MAY BE A POISONING CASE.

Members of Company "E" Are Suddenly Taken Ill.

THE FACTS POINT TOWARD CRIME.

About Thirty Men Become Sick Shortly After Their Dinner, and Have All the Symptoms of Mineral Poisoning—They Recover During the Night.

For the second time in the history of the Provisional Government, what looks like a case of attempted wholesale poisoning has occurred. Last evening a number of the members of Company E were seized, soon after their dinner, with symptoms of mineral poisoning, and, although no serious damage was done, they suffered severely for some time.

As soon as the men began to show that they were ill Dr. Cooper, the regimental surgeon, was sent for. He found fifteen officers and men of Company E, which is stationed in the basement of the Executive Building, suffering from severe cramps and nausea. He at once gave them emetics and stimulants and soon brought them around. The men who were first taken sick were Lieut. Coyne, Sergeant Moore, Corporal McDonald, and private: Gillis, Fisher, Thomas, Lubeck, Williams, Govea (2), Hamblly, Fuller, Murphy, Slattery and Madeira, all of Company E. A number of others complained later of a slight touch of the same illness. Altogether about thirty were attacked by the symptoms of mineral poisoning.

Dr. Cooper could not state positively that the men were poisoned, although he said that it looked very much that way. Samples of all the food that the men had for their dinner were saved, and a chemical analysis of them will be made.

"I am not, of course, sure that this is a case of attempted poisoning, but the fact of so many men being taken ill at the same time certainly looks suspicious. Soon after dinner eight or ten men were taken with severe cramps in the stomach, and retching. The majority of them are all right now, however."

A serious phase of the case is that, although all the men ate together, all did not suffer the same consequences. Men who sat next to each other and partook of the same food, would be differently affected, one having all the appearance of having been poisoned, and the other being entirely free from any illness. This was especially so at the officers' table, where Lieutenant Coyne was the only one attacked.

Dr. Cooper, who attended the men, said that it was possible that they had not been poisoned, but he evidently thought it was more probable that they had.

"The cases look very much like mineral poisoning," said Dr. Cooper, "the symptoms, cramps in the abdomen, headache, nausea, and severe vomiting, all pointing that way."

Captain Good was seen last evening, and said:

The men had for dinner roast beef, poached eggs, macaroni and cheese, and mashed potatoes. If the meat had not been fresh, the cause of the trouble might have been found there, but it was conclusively proven that this was not the case. The only thing that could have hurt the men was the cheese that was used with the macaroni. This Dr. Cooper said, if put on cold might have had a similar effect, though it is hardly probable. It is most likely that someone has tried to poison the men, and failed in the dastardly deed.

None of the men of Company F were taken ill, although one or two complained of a slight feeling of nausea. They had about the same food, and it is probable, had there been no poison they would all have been affected similarly.

Later in the evening a report from the headquarters was to the effect that several more men had been taken with the same symptoms, and every few minutes a new case would be reported. Lieutenant Coyne, who was able to be up, although still weak, said that Dr. Cooper thought it was poison that caused the trouble, although he could not be sure.

It will be remembered that a similar case took place April 11th last, although in the present instance the men were attacked with the symptom of poison sooner after their meal, than they were then. At that time, it was supposed by some that the men were poisoned by canned goods that had been served, but in this present case, there were no canned goods whatever on the tables. The symptoms in each case were exactly the same, cramps, retching and severe vomiting marking each. About the same number of men were sick, though there were severer cases in April than occurred last night.

One solution of the fact that all the men did not suffer in the same way, was given by one of the officers last evening. It was that, if poison had been used, it might have been in the form of a powder sprinkled over the top of each dish. In this case, of course, only part of the men would partake of the tainted food.

A strict investigation of last night's events will be made, and if there be a guilty party and he is found it will go hard with him.

At the latest accounts last night, all the men were doing well, though several were still suffering. All were considered entirely out of danger.

WITH A BLAZE OF GLORY.

The Midwinter Fair is Opened With Great Success.

On January 27th the California International Midwinter Fair was opened with great success. The weather was perfect, the military parade, the finest ever seen west of Chicago and the elaborate programme was carried out without a hitch. The attendance was large. The admissions through the turnstiles aggregating 72,248, not counting the thousands in the parade or the large number of workmen and attendants on the various buildings. It is estimated that there were 80,000 people on the grounds.

The exercises were very appropriate. Mrs. M. H. DeYoung touching the electric button which started the great machinery of the fair. Foreign exhibitors were surprised to see such a turnout, in view of the fact that the show will not be completed for another month. It is certainly a great exposition considering how it was created, and will rank with the notable international fairs that have been held elsewhere. The attendance is holding up well and there is little doubt the exposition will be a financial success. It will at the same time be of great benefit to San Francisco and the State generally. The S. F. Examiner has offered a magnificent $5000 gold cup and two silver ones for the county exhibit which shall be voted the most popular and best. The clergy of the city have begun to protest that the fair shall be closed on Sundays.

Congressional News

President Cleveland has nominated W. H. Peckham of New York for the supreme bench in place of Hornblower, rejected. Peckham is an anti-Hill man and it remains to be seen if Hill is strong enough to defeat the President's will again.

The debate on the tariff bill is nearly at an end and it will probably be passed in a few days in the House. No more amendments can be adopted and the debate will now be on the income tax. Some of the Eastern Democrats led by Burke Cockran made a hot fight against the measure but accomplished nothing and have been whipped into line. The law which is intended to kill the California wine industry in which $60,000,000 are invested will pass the House, and be left for the Senate to do as it pleases with. It is now believed that the bill will pass the Senate by May 1st, but what shape it will be in after that body gets through with it no one can prophesy. As it now stands, it is a patch-work of the McKinley bill and not what was promised by the Democratic platform and Cleveland. The November elections will reveal what the people think of it. The income tax is popular only among those who are not affected by it, or in other words those who have very small incomes.

A good performance at the Y. M. C. A. is looked for on Saturday evening, when Mr. Nestor Edison will appear with his phonograph.

THE SEVENTEENTH AT YALE.

Hawaiian Collegiates Celebrate Their Country's Big Holiday.

A HULA WRITTEN FOR THE OCCASION.

Patriotic Toasts Responded to—Pol and Squid Form a Feature of the Banquet—The List of Those Present—What the Menu Was.

The 17th of January, 1893, is undoubtedly the most memorable day in all Hawaiian history. The first anniversary of this date was the occasion of a banquet given at Heublein's, of New Haven, by the Yale-Hawaiian Club to all their brother Collegians from Hawaii.

The following toasts were responded to:

- President Dole...Hon. Francis Wayland "Every inch a man." Hawaii at Harvard...E. A. Knudsen, '94 "Absence makes the heart grow fonder." Isle of Beauty, "Reminiscences of Hawaii..."

In addition to the gentlemen above mentioned the following were present: A. S. Knudsen, Harvard, '96; A. M. Atherton, Wesleyan, '97; J. R. Judd, Yale, '97; G. S. Waterhouse, Princeton, '97; W. G. Cooke, Yale, '97; C. M. Cooke, Jr., Yale, '97; and W. D. Baldwin, Yale, '97.

Between the toasts "Aloha Oe," "Ahi Wela," and other Hawaiian songs were sung to the accompaniment of two taro-patches and a guitar. Just before the toast on the "Cleveland Administration" the following hula, which had been especially composed for the occasion, was sung.

"Kaulana mai nei, O, Mr. Cleveland, Anti-Annexation no iaia. Ua olelo Cleveland i Mr. Willis, "E hele ana oe e Honolulu.

Aia hiki ana oe malaila E kikapu oe i ka P. G. A komo oe Liliuokalani Maluna o kona throne!"

Ua hai mai Presidena Dole, "E noho oe malie?" Piliikia loa no Alapaki Willis, E HOKA no o Mr. Cleveland.

The menu cards were printed in blue on white and were prettily tied with a bit of Yale blue. On the first page our national motto, "Ua mau ka ea o ka aina i ka pono" was printed and the last page bore a verse of "Hawaii Pono!"

- MENU. Poi a me Hee Maloo. Oysters, Half Shell. Celery, Olives, Caviar on Toast, Cream of Asparagus, Red Snapper, Hollandaise Sauce, Pommes Hollandaise, Pattie of Sweetbreads, Larded Tenderloin, Mushrooms, Lobster au Marashino, Canvasback Duck, Currant Jelly, Lettuce Salad, Neopolitan Cream, Roquefort Cheese, Toasted Crackers, Cakes, Coffee, Fruit.

The poi and dried squid was a feature of the dinner and was enjoyed by all.

The gathering was a unit on all political questions and every jest and thrust at prominent politicians was warmly applauded. The Provisional Government of Hawaii was enthusiastically toasted several times and all present pledged themselves anew to its support.

We all enjoyed the evening so much that when we parted in the "wee hours of the morning," it was with the determination to make the celebration of the 17th of January an annual event, for it is fitting that such an important date in the annals of a nation should ever be appropriately remembered.

ELI YALE. Daily Advertiser, 50 cents per month, delivered by carrier.

COURT NOTES.

Second day of the February term. Two cases were tried yesterday, and in both of which verdicts of acquittal were recorded.

Kahele, for selling liquor without license, and J. Namaielua, for participating in a lottery game, were the successful defendants let off. J. K. Kaulia was attorney for the former and J. L. Kaulukou appeared for the latter.

Demurrer was argued in the libel case against J. M. Vivas and J. M. Teixeira. Neumann for the prosecution, W. A. Kinney for defendants.

John Leoiki withdrew his appeal from Honolulu District Court for assault and battery and paid his fine of $10 and costs of court.

W. Kaheluakahi, for burglary, who was arraigned before the Court on an indictment, stated that he was too drunk at the time of committing the offense, and was therefore unable to say what his plea ought to be. The Court ordered the entry of a plea of not guilty.

Judge Cooper has filed his decision in the equity case of E. A. Jones, assignee in bankruptcy of G. K. Norton, vs. Eliza K. Norton, the wife of the bankrupt. The bankrupt before marriage had given defendant a deed of the homestead property situate in Honolulu, and the assignee, on behalf of the creditors, sought to have the deed set aside for want of consideration, fraud and other allegations usual in such cases. Judge Cooper finds that the allegations of plaintiff's bill have not been sustained by the evidence and so orders the bill dismissed. W. R. Castle for plaintiff, J. A. Magoon for defendant.

Outdoor Phonograph.

Mr. Stoeckle, of the Phonograph Parlors, will introduce a novelty at his rooms this morning. One of his instruments will be placed near the door, with a magnifying funnel attached. This will be kept running all the time, and as it can be heard almost a block, even out of doors, it will attract a great deal of attention. The selection that he will use today will be a cornet solo played by the famous Levy.

The Hawaiians need have no fear of the "Sugar Trust Lobby" at Washington this winter. Every reputable newspaper in the land is lobbying for the cause of the Provisionals, and each one of them is backed by its constituency of readers, the aggregate making something like sixty millions. It is a force that Congress dare not stand out against, and before which the column of even Grover's stubbornness has become exceedingly gelatinous.—Oakland Tribune.

National Cane Shredder

PATENTED UNDER THE LAWS OF THE HAWAIIAN ISLANDS.

The attention of Planters and Agents is called to the following letter from Mr. JOHN A. SCOTT, Manager of the Hilo Sugar Co., regarding the working of the National Cane Shredder, which he has just introduced into the Mill of that Company:

WAINAKU, HILO, HAWAII, January 22d, 1894.

HON. WM. G. IRWIN, HONOLULU, H. I. DEAR SIR:—In reply to yours of the 16th inst. regarding the National Cane Shredder furnished by the Universal Mill Co. of New York, and erected by the Hilo Sugar Co. this past season,

I would beg to say, that it has now been in operation day and night during the past three weeks working on plant cane, and also hard ratoons, and it is giving me the greatest satisfaction. The more I see of its capabilities, the better pleased I am that I put it in, as I am satisfied that it will repay the original outlay in a short time, in saving of labor, higher extraction, etc.

It is shredding from 350 to 400 tons of cane every 22 hours with the greatest ease, and it could shred a much larger quantity if necessary. It delivers the shredded cane in an even uniform feed to the three roller mill, which receives it without the intervention of any labor, and as the cane is thoroughly shredded or disintegrated it relieves the mill of a great deal of strain, thus reducing the liability of broken shafts, gearing, etc. There is a saving of four (4) men daily on the mill, as only one man is required to regulate the amount of cane delivered by the carrier to the shredder. It has increased the extraction from 4 to 5 per cent.

The economical use of steam is generally a serious consideration in adding new machinery, as in most mills the boiler power is taxed to its highest limit, as it was in this mill, and any increased demand necessitated an additional boiler. But I find that the shredder and the three roll mill engines combined use no more steam than the three roll mill engine did when working on whole cane, while doing better work and more of it, and owing to the uniform feed on the mill, the engine demands very little attention.

The Messrs from the shredded cane makes superior fuel, and the firemen have less difficulty in maintaining a uniform pressure of steam than formerly.

I will be pleased to have a call from parties interested, as it is necessary to see the machine at work to fully appreciate its capabilities.

I remain, very truly yours, (Sig.) JOHN A. SCOTT, Manager Hilo Sugar Co.

Plans for erection of these shredders may be seen at the office of the Agents, where prices and other particulars may also be obtained.

RETIRING ADMIRALS.

There Will Be a Number of Important Naval Changes.

A number of very important changes in the navy will occur during the early spring, consequent upon the retirement of three rear admirals and resulting promotions all along the line. The first retirement will be that of Admiral George E. Belknap, whose service on the active list will end on the 22d instant. On the same date Commodore John G. Walker, now on special duty in Washington, will be promoted to the grade of rear admiral, and will relieve Admiral Belknap of his duties as President of the Naval Inspection board, with headquarters at the Navy Department. The next important retirement will be that of Rear Admiral A. E. K. Benham, commanding the South Atlantic station. He was recently in command of the North Atlantic, or home, station, but was detached from that duty when it became necessary to send his flagship, San Francisco, to the Brazilian station. He will relieve Capt. Pickering of command of the United States forces at Rio at once. Capt. Pickering has been in command there ever since the summary detachment of Acting Rear Admiral Stanton, because of his premature recognition of the insurgents.

ADMIRAL BENHAM'S SERVICE.

Admiral Benham's service in Brazil, and in fact his active service in the United States navy, will terminate by his retirement, April 10th next. Commodore Francis M. Ramsay, who has been on duty in this city for the past four years, as chief of the bureau of navigation, will be promoted to the grade of rear admiral on the same date, and will soon thereafter be given an assignment more in accord with his increased rank, possibly the command of the Pacific or of the North Atlantic station. This latter command is now held by Acting Rear Admiral Stanton, who, however, was assigned to it with the distinct understanding that he would be transferred to the command of the South Atlantic station on the retirement of Admiral Benham. It is regarded as certain that Commodore Ramsay will get an important sea command in the near future, even if it should be necessary to assign another officer to the command of the station in the early spring.

ADMIRAL IRWIN.

The third retirement referred to is that of Rear Admiral John Irwin, now in command of the naval forces at Honolulu, who, up to a few weeks ago was in command of the Asiatic station. He relieved Commodore Joseph S. Skerrett of duty at Honolulu, and the latter took his place on the Asiatic station. His service at the Hawaiian capital will be short, however, as under the law he goes on the retired list on the 15th of April, and thereby promotes Commodore Skerrett to the full grade of rear admiral. The latter's promotion will afford him some compensation for the reflection cast upon him by the Administration in relieving him from duty at Honolulu in the midst of important diplomatic negotiations, and that, too, by an officer who had only a few months to serve. As published in the Star at the time, Commodore Skerrett was relieved from duty at Honolulu because he was supposed to be in sympathy with the cause of annexation and therefore might not be a good man to enforce the President's plans for the restoration of Queen Liliuokalani.

The Pacific station, of which the Hawaiian Islands are but a part, and which also includes Behring Sea, is probably the most important command in the navy at present, and is likely to be for some months to come, in consequence of the unsettled state of affairs in Hawaii and the necessity for a strong fleet of vessels to patrol the waters of Behring Sea during the coming season for the enforcement of the regulations adopted at the Paris arbitration for the protection of the seal rookeries and the preservation of the species. As already stated, this command will be vacated in April next by the retirement of Admiral Irwin.—Washington Star.

Book Your Orders At Once!

Messrs. Kohler & Chase of San Francisco have kindly consented to allow us the services of the leading man in their Tuning Department (for a limited season only) who will arrive in Honolulu in February.

We are now prepared to book orders for Piano Tuning and Repairing, same to be filled in the rotation as received.

Notwithstanding the extra expense incurred by obtaining this experienced man, the usual Honolulu prices will prevail.

The public will recognize the fact that this is an opportunity seldom offered them; the name of Kohler & Chase being a sufficient guarantee of the man's experience and good work.

N. B.—We beg to inform those parties who left orders with us for Mr. Benson to fill upon his return from Maui, that we have received information of Mr. Benson's departure for San Francisco last week.

GOOD NEWS FROM WASHINGTON.

Private advices from Washington are of the most favorable nature, and indicate that the prospects of annexation are better than they have been at any time since the present Administration came in.

DRAMATIC EVENT.

The reconciliation between Bismarck and the Emperor William, long planned, would seem to have really been effected at last.

While every true son of the Fatherland will rejoice at the settlement of the long-standing feud between Emperor and Chancellor, it is hardly probable that the circumstance will have any important political consequences.

The reconciliation in this case probably proceeds from an instinct of good feeling, a kind of aesthetic feeling.

No one ever served a royal master more devotedly than did Bismarck the old Emperor William.

Americans have no great sympathy with the sentiment of personal loyalty toward a sovereign.

THAT CHINESE BILL.

It is stated that the Chinese will petition the Council against the passage of the Chinese license bill now pending in that body.

It is not to be expected that legislation by Anglo-Saxons in the interest of Anglo-Saxons shall always please Chinese. At the same time, it is no more than common prudence not to alienate unnecessarily any influential class in the community.

And now for the application:—There is a way of dealing with the Chinese question, better, surer, and far more drastic than this Licensing bill, and that is the way of registration.

While the matter of anti-Chinese legislation is under discussion it may be well to refer again to the ethical grounds on which all such legislation must rest.

Free Hawaii's Birthday.

Today is the first anniversary of the establishment of the Provisional Government in Hawaii, on the ruins of monarchical and despotic ideas.

Probably never, in the course of the ages, have the affairs of any infant nation been managed more ably, wisely, or honestly.

For a time, longer or shorter, according to circumstances which it is now impossible to foresee, January the Seventeenth will hold in Hawaii's calendar a place similar to the Fourth of July in our own.

A TALE FOR THE NURSERY.

Beyond the green Pacific shore, Westward, 2000 miles, or more, Dwelt a lady-momarch, with grisel galore.

Some people describe her as "fair," and yet, It must be admitted, with much regret.

Her lot was pleasant, they say, until Her subjects kicked 'gainst the royal will.

Alas! This knight, though his "dander riz," Had to yield when some intimate friend of his

The talk of restoring her "didn't go," And it really looks, to those who know,

Like a permanent case of "in statu quo." For the queen of the Cannibal Islands.

SEVERAL GOOD LETTERS.

The Feeling in The States on The Hawaiian Question.

The following extracts from letters received by the China are only another evidence of the feeling on the Hawaiian situation in the United States. They are written to prominent people here:

What a pity it was that your commissioners could not have been a little earlier on their mission before the Harrison administration went out. Could it have been so you would now have been nesting as snugly under Uncle Sam's wing as a chicken under a hen. Another strange thing to me, is that your people did not know what they might expect from a Democratic administration. This whole matter was preconceived by Cleveland before he took his seat, for he had scarcely got warm in it before he withdrew your treaty from the Senate. Then the great "I am" undertook a contract to engineer this business through alone, and his sole purpose was to bring discredit upon Harrison's administration, and a pretty middle he has made of it.

The idea of a Republican Government interfering to set up a monarchy and put a queen upon its throne? After blundering and fumbling, all to no purpose, he says, I wish my hands of the dirty job and turn the whole matter over to Congress, the very thing he should have done from the start, instead of ignoring Congress and usurping unconstitutional powers himself.

There is not timber enough in the whole party to make a President of, unless we take flesh, and of that Cleveland has enough to make two good-sized Presidents—more of it far than brains. Ben Harrison and Jim Blaine had forgotten more before breakfast than Cleveland will ever know. Who is Cleveland? Why, he never was anything above a second-class lawyer. He was once sheriff of Buffalo, and once Governor of New York, and once before President. This time he bids fair to dig his political grave. And who is his first lieutenant, Gresham? No doubt a talented man, but now as duetle as potter's clay in his master's hands.

The most I regret is that we have got to stand the pressure three years longer, and if you can only hold on as long, and govern your islands with the same good tact you are now using you may be sure of recognition in 1896, for you have the sympathy of nineteen-twentieths of the American people. By that time the Democratic party will be snowed under so deep that it will take thirty years to dig it out and resurrect it.

I admire President Dole's answer to Minister Willis. I think he is a "brick." I know you are strong enough to hold your own. The "battle is not always to the strong," for as Shakespeare has it, "Thrice is he armed who has his quarrel just."

DETROIT, Jan. 20, 1894.

You can rest assured that the democratic masses in the United States are not in sympathy with President Cleveland in his Hawaii policy, and that Congress will never authorize the restoration of Queen Lili.

A prudent, but firm and determined course on the part of the Provisional Government will undoubtedly result in annexation as soon as the will of the American people, under our slowly-operating constitutional system, can be made effective.

A KAUAI ANNEXATIONIST

Sends a Letter That Has a True Ring of Patriotism in It.

The following, from a subscriber on Kauai, is one of many encouraging letters received, and has the ring of patriotism:

On the arrival of each ADVERTISER we receive new surprises, additional encouragement and pleasure, by that cool conservatism of members of the Executive and Advisory Commissions and your editorials, which now give promise as well as at any time when it became necessary for wise official, self-possession and deliberation, upon the part of those who were summoned to direct the destinies of thousands upon thousands who, by such provision, discovered it possible to pursue their vocations, to protect, support and educate their children, and to become identified in their allegiance to a government which insured greater hope, greater security, and greater prosperity than ever previously known or experienced under the selfish and unmodern rule of monarchism, as demonstrated on that momentous occasion when the "Declaration of Independence" became an innovation in history, and when it assumed with the spirit of modern and progressive manhood to ignore the behests of kings. In the same manner and for the same reasons should the Provisional Government forever relegate everything that savors of a barbaric and blubbery royalty to those scenes where modern progress was never known, and to those climes where industry, intelligence and morality are no longer a necessity.

The ADVERTISER is "up with the times," and we sincerely hope that, its supporters will keep it there. With blessings for the ADVERTISER. A KAUAI ANNEXATIONIST.

Proctor Knott Refused to Do Cleveland's Work in Hawaii.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—Ex-Gov. Proctor Knott was offered the position of Minister to Hawaii, and after ascertaining that the President expected him to substitute the barbarian Queen for the Provisionals, refused to accept the appointment, saying that he was an American citizen and could not go to Honolulu to "overthrow the descendants of Americans" and put heathens on top.—Commercial Gazette.

A TRAPPIST REFECTION.

Cold and Gloomy surroundings and a scanty bill of fare.

We reached the Trappist refectory. A great cold room, with whitewashed walls and five long, narrow tables, with benches on each side, stretching from end to end, was the place where the monks took their very frugal meals. The tables were laid for the first meal. There were no cloths, and it is almost needless to add that there were no napkins, although these are considered so essential in France that even in the most wretched auberge one is usually laid before the guest. Trappists, however, have little need of them.

At each place were a wooden spoon and fork, a plate, a jug of water, and another jug—a smaller one—of beer, and a porringer for soup, which is the chief diet of the Trappists. Very thin soup it is, the ingredients being water, chopped vegetables, bread and a little oil or butter.

Until a few years ago no oily matter, whether vegetable or animal, was allowed in the soup, nor was it permissible, except in case of sickness, to have more than one meal a day, but the necessity of relaxing the rule a little was realized. Now, during the six summer months of the year, there are two meals a day—namely, at 11 and 6, but in winter there is still only one that is called a meal, and this is at 4. There is, however, a gouter—just something to keep the stomach from collapsing—at 10 in the morning. No fish, nor flesh, nor animal product, except cheese and butter, is eaten by these Trappists unless they fall ill, and then they have meat or anything else that they may need to make them well. There is, however, very little sickness among them.

The living of each Trappist probably costs no more than sixpence a day to the community. Assuming that the money brought into the common fund by those who have a private fortune—the fathers, as a rule, are men of some independent means—covers the establishment expenses, and the taxation imposed by the state, there must remain a considerable profit on the work of each individual, whether he labors in the fields or in the dairy and cheese-rooms, or concerns himself with the sales and the accounts, or, like the porter at the gate, tests with an instrument the richness of the milk that is brought in by the peasants, lest they who have been befriended by the monks in sickness and penury should steal from them in return.

To devote this surplus obtained by a life of sacrifice, compared to which the material misery of the beggars whom they relieve is luxury, to the lessening of human suffering, to the encouragement of the family, offering the hand of charity to the worthy and the unworthy, expecting no honor from all this, and not even gratitude, is a life that makes that of the theoretical philanthropists and humanitarian philosophers look rather barren.—Temple Bar.

Origin of the Peach.

Nothing is now more universally accepted than the fact that the peach is an improved variety of the almond. The almond has a thin shell around the stone, which splits open and shows the stone when mature. This outer skin has simply become fleshy in the peach, so that it is all that gives it its specific character. It seems now clear from investigation in the history of ancient Babylon that in their gardens, nearly 4,000 years ago, the peach was cultivated then as it now is.

It must have been many years before this that the peach was improved from the almond, and this fact goes to show the great antiquity of the fruit. Possibly gardening in some respects, at least so far as it relates to many of our cultivated fruits, was as far advanced 6,000 or 8,000 or perhaps 10,000 years back as it is today.

Phenicians, many thousands of years ago, as is proved by the records, had in their gardens almonds, apricots, bananas, citrons, figs, grapes, olives, peaches, pomgranates; and even sugar cane was in extensive cultivation. Certainly this shows how far advanced these nations were in garden culture many years ago.—Detroit Free Press.

Musical Tones.

A stringed instrument suspended in a favorable position near a pianoforte will sound when tones corresponding to the open strings are produced on the pianoforte. The volume of the answering tone will depend upon atmospheric conditions, the quality and color of the persuading tone and the sensitiveness of the responding material. There is a familiar anecdote told of a famous tenor, who by singing the tone that was consonant with that of a wineglass, could make the glass shiver so violently that it would fall to pieces. It is because of this tonal sympathy that the cause of a harsh, rattling tone that may suddenly appear in a pianoforte is detected with difficulty. Though it may appear to be in the instrument, it is often far away and may come from a loose globe or pendant on a chandelier. Even a key in a door has been known to be the guilty cause.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Big Guns Don't Last Long.

An English authority, in speaking of heavy guns, says that the 110 ton gun, 14 1/2 inch bore, will fire 95 ordinary rounds, after which the gun is unfit for further service. The 67 ton gun, 13 1/2 inch bore, will fire 127 rounds, and the 45 ton gun, 12 inch bore, will fire 150 rounds before becoming useless. The cost of the British 110 ton gun is $89,500. That of the 67 ton gun is $54,500, and that of the 45 ton gun $21,500.—Japan Journal.

Collar Mad.

Honors—Oh, missis, Mr. Vanderwater has hung himself to the chandelier, and his eyes do be stick out like tanyons. Cholly Vanderwater (after being cut down by a committee of boarders)—What means this wude intension? I am preparing my neck for a highish callab, and I do not wish to be interrupted. Go 'way!—New York Recorder.

LOOKED LIKE A LILY.

MARY DERWENT DESCRIBES A FAIR ENGLISH BRIDE.

She Was Just Too Lovely For Anything—A Tailor Made Gown and a Mantle of Rare Beauty—Dancing Dresses and Walking Suits.

[Copyright, 1894, by American Press Association.]

NEARLY everybody goes out of London to their own or some one else's country seat for Christmas, and they prolong their stay well into January, and often beyond it, and really they do know how to enjoy their holiday. It is not like the decorous family dinner with a few chosen friends, but it is a general jollification, where old and young join and laugh, dance and play boisterous games. There are few Christmas trees, for the English have not taken kindly to the German idea, but that does not mean that people do not enjoy themselves quite as well and get just as many pretty presents. At a Christmas celebration in Merrie England you may see an earl or a duke down on his hands and knees making sport for the children, or a countess with her eyes blinded and her arms outstretched to catch whoever comes within reach.

After the holidays are over the weddings begin, and the bustle and delight of preparation for this most important ceremony is even greater than that for the holidays, for an English wedding has somehow a new element in it. There are several bridesmaids, nearly all sisters of bride or groom, and little brothers who look wonderfully pretty as ushers, and there is the best man, nearly always in love with the biggest bridesmaid. Then there are the grandmothers, dear old souls who take as much interest in the whole affair as if they were to be the brides themselves. There is none of that shrinking and almost hateful pretense of retirement that our families affect. Here every one has something to do or say to enhance the glory and grace of the important day, even to the servants and villagers, for all these great homes are near villages.

Some few have their gowns sent from Paris, but more from London, and they are always dainty and endowed with that delicate glamour that belongs to a wedding dress. The one I have in my mind at the moment was worn at the country seat of a certain noble English family day before yesterday, and the bride looked like a white lily as she stood to let us all admire her. Her gown was plain white faille, cut with a simplicity most admirable. There was quite a long train. In front were three tulle flounces

THE BRIDE AND HER LITTLE SISTER. held by small bunches of orange buds. The sleeves were double puffs and the front portion reached to the wrists and were covered with long white mosquito-gloves, which reached to the elbow.

Around the waist was a sort of belt of several thicknesses of tulle, fastened with a bunch of orange buds sent from the south of Spain. There was a full vest front of tulle, over silk and bretelles of silk cut in scallops and bordered with white silk buttonholing. At the neck and shoulders were three other small clusters of buds and two others in the hair, over which the light tulle veil was thrown. It would be difficult to fancy a daintier picture as she stood there, or than she afterward made in the dim old church against the background of the old carved wood in the altar. She was a point of light and beauty.

Her own little sister was her bridesmaid, and she wore a white dotted lace frock over a slip of baby blue silk. There were five rows of white lace insertion around the skirt. The waist was a plain surplice, with a row of insertion, the sleeves were double puffs, and around the waist, on the sleeves and shoulders were small blue upstanding bows. The hat of white felt was trimmed with baby blue satin bows, Alsatian style. The mother wore a royal purple velvet gown made with a princess front and a waist back. The train was quite long, but not trimmed at all, the material being so rich that trimming would have detracted from it. The sleeves were made in two puffs, a fancy, by the way, usually preferred here to the graceless gigot. There were lilac gloves that reached the elbows, and a small toque bonnet of lilac velvet, white roses and two aigrets.

An aunt who was a dowager marchioness was there and wore a gray satin in brocade nearly covered with exquisite black lace, fastened up in different places under small pins made of rubies and diamonds. They were all exactly alike. It was a morning wedding, and in consequence all the ladies wore high dresses. Another handsome dress was that of a young American lady who has recently married into the ranks of British nobility, and she had an amber pseudo soie dress, with the sleeves of elegant black lace over the satin. The bertha was woven expressly for that purpose, and there was a shawl drapery in front of the same pattern of lace and a bow and two long ends in the back falling over the demitrains of the same beautiful lace. Her bonnet was made of a little scrap of amber velvet and trimmed with pink roses and jet.

The grandmothers in this country do not generally dress with the same fine taste that characterizes the dressing of our own dear old ladies. They will wear low necked dresses long after the time for such a display has any reason d'etre. True they thereby show off the family jewels. And they wear fearfully ugly caps and nothing on earth would cause one to leave off those hideous things in favor of our dainty bits of lace and ribbon, crepe lisse and tiny blossoms.

To return to our young English ladies. It is true that their tailor gowns are rigid and beyond measure formal, but how they fit! It is as if there was some new fashioned loom that wove the goods around the slender waists of the wearers, for detect a seam you cannot. The tailor gowns of this winter are more often seen in black than in colors, and they are usually of a very heavy quality of broadcloth or melton. They also wear Priestley chevrot in diagonal wide-wales. One very elegant redingote for a young lady had the waist cut to fit very closely and with deep flat collar and pointed revers. The front was double breasted and fastened with three buttons. The skirt to this garment was open both front and back, like a man's coat, and was cut half umbrella shape. The sleeves were gigot. The redingote was lined with black satin to the waist. The whole garment fitted like a glove, and from neck to feet there was not a wrinkle, naturally, except those in the gigot sleeves.

A lady came to visit and wore a mantle of such beauty that I must describe it. The garment was shaped like a bag, as far as the under portion went, which was sleeveless and hung straight down from the shoulder. It was of sealskin plush, and at each lower corner in front was a raised embroidery done in heavy saddler's silk of a golden brown color. The upper portion consisted of a round, full cape in the front, but in the back the cape lengthened down to the knees. This was of heavy corded silk in the same shade as the silk embroidery, and this cape was bordered with a narrow vine in sealskin brown all around in a raised pattern fully half an inch high. Below this there was a border of real sealskin. The collar was very high and flaring and stiffly embroidered in the same way. The whole was lined with gold colored satin, so that it made a rich and very sumptuous garment. With this wrap my lady wore a large poke of shaggy beaver in drab, with a mass of shaded brown plumes topping over the brim in every direction. It was a picturesque hat.

An English girl's wardrobe would not be complete without a habit or so. Those of this season seem to me to be a trifle less severe than they usually are. The buttons are often set on double breasted, and the sleeves have been made a little larger and looser at the top, while the skirts are long enough to quite cover the foot. English girls do not take kindly to tights, but continue to wear the bulky trousseurs. The alpine hats with one curling black cock's plume on the left side are seen now quite as often as the stiff and unbecoming derby or high hat. Several young ladies wear short frieze capes, which are very stylish. Colors for habits are mostly black, dark green, gray and brown. One rarely sees a blue one. Blue is the walking suit color preferred to all others, and the material is serge or chevrot.

For the delightful dances at home or at some neighboring country seat or the grand county balls there is no end to dainty new fancies in gowns for the young. The material best liked for the colored dancing dresses is striped Algerian tissue, all in one color. There are several choices in fine black nets, some embroidered in colors, but most with spangles, which are very effective. The English do not like the Lois Fuller crapes and think them vulgar, but they do like the new courtauld crapes in colors.

For a Whisk Broom. A piece of soft, plain blue silk and some ribbon to match, about 1 1/2 inches wide, together with gold tinsel cord, are all the materials needed for this new whisk broom holder. Cut out of pasteboard two heart shaped pieces broad enough to hold a whisk broom, cutting the lower ends across straight, as if the lower third of the heart had been left off. Cover each on both sides with plain blue or white silesia or cambric, and overhand them together with a few stitches down the curving sides. Fasten a small brass ring at the top to hang it up by. The ring can be covered, if it shows, with crochet stitches of blue knitting silk. Take a piece of the blue silk about 9 by 15 inches and hem the sides narrowly, the ends with an inch wide hem. With the gold tinsel outline an arabesque pattern across the ends and catch or shir the silk in the center, to have somewhat the appearance of a butterfly bow, fastening it on the heartshaped holder to nearly or quite cover it. Fasten two ends of ribbon to the lower part of the holder and let them cross and tie about three inches below the silk, to partially conceal the handle. A. I. W.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Lent begins today. The Chinese New Year's agony is almost over. W. O. Atwater is now a clerk in the Custom House. A furnished cottage with three or four rooms is wanted. The Alameda may be here tonight on her way to the Coast. Dr. Goto returned to the leper settlement by the Mokoli'i yesterday. The heavy trade winds of the past few days are beginning to moderate. A fine assortment of fancy French flannels are to be found at Sachs' store. If the steamer is in port this evening, the Band will play at the Hotel. The Board of Health will hold its regular weekly meeting this afternoon. The Club Stables have an important notice to horsemen in another column. Thomas Evans, who is well-known in this city, is in San Francisco at present. The next steamer mail from the Coast will be by the Monowai on the 15th of this month. The annual meeting of the stockholders of C. Brewer & Co. will be held this morning at 10 o'clock. The regular church social of the Central Union Church has been postponed on account of Chinese New Year. Reserved seats for the Edison phonograph exhibition will be on sale tomorrow at Hobron, Newman & Co.'s drug store. There are fresh complaints about the smoking-in-the-street-car nuisance. What are you going to do about it, Mr. Paine?

The sailors of the Champion will give a minstrel and sparring entertainment this evening at the old Armory on Queen street. Letters from Professor Alexander and others at Washington, indicate a very promising condition of Hawaiian affairs at the capital. If the boys of Company E. can find out who tried to poison them it will be a case of get hurt. A number of the local baseball players are wondering why the League does not hold a meeting to prepare for the coming season. Marshal Hitchcock offers a reward of $5 for information that will lead to the conviction of the person who poisoned Captain Klemme's dogs. The Kinau took yesterday afternoon thirteen passengers for the volcano. According to latest reports, Madame Pele is now very active. Mrs. Mary Ailau was a passenger on the Mokoli'i last evening. She goes on a brief visit to the mother of her late husband now at Kalaupapa. A beginners' class in theosophy, free of charge, will be started in the hall of the Theosophical Library as soon as twenty members have been obtained. The New York World contains one of the best Hawaiian cartoons yet published. It represents Hawaii as an electric machine. Mr. Cleveland, though greatly shocked, "can't let go."

The Masonic ladies who successfully managed the lunches at the Arlington some months ago, are seriously thinking of giving a picnic at Remond Grove at an early date. If they do so a splendid time is assured. A resolution was introduced at the meeting of the Schuetzen Club last evening, asking the Councils to try and devise some means of finding work for the great number of unemployed loyal men now in Honolulu. A number of new members were elected, and several names proposed for membership.

A WHALEBOAT RACE. The Kapiolanis Go to Molokai by Yesterday's Mokoli'i. A whaleboat race has been arranged between the Kapiolanis and a crew at Kaunakakai. The crew of seven natives left on the Mokoli'i last evening for Molokai, taking their boat with them. The race will take place next Thursday or Friday at Kaunakakai, and will be for a purse of $100. The course will be about four miles with a turn.

RECORDING VOICES.

What Will Be Done at the Phonograph Exhibition. Mr. C. Nestor Edison, who will give a phonograph exhibition at the Y. M. C. A. Hall on next Saturday evening, has given similar performances all over the United States. The loud-talking machine which he carries was made expressly for him, and it is of the very latest improved pattern. During the exhibition the voices of several local favorites will be recorded and then reproduced to the audience. This portion of the performance will not fail to please those present. The pieces for the evening will be of the popular order. A small number of choice seats will be reserved, for which 75 cents will be charged; a large number of good seats will be sold for 50 cents, while children will be admitted for 25 cents. Reserved seats will be on sale tomorrow at Hobron, Newman & Co.'s drug store.

A MEAN DEED.

Two Valuable Mastiffs Poisoned Last Evening. The splendid full-bred mastiffs, Sultan and Juno, belonging to Capt. E. Klemme and his brother, were poisoned last evening and both died. There is no clew to the perpetrator of the deed. The dogs were very valuable ones, Capt. Klemme having recently refused an offer of $250 for one of them. They are full bred and were imported here from Tasmania. Marshal Hitchcock and Mr. Klemme each offer a reward of $50 for any information that will lead to the arrest and conviction of the poisoner.

The big ship C. F. Sargent is now discharging her coal at the Fort street pier. Twelve hundred tons of coal unloaded in six and a quarter days is a remarkable record for this port.

The schooner Zampa and the bark Andrew Welch are expected to leave next Friday for San Francisco.

The Hawaiian bark Leahi was to leave Kahului yesterday with sugar for San Francisco.

The steamer Claudine was to tow the barkentine Mary Winkelman to Kahului last evening, but it was decided not to do so as the wind was raging outside.

Capt. J. F. Hayes, late chief officer of the bark Martha Davis, went by the Kinau yesterday to take command of the new four-masted schooner G. W. Watson now loading sugar at Mahukona for San Francisco. Capt. Olsson of the schooner broke his leg on the voyage from San Pedro.

The steamer Likelike will be taken up on the Marine Railway today to be cleaned. She will soon go on the Hamakua route.

The cabin of the bark Albert has been recently re-painted, and it presents a handsome appearance. Captain Griffiths believes in keeping his vessel both bright and clean.

The cook and cabin-boy of the bark S. C. Allen were arrested recently in San Francisco with about $500 worth of opium in their possession. The vessel is now on her way to this port.

The barkentine Kikikat will soon commence loading sugar for San Francisco.

The sealing schooner W. P. Sayward, Captain Frery, arrived off port last evening, twenty-six days from Victoria. She will come inside this morning to repair her boats, several of which were damaged on the voyage.

DISTRICT COURT. TUESDAY, Feb. 6. Two school boys, Kalei Aonei and Charley, were fined $5 each and costs for fighting in a public place.

Nine cases were remanded, four drunks were fined $2 each with costs, two drunks were nolle pross'd and one disobedient lad was reprimanded and discharged.

The case of J. A. Magoon, charged with assault and battery on J. W. Luning on Jan. 31, was brought up. Magoon pleaded not guilty.

Mrs. Luning was the first witness on the stand. Her evidence is as follows: I saw defendant at our office on the afternoon of Jan. 31. We had conversation about his share of the profits of a debtor. My husband had some words with defendant about a bill of sale. My husband threatened to put the debtor into bankruptcy, and then he started to put the paper into the safe.

Magoon gave the bill to my husband to read, but he considered the bill illegal. The bill of sale was given to Magoon by debtor as security. When Magoon asked my husband what he was going to do with the bill the reply was, "You have your redress in court."

Mr. Luning threatened to tear up the bill of sale. He said that if Magoon insisted he would destroy all the papers and then put the debtor into bankruptcy.

J. W. Luning then mounted the stand. His version of the row is substantially as follows: I had trouble with the defendant in my office on Jan. 31. The trouble arose over the settlement of some d-b'ts. I asked him if he had the chattel mortgage and he said he had; I told him it was incorrect. He said he was ready to sign the agreement, his claim being $165. I said that I would not give him back the paper unless awarded to him by the court.

He then came behind the counter and struck me four or five times. I did not return his blows. Magoon then went out.

Cross-examined: Think the paper was in my hand when defendant rushed at me. I then flung it on my wife's desk. I did not threaten to destroy the bill of sale. I called Magoon a coward and then dared him to shoot me. I did not threaten to shoot Magoon.

J. A. Magoon, sworn, stated: I had a claim for rent for $150, for which I had brought suit and garnished debtor's salary. Luning wanted me to sign an agreement to accept a pro rata. I refused, claiming a landlord's lien. He said I could have a chattel mortgage, and asked me to get the paper signed. I spoke to the debtor and arranged to take a bill of sale of the furniture. After this I went to Luning's office. Luning then asked me for my authority to claim $165. I showed him the bill of sale. He did not approve of the arrangement. Luning said he would keep the bill because it was illegal. He said he would tear it up and made motions to that end. I then rushed towards him and struck him in the face not more than twice. We struggled for the paper. Mrs. Luning pulled me off. He said "damn you I'll shoot you." I thought he would do it, so let him go. I went outside the rail and told him, "now you can shoot." I then left. I had no intention of assaulting him excepting to get back the bill of sale.

Cross-examined: I wanted my pro rata on the whole amount of the claim notwithstanding the bill of sale. I had collected $20 from the debtor before he signed the bill of sale. Judge Robertson's decision was reserved until to-day.
