LATE NEWS FROM ABROAD.

The Troubles in the Spreckels Family is Ended.

WAR AND YELLOW JACK IN BRAZIL.

LATEST FOREIGN NEWS RECEIVED FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT BY SATURDAY'S STEAMER—HAPPENINGS OF THE WORLD UP TO JANUARY THIRTEENTH.

NEW YORK, January 13.—Cuban centrifugal 96 degrees 2 15-16 cents. Granulated 4 1/4 cents.

The San Francisco market is steady and featureless.

A despatch from Philadelphia dated January 3, says: A cut in granulated sugar, placing it nominally at 4 cents per pound but really at 3 7/4 cents to favored rebate dealers, the lowest price on record, has been made by the sugar trust. The object of the reduction is to influence Congress. There are, however, several other causes, such as the general trade depression, which has limited buying. Another element is the increase in the Cuban crop, which for the present season is estimated at 1,006,000 tons, against 840,000 tons last year.

Political.

The relations in President Cleveland's Cabinet are reported to be not very cordial on account of the miserable mess into which the administration has placed itself with reference to Hawaiian affairs. For some reason Attorney-General Olney is to resign and will be succeeded by Postmaster-General Bissell. Josiah Quincy is to be advanced to the position to be vacated by Mr. Bissell. Chief Justice Fuller has announced his desire to retire from the Supreme bench and it is said that Secretary Carlisle will get the honorable position. A successor to Secretary Carlisle in this event has not been mentioned.

The Ways and Means Committee has finally decided to include an income tax in the revenue bill. All incomes of $4000 per year and over, will be taxed. If the tax is honestly enforced, man with an income of $5,000 a year will pay $20; one with $10,000 a year will pay $120; one with $50,000 a year will pay $920; one with $100,000 a year will pay $1,920. The scheme has raised a bitter protest and it is not certain that the section will pass.

Secretary Carlisle has been before Senate Committee on Finance urging the issue of 3 per cent. bonds running three, four, or five years. He stated that the deficit was increasing and now amounted to $10,000,000. No action was taken and it is said the committee do not want to take responsibility of reporting such a bill, as Western Democrats are opposed to the bond measure.

The Brazilian War.

The expected battle between the fleets of President Peixotto and the rebel Mello has not taken place and the latter is again in Rio with his flagship. Peixotto's fleet is waiting for a reinforcement of torpedo boats and upon their arrival will proceed to Rio and engage in a struggle which will undoubtedly be decisive. The President is confident he will be victorious as his navy is stronger than that of the rebels. Mello is also reported to be on his way to Montevideo for treatment of his wound. It is announced that President Peixotto had twelve naval cadets shot for an alleged conspiracy to turn the Government guard ship to Admiral Mello. The young men were arrested in the evening and shot at sunrise. Seven were killed at the first volley and the others had to be shot the second time. Rio's troubles are not single. The horrors of yellow fever have been added to those of war and there is an average of six deaths a day.

The war between Honduras and Nicaragua is on and some lively preliminary fighting has been done. The Nicaraguans are marching on the Honduran capital and a hot battle is soon to ensue. It is not thought that the war will interfere with the Nicaragua canal.

A despatch from Berlin says, that Cossack soldiers attacked a Catholic church at Krosche, Russia, and massacred men, women and children without cause.

The Spreckels Trouble Ended.

The wings of peace hover tenderly over the members of the Spreckels family, among whom there was so lately every promise of a discord which would have been felt across the continent and even in the far distant isles of the sea, which Father Grover is so anxious to restore to the sway of the dusky ex-queen Lilian Kalani. At all events, the suit for an accounting and damages which was instituted on November 22d by C. A. Spreckels against his father and brothers and the Hawaiian Commercial and Sugar Company generally, no longer has a place on the files of the Superior Court.

The settlement was arrived at and carried through very quietly, and all that appears on the records in regard to it is a brief entry made on the register of Judge Slack's court. This stipulation sets forth that in the case of H. M. Woolley et al., Woolley being associated in the litigation with young Spreckels, whose name the "et al." conceals—against the Hawaiian and Commercial and Sugar Company had all been dismissed by mutual consent of all concerned, each party to the litigation paying its own costs. The dismissal was agreed to by Attorneys Wilson & Wilson and Garber, Boat & Bishop, representing the plaintiffs; also by E. R. Taylor and W. S. Goodfellow, attorney for Claus Spreckels; by S. M. Shortridge and Delmas & Shortridge, representing the Hawaiian Commercial and Sugar Company, J. D. Spreckels, A. B. Spreckels, W. D. K. Gibson and M. H. Weed, directors of the corporation, and finally by Chickering, Thomas & Gregory attorney for Philip N. Lillenthal and Meyer Ehrman.

The suit in question, it will be remembered, was instituted by young Spreckels on the plea that he had been unjustly deprived of the share which he should have had in the management of the Hawaiian and Commercial Sugar Company.

by virtue of a quantity of stock which he claimed to own therein, a large portion of which, however, had been, according to his statement, illegally taken out of his control. He, therefore, sued together with his fellow-plaintiff, H. M. Woolley, for an accounting, making his father and brothers and all the other directors of the company defendants, on the theory that they had conspired together to defraud him of his rights in the premises.

Philip N. Lillenthal and Meyer Ehrman were also made defendants, this being done, however, merely to comply with the formal necessities of the case, their connection with the matter being merely that of trustees to whom a quantity of stock was temporarily deeded at the time certain bonds were issued by the company as a means of raising money.

The attorneys in the case positively refused to give the reason for the compromise or the agreement by which the settlement was made. When so many persons hold a secret, however, leaks are sure to occur, and many facts in regard to the case were brought to light. C. A. Spreckels had 990 shares of stock of the Hawaiian Commercial and Sugar Company. By a $5 assessment and other means most of the stock of the company had been wiped out, until about 2500 shares only remained. Of these the 990 shares of C. A. Spreckels and sixty-one shares in other hands formed two-fifths of the whole. C. A. Spreckels failed to pay the $5 assessment on his stock, but it is alleged to have been paid by his brothers.

When Gus Spreckels wanted the stock transferred on the books to his name his brothers refused to comply with his request. Of the 990 shares C. A. Spreckels had but forty in his own name. The name of Claus Spreckels was on 700 and that of Henry L. Dodge on 250, but they were indorsed and owned by C. A. or E. Spreckels. He made another demand to have the stock transferred to his name, offering to reimburse his brothers for the money paid on the assessment. When they refused he commenced suit as above stated.

The suit dragged along for six weeks, until a compromise which is said to be thoroughly satisfactory to all parties concerned was arranged.

By the terms of the compromise C. A. Spreckels will obtain full control of $2,000,000 worth of property belonging to the Hawaiian Commercial and Sugar Company. This company will be immediately reorganized. The officers will be removed from their present location on Market street to 119 Bush street. In a few days a new board of directors will be elected. They will be as follows: Rudolph Spreckels, Mountford Wilson, Russell Wilson, C. A. Wheeler and W. E. Bond. The above names are those given to a commercial agency. Although the name of C. A. Spreckels does not appear he will be the power behind the throne. Thus ended the suit which was expected to occupy the attention of the courts for many months. By the compromise C. A. Spreckels severs himself forever in a business sense from his father and his brothers. He has secured a fortune and an immense business, the success or failure of which will be due to his own exertions, as he has full control of it.

J. D. Spreckels and A. B. Spreckels both absolutely refused to say anything when interviewed on the subject of the compromise.

San Francisco News.

A new smuggling ring has been uncovered and G. N. J. Wichman a prominent candy merchant, Lorris Greenwald, and Fred Miller have been arrested, others have been under surveillance and twenty-nine customs officers are being watched.

School Director C. W. Decker has resigned his office in consequence of the disclosure that he sold himself to A. F. Johns before the last election.

Harry Padie, a man about town was shot and killed recently by Mrs. Jane Shattuck because he refused to marry Miss Estrilia Shattuck, daughter of the murderer, and a chorus girl at the Tivoli. Mrs. Shattuck is believed to be crazy.

The Six Companies have issued a circular to the Chinese advising them to register under the McCleary law. The highbinders, however, have declared against the law.

Subscriptions are being received for the employment of the thousands of idle men in the Park. They are being given employment at $1 per day.

The exhibits are being rapidly installed at the Midwinter Fair. About March 1st everything will be in good shape.

American News.

Another train of the Southern Pacific has been stopped by bandits, about ten miles north of Los Angeles. There were four men and the work was done at a small station. The car was blown open by dynamite and the messenger wounded. It is not known how much they secured but they escaped.

Col. J. H. Hoge of Virginia, who was appointed Consul to Amoy and got too drunk to depart has been dropped from the service.

A suit has been filed in Wisconsin against President Oakes and the directors of the Northern Pacific in which they are charged with looting the road of $60,000,000 and placing it on the verge of bankruptcy. The charges are very explicit.

Jos. H. Lomis, the defaulting bookkeeper of A. J. Sloss & Co., New York, has been arrested. He is charged with having stolen over $200,000.

On January 3 the bank at Franklin Grove, Ill., was robbed of $40,000. The safe crackers got away.

It is stated that there are nearly 6000 male and female clerks in Chicago who are destitute. Since the fair closed they have been thrown out of work and they will have to depend on charity to live through the winter.

A cheap hotel in Buffalo, New York, burned on the night of January 2. There was a great panic and two persons perished. Five were so badly burned that they will die.

Governor Waite, the cranky executive of Colorado, has called an extra session of the Legislature to deal with the business and industrial matters, and proposes that Colorado make its own silver coin in defiance of the Government. The Senate Committee has declared there was no necessity for the call, and the Legislature will probably adjourn without any further action.

A large portion of the manufacturing building at Chicago's Fair was burned on January 9th, and a large number of valuable exhibits destroyed. Those intended for the San Francisco Fair were fortunately not injured.

Near St. Joseph, Mo., five train robbers stopped a Burlington train and looted the express car, but got only $50.

A bold young robber went into the little town of Fowler, Fresno Co., Cal., and stood up nearly the entire population. He finally caroled them in a store, shot the Marshal and escaped.

John L. Sullivan has been knocked out again. This time it was his wife, and she did it with an Indian club.

Lillian Russell, the opera singer, is to wed again. She will become the wife of Signor Perugini, a tenor robust.

A dispatch from Washington states that the Government is satisfied that the Chinese will register, as the Six Companies promise to not oppose the law.

L. L. Kann, president of the Buckley Bank, at Buckley, Washington, and who stole $30,000 from his depositors, has been captured in Baltimore and will doubtless go to prison for a good term.

WOULD GIVE NO NEWS.

The Corwin's Officers and Men Were Mum as Oysters.

The newspaper men of San Francisco were rendered indignant by the secrecy that was maintained by the officers and men of the Corwin on her arrival in San Francisco. The cutter did not enter the harbor at first, but lay off Fort Point long enough to send a boat to shore with despatches, and then sailed in and anchored off Sausalito, whence she afterward proceeded to Mare Island.

A United Press reporter, in a boat, met the cutter off the fort and endeavored to board her, but was repulsed. His inquiries as to how things were going at Honolulu were unanswered. All hands had evidently received strict injunctions as to silence on that point, and no intelligence could be got out of anybody. Only a hint of news at first was given by one of the crew, who said, over the side, to the reporter: "There is a big row down in Honolulu." Afterward, in answer to a question, Capt. Munger yelled back: "The queen had not been put back on the throne when we left, but she may be there now all the same."

After putting an officer with despatches for Washington ashore, the Corwin steamed over to Sausalito. From the appearance of the cutter, she must have been pressed during the run, and the chances are that it is not more than ten days since she left Honolulu. Her starboard coal bunkers were apparently empty, as she had a decided list to port.—S. F. paper.

THE LATEST NEWS FROM MAUI.

Picnic at Makawao in Honor of the Seventeenth.

CHINESE AT SPRECKELSVILLE REVOLT

A Japanese Run Over by the Spreckelsville Train and Instantly Killed—Dr. Beckwith's Arrival—Holiday Party at Haiku.

MAUI, Jan. 20.—Wednesday the 17th inst., the first anniversary of the formation of the Provisional Government, was honored in Makawao by a picnic to the beautiful dell where formerly Makawao marksmen shot many a cartridge at the 200-yard target. That this celebration al fresco was under the direction of Mr. H. P. Baldwin, of Haiku, was a guaranty of a most successful event. People generally gathered from all over the district shortly before noon, and the large assembly was complete just in time to gratify keen appetites whetted by long rides to the picnic rendezvous. The spread was lavish and the menu most pleasing to the hungry palate. It was served on long strips of Hawaiian matting under spreading trees, and the guests, after the manner of country, sat in the delightful social but slightly awkward fashion generally ascribed to the Turkish people. Much gratitude is due to the fair matrons for the juicy turkey and chicken, for the famous potato salads, for the delicious cake, etc., etc.

In the afternoon occurred a croquet tournament under the direction of Miss Mary Alexander and the prize-winners were Misses Chamberlain and Mossman and Messrs. Hay and Lindsay.

In the evening the young folk of the district commemorated the holiday by a party at the Halku residence of Mr. C. H. Dickey.

After some piano music by fair and skillful hands, the event of the occasion had its innings, an auction of valuable (?) paintings of subjects, local, sentimental, historical, and political; $35 in mock money were allotted each guest and with this financial outfit they were to bid and purchase those artistic creations which pleased them best.

The auctioneer in most flowery and glowing language offered fifty-two esthetic (?) representations—an ordinary pack of cards—and without reference to the real figures on the pasteboards, attempted to hypnotize the audience into the belief that they exhibited grandly brilliant or sentimental scenes, anything from "Washington Crossing the Delaware" to "The Parting Kiss."

After great laughter, confusion and noise, the auction came to a hilarious end and prizes were awarded to the fortunate purchasers of certain cards.

Postscript.—If anyone should attempt to reproduce this amusement, don't permit buyers to raise a $10 note to a million; it will disarrange matters slightly.

This party also was intended to serve as an introduction of Miss Annie Alexander, of Oakland, to the youthful society of the district.

THE JANUARY LITERARY.

During last evening, the 19th inst., the January meeting of the Makawao Literary Society occurred at "Glen-side," the beautiful Haiku residence of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight D. Baldwin. The weather was still, cloudy and warm, with the silvery moon peeping faintly through a dark and gloomy sky. A large gathering of the district's people much appreciated the following programme:

1. An instrumental duet, mandolin and piano....J. G. Anderson and C. H. Dickey.
2. Tableaux—"Single Blessedness" and "A Proposition," by A. Hocking and Miss Eva Smith.
3. Recitation.....Miss E. Mossman.
- 4.—"A Talk on Cuba," by H. P. Baldwin.
5. Duet on piano—Misses Chamberlain and Mossman.
6. Tableau....."After the Ball."
7. Vocal solo.....S. N. Bell.
8. Farce....."An Electric Episode"

Apropos of Cuba, Mr. Baldwin related many delightful personal reminiscences of his recent visit, and stated that if he was a young man he would surely migrate there and engage in the production of sugar, for if the Cubans would use the methods now in vogue among Hawaiian planters, their island could supply sugar for the world.

The farce, in the course of which a real electric battery was introduced, provoked much laughter.

A SOCIAL AT WAILUKU.

Last Saturday night, the 13th inst., was the occasion of a teachers' concert and social at the foreign church in Wailuku. The interior was adorned with the foliage of the bamboo and palm, with bunches of flowers and greens beautifying the corners. The stage appeared attractive with its pink lilies and the pretty forms and colors of other plants.

The audience, which consisted of many representatives of Wailuku's "400," were delighted with the programme.

The presence of Mr. and Mrs. Abbott, Messrs. H. S. Townsend, and H. Hayesden, of Lahaina, were noted.

STRAY SCRIBBLINGS.

Dr. and Mrs. Beckwith arrived this week per Claudine, and proceeded to their future permanent residence at "Sunnside," Makawao.

At Wailuku, during last Sunday evening, an elopement and marriage occurred. It is a story of a stern parent, who wished his beautiful daughter to marry a man distasteful to her. Then the true lover steps in and Rev. S. Kapu does the rest. "Love laughs at locksmiths."

During Wednesday afternoon, the 17th inst., as the Spreckelsville train was hauling some laborers from work to their quarters, a Japanese fell under the wheels and found a rapid quietus. His neck was broken, an arm severed, and his face crushed in. Coroner W. H. Daniels of Wailuku assembled a jury the next day at Spreckelsville and the verdict rendered was "carelessness."

During the evening of Thursday, the 18th inst., a posse of Wailuku police raided Camp 5, Spreckelsville, either in search of opium or to stay proceedings known as "bucking the tiger." They were suddenly surrounded by a gang of Celestials armed with hoes who slowly advanced with crest erect and threatening mien. They paid no attention whatever to repeated warnings from the guardians of law and order, till finally the "makaiks" drew their revolvers and warned them again, but to no avail. Then a volley over Chinese heads failed to arouse Chinese fears, and finally the bullets were directed at feet and legs. This scattered the attacking force, without further harm than that one of their number carried around in one of his legs a piece of lead as a souvenir of the occasion.

The officers of the Maui Telephone Co. for the ensuing year are: H. P. Baldwin, President; E. H. Bailey, Vice President; C. H. Dickey, Secretary; E. B. Carley, Treasurer; A. F. Hopke and H. Laws, trustees for two years, and Mrs. F. L. Stoltz, trustee to fill out an unexpired term.

Manager E. B. Carley was granted leave of absence from the 1st of March to 1st of July. He intends to visit his home in the United States.

The Weatherwax has a full cargo of sugar and will depart today.

Weather: Has been fearfully dry, though it is raining now. Snow on Haleakala this morning.

The Wailuku Minstrels give their grand show at the Skating Rink next Saturday night, the 27th inst.

District Court.

SATURDAY, Jan. 20.

Anton Cloys, charged with violating laws of 1886 regarding vagrancy was remanded till January 23.

Five Chinese, charged with vagrancy, were each sentenced to two months' imprisonment at hard labor and to pay costs $1.15.

G. V. Andersen and G. Muir, sailors on board the American bark Margaret, charged with intending to do bodily harm to Capt. Chas. Petersen, the skipper. Muir was remanded until January 22, while Andersen was ordered to file a bond in the sum of $200, conditioned to refrain from doing violence to Petersen during the stay of the bark Margaret in this port, not to exceed two months from date, and to pay costs $5.10.

Hawaiian Talk.

The audience in the North church chapel last evening was highly entertained with a very interesting talk by a son of the Rev. Dr. Hyde, at one time pastor of the Centre church in this city, but for many years a missionary in the Hawaiian Islands. It is a long time since a better missionary talk has been given in this city. And much of praise is to be accorded the young speaker, not out of his teens, for his pleasing remarks.—Haverhill (Mass.) Daily Bulletin.

A Recalcitrant Ex-Sheriff.

When Mr. Deverill was Sheriff on Kauai at the time of the Kalalau affair, there remained in his possession two fine Winchesters, a tent and some belts, etc., belonging to the Government. He did not respond pleasantly to the demand to give them up. Mr. Deverill's head was too big for his hat, but it's smaller now, and he has been compelled to surrender the arms.

The point of the Boutelle resolution, favorably reported by the House Committee on Naval Affairs, is that at the time Blount ordered the American flag hauled down at Honolulu and the marines sent on board the Boston he was not a United States Minister, but merely Mr. Cleveland's personal Commissioner, sent to his post without the sanction or official knowledge of Congress. Hence the question as to the authority on which the naval forces put under Blount's orders strikes directly at the constitutionality of Cleveland's course.—S. F. Bulletin.

The London Globe intimates that some other people beside Americans and Hawaiians will have something to say about the disposition of Hawaii. Mr. Cleveland's blundering is the warrant for this remark, but the American people will countenance neither him nor his British cliques who presume on his folly.—S. F. Bulletin.

THE BUBBLE BURST.

There were no smiles visible on royalist faces Saturday. As the ADVERTISER predicted, the only fitting torchlight procession would have been one with the torch inverted—as a classic symbol of the death of royalist hopes. The news from the Coast shows plainly enough to all who have eyes to see that the restoration of Mrs. Dominis will never be attempted by the United States. The mark of death is on the brow of that hope and royalists can now read the writing on the wall. The illusion is dispelled, the bubble burst.

What makes these facts so clear is not so much that which has happened as that which has not. The adherents of Mrs. Dominis expected to see Congress completing, or at any rate beginning its preparations to make war on Hawaii. They expected to see the contumacy and insolence of the Provisional Government properly punished, and were already gloating in anticipation over the appetizing spectacle of a long row of Provisional heads on the fence posts of the re-christened palace. Instead, they find the Cleveland administration on the defensive, very willing to drop the matter, very glad to be rid of further responsibility. They find the President sending a message to Congress without a recommendation, and Minister Willis instructed to "hold his horses." The disappointment is bitter.

So far as the action of the U. S. Government is concerned, the Hawaiian question may practically be regarded as settled. It is unlikely, though not impossible, that there would be any more startling developments. The House investigation will lag—perhaps be smothered altogether, and in any case neither branch of Congress is likely to do anything of a radical nature, on one side or the other. It is now beyond dispute that the policy of restoration is unpopular with the Senate, the House and the American people, and it will never be revived.

THE BLUNDER OF WILLIS.

About a fortnight ago, the ADVERTISER published an alleged cipher correspondence between Gresham and Willis which was attributed to the office cat. We never accepted this correspondence as altogether genuine, and yet the indications at present are that the office cat was not so much out of the way after all.

The meaning of this correspondence lay in the idea that Mr. Willis should have dropped the negotiation as soon as Mrs. Dominis refused to accede to the conditions. Had he done so he would have rescued the Administration from a sad dilemma, and enabled Mr. Cleveland to withdraw from the transaction with some vestiges of his dignity saved.

Despatches from Washington show that this is really the view of the Administration. The New York Evening Post and New York Herald correspondents practically say so in so many words. Had Mr. Cleveland himself closed the negotiation, he could have turned it over to Congress freely. As it is, Congress takes it from his hands, and the Administration stands humiliated and discredited before the American people and the world.

The President of the United States, however, should be the last person to complain of an error which sprang solely from an unbounded confidence in the President's own merits. If Mr. Willis had not been completely absorbed in the rapt contemplation of Mr.

Cleveland's greatness, snatched, as it were, from earth by an ecstasy of devotion, he would never have made these mistakes. He was wrong only because he was convinced that the President never could be, and out of his impassioned conviction of the infallibility of another, his own fallibility.

Be this as it may, the time has come to let bygones be bygones. The war is over. Now that we know that Mr. Willis has no further power to hurt us, we are very willing to believe that he has no disposition to do so. As Mr. Cleveland, in an intriguing, secret and backhanded way made war upon us, so now, after a certain lame and shuffling manner of his own, he has made peace. We will not be behindhand with the olive branch, and should hasten to declare an amnesty which shall not exclude Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary Willis.

ONE ITEM OF EXPENSE.

That May or May Not Appear in Mr. Blount's Account.

Some light is thrown on Paramount Commissioner Blount's expense by an incident which occurred on his trip to Honolulu on the revenue steamer Rush, in which Mr. Mills of this city was a prominent figure. Mr. Mills at that time was Mr. Blount's private secretary, and as a result of valuable services rendered in that capacity he is now Consul-General at Honolulu. On the voyage to Honolulu on the Rush, according to a San Francisco dispatch to the New York Sun, Secretary Mills was quartered with the officers in the ward room, and on the first night out, after he had recovered from slight seasickness, he asked for champagne. It was furnished, and during the voyage he drank enough to amount to $15. He didn't mention paying for it, and, as it was the property of the officers, they finally selected one of their number to broach the matter. Mills expressed great surprise, and said he fancied it was furnished with stores by the Government. He paid the bill, however. The matter led to some general discussion over the funds out of which Minister Blount's expenses were paid. Mills said President Cleveland had a secret fund at his disposal and that Blount drew on this. Mills said he simply kept an account of all expenses and turned that account in as vouchers for money paid. So the champagne item may be looked for when Mr. Hoar gets the accounts.—Washington Star.

TRUTH STRANGER THAN FICTION.

The Prologue that Preceded Mr. Cleveland's Hawaiian Farce.

MR. EDITOR—Sir: Last spring a soft-eyed Hawaiian princess stopped at the Arlington Hotel in Washington with an elderly Englishman, who was her guardian. She met Mrs. Grover Cleveland by appointment in one of the private parlors of the White House. When the gentle-eyed and dusky-skinned princess left the Executive Mansion she exclaimed: "Mrs. Cleveland is the most beautiful woman in the world. I am completely in love with her." Summary: To a beautiful and sympathetic woman a soft-eyed, dusky princess tells the story of a "Lost Throne." It is sweetly and sympathetically related to an indulgent husband, who pushes the diplomatic button, and the weak Administration of the State Department does the rest. Behold the history of the "Lost Throne."

Washington, December 26.—N. Y. Press.

MR. MOORE'S KINDNESS.

He is Trying to Lessen This Paper's Subscription List.

Mr. Andrew Moore, the manager of the Paauhau plantation, has a grudge against this paper and is presumably a supporter of the ex-queen. Not fancying the work that the ADVERTISER is doing for the annexation cause, Mr. Moore has been amusing himself lately by canvassing his district against the interests of this paper. He has been advising his friends not to subscribe for it, and has made himself generally conspicuous as its enemy. The ADVERTISER will probably be completely floored by Mr. Moore's antagonism.

Spreckels Suits Suspended.

Litigation among the Spreckels family seems to be coming to an end. The San Francisco suit has been settled out of Court, and now it is rumored that the Spreckels-Macfarlane suit is to be suspended. Rudolph Spreckels, who came on the Mariposa, and is one of the directors of the re-organized Hawaiian Commercial Co., will go to Maui on the Claudine to look over the property.

January 22, 1894.

A ranch manager on Hawaii who had seen the Locked Fence, reported to the owners of the property that if he was allowed to build his fence on that principle, he could guarantee an increase of thirty-three and a third per cent. in fat cattle. After the owners had investigated and found out that it could be done, they gave us an order for the wire and necessary stays and washers for building eight miles of the fence. Durability, strength and economy are the points which caused the sale of three miles of the material to a gentleman on Kauai. You will understand that we do not sell the fence made up. We supply the materials; wire, either plain or barbed and either galvanized or black. This wire
we guarantee to be a superior article and do so only after we have passed it through the severest test possible. The stays are made of spring steel, galvanized, and are of a character that will resist anything. The sensation of a bullock when he bumps against this fence is on a par with the man who gets up at night in a dark room and steps on a rubber ball with a whistle in it. The washers are crimped so as to fit over the wire and stay and hold them together so that it is impossible for the wire to sag. The washers are used wherever a stay joins the lateral wire and you will need for every stay as many washers as you have wires. We charge you for stays $6 per hundred and for the washers
$4.20 per thousand.

It is a question of but a very short time when every man owning an acre of pasture land will feel the necessity for economizing in their fence building and the only true economy in that respect lies in the Jones' Locked Fence.

THE INSTRUCTIONS TO WILLIS.

The President's Latest Communication to Congress.

ROYALIST STOCK IS SINKING FAST.

Cleveland Does Not Like to Have His "Request" Disobeyed—Willis Explains the Action of the Corwin Upon Her Arrival.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—The President this morning sent to the House the correspondence asked for on Hawaiian matters, unaccompanied by any special message, aside from the letter of transmittal. The letter is as follows:

To CONGRESS: I transmit herewith copies of all dispatches from our Minister to Hawaii relating in any way to political affairs in Hawaii, except such as have been heretofore transmitted to Congress. I also send copies of the instructions sent January 12, 1893, being the only instructions that have not been sent to Congress.

In my former message to Congress I withheld dispatch No. 3, under date of November 16, 1893, and dispatch No. 70, under date of October 8, 1892. Inasmuch as the contents of dispatch No. 3 are all referred to in a dispatch of more recent date, and inasmuch as there seems to be no longer reason for withholding it, the same is herewith submitted. Dispatch No. 70 is still withheld, for reasons that seem to be justifiable and proper.

GROVER CLEVELAND.

INSTRUCTIONS TO WILLIS.

The last instructions to Willis, and the only ones not heretofore sent to Congress, were dated yesterday. They were sent by telegraph to F. A. Cooper, the dispatch agent at San Francisco, to be forwarded to Willis by the steamer Mariposa today. The dispatch is as follows:

Your numbers 14 to 18, inclusive, show you have rightly comprehended the scope of your instructions, and have, as far as in your power, discharged the onerous task confided in you.

The President sincerely regrets the Provisional Government refuses to acquiesce in the conclusion which his sense of right and duty and a due regard for our national honor constrained him to reach and submit as a measure of justice to the people of the Hawaiian Islands and their deposed sovereign, while it is true the Provisional Government was created to exist only until the islands were annexed to the United States. The queen finally, but reluctantly, surrendered to an armed force of this Government, illegally quartered in Honolulu, and to the representatives of the Provisional Government, which realized its impotence, and, anxious to get control of the queen's means of defense, assured her if she would surrender, her case would be considered by the United States.

The President never claimed that such action constituted him an arbitrator in a technical sense, or authorized him in that capacity between the queen and the Provisional Government. You made no such claims when you acquainted that Government with the President's decision.

The solemn assurance given the queen has been referred to, not as authority for the President to act as arbitrator, but as a fact material to the just determination of the President's duty in the premises.

In a note which the Minister of Foreign Affairs addressed to you on the 23d ultimo, it is stated in effect that even if the Constitutional Government was subverted by action of the American Minister and an invasion by the military force of the United States, the President's authority is so limited to dealing with our own unfaithful officials that he can take no steps looking to the correction of the wrong done.

The President entertains a different view of his responsibility and duty. The subversion of the Hawaiian Government by the abuse of the authority of the United States was in plain violation of international laws, and required the United States to disavow and condemn the act of our offending officials, and, within the limits of his constitutional power, endeavor to restore the lawful authority.

On the 18th ultimo the President sent a special message to Congress communicating copies of Blount's report and the instructions given to him add to you. On the same day, answering the resolution of the House of Representatives, he sent copies of all correspondence since March 4, 1889, on the political affairs and relations of Hawaii, withholding for sufficient reasons only Stevens' No. 70, dated October 8, 1892, and your No. 3 of November 15, 1893.

The President therein announces that the conditions of restoration suggested by him to the queen had not proved acceptable to her, and that since the instructions were sent to you to insist upon those conditions he had not learned that the queen was willing to assent to them. The President thereupon submitted the subject to the more extended powers and the wide discretion of Congress, adding the assurance that he would be gratified to co-operate in any legislative plan which might be provided for the solution of the problem, consistent with American integrity and morality.

Your reports show on further reflection the queen gave her unqualified assent in writing to the conditions suggested, but that the Provisional Government refuses to acquiesce in the President's decision.

The matter now being in the hands of Congress, the President will keep that body fully advised of the situation and will lay before it from time to time the reports received from you, including your No. 3, heretofore withheld, and all instructions sent you.

Meantime, while keeping the department fully informed of the course of events, you will, until further notice, consider your special instructions.

upon this subject to have been fully complied with.
"Signed," GRESHAM."

THE CORWIN'S ACTION EXPLAINED.
The last dispatch from Minister Willis inclosing President Dole's reply to his demand for the retirement of the Provisional Government is as follows, under date of December 23d: "President Dole has just delivered in person at this hour, midnight, the answer of the Provisional Government declining, for the reasons therein stated, to accept the decision of the President of the United States, a copy of which is herewith inclosed.

"The revenue cutter Corwin, under sailing orders, will leave in a few minutes for San Francisco. The captain has been instructed to slow up if necessary and enter the harbor of San Francisco at night and deliver in person Dispatches 14, 15, 16, 17, 18 and 19 to our dispatch agent at that place. The object of this is to enable the President to receive these official communications before any intimation of their character can be telegraphed.

"I will Tuesday acknowledge the receipt of the answer of the Provisional Government, notifying it that the President of the United States will be informed thereof and that no further steps would be taken by me until I hear from him.

"I shall deliver a similar communication to the queen.

"Very great excitement is prevailing here, and the peculiar conditions surrounding this people prompt the above course, which I trust will meet the approbation of the President and Mills.

"I think it proper to acknowledge in this public way the efficient services rendered the Government of the United States by our Consul General, Mills, since my arrival at this place." ALBERT S. WILLIS."

A GOLDEN SHOWER.

The Discoverer of the Big Horn Mine Leaves a Fortune to a Shoemaker.

Patrick Ryan of this town, a shoemaker, single, 30 years of age, has received notice of the death of his brother in Chicago. By his death he is the only heir.

It was early in 1849 that James Ryan, then a young man, left Milford in company with Richard Quinlan and with hundreds of others went to the golden gate to seek their fortune in the gold-fields of California.

They remained there for several years, but the mine they worked in, although rich in ore, was far from healthy and was particularly bad for the eyes, so much so that young Ryan's eyes were affected and he was forced to come east to have them attended to, for he was almost blind.

Young Ryan recovered his sight after a few years, but the east was rather tame for him, and again he went west. His second trip was to Colorado. The silver fever had just broken out, and Leadville was not known. Denver was a town of few houses when James Ryan arrived there with a companion. They were not long prospecting before they struck a mine that proved a great find. They sold it for $20,000. This was the first big money that Ryan ever made, although it was but a small amount as compared with what he afterward made in the mining world.

He remained but a short time in Denver, when, in company with his partner, they went to Utah, where they prospected for nearly a year, but were only successful in getting small finds. They were all about to bid Utah goodby when they struck traces of silver, the ore proving the finest they ever met with.

The seam was followed and proved better than they ever dreamed they would see. This was no other than the Big Horn silver mine that they sold for $1,000,000.

The money was equally divided between the partners. The money market always had a charm for Ryan, and he lost a great deal among the bulls and bears in Chicago. More than once he was tightly squeezed by old man Hutchinson, who was in his prime in those days.

But the hidden treasure beyond the Rockies had charms also for him that he could not overcome, and after losing what to many a man would be called a good sized fortune he returned to his old love of adventure and prospecting.

Again he proved successful and became the owner of several mines that brought him immense wealth.

Mr. Ryan does not know the exact amount of his brother's wealth, nor will he for a few days to come. Mr. Percy Shee of Denver is to have charge of settling up the estate.—Milford Cor. Boston Globe.

The Reward of a Bridge Builder.

It has frequently been observed that public benefactors often have no other reward than the consciousness of their good deeds. The inhabitants of the little town of Loschwitz, near Dresden, are determined that no reproach shall be leveled against them in a matter of this kind. Their burgomaster is a worthy man who has ruled over them with signal ability, and who, in particular, has succeeded, during his tenure of office, in constructing a bridge over the Elbe at a place where several previous attempts to do so had failed.

The communal council have assembled in solemn deliberation to consider what reward to offer to their distinguished fellow citizen, and the upshot is that he has been officially informed that, in recognition of his services, he will be permitted to cross the bridge as often as he likes without paying the halfpenny toll.—London Daily News.

Ancient and Modern New Year Dates. The Jewish year, beginning upon the 25th of March, was the legal New Year in England as late as 1752, when the legal and social New Years were made to coincide by an act of parliament. Before that time the date was generally written 1648-49, meaning that popularly it was 1649—legally, 1648. The change was made in Scotland in 1604, in France in 1564 and in Russia, Holland and Protestant Germany in 1700. It is customary, while it cannot be said to be universal, to watch the old year out and the new in, and at midnight the church bells are rung in many places.

Meantime, while keeping the department fully informed of the course of events, you will, until further notice, consider your special instructions.

DREAMING.

The cooling fingers of the twilight lay
A balm upon the fevered ebb of day,
And, tutor'd by dream winged spirits in their flight
Between the half uncertain hours of dark and
light,
I dream of thee.

Trilled through the silvery sphere of fading day.
A late bird homeward wings its wearied way;
And, through the wide tranquillity of upper sea
Attunes his vesper note of faroff minstrelsy
To songs of thee.

Far from the west the sentinel of light
Sets the tall altars of approaching night Adorn, and paints the ambient skies with mystic gold.
Whose liquid light reflects the happiness of old
Of me with thee.

The sky, the air, the sea, the earth, its flowers,
Lie steeped in magic of the moonlit showers.
And I! Far out beyond the waves, where sky meets sea.
From star to star across the night's tranquillity,
I come to thee.

The evening winds, distilled from fragrant flowers,
Pour out their incense on the dew wrapt hours,
And on the still, sweet harmony of sky and sea
I stray a little space into infinity
To dwell with thee.

Thus when the fingers of the twilight gray
Pour balm upon the ebbing tides of day,
I languor lulled by dream winged spirits in
their flight
Between the half uncertain hours of dark and
light,
Can live with thee.

—Amy Seville Wolff.

Kilgore's Objections.

A single phrase has made Colonel Kilgore a national character. Very early in his congressional career he began to say, "I object." He has kept this up at every session of congress with serene consistency. A small man, a nervous man or a bad tempered man could never have made a success of such a policy. He would have been run over in some way. But Colonel Kilgore's "I object," uttered with dignity and with deliberation and backed by such an impressive personality, has won its way. It has stopped hundreds of little bills; it has sent many a disappointed member to the cloakroom fuming and swearing. And yet the big man, who is always good humored and who smiles on slight provocation, is a popular member of congress. There is everything in the way that "I object" is said. The tone can carry malice or anger or honest opposition. Colonel Kilgore says "I object" with such utter disregard of personal considerations and with such unfailing regularity that he has disarmed the resentment which usually falls upon objectors.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Smelling Out Bank Bills.

If a bill must be sent in a letter, the safest plan is to roll it tightly into the shape of a lamplighter and lay it in the fold of the sheet inclosed. Arranged in that fashion, the fact that it is money cannot well be distinguished by the "feel." A thread, with knot at the end, will not be so likely to fetch a tell-tale fragment of the fiber paper when drawn by means of a needle through the envelope, and the smell of it will be less perceptible. So peculiar is the effluvium belonging to bank or treasury notes that experts at the bureau of engraving say that they can distinguish them when sealed in envelopes by the nose every time. A thief once showed to government detectives who had caught him that he could pick out, while blindfolded, from a pile of 400 letters every one of seven which contained paper cash merely by scent.—Washington Star.

Tollomache's Consideration.

Of the late Lord Tollomache's consideration for others an amusing instance has been related by his brother. One day, at Peckforton, he came down earlier than was his wont and happened to look into the drawing room. He found the room "not done" and littered with brushes and dusters. Extremely displeased he rang the bell impetuously, and the inculped housemaid was summoned, but when she appeared, instead of administering the intended rebuke, he apologized to her for coming into the room so early, and was so full of excuses for his untimely visit that she said at last, "Pray, don't mention it, my lord."—London Tit-Bits.

Malta Drinking Water.

"The best water I ever drank," writes a correspondent, "was at Malta, where it is collected on the flat roofs, which are most carefully cleaned preparatory to the heavy fall of rain which takes place when the weather breaks the first or second week in September. Every house has below it an immense tank, often of the same area as the house, and about 12 feet deep, and into this pours the beautiful fresh water, which comes up cool and sparkling when wanted."

Scared Enough to Die.

"See here," said the man who had married a widow, "hasn't your hair turned gray rather suddenly since we were wed?"

"Oh," said she, "that's from fright. I was so scared when you proposed to me, don't you know?"—Indianapolis Journal.

The strongest animals in the world are those that live on a vegetable diet, say the vegetarians. The lion is ferocious rather than strong. The bull, horse, reindeer, elephant and antelope, all conspicuous for strength and endurance, choose a vegetable diet.

When you speak of bees, designate the kind referred to. There are 4,500 species popularly known as "wild bees," 3,200 being natives of the Americas. Britain has 70 species of bees and 16 of wasps. Of the latter there are 170 species known to entomologists.

In the Vatican library there is a treatise on dragons, a manuscript in a single roll 300 feet long and a foot wide, the material of which is said to be the "tanned gut of a great dragon."

A woman wearing stays as loosely as is possible for such articles to be worn exerts a pressure of 40 pounds on the organs which they compress. Such figures in cold print are startling.

FLOWER SUPERSTITIONS.

Maidens' Barometers For Divining the Depths of Their Sweethearts' Love.
It is singular to see how many meaningless ceremonies are now practiced by young women—ceremonies which were formerly used in earnest as love charms or incantations. Most of these have an amatory origin, and in connection with not a few certain flowers are used, presumably as means of foretelling the future. In several parts of New England when a young lady expects a visit from her lover she will pluck a marigold, take it in her hand when he arrives and carry it until the end of his visit, when from its fresh or faded condition she will judge of his strength of his affection.

A German girl, after having been called on by her lover, will put a star flower or dandelion in water and leave it there until his next visit, drawing an omen from its condition, while a Spanish maiden will take a moss rosebud, wear it on her breast, and if it expands to become a perfect flower the omen is considered exceedingly fortunate. A superstition of the same kind is shown by the East Indian maiden who places a poppy in her hair. In England the primrose is used for the same purpose, and in country districts of New England the spikes of the ribwort plantain are taken, wrapped in dock leaves, placed beneath a stone, and if the next day signs of new buds appear the omen is considered happy.

In France young ladies desirous of ascertaining the extent of a lover's affection take the common daisy and pull off its leaves one by one, with the question, "Does he love me? Does he love me little? Does he love me much? Does he love me with all his soul?" Marguerite in "Faust" uses the common blue bottle with similar questions. In England the ash leaf is sometimes employed to ascertain the faithfulness of an absent lover, and the Irish maiden learns of her future by putting shamrock in her shoe, after which she walks abroad, and the first man she meets or one of his name will be her husband.—New York Advertiser.

Some New York Breakfasts.

Nearly every German bakery on Third avenue serves breakfast and luncheon to the furnished room population of the east side. Some serve eggs and cold meats, coffee, tea and chocolate. The majority, however, provide only coffee, tea, rolls and cakes. Nine out of ten of the customers take coffee and cake. The latter is not the French or American kind. It consists of four varieties dear to the German palate—apple, peach, prune and sugar. The last is also called cinnamon. It is made of bread dough on the upper surface of which is spread some butter, sugar and cinnamon. Then it is baked hard.

The peach and apple cakes are made of thinly rolled bread dough, surmounted by slices of apples or peaches, as the case may be. When a little butter and sugar have been placed between the slices, the baker has approached as near perfection as possible. The dough of the prune cake is made like the other and covered thickly with mashed stewed prunes.

In the best bakeries a slice of any of these cakes from four to five inches square is sold for 5 cents. A good cup of coffee or tea with milk and sugar costs the same. Those who like light and sweet breakfasts can thus be satisfied for 10 cents. Probably 5,000 east siders eat such breakfasts in the bakeries every morning.—New York Sun.

The Origin of Starching.

The course of history carries us back no further than the year 1564 for the origin of starching in London. It was in that year that Mistress Van der Plasse came with her husband from Flanders to the English metropolis "for their greater safety," and there professed herself a starcher. The best housewives of the time were not long in discovering the excellent whiteness of the "Dutch linen," as it was called, and Mistress Plasse soon had plenty of good paying clients. Some of these began to send her ruffs of lawn to starch, which she did so extremely well that it became a saying that if any one sent her a ruff made of a spider's web she would be able to starch it. So greatly did her reputation grow that fashionable dames went to her to learn the art and mystery of starching, for which they gladly paid a premium of £2 or £3, and for the secret of seethng starch they paid gladly a farther sum of 20 shillings.—New York World.

A Hair Splitting Bishop.

It is recorded of a certain hair splitting English bishop, who was accustomed to compose his "charges" in the train, and whose desk was always placed opposite to him, that he invariably treated it as though it were a living vis-a-vis. The train being very full on one occasion, a would-be passenger inquired if this place was taken, and the bishop, with his sunniest smile, expressed regret that there was no room.

"I don't think that was quite right, my lord," said one of his fellow passengers. "What was not right?" inquired his lordship urbanely. "To say that the place was taken."

"Pardon me, I did not say that it was taken: I was particularly careful to use the word 'occupied.'"—San Francisco Argonaut.

He Was a Senator.

Senator Allen of Nebraska is a big, burly man who looks like a prosperous dealer in live stock. Shortly after his arrival in Washington he was stopped at the door of the senate chamber by a new doorman, who informed him that no one save senators was allowed on the door. Mr. Allen smiled sadly, waved his hand and said: "Very well, sonny, I'm a senator. I don't look it, I know, but I am, just the same," and passed into the sacred precincts.—Chicago Herald.

Her Preference.

"How is it your little baby sister goes to sleep as soon as your father takes her?"

Little Four-year-old—I spec'it's 'cause she'd rather do that than stay awake and hear him sing.—Beau Monde.
