IT WILL NOT BE SMOTHERED.

Speculation as to the Outcome of the Hawaiian Investigation.

SENATOR MORGAN'S HIDDEN PURPOSE.

An Effort to Obtain Information to Prove the Capacity of the Islands for Self-Government—A Sensation Promised by the Administration.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—If President Cleveland and Secretary Gresham have any idea that the Senate Foreign Affairs Committee is disposed yesterday squelched or delayed for any length of time they are very much mistaken. While it is a hard matter to get at the real intentions of Chairman Morgan or Senator Butler, two of the Democratic members of the sub-committee which began the investigation yesterday, it is known to be a fact that Sherman and Frye are making elaborate preparations to uncover all the doings, not only of the Cleveland Administration, but also of the Harrison Administration.

It is still maintained here by intimate friends of both Morgan and Butler that they are by no means disposed to have anything covered up in connection with the Hawaiian policy of either the Cleveland or Harrison Administrations.

WILL NOT BE SMOTHERED.

In connection with the plans of the sub-committee it can be authentically stated that other members of the Foreign Affairs Committee are not disposed to have the Hawaiian investigation smothered, even though enough pressure may be brought to bear upon Morgan and Butler to have it result in a fiasco.

Senator Davis, of Minnesota, one of the leading Republican members of the Senate Foreign Affairs Committee and a man who is very well up in international law, proposes not only to insist that the committee continue the investigation, but is also prepared to ventilate the whole subject in an elaborate speech which he will deliver in the Senate. It is also stated that Sherman and Frye, in addition to Hoar, Aldrich, Cullom, Hawley, and other Republican Senators, will also renew the battle against the Administration when the first opportunity arrives after Congress re-assembles.

It is hinted tonight that the intention of both Morgan and Butler is to conduct a thorough investigation, and if the evidence proves satisfactory they will favor the annexation of the islands. The Administration, however, is still in the ring, and it is preparing to submit some evidence which will, they claim, put a different aspect on the case.

COMMUNICATIONS WITHHELD.

Administration supporters state that Republican members of Congress have made a great hullabaloo over the fact that certain information in connection with the present Administration's dealings with Hawaii has been kept from Congress. One of the important communications touched upon is a report from Minister Willis.

The Administration supporters are insisting that when Willis' report is submitted to the Senate committee it will simply show that he carried out the plan of President Cleveland, simply submitting to Queen Liliuokalani the President's plan of restoring her to the throne provided she granted amnesty to the revolutionists, which, as is already known, was declined by the queen.

The Administration people intend to spring a sensation in another communication which they have withheld from Congress, and which is maintained is a letter from ex-Minister Stevens.

LIBELED AN EX-MINISTER'S WIFE.

In this communication, it is asserted, the ex-Minister did not vouchsafe any important information in respect to the revolution, but entered into personalities and bitterly libeled, as the Administration people claim, the wife of a very prominent Foreign Minister located at Honolulu. It is said that it will be shown that the conduct of this woman in Honolulu was scandalous. This information, according to Administration advocates, was withheld for the simple reason that to make Stevens' charges public would certainly result in international complications with one of the most powerful foreign nations.

If this matter is pressed it is said that this letter of Stevens will be submitted to the Senate committee, and at the same time Administration officials will see to it that the letter is made public though trouble may result from this action.

A HIDDEN OBJECT.

It is also intimated that Morgan's resolution under which the inquiry is being held, was merely a cloak for much more important inquiry than any as to the alleged irregularity of our diplomatic relations with those islands.

There is reason for believing that while presumably the present quest is for information bearing upon the conduct of Stevens and Blount, there is to be an effort at the same time to obtain any information which will, in the first place, prove the capability of the islands for self-government, and in the second, the desirability or otherwise of annexing these islands at some time in the future.

It is understood perfectly by the members of the committee who might have these views that there is no hope of annexing the islands under the present Administration, but those who favor this disposition of the little kingdom do not intend to be swerved from their purpose by the fact that one Administration is opposed to this course.

MORGAN SCRUPULOUSLY CAREFUL.

Senator Morgan has been scrupulously careful about expressing his opinions upon the Hawaiian question, manifesting a disposition to do or say nothing which would appear extra-judicial, but he is known to be a firm believer in the wisdom of attaching the islands to this country as part of it, just as Alaska is at present attached; and the fact that he has very recently introduced a bill in the Senate providing a form of government for any acquired territory lends plausibility to the supposition that he is looking forward to possibilities far beyond anything included in the resolution under which the committee is authorized to conduct its present hearing. These are plausible explanations of the origin of the bill, and without some end like the acquisition of Hawaii in view it is difficult to find any reason for its existence.

TO SMOOTH THINGS OVER.

Those who know Morgan best say he is not the man to attempt to secure legislation that would fit a supposition. It would appear probable that when the committee reports it will, so far as Morgan can direct the character of the report, smooth over the events with which they are concerned. Meantime, Minister Thurston, now in Hawaii, will have been heard from as to the capacity of the present Government for temporarily managing the affairs of the islands, and that information, with the corroborating testimony which the committee will be able to get together in the meantime, may have an important bearing upon the future of the committee's investigations.

THE HAWAIIAN MUDDLE.

It is insisted that the Government of the United States committed a clear breach of international law in landing troops at Honolulu and setting up a Provisional Government under their protection. Grant that the fact is as stated, should the Government now, after the Provisional Government has maintained itself for eight months without the aid of troops, re-land the troops to disperse the Provisional Government and restore the dusky queen? Such a proposition recalls the act of Colonel Gilbert Pierce, the late Minister to Portugal, in picking up in his arms a young lady who stood hesitating at the corner of a street in an Indiana village, unable to cross it because a shower had filled it with a rushing torrent of water. The young lady submitted without protest while the colonel strode gallantly through the torrent until he deposited his fair charge on the opposite sidewalk, with dry feet. "Sir!" she then said, indignantly, "are you aware that you have insulted me?"

"I was not aware of it," replied the colonel, "but seeing that you are right, I beg to make amends." So saying, he picked up the protesting damsel and restored her to the point where he had first made her acquaintance. The young lady was right in both instances. She had the right to be consulted before being carried, and she had to submit to the carrying in order to reach her destination, and she had then the right to resent the insult by protesting that it was such; and the second outrage, in returning her to the status quo ante bellum, was a greater outrage than the first.

The comparison is, of course, defective in one particular. Hawaii has made no protest against the alleged violation of her rights. She is not apparently conscious that she has been wronged. But otherwise the illustration is apposite. Grant that Minister Stevens had no right to land the troops. Grant that President Cleveland and his advisers take good ground in rejecting, on behalf of the United States, all proffers of annexation originating in an alleged breach of international law. There their duty ends. They are under no duty to restore the queen.—Frank Leslie's Weekly.

CELEBRATE THE SEVENTEENTH.

The Annexation Club Discusses the Question Last Evening.

ARRANGEMENT COMMITTEE FORMED.

The Matter of the Appointment of Walter G. Smith to a Seat in the Advisory Council is also Discussed by the Club.

An open meeting of the Annexation Club was held at its rooms last evening. Quite a number of the officers and members were present.

The chairman announced that the principal object of the meeting was to consider the advisability of celebrating the 17th of this month as a holiday.

T. B. Murray said that the American League had resolved to turn out in the evening in a torch-light procession, in conjunction with the Annexation Club.

The matter of the candidacy of Walter G. Smith, editor of the Star, as a member of the Advisory Council, was then brought up.

After considerable discussion of the different sides of the question, a committee of two consisting of Dr. Wood and L. C. Ables, was appointed, to confer in conjunction with a like committee from the American League.

PRENDERGAST INTERRUPTS

The Closing Argument of the Prosecuting Attorney.

CHICAGO, Dec. 23.—The closing arguments for the defense and for the prosecution in the Prendergast trial for the murder of Mayor Harrison were made today.

"I was not animated by malice. I swear before high heaven I was not. You are my murderer if I die." This was the language with which Prendergast interrupted Attorney Trude while making the argument for the prosecution.

The prisoner interrupted Trude on several other occasions. Finally, the Court told him to be quiet and he subsided. It is expected the case will go to the jury by noon tomorrow.

Eight boats from the cruiser Champion held a boat practice drill in the harbor yesterday morning for about 30 minutes.

A Pretty Wedding Solemnized at St. Andrew's Cathedral.

A wedding, no matter at what hour it takes place, always attracts a large audience. There was no exception to this rule yesterday evening at St. Andrew's Cathedral, at 6:30 o'clock, when Mr. W. M. Graham, accountant for the Oahu Railway and Land Company, and Miss Augusta H. Berger, daughter of our well-known bandmaster, were united in marriage by the Rev. Dr. Mackintosh.

A supper and reception were held later at the Booth family residence, Pauoa, which was attended by the immediate relatives and friends of the contracting parties.

OFFICE OF THE BOARD OF HEALTH, HONOLULU, December 18, 1893.

Owing to the existence of Scarlet Fever on the Island of Hawaii, the Board of Health deems it necessary for the information of the public to publish the following:

SCARLET FEVER. Scarlet fever first shows itself with headache, vomiting, sore throat and high fever. Within twelve or twenty-four hours, a fine bright scarlet rash appears on the face and upper part of the body, soon spreading over the whole surface. After the third day it fades. After the eighth day the skin begins to peel in fine scales on the body often in large flakes from the hands and feet. This scaling lasts from four to six weeks. There is danger of spreading from the time of the appearance of the rash until the skin has entirely peeled off. The flakes of dry skin are especially dangerous in spreading the disease.

Any person showing the early signs before mentioned should be immediately reported to the Health Officials.

The elections at Belgrade, Serbia, have been attended at several places

A trade review issued by the Pall Mall Gazette shows that trade has been greatly depressed during the past year in England.

It is said that the recently-appointed receivers and certain members of the Board of Directors, under the leadership of the President of the Northern Pacific Railroad, have robbed that corporation of over $60,000,000.

There seems little doubt of the correctness of the reports that the commands of Captains Wilson and Barrow were cut to pieces by the followers of King Lo Banguela, though no official news to that effect has yet been received.

TAKEN TO COURT.

Scheme of the Duval Club to Test the Law.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Dec. 28.—Those who doubted the sincerity of Corbett and Mitchell in their efforts to pull off the big fight here in January must give way now to the stronger evidence of the facts. The big fighters today voluntarily gave themselves up to the authorities, in order to forestall arrest at a later date and to test the legality of the proposed contest. It was all a pre-arranged plan and was cleverly devised and satisfactorily carried out. It had amusing features, too, for Corbett was not on hand at the appointed hour and Mitchell raged and fumed when he discovered he had to face the Court alone. Champion Jim had all along viewed the possible arrest with feelings akin to horror, but toward the close of the afternoon he came up from his training quarters and took the sheriff's warrant without a murmur.

This, the latest move on the part of the Duval Athletic Club, was entirely unexpected by outsiders. On Monday, January 1st, either Mitchell or Corbett will be surrendered by the bondsmen. After he has been taken into custody a writ of habeas corpus will be applied for. If it is decided the arrest is illegal, then the preparations for the fight will continue with increased vigor, as that will be looked on as evidence that no further opposition to the fight can legally be made. If the arrest is considered legal, the managers say the battle will be declared off and all work stopped. The managers are confident, however, the decision will be favorable to them, and this feeling is shared by a majority of the citizens.

More About Captain Jack Lee.

Captain "Jack" Lee, of the Templar, who was ordered to sea without a deck load, as stated in yesterday's ADVERTISER, has not apparently protested in vain.

Advices from Victoria, B.C. show that the protest made by Captain Lee, against the actions of R. Colleston, the underwriters' surveyor at that place, in ordering him to sea without a deck load, was sustained by a number of well known ship captains. A formal meeting was called by Captain Lee. A protest was drawn up by the meeting, which will be filed with the Board of Underwriters. All the captains mentioned signed it.

CHRIS. EVANS IS A FREE MAN.

The Noted Bandit, With Outside Help, Escapes.

ASSISTED BY A PRETENDED WAITER.

Mrs. Evans in Jail, Accused of Bringing Her Husband a Pistol—Evans Shoots Another Man—Wild Excitement in Fresno.

Chris Evans, the most noted bandit of modern years—the man whom the authorities of California hunted down for months, and who, when caught, was recently sentenced to life imprisonment in the penitentiary—is again a free man, having escaped from the jail at Fresno on the night before he was to be taken to Folsom to serve his long term. He is still at large, and his wife is in jail accused of having brought him the pistol with which he held up his jailer. As usual, Evans shot a man before he disappeared, but not fatally.

A confederate and two pistols got Evans out of the Fresno county jail. The man who suddenly became accomplice to the bandit is Ed Morrell, a restaurant waiter. He dropped his peaceable character after bringing Evans' supper to the jail this afternoon and appeared with a six-shooter pointed at the jailer's head. Another pistol was in Evans' hand and the jailer opened the doors. Just how much the success was due to chance and how much to design cannot be quite told, but unless the conspiracy that resulted in his release was very far-reaching, he has more luck than any man that ever fooled a sheriff.

This afternoon information reached the sheriff's office that an attempt was to be made to rob a train on the Porterville branch, and four picked men were sent to intercept the train and be on hand in case the attempt was made. That got some of Sheriff Scott's men out of the way. Then there was a series of exciting run-aways down town just at the right time that took away loiterers from the vicinity of the jail, and left the field entirely clear for the escape.

Mrs. Evans came here yesterday and went to the jail to visit him. Evans had been locked up in the steel tanks since a previous plan to escape became known, but on her arrival he was taken out of the tanks into the grated corridor used for exercise, and they were left together locked up in the corridor. At 5 o'clock the prisoners were fed and locked up with the exception of Evans, who was left in the corridor. All the deputies had left the jail except Jailer Ben Scott, the sheriff's brother.

At 5:30 Morrell appeared with the supper sent in from the outside for Chris and Mrs. Evans, and was admitted into the grated corridor and locked up in the kitchen. Twenty minutes later he called to Scott with the remnants of the dinner on the tray and asked to be let out. Scott unlocked the door. He turned to let Morrell through and looked into the muzzle of a six-shooter.

"Throw up your hands," said the waiter. Scott thought he was joking until he saw another pistol presented at his head by Evans. Scott then recognized that it was a jailbreak and not a joke he had run into. Mrs. Evans made a pretense of getting between them, but Chris thrust her back into a chair and told her to stay there, which she did. Chris, Morrell and the jailer then went out into the reception room.

They stopped long enough to let him shut and lock the jail door and took Scott by the head and out of the front door. They hurried across the street to the Christian Church, where they met ex-Mayor Cole on the corner. They made Scott come along, Morrell keeping a pistol on him all the time.

The first Mayor Cole knew of anything wrong was when a pistol was jammed against his breast. "Come along, and be quick about it," said Evans, and Cole joined the procession.

They were aiming for a team that was in waiting just east of the Adventist Church. Morrell and Scott had nearly reached the team when they met City Marshal John D. Morgan and W. M. Wyatt coming down town. Morrell again called out: "Throw up your hands!" and the City Marshal supposed it to be some of his intimates residing in the vicinity, threw up his hands with some jocular remark, and was about to lower them, when Morrell said: "Throw them up, you, and keep them up."

Morgan saw the pistol and knew that the supposed footpad was in earnest and now had the drop on him. Morrell ordered both men to turn their backs to him and took away Morgan's pistol. Morgan kept watch of him, looking over his shoulder, awaiting an opportunity to make a fight.

When Morrell turned to search Wyatt, Morgan sprang on him and grappled his arms from behind. Morrell had both pistols in one hand and could not use them, and called to Evans, who was now approaching with Cole, to come to his assistance as they had caught him. Evans ran up to where Morgan was struggling with Morrell and shot him in the back, inflicting a severe flesh wound, the ball entering high up and cutting through the region of the armpit. Scott and Cole took advantage of the opportunity and fled, amid flying shots. Scott ran to the jail and gave the alarm.

The team which was waiting for Evans' escape became frightened at the reports of the pistols and broke loose, running to the northern portion of the town, where the buggy was smashed up.

Finding themselves without a team in which to escape the two fugitives went to the residence of E. C. Cochran and stole a horse and buggy, and rode away to the eastward as fast as they could go.

The news spread like wildfire and posses were immediately organized to go in pursuit of the fleeing bandits. They had not been captured at the time of the last news received. The people are greatly aroused and should the jailbreaker be re-taken he will undoubtedly be lynched.—S. F. Examiner, Dec. 29th.

ANOTHER ONE.

A National Band Boy Takes a Drop Too Much Gin and Water.

A member of the Hawaiian National Band, who had imbibed too much gin and beer during the evening, went down to the O. S. S. Co.'s wharf about 1 o'clock yesterday morning inquiring for some work. He took one misstep and down he went into the bay. A Customs guard near by saw him, and threw him a rope by which the sinking bandsman was rescued. The aged Kanaina had walked off the same wharf two hours previously.

H. N. CASTLE : : : EDITOR
WEDNESDAY, : JANUARY 10, 1894.

The 17th of January is the anniversary of the best and brightest day which has ever dawned on Hawaii. Let it be made a national holiday and celebrated worthily.

We congratulate Minister Damon and the Finance office on the issue of a new edition of a digest of the Hawaiian tariff, and harbor and custom laws and regulations. The first edition appeared ten or twelve years ago, and of course has been for some time out of date. The little book also includes the reciprocity treaty with the United States, and Consular forms, as well as other useful matter. The work of comparison and revision has been done by Jno. A. Hassinger and Thos. C. Thrum.

The Bureau of American Republics, Washington, D. C., has issued a monograph on coffee in America, which contains much valuable information concerning the methods of production and facilities for the successful cultivation of the berry in Mexico, the Central and South American States, and in the West Indies. Coffee culture in Hawaii also comes in for a couple of paragraphs. The pamphlet will be of interest to coffee planters in this country. It holds out encouraging prospects as to the continuance of a good price for several years to come. An interesting fact noted is that the single state of Brazil produces more than half the world's supply. Almost all the coffee sold in the United States as Java and Mocha, is grown in Brazil, and the claim is made for this coffee that its quality is not surpassed by that of any other.

THE CROWN LANDS.

The Provisional Government is anxious to undertake a comprehensive reform of the land system of the country, with a view to opening up the rich tracts of the crown lands to settlement. The subject has received much careful attention, and features of the New Zealand land laws, which are very favorable to the development of a class of small landholders, would probably be adopted. The intention has been to enable bona fide settlers to obtain land in small quantities at a practically nominal rate.

This great and much-needed reform has been postponed by the political agitation of the past month, which has driven everything less pressing out of people's heads. This is only one of many instances of the damaging results which flow from the misguided zeal and unregulated folly of Mrs. Dominis' adherents. While their conduct cannot possibly result in any advantage to themselves or the country, it can and does produce the greatest injury. In this matter as usual the natives stand in their own light and are their own worst enemies. The most disastrous thing which could possibly happen to them would be the realization of their impossible dream, the restoration of Mrs. Dominis. The Hawaiians will be the first beneficiaries of the popular and enlightened land policy of the Government. Every native who has any industry and capacity in him, will have an opportunity to get a holding and home of his own. There is more land than enough, for all who can make an intelligent use of it. Whether the Hawaiians ever get any of it, depends solely on themselves. If they cease to listen to the machinations of interested and unprincipled men of both races, they will acquire a new interest in the soil. If they persist in their present courses all they will get will be the share which usually falls to the blind leaders of the blind—the ditch.

THE O. R. & L. CO.

The report which was presented to the special meeting of the stockholders of the Oahu Railway and Land Company has been published. It contains an exhaustive review of the three years which have elapsed since the road was started, and the showing made, considering the hard times, is both creditable and encouraging. An enterprise like this must in the nature of the case, look largely to the future for its profits. It must create the trade by which it is to live. Population follows the railroad and business follows population.

The accounts rendered in this special report show that the railroad just about pays its running expenses and the interest on its bonds. The rate of interest, as always in Hawaii, is high, so that it is a remarkably good exhibit for an infant industry. The hard times have naturally reacted unfavorably upon the receipts of the railway. The passenger traffic, which yielded about ten thousand dollars for the last quarter of 1891, declined steadily from that time until the month after the revolution, when it began to revive again, reaching $2,790.15 for the month of October, 1893. The depression caused by the McKinley bill is easily traced here, and also the slow revival of business during the year just past.

The statement of assets and liabilities makes these just about balance, taking cost as the basis for the first. But the appreciation in value of the land and other property arising from the application of improvements promising large prospective returns, is so great that the manager estimates that they are equal to the whole face value of the stock issued. If this estimate is reliable, and it seems to be conservative, it is extremely encouraging.

Plans have been made and a contract let for the extension of the road to Waianae, Waialua and Kahuku, a distance of fifty-four miles, and it is believed that such an extension will cause an increase in the earnings more than proportional to the additional outlay. If the bonds are placed, the work will be commenced immediately, and the benefits of it will be felt in a general revival of trade.

Altogether, we rejoice to note that the prospects of the Oahu Railway & Land Co. are very favorable, and that this great enterprise, begun in the face of so much discouragement, and carried to completion in spite of so many obstacles, has a future before it which will crown with success the labor of these many years.

DUMB CONCERNING HAWAII.

Grover and His Men Looking for a Way Out.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—There is an ominous dearth of news in Administration circles touching the Hawaiian matter. The opinion is growing that it is seeking for a pretext, no matter how trifling, with which to avail itself in backing down from its wild scheme of restoring the decayed monarchy to power and that it will drop its advocacy of the queen's cause on the ground that she has failed to agree to the conditions imposed in the instructions to Minister Willis and that she has therefore absolved this Government from further interference in her behalf. Whether or not this will be the way the Administration will act remains, of course, to be seen, but that it will back down, few there are who doubt.

A New Corporation.

A new corporation has recently been formed, to be known as the Maui Railroad and Land Company. The capital stock is $20,000, with the privilege of increasing to $200,000. The principal promoters are W. J. Lowrie, F. L. Stolz, H. H. Laws, and David Petty. The object of the new corporation is, as its name indicates, land operations on the island of Maui, and the building of a railroad in the future.

GRESHAM OUT OF FAVOR.

Cleveland May Ask His Resignation.

WASHINGTON (D. C.), Dec. 28.—The President's ducking trip may have some very important consequences. It is asserted on the authority of a Cabinet officer that the apparently trivial diversion had for its object the breaking to Secretary Gresham of the President's conclusion that his services are no longer needed in the Cabinet.

The President, it is said, feels that he has been subjected to so much adverse criticism on account of his Hawaiian policy that he is in anything but a kindly mood toward the Secretary of State, who shares with him the odium of that program, and has determined to shift from himself as much of it as is now possible by making Gresham the scapegoat, as he has on previous occasions made Carlisle the scapegoat for his financial mistakes.

The plan is said to be to appoint Gresham to the Supreme Court in case the nomination of Hornblower should fall through. If Hornblower succeeds in weathering the dilatory tactics of the Senate, Gresham will be given something else, but it is asserted that he has got to leave the Cabinet in any event.

A VERY WEAK WARSHIP.

Experience of the Resolution in the Bay of Biscay.

LONDON, Dec. 28.—Admiral de Horsey sends to the Times a letter received from an officer on board the British battle-ship Resolution describing the fearful experiences of the ship during a gale in the Bay of Biscay. Even in moderate weather the Resolution rolled forty-five degrees each way. She steamed slowly, keeping her head to the sea, knowing any deviation would down the engines and capsize the ship. The next day the gale moderated and the coal ran short. They dared not turn for fear of going over, but on the afternoon of December 21st the weather allowed an alteration in the course and the vessel was able to make for Queens-town. Every man on board felt thoroughly unsafe. Commenting on the letter, Admiral de Horsey says there is no excuse for the new iron ships being so constructively weak as to become dangerously strained and leaky in one gale. In the Commons today the Secretary to the Admiralty, replying to a question, said the structure of the Resolution was not damaged, and that the cost of repairs would only be $1750.

In order that people may have sharp carving knives and thus appreciate the good meat set before them, we have imported a stock of "Frank Walcot's Knife Sharpener." This contrivance is made of compressed emery and is shaped like a scythe stone, but much smaller in size. It far surpasses the conventional carver's steel for the reason that the action is quicker and the edge more even. This instrument is much harder than steel and will sharpen anything from the blades of the finest scissors to the wits of a dullard. As it will "file a file," it will be found particularly useful among the hands on sugar plantations for sharpening hoes or cane knives. One of Frank Walcot's knife sharpeners will outwear many dozen files. We are sole agents for the article.

The Student Lamp has for years been the favorite among the people who read or write much at night. They are not quite so elaborate as some of our banquet lamps, but for service they fill the bill in every respect. We have recently added to our stock an assortment of these student lamps having the genuine Rochester burner, the burner which won first prize at the Columbian Exposition, and we can guarantee them to be a superior article in every respect. We have three varieties varying in price according to the size of the burner.

CORRESPONDENCE.

Rev. S. E. Bishop Replies to Mr. Davies' Open Letter.

Mr. Editor: Any extended reply to Mr. Davies' "open letter" to me would be quite useless. I am fully satisfied of the correctness of all the positions taken in my article in the Independent; I have no occasion to question his sincerity in what he has seen fit to say about it. To discuss the points at issue further would only add to the heat already engendered, probably without changing any one's opinions. It is not very likely that anything but the logic of events will alter the views of most of us here on either side of the question which distracts Hawaii.

I hope Mr. Davies did not overlook the quotation which I made in my article from his own letter, which I was criticising, saying, Mr. Davies, very creditably to himself, says of them (the missionaries' sons):

"I hope no one will think that I underrate the problems of corruption and perplexity with which the leaders at Honolulu had and have to deal. I am aware that they have on the side of annexation a large portion of the intelligence, energy and integrity of foreigners, and that many of the men whose action I feel bound to criticise so severely have been impelled as they thought by high principles and self-sacrificing motives."

It seems as if this ought to exonerate me from the imputations of motives expressed in Mr. Davies' three paragraphs beginning with "You hope that."

As to the statement imputed by me as made by Mr. Davies at Chicago, I may have been in error about the place. The words themselves were at the time the subject of much remark here, because they appeared to disclose the policy of Mr. Cleveland.

They occur in a press dispatch dated "Chicago, Oct. 1.—Theo. H. Davies, who is at the Auditorium Hotel, said today, * * * The Provisional Government will pass away as soon as President Cleveland sends his message to Congress."

The above is found in the HAWAIIAN GAZETTE of October 24, 1893, and forms part of a whole column filled with statements made by Mr. Davies in New York, Chicago and Vancouver.

Mr. Davies thinks "this movement, largely officered by missionaries' sons, has a force beneath which impels it entirely beyond the officers' control." I believe that the officers in charge would be quite willing to resign their onerous duties to others of the good and brave men who are supporting them, and would do so with the utmost confidence. So far as I know, the missionaries' sons enlisted in the present struggle have no peculiar views to enforce, and are only working heartily with the rank and file of good citizens, who are at the bottom of the movement.

I thought the Independent a good medium for the expression of what I had to say, and am sorry Mr. Davies does not seem to approve of it. It was the best medium available for reaching the American public, not having access like him to the ears of the President and others in authority.

I hope that better days for Hawaii are not remotely distant, when the issues of the present strife shall be looked back upon with a just estimate.

S. E. BISHOP.

THE GILBERT ISLANDS.

Americans Will Be Stopped From Supplying the Natives.

Boston, Dec. 23.—It is said at the office of the American board, in regard to the occupation by the British of the remaining islands of the Gilbert group, that the entire group has been regarded as occupied by Great Britain. It is not believed the British will depose the native king of the Gilbert Islands, for they have hitherto sustained him. He is a respectable and intelligent man, and the situation has been for the good of the islands; he is ruling under British protection. It is said that the occupation of the islands by the British has been distinctly for the benefit of the people, for the government has been wholesome and efficient. The report that under the British a few American traders at the islands will be forced to leave simply means the British will not tolerate the continued sale of guns, liquor and tobacco by these Americans to the natives. That is all the American business there is in the islands, and it is bad for the natives.

BOILING POINTS.

These Are Innumerable and Form a Curious Study.

It is interesting to note that the temperature at which a liquid boils is the same as that at which its vapor is condensed, precisely as the temperature at which water freezes is the same as that at which ice melts.

It may seem superfluous to observe that there are more boiling points than the boiling point of water. If it were not so, all bodies would be in the solid, liquid or gaseous state together, and life would be impossible. It is partly by giving every substance its own boiling point, or rather its own set of boiling points—for the fixed temperature, even for the same substance, is a fallacy—that nature has rendered our physical environment suitable to our needs.

What is generally understood by the boiling point of water is a temperature of 212 degrees on the Fahrenheit thermometer scale, but Alpine climbers know well that, on a high mountain, water boils at a very much lower temperature—on the summit of Mont Blanc at 184 degrees. The reason is that, at these altitudes, the pressure of the atmosphere is very much reduced, since the density of the air decreases with the distance above the earth's surface, and the water expands at a correspondingly lower temperature, passing more readily into the vaporous condition, in which the volume of a given mass of any substance is always far greater than that of the same mass when liquid. The boiling point of liquid is, therefore, seen to depend not only on temperature, but also on pressure, and the boiling point of water at 212 degrees corresponds to what is called "a pressure of one atmosphere," approximately 15 pounds to the square inch, or the pressure capable of supporting the column of mercury in a mercurial barometer at a height of 29.9 inches. This is the average pressure of the atmosphere at the sea level, and if it is reduced the boiling point is lowered, while if it is increased the boiling point is raised.

A very curious result is arrived at if we place a vessel of water in the receiver of an air pump and reduce the pressure to .006 of an atmosphere, for then the water boils at 32 degrees—that is, at its freezing point under ordinary pressure. Since it is now possible to produce an almost perfect vacuum, water may be boiled at still lower temperatures.

All liquids do not boil at the same temperature. Thus, while water under a pressure of one atmosphere boils at 212 degrees, alcohol, which passes more readily into the state of vapor, boils at 172.3 degrees and ether at 93.8 degrees, which is below the normal temperature of the body.

Since increase of pressure retards the vaporization of a liquid, it of course facilitates the liquefaction of a gas by assisting the process of contraction. Consequently many gases are capable of being liquefied by pressure alone, though only when they are below what is called their critical temperature (different for every different gas), above which cold as well as pressure becomes necessary. Oxygen, hydrogen and nitrogen are the most remarkable examples of gases having low critical temperatures, and it is only recently that their liquefaction has been accomplished at all. They were long thought to be "permanent gases," but it is now known that all gases are liquefiable.

The boiling points of oxygen and nitrogen are respectively 375.8 degrees and 356 degrees F. below the freezing point of water, and therefore these are the highest temperatures at which they can exist as liquids. To produce these extremely low temperatures it is necessary to employ great pressure along with freezing mixtures. The most remarkable liquefaction which has yet been accomplished is that of air. It was supposed that, the oxygen and nitrogen having different boiling points, they would liquefy separately. This is not the case; the mixture liquefies as air and presents the appearance of water, but on being again evaporated the nitrogen evaporates first and the oxygen afterward. This is a puzzle in physics which will doubtless be explained ere long.—Good Words.

Love For the Zigzag.

The straight line is an abomination to the Chinese. They endeavor to avoid it in their streets and buildings and have banished it completely where country field paths are concerned. They will always substitute a curve whenever possible, or they will torture it into a zigzag.

In districts not devastated by the Tai Pinga nor subject to the influence of the foreigner, the houses and temples are characterized by curved, often peaked, roofs, ornamented with fantastic modifications of the "myriad stroke pattern." The inhabitants of such regions are soon found to have a mental world to correspond. The straight line is scouted. They think in curves and zigzags. To the Chinese mind the straight line is suggestive of death and demons. It belongs not to the heaven above nor to the earth beneath. In a true horizon line are seen the "undulations of the dragon." Therefore, argue the Chinese, the straight line pertains to hades.—Contemporary Review.

Hops Without Faith.

WOMEN WHO GRACE SOCIAL LIFE AT THE CAPITAL.

Life Partners of New Congressmen—Charming and Accomplished Ladies From All Over the Country—Interesting Personal Sketches—A Variety of Tastes.

[Copyright, 1893, by American Press Association.]

A charming and accomplished young woman is Mrs. Baldwin, wife of Hon. Melvin R. Baldwin, the new member from the Sixth Minnesota district. She was Miss Janette Runkle, born in Wisconsin. She went, when a small child, to McGregor, Ia., where her girlhood days were passed, except those spent at St. Joseph's academy, St. Paul. She was married soon after leaving school and has lived since in Minnesota, with the exception of several winters spent in the south.

She speaks French and German well, has decided dramatic talent, having appeared frequently to great advantage in amateur theatricals, and is a very clever and artistic needlewoman. Mrs. Baldwin is of average height, has a good figure and graceful carriage, curly brown hair, brown eyes and fair complexion. No photograph can do justice to the ever varying expression of the face, which in repose seems sad, but changes the moment she speaks. She has one child, a pretty little boy.

The wife of Hon. Champ Clark of Bowling Green, Mo., is a tall and stately brunette, with a profusion of jet black hair, well defined brows and long black lashes, shading large hazel eyes and a clear, olive complexion. She was Miss Genevieve Bennett, born in Calloway county, Mo. Both parents belonged to good old Kentucky families. Her mother was a Miss McAfee and her father's mother one of three handsome Davis sisters who were captured when very young by a band of Indians, who burned the blockhouse in which the women and children of the neighborhood had taken refuge, the men all being absent, and none escaped alive save these little girls, their mother and an old negro woman. The last two crept away after the Indians had departed with the children, who later on were restored to their parents, to grow up, marry and become the mothers of noted Kentucky men, such as James B. McCreary, ex-Representative Phil B. Thompson and Mr. Bennett, Mrs. Clark's father. Mrs. Clark was carefully educated and is decidedly literary in her tastes. She has one child.

Mrs. James A. D. Richards of New Philadelphia, O., was Miss Nancy D. Wilkins, a native of Cannonsburg, Pa. She has for some years been a successful physician, and one understands why when one meets her, for she seems so level headed, so perfectly healthy in mind and body, so sympathetic and kind hearted. She is of medium height, rather plump, but not really what one might call stout; has iron gray hair, brushed back from a broad forehead, and a very winning smile.

Another agreeable Ohio woman is the wife of Hon. George W. Hulick of the Sixth district. She was Miss Josephine W. Harrison of Cincinnati; is of medium height and slender figure, with dark hair and eyes and pleasing expression. She is very quiet and retiring in disposition, devoted to her family and friends and cares little for general society. She has four sons and one daughter.

Mrs. Julius Goldzier, wife of one of Chicago's four representatives, was Miss Clara Lemien, a native of the beautiful island of Rugen, in the Baltic sea. She came when an infant with her parents to Chicago, which has been her home ever since. She is quiet and retiring in disposition, and devoted to her husband and three handsome children.

The wife of Hon. Dennis Flynn of Oklahoma is a slender, delicate looking little woman, with brown hair and gray eyes. She was Miss Addie M. Blanton, a native of Kansas. Mrs. Flynn, while not strong enough for much social dissipation, is an agreeable addition to the official circle. She has a daughter about 12 years old and a small baby girl.

Mrs. Philip D. McCulloch of Marianna, Ark., was Miss Laura Belle Mills of Millersburg, Ky. Her father was a member of an old Virginia family. Mrs. McCulloch is tall and slight, with a pale refined face, dark hair and blue eyes. She is well educated, artistic in her tastes, and has quite a talent for portrait painting. She has two small, fair haired children, a boy and a girl.

Another slight, delicate looking woman is Mrs. McDearmon, wife of Representative J. C. McDearmon of Trenton, Tenn. She is a native of that state and was before her marriage Miss Rachel Theodora McCulloch. She is tall, has hazel eyes, dark hair sprinkled with gray and a pale but expressive countenance and pleasant manner.

The wife of Judge Thomas M. Paschal of Castroville, Tex., was Miss Florida A. Mayes, born at Memphis and brought up at San Antonio, Tex., to which place her parents removed when she was a small child. She is a trifle below medium height, rather plump and has light brown hair and gray eyes.

That in which she takes the most interest, after her family, is the cultivation of flowers and fruit. "Lake Grove" the rascal home near Castroville, has several acres of ground beautifully laid out and under a fine state of cultivation. There are flowers of all kinds; hundreds of roses; one of the finest collections of cacti in the whole country; the greatest imaginable variety of fruit and other trees, and vegetables of all sorts, all produced under the watchful and loving care of the mistress of this paradise, where she spends most of the year.

Mrs. Joseph C. Hutcheson of Houston was Miss Bettie Palmer, born in the picturesque old town which is still her home. Her father, Judge E. A. Palmer, was a Virginian of good old Revolutionary stock, as was also her mother, whose grandfather, General Geuraut, was prominent in the war for freedom. Mrs. Hutcheson is tall and well rounded; has very light brown hair, blue gray eyes, fair complexion and a pleasant smile which reveals white and regular teeth. She has two pretty little children and three charming stepdaughters.

Another interesting Texas woman is the wife of Hon. George C. Pendleton of Belmont. She was Miss Helen Embree, born in Kentucky, where her ancestors on both sides were early settlers. Her parents removed to Texas when she was 2 years old, and there she grew up, married and has lived most of the time since. She is a tall, slight, rather delicate looking woman, with dark hair and eyes, and very quiet and retiring. She has four daughters and a son.

When a man comes from Salt Lake it is taken for granted that he is a Mormon, and the question is asked, "Where are the rest of his wives?" The new representative from Utah, Judge Joseph L. Rawlins, is not a Mormon, and has only one wife, a black haired and brown eyed little woman, who was Miss Julia A. Davis. She was born in Wales, and came to this country, when a little child, with her parents. Mrs. Rawlins is rather quiet and domestic, devoted to her family. She has three girls and two boys, all under 14 years of age.

Twine Ball Holder. The net which incloses the twine ball is made of coarse crocheting silk of some brilliant tint and is crocheted in an open stitch of shells or loops, so that the contrasting color of the cord within is revealed. The covering is fitted to the ball at the top, while at the bottom No. 1 ribbon is used as a drawing string to gather it into shape, and the end of the cord is left to hang through. By thus having the opening for the admission of the ball at the bottom, a new one may be inserted when the first one gives out. The top is ornamented with a bow of wider ribbon, which is also used to form a loop for suspending the article. A pair of scissors of the smallest size is attached to a piece of the ribbon, the other end of which is secured under the bow at the top.

ISABELLA PROCTOR.

Everybody has laughed at the story of the little girl who asked her mother if she was dusting the piano or playing. A parallel uncertainty might assail the stranger on his first view of the inside of many a house—is the general effect the result of a scheme of ornament, or is it caused by the temporary chaos of house cleaning time? The arrangement of our houses lacks repose. There is too much "noise," as an artist would express it. Howells coined an excellent term to designate the heterogeneous objects which throng our floors, tables and every inch of available space when he called them "gimcrackery," and did the world a service when he set his insinuating influence to work in the direction of their abolition.

It would be worth while for every woman to be for a time as awkward and unadaptable as a man if thereby she could learn his detestation of tidies, ubiquitous ribbon bows, wisps of muslin, inflammable paper inventions, "hand painted" shells and glass panels and similar articles that a glance displaces and a touch destroys. Beautiful bric-a-brac securely placed is a charming adjunct to any room, but there are houses that one cannot enter without feeling and appearing a duplicate of Dickens' Mrs. Pardiggle, whose mere presence upset every inanimate object in her neighborhood. In contrast, the bareness of a convent cell would be refreshing to the eye and nerves. There is a popular fallacy that to collect and construct innumerable cheap and useless trifles—gilded cornucopias, pasteboard banjos and tambourines, bottles with colored paper bands and ribbon neckties, and such like dust traps—implies a domestic taste and is the surest way to "make home pleasant." But it is a curious temperament that finds any place attractive where the slightest unguarded movement is sure to result in the destruction of various brittle treasures and consequent disturbance of harmony, and where pitfalls and mantraps of the most swear producing kind lurk at every step. Why would it not be a good idea to import a few Japanese missionaries to teach us the ethics of artistic and reposeful decoration? The field for their labor is white to harvest, and they would meet with the gratitude of most men and some women.

Robbed of a Watch.

A sailor belonging to the bark Margaret reported at the Station House last night that his gold watch together with $15 in coin had been stolen from his chest in the fore-castle. He suspects a fellow sailor on the same vessel of the theft as he was seen by the cook to go into the fore-castle shortly before the articles were missed.

for the purpose of showing that the CALIGRAPH will stand rough usage. Do you know that most business men who operate a typewriter themselves, prefer the CALIGRAPH to other machines? Why? Because having to use the machine, they buy the typewriter easiest to learn, combined with speed, durability and niceness of work. The CALIGRAPH possesses these qualities. They're the official telegraph typewriter, being selected after exhaustive competitive contest. They're the best typewriter for you. Some CALIGRAPHS in stock. Call and examine.

T. W. Hobron, Agent

How often it has been said by the croakers that there is no business, everything is dead, times are hard, and everything is going to the bad here in Honolulu, but the California Feed Co. are not built that way; we say business is good and getting better every month. And to prove what we say we have had to take larger and more commodious warehouses. We have just completed arrangements with Mr. J. F. Colburn, whereby he gives up his old stand, corner Queen and Nuanu streets. We take possession on November 15th. Our old place at Lele is too small for our fast increasing business, hence the change. We expect the Hawaiian bark Mauna Ala to arrive here again in a few days with her fourth full cargo of hay and grain bought by our Mr. J. N. Wright who will arrive on the bark. We prefer to select our merchandise ourselves rather than have others do it, which means that we get better goods at a less price. We thank our many friends for their liberal patronage for the past three years, and hope by strict attention to a business we thoroughly understand to merit the patronage of as many more. We intend to keep a large, well selected stock of the very best hay and grain to be had in the California market, and we are going to sell it. CALIFORNIA FEED CO. 3536-lv

WHARF AND WAVE.

The Dimond Makes a Quick Run From San Francisco. DIAMOND HEAD, Jan. 9, 10 P.M.—Weather, cloudy; wind, fresh N.E.

The fast-sailing barkentine W. H. Dimond, Captain Nelson, arrived in the harbor last night, just eleven days from San Francisco, with a general cargo. Captain Nelson was warmly congratulated by his many friends here for his smart passage.

The American sealing schooner Mary H. Thomas, Captain W. H. Koon, arrived off port yesterday morning, sixteen days out from San Francisco, and twelve days from head to head. Encountered stormy N. E. winds all the way, but did not sight any vessel. Captain Koon came ashore yesterday to buy $15 worth (five cases) of kerosene oil, and after obtaining that, the schooner cleared off again on her way to the Japan seas. In answer to a question put by an old whaling companion here why he had given up the whaling business, Captain Koon replied that there was more money in the sealing trade, while there is none in the whaling.

The steamer Mikahala will arrive here next Saturday morning, and will leave again for Kauai on the following Monday.

The steamers due this morning are the Waialeale, C. R. Bishop and Jas. Makee.

The steamer W. G. Hall brought yesterday 3070 bags sugar for C. Brewer & Co., 3079 bags sugar for W. G. Irwin & Co., 31 head cattle, 233 bags coffee, 12,000 oranges, etc.

The P. M. S. S. China, Commander Ward, left Hongkong for San Francisco via Yokohama on December 27th.

The bark Forest Queen is supposed to be 14 days out from San Francisco for this port.

The bark Albert, Capt. Griffiths, made a quick run to San Francisco on her last trip; she arrived on the 23d December—13 days from this port.

The sealing steamer Winchester, Captain Johnson, will leave this morning for a sailing cruise.

The steamer James Makee will leave today again for Waialeale and Mokuia, and the Waialeale for Waialeale and Eleele.

The I. I. S. N. Co.'s steamers expect to bring to Honolulu from the other islands 45,000 bags of sugar this week, ending next Sunday.

The brigantine W. G. Irwin finished unloading her cargo yesterday.

The bark Andrew Welch will be ready to leave for the Coast about February 1st.

The barkentine Amelia and Planter are expected to leave tomorrow for San Francisco.

The barkentine Amelia will receive 3079 bags sugar from the W. G. Hall this morning. She also expects some sugar by the C. R. Bishop this morning.
