WALKER A GOOD AMERICAN.

The Senate Listens to Correspondence in the Hawaiian Matter.

THE ADMIRAL'S IMPRESSIONS.

The Writer Regardless of the Administration's Policy—A True Report of Things as They Are—Confidence Expressed in the Republic of Hawaii.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—In answer to a resolution, Secretary Herbert today sent to the Senate the correspondence between the Navy Department and Admiral Walker, relative to his mission to Hawaii last summer. The correspondence makes a volume of considerable size, covering about sixty typewritten pages, and while much of it is purely formal, some chapters are of great interest. It begins on March 23d last with the formal order of the Secretary detailing the Admiral from duty as president of the Inspection Board, and ordering him to Honolulu to relieve Admiral Irwin as commander-in-chief of the Pacific station, and closes with a notice from the Admiral, dated Mare Island, Cal., August 24th, announcing his relinquishment of that command to Admiral Beardslee. Four days after the issue of the first formal order the Admiral, while in Washington, received the following instructions from the Secretary, marked, "Confidential":

SIR: The following instructions, which are to be considered strictly confidential, are issued for your guidance while in command of the United States naval forces on the Pacific station:

The attitude and policy which the Government of the United States has heretofore observed toward the people and Government of the Hawaiian Islands are fully shown in the executive documents. Nos. 47, 48, 65, 70, 76, 78, and 95, which have been mailed to your care of the Navy Office, San Francisco.

You will freely consult with the Minister of the United States at Honolulu upon all points which may arise in the general course of Hawaiian matters, and you will give due weight to his knowledge and opinion upon the actual employment in any event of the military forces under your command, and in deciding the course to be pursued by yourself in any matter not covered by specific instructions.

Your purpose as commander of the naval forces of the United States will be the protection of the lives and property of American citizens.

In case of any civil war in the Islands, whether growing out of an attempt to restore the Queen, or an attempt to establish a permanent Government, or out of any election, or arising from any cause whatever, you will extend no aid or support, moral or physical, to any of the parties engaged therein, but you will keep steadily in view that it is your duty to protect the lives and property of all such citizens of the United States as shall not by their participation in such civil commotions subject themselves to local law, and thus forfeit their right in that regard to the protection of the American flag. An American citizen who, during a revolution or insurrection in a foreign country, participates in an attempt by force of arms or violence to maintain or overthrow the existing Government, or who aids in setting on foot a revolution or insurrection in such a country, cannot claim as a matter of right of the Government of the United States protection against the consequences of such act.

If you shall observe at any time any effort or attempt on the part of any foreign power to interfere in the political affairs of the Islands, or if you shall perceive any circumstances pointing to such interference, you will promptly report the same to this department. Very respectfully,

H. A. HERBERT,

Secretary of the Navy.

The next step in the correspondence

after this was the dispatch of a telegram on June 18th from the department to Admiral Walker, then at Honolulu, asking whether any survey of Pearl Harbor was being made by his order.

Another telegram, dated July 9th, ordered him, upon the arrival of the Charleston at Honolulu, to turn over his orders to the commanding officer of that vessel and return without delay on the Philadelphia to Mare Island. On July 11th the Admiral was directed by telegraph to Mare Island to turn over the command of the Pacific squadron to Admiral Beardslee and repair to Annapolis to assume the duties of superintendent of the Naval Academy. Another telegram, of date July 20th, directed the Admiral, then at Honolulu, to proceed at once to Mare Island without awaiting the arrival of the Charleston.

Admiral Walker began his reports to the department by a letter from Honolulu, dated April 25th, stating that he had assumed command of the station, and telling of the consequent formalities. On the 28th of the same month he wrote a long letter touching the political position giving his impressions. Premising his remarks with the statement that the Provisional Government appeared to be firmly established, and that life and property were secure, the Admiral says that there are two causes which give uneasiness—the uncertainty of the natives as to ultimate restoration of the Queen, and the possible disaffection of the Japanese. The registration had closed with but 1500 registrations in Honolulu. Comparatively few natives had registered, their policy being one of abstention from political affairs under existing circumstances.

They had been informed by their leaders that they would be punished if the Queen was restored, and they were being constantly told that she would be restored by the United States, and foreign influence encouraged this belief and apprehension. Could they feel assured that the monarchy would not be restored by outside interference, it is believed they would readily participate in the formation of a new government. The sentiment of loyalty to the monarchy and Queen is, says the Admiral, to a considerable extent, a sentiment of self-interest, of self-preservation in the event of restoration.

"I am satisfied," said the Admiral, "that a clearly formulated assurance from the United States of non-interference with political affairs of Hawaii and of the disapproval of interference upon the part of any other nation would rest the situation clearly upon its local merits in the estimation of all classes without hope or fear of outside pressure, and would tend to speedy settlement of all troubles."

Touching the Japanese, the Admiral says they number over 20,000 on the islands, and are inclined to be turbulent. They stand together as a body. Their leaders have political ambition, and propose to claim the right to vote. Many persons think them a possible source of future danger. They are brave, with military instinct, and would fight if aroused or excited. The Portuguese also have political aspirations, but they are a law-abiding, desirable class of immigrants. The Chinese do not enter into politics to any extent. As a rule, the English are royalists, but many favor the Provisional Government and annexation.

The Admiral complains of our lack of naval strength and the taking away of the Adams, leaving the flagship unsupported. He says we should have a force equal to any two other foreign forces combined, while we are equalled by the English and excelled by the Japanese. Pending the arrival of the Charleston, he recommends the sending of the Monterey to Honolulu, and closes by saying that if the Maron touches there on her way to San Francisco he shall detain her until after the elections, and longer if deemed advisable.

In his next letter, of date April 28, the Admiral tells of the notice served by the British Minister, and of the intention upon President Dole of the intention of his Government to use Necker Island as a cable station and his request that nothing be said about it to the French or to any one. The President replied that he felt bound to inform the United States, in view of the close relations with that Government.

There is little of interest in the next three letters beyond one statement that the hopes of the royalists appear to be diminishing, but on May 30 the Admiral tells of the celebrated race for the possession of Necker Island between the Champion and the small steamer chartered by the Hawaiian Government. On June 21 the Admiral sends a preliminary report upon Pearl Harbor, which has already been published in substance, which he says he has caused to be surveyed because of the interest he has long held in the subject and in view of its great value to the United States.

On June 23 Admiral Walker notes the receipt of the formal announcement of the action of our Senate toward Hawaii. He says: "This definite announcement of a policy, expressed in terms so clear and unmistakable, has strengthened the hands of the existing Government and will undoubtedly assist in the solution of certain difficult questions which attend the adoption of a permanent form of government. The royalists are correspondingly depressed and discouraged."

"In my opinion," says he, "the peace is not in danger of being disturbed at present."

Many letters attend the organization of the Republic. He says: "I hear of no objections being made to those provisions (relative to the right of suffrage) by foreign representatives, and all apprehension of trouble with the Japanese has subsided."

Further on the Admiral says that the Republic has been firmly established; that there is no probability whatever of revolution. If Liliuokalani surrenders her claim for a pension matters will at once be settled. He considers that there is no longer any necessity for the presence of a flag officer in Hawaii, but that a ship should be kept there and that Hawaii may be regarded as having reverted to her former status. A port at this station is especially important because of its American interest and affiliation.

The last letter from Admiral Walker is unquestionably the most interesting of the entire correspondence. It is dated at Honolulu, August 17, just prior to his departure for the United States, in accordance with the peremptory order of the Secretary, set out in the telegrams with which the correspondence begins. It reads in part as follows:

In my opinion, the Republic has ample strength to maintain itself and preserve peace, and would suppress riot and counter revolution with a firm hand, but so long as foreign vessels lie in the harbor of Honolulu, ready at a moment's notice in the event of disturbances to land forces to secure the safety of life and property, it is open to the enemies of the Government to say that tranquility was maintained only by the presence of these ships. I found leading members of the Government and others strongly of this opinion, and expressing satisfaction with the prospect of being left for a time entirely alone.

But as soon as it was known that the Philadelphia was to leave on the 8th, a movement was set on foot among the English residents to retain the Champion, and the British Minister, Major Wodehouse, willingly consented to order her to remain in port.

The change of plan and the circumstance under which it was made put the situation in a new and somewhat serious light, to thoroughly appreciate which it is necessary to understand the attitude and ambition of Major Wodehouse.

He had been in Honolulu nearly thirty years, and his constant struggle had been to set English influence against American influence and make it predominate, and, as an essential part of this policy, to maintain the monarchy. The successful revolution and the establishment of a republic during the last year of his diplomatic service, upon the eve of his retirement was an evidence of failure, which made him bitter and hostile. Although holding the position of British Minister, and transacting diplomatic business with the Government de facto, he had been a pronounced and partisan royalist. It is currently believed that he had been in constant secret communication with the ex-queen, and entirely in the confidence of the royalist leaders, and he had certainly lost no opportunity to embarrass the present Government, disregarding the courtesies and amenities due from one in his position. But for his impending retirement, matters would have probably come, some time ago, to an issue which would have resulted in his recall or dismissal.

Although I had full confidence in the Republic's ability to preserve order, and regarded the chance of an uprising of the Royalists even under the favorable circumstances mentioned above as very remote, I did not feel that even such a remote chance should be taken, and I decided to postpone the Philadelphia's departure at least until the arrival of the Australia's mail on the 11th inst. Before reaching this conclusion, I consulted with the United States minister, whose views coincided with my own, and I was further confirmed in my opinion by the receipt of a petition to keep the Philadelphia at Honolulu, signed by several prominent merchants and business men, representing large American moneyed interests. This petition is enclosed.

It is a fact that should not be lost sight of, that English influence is always opposed to American influence in the Hawaiian Islands. It is colonial and local in its character, influenced largely, if not wholly, by trade jealousies, but it is a potent factor and is strong enough to eventually influence the British diplomatic representatives and to have its effect upon British naval officers who remain here for any length of time. The existence of the antagonism and its influences, should always be taken into account.

Had the department orders given me discretion in the matter, I should have left the Philadelphia at Honolulu and returned to San Francisco with my staff, by mail steamer; failing the arrival of the Charleston by the 8th, but as they were entirely unqualified I had no choice but to obey them at the earliest possible moment that such a course was justified by paramount public interests. I trust that another ship will be sent to Honolulu at the earliest practicable moment.

AN ORDER FOR VESSELS.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—A resolution will be introduced in Congress, probably in both houses, looking to the immediate ordering of one or more naval vessels to Honolulu. Senator Lodge of Massachusetts will probably introduce the resolution in the Senate. The exact form in which the resolution will be drawn is not yet decided on. It may come in the form of an inquiry as to why a naval vessel has not been kept at Honolulu, but is more apt to be an expression of opinion by Congress that a naval force sufficient to maintain American prestige and to prevent foreign interference in affairs of Hawaii should be sent at once to Honolulu.

CUBAN SUGAR MAY BE SHUT OUT.

Retaliation Against Spain's Discrimination—The Canal Bill Will Pass the Senate—Paymaster Sullivan's Case. Debs Will Go to Prison.

NEW YORK, Dec. 18.—Unless all signs fail, tomorrow will be a very lively day on the Stock Exchange so far as trading in sugar is concerned. Private advices from Washington report that Secretary of State Gresham has cabled the Spanish Government that persistence on its part in discriminating against exports from this country to Cuba in favor of Canada will invite retaliation under the act of 1890 against Cuban sugars. If Cuban sugar is shut out from our refineries it must of necessity find its way to European countries, and in turn return to this country in the form of refined sugar. Sugar authorities on Wall street interpret the result of such an action as a serious blow to the trust as it will flood this country with foreign refined sugars.

The Yacht Race Sure. NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—From a cable message received by ex-Commodore Smith of the New York Yacht Club from Secretary Grant of the Royal Yacht Squadron, it appears that the Englishman considers the middle of November too late for the America cup race, but that Lord Dunraven will race in September or within three weeks of his arrival. If this is acceptable a special meeting of the squadron will be called at once; otherwise a special meeting is considered unnecessary. Commodore Smith sent a favorable reply, so the question of a race in 1895 is settled.

The Nicaragua Canal. NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—The Herald's Washington correspondent telegraphs the following: The Nicaragua canal bill will pass the Senate. Senator Gorman said today that the only difficulty threatening the bill was delay. He doubts that a bill can be had before the holiday adjournment, but when a vote is taken he believes that the bill will pass. Senator Lodge advanced like information from a representative point of view. Although expecting some delay, he believed that the bill would pass the Senate after the holidays.

Debs Will Go to Prison. CHICAGO, Dec. 18.—Eugene V. Debs, president of the American Railway Union, and his associates on the Board of Directors, who are under sentence to the county jail, will cease all attempts to obtain an appeal from Judge Wood's decision, and begin their terms of imprisonment when the ten days' stay of sentence has expired.

Paymaster Sullivan. WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—Senator Perkins from the committee favorably reported the bill authorizing the President to reappoint John Clyde Sullivan paymaster in the navy, with the relative rank of lieutenant commander, with an amendment providing that he be placed at the foot of the list.

With Fire and With Sword. BERLIN, Dec. 19.—The Cologne Gazette today publishes a letter from Armenia telling of fresh horrors there. It tells of twenty-three villages being laid in ashes, many other villages pillaged and forty priests massacred.

Madagascar Will Submit. LONDON, Dec. 17.—The Times correspondent in Paris telegraphs: It is stated that a telegram arrived here last night announcing that the Queen of Madagascar was ready to accept unreservedly the French conditions.

The Queen Grows Old. LONDON, Dec. 18.—Truth says that Queen Victoria's eyesight is failing. A recent issue of the paper says: Her Majesty has palpably aged very much during the past autumn.

Museum Announcement. The Bishop Museum will not be open on New Year's Day, but, for the coming month, the public are invited to avail themselves of the opportunity for a full and continuous inspection of the articles of historic and scientific interest that are stored in this beautiful building. The arrangement is so skillfully and tastefully devised that it is a rare pleasure to spend hours in careful study of the various objects on exhibition. The Trustees, it will be noticed, have made arrangements to have it open every afternoon, for the present.

Cycle Boys Declare a Dividend. A business meeting of the Honolulu Cyclers was held last night. The treasurer announced that after all bills were paid there would be $200 80 in the treasury, making each member entitled to $1.63 as a dividend. A vote of thanks was tendered the officers of the day at the Christmas races and to Chief Hunt for the use of the Bell Tower. Mr. E. A. Jacobson will distribute the prizes to the winners in the near future.

A RARE OPPORTUNITY FOR INVESTMENT.

It is proposed to place the Ostrich Farm of the late Dr. Trousean on the market in January or February next. This farm is thoroughly equipped and now has thirty-four healthy birds on same, including the famous male ostrichs Jumbo and Jno. L. Sullivan.

We believe that it can be demonstrated that this enterprise, new to these islands, but of long standing in Africa, New Zealand and California, can be now carried on at a profit as the experimental stage has been safely passed.

Mr. A. P. Jackson, the genial manager can always be found in attendance at the grounds.

We have on hand a large number of prime feathers in assorted colors from the last plucking which are easily worth $50 per pound and upwards according to quality. The next plucking takes place in January next. Prospectuses, information concerning the feather market and all necessary data will be furnished.

All reliable persons desirous of visiting the grounds can do so by first obtaining permits from the undersigned.

NUPTIAL EPIDEMIC ON KAUALI.

Marie Cummins Becomes Mrs. G. O. King.

CHARLIE MAKEE'S SURPRISES.

He Gets Two and Creates a Third—Elaborate Celebration of Christmas at Col. Spalding's Kealia Plantation—Numerous Cases of Malarial Fever.

KAUALI, Dec. 29.—Colonel Z. S. Spalding gave a substantial manifestation of his goodwill towards his employees and others connected with his plantation at Kealia on Monday evening, December 24th, by a series of festivities, commencing with an elaborate dinner, served in a large lanai especially erected for the occasion near the Kealia Hotel. This was most tastily draped with flags of all nations, and beautifully decorated with ferns, flowers and leis in graceful festoons, under which were spread four long tables, with covers laid for over a hundred guests. The closing event of the evening was a Christmas party, with varied entertainments, at the Kealia Social Hall.

This party was quite a unique affair and consisted of three parts: First, there were stereopticon views; next came the distribution of gifts, after which the hall was cleared for dancing. The music for the occasion was furnished by a stringed band, with occasional vocal selections, which were well rendered and appreciated. The managing spirit of these festivities, to whom all credit is due, is Col. Spalding's able lieutenant, the young manager, Mr. Geo. H. Fairchild.

Marie Kamaiohili Cummins, of Honolulu, was married to Stephen G. O. King, of Kealia, this morning, Dec. 29th, at the residence of Col. R. C. Spalding. The ceremony, which was beautiful and impressive, was performed by Father Emmeran, of Hanamaulu. The bride's sister, Miss Kamakee Cummins, and Miss Helene Robertson, acted as bridesmaids; Mr. George H. Fairchild and Mr. Frank B. Smith groomsmen. Col. Spalding gave the bride away. The occasion was also the twenty-fourth anniversary of the marriage of the genial host and hostess, Colonel and Mrs. R. C. Spalding.

The bridal party stood beneath festoons of white carnations and tuberoses, while just above the heads of the bride and groom were suspended intertwined hearts of white asters, with the initials "C."—"K." wrought in purple violets. At the right and left were banks of ferns, the whole forming a perfect symphony in floral decoration. The bride was tastefully attired in an elegant gown of white crepe de chine over white satin, elaborately trimmed with pearl passementerie. The close collar, banded with pearls, was fastened with a beautiful gold bar holding three large solitaire diamonds, a gift from the groom's father, mother and brother. She carried a bouquet of white asters and maiden hair ferns. Miss Cummins wore a beautiful gown of yellow India silk, sleeves and revers of lavender velvet, garniture of jeweled passementeries and purple violets. Miss Robertson presented a very pretty appearance in a dainty gown of pink and white striped chiffon, trimmed with white moire ribbons. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations. The wedding presents were numerous, valuable, ornamental and useful.

By far the most brilliant event in society for many a month past was the reception that followed, in an immense lanai especially erected for the occasion, which was beautifully draped with the bunting of all nations with that of Hawaii, America and Great Britain predominating in the order as named.

The dining room was an exquisite glow of red, under the light of lamps and red and white tapers in quaint candlebras of old, shading the illumination into harmony with the favored color. Rich chrisanthemums of red, with magnificent waterlilies of the same hue, side by side with jardineres of clear white, formed a beautiful contrast.

Musicians occupied an alcove in the lanai, screened by ferns and palms. Dancing was indulged in till break of day.

The Makee Sugar Company's mill at Kealia is running night and day, the output of sugar to date being about 1200 tons, an average of fifty tons per day. There is quite a noticeable improvement in the general local management of this company's plantation and affairs, Mr. George H. Fairchild being at the helm.

Mr. C. B. Makee, who has charge of the Kapaa division of Kealia plantation, was recently the recipient of two rather abrupt surprises—one mail brought him the news that his wife had secured a divorce; the next contained advices to the effect that his holdings in the Waiehe plantation are worth $50,000.

Charlie celebrated the events by entertaining a select number of friends at dinner, and then evening up on surprises by the announcement of his approaching marriage to Miss Emma Hatfield. The ceremony will probably take place some time in February.

Dr. John Weddick reports a marked improvement in the general public health of the district.

There has been an unusual number of cases of malarial fever hereabouts this winter. At Kilauea there were seventy cases reported under treatment by the Japanese physician who has medical charge of the plantation, with quite a number of fatalities amongst them.

The First Methodist Episcopal church will hold a watch night service tonight beginning at 11 o'clock. After a song service there will be a short sermon, followed by silent prayer as the year ends.

Several kinds of medicines which I tried did not do me any good, and when I commenced to take Hood's Sarsaparilla there were large bunches on my neck so sore that I could not bear the slightest touch. When I had taken one bottle of this medicine, the soreness had gone, and before I had finished the second the bunches had entirely disappeared.' BLANCHE ATWOOD, Sangerville, Maine.

A HAPPY NEW YEAR.

Tomorrow is New Year's day, and there will be no issue of this paper.

The ADVERTISER wishes a happy New Year to all of its readers; a happy New Year to the sweet young Republic of Hawaii, which gracefully arose last July out of this great tranquil sea, just as Venus rose, in the legends, out of the Ægean sea. One sees above her, in the night hours, the shadows of her sister, Columbia; in her hand the dim tracings of a flag, with many stars within it, and the passing clouds throwing stripes across it; a happy New Year to President Dole and his Cabinet, in whom good men and women trust, and of whom the prophet, if he were alive, might say, "beautiful are their (political) feet on the tops of the purple mountains;" (This sentiment includes all of their feet, without regard to the size of shoes); a happy New Year to all those whose hands the dying year has touched and opened for those in want, and a happy New Year to the kind Lady Bountiful, living on the margin of the emerald sea, within the shadows of Diamond Head, who held her wand over the appealing Charities of the city, and shook from it a shower of gold, which freshened their hearts, as the rain freshens the earth.

And to those who prevent other people from ever having any happy New Years, by their idle gossip, we put before them the denunciations of the Apostle James, who believed that the Hebrew community was suffering from the pest of the unbridled tongue.

"Hebrew society, everywhere, was made all but unendurable by the poison of venomous tongues. Had we a land flowing with milk and honey, with abundant springs pouring out of the mountains, and watering all the pastures; had we fruit growing in luxuriance, and every man sitting under his own vine and fig tree, a pleasing prospect on every hand of us, and labor reduced to a mere pleasant exercise; had we Paradise expanded to all parts of the habitable globe—with the human tongue let loose to perform its favorite work, our Paradise would be a miserable failure. A wilderness, with some government of the tongue in it, would be preferable." Every man and woman able to talk, and therefore able to sweeten or embitter the lives of their fellowmen and women, possesses the power to contribute to the continued reign of wretchedness."

CORRUPT OFFICIALS.

The advance in social reform was exceedingly well illustrated in New York City on the 15th of this month, when Police Captain Creedon went before the Lexow committee of the Legislature, and voluntarily testified that he paid $15,000 for his appointment. His candid confession of it, and his statement that the amount was exacted from him by his superior officers, prompted the committee to declare that they would insist on his remaining in office. Good citizens were greatly shocked at this revelation of iniquity. At the same time, they forget that they are, themselves, largely responsible for it. There is no political corruption, unless the people assent to it. The neglect of political duty, invites dishonesty. The great railway kings of America, have said, for years, that they were forced to purchase protection, and privileges from legislators, because men got themselves elected to office, only for the sake of "boodle."

Officers are administered honestly or dishonestly, as the people desire. If the voters neglect their duties, or are led away by false issues, then ignorant and incapable men get into office, and the stealing begins. While the men who are corrupt in office should be punished, every voter who does not do his duty should be punished, too. The average sick man wants his doctor to cure him, by giving him medicine, and he don't want to cure himself by wholesome living. The average citizen wants the political machine to run in an orderly way, but he does not wish to spend his own time watching it. When something gives way, he blames the machine. His own responsibility is not a pleasant thing to think of.

MAPPING OUT THE CITY.

It would be an excellent policy, and one which would save great cost in the future, if the Government would create a commission for laying out streets, and public places, in and around the city, and even into the valleys. A map of these proposed improvements should be filed, indicating the lines of improvement. It should then be provided that no one would ever be permitted to obtain compensation for erecting any buildings within the lines of the proposed improvements. The result would be that, even if the streets and public places were not opened, no one would encroach on the lines, and there would be a uniformity in building. Whenever the property was taken for the improvements, even if delayed for many years, no buildings would be destroyed, and purchases and sales would be made on the line of the streets, as laid out on the maps. In the city of New York, maps of this kind were filed in the year 1808, and many streets have not been opened to this date. A value would be given to property because dealers would know just what to expect.

AN INCIDENT OF ROYALTY.

Not long before the monarchy expired, the ex-Queen made a visit to one of the other islands. She was attended by her staff, in full uniform, on her way from the palace to the steamer, and her driver and footman were in full regimentals. As the latter stood up when Her Majesty passed, they exposed the calves of their legs, which were covered with stockings reaching to the knees. On each stocking appeared, in distinct letters, these words: "The finest Balbrigans in the world." These articles had been purchased at a cheap John store, and, owing to carelessness in the household department, the advertisement had not been noticed or removed.

In the Yale Law Journal of December Chief Justice Judd has an article on the constitution of the Hawaiian Republic. He gives a brief history of its formation, and the preliminary debate regarding it, by President Dole. Of the persons who took part in the debate, he says ten were lawyers; ten were Hawaiian born. Of the sixteen, four were graduates of Yale, three were academic and one of the Law School. His analysis of the new constitution is valuable, and gives to American lawyers an excellent summary of it, and its distinct features.

December 29, 1894.

That there is more or less opium brought into the country contrary to law no one will deny and most people believe that a large portion of it comes in vessels plying between ports on the Pacific Coast and the Hawaiian Islands. To acknowledge this as a fact is to argue that the men who bring it here and land it successfully are smarter in their business than the men employed by the Government to keep it out. Where's the remedy?

On the other hand it is believed that opium is landed from numerous small schooners sailing out of Victoria and Vancouver, which clear for the Japan Sea with permission to stop and trade at ports in the Hawaiian Islands. If the sands on the beach, of the small islands to windward could bark their information of the doings of these "long rakish crafts" what a yelping there would be. There might be a check put on this class of customers if the Government would petition the Custom House authorities of the United States and British Columbia at ports along the Coast to deny the masters of these small sailing vessels clearance papers, such as is mentioned above. A request of this character would be honored without a question, and opium smuggling through that source might have a set back. If, in the opinion of the Government it is not a good thing to license the drug it looks to a man up a tree, as though extraordinary means should be taken to prevent its importation. What's the matter with organizing a revenue marine service and have a cutter that could do patrol work?

We are now handling the celebrated "Victor" safe made in Cincinnati and used by three-fourths of the postmasters in the United States. It must be a good thing when Uncle Sam adopts it. We have them in small sizes and have larger ones on the way. They are not "just as good" as some other makes—they're a trifle better. They are well finished and strong; having double doors they are not easy of access to persons who have no business with the contents. The price is about right.

You will find a hanging lamp useful at all times even when you have electric lights in your dwelling. You will also find after you have examined lamps in every other establishment that ours are just a little mite better and a great deal cheaper. They have the B. & H. burner with the patent arrangement that obviates the necessity of taking off the chimney when you light the wick. The decorations are elegant, and the material holding the founts as good as can be made. We have a very nice assortment of Banquet lamps that are much sought after by persons who want something elegant for the parlor or dining room. The name doesn't signify anything; they give just as good light in the parlor or bedroom as they do in a banquet hall—try one of them for any purpose and you will be surprised with your purchase.

Our last lot of Cocoa Mats is about the best we have ever had. Those with "Aloha" on them are exceedingly well made and will last a life time. There's a big stock and the prices run from 50 cts. to $8; depends upon the size and quality.

JOAQUIN MILLER IN TOWN.

Will Make a Short Stay Before Going to Japan.

CONDENSING HIS POETICAL WORKS

Will Publish an Epitome in One Volume—Wanders About Saturday Getting Impressions—Will Make Father Damien a Hero of a Poem, Etc.

AM OFF on a picnic. I shall probably remain here until the cherry blossoms come in Japan, and from there I shall probably go to Mt. Sanai to photograph the tracks made by the elephant when he came from the Ark. I have designs on the Orient."

This is the mission of Joaquin Miller, who arrived on the Australia, Saturday. He is off for a tour around the world, stopping here and there, as it suits his fancy, writing descriptive articles for various periodicals with which he is connected, and withal enjoying, as he says, the first vacation of his life time.

His advent to the town was a very quiet one, unique, and in many respects characteristic of the man. He did not arrive at the hotel to register till late Saturday afternoon, though he left the steamer soon after its arrival at the dock.

"I want to get my impressions," he said to Col. Macfarlane, in explaining his probable late arrival at the hotel. Joaquin Miller's usual attire is one that attracts attention in whatever country he may set foot, and it has not gone unnoticed in this city. His tour to obtain impressions was made partly on foot and partly with the aid of a coachman.

It is the desire of the author to get a cottage in some place away from the city, where he can be entirely by himself, nor fear interruption. The report that Mr. Miller intends writing a history of the country is entirely erroneous according to his own statement.

"I shall never write another book," he said, in reply to the query as to his literary work. "I am now at work editing the best material from my poetical writings, which I shall combine into one volume. This completed, then I am finished. My Baboo Seas is my best work. I shall pay no attention to any prose writing in the volume I am preparing."

This is the extent of Mr. Miller's literary plans for the present. He believes that he has earned a rest from arduous literary labors and after he has prepared a volume which he believes creditable to hand down to future generations, he will spend his time, as he calls it, "picnicking."

"You have a perfect Eden of a country," said he, speaking of his impressions. "I am especially interested in studying the natives. I have an instinct for getting near to their inmost heart. They are certainly a kind, hospitable people. In your political matters I believe the native Hawaiian's greatest grievance is the loss of his lands. They feel that their land has passed into the hands of the white man and they no longer have a share in it. You must give them their lands to make them happy."

"You have a wealthy community here, and I see a bright future for the little country of Hawaii. I am glad to hear that the President and his advisers are men whose interests are wholly allied with this country."

Mr. Miller is much interested in the story of Father Damien and the leper settlement; in fact, so deeply was he impressed with the work of this priest that he has decided to weave the story into a poem which he is to dedicate to his daughter. While on the steamer Captain Pratt related to him the history of the attempted capture of Koolau. This moved the poet to tears. He seems intensely interested in the unfortunate and was desirous to know if the site of the leper settlement was on a barren plain; whether there were trees there; if not he would gladly get trees and set them out with his own hands. Joaquin Miller is nothing if not tender hearted.

Speaking of this place as fitted for literary work Mr. Miller said as he leaned back in his chair with some of a dreamy air, "I think this would be a good place to write if one could get some secluded spot for a home; take a cocktail and start out and ride and ride and ride till you're tired. Then come back, take another cocktail and be prepared for work. Oh, I've worked hard. Literary work, especially that required for my books, I might say, fasting."

Mr. Miller has not decided yet where he will locate. Saturday afternoon he was out in the outskirts of the city looking for a house. One place offered for sale by a Portuguese struck his fancy, but he was surprised to learn that the price charged was about double that of San Francisco land rates. The author refrained from purchasing. Though the length of his stay in this country is somewhat indefinite, Mr. Miller forwarded nearly all his effects to Japan from San Francisco.

"So you see I have put wax in my ears that I may not hear the enticing songs of the sirens that bid me remain for any considerable time."

Following is the poem, "Aloha Hawaii," recently written by Joaquin Miller for the San Francisco Examiner:

Aloha, Hawaii, aloha!
Aloha, Hawaii. All hail!
Republic, the first without war;
Republic, with dove's wings for sail.

Aloha, love's isles, aloha!
Aloha, last born of the free.
Aloha, Peace smiles, aloha;
A priceless first pearl of the sea.

May sea shells sing peace to thee ever,
Thy coral-reef cradle shall be
The cradle of beauty, and ever
The pride of thine infinite sea.

Aloha, light-hearted and free!
Aloha, dusk sister, sun-born!
Most welcome,
Warm soul of the sea;
Thrice welcome thy first Christmas morn.

In entering upon the New Year, we do so realizing that nothing can give the intelligent or judicious buyers more satisfaction than to have us stick to our QUICK SALES AND SMALL PROFITS SYSTEM. It has been the means of saving them money on every purchase made of us. While to us it has increased our trade from the day we adopted it.

We will have no shelves for shop worn goods, NEW GOODS, GOOD GOODS, STYLISH GOODS, and plenty of them, with a reasonable price fixed on them will be the order of this coming year's business. We want your trade and will have it, if goods and prices have anything to do with your buying.

We propose to keep in touch with New York, Paris and London, at as near their prices as is consistent.

Each DEPARTMENT in the STORE will be found to contain a CHOICE and VARIED SELECTION of the NEWEST and most FASHIONABLE MATERIALS and GARMENTS of every description. We want you to get into the habit of expecting this, and inspecting our stock. It will save you time, trouble and money.

This week we have some fine INDIAN RUGS, some CARPETS and CURTAINS that you will make no mistake by buying.

The contest over our Volcano Trip closed Wednesday. Miss J. TANNER, Royal School, presented us 275 checks, many of which she collected from her friends, thus enabling her to secure the ticket. Miss Greenwald came in a good second with 195 checks.

MERRY CHRISTMAS ON MAUI.

Whole Week Was One of Gay Festivities.

POLICE POUNCE ON GAMBLERS.

Government Seize $100 in Consequence—Steamer Kahului Takes Big Cargo to the Coast—One Passenger—Christmas Week at Lahaina.

MAUI, Dec. 29.—Deputy Sheriff Dickey and King, with five policemen, made a raid on a Chinese gambling house at Kahului the night of the 23d. Twenty-two Celestials were lodged in Walluku jail. Judge Helekunihii fined the managers $100 each, and the remaining twenty $10 each.

During Christmas week this side of Maui has been most gay and festive.

On Sunday, the 23d, at Paia church, Dr. Beckwith delivered an appropriate discourse, and the choir, assisted by Misses Axtel and Fleming, sang appropriate music.

Midnight mass was held at the Kuau Catholic church during the night of the 24th, and in the early hours of the 25th the Paia Japanese celebrated the advent of the holy day with great gusto.

On the afternoon of the same day Messrs. W. O. Aiken and W. Hay were the victors in the tennis tournament held at Mrs. H. G. Alexander's.

In the evening a magnificent Christmas tree was the center of observation at Hialeakala hall. Many of the presents recalled old jokes, amusing escapades or comical situations cribbed from the social history of the past year. One young lady was the recipient of a miniature Lord Faunteroy, another of a large tin star marked "Maui Police," while Santa Claus himself was presented with a "robe de nuit" gorgeous with lace and ruffles.

During Wednesday evening, the 26th, a dance and supper was held at Spreckelsville hall.

Thursday evening, the 27th, Mrs. C. H. Dickey, of Haiku, entertained most pleasingly quite a number of Makawao young folks.

Friday evening, the 28th, the teachers of Maunaloa seminary asked the young people of the district to meet their guests, Misses Sears and Dyce, of Honolulu.

Manager W. F. Pogue, of Haleakala ranch, gave a luau to his employees at Pihiolo during the noon hour of Christmas day.

Hoffmann & Vetlesen is the name of the new Walluku firm of storekeepers.

The steamer Kahului, Captain Yarnberg, sailed Thursday, the 27th, with a large cargo of sugar, bananas, hides, merchandise, bonds, etc. She took up one passenger.

Kamalo, a hunchback, was fined $100 and costs for the larceny of $50 from H. Streubeck, a Walluku engineer. The trial took place during Saturday the 21st inst., at Walluku.

The schooner Mary Dodge, Chas. Bergman, master, arrived the 22d with a cargo of lumber from Honolulu consigned to the Kahului Railroad Company.

Weather cold and clear.

LAHAINA (Maui), December 29.—The festive season was duly observed here. On Christmas Eve service was held in the Anglican church at 8 p. m. when there was a large congregation. Miss Lucy Hayselden sang the special anthem very sweetly. A carol, "Wonderful Night" brought a bright service to a close.

At 10 on Christmas Day another service was held when the holy communion was celebrated. The church was prettily decorated.

Midnight mass was celebrated at the Catholic church by Father Andrew, who departed this year from his usual custom of preaching a sermon. The service, however, was sufficiently long. An enormous crowd of people filled the body of the church, while the seats in front, reserved for visitors, were very scantily filled. We noticed amongst the visitors Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hayselden, Mr. Bivens, Mr. and Mrs. Short, Mr. Forsyth, and Mr. Rudling. The decorations were exceedingly elaborate. The Lahaina band performed at intervals during the service.

The W. C. Hall arrived on Christmas Eve about 7 o'clock, bringing a large mail.

On Christmas Day a large number of the menfolk repaired to the rifle range to practice target shooting.

The other day a young man (native) died here from the effects of burning, he having, while carrying a lamp, fallen down in a fit, and then set himself on fire. He was an employee of the Lahaina plantation.

THE COLONEL'S FAST TRIP.

To the Coast and Return in 14 Days, 21 Hours—Saw "Billy" Aldrich. When Colonel Macfarlane arrived on the Australia Saturday morning he completed the quickest round trip ever made between this city and San Francisco. The Colonel's time was 14 days and 21 hours. He arrived in San Francisco on the Arawa at 9:30 o'clock on the morning of the 22d. Finding that he must wait nearly three weeks before returning if he missed the Australia he decided to make a desperate effort to finish his business and catch the return steamer at 2 o'clock. He called up his business friends by telephone, and had everything completed by ten minutes of two, when he jumped into a cab, and arriving at the dock was greeted with "Just two minutes to spare." In coming out the Australia passed the barkentine S. N. Castle just passing in. Colonel Macfarlane states that Billy Aldrich was on board. With the aid of field glasses he saw a man on the deck of the vessel swinging his arms and evidently endeavoring to attract attention from passengers of the Australia. This happy mortal was none other than Billy Aldrich.

Manoa Children Won.

The last quarterly meeting of the Sunday school children from the different districts of Kawaihau was held Sunday morning, under the corrugated iron roof outside the old stone church. Each school made a good showing, but none equalled the Manoa boys and girls who carried off the prizes of baseballs and bats together with skipping ropes, given by Mr. Castle. Manoa Sunday school has not taken part in the quarterly meetings for about two years. A very well-known young lady has had the children in charge for a long time, drilling and teaching them, and finally had the satisfaction of seeing them come out ahead in friendly competition.

Miss Wicke's Watermelon Guess.

At 7:30 Saturday evening the watermelon that has been in Sachs' window was cut open. Three judges were appointed to count the seeds, 623 being the lucky number. Four hundred guesses were sent in. Three persons guessed 625—Miss Wicke on December 4th, Miss Mary Decker on the 12th, and Mrs. R. W. Boyd on the 16th. According to the agreement on the guessing slips Miss Wicke is the winner, her guess being the earliest of the three. The highest number sent in was 2,000 and the lowest 60. One person guessed that there were no seeds in the melon.

The resolution was recently published in the ADVERTISER.

HOSTILITIES ARE NOW STAYED.

Envoys Sent to Japan With Power to Make Concessions.

THE JAPAN ARMY WAS BRUTAL.

Japan's Prime Minister Acknowledges the Atrocities at Port Arthur—Japanese Troops Cruelly Slaughtered Soldiers in Disguise—Promise of Peace.

ONDON, Dec. 20.—Important dispatches have been received here tonight from Tokio, indicating clearly that practically the war between China and Japan has ended.

Whatever instruction has been conveyed to commanders of the respective military and naval forces from the governing powers of the two empires is not told in the advices, but assurances are given in quarters known to be thoroughly cognizant of diplomatic affairs that the Emperor of China has been prevailed upon to hasten commissioners to Japan, and that these envoys have such powers of concession as will enable them to bring about an immediate and thorough end of hostilities. Details of their authority are not given, but the presumption is not ignored in diplomatic quarters that the concessions asked by the Japanese Government have met with the acquiescence of the reigning powers of China.

CHINESE PEACE COMMISSIONERS.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—Minister Denby cabled the State Department today that the Chinese Government has appointed two Peace Commissioners, Chang Yin Nuan and Fhao, who will proceed at once on a mission from Peking to the Japanese capital.

BROKE ALL RESTRAINT.

TOKIO (Japan), Dec. 16.—The following statement is authorized for publication in the World by Mr. Matsui, the Japanese Minister of Foreign Affairs: "The Japanese Government desires no concealment of the events at Port Arthur. On the contrary, it is investigating them rigidly for the purpose of fixing the exact responsibility, and is taking measures essential to the reputation of the Empire. From the beginning of the war every conceivable precaution has been taken to guard against excesses. The discovery that discipline was unavailing in this single instance shocks and grieves both the civil and military authorities."
