THE CZAR SERIOUSLY ILL.

Suffering With Bright's Disease, and Near Death's Door.

LEADING PHYSICIANS ATTENDING.

Characteristics of the Man who Will Succeed to the Throne—A Student Who has Studied in Germany, and will Change the Policy of Russia.

(Per barkentine S. G. Wilder.)

LONDON, Oct. 1.—A St. Petersburg special dispatch to the Times says: The Czar has lost in weight enormously during the last few weeks. He suffers great pain, and looks very ill. A dispatch cabled from St. Petersburg Saturday stated that "The Czar, acting upon the advice of Professors Zacharin and Leyden, his attending physicians, will make a temporary stay in Livania shortly. The Czar has a palace in a town named Livania, continue to be current, the latest being to the effect that a young opera dancer has refused as insufficient the sum of 40,000 roubles offered her if she would quit Russia. It is said she wants 100,000 roubles, but she is not likely to get it, for she is too insignificant a cause of trouble.

Some people who have an opportunity of studying the character of the Czarevitch decline to believe in the existence of the opera dancer. Others admit the possibility, even the probability, that the story is true, because the Czarevitch, though amiable and generous, is not by any means of resolute character, and, moreover, he is peculiarly susceptible to pretty faces and winning ways. These blemishes of character may be merely indications of immaturity, but they are causing anxiety just now in view of the possibility of this young man's early call to the throne.

HEIR TO THE THRONE.

Peculiarities of the Man who Will Succeed the Czar.

Nicholas Alexandrovitch, the Czarevitch, heir to the throne, is by no means a robust young man. He is short and rather delicate looking, with anything but the imperial bearing which has come to be associated with the Romanoff family. The present Czar is a veritable Ajax, of enormous size and strength. His heart would probably have gone out in sympathy to an heir who inherited the bodily qualities of his race, or would have forgiven his weakness of frame, had on the southern coast of the Crimea. There is also a town named Livania in Greece, not far from Athens. The sending of the yachts to the Piræus seems to mean the Czar is going from Spala to Greece, instead of to the Crimea, as heretofore reported.

The Standard correspondent in Berlin is authority for the statement that Professor Leyden has diagnosed the Czar's ailment as Bright's disease in an advanced stage. On the other hand, the Vienna Tageblatt maintains that the Czar is suffering from neurasthenia, coupled with anaemia, in addition to kidney disease.

The Czar's condition, it is said, was made worse by a cold which he caught two nights before leaving St. Petersburg. He went to one of the telegraph offices in the Winter Palace at 1 o'clock in the morning and dictated a message to Abbas Tuman, in the Caucasus, concerning the health of his favorite son George, and waited an hour and a half in the bare office for a reply from the doctor.

He was not satisfied with the reply, and returning to his bedroom threw himself into an armchair and wept. He cried: "Oh God, what have I done to be so severely punished?"

The Czar could not sleep through thinking of his son George. During the first night of his stay in George's residence in Spala the Czar arose from his bed, went to his son's room and watched his sleeping son for a long time. In returning to his room he passed through a cold passage and was attacked with rheumatism, which made his condition still worse. It is said that he greatly prefers Grand Duke George to the Czarevitch.

It is fair to say that all who have come into contact with the Czarevitch hold a high opinion of his intelligence. He was to have arrived at Darmstadt Friday preparatory to taking his fiancée, Princess Alice, to Wiesbaden next week, there to be received into the Orthodox church. These arrangements have all been upset owing to the illness of the Czar, but the fact that they were made and publicly announced sets at rest the persistent rumors as the repugnance of the young Princess to renounce the faith in which she was born and bred. She is an average princess, after all, with no particular reluctance to become an Empress.

Rumors affecting the Czarevitch contained an imperious mind; but the Czarevitch had neither, and it is said to be only through the influence of the Czarina that the eldest son has not been set aside from the succession in favor of his younger brother, Michael.

However much the Czar may love his eldest son, he has no great respect and admiration for him as a Russian Emperor, says a writer in Munsey's Magazine. He is a student, and Alexander II thinks that students are of small account in the world as compared to men who can bend iron poker in their fingers. Nicholas Alexandrovitch has studied all his life, because studying was his only pleasure. Fear of nihilists kept him for years almost a prisoner in the imperial palace and country places, where he grew up an innocent-faced boy, with no knowledge of life except what he gained through books and papers that had been carefully inspected before he saw them. The darker side of Russian history was to him a sealed volume.

Some five years ago the young prince started out upon his travels. He went to Denmark to England and to Germany, and the amount of modern information that he managed to imbibe and carry back to Russia set the teeth of the czar on edge. The young man had brought back with him well defined and radical opinions and theories upon the questions and literature of the day. He had decided that Jews were human beings, and that it was inhuman and ridiculous to persecute them. Worst of all, in his father's eyes, he had become the devoted friend and admirer of the German emperor.

Look upon Russia as she is today, and imagine a mild, very intelligent, modern young man coming in to take the reins of an almost absolute monarchy; a young man who has chosen as his wife a vivacious German girl, with a keen sense of humor and the daughter of an English mother. When the present ruler dies there is likely to be a housecleaning in the White Czar's country.

The czarevitch is twenty-six years old. Ever since his boyhood Europe has been busy selecting a wife for him. He is so English in his tastes, so fond of his cousins, the children of the Prince of Wales, that it was supposed he would select one of the daughters of that house, but even had inclination pointed that way the Greek church absolutely forbids the marriage of first cousins.

DAYS WITH MME. BLAVATSKY.

Interesting Reminiscences of Visits to the Theosophist.

STRANGE REVELATIONS BY HER.

Stories Told of the Past of the Writer That Were Startling Indeed, But Prognostications as to the Future Not Correct—Peculiar Revolver Incident.

As the subject of theosophy is exciting considerable interest in Honolulu at the present time, and indeed has been the occasion of much discussion and comment throughout the United States for several years past, anything with reference to the famous author of the system is likely to be interesting.

In the summer of 1875, while in a law office in New York with William Q. Judge, the present head of the order in the United States, Madame Blavatsky came into the city from Europe. Her advent and doctrine aroused some newspaper comment. Mr. Judge, I believe, was personally acquainted with Colonel Olcott and, through him, procured an introduction to the Madame. One afternoon he asked if I would like to meet her with some other people holding various peculiar views. Of course, I was only too glad to have the opportunity. In a few days an appointment was made, and with Mr. Judge I went one evening to where Madame Blavatsky was residing on Irving Place. We found a dimly-lighted room, with a few rather interesting and curious people already assembled.

Sitting round a large table, Madame and some of the more prominent thinkers, like Colonel Olcott, began discussing some of the propositions of spiritualism which were then exciting attention. They had much to say of recent discoveries in Egypt and the Orient. They discussed the meaning of the hieroglyphics. It was stated that the key had been found which opened the way for those who became sufficiently possessed of the theosophical idea to perform many wonderful things, and to exercise immense spiritual power. It was said that one, thoroughly acquainted with the signs and symbols used by the magicians of Egypt, could again accomplish many of the strange and apparently miraculous acts performed by them.

The Madame herself was to me quite as interesting as the subject discussed. She was very large, heavily built, very fleshy, with a heavy face, bright, sharp eyes, and the marks of, intelligence and power; but, to my thinking, the face also seemed a gross one.

It so happened that I sat at one end of the table while she was at the other, and every once in a while she observed what I was doing. A revolver lay before me and, seeing that it was not loaded, I occasionally handled it, slowly cocking it, watching the revolution of the barrel, while listening to the discussion. Now and then it caught at half-cock, though I could not see why. Presently Madame observed:

"Be careful; you will hurt yourself with that pistol."

"Why," I said, "what is the matter with it?"

"Nothing," she replied, "it is in perfect order, but sometimes John, in a spirit of mischief, meddles with its working and it catches, and, if you are not careful, it may suddenly snap and hurt your fingers."

This was interesting, and I looked at the revolver again very carefully with renewed interest, trying to make up my mind as to who "John" might be, and wherein his interference consisted. Finally either myself or Mr. Judge asked:

"Who is John, and where is he?"

"John," said Madame, "is a knight, who lived during the time of Queen Elizabeth, and he is often with me. That is he," she said, pointing to a small picture in an oval frame hanging on the wall.

I glanced at it again, for I had looked at it several times during the evening with some curiosity, for it appeared as though a red rose had been forced between the glass and the picture. Both Mr. Judge and myself examined the picture and observed that it appeared to be of a knight of about the period of Queen Elizabeth apparently from his dress. To me he seemed to wear a peculiar sinister expression. The eyes seemed to glisten (though this may have been from my imagination) and, looking closely, it appeared to me that a rose had been forced between the glass and the picture mat.

"Why is the rose there?" I asked of Madame.

"It comes itself," she said; "sometimes it is there and is again suddenly removed."

This again I found to be extremely interesting, and watched the picture furtively during the remainder of the evening, hoping to see the rose disappear, but it did not.

A TEST. After a conversation of several hours, about midnight the company began to break up, and, talking with one and another very graciously, in a few minutes Madame reached our end of the room and I had a few minutes very pleasant conversation with her.

Knowing or believing that I was an absolute stranger to her, I said this would give me great pleasure. Whereupon she took one of my hands, examined it carefully and made a number of statements with regard to my character, and various matters about myself which I believed to be correct.

"I see a young man sitting at a table reading." (She then described his appearance which certainly corresponded with my own at that time, and as it was upon an occasion which might have been what she described.)

HER ABILITY ADMITTED. As it did present an exact reproduction of what had occurred only a few days previously, I was compelled with considerable surprise to admit that it might apply very well indeed.

"The crown of your life is very near at hand but a dark shadow comes across in your twenty-ninth or thirtieth year," with which she closed.

"Oh, certainly; take it, you will find that everything is all right, and I am very glad to have you make the examination," after which we withdrew.

"The next day Mr. Judge, his brother, now a lawyer in New York City, a young man by the name of William Learn, and another whose name I have forgotten, and I during the forenoon in the law office took the revolver to pieces as carefully as possible but could discover nothing wrong, whereupon Mr. Judge rather triumphantly said:

"You would better have believed Madame last night for you see nothing is wrong."

"Oh, wait," I replied, "none of us are gunners." Let's have this thing more carefully looked into. We'll take it to the Remington Arms Company, (which had an office and sales-room just above on Broadway), and let them look at it."

"Yes; something is the matter with the half-cock, but I will make it all right in a moment," whereupon he ran down stairs to the work shop.

ANOTHER CASE. A few days later, at Mr. Judge's invitation, we again called upon Madame Blavatsky and found an interesting company present. Mr. Judge was greeted with much effusion. Madame then turned to me and her eyes flashing fire, she angrily said:

and by the mere force of a wish and desire, be transported to India, or China, or any other point, and that such a person might hold free communion with spirits or with spiritual things.

Some time after midnight she suddenly exclaimed, "But why need we only meet and talk; why not materialize; why not, at the present moment, form a society and undertake the study of truth in connection with this great and absorbing subject?"

The others agreed, and it was also understood and agreed specifically that those who joined the society for the study of theosophy should allow nothing else to interfere or step between them and the pursuit of this great subject. While I was very desirous of knowing more upon this topic, I felt that I had no right to throw aside everything else, and therefore could not join the society; so, when those gathered around the table, at Madame's command, joined hands and arose to repeat the promise, one to another, and to form the society, which was then done, I withdrew and kept my seat.

LETTERS FROM MR. JUDGE. I saw nothing further of Madame Blavatsky but was aware that the Theosophical Society or America was organized; that it began active work, and that, within a short time, many other branch societies had been established throughout the country.

As Faust, Mortimer Snow was good, and he certainly excelled in the love scenes. Miss Belmont made a fair Dame Martha, and Miss Nannary was perfect as Genevieve.

HE OWNED THE PROPERTY. A Man Who Thought He Had a Right to Use His Own Premises. On the Ewa side of the Opera House, opening into the yard of the house formerly occupied by Mr. Nacayama, is a window.

There is one man who has, during the last two or three performances, driven Mr. Levey nearly wild. He has insisted on looking through the window, which it is necessary to keep open in order to ventilate the house.

BY AUTHORITY. Notice. Owing to the intention of the undersigned of visiting officially the offices under the various Departments, "Public Accountants" and others having business with the Auditor-General are requested to call at his office between the hours of 9 and 12 A. M., except on Treasury pay days, when the usual Government office hours will be observed.

HALLETT BUMPED HIS HEAD. The Supers Worked Too Soon, but He Doesn't See the Joke. Al Hallett, who played Mephistopheles in "Faust," had what was, to the other actors, a funny experience. Hallett, however, did not see the joke.

POST YOUR FRIENDS. Island Information Contained in the "Gazette." The Alameda is due to leave for San Francisco tomorrow, and by her those whose wish to inform their friends in the States of the latest doings on the islands, should send copies of the HAWAIIAN GAZETTE.

Water Notice. Owing to the drought and scarcity of water, the residents above Judd street are requested to collect what water they may require for household purposes before 8 o'clock A. M.

As was said before, Hallett did not see the joke. Japan is the greatest exporter of sulphur.

AL. HALLETT'S GOOD WORK.

He Gives an Excellent Representation of Mephisto.

Perhaps the Best Thing Seen Yet in the Productions Given by the Dalley Company.

Al. Hallett did perhaps the best work on the Opera House stage last night seen here since the advent of the Dalley Company. Mortimer Snow has given Honolulu people some excellent acting, but to Mr. Hallett must be given the credit of the best interpretation of a part so far this season.

The play was "Faust" and there was a very small audience. Mores the pity, and the people who remained away are to be condoled with. The writer, not having a personal acquaintance with Mr. Hallett, does not know whether it is nature for him to play the part of the Devil or not, but his Mephisto was certainly excellent.

Miss Dalgleish was the Marguerite. Miss Dalgleish is a good actress, Honolulu knows that, but her Marguerite was somewhat disappointing. She was a trifle too childish and kittenish in the first two acts. A sweet innocent peasant girl is not represented by a Little Eva, and once or twice last night, when the calcium was on her, one almost expected the "Uncle Tom's Cabin" transformation scene.

As Faust, Mortimer Snow was good, and he certainly excelled in the love scenes. Miss Belmont made a fair Dame Martha, and Miss Nannary was perfect as Genevieve.

The play was somewhat marred by Jean Weiner singing a ballad when he should have been locked in a room.

The light effects were good, but there was more noise caused by the rising of the sun and moon than absolutely necessary.

HE OWNED THE PROPERTY. A Man Who Thought He Had a Right to Use His Own Premises.

On the Ewa side of the Opera House, opening into the yard of the house formerly occupied by Mr. Nacayama, is a window. This window is very convenient for those who do not wish to pay a dollar for a seat but are content to look at the drama standing up, where they save a hundred cents.

There is one man who has, during the last two or three performances, driven Mr. Levey nearly wild. He has insisted on looking through the window, which it is necessary to keep open in order to ventilate the house.

BY AUTHORITY. Notice. When

A man strikes a red pepper in his soup he receives an impression, and impressions are lasting. How can we impress it upon you that it is really your duty to trade with us, that our prices and service are better than elsewhere?

For that tired feeling—not Hood's Sarsaparilla, but more exercise—a gun, a rifle, or a boat if you take it out of doors, or dumbbells, chest weights, etc., if indoors. Our shot guns range from $12 to $65 in price, but we find the $35 gun gives just about the right amount of exercise for this climate—that is we judge so from the way they sell.

Have you heard of the story of the Irishman? He bought apples for one cent and sold them for two and said he made one per cent. profit. We do not commit business suicide by trying to make the Irishman's one per cent.

If you prefer boating and yachting to shooting, you will find we have most of the material needed to either build a yacht or boat or keep it in repair when built, and you do not have to buy any more than you need, as we have everything handy to retail as well as wholesale.

BETTER fence wire is now made than ever before and as POOR fence wire is now made as ever has been before. The BEST can be had right here in Honolulu, and yes—the WORST. We sell the GOOD KIND.

Wait for our remarks about barbed wire. We have plenty now, but will soon have a lot of the best in the world and it will pay you to wait for it.

FAIR PLAY IS ALWAYS A JEWEL.

Why Pitch Into Marfarlane Because Guests Do Wrong?

MIXING POLITICS AND PUNCH.

Because the Colonel is Believed To Be a Royalist, and People in His House Drink Too Heavily, He is Accused of Reviving Monarchical Habits.

Let it be thoroughly understood from this date on that under the changed social and political conditions any attempt at a revival of monarchical bad habits, either in public or private, will be met with open rebuke. The ADVERTISER had better stick to its sensations and leave the Star and community to take care of the facts.—[Star, Oct. 12th.]

The Star gives a political significance to some unfortunate and disgraceful doings in the Hawaiian hotel, because its proprietor is said to be a royalist. This is the construction to be put on its stern resolve, in alluding to these doings, that "any attempt at a revival of monarchical bad habits, either in public or in private, will be met with open rebuke" by the Star.

It would be more in accordance with the facts to warn any American visitors here, or who may come here (for all the parties involved are Americans), that any attempts on their part to imitate "monarchical bad habits," would be everlastingly, and exclusively, rebuked by the Star.

Because some Americans went on a spree in the hotel, and under the supervision and toleration of the steward, who is a naturalized American, it seems hardly fair to charge Colonel Macfarlane with attempting to revive "monarchical bad habits." People from the States, or elsewhere, are quite able to conduct very vigorous dissipation, without consulting him.

The Star's insinuation that these poor American lads, bleating on these distant shores, were led into the trap of "monarchical bad habits" by Colonel Macfarlane, because he is believed to be a royalist, and wishes to revive the lecherous glories of the monarchy, is simply, as it seems, an attempt to "get even" with him, on political grounds.

Of course, the free use of liquor is really the cause of this bad business. If the Star will strike at the evils of "rum," it will "take care of the facts," better than in any other way. In doing so, it will only give the ADVERTISER another "sensation" to talk about.

The disgraceful conduct of these visiting foreigners, residing in the hotel, cannot be defended. It may be said, however, that the privileges of any hotel are open to abuse—so much so, that no woman, however high her social position may be, is not admitted, if alone, to any "first class" hotel in the city of New York, unless she has special and satisfactory credentials. This requirement works, at times, very cruel hardship, and it would do so here, where it is difficult for visiting women to identify themselves.

The bad example of the monarchy, and its bad habits was, for years, tolerated by this community, although it had the power, years ago, to stop them instantly, as it did stop them in '93. Notorious indecency, in high places, is at an end; but if the moral tone of the community is not what it should be, the community itself is not free from blame.

INDEPENDENT TICKET.

American Unions Will Not Win Without a Struggle.

All will not be smooth sailing for the ticket nominated by the American Union Party. There will be an independent ticket in the field, and the names will be made public this afternoon, for before 4 o'clock they will be filed with the Minister of the Interior. Harry Klemme has decided to run, and it is probable Paul Neumann's name will go in. The Schuetzen Company met last night and decided to support an independent ticket. Another meeting will be held tonight. The Hawaiian Republican Club met last night and it was decided to support nearly all of the ticket named by the American Union convention, but it was thought best to wait and see what independents are in the field before taking final action.

Thanks are due J. J. Williams, the photographer, for pictures which have greatly aided the ADVERTISER during the last few days. Mr. Williams' work is so good that it is a pleasure for artists to reproduce from his photographs.

A MYSTERIOUS ASSAULT.

Miss Cutter the Victim of a Midnight Prowler.

AWAKES WITH A ROPE ON HER NECK.

A Chance For Some Enterprising Individuals to Get Up a Lynching Bee—No Clue, as Yet, to the Perpetrator of the Outrage—Larsen Investigating.

If some of the friends of F. J. Cutter could have caught a certain individual early yesterday morning, there would have been a quiet, unostentatious lynching bee held on Hotel street in the early hours.

Shortly after three o'clock yesterday morning, Miss Lizzie Cutter was awakened by feeling something around her neck. At first, being only half awake, she did not think much of the matter. In a few minutes, however, she was fully awakened by feeling a rope slowly tightening around her neck. Looking up, she saw a man kneeling on the bed, with a rope in his hand, the other end of which was looped around her. She put her hand between her neck and the rope and worked the noose off. Then she screamed, and the man, whoever he was, escaped by a back door.

Miss Cutter ran out on the porch, where she met her sister, who had been awakened by the cries.

The case is a most mysterious one. The only explanation that seems feasible is that the villain was about to attempt criminal assault when Miss Cutter awakened, and frightened him away by her screams. This seems to be the only solution of the matter. It is hardly probable that the man, if he was a burglar, would take the trouble to choke his victim, when she was asleep and he could have robbed the house without fear of interruption.

The whole affair showed careful preparation. The man had entered the house by a window in the rear, which had been left open. After he came in, he took the pains to unlock a rear door, leaving it standing open so that he could make an easy sneak in case of detection.

Miss Cutter did not get a good view of the man, the room being quite dark, and she was, of course, very much excited. She says, however, she saw enough of him to know that he had a dark complexion, and is quite large. This is a very slim clue for the police to work on, and at present there seems to be little show of the scoundrel's capture.

The case was put in Captain Larsen's hands yesterday morning. He will work on it, and try to discover who the man is, but he seems to have a hopeless task. A piece of small cotton rope, found in Union lane, may help in the investigation, however.

A THIMBLE BEE.

The Ladies of Central Union Church to Have One.

The Ladies' Society of Central Union Church finds that its treasury is empty and it must make a special effort towards its replenishing. But not wishing to lay a heavy burden on any, or to diminish in any way the receipts of the neighbors of the Anglican Church in their coming bazaar, they have decided to hold a thimble bee. All ladies of the church and congregation are invited to meet at the church parlors on Thursday afternoon between the hours of two and five o'clock, and bring their sewing. Your own sewing is meant; the button holes for Johnny's jacket, the napkins you hem by hand, the stockings that must be darned, then the thought that you are stealing time that belongs to the family, will not obtrude itself on you.

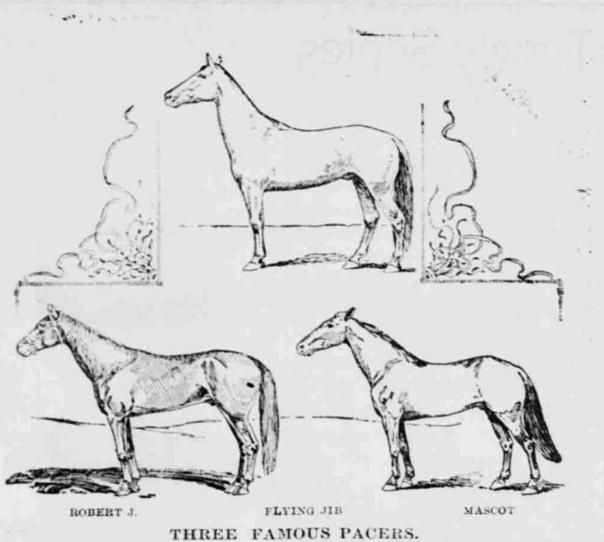

Each lady is asked to bring some contribution in money fixing the amount herself, as each knows best what she can afford to give.

No one will know these amounts save the givers, and she who gives five cents will be as welcome as she who has five dollars to spare.

It is often said that women would rather talk than eat, and it is intended to test the truth of the saying. There will be nothing to eat, and of course, no dishes to wash. They will have simply a "feast of reason and a flow of soul," and a goodly amount of enjoyment will be had out of the occasion.

To any friends who do not count themselves members of the church or congregation but who may feel that they would enjoy a social afternoon a most cordial invitation is extended.

Jim Sherwood says he has some new bathing suits which make the mermaids turn green with envy.

ROBERT J. FLYING JIB MASCOT

THREE FAMOUS PACERS.

Robert J.'s recent phenomenal performances have made him the talk of horsemen everywhere, and his latest feat will make interesting a description of the bay wonder as given by R. J. C. Walker, who owned him as a colt. "Robert J., was foaled at Williamsport, Pa., June 1, 1888. I then owned both his sire, Hartford, and his dam, Geraldine. He was a pure bay, without any marks whatever. I paid no particular attention to him as a colt, as I had several others about the same age. They all ran together until Robert J. was nearly two years old. Then he was broke to harness and driven first in the road wagon and afterwards in the sulky. He was not a particular promising horse. His first record as a three-year-old was made at Albany, where he made a mile in 2:22 1/2."

THEOSOPHY.

In another column appears an account of several very interesting interviews, between Mr. W. R. Castle and Madame Blavatsky, at the date of the organization of the Theosophical Society, in New York, in 1875. The account was prepared for, and read before, the Hawaiian Mission Children Society, on last Saturday evening, and, after the reading of it, by Judge Frear, a further account of the doings of the founders of Theosophy was given by the editor of this paper, who was well acquainted with them.

The present leaders of the Theosophical movement, have abandoned the arts of the "mediums," and rely upon certain broad principles of living, which, they claim, will lead men to a better life on earth, and, therefore, to a better life, hereafter.

Many of us cannot understand the doctrines of Theosophy. The "re-incarnation" of the soul, many thousand times, in order to perfect it, seems to be, what the florists would call, the "re-potting" process, by which plants are improved. Nor, do we comprehend "Karma." What, then, is Theosophy?

"Driver," said a kind scientific traveler to the red-nosed driver beside him, on a London bus, "have you heard about that wonderful fluid, electricity?" "No," said the driver, "is it anything like beer, for instance?"

Certainly, at the present time, no one does live up to the grand, broad, and wholesome truths, which the Theosophists expound. If all did, we should have the millennium at hand, with all of its moral magnificence. Whether or not men can reach the "higher plane," by climbing the ladder to it, offered by the Theosophists, each one must determine for himself. But the day has gone by, when the hand of intolerance will dare to pull the ladder away, whenever an earnest and troubled soul tries to ascend it.

THE LAST OF THE PEACOCK FEATHERS.

The papers published in China tells us that General Li Hung Chang has been deprived of his "three peacock feathers" because he failed to subdue the Japanese.

While the cruel messenger of the Brother of the Sun, Moon, and Stars, were ruthlessly pulling the brilliant feathers out of the cap of the illustrious General, the latter must have reflected, with bitterness, on his sad fate. He had reached the highest rank of scholarship. He had closed the Taeping rebellion. He had reached all China with his influence. He had entertained King Kalakaua and staff with a costly dinner at Tient Sin, and indulged in a ghastly grin as they vainly manoeuvred the chopsticks. He was not only the General of the Armies, but the Viceroy over 60,000,000 people. For all these illustrious deeds, he was permitted to wear in his cap the tail feathers of a bird which may usually be purchased for $5 in any market not controlled by the Sugar Trust.

As the Emperor's messenger picked the precious plumage out of his vice-regal cap, the venerable statesman, no doubt, shed bitter tears, and remarked that it was a pity that he had not profited by the saying of the great English statesman, on his downfall, that if he had served his God, as faithfully as he had served his King, it would have been money in his pocket.

In addition to this disgrace, this great man of China is in another trouble. Mr. Chang Pei-lun, Imperial War Commissioner in 1884, is a wily old fox, and succeeded, by great gifts of money, in marrying Li Hung Chang's daughter, and he resided in the yamen, or household, of the latter, in Tient-Sin. For some reason, the Emperor has "soured" on Mr. Pei-lun, and has ordered General Li to put his son-in-law, out of the yamen. This, perhaps, General Li would be willing to do, under ordinary circumstances, but he don't like to be slapped in the face, by the Brother of the Sun. Moreover, "he will have to run if he does so," says the Hongkong Weekly Press, "the gauntlet of tearful invective from both the second Countess Li, and especially, from his daughter, who is reputed to be a very good scholar." It looks as if the great vice-roy would have trouble, in throwing his wily son-in-law over the fence, because his daughter, will surely stand by her husband, and while she will tug, with her hands, at the vice-regal pigtail of her papa, she will plant, with piercing shrieks, her tiny feet upon his august person, and call him a "nasty thing," in very classic Chinese.

The latest reports tell us, that General Li has been removed from the command of the armies. If this is true, he will now be able to attend to his son-in-law.

We were, some years ago, at the hotel, at West Point, N. Y., where General Winfield Scott was visiting, in his old age. On his remarking, one day, at dinner, that the soup was too cold, his daughter replied, "eat it, you old fool, and stop talking."

Great generals, sometimes, have intrepid daughters.

The latest advices from the Asiatic seat of war indicate that very little is known about the actual result of the naval battles. It is believed that, on the whole, the Japanese have the advantage. The Japan Gazette believes that there will be an intervention by the great powers. If there is not, then the Chinese will, if they have been beaten so far, prepare a new army and navy during the winter months, and renew the war in the spring. If beaten again, they will slowly prepare another army and navy, and again renew the fight. Their resources, it says, are boundless. On the other hand, it says, the Japanese are under a great strain, financially, and may not be able to carry on the war indefinitely, even if successful at many points. Even peace, at the present time, will only result in the gradual organization of armies and navies on both sides, and create a situation like that existing on the European continent.

SOME wealthy Japanese merchants of Osaka and Tokio have organized a company for the purpose of refining sugar at some convenient point. The capital of the company is $1,000,000. Raw sugar will be imported, and no attempt will be made to raise the sugar cane.

Maine's Opinion on the Tariff.

"The Maine election was nothing short of a cataclysm. The Vermont Republicans thought they had done wonders with their 28,000 plurality, but the Maine Republicans have seen their 28,000 and have gone their 10,000 better. As old Casper said of the battle of Blenheim, it was a glorious victory. The rout of the Democrats is complete all along the line. They have met the enemy and are theirs, arms and equipment, camp supplies, baggage train, sutler tents, and all.

"Maine has spoken her opinion of the Bill of 'perfidy and dishonor' in tones that resound throughout the country. By phenomenal majorities for Congressional, State, and legislative tickets, she has said what she thinks of the taxing of sugar and the opening of American markets to the free competition of Canadian lumber and wool. The large Republican majorities in the manufacturing cities of Biddeford, Westbrook, Lewiston, and Waterville, most of which are naturally Democratic, show where the Tariff shoe pinches."

India and Ceylon have at last out-distanced China and Japan in the tea export to Great Britain, and they propose to make the United States their next conquest. In so doing, they have reduced the average price of Indian tea from 35 cents in 1891 by fully one-half. The production of Ceylon alone, from nothing in 1881, was last year over sixty-four million pounds.

Unless independent candidates bob up before elections the men nominated Saturday night will be elected on a "heads I win tails you lose" principle. The fact that there is no opposition, no second or third party in the field for political honors takes away from the election any of the deep interest shown by the people of San Francisco whose municipal and even state politics are in the hands of Burns and Buckley.

In Honolulu as in every other locality there is more or less desire for having ice in a convenient locality at night and it is not always a pleasant task to get to the refrigerator which is usually kept some distance from the bedroom. A company in New York is manufacturing a metallic arrangement suitable for holding ice, bottles, etc., and ornamented so as to make a handy piece of furniture for a room.

Any one familiar with night thirsts will appreciate the value of a thing like this. The mother of very young children will appreciate it because it obviates the necessity of going around at night in her bare feet and stepping on rubber balls, etc., and getting severe shocks in consequence.

The Wertheim Triplex Sewing Machine leads the world. Comparing it with any other make of sewing machines is like comparing a cheap grade of clarets with Wetmore's "Cresta Blanca" brands; like comparing the sunlight to one of our lamps with a Bradley or Hubbard burner. The Wertheim is the machine for the people; every part of it is as well finished as a piano, the tables are of carefully selected wood and polished, not varnished. The mechanism is simple and not easy to get out of order. The arrangement of the shuttle and for threading the needle is such that a child can handle it as easy as a grown person. It sews three distinct stitches, chain, lock and combined lock and chain by the simple turning of a thumb screw. The tables have the drop leaf and six drawers and you can get the whole business for less than you pay for a sewing machine with only one stitch.

Physicians have stated that unless the drinking water in the Hawaiian Islands is properly filtered there is danger of malarial fever. The mere boiling of the water is not sufficient because while the snakes, bugs, etc., are killed by the boiling they remain in the water and pass into the stomach. There is but one really effective way of removing such things and that is by using the Improved Stone Filter. The "S. G. Wilder" which arrived on Monday brought us a large invoice of these goods in various sizes and we are prepared to offer them at very reasonable prices. If you care for your health and that of your family invest a few dollars in a filter.

Beeman's
Pepsin Gum

IF YOU WANT A GOOD CHEWING GUM.

The practice of chewing gum is old. Our great grandfathers used to be gum chewers. They gathered the gum themselves in the woods. But perhaps you've tried chewing "spruce gum." That was the olden time gum. There wasn't any better gum then. Life is too short to chew any other sort but BEEMAN'S. It's up-to-date. It's ready and chewable from the start.

Mr. Beeman says there is a small amount of pepsin in each tablet. You know that pepsin aids digestion. We have customers who affirm that their digestion has improved since they have chewed BEEMAN'S GUM.

Have you ever tried it? It's a five-cent experiment.

Give the children BEEMAN'S GUM. It's better for them than candy; it's cheaper; it won't upset their stomachs.

STORIES OF PUNAHOU COLLEGE.

Rumors Sifted and the True Story Is Learned.

PROFESSOR HOSMER'S ATTITUDE.

He Did Not Reflect Upon the Half-Whites Nor Punish the Lads for Speaking About "the Queen"—A Letter in His Behalf Received.

If all the rumors which have been in circulation since last Wednesday had been true, Punahou College would, by this time, have been in the throes of a revolution, and at least half of all the scholars would have been withdrawn from that popular seat of learning.

The rumors assumed such a presumably tangible form that several scholars were withdrawn from the Preparatory school, and at least one from the College itself, although the latter has since returned.

The story as told, at first in whispers, but now in louder tones by those who wish to believe it, is about as follows:

It seems that, last Wednesday evening, Miss Macleod, one of the teachers at the College had charge of the students during the study hour. The scholars became slightly unruly, and it was necessary for Miss Macleod to call Professor Hosmer, the school's principal, to subdue the spirits of the scholars.

Mr. Hosmer still threatened to strike, when one of the boys hit him, and knocked him down. This is one story. Another, which includes portions of this one, is that after the above trouble, Mr. Hosmer put the two boys in their rooms, and told them they would have to stay there for a month.

All this, when it became noted around, raised a big fuss. It was claimed that Professor Hosmer had discriminated greatly against royalist scholars, and that the whole affair was simply a political scheme to show those who were in favor of restoration that the "P. G.'s" were better than they were.

Before the facts became known, four of the scholars going to the Preparatory School, which is under the same management as the college, were withdrawn, and one from the college. The parents were most indignant that such statements should have been made in regard to half-whites, and were very severe on Professor Hosmer for his alleged tirade against them.

But the fact of the matter is, that Mr. Hosmer never said a word derogatory of the half-whites, never locked two boys up in their rooms for a month, was never struck by a boy, never insisted on Mrs. Dominis' being called 'ex-queen,' and, in fact, is not the tyrant and double dyed villain which he has been made out. Those who know Mr. Hosmer could hardly believe such a thing possible at any time, and they will be glad to know positively that there is no truth in the report.

The true case is that recently an epidemic of swearing seems to have struck the college. Several of the boys were heard using language which would not grace a drawing-room, and Mr. Hosmer called six of them to account for it. It so happened that three of the culprits were royalists, and the others annexationists. He informed them that they were ordered to Punahou to learn something else besides profanity, and as that study was not included in the college curriculum, it would be better for them to abandon it. Then he told the boys that they would be required to spend all their spare time in their rooms for three days, as a punishment.

During the progress of Mr. Hosmer's lecture to the young offenders, he made the remark which was so twisted as to become the reported tirade against half-whites. Some of the boys were half-whites and, in partial extenuation of their using bad language, Mr. Hosmer said that Hawaiian boys, when talking native, were prone to be freer in their speech than were white boys. This was, according to the boys' own stories, said in the kindest way possible, but in some way it leaked out and became the distorted version which has caused all the trouble.

After the reports had started, and had assumed the shape which they did, two of the half-white boys concerned made a volunteer statement in writing to Mr. Hosmer to the effect that he had not, to their knowledge, ever abused the half-whites, had made no derogatory statements concerning them, and that politics cut no figure whatever in the college.

This statement Mr. Hosmer has, and it certainly is a refutation of the various reports, if any was needed.

Professor Hosmer was seen yesterday in regard to the matter, and said, he had heard the rumors but had paid little attention to them, as all of them were false.

"In regard to the scholars who were withdrawn," said he, "the one who left the college returned the day after she was withdrawn by her parents. Those who took their children out of the Preparatory school had made other arrangements for them before they found out the true facts of the case. There is no trouble at the college, nor has there been."

REMARKABLE TREES.

Some of the More Striking Curiosities of Plant Life.

On the Canary island grows a fountain tree, a tree most needed in some parts of the island. It is said that the leaves constantly distill enough water to furnish drink to every living creature in Hiero, nature having provided this remedy for the drought of the island. Every morning near this part of the island a cloud or mist arises from the sea, which the winds force against the steep cliff on which the tree grows, and it is from the mist that the tree distills the water.

China, too, claims her remarkable tree. This is known as the tallow tree, so called from the fact of its producing a substance like tallow, and which serves the same purpose, is of the same consistency, color and smell. On the island of Loo-Choo grows a tree, about the size of a common cherry tree, which possesses the peculiarity of changing the color of its blossoms. At one time the flower assumes the tint of the lily, and again shortly takes the color of the rose. In Tibet there is a curious tree known as the tree of the thousand images. Its leaves are covered with well defined characters of the Tibetan alphabet. It is of great age and the only one of its kind known there.

The cashab tree is considered one of the most wonderful of the vegetable kingdom. It appears that nothing can kill this tree; hence it reaches an astonishing age as well as enormous size. The natives make a strong cord from the fibers of the bark; hence the trees are continually barked, but without damage, as they soon put forth a new bark. It appears impervious to fire, and even the ax is resisted, as it continues to grow in length while it is lying on the ground.

In Mexico there is a plant known by the name of palo de leche. It belongs to the family of euphorbia. The Indians throw the leaves into the water, and the fish become stupefied and rise to the surface and are then caught by the natives. In this case the effect of the narcotic soon passes off. The milk of this plant thrown upon the fire gives out fumes that produce nausea and headache. The milk taken internally is a deadly poison. It will produce death or insanity, according to the size of the dose. There is a popular belief among the lower class in Mexico that the insanity of the ex-Empress Carlotta was caused by this poison.—San Jose Mercury.

POSTAGE STAMP FAD.

IT BEGAN AS A HARMLESS AMUSEMENT AND BECAME A MANIA.

Millions of Dollars Are Locked Up In Bits of Paper That Have No Real Value—Some of the Rare Specimens For Which Fabulous Prices Are Asked and Given.

The postage stamp mania is one of the most curious of human fads, remarks a New York writer. A collection of coins is at the most worth the weight of the metal. Not so a collection of stamps. The fashion may go out as it came in, and then the stamps will be only so much waste paper.

The fad broke out in 1861 in the form of a few sporadic cases among school-boys and maiden ladies. It was not only a harmless fad, but in the case of the schoolboys it was even an educative one. It proved the easiest, the pleasantest and the most efficacious way of driving knowledge of geography into the adolescent mind.

But now that these first few sporadic attacks have developed into something alarmingly like an epidemic one begins to speculate whether the craze of the philatelist is not a distinct bar to human progress, inasmuch as it consumes a large amount of brain force and vital energy that might better be turned into other and more useful channels of activity.

In the United States alone there is an organization called the American Philatelic association, which numbers 1,000 members. But this represents only a small fraction of the philatelists actually in the country.

The greatest and most famous of living philatelists—considered merely from the philatelist point of view—is M. Philippe de Ferrari, a dignified, courteous and white haired old gentleman who lives in Paris. He is a son of the late Duchess de Galliera, who was also a passionate lover of stamps.

His collection is valued at $500,000. He has been known to pay $500 for an album which contained only a single stamp that he coveted. For more valuable collections he has never limited his expenditures.

Next to the Ferrari collection comes that of Baron Arthur de Rothschild, which is so valuable that its owner, with the true jealousy of the collector, reserves the pages containing his rarest treasures for the delectation only of himself and his most intimate friends.

Now, what constitutes the enormous value of these collections? It is not the number of the specimens. There are more than 6,000 different varieties of stamps now actually in existence. A certain number can be obtained at comparatively light expense.

But the rarer ones command large prices. Never mind whether the rarity was created by age or accident.

The MacMahon stamp in France is the blue rose, the unattainable ideal of the collector. When the marshal was president of France, his wife was anxious to see his image set in stamps.

Designs were accordingly prepared, but the postal commissioner rejected them and adopted another design. Nevertheless there is a legend that some of these MacMahon stamps got into circulation. If a single specimen ever turns up, it will be priceless.

Another lost piece is a postage stamp issued by the government of British Guiana in 1856. It has disappeared from the market, and specimens held in the hands of private collectors are valued at $250.

A set of four 1850 stamps also issued in British Guiana bring anywhere from $400 to $500, and a set of four 1852 Hawaiian stamps are valued at $1,500.

The 15 and 30 cent reunion stamps bring $500. The New Brunswick 5 cent stamp, with the head of O'Connell, is rarely parted with under $150.

Rare is also the black Canadian 12 penny stamp, valued at $125.

But the collector does not stop at legitimate issues of stamps. He gives fancy prices for varieties of shades, for perforations, errors and watermarks.

At a recent stamp exhibition in Vienna an enthusiastic collector named Giel displayed with pride the "error" of France—a stamp of 25 centimes printed in blue instead of black, the "error" of Afghanistan and a stamp with a missing ornament in a corner.

Dr. Mallmann of Vienna had even more wondrous delights to unfold, for he was the proud possessor of the two rare "errors" of the Cape of Good Hope, stamps of 1 penny and 4 pence respectively, which are blue instead of red and red instead of blue.

Such "errors" fetch a very high price, kept down only by the uncertainty of creating new "values" by wanting misprinting.

No article on philately could be complete without some notice of the 1,000,000 postage stamps myth. This still survives in vague and uncertain forms in the rural districts, where it is believed that some vast benefit, financial or other, will accrue to any one who collects 1,000,000 stamps and forwards them to the proper address. But the proper address is never known.

Incongruous.

A clerical correspondent of one of the church papers relates that a certain prelate had great difficulty in suppressing his laughter at the consecration of a church the other day owing to the device on one of the school banners which was carried in the procession before the service. This banner was adorned with a very fierce looking lion, with terrible claws and teeth, while underneath him was the legend, "Suffer little children to come unto me."—London Truth.

Yellow Fever.

There is a marked peculiarity about yellow fever which distinguishes it from most epidemics. It is essentially a disease of a hot climate, and it takes a certain amount and duration of heat to awaken it to life. It is said that it can never prevail where Indian corn will not ripen.

Electric elevators are multiplying.

STUDYING HUMAN NATURE.

Novel and Valuable Scientific Work Now Being Carried on in Washington.

A new kind of scientific work is being carried on in Washington, in which the testing of 25,000 school children mentally, morally and physically is the preliminary step. Dr. Arthur McDonald is conducting the work under the auspices of the United States bureau of education, and the results when arranged and tabulated are expected to throw valuable light upon a number of mooted questions concerning the race.

For example, it is desired to know whether boys of the laboring class are less bright than the sons of the well to do. Are they as well nourished? In London not long ago investigation proved that the children of laboring people in that metropolis were better nourished—that is to say, weighed more at the same age—than those belonging to higher social strata, the latter being fed on too much candy and cake.

The work here being unfinished, conclusions cannot be stated. To begin with, the height and sitting height of each child were taken. Long bodied races, generally speaking, are inferior. It is desired to know if long bodied individuals are less clever or less strong than the short bodied of the same race. Are long bodied boys and girls apt to be stupid? Long headed children are usually tall. Tall people are most often long headed. Tall races are superior. The question naturally follows, Are long headed children superior mentally? When it is said that a man has a long head, is there not significance in the remark?

Are tall children, then, superior? Nobody knows as yet. These are among the things which Dr. McDonald is trying to find out. In the classification the 8,000 negro children in Washington schools have been kept separate, so as to compare them with white children.

How do they compare in respect to brightness, weight, physical measurements, etc.? The colored child surpasses the white child up to 3 years of age in mental development, then the white child goes ahead. Comparisons of girls with boys naturally follow. At the age of entering womanhood girls weigh more than boys. That age with city girls arrives a year earlier than with country girls.—Boston Transcript.

COLUMBUS TOOK A TUMBLE.

It Was the Last Day of the California Fair, and He Was All Broke Up.

Truth crushed to earth will rise again, but there is no such hope for the statue of Columbus at the fair. It lay on the ground in the grand court recently shattered to a thousand pieces. Columbus came off his perch about 10 o'clock in the forenoon, and as he was large and portly he struck the ground with a dull thud. His right leg clung to the pedestal, the indications being that that limb had been pulled, the fracture being committed at the knee.

Columbus wore no whiskers at the exposition, but the wind was attracted to him nevertheless. It sought to lift the long locks that hung over his shoulders, and in this effort it toppled their big owner from his commanding elevation in the valley of the court. People who are affected by coincidences did not fail to comment on his passing way on the day that was practically the last of the fair. He had seen the glories of the exposition come and go, and some persons imagined that the memories he cherished overcame him as if he were an animate being. The knowledge that the fair was over and that he was to be taken away to some obscure and strange place broke him all up, they said. He had been ailing for several days. When it was evident by the inclination of his head that he was unbalanced, measures were taken to keep him from injuring himself, but he finally broke from the ropes that restrained him, and the fall of Caesar was nothing in comparison to his. The statue was made of a sort of plaster and was partly hollow, being devoid of lungs and other internal organs.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Novel Ground For a Suit For Damages.

Lawyers are ever ready with new methods of procedure and novel grounds for action, but there is an Englishman who has just made himself prominent in his profession as a deviser of a unique basis for a suit for damages. He has entered suit against a newspaper asking damages and an injunction on the ground that his practice has been injured by the newspaper withholding his name in cases where he has been successful and publishing it only in cases which he has lost. Eminent counsel have been retained on both sides, and the action will be bitterly contested.—New York Herald.

Mixed the Babies.

Among the curiosities of typography a prominent place must be given to the recent achievement of a Chicago paper in the mixing up of headlines in a most startling manner. First there is an article with this caption:

THE CONDOR OF THE ANDES.

Albert Seaton Bery of Kentucky Bears That Distinction.

In another column on the same page of the paper in question is this announcement:

TALLEST MAN IN CONGRESS.

Scars Far Above the Eagle and Reaches a Height of Six Miles.

—Buffalo Commercial.

What Senator Hill Said.

With the echo of his defense of President Cleveland still ringing in the ears of his colleagues, Senator Hill walked into the cloakroom and dropped into an easy chair to chat with Senator Smith. Presently a page appeared, carrying a note inclosed in a large square envelope addressed to Senator Hill.

"Ah!" said Mr. Smith, with a tone of inquiry, "an invitation to dine with the president tonight?"

Senator Hill looked up from the note with a twinkle in his eye. "Not at this stage of the game," said he.—Washington Post.

We called on Mr. Chase, the General Passenger Agent of the Volcano House Company, at his Tourists' Headquarters, Williams' Gallery, and have made arrangements with him, so that our representative can go up with the Thos. Cook & Sons' Excursion from the Coast, consisting of twenty-five people, leaving here January 29th, if you so desire or at any other time.

We are as anxious that whoever represents us on this trip shall have all the pleasure there is in it, as we are to have you know; that by our Quick Sales and Small Profit System of doing business, you get the most for your money—that it enables you to buy among the great variety of goods in our line.

EQUIPOISE WAISTS, cheaper than ever, and speaking about Equipoise and Compromise Waists, they combine three garments in one—a CORSET, a WAIST, and Corset Cover. They afford the same butt support that a regular boned corset does. The bone pockets are so arranged that bones can be removed or re-inserted at any time without any ripping being done.

Ladies who find it uncomfortable to wear the ordinary Corset, and still cannot do without some support will find the Equipoise Waist the long-looked-for substitute for corsets—they fit perfectly. We have them all sizes. They are just the thing to wear on the Volcano Trip.

Save all your Sale Checks. You may be the lucky one.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

The National band plays at the hotel tonight. Appraiser Fishel moves into his new office today. The Board of Health will not meet this afternoon. Harry Miller started yesterday on another vacation trip. The Hyacinth arrived from Bird Island yesterday morning. The Alameda may arrive from the Colonies this evening. G. N. and A. S. Wilcox left for their Kauai home yesterday. E. L. Collins, who arrived by the Wilder, is a lawyer of Oakland. W. O. Atwater and J. A. McCandless have gone to Kahului. A. Sachs and Charles Dowborn left for the volcano on the Kinau. W. H. Cornwell and Miss Blanche Cornwell returned to Maui yesterday.

A young man desires a position in a wholesale house or plantation store. W. O. Smith will probably return from Kahala on the Hawaii tomorrow. J. W. Chapman will be steward of the Hawaiian hotel, commencing today. The Oakland took 50 tons of salt, 250 sacks of rice, and 225 bunches of bananas. If the Alameda makes a trip like she used to, she should be in from the Colonies tonight. Wm. L. Peterson, Notary Public, type writer, and collector, has a business card in this issue.

There will be a meeting of the Young Hawaiians' Institute in the Y. M. C. A. hall this evening. Officers and trustees of the Leilani Boat Club will hold a meeting at the Hawaiian hotel this evening. The mortgage sale of the property of Chas. Girdler has been postponed until tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. A Port Angeles, Wash., lumber company will furnish 3,000,000 feet of cedar for railway work in the Hawaiian Islands. A neat little silver button with the letters "H. S." in black enamel, has been made for members of the Humane Society.

Those who want to see "Charley's Aunt" again, and those who have not seen this laughable play, should leave their names at Lewis Levey's. Four splendid grey dray horses were brought down on the Andrew Welch for Mr. Peck. They are said to be the finest animals of the kind in Honolulu. Jas. F. Morgan will sell, at noon today, at the yard of H. Hackfeld & Co., corrugated iron, blacksmith's iron, bags, etc. Also cases of fine, old Scotch whiskey and gin.

A box sale of seats for "Charley's Aunt" will be opened this afternoon at 2 o'clock. The date for the performance has not been set yet, but it will be given in the near future. A Chinaman, seriously wounded, is lying in the Y. M. C. A. Building. He was stabbed by a Chinese boy and taken into that place, where he is under the treatment of Dr. McGrew. The Supreme Court yesterday decided against granting a new trial to Ben Gallagher and he was taken to the reef during the morning, where he will serve the six months sentence imposed by Judge Cooper.

Mrs. W. H. Rickard left on the Kinau for Hawaii yesterday. Mr. Rickard will remain here about a fortnight and then remove to his ranch on the larger island. He and his family expect to live there in the future. An incendiary fire occurred in a small house near Beretania and Nuuanu streets early yesterday morning. Captain Scott came from the Police Station, and the blaze was extinguished with a few buckets full of water. The Fire Department was not called out. Oil had been poured on the porch. Kauaheihei occupies the place.

DIED OF CONSUMPTION. James Cowes Passes Away Yesterday Afternoon. James Cowes, the son of Robert Cowes, the well known steward of the Mariposa, died of consumption at five o'clock yesterday afternoon. He was 27 years old at the time of his death. Young Cowes was employed for some time by the Tramways Company, but expected to leave on the Diamond for San Francisco. His body will probably be sent to San Francisco for burial, on the next steamer.

MR. KUBOTA OF THE FIRM OF TIRAOKA & CO. has resigned from our firm locating at Labaina, Maui. We, the undersigned hereby notify that hereafter we will not be responsible for any bills or debts charged on our account by the said Mr. Kubota. TIRAOKA & OKI. Labaina, October 11 1894. 3817-1m

SAYS HE WONT PAY.

E. B. Thomas Objects to Paying Alimony. E. B. Thomas appeared before Judge Whiting yesterday afternoon in the course of the proceedings in the divorce suit brought by his wife. Mr. Thomas was not at his best. He had visited several places where liquid refreshment was to be found, and he had found it. During the trial Mr. Thomas became quite familiar with Judge Whiting, and several times he had to be suppressed. When the judge informed him that he would have to pay $12 a week each to his wife and child, until the divorce case was settled, Mr. Thomas rebelled. As he tersely put it, "he'd be damned if he would." But he will probably change his mind rather than go to jail for contempt.

National Band Concert. The National Band will give a concert at the Hawaiian Hotel this evening at 8:15 o'clock. The programme is as follows: 1. March—"American Cadets".....Hall 2. Overture—"Poet and Peasant".....Suppe 3. Piccola Solo—"Through the Air".....Damm M. Kealakai. 4. Selection—"Adelia".....Donizetti NATIVE SONGS. 5. Overture—"Said Pasha".....Stahl 6. It's easy, cheap, time-saving, business-like. to use a "Calligraph" type-writer. Who will think you are wideawake and progressive if you stick to the way your grandfather wrote? Steel pens instead of quill pens; you're ahead there. Take another step. Use a Calligraph. You can do more work on a Calligraph than with a pen. It's more comfortable to use a Calligraph than a pen.

The Calligraph is better than any other type-writer, because it is simpler, lasts longer and does cleaner work than any other. It's easier to learn than any other, too. You can buy one on easy terms. It helps pay for itself while you're buying it. Let me sell you one. T. W. Hobron, Sole Agent, Honolulu.
