaska, in China and Japan and perhaps other places. In Japan, during one season they saved four vessels, including the sunken yacht of the Emperor presented to him by Queen Victoria, for which they received a bonus of $4,000. Their last work was rescuing the large steamer Miowera, at the entrance of our harbor. A part of the credit belongs to Capt. Metcalfe, who came to superintend the work, and who, in their estimation, deserves the most praise. Such men are public benefactors, and merit all that they earn in their perilous vocation.

The United States and Brazil.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—It is understood that at the Cabinet meeting tomorrow the question will be taken up of the policy to be pursued by this Government in the event of an attempt on the part of the Brazilian Royalists to aid Mello and perhaps to land an expedition on the shores of South America. Late dispatches from Minister Thompson make no reference to the proclamation alleged to have been issued by Admiral Mello regarding the monarchy, and the Department is inclined to believe the report is baseless. However, it has been decided to draft special instructions for the guidance of the Minister and Captain Pickens in case of emergency. This Government, it can be stated on the highest authority, will not permit the monarchy to be restored in Brazil by the aid of outside agencies. It is believed here that no attempt will be made on the part of any foreign Government to resist the action of the United States in this regard.

It is to be hoped that nothing worse than a feeling of chagrin will follow the restoration of the monarchy. But there is strong ground for believing that it will prove a death blow to American interests in the Islands, and perhaps the destruction of these interests may be accompanied by acts of violence for which the American people will hold Cleveland responsible.—S. F. Chronicle.

The report that President Cleveland intends to restore the Queen of Hawaii to her throne is evidently a distortion of the instructions given to Mr. Willis. The present Government has been recognized by the United States, and Minister Willis goes out accredited to it. If there is to be a change in the Government, the Hawaiians will have to make it themselves.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

The celebrated Improved Stone Filters are as superior to other filters as gold to copper. It makes no difference how thick and muddy the water may be as it comes from the water main, once it passes through the filter it becomes as clear as crystal. The impossibility of animalcules passing through the porous stone which makes the filter is apparent in the fact that the smallest atoms of dirt in the water remain on the "high side" of the stone. (For medical terms, etc., in connection with the use of filters, apply at the office of the nearest physician.)

The demand for handsome banquet and piano lamps increases as the holidays approach and our stock is being liberally drawn upon. We are well satisfied with our selection of lamps for the plain every day as well as the Christmas trade and our stock of shades for both piano and banquet lamps has never been equalled. The various colors are so agreeably combined that they will harmonize with the decorations in almost any room.

The Keystone Beater is king over all contrivances for beating eggs or pulping fruit for pies, puddings or any sort of desserts. For making mayonnaise dressing it has no equal. Unlike the ordinary way of making dressings, where the oil has to go in a drop at a time, the keystone beater enables one to pour in a teaspoonful at a time. Economy of time is an item with the cook or the housekeeper and this is one way of accomplishing much in little.

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—The Inter-Ocean will say editorially tomorrow of Mr. Gresham's report: "The report of Secretary Gresham, recommending the restoration of the monarchy in Hawaii, is an extraordinary document. The Secretary counts the statements of Ex-Minister Stevens, Mr. Thurston and others as nothing, and seems to hold to the theory that only Mr. Blount was capable of seeing or of telling the truth.

"This report is a humiliation to the American people and a rebuke to those aspiring residents of Hawaii, who have done more for the advancement of the Hawaiian Islands than all the kings and queens that ever ruled there. If the President acts on this recommendation, there will be fierce and cruel war on the islands, and the Democratic Administration will be responsible."

Bishop Newman's Views. MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 13.—The Venerable Bishop John P. Newman, General Grant's old pastor, and the bosom friend of many public men of this and the previous generation, paid a missionary visit to the Hawaiian Islands just before the revolution.

Talking on the subject last night at the West Hotel, Bishop Newman said: "I do not believe that the people of the country will ever permit President Cleveland to restore the monarchy. He cannot do it. How is it to be accomplished? These are questions upon which the people may have something to say. When I was in the country the people were ripe for independence. The leaders of the revolution were the cream of intelligence and dignity of its residents. The fact is that but for American influences the islands would be in a rapid state of decadence. The underlying idea seems to get in a fling at General Harrison."

GOMES AND HIS DOPE.

The Portuguese Jeweler Arrested With Opium in His Possession.

J. E. Gomes, the jeweler, was arrested last evening, and charged with having opium in his possession. He was afterwards released on bail.

The arrest was made in the house of a half Chinaman named Apio, in Nuanuu valley. Gomez had made a contract with another Chinaman to sell him thirty tins of the drug. The Chinaman had been furnished with money to buy it, and last night was the date set for completing the transaction.

Just as Gomes was about to pass over the opium the police descended, and raked the whole party in.

SHORT TALKS ON TYPEWRITERS. TALK 5.

"It Will Take Me," said a business man, "too long to learn to write on a typewriter."

Having never essayed the attempt he was not aware of the ease a novice can operate the Caligraph. The capital and small letters being in full view, there's no confusion, and the alignment is perfect.

The Caligraph keyboard is the best arranged for speed and accuracy, and a few minutes practice will be convincing on this point. There are times when business men are compelled to use a typewriter. Pen paralysis comes to those who use the pen and ink process. When such men have to discard the pen they resort to the Caligraph because it is so easy to learn, needs no repairs, and produces the best work.

There's no reason why you should be without a Caligraph. It will pay the investment a hundred fold.

IN THEIR OWN HANDS.

THE FATE OF THE WHITE PEOPLE IN HAWAII.

An Article from the Portland "Oregonian" Gives Us Some Cold Hard Facts.

The fate of the white people of Hawaii is in their own hands. If they have courage and resolution to fight for their government, they can maintain it.

The white people of Hawaii are the mainstay of its civilization. They have built up its trade, established its industries, created its national wealth.

By order of the trustees of Oahu college, yesterday was set apart as the day for presenting the life-sized steel engraving of the late General S. C. Armstrong.

General Armstrong's father and mother were among the earliest of the missionaries to these islands and in 1848 the former became Minister of Public Instruction here.

It may be said that it would be hopeless for the Provisional Government to try to resist the naval forces of the United States.

His whole life has been devoted to building up the Hampton Normal and Agricultural Institute, a school for the colored and Indian races.

Should the President make such a fatal mistake as to try to displace the Provisional Government by force, they should still resist, sacrificing their lives, if need be, to defend of their State from such unwarrantable and outrageous aggression.

American blood, in defense of their right of self-government, attacked by reluctant officers and sailors under pre-emptory orders from Washington, would unite the American people in determination to depose of Queen Liliuokalani and the President together.

GOOD IDEAS TRAVEL FAST.

A Common Trick That Tradesmen Have of Turning Them Into Money. New ideas are difficult to sell, but very easy to give away.

As a result the establishment is as silent as the tomb and is an exceedingly unpleasant place to visit.

OLD WINTERS ON THE FARM.

Waste That Is Now Valuable. A generation ago there was hardly a mill of any kind that was not troubled with a heap of rubbish or waste material that it did not know what to do with.

The cottonseed oil industry is a better known illustration of economizing waste, but the amount of waste which the industry has grown are not so generally known.

The Question of the Hour.

Are you going to keep up with the times and have your House lit up by Electricity, or are you going to keep right on in the same old rut and burn OIL simply because you have grown used to the uncomfortable heat, the strong odor, to say nothing of the danger from explosions, and bother of cleaning and filling your lamps, ordering your oil, etc.? Which is the easiest, to have a switch at the head of your bed and turn on a 16c.p. lamp when the baby begins to talk politics at 1 A. M., or to get up, fall over three chairs and pull off half the wall ornaments feeling for the match safe and then be told, just as the lamp is well lighted, to "please put out the light, baby is alright now?"

Hawaiian Electric Company will be able to furnish all the Light and Power the City of Honolulu will require, and, as we now have some six large wiring contracts to begin on, as soon as the Australia gets in with a big lot of assorted wire, we would call the attention of those wanting ELECTRIC LIGHTS in their Houses at an early date to the advisability of having the wiring done soon.

As only a limited number of good house wire men are to be had, contracts for wiring will have to be taken up in turn in the order received.

After the Australia gets in we will have a complete line of everything needed to wire any building, including Electricians, Bracketts, etc., and a large assortment of plain and fancy Shades.

Leave your order early and have the satisfaction of having your House ready for the lights when the current is turned on from the New Station now under way.

IT IS AN OUTRAGE.

SO SAYS H. N. CASTLE IN THE DETROIT TRIBUNE.

STEVENS WAS PERFECTLY RIGHT.

Cleveland and Gresham acted for Their Unconstitutional Action by a Friend of Good Government in Hawaii.

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (Special Telegram), Nov. 13.—H. N. Castle, formerly editor of the DAILY ADVERTISER in this city upon a visit to relatives, Mr. Castle was present at the session of the Legislature that led up to the revolution. He took part in the debates of the Citizens' meeting just previous to the revolution and was in a position to know all the doings of the Committee of Safety.

Mr. Castle is a brother of W. R. Castle, who was a member of the Committee of Safety and one of the Commissioners who came to the United States to ask for annexation. Mr. Castle speaks keenly what he declares is the injustice of Secretary Gresham to the Hawaiians in his report upon the matter to Mr. Cleveland.

MONSTROUSLY UNJUST. "We were completely thunderstruck when we learned that Secretary Gresham had been holding a brief for a decayed monarchy. All the pretended findings of fact are so partisan, so monstrously unjust, it is difficult to see how a sane man, let alone a judge, could ever have come to any such conclusion. The article contains a few facts but only enough to give it the appearance of plausibility. It is not true that the Queen was deposed by the American Minister or the American forces. The American forces were passive spectators of the conflict from beginning to end. I was an eyewitness and I only testify to what every other eyewitness knows.

"The men who put the Queen on the throne knew that it was in bitter earnest; they knew that they took their lives on their hands; that if they expected to come out with whole skins it was because they relied upon the incompetency, irresolution and the cowardice of the Queen's Government. The Provisional Government is certainly not disposed to yield to anything but force. Cleveland and Gresham have probably been waiting eight months to see the Government overturned. They found that catastrophe was not likely to happen so they concluded they would have to bring it about themselves.

"It can't be done, however, without a violation of the rights of an independent government they have recognized. It can't be done without the grossest injustice to hundreds of persons who have relied upon the good faith of the United States. The Queen's government at best would be simply a paper government, one not supported by American bayonets. Putting it back means simply using the full force of the United States government in order to destroy the party of progress and ability in the interest of a monarchy that is not hopelessly effete and corrupt but has been assiduously undermining American industries and interest in Hawaii for years.

FRIENDS OF BRITAIN. "The queen and the palace party have been pursuing a policy that would have seen the Hawaiian Islands in the hands of Great Britain. The blow that was struck in January last was struck as much in the interest of the United States as it was for Hawaii. Hawaii is the only country in the world where the dominant race, the one which is dominant by its virtue, intelligence, property, industry and its civilization, has submitted to be governed by an inferior.

"The course of the Cleveland administration simply means that it is putting itself against the forces of civilization. It amounts to rank treachery to American interests. It is a strange business for a nation to be in that of bolstering up a monarchy that is too weak to stand on its own legs. If that came from the Czar of Russia we might understand it, but coming from an American it is past understanding. The course of Secretary Gresham and President Cleveland seems to have been dictated by a weak and watery sentimentality and bolstered up with a trifling legal technicality that is not even sound. It is the peculiarity of sentiments of that kind that is enlisted in favor of the feeble and vicious and against the strong and deserving.

"As I said before, Gresham's statement is just true enough to make the whole all the bigger lie. He makes it appear that the American Minister, with a small knot of Americans, overthrew the queen and established this Government. Nothing could be wider from the mark. The seeds of the revolution were laid years before Mr. and commercial forces have been drawing Hawaii for America for fifty years. This was a fact that has been recognized by the State Department at Washington since the course of Daniel Webster. It is not in the nature of things that the Anglo-Saxon race should be permanently controlled by a Polynesian tribe. The only difference between the course of events in Hawaii and elsewhere is that in Hawaii the transfer of dominion from the inferior to the superior has been slow, orderly and peaceful, and accompanied by a consideration for the inferior without a parallel in the history of race or country. It was only when all the higher interests, both moral and industrial, were threatened with destruction by Polynesian ignorance and Kalakauaism that resort was had to force to rescue them.

FORCE USED TWICE. "Force has been used twice, once in 1857, when the indignant people demanded a new constitution of Kalakaua, and again in 1893, when twenty years of bitter experience had taught the lesson that compromise was useless and the only remedy was to do away with the monarchy altogether. The result was one which thoughtful men had long known to be inevitable. Kalakaua and Liliuokalani had abandoned every healthy and saving tradition of the monarchy and were giving themselves over to heathenish practices which would have soon led in Hawaii nothing worth saving.

"If the revolution had not come in 1893 it would have come in '94. The logic of events made it irresistible. Even those good loyalists, Cleveland and Gresham, cannot put life into a dead and rotten monarchy.

MR. STEVENS A MAGICIAN. "Was it Mr. Stevens who packed more men into the great main meeting which brought together more white people than had ever been assembled under one roof in Hawaii before? What sort of charm did Mr. Stevens possess which united all sections, all factions in the community in a unity of thought and purpose which had never been seen in Hawaii? If Mr. Stevens is the author of the hatred of oppression and dislike that most Anglo-Saxons feel at having their rights trampled on, then he certainly is the author of the revolution. In that case he is a greater magician, not only, than even Mr. Cleveland or Mr. Gresham.

"Mr. Gresham says that the Queen's Government yielded because Mr. Stevens recognized the Provisional Government when it was only a government on paper. As to that I can only say that I was present in the council chamber at the time the correspondence with the Ministers of the Queen was being carried on and this is the first time that I have ever heard of it. Neither Mr. Gresham nor Mr. Bloom, I believe, were present. Mr. Gresham says further that the Queen surrendered not to the Provisional Government, but to the United States, and that the terms of her surrender show this. She surrendered under 'protest.' What difference did it make to the Provisional Government? They could not keep her from surrendering 'under protest.' They wanted her to surrender, and she did. She laid down the arms of the Hawaiian Kingdom, the palace, the barracks and the police station. Her guard was disbanded and she retired to a private house which the Provisional Government—not the United States—granted her as a residence. She surrendered, not to the superior force of the United States, but because her adherents did not care to take the rifles of the Hawaiian volunteers.

REVIEW OF THE DOCUMENT. "Mr. Gresham takes the word of the Queen that she 'surrendered to the superior power of the United States' as the best proof of the fact. It is remarkable that so acute a lawyer should fall so easily a prey to the wiles of a Polynesian Queen, never knew a more interesting illustration of the cunning of the savage. Liliuokalani might have surrendered to the Angel Gabriel if she had chosen to. No one would have been deceived—but Mr. Gresham.

"Mr. Gresham seems to have adopted what has been from the beginning the absurd contention of the royalists, namely, that the Provisional Government had joined with the Queen in the submitting a controversy to the United States for settlement. Whatever controversy there had been was settled there and then. The Queen became plain Mrs. Dominis. The new Government was established and was recognized by England, France, Germany, Italy, Russia, Portugal, Japan, and the United States. It was recognized by Minister Stevens. It was recognized by ex-President Harrison and President Cleveland. Interference now is no longer possible. An aggression upon the Islands now is an act of war.

"Whatever the truth of Mr. Gresham's simple and child-like contentions may be, the moment for making them a reality has passed. The Provisional Government at that time was fighting for liberty and civilized government, and it had a right to use any means that seemed to offer aid to its cause. If any mistake was made it was made by Minister Stevens.

"Any attempt to restore the monarchy is an attempt to visit the punishment for a diplomatic mistake upon the heads of unoffending persons, who have relied upon the good faith of the United States Government. The attempt to set aside the Provisional Government by intimidation or by force would be an outrage upon the rights of all these persons, as well as be wanton violation of the plainest principles of international law.

NOT THE RESULT OF INTRIGUE. "The Provisional Government is entitled to exactly the same rights as every other sovereign power and in trampling upon this Government the administration is committing the very fault that it pretends to repair. It was pretended in the beginning that the Hawaiian revolution was the result of an intrigue of the sugar planters and of aliens who were hungering after the bounty. The bitter opposition of the Sugar King proved the reverse to be the case. Claus Spreckels is an alien and was opposed to the legitimate interests of the Kingdom. These interests, the interests of the merchants, the small tradesmen, the mechanics and the workmen were all furthered by the revolution and will all be imperiled by the restoration of the monarchy.

"The injury which will result to all these can not be calculated. Mr. Cleveland is striking a blow at American commerce in the Pacific from which it cannot recover for years, and in so doing he is adopting the policy and playing into the hands of Claus Spreckels, who wishes the restoration of corrupt government in order to gain complete control of the country and raise cheap sugar with contract labor under the protection of American guns.

A Good Place To Meet. Mr. Mitchell having declared himself "willing to go anywhere" to "meet" Mr. Corbett, I would respectfully suggest that he go to the devil. True, Mr. Corbett is not there, but as Pelham said, with reference to "appointments" of another kind, "if a man is worth seeing he is worth waiting for."—Ambrose Bierce in S. F. Examiner.

THE ERA OF ALUMINIUM.

It Bids Fair to Supercede the Ages of Stone, Bronze and Iron.

Aluminium, which itself possesses a high degree of specific heat, does not readily absorb heat itself, and thus is not liable to the chief objection to iron buildings in hot countries. But apart from light decorative purposes, such as balconies, cupolas, finials and verandas, it is as a roofing material that aluminium should be most welcome to the builder. In plate or scales, two-thirds lighter than copper, uncorroded by air and undimmed even by the sulphur of London smoke it should make a roof fit for a palace of romance.

The humble elements of health and comfort in the house, hardly less important than its external defenses against the weather—pipes, cisterns, taps and gutters, now made of iron which rusts or is painted, while those of lead are more enduring and far more healthy if made of this light and clean metal, which might also take the place of all water holding vessels now made of heavy brittle earthenware or painted tin. An aluminium bath is among the probable luxuries of the next century. But it is not as a mere necessary to comfort and convenience that real development of the new metal should lie. It is for use at sea that its most marked quality of lightness obviously fits it.

The marine engineer and the naval architect, who are already working in this direction for a reduction in the weight which is inseparable from loss of efficiency, whether in speed or cargo, cannot neglect the possibilities of a metal which, when mixed in the proportion of 1 to 20, gives to aluminium bronze a hardness and toughness which make it almost as reliable as steel, and which, if the proportions could be reversed, and the strength preserved, would reduce the weights of ships and machinery alike by two-thirds. That is a problem which awaits the metallurgists for solution. The reduction in cost, judging by analogy, can only be a question of time and research.

The best steel now costs little more than one-half penny per pound, while aluminium exists in far greater quantities than iron, is more widely distributed, and neither the limits of time nor the history of metallurgy forbid us to conjecture that, as the world has seen its age of stone, its age of bronze and its age of iron, so it may before long have embarked on a new and even more prosperous era—the age of aluminium.—Spectator.

Stamped by a Bee. A woman sitting in an elevated train car quietly got up and stood in the aisle. After she had been standing there for about half a minute everybody began to look to see why she did it. Then they discovered that a large bumblebee had taken possession and was sailing around contentedly in the vacant space.

The woman near by looked anxious, and those at the other end of the car looked amused. Several of the men looked as though they would like to do something, but did not know just what.

Then the bee concluded to move on and try some other seats. In less than another half minute every one on that side of the car had vacated and was standing in the aisle.

Some of the people looked silly, others looked annoyed, and others had a broad grin, evidently enjoying the fun of the situation.

One man took off his hat to strike at the bee.

"Don't try to fight him!" shrieked another. "You'll get stung sure."

A tall, dignified looking woman in black satin executed a deliberate Desartean curve at that moment to evade the bee, and a fat man stepped back on a small woman's corn.

Then a stout, good natured looking man, in a tall gray hat, who had been sitting on the other side, quietly got up and opened one of the closed blinds, and Mr. Bee sailed out into the atmosphere.

No one said anything but the woman who had first stood up, and she thanked the man in the gray hat right out loud and with considerable emphasis.—New York Recorder.

III. Tempered. Sir Francis Nicholson, who was sent over to the English court some 100 years ago as lieutenant governor of New England, left behind him a reputation for bad temper.

He refused to consider the advice of members of his own council and abused them even in session. His oaths and threats could be heard even at a distance from the council room.

"One night as well pretend to describe a hurricane to one that never saw it as to think to describe the brutality and savagery of his passions," quotes The Magazine of American History in discussing him, but the cleverest bit of character comes from an Indian's lips. While he had command of the army Nicholson fell into one of these fits of rage wherein he almost seemed to lose command of his reason.

"The general is drunk," said the Indian to an officer.

"No," was the reply, "he never drinks any strong liquor."

"I do not mean that he is drunk with rum," said the Indian. "He was born drunk!"

What's In a Name? The custom of giving a designating name to a saloon, following the practice of the English innkeepers, has not entirely died out in New York, but it is certainly undergoing a decline. Now nearly every saloon in this part of the country bears the name of the proprietor over the door, and that is all.

"German Syrup"

Martinsville, N.J., Methodist Parsonage. "My acquaintance with your remedy, Boschee's German Syrup, was made about fourteen years ago, when I contracted a Cold which resulted in a Hoarseness and a Cough which disabled me from filling my pulpit for a number of Sabbaths. After trying a Physician, without obtaining relief—I cannot say now what remedy he prescribed—I saw the advertisement of your remedy and obtained a bottle. I received such quick and permanent help from it that whenever we have had Throat or Bronchial troubles since in our family, Boschee's German Syrup has been our favorite remedy and always with favorable results. I have never hesitated to report my experience of its use to others when I have found them troubled in like manner." REV. W. H. HAGGARTY, of the Newark, New Jersey, M.E. Conference, April 25, '90.

A Safe Remedy. G. G. GREEN, Sole Man'fr, Woodbury, N.J.

How often it has been said by the croakers that there is no business, everything is dead, times are hard, and everything is going to the bad here in Honolulu, but the California Feed Co. are not built that way; we say business is good and getting better every month. And to prove what we say we have had to take larger and more commodious warehouses. We have just completed arrangements with Mr. J. F. Colburn, whereby he gives up his old stand, corner Queen and Nuuanu streets. We take possession on November 15th. Our old place at Lelele is too small for our fast increasing business, hence the change.

We expect the Hawaiian bark Mauna Ala to arrive here again in a few days with her fourth full cargo of hay and grain bought by our Mr. J. N. Wright who will arrive on the bark. We prefer to select our merchandise ourselves rather than have others do it, which means that we get better goods at a less price.

We thank our many friends for their liberal patronage for the past three years, and hope by strict attention to a business we thoroughly understand to merit the patronage of as many more.

We intend to keep a large, well selected stock of the very best hay and grain to be had in the California market, and we are going to sell it. CALIFORNIA FEED CO. 3536-1v

MAY BE BALFOUR'S BRIDE.

Miss Margot Tennant is a favorite with English statesmen.

If Arthur Balfour, the Tory leader and nephew of Lord Salisbury, should marry Miss Margot Tennant, as rumor says he intends to do, he will secure for a wife one of the cleverest and most conspicuous women in London society, a woman, moreover, whose ability to manage men and affairs will be of immense advantage to him in his political career. It is no rare thing at an entertainment to see her surrounded by a circle of grave and reverend statesmen of both parties, who apparently forget their age and dignities under the charm of her big dark brown eyes and witty, quizzical tongue. She was a great favorite with the late Lord Tennyson, as she is yet with Mr. Gladstone, and she was the life and soul of the party that accompanied them on their celebrated yachting trip to Copenhagen.

MISS MARGOT TENNANT.

When Gladstone had his interview with the czar. Nothing more amusing can be imagined than Miss Margot's account of the rivalry that existed between the grand old man of politics and the grand old man of poetry, the one anxious to talk all the time and the other equally desirous to read incessantly his favorite poems aloud until weariness induced every one of the listeners to glide softly away, leaving the laureate reading aloud all by himself at one end of the boat and Gladstone talking all alone at the other end.

During the Emperor William's last visit to London Miss Tennant made a wager that she would force him to speak to her, and by a clever maneuver she succeeded in doing so while riding in the Rotten row. So pleased was he with the acquaintance thus formed that he subsequently waltzed several times with her at the state ball in Buckingham Palace.

Her father, Sir Charles Tennant, who owes his baronetcy to Mr. Gladstone, is the head of the great chemical firm which boasts of the loftiest chimney in Scotland. His country house, "The Glen," is exquisitely situated on the banks of the Quari, near Peebles.

Miss Tennant recently gave a ball at her father's house in Grosvenor square. The gathering was remarkably for the number of distinguished men, among others Lord Rosebery and Mr. Gladstone. Mr. Balfour's marked attentions to his charming hostess were the means of reviving the rumors of their engagement which were current about a year ago.

A Distinguished Visitor.
Mr. John Lockwood Kipling, the father of Mr. Rudyard Kipling, is now in America on a visit at his son's new home in Brattleboro, Vt. Both father and son have recently been indulging in housebuilding (the former near Salisbury, England) and the congenial pair found a run through this country together an agreeable change.

Mr. Kipling, Sr., is a courteous and engaging Englishman of the best type, in years slightly past middle life. Those who have met him in this city or upon his travels—and the greatest care has been taken not to reveal his presence and identity to the newspapers—agree that he is of singular grace of manner and charm of conversation. A keen yet appreciative observer, he is well pleased with all that America has shown him of its best.

His life has been mainly spent in the British civil service in India, but he is author of a large and admirable work on India and is modestly proud of his own achievements and of the fame of his gifted son.—Boston Transcript.

Will Pull Together.
The pulled teeth side by side for years—he is Burlington, Vt. at Bristol—greatly Dr. Ella Shinn and Dr. T. C. Henniken put up their forces last week and started for the World's fair together. The news has now come back that Dr. Shinn is no more and that there are two Drs. Henniken.—Bristol Cor. Philadelphia Record.

THE LATEST IN NECKTIES.
Aluminum neckties are not exactly a craze, but they are made. They are frosted or ornamented, naturally are not heavy, and can be easily cleaned. The best use for aluminum in the clothing line is for helmets. The weight is so small compared with what it is intended to supersede that it is expected that a large demand will set in.
