MEMORIAL DAY.

[Dedicated to the G. A. R.]

There's a flutter of flags and streamers gay,
In afar-off Hawaii's Isle, today;
And loud, in Honolulu's sunlit street,
Is the rattle of drums and the tramp of feet.

'Tis a day of bright blossoms and memories sweet,
Which here, in Hawaii, all nations will greet;
As they mingle together, alike to perfume
The warriors' grave and the citizens' tomb.

And wherever, today, sleeps America's brave,
A wreath is descending for every grave,
As if God's good angels, in many a crown,
Had woven the garlands and showered them down.

Flowers of magnolia the South bringeth forth,
And twines them, today, with the rose of the North;
While here, in these beautiful Isles of the Sea,
Flora's treasures unstinted are placed tenderly.

And should there be found, in some lonely spot,
A mound yet unmarked, the marble forgot,
'Tis there, with a sigh, we may tenderly lay
A memorial of love, in sweet flowers of May.

But, if is forgotten, some mound on the hills,
A grave unremembered, some unknown hero fills,
God above it will hang, when the night curtain lowers
A star-spangled banner sublimer than ours.

SUGAR SCHEDULES

Senator Aldrich Points Out Differences.

A COMPOUND DUTY NECESSARY

Democratic Members Favor Amendments.

Chairman Dingley Thinks House Bill Would Raise More Revenue.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—The minority members of the Senate Finance Committee today got down to hard work on the tariff bill, comparative statements being furnished. They have devoted much time to sugar, concluding that the Senate clause will be sure to advance the price, as, according to their figures, the lowest rates for foreign granulated will be 4.71 cents, higher than now rules.

Senator Nelson W. Aldrich, who is in charge of the Senate bill, today made his first statement in defense of the schedule. He said: "The first thing to be considered was revenue, and we found that to get $50,000,000 would require a duty of 75 per cent. ad valorem. The trouble with specific duties based on polariscope tests is that the values of raw sugars vary. A rigid specific duty keeps out low-grade raw sugars, of which 10 per cent. of the consumption of the United States is made up.

"For commercial reasons the compound duty became necessary. In low-grade sugars we deal with Phillipines, Java and China, and they, in turn, take cotton and petroleum. To shut out their sugars would cut off our markets. On sugar below 88 per cent., polariscope tests, the Dingley bill rates are 1.44 per cent. ad valorem. We considered the duty 75 per cent. too high, but the beet-sugar producers came in and demanded protection, and so we decided to make a 40 per cent. duty specific and 35 per cent. ad valorem.

"Seventy-five per cent. of the cane sugars are centrifugals of 96 per cent. test, with a foreign value of 2½@2⅝ cents per pound. This is .79 of a cent and 35 per cent. ad valorem. The rate on granulated we figured at 1.96, on a basis of 2¼ cents a pound. The House bill gives a differential of .245, while in our bill it is only .22."

There is some difference of opinion among the Democratic members of the Senate Committee on Finance as to the policy to be pursued in regard to the tariff bill. Some of them, among them Senator Gorman, are of the opinion that the Democrats should prepare a substitute bill and introduce it. They suggest that this substitute should embody the Democratic idea of the tariff favoring the Republican bill, either as prepared in the House or as amended by the Senate Committee on Finance.

There is, however, quite a pronounced opposition to this programme on the part of many Democratic Senators, including several members of the Committee on Finance. They take the position that the safest course for the party is to stand by the Wilson bill, which, while it is not perfect, is still a Democratic measure. The party, they say, has taken the position that no tariff legislation is necessary. The campaign was fought on other issues and they hold that to raise the tariff question on their own motion would be inconsistent and unwise. Those who hold to this idea are willing that amendments should be offered covering all the schedules and it seems probable that this course will be pursued.

GIGANTIC SCHEME.

New Company With Nearly Billion Dollars Stock.

NEW YORK, May 15.—The Press this morning says: There has been projected in this city the greatest financial institution of the world. It is, in short, the establishment of a credit company, under Federal supervision, on the plan of the Credit Foncier of France, but with greater powers.

John R. Dospassos has the charter in his possession, and says it will be submitted to Congress within two weeks. He claims that it has received the approval of the administration and the leaders in Congress. News of the undertaking came from Washington yesterday, but most of the Republican leaders denied that they had been consulted with reference to it.

The company, as planned, is to have a capital of $900,000,000, with the privilege of doing a business of $2,000,000,000. Among the New York financiers mentioned in connection with the project are J. Edward Simmons, Geo. G. Williams, A. B. Hepburn, C. N. Jordan, J. Pierpont Morgan and Henry O. Havemeyer. The prime purpose is to loan money to farmers at half the present rates.

DINGLEY MAKES A STATEMENT.

He Compares the Senate and House Bills.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—Chairman Dingley, of the Ways and Means Committee, whose name is borne by the new tariff bill, made a statement today regarding the measure.

"While the amendments of the House bill, recommended by the Senate Finance Committee—about 700—appear to be multitudinous, yet about 200 of them are mainly verbal, such as amending spelling, leaving about the number of amendments to the McKinley bill adopted by the Senate of 1890, and these 500 a large proportion involve nothing of consequence.

"The effects of these amendments as a whole, outside of the amendment imposing duty on tea for two years and a half, and the amendment increasing the internal revenue on beer 44 cents per barrel for the same period, and the increase proposed on tobacco and cigarettes, will produce less revenue than would be raised by the House bill. For example, the amendments returning to the free list argols, certain acids and oils, paintings and statuary for private use and reducing the duties on liquors, certain tobacco, precious stones, etc., lose more revenue than could be obtained by the duty on tea. The amendments reducing the duty on closing wool and increasing the duty on carpet wool would also reduce the revenue. The amendment increasing the duty on opium from $6 to $8 per pound would not increase the revenue, in the judgment of the administrators of the law, who informed the Ways and Means Committee that $6 was the point which would yield the largest revenue. The proposed duties on hides and a few other amendments would increase the revenues somewhat.

"Of course, the estimate of an increased revenue from sugar through an abrogation of the treaty with Hawaii has nothing to do with the tariff legislation, for this could be done as well by accepting the House sugar schedule, as the sugar schedule proposed.

"The fact that the Senate Finance Committee recommend an ad valorem duty on sugar apparently a little higher than the specific duty of the House bill does not insure a larger revenue, as past experience with ad valorem duties has shown. In our judgment the revenue from sugar under the House sugar schedule, setting aside the question of abrogating the Hawaiian treaty—would be larger than under the Senate amendments.

"The proposed temporary duty on tea would increase the revenue, although not so much the first year as estimated, because of the large stocks on hand and the short stocks that would be maintained with the knowledge that teas would soon go back to the free list, and the proposed increase of internal revenue taxes would also increase the revenue to the extent estimated. But the other proposed amendments would, as a whole, diminish rather than increase the revenue.

"If the Ways and Means Committee had supposed when it made its statement on March 18th that the bill would be delayed as long as now seems probable, it would have said that such delay would inevitably result in largely nullifying the revenue qualities of the bill the first year through importations of wool, sugar and other articles before the new duties should go into force, unless a retroactive provision as was placed in the bill by the House could be maintained."

SENATE CANVASS.

Treatment the Sugar Schedule Will Meet.

NEW YORK, May 11.—The Herald's Washington correspondent says: "The sugar schedule of the tariff bill as framed by Republican members of the Senate Finance Committee in the interest of the trust is doomed to defeat. Including seventeen Senators who are absent and whose views could not be ascertained, the Senate stands thus: Against schedule and trust, 47; for schedule, 6; non-committal, 18; not classified, 17; vacancies, 2; total membership, 90; majority against schedule and trust, 6.

"I have made a most careful canvass of the United States Senate on the amendment to the sugar schedule. The result shows a clear majority against the schedule as it stands at present, and if not materially amended to lessen protection to trusts, indicates the adoption of a general anti-trust amendment. Of the eighty-eight Senators comprising the present membership of the Senate, sixty-two were seen personally. These are the Senators who will vote against the sugar schedule as reported by the Senate Finance Committee: Allen, Bacon, Bate, Berry, Butler, Caffery, Cannon, Carter, Chilton, Clay, Cockerill, Davis, Faulkner, Frye, Harris of Kansas, Harris of Tennessee, Jones of Arkansas, Lindsay Lodge, McBride, McEnery, Mantle, Martin, Mills, Morgan, Nelson, Pasco, Perkins, Pettigrew, Pettus, Rawlins, Roach, Smith, Stewart, Tillman, Turner, Turpie, Walthall, Warren, White, Wilson. There are forty-one Senators in this list, and there are six other Senators who could not be seen, but who I learn by conversation with their colleagues, can confidently be counted against the sugar schedule. They are Daniel, Earle, George, Kenny, Teller and Vest.

"These are the Senators in favor of the Finance Committee schedule: Aldrich, Allison, Morrill, Platt of Connecticut, Quay, Sewell.

"These are the Senators who are non-committal on the sugar schedule: Baker, Burrows, Chandler, Cullom, Deboe, Elkins, Fairbanks, Foraker, Gallinger, Gorman, Hansbrough, Hawley, Hoar, Murphy, Pritchard, Shoup, Spooner, Wellington.

"Two of the Senators classed as in favor of the schedule, Allison of Iowa and Aldrich of Rhode Island, were not even seen, both being absent from the city. Senator Morrill of Vermont was non-committal when I saw him this evening, but he can scarcely be classed as in favor of the schedule."

"MARMADUKE."

Production By St. Louis College Literary Society Tonight.

The friends of St. Louis College will have another opportunity this evening to see members of the literary society in a drama and a comedy. In the plays produced in the past, the stage participants have given satisfaction beyond the expectation of the audience, and each performance seems to be an improvement on the proceeding one.

In "Marmaduke" the best talent in the society will be seen. The college orchestra will furnish music during the entertainment. The afterpiece will be a comedy in one act "Down You Go," said to be very funny and if one is to judge by the success at rehearsals, there will be no disappointment to the audience.

Evangelical Association.

The first of the meetings in connection with the anniversary exercises of the Hawaiian Evangelical Association was opened in the Chinese Church yesterday morning. At this conference of Christian workers were those preachers and two students from Honolulu, the preachers from Maui and Hawaii, and a representative attendance from the membership of the Chinese Church in this city. Besides these were F. W. Damon, superintendent of the Chinese Mission; Rev. A. Ostrom of Kohala and Rev. Dr. Hyde, of this city. The conference is not only for the discussion of matters of detail pertaining to the work of matters of detail pertaining to the work among the Chinese, but also for the deepening of spiritual life among the workers engaged.

Chat With a Crimean Hero.

The Dorset Chronicle publishes an interview with Mr. F. R. Everett, a veteran of the Crimea, and with his wife.

"Yes," replied Mrs. Everett, to a compliment on the husband's looks, "except that my husband used to get bronchitis and asthma in the winter, he is very well."

"When invalid out of the Royal Navy," said Mr. Everett, "I was senior mate in the Costguard cruisers. I served on the Hannibal and the Sanspariel. My breath trouble was caused by the fogs. My cabin close to the engines was hot, and when I went up to the bridge in the heavy snows, it was going from one extreme to another. That finished me up."

"When he has had his cough," Mrs. Everett said, "I have thought that his breath would be gone entirely. He could not stand. It has frightened me very much. I had heard of the cures effected by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and so I said, 'we'll try them.' That was just after Christmas. I took them, too, for rheumatism. I had had rheumatism dreadfully in my right leg, and the pain was most excruciating; but that is all gone, thanks to the Pills."

Mr. Everett, taking up the thread of the story, added, "My sister-in-law has been taking them too for erysipelas."

"Yes," said Mrs. Everett, "she had an eye inflamed, owing to poor blood, for two years. Then she took Dr. Williams' Pills. The inflammation disappeared, and the eye is well."

Mrs. Everett said that they all found benefit before they had finished the first box. "And bear in mind," she continued, "that the first box was divided between three of us." Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have cured paralysis, locomotor ataxy, rheumatism and sciatica; impoverished and vitiated the blood, rickets, chronic erysipelas, consumption of the bowels and lungs, anaemia, pale complexion, loss of appetite, palpitation, nervous headache, early decay, all forms of female weakness.

ILLUSTRATED MAGAZINE.

"Manoua Noeau" to be Opened at Opera House.

The "Illustrated Magazine," to be opened by the ladies of the Y. P. S. C. E. at the Opera House on Saturday next, will be an innovation to Honolulu amusement seekers. Practically, it will be at some stages an exhibition of living pictures, for various parts in the book will be illustrated by real flesh and blood characters so artistically grouped as to convey excellent ideas of the situations in the stories.

A striking novelty will be the illustration of the advertisements which go to make interesting reading in most of the magazines. Dimond, for instance, can show to good advantage the merits of his $23 kitchen outfit—Jewel stove and all; and the Hawaiian Cyclery could furnish a living picture of Mr. Geer assembling a Hawaii bicycle. The drug stores will have an opportunity to illustrate the method of manufacturing proprietary articles that are really better than the "just as good" sold somewhere else. Such opportunities for advertisers have never been equaled in Honolulu.

The frontispiece, a poem by President Dole, Recollections of Switzerland, a travel sketch, and reproductions of famous salon pictures will all be shown on the stage. Then there will be a story interesting to children. The literary sections will be interspersed with music by Miss Wall and Miss Parmelee.

The ladies in charge of the affair are: Mrs. Walbridge, Mrs. W. M. Graham, Mrs. Atherton, Mrs. Helen Kelley and Miss Millard.

D. Howard Hitchcock will assist in the reproduction of the salon pictures. Mrs. Wall will have charge of the advertising department of the magaine.

DANCING CLASSES

An Evening With Terpischorean Juveniles.

Mrs. Gunn's Dancing Class in Arion Hall—Pronounced Success.

Grace of movement is certainly no small factor in the education of children, for it is upon this that they will have to make demands in their everyday life. It is a factor that counts largely in the conduct of one's self before his or her fellows. How much more acceptable is an easy, self-possessed person than an awkward one, who knows just where not to place the hands and just how to get all mixed up in the matter of feet. What better way is there to teach this very much to be desired grace of movement than through the medium of the dance?

For many months has Mrs. Hugh Gunn struggled with children in Arion hall in her effort to make them graceful, and to her credit, it may be said that she has succeeded in teaching a very great many just what she has set out to do.

Last night was given an entertainment in Arion hall, which demonstrated the painstaking care that has been exercised with some 40 children during several weeks last past. This was an exhibition of fancy dancing by the children of Mrs. Gunn's school.

The hall was very tastefully decorated, festoons of vines of various kinds gracing the doors, windows and lights. Flags formed curtains for a number of the doors, while all around on the verandas outside were strung Japanese lanterns. All available space was taken, among the number present being a large number of society ladies of the city. Every door and window was occupied by those who had presented themselves too late to get a seat inside.

The little children, the majority of whom were girls, were seated around the lower end of the hall, and shortly after 7 o'clock rose and formed into four lines for a fancy drill, composed of the steps necessary in the acquirement of fancy dancing. The children went through with their parts admirably. The pretty little pink, white and blue dresses with the equally pretty stockings, of which perhaps the little ones were just a wee bit conscious, made a pretty effect.

The preliminary drill finished, the children gave an exhibition of the various polka steps and other dances. Then came four little boys in a number of graceful movements.

After a short rest, came one of the best features of the entertainment—the Spanish dance, with graceful figures and poses, by Helene Irwin, Margaret Freeth, Florence Lyon and Irene Fisher, conceded to be among the best dancers in the class. They handled their castanets like old hands and danced as if fresh from Sunny Spain. Upon completing the dance, the girls were heartily applauded.

After this, came promiscuous dancing by the children, and then the very best number on the program—the hornpipe dance—by young Oliver Lansing, the son of T. F. Lansing. Dressed sailor's costume, and possessed of particularly nimble feet, he took the house by storm by his dancing of that good old English dance. His "climbing the rope" act was great.

At 9 o'clock the children were given the refreshments they so richly deserved, the floor was cleared and the grown people were given possession of the floor for dancing to music by the Quintette Club. There were at least 60 couples on the floor, to say nothing of those in the audience who did not dance.

Mrs. Gunn was on the floor during all of the dancing by the children and directed their movements.

Mrs. Alice Brown presided at the piano.

The little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stolz was much admired on account of her aptitude in dancing.

The little boys were scarce. The girls are certainly ahead in their zeal to learn how to dance.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. G. Irwin were interested spectators.

Robert Atkinson collected tickets and money, while Wilder Wight showed people to seats until there were none left.

The driveway from King street, through the old Gibson premises to Arion hall, was a very pretty promenade, nor was it neglected.

The police pistol team has done some very creditable shooting during the last month. The last scores will be shot on Monday. Following is the record of the month of May, up to date, the distance being 30 yards:

DECORATION DAY.

Erecting monuments to commemorate the name and deeds of national heroes is a custom that reaches so far back in the history of the world, that it may well be termed a characteristic of human nature. By the erection of memorials in stone and bronze the people of the United States have followed in the wake of the world, but to the United States alone and particularly to the survivors of the war of the Rebellion has remained the distinction of setting apart one day in the year when the people with their own hands shall erect anew the monument to the honored dead. Structures of stone raised to keep fresh in the minds of the people the prominent heroes have their place; they are in a measure mile stones marking the progressive history of the nation, and future generations will look upon them and contemplate with pride the career of those who formed the protecting bulwark in days of national trial.

The institution of Decoration Day, however, has brought about a custom which appeals more directly to the hearts of the people and serves to keep brighter the principles for which the men of a fast dwindling generation gave their lives. Each year the people place above the graves of soldiers of the Grand Army of the Republic a monument of flowers. It withers and dies, but each year it is replaced, thereby turning the mind of each and every citizen to contemplation of what that monument represents. Memorials made by unknown hands never will and never can exert the same influence upon the individual as the one which he with his hands assisted in raising.

On Decoration Day it is not alone the leaders whose memory is honored. There were heroes in the rank and file, men whose names were unknown beyond the limit of their own company, but whose loyalty to home and country was none the less true. Leaders are useless without the phalanx behind them in which each individual is inspired with the determination to act well his part, to do his full duty as a man and a soldier. This tribute to the soldier, to each and every man who responded to the call when his country was in peril is the grand feature of the day. Even those whose fate was to rest in the grave marked "unknown" are not forgotten.

To the men who lived to see the consumation of the victory, this monument of flowers is a loving tribute to comrades. To the younger generation it teaches the lesson that the highest honor attainable is gained in service for one's country and the support of the principles of freedom and justice, that each citizen has more than a selfish duty to perform whatever his station in life. It is said that as long as the veterans live their influence will always be cast on the side of peace and against a hasty rush to arms for the settlement of political differences. The annual assembling of the people throughout the United States and in this country where American sentiment rules, calls to mind the horrors of war as well as its glories. The people are brought in close touch with history of the past and the lessons it teaches. By no means the least instructive features of today is, that while it is high honor to fight for the right, every pacific measure should be brought into service before resorting to the arbitrament of the bullet.

At the annual banquet of Cleveland, O., Chamber of Commerce Archbishop Ireland delivered an address upon "The Sure Foundation of Citizenship' 'that ought to be read in every home, in every nation where the spirit of democracy rules. In closing his speech the Archbishop quoted a sentiment uttered by Emerson that our people may well ponder upon: "The true test of civilization is not the causes, not the size of cities, not the crops, but the kind of men the country turns." Our people point with well merited pride to the churches and the schools of the country both of which are the potent factors for a higher state of civilization, but we may well pause to consider whether the national industrial policy is in keeping with the higher civilization of the church and school. Are we adding men to the community whose influence will be to raise our standards? Are we making the size of cities and the crops the paramount issue? Are the people as a nation carrying the civilizing principles of the church and school into business life?

Ancient Polynesia.

SYDNEY, April 27.—Mr. F. W. Christian, who 18 months ago, under the auspices of the Polynesian Society of New Zealand, left to explore the ruins of the Caroline and other islands of the Pacific, has returned to Sydney. At all the places he visited he found extensive traces of Chinese and Japanese works, and was successful in securing many ethnological specimens, comprising numerous weapons and tools. As a result of explorations he is satisfied that in the past an extensive trade was carried on through the islands between China and Central America. He claims to have established a chain of evidence pointing to the existence of an old civilization that will explain the ancient civilization in Central America. Extensive inquiries were made as to the traditions of the islanders, and many discoveries were made concerning the early history of the Malays with regard to migration, all proving that the Torres Straits route to the Pacific was not taken, but that voyages were made to many of the Caroline Islands.

Filters at Punahou Preparatory.

In no school of this city is the health of the pupils more carefully guarded than in the Punahou Preparatory. Special attention is given to the purity of the drinking water. The Atkins' Carbon filters, which have been in use since the cholera epidemic of September, 1895, have recently been replaced by the "Eclipse Water Filter," which comes as near clearing the drinking water from any impurities as is possible for any filter to accomplish. It consists of a large metallic cylinder, containing a porous earthen receiver. As the water from the pipes is forced from the outer cylinder into the earthen receiver, all impurities remain on the outside of the receiver and can readily be removed with a brush or can be burned out if necessary. The water is drawn from a faucet at the top of the filter and is thus protected from silt by gravity.

California Pure Food.

The "Pure Food Law" in California, while working hardships on grocers who have a large stock of the goods, is having beneficent effect upon the public health. Publicity is given the result of the chemist's investigation, and the consumers learn, through the press, the names of adulterated goods. Following is the latest report:

Tomato catsup, sold by William Cluff & Co.: is deficient in solids and contains coal tar color and salicylic acid.

Star strawberry jelly, made by F. Saunder from "Emporium"; is apple jelly artificially colored.

"Paskola," a flesh-forming and artificially digested food, made by the Predigested Food Company, New York, consists of commercial glucose with a small quantity of acid phosphate of lime.

Ocean brand condensed milk is deficient in butter fat, and evidently made from partially skimmed milk.

Currant jelly, from Alvarado Packing Company, Alameda County, Cal.; is compounded of three-quarters apple jelly and one-quarter currant jelly.

Tropical Fruits

A recent visitor to these shores remarked the other day, "How is it, that with the abundant supply of Tropical Fruits one sees growing in the grounds of private residences here, it is difficult to obtain choice fruit from the stores."

The answer is simple.

"Because the fruit is roughly plucked from the trees, with the natural 'consequence that it is bruised and spoiled.'" The evil can easily be remedied by the investment of 50 cents in a Wire Fruit Picker. This useful article will pick all kinds of fruit, from the Alligator Pear to the Rose Apple. It can be attached to the end of a pole and manipulated as successfully as in the hand.

While on the subject of fruits and trees, let us add a word or two on the inhabitants thereof. Some birds are pests, others are not. What can be nicer about a home than a couple of canaries, especially if you have a pretty cage for them.

By the Australia we imported a variety of Bird Cages in painted wire at $1.50 to $2.50; and in brass $1 50 to $4.50; in the most unique designs imaginable.

AT MOLOKAI.

Board of Health Makes Semi-Annual Inspection.

President W. O. Smith, Dr. N. B. Emerson, C. A. Brown and L. D. Kelipio of the Board of Health went to Molokai Thursday evening on the Iwalani, and paid their semi-annual visit to the settlement. They returned late last night. Accompanying them were: Surgeon F. A. Heslow and Assistant Surgeon R. K. Smith of the Philadelphia, Surgeon C. P. Bogg of the Marion, Surgeon T. Kayano of the Naniwa, several prominent physicians of Honolulu, Bishop G. Rapeort, a limited number of officers of the war vessels in port and private citizens and representatives of the Japan and local press.

The Iwalani arrived off Kalaupapa at 5 o'clock yesterday morning. A good northerly swell was on, and the landing at 7 o'clock was exciting. The party was met at the wharf by the Kalaupapa band, 15 pieces. They at once proceeded to the Government house, where horses were in waiting to convey them about the settlement. The Bishop Home for Girls was first visited. There are 124 people in the Home, 70 of whom are girls. The rest are women, who are feeble and are unable to care for themselves.

The buildings, under the care of the Sisters, are in excellent condition. The 14 cottages, each capable of housing 10 inmates comfortably, are well ventilated and sunny. In front of each cottage and about the quadrangle the variety of blossoms give a beauty to the scene. Many of the women and girls were in the quaint little church, where the Bishop of Panapolis was holding mass. Later, they returned to the main school room and gathered eagerly about the piano. Professor Berger's impromptu entertainment was fully appreciated.

They were as delighted with the music as with C. A. Brown's trick and fancy bicycle riding. Mr. Brown took his bicycle with him on the trip, the first to put in its appearance in the settlement. Whenever he stirred yesterday he had a crowd of delighted children following.

After completing the tour of the buildings at the Bishop Home, the party left for the Baldwin School for Boys at Kalawao. The school is in the best of condition, and the boys and the Brothers in charge deserve great credit for the beauty of the surroundings. The place once occupied by the school was rescued from its former wild state only by persistent effort. The rocks were all cleared, trees were set out, and the spacious center of the quadrangle, around which are the cottages for the 122 boys, has been turfed over. The greater part of the turf was brought a distance of nearly a mile. It is neatly trimmed and well watered. The garden plot in the rear of the main building is now under cultivation.

The Baldwin School now has a band. Professor Berger organized the band six months ago on a previous trip, and a concert was given yesterday. The instruments were donated. The 14 members of the band were applauded for their music. The only thing the members regret is that they haven't suits. The band members at Kalaupapa have suits, the money for which was generously subscribed by residents of Honolulu. new suits for the entire band, comprising a white cap, white suit and serge suit, would cost about $200.

President Smith, of the Board, in thanking the boys for their music, promised to call the attention of the public to their need through the newspapers. Subscriptions to such a fund, if left at any of the local newspaper offices, will be forwarded and due credit given.

The Board then inspected the nursery and gardens, where experiments are being made in the growth of trees. There is little or no firewood in the settlement, and very few trees of any description. Some 5,600 trees, raised from seed, are now growing in the nursery and in the gardens, and it is probable that in a few years' time there will be no scarcity of firewood if the different families devote a small amount, but continued care to their growth.

The party returned to the house at Kalaupapa, where lunch was served. Later in the afternoon the Board held a meeting, and at 5 o'clock the party left for Honolulu.

OVER THE TEA CUPS.

That is a very old-fashioned saying which declares that "What can't be cured must be endured." Of course, it is old-fashioned, for in this enlightened age we do not consider any "What" incurable while it exists. We need only to run over the list of rest-cure and water-cure, mind-cure and faith-cure, grape-cure and gold-cure to be assured that the modern version of the old saw is "Naught endure, but all cure."

* * * *

For all these various cures there are cure-houses, as the Germans name these homes where sane living is compulsory. The doctors, however, call them by a long-tailed Latin word that the average man has some trouble in pronouncing. The average man's ideas of the spelling and definition, too, are enveloped in a mist so thick as to call for a fog-bell and a lighthouse. If you, gentle reader, whom of course I do not catalogue as an average man—if you have not looked up the pedigree of the word, you call it, in all likelihood, sanitarium, or sanatorium. (If you call it sanitorium or sanatarium, don't. Both these ways are absolutely wrong.) Sanitarium is the more popular of the two correct terms, to judge from sign-boards and magazine and newspaper advertisements.

* * * *

So far I have come, and at this point I must pause. I find that I have set out on a genuine Quixotic expedition, that of annihilating sanitarium once for all, because my beloved Stormonth says that only sanatorium is correct. "Though both are derived from the Latin, sanare, to heal, sanatory properly signifies 'conducive to health,' and is applied to curative measures after health is lost, while sanitary has the more general sense of, 'pertaining to health,' and is applied to preventive measures."

* * * *

Alas, I discovered that Stormonth is not the "office dictionary" and I realize that the Standard Dictionary costs too much to disown it utterly. My grievance is, that the Standard is not as dogmatic as Stormonth is explicit. It quotes both words as interchangeable. So Stormonth leads, after all. But I will seek more light on the subject.

* * * *

The New English Dictionary has not yet reached S, I believe, at any rate, it has not yet reached me. As for Webster and Worcester, in so far as I can discover, they carry their heads in the skies, serenely unconscious of marshy exhalations arising from any confusion between 'arium and 'orium. They give me no more help than the average man, and he cannot be accused of discriminating, whatever else his faults may be.

* * * *

So there you are! I cannot guide you out of the fog unless you will look to Stormonth, my particular beacon. To be sure, he points to such extremes as, hostyle, matrimunny, and sheddool, but then he is consistent, and when he says sanatorium I accept his decision. And so must you, unless you quote some other guide and pronounce it sanitarium, or unless you embody the two words in sanaitaorium, or shirk all responsibility whatever by saying cure-house.

Hard Pullers.

The tug-of-war tournament is now the talk of the strong men of all nationalities in the city. Each maintains that it can put forth a team strong enough to win over all others. A couple of the teams were practicing in the pavilion, at the corner of Beretania and Alakea streets last evening. The Portuguese have some very strong men in Honolulu, and their's is the next entry that is looked for.

Australia's New Winches.

The steamer Australia has been fitted with new friction cargo winches, double acting, which will enable her to handle freight in 50 per cent less time than heretofore.

These winches have reversing links and are quite noiseless. They were built by the Risdon Iron Works of San Francisco, of which R. Catton is the Honolulu agent.

Captain Gregory is being congratulated on his mastery of the wheel in a comparatively short time. The only fault with the popular captain of the Iwalani is that he follows the sea even on the wheel and tacks frequently to get out of the way of "breakers ahead."

New Cycle Track.

There was rather an animated meeting of interested members of the Hawaiian Cycle Track Association last night. From the enthusiasm shown, it is probable that work on the track will begin in a very short time. The officers elected last night were:

F. J. Lowrey, president; E. O. White, vice president; L. M. Vettlesen, treasurer; W. C. Weedon, secretary and C. L. Clement, auditor. In addition to these, H. E. Walker was elected business manager. A track committee, consisting of Messrs. Angus, Giles and King will work in connection with Mr. Walker.
