MISERY GOADS THE CHINESE

Why They Seek To Slay "Foreign Devils."

MISSIONARY TALKS AT CENTRAL UNION

Dr. H. G. Welpton, a Refugee, Pictures Conditions in China.

One of the most forcible and interesting pictures of the conditions in China that has been delivered in Honolulu was that given at the Central Union Church last evening by Dr. H. G. Welpton, who returned from China on the Hongkong Maru on Friday last after several years residence among the Chinese, and is now on his way to his home in the States. Dr. Welpton served at Nanking and elsewhere in the Yang-Tse valley as a medical missionary and knows the Chinese well and intimately. He believes in them as a nation and thinks that they will ultimately rise out of their present state and become one of the important nations of the world, a Christian nation, governed by Chinese Christian rulers. He drew a sad picture of the conditions in China at the present time, with thousands of missionaries fleeing for their lives all over the empire, traveling by night to avoid the Chinese and endeavoring to reach a place of safety. He told of the gathering of the missionaries in Peking and said that it was difficult for him to believe that the foreigners there were any of them alive. "There is something that I wish to say of the Boxers," he went on, "for they have been spoken of as fierce fighting men. They are in reality fanatics, simple, stupid, uneducated, believing that they can draw from the air spirits that will fight for them, that they are impervious to bullets through the power of the spirits. They arm themselves, perhaps, with knives beaten out of farm implements, and they carry into the fight a little god, stopping in the midst of battle sometimes to take out these insignificant little wooden images and kneeling down to pray to them. The marines who fought against them said that it was a pity to shoot down such men, that it was the hardest thing in the world to keep on fighting them, for they seemed such simple, poor creatures. It was not the Boxers, not these men, who proved effective against our troops and those of the allies; it was the Imperial troops, well-disciplined, well equipped troops, with Maxim and other field guns and large quantities of ammunition, schooled in the art of war by the best military men of the European nations. These are the men who have held the allied troops back from Peking so far, not the Boxers. "It has been stated by some Englishmen high in authority that the present difficulties in China were due to the missionaries, but this I want to combat. There were many causes that led up to the present outbreak, but it cannot be said fairly that the missionaries were to blame. First among these was the overthrow of the Emperor. He was a young man of great intelligence. He had become interested in Christianity and had read the Bible somewhat and been much impressed with it. He had taken up also the history and literature of the English and other foreign languages. He had inaugurated many unprecedented reforms. Where the missionaries had found insuperable difficulties to contend with he had opened ways for them and they found their paths made easy. Schools were opened all over China and the Emperor had even attempted to make use of some of the old temples for schools. But the Empress Dowager was a reactionary and she did not approve of these methods and she caused the overthrow of the Emperor. A woman who was steeped in blood, the vilest woman in all the world, was thus placed in supreme control in China. For fifty years the nation had been slowly advancing, Christianity had been spreading gradually but steadily everywhere; then came the reaction, with this woman at the head to spread the anti-foreign sentiment everywhere through her domain. "Then there were the railroads. They were a fruitful cause of disaffection among the people. The foreigners who built them did not understand the people, nor did they sympathize with them. They built the right of way from the officials at ridiculously small prices and ran them through the country regardless of the immediate owner and without recompensing them in any way. Most of these people believe that the spirits of their fathers cling to the places where they have dwelt; the people thought that if this 'iron devil' were permitted to go shrieking through their valleys and towns that they would drive away these protecting spirits. Then the laborers brought by the railroads into the peaceful countryside were of the worst class, and they mistreated the people rightfully, stealing their household goods and carrying away their pigs and chickens. Then when the people would rise to protest against these outrages there would be riots and the engineers would mount their horses, shoot into the mobs and ride away to safety. They treated the people outrageously, and it is little wonder that they learned to hate the 'foreign devils.' "Still another cause was the drought that has existed in China for so long. Rain has not fallen in parts of China for Yardmaster Victim of Brakeman He Discharged From Drunkenness.

John W. Lorbeer, yardmaster of the Oahu Railway and Land Company's depot in this city, was shot twice yesterday morning at 8:45 o'clock by a revolver in the hands of Samuel Barney, a train hand. He died at ten minutes past 12 o'clock noon, at the Queen's Hospital. Samuel Barney, who fired the fatal shots, is now detained at the police station, where he will remain until the decision of the coroner's jury. The pistol with which the murder was committed was taken from Barney's possession, and with other effects is now held at the Sheriff's office. Conflicting statements as to the causes leading up to the tragedy and the manner in which Lorbeer met his death have been made, although even the prisoner admits that the bullets were fired from the revolver which he had in his hand. Dr. Cooper, who attended the dying man, says that when the hospital was reached Lorbeer was conscious and perfectly rational, and remained so until the anesthetic was administered. When asked by Dr. Cooper what was the cause of the trouble and how the shooting came about, Lorbeer replied: "I had discharged Barney because he had been dissipating. He had been drinking, and that was why I discharged him." When asked by Dr. Cooper whether there were any witnesses to the affair, Lorbeer answered, "Yes; plenty of them." "Do you know who shot you?" was asked. "Yes; it was Barney." According to a number of eye-witnesses Lorbeer was making ready to send out the 9:15 train yesterday morning. Many of the railway employees were standing around the yard in front of the roundhouse waiting for the train to be made up which they intended

LEUNG CHI-TSO WRITES.

Young Chinese Reformer Heard of From Tokio, Japan.

Leung Chi-Tso, the Chinese reformer, has been heard from in his adopted country—Japan. From information just received from him by the Hongkong Maru it is learned that he arrived in Tokio safely and hoped to be able to proceed to Peking with the Japanese army division which was about to leave for the scene of battle between Tien-tsin and Peking. One of the efforts of Leung Chi-Tso and his associates will be the establishment of a headquarters in China with a provisional government at Shanghai, and thus endeavor to stop the tide of rapine and slaughter by counteracting the abuses of the Manchu, or reigning dynasty, and ultimately overthrowing it. This is the dream of the young reformer and the growing order of Bow Wongs in all outside countries is bending its efforts towards this end. Further atrocities committed upon the families of local Bow Wongs who yet reside in China have been reported in advices just received.

"FOLLOWING CHRIST."

Subject of Sermon Last Night by Rev. G. L. Pearson.

Rev. G. S. Pearson of the Methodist Episcopal Church preached last night on "Following Christ." He considered the command of Jesus—"Follow Me"—in its relation to the several occasions that called it forth, and noted two things that seemed to underlie it: First, they all imply an immediate response. Character is in the present; present action decides it. Jesus commands immediate decision in the interest of the individual character and life. We note also the completeness of the surrender the words imply. God is not satisfied with a divided heart. He wants the whole life to be devoted to his care and his service. This command, "Follow Me," comprehends an immediate and entire consecration of all to Christ. A follower of Christ takes Him as a teacher, learns of Him and lives according to His precepts. He accepts Christ as a perfect example in all things, and patterns his life after Him. But more than this, in following Christ he comes into a personal relationship with Him. He finds Him a personal friend who enters into intimate and precious friendship with those who seek Him. This fellowship is the highest and most blessed experience possible to man. It is the human soul brought into vital touch with God. Jesus offers Himself to all. He invites all to follow Him, promising them all the benefits of His passion, the blessing of His friendship and the life which is eternal. "Yes," said the man after the nitroglycerin explosion had scattered the remains of the well shooter over a large section of the petroleum region, "Doyle always was a cool one. I've seen him rattle over a stony road with a load of glycerin with no more care than if it had been a load of hay." "Well," said the coroner sadly as he thought of an escaped fee, "he may have been cool, but he never will be collected."

THE FAKER EXPOSED.

GEO. D. GEAR DENIES STATEMENTS.

Editor Advertiser: The statements attributed to me in the Republican of today—to the effect that the attack on the Judges at the Bar Association dinner was premeditated, and that I knew it; that Messrs. Thurston, Dole and Kinney had selected as the tool to make it; that Mr. Thurston endeavored to try to place Mr. Humphreys in a ridiculous light, or that "the whole insulting arrangement was made in advance and Kinney and Thurston and Dole knew it was to be done"—were not made by me. The other statements in the interview are, in the main, correct and voice my opinion in the matter. Honolulu, August 12.

NO PREMEDITATION, SAYS W. O. SMITH.

Editor Advertiser: As to the statement in the Republican of this morning, that an attack upon the Judges at the Bar Association dinner Friday night, and particularly upon Judge Humphreys, was premeditated and prearranged and that the committee and no less than half a dozen other members of the Bar knew in advance just what was to be done, I would say: That Hon. Paul Neumann, as president of the Bar Association, and I, as chairman of the dinner committee, arranged the toasts for the evening. Through some failure this was not done until just before we went to the table. At about 7 o'clock, when Mr. Neumann arrived, he and I together made up the list of toasts, and then had difficulty in obtaining the consent of members to respond. The charge that there was prearrangement or intention to give offense to anyone is absolutely without foundation. Every effort had been made to have a good banquet and delightful time, and there was no suggestion or intimation of anything to the contrary. The statement that preference was given to an Advertiser reporter, and that he was given a seat at the banquet, is not true. There was but one reporter who signified any desire to report the proceedings. He did not have a seat at the banquet table, but remained in the adjoining main dining room of the hotel, where a number of persons assembled during the course of the dinner. EVANGELIST M'COMB ON REPUBLICAN.

Politics, religion, ethics and yellow journalism were some of the things of which J. L. McComb, the Joyful News Mission evangelist, spoke last evening. His words created quite a sensation among the band of citizens and sailors gathered upstairs at the corner of King and Nuuanu streets. After a few preliminary remarks, the evangelist unwrapped a parcel lying on the table and shook out a printed sheet of paper. He held it aloft with both hands. "You will excuse my drawing your attention to this," he said, "but I feel it to be my ecclesiastical duty to put you on your guard, to warn you against the lies and slanders contained in this so-called newspaper. It is my painful duty, brothers, to draw your attention to a copy of the Honolulu Republican. What is this beautiful city of Honolulu coming to? Can it be possible that self-respecting, sober-minded men—Christian men—will allow such a filthy rag to enter their homes, to pollute the pure minds of their innocent children and wives with its shameful falsehoods and mean, contemptible, pessimistic ravings? "Why, look here," and the speaker daintily fingered the sheet until he found what he was after. "Here it says: 'Among the arrests made was that of Brannin for profanity. He is one of the right-hand men of Evangelist McComb of the Joyful News Mission.' Just think of it—a falsehood—a statement printed without any inquiry having been made into the matter. It is simply spite—personal spite—the means that this shameful sham, calling itself a newspaper, takes for revenge. And why? Because I have stood up here at the Joyful News Mission and have denounced Lewis and Turk, who are warm friends of the Republican. The Republican is the organ of the crimps; it is the mouthpiece of all that is bad and dishonest and reprehensible in this beautiful Honolulu. "Look at it, friends; look at this freak of yellow journalism; is it not a thing of beauty and a joy forever to the low-minded, vulgar and dishonest ones who are unfortunately among us? I am indeed sorry for the Republicans that they should allow such a scandalous thing to exist. It does not represent the great Republican party—it never can. It calls itself a newspaper—read for yourselves the mean, miserable insinuations which daily appear in its pages. Read the so-called editorial page—see what you find there. Take today's magnificent output of the prostituted pen, for example—'The Tiser.' That sparkling bit of labored wit would apply most admirably to the Republican—or 'Publean,' to be consistent with the Republican's remark. In the first place, the man who wrote it is a yellow hind on the simplest grammar, and again he unconsciously writes the character of his own poor imitation of a newspaper. "How many of the ministers of Honolulu will speak today of the existing evils in Honolulu civic life? I will, for one, and speak first of the greatest of them all—a monstrosity that pretends to be a paper, but which publishes lies for news. "For a paper that is less than two months old The Republican seems to be doing pretty well, thank you. Yes! It's very young for so much responsibility for the whole responsibility, if the moral and spiritual welfare of Honolulu rests upon its shoulders—but it's old in wickedness. "The Republican has no axes to grind. I will tell you one thing, gentlemen, it is a disgrace to the city that such men as Turk and Lewis should be permitted to dictate the policy of a newspaper or a sheet that pretends to be a newspaper. I have known of Turk and Lewis being closeted for hours in the editorial sanctum sanctorum. Isn't that a lovely showing for the glorious Republic? "The Republican will now in all probability heap all the filth it can find, and its reporters know where filth is to be found, upon the Joyful News Mission. Let them do it. In closing, I fling defiance in the face of the Republican; its ravings and evil vaporings shall not disturb me in my work of reform."

HE SHOOTS AND KILLS A MAN

Sam'l Barney, The Slayer of J. W. Lorbeer.

BOTH EMPLOYES OF OAHU RAILROAD

Yardmaster Victim of Brakeman He Discharged From Drunkenness.

John W. Lorbeer, yardmaster of the Oahu Railway and Land Company's depot in this city, was shot twice yesterday morning at 8:45 o'clock by a revolver in the hands of Samuel Barney, a train hand. He died at ten minutes past 12 o'clock noon, at the Queen's Hospital. Samuel Barney, who fired the fatal shots, is now detained at the police station, where he will remain until the decision of the coroner's jury. The pistol with which the murder was committed was taken from Barney's possession, and with other effects is now held at the Sheriff's office. Conflicting statements as to the causes leading up to the tragedy and the manner in which Lorbeer met his death have been made, although even the prisoner admits that the bullets were fired from the revolver which he had in his hand. Dr. Cooper, who attended the dying man, says that when the hospital was reached Lorbeer was conscious and perfectly rational, and remained so until the anesthetic was administered. When asked by Dr. Cooper what was the cause of the trouble and how the shooting came about, Lorbeer replied: "I had discharged Barney because he had been dissipating. He had been drinking, and that was why I discharged him." When asked by Dr. Cooper whether there were any witnesses to the affair, Lorbeer answered, "Yes; plenty of them." "Do you know who shot you?" was asked. "Yes; it was Barney." According to a number of eye-witnesses Lorbeer was making ready to send out the 9:15 train yesterday morning. Many of the railway employees were standing around the yard in front of the roundhouse waiting for the train to be made up which they intended boarding for Makua to spend the day. Barney was one of the number. Yardmaster Lorbeer had asked Superintendent Dennison for an extra car for the men, and this car was being shunted into position. It was said that Barney and a Portuguese fireman named Cabral, who had just come in on the Waialua train, had some trouble, and that Barney applied a vile epithet to him. Cabral reported the matter to Lorbeer, and Lorbeer at once hunted up Barney and berated him for the statements he had made to the fireman. Barney replied, "It was none of his (Lorbeer's) business." Later, as the car was being run down the track, and near the turntable, Lorbeer, who was on the car, saw Barney standing on the track directly in the path of the car. He jumped off, ran ahead, and pushed Barney out of the way, and then ran back a few feet. As he passed by Barney the bystanders saw Lorbeer return toward Barney again as if in response to something said by Barney. At this juncture the tragedy occurred. According to those standing about—principally Herbert Hughes, engineer of the train which had just come in from Kahuku, and who had just stalled his locomotive in the roundhouse, Lorbeer approached Barney. The latter, as Lorbeer came up to him, drew a revolver and placed it directly against Lorbeer's left side, fired. Lorbeer immediately struck Barney on the left temple with his fist, staggering Barney. As Lorbeer fell toward the ground, Barney fell with him, the yardmaster gripping Barney's hand in which the revolver was held, endeavoring to prevent him from pulling the trigger the second time. As they fell, with Lorbeer on top of his assailant, the second shot was fired, entering Lorbeer's left side about three inches above the first wound, striking the ribs. He said: "Now you've got me. Run and get a doctor. A man shot. Lorbeer fell back limp and Barney struggled to his feet only to fall into the hands of several of the train men, among them L. Petrie, who raised the bleeding body of Lorbeer from the ground. Barney was held by the train men and a telephone message sent for medical aid and the patrol wagon. Lorbeer took the wagon to the depot and the inert form of the wounded and dying man was lifted upon the stretcher and placed in the wagon. Dr. Charles B. Cooper arrived on the scene just as the man was ready to be taken to the hospital. Dr. C. B. Wood was waiting at the hospital when the wounded man was brought in. He immediately probed through the wound by the first bullet and knew that internal hemorrhages were fast causing the man to sink. He made a counter opening in the back and inserted a catheter to drain off the blood which was filling the abdominal cavity. By probing he felt that one of the kidneys had been perforated. An examination of the wounds showed that the first bullet had entered the left side and the second one had entered just above it. Both were blackened by powder, showing that the pistol had been pressed against the clothing of the wounded man. In fact, the barrel of the revolver was choked by powder stains. Dr. Wood made an incision over the man's stomach just below the navel, and examined the intestines. He found them perforated in nearly a dozen places. These perforations were stitched, and those partially perforated were also strengthened by a few stitches. The opening was then stitched up. But all medical aid was of no avail, and ten minutes after the operation was finished he died, without regaining consciousness. His only words spoken at the hospital, besides those given by Dr. Cooper, were to give his father's address in California, and to complain of pain in the stomach. The Deputy Sheriff at once subpoenaed a coroner's jury, which was composed of the following men: J. Oswald Latta, W. C. King, J. G. H. J. Mossman, M. S. Levy, and B. Lemoine. They were driven to the Queen's Hospital, and at the morgue in the grounds found Dr. Wood ready to commence the post-mortem examination. The injuries were found to be more severe than was at first surmised. The intestines were perforated through and through; one of the kidneys had been torn open by a bullet. The second shot had broken two ribs, which were also blackened with powder stains. Instead of entering the breast and perforating the lungs, it was found the ball had ranged downward, cutting the diaphragm and making two holes in the stomach. One bullet was found in the abdominal cavity. It was a 38-calibre ball, and despite the fact that it had almost passed through his body, was uninjured, only a slight nick being found in the flat end. It was probably owing to Lorbeer's magnificent physique that he continued to live for over three hours after receiving two such terrible wounds, either of which would have proved fatal. Lorbeer was a man whose physical make-up indicated that he was of good habits. His muscles were well rounded and he was a fine specimen of manhood. Dr. Cooper who was present at the autopsy said with reference to his connection with the case: "I went down about 9 o'clock this morning to the roundhouse of the Oahu Railway. At the time I arrived there the patrol wagon was ready to convey the wounded man to the hospital. He lived until after we had sewed up the incision we had made. "We sewed up about ten different intestinal wounds. The wound was also packed. Most of the hemorrhage was from the kidneys. Despite our efforts he collapsed. He suffered a great deal of agony. When we commenced operating upon him his pulse could barely be felt." Lorbeer's body was taken from the hospital shortly after noon yesterday to Williams' undertaking rooms. It will be embalmed, and will not be buried until word has been received from his family in Pomona, California. It is quite likely that the local Odd Fellows will hold funeral ceremonies over the

A RIOT AT PAPAALO A

Head Luna Shore Badly Hurt.

ATTACKED BY JAPANESE

Tried to Drive Out Strikers and is Jumped on by a Murderous Mob.

HILO, Hawaii, August 11.—The Hilo papers have the following: A serious riot at Papaaloa on Tuesday of this week resulted in a narrow escape of the head luna, Mr. Harry Shore, and one of the under lunas, from a mob of about forty infuriated Japanese, who refused either to go to work or get out of their camp, when they were given the choice by the overseer. The latter then called upon the under luna, and they started in to clean the strikers out of the camps; but while they were going from camp to camp the Japanese were collecting their forces, and as they entered one of the last camps the Japs came at them in an angry mob. They cornered Mr. Shore and his assistant and commenced to assault them with hoes, handles, hoes, and any weapon they could lay their hands upon.

The two white men fought desperately, and after a very hot struggle they got away; the luna without a scratch, but Mr. Shore badly cut on the head and back. He received in fact three cuts upon the head, one being very serious. Sheriff Swain was telephoned for, and on his arrival at Papaaloa swore in a few natives and whites as special police and advanced to the camp. In the meantime the under luna had made for home and gotten a rifle. The doctor had also arrived and having fixed up Shore's wounds had gone to the camp to see if any Japs were in need of medical aid. The luna not knowing of this, or of the approach of Deputy Sheriff Swain, fired his rifle outside the house where the Japs were, at which most of them flew for their lives, dashing through the doors and windows and making for the cane. The doctor took refuge under a bed.

Thus, unfortunately, a considerable number of the rioters escaped, though Mr. Swain and his force arrived just about this time and succeeded in capturing twenty-one, who were promptly judged and held for trial, to take place as seen as Overseer Shore should be well enough to appear in court.

SWINE IN HILO.

The Tribune has been informed on what seems good authority that the Board of Health regulations relative to the keeping of swine within the city limits is a dead letter for the most part, and that the animal which made Chicago famous is tenderly received in the tidbits of the swill barrel and allowed to breed and held for trial, to take place as seen as Overseer Shore should be well enough to appear in court.

DAN LEAVES HIS CLASS

He Beats Three Minutes Easily.

Races at Kapiolani Park Brought Out a Fair Crowd on Last Saturday.

Another horse has vacated for good the convenient three-minute class. Dan McCarty, the Honolulu Stock-yards' horse, well tooted by Sam Grigsby, won the three-minute class race on Saturday afternoon at Kapiolani Park in two straight heats, timed 2:45 and 2:40 1/2.

The usual Saturday afternoon crowd was out, but they did not have on their betting clothes, the only wager of magnitude being two of the longitudinal pieces of metal which are accepted as the collateral equivalent of one beer.

Both heats were fairly interesting and, while class was not uncomfortably evident, those present appeared to keenly enjoy the two races.

The various drivers experienced much difficulty in keeping their horses on their feet and most of them broke early and often. The exhibition of trotting, pacing and running was an amazing one and if a few hurdles had only been erected on the course the program would have left nothing to be desired from a spectacular point of view.

At 4 o'clock the following turned out for the first heat: Dan, driven by Grigsby; Charley, driven by Dr. Monserrat; Pat, driven by C. H. Judd, and Sadie, driven by Charlie Bellina.

Pat and Dan broke soon after the start; at the quarter it was Charley, Sadie, Pat and Dan. At the half Charley was still ahead, with Dan second, and Sadie in third position; Pat was in the rear. So they ran to the three-quarters, Dan looking very dangerous and Charley by no means flustering his admirers. The stretch was entered well together, but Dan's driver let out a link and passed Charley, who failed when the pinch came, winning easily by three lengths. Charley was second and Sadie a rattling good third. Time, 2:45.

The field was soon dispatched on their second journey and Dan immediately assumed the lead. At the quarter it was Dan, Charley, Sadie and Pat, in the order named. They kept these positions to the stretch, when Dr. Monserrat called on Charley for an effort, with dismal results. Sadie looked like giving the leader a brush, but went up in the air at the final eighth, and effectually destroyed her chances. Dan won by three lengths, with Charley second, two lengths ahead of Sadie; Pat was last home by a street. Time, 2:40 1/2.

Messrs. Edmunds, Shaw and McDonald were the judges.

Five horsemen went into a sweepstake on the time of the first heat. They guessed as follows: 3:10, 2:52, 2:48, 2:48, 2:36.

HOMES ON HILO LINE

Residences To be Built Probably.

RAILROAD IMPROVEMENTS

Forest to be Turned Into Ties and Timber--Cane From Kiloahana.

(Special Correspondence.)

OLAA, Hawaii, August 10.—Work on the Hilo railroad is being pushed along without cessation. The telephone line of the company from Hilo to Olaa is about complete and the track has been laid for about two miles beyond this point. Superintendent Lambert thinks from present indications a train to Pahoa will be possible by October. The establishment, by him, of stage connection to the volcano and wayside villages has greatly increased the traffic on the road and at the same time is giving great satisfaction to residents and tourists. Daily, instead of semi-weekly, trips are now made and mails are delivered with a regularity that is really Edenic.

A large number of property owners, in the Mountain View and mauka sections, see a possibility of establishing homes along the line now that rapid transit is assured. Formerly tourists did not reach the volcanoes until late in the evening and thus lost many of the scenic splendors of the upper drive. Now they leave Hilo at 7:30 a. m. by train and the stages of the Hilo Company land them at the end of their journey just as the echoes of the lurch bell go ringing down the caves of Kilauea.

AT OLAA STATION.

Three large warehouses, two plantation, and one railroad, have been erected at this point. Lumber is on the ground for the Olaa offices, a restaurant and other necessary buildings and in a few weeks quite a village will take the place of bareness and solitude. Those outposts of civilization, churches, school-houses and saloons have not yet been considered, but all except the last may be looked for in the early future. The arrival and departure of the trains present an enlightening scene; teams, coaches, and freight wagons from all sections, leaning on hand to receive and deliver passengers and freight, with the usual contingent of wonder-struck natives, to whom the locomotive is a spell-binding sight.

MOVING FORESTS.

The moving of the forest woods after cutting was at one time a formidable problem to be met in clearing the upper lands. A recent contract with the Hilo railroad has removed this element of consideration. Contracts have been completed under which the major portion of the immense olia logs will be converted into railroad ties, bridge and heavy timbers and such as are acceptable delivered. It is estimated that over 100,000 ties will be the output. That not suitable for ties will either go into the market, but more probably be reserved for mill purposes. At any rate none will be wasted and all now has an added value and will form a large item in plantation assets.

CANE FROM KILOHANA.

Peter Lee, at the Half-Way House, on his tract of thirty acres, is cutting cane for seed purposes, which runs 50% tons to the acre, equal to a capacity of seven tons of sugar. The cane is there in full view, was weighed by Assessor H. J. Lyman and Peter wants to know where in the Islands it can be beat? It must be borne in mind that this cane is only one year old and experts are asking what will it yield when at maturity? Close estimates place the probable output at ten tons and over. The land is surrounded by, and is a portion of the same soil as that of the middle Olaa district, from which like results are considered a foregone conclusion. As fast as cut this cane finds its home on the land of the "Big Plantation."

CONDUCTOR RICHARDSON.

The Hilo Railroad Company has secured as conductor on its line C. W. Richardson. Mr. Richardson, although not an old man, has been railroading long enough to be classed as a veteran. His field of employment was principally on the more westerly lines of the Mainland and he is as full of border reminiscences as he is of the work of his craft. Another important accession to Superintendent Lambert's staff is A. L. Williams, as freight manager. This gentleman was for nearly twenty years with the "Southern Pacific," "shorts" and "bad order" is distressing to him.

HAWAII NOTES.

O. T. Shipman, of Mountain View, is making extensive shipments of milk now that transportation rates have become within the reach of other than the local market.

Hackmen at whose mercy tourists have been, and under whose residents were a perpetual reign of terror, have joined the anti-railroad calmly howlers. One can ride from Hilo to Olaa now, but something left to lunch on and the end.

Potatoes and onions are just now commanding fancy prices and beef and mutton are, to many, out of sight.

The sporting element, which seems to have the heart of Hilo just now, comes from those who have a special fancy for knowing just where the optimum crops are. Several of these "dope finders" have been prospecting Olaa, but have well off, having received an intimation that the managerial eye was open. Good, solid night rains were promised. This is the standard here now and has been for weeks.

The Olaa "squatter" is entitled to consideration anyhow. He is going right along improving his location and expresses an abiding faith in the justice of his Uncle Samuel. He says nothing but the wood is being saved.

The Santiago and Roderick Bros., just leaving, had heavy cargoes for Olaa and the railroad, and the Falls of Clyde, now coming in, will keep the trains moving this way right along.

Several of the Olaa employees have invested in land at Pahoa and are preparing to build homes in the neighborhood of the railroad extension. They speak highly of the district as a home town, with distinct agricultural possibilities. The most prominent are Peter Melton, H. Soper, F. J. Williams and J. F. Arnold.

A gang of men has been at work on the Puna road, from the volcano junction, as far as Waipahoehoe, and it is now of the boulevard type to that point.

Mr. Hambley, makai of Mountain View on the Canney road, has disposed of his tract of 50 acres, 25 of which are planted to the Olaa company. It is fine cane land and was specially selected by the seller, who is reputed an expert in such matters.

Rogers Brothers have contracts for road and railroad painting in and around Olaa. Henry Gerlach, the "Blacksmith of Olaa," has been high up with pneumonia, but he is now recovering. A drug store is the latest addition to the mercantile interest of Olaa town.

COLD CHICKEN PIE.

A Recipe for a Pleasant Hot Weather Dish.

Singe and draw, leaving the skin on, a tender chicken weighing about four pounds. Cut in pieces as for fricassee. Put in cold water half an hour; drain, and wipe each piece carefully, and put into a saucepan; cover with cold water. Skim well as well as it comes to a boil. Cook thirty minutes, strain, and reserve the broth. Wash the chicken, put into it one tablespoonful of butter and one of flour, stirring constantly with a wooden spoon. Cook five minutes, taking care not to let it brown. Add the chicken; stir well for one minute. Strain the broth and add it to the chicken. Little by little, otherwise the sauce would not be smooth. Season with half a tablespoonful of salt, one saltspoonful of pepper, and a small bouquet of three sprigs of parsley, two cloves, half a bay leaf, and four fairly large onions. Cook slowly thirty minutes. Remove the pieces of chicken from the saucepan, put them aside in a platter to cool, leaving the gravy in the saucepan over the fire.

Break into a bowl the yolks of three eggs, and add two tablespoonfuls of butter, one teaspoonful of lemon juice and two tablespoonfuls of the gravy of the chicken. Mix well. Remove the saucepan from the fire and add the thickening; mix well; pour over the chicken through a strainer, and let it cool. Cut the crown from a round loaf of fresh bread, scoop out the inside, leaving only the crust. Into this bread dish put first the small pieces of the chicken with two-thirds of the gravy, arranging the legs and wings on the top, and pour over the balance of the gravy. Put a small paper ruffle on the bones of the wings and legs. Remove also the soft part of the top of the bread, that it may fit snugly. This pie is not expensive, and is much appreciated in Europe for an outdoor luncheon. It is much more digestible than one made of pastry.

THE OLD ORDER CHANGETH

BEING AND NOT GIVING

What God Demands of Us All.

MERCY, NOT SACRIFICE

The Sermon by the Rev. Mr. Erdman at Central Union Church Yesterday.

The following is, in part, the sermon preached by Rev. Mr. Erdman at the Central Union Church yesterday morning.

The picture to which the prophet Hosea introduces us is sorry indeed. He declares "there is no truth, nor mercy, nor knowledge of God in the land."

The royal court was thoroughly corrupt. The king and the princes amused themselves with the people's misdoings instead of restraining them.

With king and princes weak and demoralized, with murderers and thieves for priests, what good shall we hope to find among the people?

Now we do not need to look far to find the cause of their downfall: not the source from which these evils sprang.

The man who believes God too loving a father to be strict, too tender-hearted to condemn—that man will live, ruled by his own desires, not by God's.

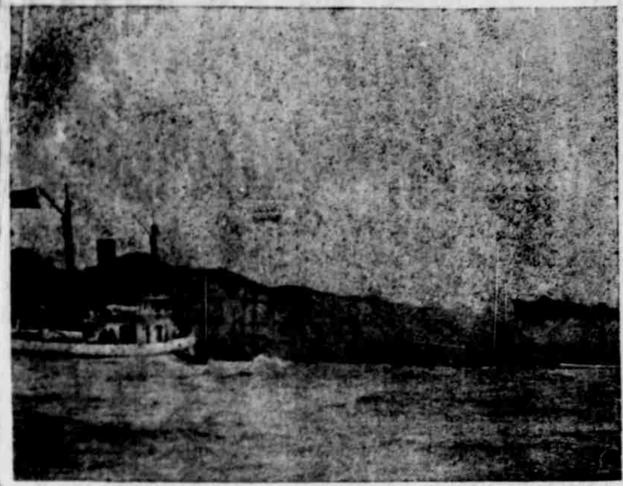

This was just the trouble with the Jews of Hosea's time. They had lost the lofty conception of God their fathers had, and looked upon Him simply as one of many gods.

In this watershed of Hosea is summed up God's standard of service. Sacrifice is not refused altogether. God would be untrue to Himself if that were the case.

For generations the people had practiced more or less idolatry. The influence of the heathen nations had been strong, the spirit of Jehovah worship had grown weak.

HE SHOOTS AND KILLS A MAN

remains, as deceased was a member of that order in California.

George P. Dennison, superintendent of the Oahu Railway Company, as soon as he learned of the tragedy went to the depot, where he gathered particulars of the crime, and also went to the hospital, where he found Engineer Herbert Hughes, who was an eye witness of the shooting.

"I was at home when news of the murder reached me," said Mr. Dennison, "and I was notified over the telephone. I went immediately to the hospital, but Lorbeer was already on the operating table.

"I had a talk with Engineer Hughes at the hospital in which he told me the whole facts in the case. He had just come in from a run up the road and was coming out of the roundhouse. He saw Lorbeer on the rear end of a passenger car which was being backed down the yards.

"As to the cause of the trouble, I know only that we had had some difficulty with Barney about his drinking. When he went to work for us about two months ago we made the usual inquiries about his habits, for it is a strict rule of the road that no men shall be employed who drink. He had been working at Kahuku, and seemed to have had a good reputation there.

"Lorbeer was one of our best men. He came to us with an excellent reputation and I had known him in California, where he was very well known and liked. He had done us good service on the road and had been rapidly promoted. He seemed to be well liked by the men under him, although I had heard that there had been some jealousy of him on account of his promotion.

"When questioned as to when he procured the revolver, and how it happened he carried it yesterday. Barney stated that it was one he had owned for some time, but that the cartridges were bought on Saturday. As he was to have been one of the party on the railroad men's excursion yesterday he had carried the revolver along with him, thinking he might have an opportunity to shoot at some birds or other target marks, he said.

LORBER'S GOOD CHARACTER. John W. Lorbeer was born in Iowa thirty-eight years ago. He had lived most of his life time in California, at Pomona, Los Angeles county, where his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. John Lorbeer, as well as a number of brothers and sisters of the murdered man now live.

Captain Holl conveyed the prisoner, Samuel Barney, to the station house as soon as the wounded man was taken to the hospital. He was booked on a charge of investigation pending further developments in Lorbeer's case. Later the charge of murder was placed against Barney's name.

From what could be learned of his statements after being taken into custody at the depot, Barney claimed that Lorbeer approached him and without any warning of his intentions suddenly struck him (Barney), knocking him down, and then jumped on top of him. He called to him to get off him which Lorbeer refused to do. He then reached to his hip pocket with his right hand and drew a .38-caliber revolver and placed it against Lorbeer's body fired. As Lorbeer still held him down, he fired a second ball into the man whom he claims was the assailant. He claims that Lorbeer first struck him before he had any intention of doing bodily harm and says he would not have used such extreme measures had not Lorbeer persisted in pinning him to the ground.

Yesterday afternoon an Advertiser reporter was admitted to his cell. He was not closely confined, the grated door being allowed to remain open. When the reporter entered the cell, Barney was lying on his back on the board platform which serves as a couch and seat. Barney had his coat and vest off and rolled up for a pillow. His collar and tie had also been removed and he had made himself as comfortable as circumstances permitted. He rose to a sitting posture when the deputy sheriff, turnkey and the reporter entered and greeted all with a "Good afternoon, gentlemen."

He was dressed plainly and evidently had donned his Sunday clothes for the excursion. His face seemed slightly drawn about the lips, and his eyes indicated that he was resigned to await whatever was in store for him when he shall be tried by a jury of his peers.

"I would like to inform you, Mr. Barney," said the Deputy Sheriff slowly, "the Lorbeer is dead."

After a moment's painful silence Barney leaned his head to one side and said with a sigh, "Yes, I know it. Captain Fox told me so." He shook his head as if to answer some mental query and began to trace his finger along the platform.

He was asked if he wished to make any statements in regard to himself for publication, excepting anything that had to do directly with the affair which culminated in having a charge of murder placed against his name.

"No, I don't believe I have anything to say now," he answered. "I may later, but you see I haven't conferred with an attorney in regard to my case, and I would prefer to make my first statement to him. I never had an experience of this kind before in my life. No, I never have. I want to give the truth and the facts. I am not afraid to tell the truth and I do not anticipate it will do me any harm."

"Can you tell me when he died?" queried Barney. He was told that death came to Lorbeer shortly after noon.

"I did not think he was so badly hurt," said Barney sadly. "We had been on friendly terms and I was directed under him for the past few weeks. It certainly surprised me to hear that he was dead. I am very sorry, indeed I am. But then—and he sighed again, "that does not help either of our cases to say that I feel sorry more on his account than on mine. The matter of killing a man, for I understand that is what I am charged with, is a mighty serious affair for one, no matter how it is done. I am sorry to hear that Lorbeer is dead."

When questioned as to when he procured the revolver, and how it happened he carried it yesterday. Barney stated that it was one he had owned for some time, but that the cartridges were bought on Saturday. As he was to have been one of the party on the railroad men's excursion yesterday he had carried the revolver along with him, thinking he might have an opportunity to shoot at some birds or other target marks, he said.

THE PACIFIC Commercial Advertiser

WALTER G. SMITH - - EDITOR.

MONDAY AUGUST 13

The Oloa Settlers' Association has adopted resolutions in favor of G. F. Little which are almost complimentary enough to have been written by himself.

And so it was a reflection on President McKinley's appointees, was it? By the way, who was it that reflected on the President's appointee, Judge Edings? But that, of course, is another story.

And now the esteemed Independent wants to change the name of the Capitol, asking what it will be when its own party gets there. Heaven only can tell. Perhaps the place will then be called The Dive.

It would not be surprising if the President should come to share the general regret that the judgments were not referred, as were so many other Hawaiian appointments, to the sober good sense of Mr. Dole.

It may be the Arizona style of "live, hustling journalism" to leave important banquet speeches unreported and delve in an ash-barrel afterwards for bits of gossip about them but it isn't the kind of journalism that goes in Hawaii. Here the people have grown accustomed to a newspaper.

Ocean speed is increasing. The English torpedo boat Viper, with turbine engines, made thirty-seven knots or more and a new North German Lloyd greyhound promises twenty-four. It may not be ten years before the Pacific ocean can be crossed in a week and the Hawaiian passage made in less than three days.

The only garbled news report the Advertiser has printed is the Grand Jury charge of Judge Humphreys which that gentleman sent in in garbled form. But this fact hardly entitles the judicial journalist whose sovereign genius yields the quill his tributary body yields to draw invidious comparisons between his own publication and a newspaper.

There is an eager effort among the job-chasers to beguile Judge Estee into their small and exclusive ring. Judge Estee is no longer in politics and his position is of a kind which ought to protect him from the importunities of men who represent nobody but themselves and are more noisy than numerous. It would of course be a great card to have Estee to train with, but it does not seem to have occurred to the job-chasers that the Judge himself might have scruples about falling in with the corporal's guard which follows the devious fortunes of Carpet-bagger Sewall.

A paper which had no reporter at the banquet of the Bar Association presumes to criticize the report of the journal which was represented there. How it knows anything about the affair save by hearsay, and that through an interested party, it would take more than an Arizona lawyer to find out. As is our usual custom the Advertiser took all the speeches in shorthand that it did not get in manuscript, the whole making an accurate and thorough account of the banquet proceedings. If other papers which now run mainly to large type and empty brag would collect news in the same complete and trustworthy manner they might not be compelled to give away two-thirds of their editions so as to keep up the pretence of a circulation.

The Daily Humphreys, which makes up in faking what it lacks in enterprise, prints the following boomerang paragraph:

With its customary dishonesty and efforts to deceive the Advertiser pretended to give a correct report of the speeches made at the Bar Association dinner, and yet it suppressed every word of the insulting McClanahan wherein he directly attacked the courts. That sort of thing went in the old days, but Mr. Thurston will find it won't go now. The people long since learned how they were continually being misinformed by that paper in its desire to work solely for the personal and private ends of its owner.

The Advertiser had the only report of Mr. McClanahan's speech and it came without alteration from his manuscript. If anything was omitted it is up to the Daily Humphreys to say what. The same is the case if there was anything insulting. Nobody has yet seen a shred of evidence that McClanahan used any language not included in the Advertiser's report of his genial and good-natured phrases. All we have is an iteration of vague abuse quite characteristic of a paper which George D. Gear exposes in the very act of lying openly, knowingly and with naked intent to deceive.

JUDGE AND JOURNALIST.

His Honor—Ho, slave! Appear! Slave of the Sanctum—Your servant, Lord, is here

His Honor—I note within this measly sheet of thine—or rather, mine—that of my name and excellencies high there are but items twenty-six; I spy no others. Cautif, hear! If by another morn this sheet comes out and my name does not mix (you well may fear)—in every line of type from front to rear, then let me tell you that your job is nix. Why are you hired, you whooper of the plains, if not to tell the public of MY brains?

Slave—Obeisance, Lord, my head I bow down thrice; in tomorrow's paper you will cut much ice; in every column, every line of type, thy noble instincts and thy judgment ripe will shine resplendent until e'en the babe shall gurgle lovingly the name of Abe.

HAZARD OF NEW FORTUNES.

The Maui News says: "Presumably, the people of the Territory of Hawaii, even including the Advertiser, feel some desire to see the Territory become a state. If so, the sooner that regular municipal governments are established for the different counties and cities, the sooner we will be able to demonstrate that we are ready for statehood."

We shall be ready for statehood, with its county and city lines, when the people are. By the census of 1896 the number of Islanders who were supposed to be conversant with Anglo-Saxon methods of domestic administration and in sympathy with them, were Americans, 3,086; Britons, 2,250; Germans, 1,432 and an unknown percentage of Anglo-Saxons of voting age among foreigners of Hawaiian birth. The figures given amount to 6,768; but let us treble them for the sake of argument and we would have only about 20,000 people from whom to draw the voters, in the proportion of one to five, to whom the work of building up the more complex American system could be committed. But not to all in safety, for many of these same whites are in Hawaii to do politics for spots and for no other object. What is left to battle for good government and low taxes is a residuum so small as to make a venture into statehood politics most absurd and into city and county politics most hazardous.

We need to wait and to grow; we need enough American population to secure local self-government of the American pattern. If taxes and rents are kept down, lands opened up, agriculture reasonably diversified and roads built; better yet if the plantation owners shall get some of the white labor that roasts all summer and freezes all winter in the middle West and would be eager to try its luck in Hawaii—then we shall be ready, or in the way of being ready, for the American system. But the time is not yet. Anything in the way of local self-government, minutely subdivided, that can be had of the present voting majority will be as un-American as is that majority itself. How un-American that is we leave it to the organ of the majority party, the Independent, to say:

Mr. Baird is a stranger here and has not yet realized that the great majority of the people here, the natives of the soil especially, sympathized with Spain and to the end of their lives will bear a grudge against everything American—as shown by the followers of McKinley's administration.

Fine citizenship, is it not, to take up the work of organizing American counties, American cities and in the end an American State?

If we get local governments provided by these self-acknowledged friends of Spain and haters of the United States Hawaii will be in such a turmoil of dirty politics, misrule and retaliation that American home-seekers will stay away as they would from China. The one thing that Hawaii needs most is for the Americans and their sympathizers, among whom we number the intelligent and self-respecting Hawaiians, to stand together in support of the good government we enjoy, letting dangerous aspirations subside until the danger is over.

JESTING WITH THE DIGNITIES.

A banquet of the right sort is an affair of friends, a privileged occasion where reserve is dropped and professional stiffness laid aside. It is a place for jest and repartee, for personal "drives" and "jokes," where cares and quarrels are thrown away and give and take is the spirit of the hour. No man in his senses gets angry when epigrams are made over the walnuts and the wine and no man of good-breeding shows anger if some inadvertence seems likely to provoke it. The ideal banquet means the good-fellowship of comrades, not the spirit of the duello or the prize ring; and no classes of people, as a rule, live up to the ideal state better than lawyers. They are accustomed to have fun at each other's expense in court and to shake hands afterwards; and they of all others are qualified and expected to do the same thing at the banquet-board. That a trifling jest should set such rhetorical post-graduates on edge and impel three men of the standing of judges to leave a feast and frolic in a huff, is incomprehensible. The incident of Friday night suggests the servant's ball from which a lady's maid flew indignant to her mistress and said: "Mem, the young man who took me out, grossly insulted me!" "How did he insult you?" inquired the mistress.

"He asked me to supper and when we were through he said: 'Miss, is your program full?'"

The three judges who arose in such awful dignity when Lawyer McClanahan cracked a joke about the bench are very new to the ermine, two are very young and one is as eager as an actress for the first time starred, to have his name mixed up in a daily sensation. It was a combination to make the most of a fancied slight, the more so because all three judges, sleeping and waking, seem to be burdened with the majesty of their offices. To them the veriest shadow of the crime of lese majeste is unpardonable. Gray-haired jurists who have forgotten more law than these novices ever learned would have sat out the Bar Association's banquet, Paul Neumann style, and returned jest for jest and quip for quip; it remained for men whose judgments have not yet had time to be overruled and whose ermine still sheds hairs to look aghast at every flitting witticism and when the omnipotence of the bench—their bench—was lightly touched with the breath of railleury to rise in stilted wrath and walk imperiously out of doors. Upon what meat hath these our Caesars fed that they have grown so great?

Let the Advertiser commend to these fresh but yet tamed jurists a study of the banquet speeches of the Gridiron Club of Washington, an annual function which makes sport enough of an evening to last the official society of the national capital until the next circus. The Gridiron Club is no respecter of persons, let its guests be whom they may. If the President of the United States happens to be there, he will see his gravest policy put in the most ridiculous light and as we will take it as good-naturedly as he would a re-nomination. If the Chief Justice and the Associate Justices of the Supreme Court are there, as is usually the case, their most ponderous decisions will be caricatured amid roars of laughter in which they always join. The Cabinet

Secretaries do not escape the wit of their fellow diners; the Lieutenant General of the Army and the Admiral of the Navy catch it right and left. Did Admiral Dewey, when the Gridiron Club gave him a toy house with a string tied to it, strike a Catalinian attitude and call a cab? Far from it. He will go to meet the boys again next year, though he may feel morally sure that they will signalize the banquet by giving him a teething ring to take home.

The lesson of it all is that those who are entitled to respect are never touchy about harmless witticisms at their expense; it is the brand new official, clothed in a little brief authority and not sure that his labels have been read, who always asks what man is this who has come between the wind and his nobility?

There is a widespread demand in the East, especially in New York and Washington, for social permission to go without coats in dog days. The male shirt-waister has already appeared in a pleasing variation from what is known in these Islands as the Mode Testa. It may be necessary to explain to philologists that "Testa" is not defined in our fashionable world as it is in Webster's Dictionary where it means "the outer coat or integument of a seed." Here the coat is shucked and the seedy part revealed.

Senator Tillman, who is one of the leading orators of the consent-of-the-governed school says: "We will shoot them (the Southern colored men) down again, if they attempt to have their votes counted." Between sighting his gun at colored Americans and weeping over the political servitude of the Porto Ricans and Filipinos, Tillman seems likely to lose his other eye.

George D. Gear's exposure of the Daily Humphreys in the act of publishing an interview that never took place is one of the most timely pieces of rogue-haltering we have seen in many a day.

OF CURRENT INTEREST.

Record Breaker in Excursions.

Five steamships carried the largest excursion party which ever left New York for Europe under the direction of one man. There were 890 tourists in the four groups, and they were divided as follows: City of Rome for Glasgow, 510; State of Nebraska for Glasgow, 254; Maasdam for Rotterdam, 89; Aller for Genoa, 57; Minneapolis for London, 33. They will visit England, Ireland and the Continent, returning in August. Ascalon commandery, knights Templar, 110 strong, were on the City of Rome. They were in charge of Herbert C. Clark, United States Vice Consul in Palestine. There were also 130 physicians and their families from Illinois, Kansas and Iowa, who are delegates to the medical convention in Paris.

The Newest Snake Story.

The latest authentic snake story is from North Glenwood farm, near Easton, one of the country places in Talbot county, Md. The other day a big blacksnake was seen emerging from an ice pond. It was killed. A protuberance was noticed about the middle. The snake was chopped in two, and a porcelain turkey nest egg rolled out. Captain Noble Robinson was tenant on the farm last year. Mrs. Robinson raised turkeys, using china nest eggs from a nest near the ice pond. She supposed a boy who had the range of the meadow had taken it. When the egg from the snake was shown to Mrs. Robinson she identified it as the one she had lost by a certain incised mark upon it.

Liberty's Lightning Rods.

The statue of liberty on Liberty Island, in New York harbor, was struck twice by lightning on the Fourth of July, and emerged unharmed. One bolt struck the upraised arm and another hit it squarely on the forehead. The statue is protected by the finest system of lightning rods ever made. They extend from a point above the torch down the figure and foundation and into the ground a distance of 305 feet. Thence they go into the water of the bay and end in a system of piping fitted with carbon.

Kicks for Shoplifters.

Some of the big New York stores are trying a new method of dealing with shoplifters. The present system of prosecuting them in court is not entirely satisfactory, because if the pilfered articles come to less than $25 the charge can only be petty larceny. Therefore the detectives now take from the shoplifters whatever they have stolen, conduct them to the back door and dismiss them with "a good, swift kick," adding a warning that next time the offender will be sent to jail.

Jack Was a Dull Boy.

The late Admiral "Jack" Philip, while a religious, conscientious man, was also a boy persistently neglectful of his studies and always in trouble on account of his uncontrollable tendency to mischief. When in the naval academy he only managed to attain the minimum grade necessary to keep him in the institution, and made that only through the grace of his instructors, who knew that he had the making of a fine officer in him.

Washington Irving's House.

The house once owned and occupied by Washington Irving at Irvington, N. Y., has been sold to Henry Graves Jr. The place has changed little in appearance since Irving occupied it, except that a three story brick house has been built on the premises. The ground consists of nine acres, running along the east side of the Croton aqueduct. The purchase price is said to be $125,000. Mr. Graves will occupy the place as a summer home.

Patriotism is always commendable, but in every breast there should be not only the desire to be a good citizen, but to be strong, able bodied and well fitted for the battle of life. To do this, pure blood is absolutely necessary, and Hood's Sarsaparilla is the one specific which cleanses the blood thoroughly. It acts equally well for both sexes and all ages.

Humor—"When I need a blood purifier I take Hood's Sarsaparilla. It cured my humor and is excellent as a nerve tonic." Jesse Eaton, Stafford Springs, Ct. Hood's Sarsaparilla NEVER Disappoints

A COUGH CURED

If this could be said of all cough medicines there would be no need to study out a new formula.

Many however bring about a certain amount of relief and many more claim to cure, but effect none.

Cummins' Cough Cure

has never failed to cure. In its manufacture no attempt has been made to cheapen its cost by the use of inferior qualities of medicine.

We believe this is the reason for its success.

Pioneer Plantation's Activities.

MORE TRACK TO BE LAID

Paia Will Have Ten Miles of Road to Fields at Kailua--New Depot Building.

(Special Correspondence.)

WAILUKU, Maui, August 11.—Pioneer plantation is about to have laid twenty miles more of railroad track, running from Lahaina near the sea to Kaanapali, thence mauka and back to Lahaina. The line of course will have quite a number of branches and will be used to convey sugar cane to the mill. The survey of the road has already been made and about one mile has been properly staked off. Messrs. Hugh Howell and John Wilson have the contract to build the railroad.

Mr. Howell arrived on the 4th in Lahaina to superintend the work. Wilson is of the firm of Whitehouse and Wilson, and Howell has been employed as government surveyor at Hana. The Pioneer plantation is a very large sugar estate and is constantly increasing its cultivated area. Manager Berkhausen is now planting the land half way to Olowalu, from the sea to about 250 feet elevation.

It is stated that the intention is to plant close up to the Olowalu boundary and also to put under cultivation that very dry and seemingly most barren stretch of country now unplanted between Lahaina and Olowalu. When all this shall be accomplished, the adjective immense can be most fittingly applied to the territory of Pioneer plantation.

The case of Matualet, Lanai, and of the American Sugar Company, Molokai, is to be ground at Lahaina. Next week Paia plantation will begin the erection of a new office. The building will stand on the site of the present office structure and will include a new store twenty-six by thirty feet, a post office room, a spacious office, and the manager's private office. The store, the post office and the plantation company's office will all front the street and will have a veranda. The store will be adjacent to and will run parallel with the old store building which has grown too small for the amount of business transacted.

By the first of 1901 Paia plantation will have a railroad engine and will lay ten miles of track to the fields at Kailua in Makawao mauka of the Spreckelsville lands. Kahului Railroad Company will put up a temporary depot at Paia on the site of the one recently destroyed by fire. This building will be used to store the present sugar-crop. After this crop is taken off a permanent depot will be constructed near the Paia mill and the road extended to Hamakua. To make the proposed change of depots and tracks now would involve too much labor and expense.

Tonight at Paia Hall a concert will be given in aid of Paia native church. The following persons will take part: Misses Reclina Eshaw, Kamakaeha Kalama, Lilian Pihl, Alice K. Kikipe, Margaret R. Nape and Samuel Kamakala, the leader of the old Hawaiian band.

MAKAWAO LITERATEURS.

The August Meeting was Held at the Baldwin Residence.

(Special Correspondence.)

WAILUKU, Maui, August 11.—The August meeting of the Makawao Literary Society was held at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. B. D. Baldwin of Hamakua. The meeting was held on the 9th. Showery weather made the attendance somewhat smaller than is customary. The following program elicited much interest and applause:

1. Selections on the gramophone.
2. Piano Solo, Mrs. H. A. Baldwin.
3. Farce, "Uncle's Will"; The characters of the drama were—Florence Marigold, Miss Eva Smith; Charles Cashmore, Mr. W. O. Aiken; Mr. Barker, Mr. W. S. Nichol.

The little play was exceedingly well rendered and heartily enjoyed by the audience.

Last evening, the 10th, the Makawao Debating Club discussed the following subject in the Paia church parlors: "Resolved, That the President and Senate of the United States ought to be elected by popular vote." Mr. D. C. Lindsay and Dr. W. F. McConkey, in the affirmative, won by argument over Messrs. H. F. Egle and W. O. Aiken, in the negative. The next subject for debate is, "Resolved, That William McKinley should be chosen the next President of the United States." Weather—Showery.

POLO AT PAIA.

Von Tempky's Team Wins From Frank Baldwin's Aggregation.

(Special Correspondence.)

WAILUKU, Maui, August 11.—An exciting game of polo was played on Saturday afternoon, the 4th, at the Sunnyside grounds, Paia. Von Tempky's side won after four fierce plays of 10 minutes each with five-minute intervals for changing ponies. During the first two innings neither side scored. It was a hooking match near the center of the field. The long grass retarded the ball and made the playing "slow." During the third inning Von Tempky's players made two touch-downs, which made the score 2 to 0. During the fourth play Frank Baldwin's side made a touch down and the final score stood 2 to 1 against Baldwin's team.

The following were the players: L. von Tempky, captain; D. C. Lindsay, W. O. Aiken, D. T. Fleming and Henry Damon; F. F. Baldwin, captain; S. E. Kalama, W. D. Baldwin, Fred C. Baldwin and Frank Alexander. The presence of a number of the fair sex as spectators spurred the players to their best effort.

THE BABY'S CHRISTENING.

Daughter of Rev. T. Gomi, of Kula, Baptized With Ceremony.

(Special Correspondence.)

WAILUKU, Maui, August 11.—The christening of the baby daughter of Rev. T. Gomi was celebrated in a festive manner at Omapiro, Kula, on the 6th. Anglo-Saxons or Hawaiians in Hawaii do not content themselves with a simple ceremony at the church, but Orientals, be they Christians or pagans, invite their many friends to the function and entertain them after their best manner.

Mr. Gomi being the most prominent Japanese resident of Kula, had many friends to invite, so about 150 people were present at the ceremony and enjoyed the luncheon. Rev. Kihara of Honolulu and Rev. Tuji of Paia officiated.

A Birthday Party.

(Special Correspondence.)

WAILUKU, Maui, August 11.—The second birthday of Dorothy Colville Lindsay was celebrated by a children's party at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Lindsay, of Paia, on the 8th. The lullaby was gayly adorned with American flags and bunting, and the long, low kindergarten tables used for the dainty spread presented a pretty sight decorated with potted plants and with sprays of needle-hair ferns strewn here and there. The color scheme of the decorations and viands as well as green and white. The children who enjoyed the afternoon were Dorothy Lindsay, Olive Lindsay, Emily Cook, Margaret Lindsay, Myrtle Taylor, Bertram Aiken, Leslie Baldwin, and Hollis Hardy.

BIG RECEPTION TO A. N. KEPOIKAI

The Republican Delegate was Welcomed at Wailuku.

WAILUKU, Maui, Aug. 11.—The News says: At 10 o'clock on Wednesday morning, a large gathering of the political and personal friends of the Hon. A. N. Kepoikai met at the Windsor hotel, Wailuku, and accorded him a hearty welcome home from his trip to the National Republican Convention held at Philadelphia.

This pleasant event was a hastily improvised one, consequently several who wished to participate were unfortunately unable to do so through business engagements. After a neatly worded address of welcome by Mr. James M. Thomas, well calculated to gladden the heart of the guest of honor, an elaborate breakfast was served. The Judge was then called upon, and responded in a happy strain, first thanking his Republican friends for the cordial welcome tendered to him. He then drifted into an interesting reminiscence account of his journey. He stated that everyone seemed to unite in giving the Hawaiian delegates a good time. He spoke with enthusiasm of his reception at the White House by President McKinley, and sketched many other interesting events of his trip.

After the Judge closed his address, which was received with enthusiastic applause, toasts were proposed and eloquently responded to by Judge McKay, Jas. T. Taylor, W. G. Robinson, James Thomas, J. M. Kaneakua, J. N. K. Keola and Judge S. E. Kaleikau of Waihee.

Three hearty cheers and a "tiger" for President McKinley and the success of the Republican party closed this most enjoyable affair.

DR. STUBBS LEAVES FRIDAY.

The Eminent Agriculturist Goes to Washington.

Dr. W. C. Stubbs expects to conclude his work in the Islands this week and will probably sail for the States on the Alameda on Friday. THEY WANT A PREACHER
 One Charm Lacking to Wailuku.
CRY FOR SUNDAY SERVICES
 Town's Sleepiness Accentuated by the Empty Pulpit in the Foreign Church.

WAILUKU, Maui, Aug. 11.—The News says: Wailuku has the reputation of being rather a hard little town, and the mud wasps that reign undisturbed on the walls and ceilings of the deserted Foreign church are evidence in the case. But for all that, the Wailuku people are very much like other folks, and when on last Sunday night, a stray itinerant wandered into Wailuku and announced that there would be service at the church he was greeted with a congregation which was eminently respectable both in size and quality. And if such a sermon as was preached were guaranteed to the Wailuku people every Sunday night, one charm would be added to the town which it now sadly lacks.

WAILUKU AWAKING.
 It seems a constant source of surprise to visitors to Wailuku for the first time, especially to those who live in other portions of the Islands, that we have so delightful a climate and so beautiful a site for a town, with so little life and "go" to us. It is true that Wailuku has been in a state of hibernation for some years, but that time is at an end, and the townspeople are now beginning to wake up and make a beautiful little city of Wailuku.
KAHULUI'S UPBUILDING.
 It seems a mistake that Kahului is not thrown wide open to the proper classes of mechanics and tradesmen, and that such are not encouraged to come and take long leases of desirable business lots. The theory of the present management at Kahului to build and own and run the town themselves may be a good one, and they seem to be going to work about it with plenty of vim and energy, but would it not make more business for the railroad company, if outsiders were invited to come in and help to build up the town?

ENGLISH ON MAUI.
 Although the law require all proceedings in the court to be conducted in the English language, yet as a matter of fact, on the Island of Maui, only a very small per cent of those who go or are brought to court can speak or understand English, even as she is spoken on Maui. Interpreters fees will long be a heavy tax, and an unavoidable one. In this connection the circuit court of Maui and the district court of Wailuku should be provided with a good interpreter.

MAUI MINUTES.
 Manager Tuthill of Gregg & Co.'s cane-car plant at Kahului is turning out about 25 cars per day, and will complete his contract for 900 cars in about six weeks. Two hundred of the cars have already been completed, of which 50 were shipped to Kihui on Wednesday.
 On Tuesday next, the new Tax Appeal Court of the 2nd Judicial Circuit will hold its first session at Lahaina court house, in the matter of the Pioneer Mill Co.'s taxes. This court consists of Judge McKay, president, Charles Copp and Wm. L. Decoto.
 Wm. King has resigned his position as deputy sheriff at Makawao, and has established himself as a carpenter and wheelwright in Wailuku, in the shop recently occupied by his father, the late J. L. King.
 Mr. and Mrs. Hansen of Spreckelsville lost their babe on Sunday last. It was interred at Wailuku Cemetery on Monday afternoon.

The pipe line of the Wailuku & Kahului Water Works is now being extended up Iao Valley to tap the water right purchased from Judge J. W. Kalua.
 Capt. L. Ahlborn, manager of Pioneer Plantation, visited the county seat last Monday.
 Wailuku is blushing rosy red at the compliments paid to her delightful climate by sizing denizens of Honolulu now visiting Maui.
 Capt. Saferoy of the Wailuku police made a couple of neat captures of Japanese liquor sellers at Spreckelsville on last Saturday night.

DIRECTOR VISIT WAIALUA.
 The Mill Will Begin to Grind This Week.

Grinding will begin this week at the new mill at Wailua plantation. On Saturday the directors of the plantation under the direction of Manager Goodale paid a visit to the property, going down the road in a special car. They made a close inspection of the whole plantation and went through the mill. It was turned over for their benefit and they were all much pleased with it.
 The delay in the completion of the mill was due to the late arrival of some of the machinery. It is thought that the cane may have deteriorated during the period while it was standing awaiting the mill, but that will not be known until the mill begins to grind.

Child Killed at Wailua.
 At Wailua, on Friday, the 5:30 passenger train struck a Chinese woman who was walking along the side of the track carrying her baby on her back and the child was killed. The woman was carrying two pails of water on a stick over her shoulder, and as the train approached whistling and ringing the bell the woman paid no attention and one of the cars struck the pail, knocking the woman down violently. The train was stopped immediately and the trainmen ran back and picked the woman up. She was not badly hurt but the child's skull was fractured and it lived but a short time.

Court Notes
 On Saturday Judge Stillman gave a verdict for the defendant in the case of J. A. Magoon vs. J. S. Walker.
 A motion in arrest of judgment has been filed by the defendant in the case of C. S. Desky vs. Mrs. Thomas Lack.
 The case of the John H. estate vs. the Club Stables Company has been dismissed.
 The trespass case of A. N. Achuck Olds vs. J. A. Magoon has been settled out of court.

Judge Estee Promises.
 WAILUKU, Maui, Aug. 11.—A letter from Honolulu states that Federal Judge Estee has promised to make arrangements by which citizens of Maui can take out letters of citizenship without the trouble and expense of a trip to Honolulu.
 Either Judge Estee will visit Maui for that purpose himself, or will appoint some one with authority to act in his stead in the matter.

DRIVING CLUB
 Honolulu is to Have one Now.
 Association Forming for the Promotion of Harness Racing in This City.

Last Saturday was laid the foundation of an organization which promises to be exceedingly popular in Honolulu.
 Its name will be the Honolulu Driving Club and the main object of the association is the promotion of harness racing in Honolulu.
 The following gentlemen were appointed a committee of three to canvass members for the new club: Messrs. Diggs, C. H. Judd and Shaw. The membership fee is fixed at a dollar a month and all owners of trotting or pacing stock are eligible as members. It is expected that the association will be over a hundred strong in a very short time.
 It is intended to approach the Park Commissioners with a view to obtaining permission to use the track for racing purposes on Saturday afternoons. If this is granted it is probable that good races will be arranged and a nominal charge made for admission, say twenty-five cents for gentlemen, and ladies free.
 Perhaps the most important result of the new club will be that the track will be continually kept in racing shape, a consummation devoutly to be wished for.
 A meeting of all interested will soon be held when a constitution and by-laws will be drawn up and the Honolulu Driving Club become an established fact.
 It is the intention of the promoters of the new club to encourage racing for trophies among its members, rather than for money prizes.

SALVATION ARMY
SOLD CHILDREN
 Novel Religious Ceremony Entertains the Hilo People

HILO, August 11.—The Herald says: The Salvation Army has always had a reputation for being original in their methods of winning souls, and certainly the local soldiers are not far behind their comrades in other places in living up to it.
 When people read in last week's Herald of an "auction sale of children," which was to be given in the Army hall many were the guesses as to what form this sale would take; some held to the view that it was a way they had of getting some children adopted, others opined that it was only a scheme to raise the necessary wherewith to carry on the war. Very few guesses came anywhere near being correct. The idea was not the least mercenary, but rather allegorical, showing the influences which are at work in the world for the lives of the children.
 After putting the children, who were grouped on the platform, through a number of musical exercises, Major Wood acting as auctioneer declared the sale open and called for bids, whereupon a certain well known member of the corps dressed up as a man of the world who represented himself as Mr. Moneybags, came to the front and bid twenty dollars for the children, telling all the advantages of money; next on the scene came a well dressed young woman, who gave her name as Miss Vere de Vere of Paris, her bid was fashion and society, the best side of a gay, fashionable life, was depicted; this bidder was followed by a young fellow who came in on his wheel and claimed to be Mr. Sport, he gave worldly pleasure as his bid, promising the children bicycles, motors, ball games, theaters, prize fights, etc.; then followed a young woman dressed as a college graduate whose name was given as Miss Bluestocking of Boston, she claimed that education was the very thing for the children. With each new claimant for the children the auctioneer found his job of deciding matters becoming more complicated, but just at the juncture when he reckoned that education had the call, yet another claimant, a young woman dressed in a plain white dress, Grecian style, came in, representing herself as Christianity. She made good her claim by pointing out that the other bids were only affecting this life and had ignored the next. She claimed that Christianity not only satisfied a person in this life, but prepared them for the world to come. The auctioneer accordingly declared that Christianity ought to have the children.

Owners of tenement houses in New York must keep the hallways lighted or pay damages if anyone stumbles and hurts himself in the dark. This was established by a decision in the appellate division of the Supreme Court last week. A woman fell down a dark stairway in a tenement on the west side some time ago and hurt herself so badly that she was laid up for some time. Her husband is allowed damages for the loss of the society and services of his wife.
 For home use, for bar use, for physicians' use, for everybody's use, Jesse Moore Whiskey is always the best and is in most general demand.

NEW YACHT
MADE HERE
"Prince" David's Vi-ke
A Beauty.
TO BE LAUNCHED SOON
Builder Walker Will Aim at Creation of an Island Type of Boat.

Charles D. Walker, the well-known local boat-builder, is constructing for "Prince" David a yacht which, if appearances go for anything, will when completed create a big sensation in local yachting circles. "Prince" David is nothing if not a sportsman, and it is his creed in matters of sport to patronize home industry as much as possible. He possesses today perhaps the finest stable of race horses in the islands and he has recently imported, at great expense, some valuable stallions, in order that he may in the course of a few years, be represented at the local race meetings by horses which are in every respect Hawaiian bred. This is the Prince's sportsmanlike ambition. In yachting matters "Prince" David takes a similar stand; he wants to win races but he would rather win them with a craft designed and constructed in Hawaii. This is the "Prince's" opinion, is the summum bonum of sport. He says that any yachtsman with a big enough bank-roll can send abroad and obtain a boat with which he can sweep the local racing board, but that such a method of procedure rather discourages than encourages local enterprises, and puts a damper, besides, on the ambitions of local yachtsmen. Bearing in mind these points, "Prince" David has placed the order for his new boat with a local firm, who in the past have had but little opportunity to show what they can do in the matter of constructing a craft that shall win races against all competitors. The name of the newest addition to the racing fleet will be the Vi-ke. Construction on her was commenced three months ago and it is expected that she will be ready for launching in a couple of weeks. The Vi-ke is a new type of boat of original design and will combine cruising qualities with the ability to go fast. In her, her owner thinks, he has solved the problem of an ideal boat for Hawaiian waters. According to the present system of rating, she will be classed as a third-class craft. The following are the dimensions of the Vi-ke: Length over all, 23 feet 3 inches; beam, 9 feet; draught, 4 feet 8 inches with 1 1/2 water-line, 12 feet 9 inches. She will carry in mainsail and jib 475 square feet of canvas. Her ballast will be partly live. A fin keel is attached with a bulb of lead at the bottom weighing 350 pounds. The boat is so constructed that a center-board can be fitted to her if desired. The keel, stem, stern posts and frame are of American white oak; the planking of spruce, decks of white pine, combings of ash and trimmings of Spanish cedar and teak. She is copper fastened throughout. Her cockpit is seated for nine persons and is fitted with concave seats such as are used in railroad carriages. There is sleeping accommodation in the cabin for two persons, the bunks being 6 feet 6 inches long by 32 inches wide. Among other modern conveniences which go so far towards making an ocean cruise the acme of pleasure is included a refrigerator and water tank. There is also ample locker room for stowing away the hundred and one articles incidental to an enjoyable sea trip. Many of the metal fittings are inventions of Mr. Charles D. Walker, and are new to these waters. The chain plate and seat for the back stays is combined in one piece. The jib hanks can be hooked or unhooked under the jib stay by a turn of the wrist, which arrangement is a great saving of time and trouble over the system at present in vogue, whereby the jib hank has to be lashed to the sail. The mast is of a cedar spar and the gaff and boom are of spruce. The decks are composed of narrow strips of pine steam bent and parallel with the sides of the boat. The fastenings throughout are brass screws with heads countersunk and plugged, making a smooth finish. Her bow will be artistically carved and inlaid with gold leaf, as well as the name on her stern, making an exceedingly handsome effect. All her blocks are of patent sheaves; her rope is an extra fine quality of Manila hemp. The Vi-ke will be painted white, and her bottom copper painted. The decks will be finished in oil and all the hard woods used in her construction will be finished in varnish. The cabin and cockpit will be finished in varnish and the metal work throughout will be of polished brass. The Vi-ke is an improved edition of the Leowa and her designer and constructor says that when completed she will be as good a boat as money can buy. For the sake of the good sportsman who owns her, local yachtsmen without a single exception, will be delighted if the Vi-ke comes up to the most sanguine expectation of her builders.

Two races are booked for next Saturday, Mongoose, Dan, Morosco and Billy will start in a 2:30 class affair and Pat, Sampson, Charley and Prince will figure in a 3:30 department go. Two out of three heats will be driven for a trophy. On Saturday week a double harness race to Burgess is on the cards. The track on Saturday was in very fair condition. Quite a number of golf enthusiasts are patronizing the nine-hole links at Punahou. The links are reported to be better in some respects than those at Moanalua, which were visited by a large number of players yesterday. The Bonnie Dundee and the Myrtle had a friendly spin yesterday round the bell buoy. Despite it not being Myrtle weather the little flyer held her own. The Myrtle crews will from now on do their practicing from their training quarters at Pearl Harbor. The Healanis had two shells and a large out-yesterday morning. The Lealanis, on account of the sickness of one of their crew, have only been out once as yet. The Maile Ilima paper chase, which was to have come off last Saturday night, was postponed on account of rain. About fifteen men showed up at the meeting place but as the roads were in such bad shape it was decided not to go out. A training run will be held from the corner of Vineyard and Emma streets next Wednesday night, to which all athletes are cordially invited. It is proposed to hold a series of races an ensuing Saturday afternoons at the race track; the first event will be either a mile or a half-mile run. The following clubs will be represented in the coming athletic meeting: Young Men's Christian Association, Maile Ilima Athletic Association, Kamehameha, St. Y. and Oahu Colleges, Mills Institute and the Honolulu Cricket Club. "Mike" Collins, athletic instructor on the Argentine training ship Presidente Sarmiento, and who is well known in Honolulu, is back again in San Francisco. The baseball game between Richards & Schoen and the Volcano stables which was to have taken place in Hilo last week failed to materialize. Messrs. Wilson and Rooker, the well-known Hilo horsemen, leave for the Coast early next month. They go to purchase stock for their new ranch. The following is clipped from the Hilo Herald: "The P. C. Advertiser of July 25 contains a half-tone group of Dixie Land, Billy McClusky and Loupe, the latter driven by his trainer, W. T. McManis. Mac now has three horses in his charge at Honolulu track, one of which is a colt he is breaking. When he is given a horse to handle he guarantees his work."

TESTA AGAINST LEE.
The Well-Known Editor Appears to Claim a China Vine.
 "That she did maliciously remove a plant, to wit: a China vine, the property of the said F. J. Testa."
 "Not guilty," chirped Mrs. Lee.
 The above is briefly the reason why Mrs. Mary Ann Lee graced Judge Wilcox's court on Saturday with her presence. Very charming the fair defendant looked, dressed in a modish gown of black silk with a miniature train and wearing in her head gear three magnificent black ostrich feathers. When Mrs. Lee took her place in that particular portion of the court reserved for wrong-doers, the court sighed regretfully, when she gracefully entered the witness box the court swelled with admiration. There was really nothing to the case—it was a tempest in a flowerpot. Mr. De Bolt for the defendant and Deputy Sheriff Chillingworth for the prosecution examined and objected with conscientious regularity. Four or five witnesses told as many different stories as to the age, ownership, habits and incidents connected with the life of the much-abused Chinese vine which would have caused it to wither away in utter shame had it been in court. Now and again anecdotes of family matters were introduced by way of diversion and during the relation Mr. Testa looked as if he would like to remove his coat but was not quite sure how he stood with the judge. After a protracted hearing the case was dismissed and then, once again, did beauty elude the wiles of the press.

CALLED AT HONOLULU.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 29.—The whaling bark Gayhead, which sailed from here January 11th for a cruise in the Arctic, has been heard from at Unalaska in sore distress. Two of her crew had died and a number of others were ill with a malady the nature of which baffled the knowledge of Captain Foley, gained in his long experience hunting blubber in the North. The cabin boy was the first to be taken down and was the first to succumb. Second Mate James W. Smith followed, and he, too, became a victim. Then the malady spread to the crew, and Captain Foley decided to make for land. He reached Unalaska about the middle of July.

The strange disease had some of the symptoms of drowsy, and its action, from all accounts, was rather sudden. The Gayhead called at Honolulu over a year ago to get surgical treatment for the mate who had sustained an injury to his hand through the explosion of a bomb-gun.

Mr. Morse, who has been going down daily, finds that the big rock near the wharf was blasted only on top and at the corners; to effectually remove it will require a steam drill and the work will take three months.—Hawaii Herald.

Many a young girl makes the mistake of thinking that because she would die for a man, she truly loves him. In this restless, throbbing age it is necessary for her to ask herself in all seriousness, "Would I take in washing for him?"

With the Change in Tariff

Comes a sweeping reduction in the price of all goods of American manufacture.

We have cut on every piece of jewelry and silverware in the house, and you will be surprised at the great difference from former prices. No fear of comparisons here, where quality and pattern are considerations.

What do you think of full-sized solid silver teaspoons being reduced to $3.00 a dozen, with engraving thrown in, and all articles of silverware reduced in like proportion.

These are by no means catch prices, but regular prices which will prevail here from now on, on all the different lines of goods from the States.

While reducing all our American goods we have not changed the prices on any of our European potteries, glass and chinaware, and although the present cost is forty per cent more than formerly, while out present very large stock lasts we will sell at the old rates. This is a very large saving to you, and we recommend that you make your purchases from these lines now, before an advance becomes necessary.

THE MILILANI STREET EXTENSION AWARDS

Superintendent of Public Works McCandless is besieged of late with petitions and applications for street extensions. He says the public has almost come to the point of demanding that the Government condemn property without respect for persons or price. Mr. McCandless says the public knows very little of the difficulties attendant upon condemning property for public street purposes...

The Government is to pay one-half the expense, no matter what it would receive in exchange for the money paid. Awards were made as follows: Kaapa, $4,200, and $200 for moving a building; Robinson, $10,700; Kapela, $1,900. 'There is no questioning the personnel of the Award Commission,' said Mr. McCandless. 'They did their duty, and they made the award as best they could. It only goes to show, however, how much the Government will be mulcted if we listened to all the petitions for street extensions. The treasury would soon be emptied. 'Take the Robinson property, for instance. They are to receive $10,700. Their property was all inside, and with the new street they will have two long valuable frontages which are, or should be, to the owners a satisfactory return for what land the Government utilizes. I want to show to the public my position in the matter, and the map will bear me out in my contention that the property betterments are such in most cases that the owners should gladly donate the land necessary when they petition us to put a street through.'

The description of premises to be taken is as follows: Portion of land described in L. C. A. No. 19, R. P. 450, said portion containing an area of 11,835 square feet, as per metes and bounds, laid out in Government Surveys Registered Map No. 1555. The Commissioners award as damages to Mr. S. K. Ka-ne, guardian of Robinson minors, for the taking of said 11,835 square feet, the sum of $19,490. The Commissioners award the said S. K. Ka-ne, guardian of Robinson minors, for damages caused by the destruction of two old wooden buildings which are on said premises in the line of the above mentioned improvement the sum of $300. CLAIM OF DAMAGES OF WM. KAPELA AND HATTIE KAPELA. The description of premises to be taken is as follows: A portion of the land described in L. C. A. No. 182, R. P. No. 1087, containing an area of 717 square feet, as per metes and bounds laid out in Government Surveys Registered Map No. 1555; also all right, title and interest which said William and Hattie Kapela may have in that portion of said L. C. A. No. 182, R. P. No. 1087, contained in a lane leading west from the west side of Queen street into the property of the Robinson minors, which lane contains an area of 500 square feet, as per metes and bounds laid out in Government Surveys Registered May 1900. The Commissioners award as damages to Wm. Kapela and Hattie Kapela for the taking of said 717 square feet and their interest in said 500 square feet the sum of $1,550. The Commissioners award said Wm. Kapela and Hattie Kapela for damages caused by the removal and destruction of the frame buildings on said premises within the line of the above proposed improvements, the sum of $350. Said Commissioners hereby certify that the above writing is a true copy of their Decision "A."

CLAIM OF DAMAGES OF J. D. COOK. The description of premises to be taken is as follows: A portion of the land described in L. C. A. No. 182, R. P. No. 1087, containing an area of 3,355 square feet, as per metes and bounds laid out in Government Surveys Registered Map No. 1555. The Commissioners award as damages to Mr. J. D. Cook for the taking of said 3,355 square feet the sum of $4,390. The Commissioners award to said Jos. D. Cook for damages caused by the removal and repairing of one building, 25 by

FROM 'FRISCO TO THE CAROLINES

The Queen of the Isles has come and gone. Her reign in Honolulu harbor was very short. Without so much as a 'please may I come in' she slid into port as quietly and modestly as a smuggler of the old days would have sneaked into some sheltered bay to discharge her contraband cargo. She crept silently in about 1 o'clock Saturday morning and dropped her mud-hoos in the stream just off the oceanic deck. Shortly afterwards a customs officer discovered her and inquired as to what she was doing in the harbor and whence she came and when. As the Queen of the Isles entered the channel she passed the Thyra going out. The pilot on the steamer hailed her and asked what she was doing at such an early hour in the channel. Captain Hitchfield, as thorough a seagoing man as ever laughed a storm to scorn, knew nothing of the new port regulations and came in on his own responsibility instead of waiting outside for a pilot. He knows the channel as well as he knows the Queen of the Isles, having worked many years ago on the Wilder boats. The vessel is a gasoline schooner. It took her only fifteen days to come here from San Francisco—a good trip in point of time, considering her size. Her best performance for one day was 225 knots. The Queen of the Isles sailed from San Francisco on July 25 and now is hastening to the Caroline Islands. About three months ago the schooner arrived at San Francisco from the Carolines. She received a thorough overhauling and all repairs necessary were made. Captain Hitchfield is the owner of the craft and is mighty proud of his floating property too. She is built something on the style of the Eclipse and Surprise of these waters, but is larger. She carries a small gasoline launch, which is very useful at the various islands. She is the successor to the Morning Star, recently sold for the Nome trade, and will do the work of the Morning Star in Micronesia for the American Board of Missions until a new Morning Star is purchased. The Queen of the Isles carries a lot of stores for the missions on the Marshall and Caroline Islands. On board the schooner are the Rev. Thomas Gray and wife, Miss A. Palmer and Miss J. C. Foss, who are bound to take up mission work in the South Seas. Miss Palmer and Miss Foss have been places for the dead. Queer Table Customs in Memory of Departed. 'Oh, yes, I'll always keep our dead mother's plate at her place at the table,' said the daughter of a rich East Pennsylvania farmer. 'We will also keep her knife, fork, spoon, cup and saucer and her napkin. I don't know why we do it, only that it is a custom hereabouts among the large landowners. Whenever any grown person dies in the family, especially an unmarried daughter or the mother, her plate at the table is never taken away, save once a month, when it is washed. No one ever sits at that place no matter what the crowd is; no one uses anything belonging to mother. We hold the place sacred. 'Down at the farm of one of our neighbors they never remove the plate of their oldest daughter, who died twenty years ago. All the table articles she used to use are still there. And no one has ever occupied her narrow bed in her room. Her things are just like she left them even to the china-ware on her bureau. Her dresses are faded and moth eaten and considerable had to be taken away, but a good

DAVIS HAS HOT TEMPER

He Says so in a Divorce Petition.

LAWYER TELLS TROUBLES

Former Temporary Judge Prays Court to Award His Wife Alimony and Freedom.

Attorney George A. Davis on Saturday filed an application to have the bonds of matrimony existing between himself and Sarah E. Davis, severed by due process of the Circuit Court. His grounds of complaint as stated positively in the petition to Judge Humphreys, are extreme cruelty on the part of Mrs. Davis toward himself, and incompatibility of temper. He states that he has for some time suffered from nervous neuralgia, and on account of the violent tempers which both possess he is likely to suffer a relapse from his ailment if he continues to stay under the same roof with his wife, and has so been advised by his physicians. Deputy Sheriff Chillingworth personally served the summons upon Mrs. Davis on Saturday night. The complaint sets forth his grounds for cause in the following language:

"That the libellant and libelee were married at St. John, New Brunswick, Canada, in August 1886, and they have since lived together as husband and wife, for the last five years preceding this date they have lived together at Honolulu.

"That for the past two years, to wit, from 1899 and 1900, the libellant and libelee have lived unhappily together. That during the present month of August the libelee charged the libellant with having committed adultery in Honolulu, which accusation is false and unfounded. The said libelee was thereby guilty of extreme cruelty towards the libellant.

"That in the month of December, 1899, the libelee threatened to shoot this libellant; said libellant was very ill and suffering intense pain at the time, but was forced and obliged to leave his home on account of the threats and improper conduct of the libelee, and only returned thereto on the advice of his physicians and to prevent a scandal.

"That the libelee has refused in the months of June, July and August, 1900, to obey the lawful commands and reasonable requests of her said husband in that she has visited friends' houses and people where scandal has been circulated and false statements have been made to reputable people, which this libellant forbade her to repeat; she has persisted in visiting such houses and people, and did visit one of them on this 11th day of August, 1900, whereupon the libellant refused longer to live and cohabit with the said libelee.

"That the said libelee has a violent temper, and this libellant is of an excitable nature and has, when aroused, a violent temper, and it is no longer possible for them to live together as husband and wife. That this libellant is now undergoing medical treatment for nervous neuralgia and is ill, and for three months, during the months of November and December, 1899, and January, 1900, suffered intense pain, was very ill and was in the care of physicians, and in consequence thereof, was obliged to leave his home and go to the State of California where he got some relief. Libellant states that if he longer lives with the libelee he will have a relapse, and is so advised by his physicians.

"That libelee has valuable real estate in Honolulu given to her by this libellant, and has bank stock and other property. That libellant prays that this court will award the libelee a permanent sum to be named by this court as alimony, and will take into consideration in naming said sum, the libellant's obligations and his health. This libellant has no unincumbered property in this Territory. The libellant asks that the marriage contract be annulled absolutely and for such other relief as the court may see fit to grant."

MURDERER PUUEO GROWING STRONG

The Native Who Killed His Wife May Stand Trial.

Puueo, the murderer of Naomi Kaahue, still lies in the Queen's hospital, as well as can be expected under conditions which seem to render recovery almost impossible. The wound in his throat still gapes wide open and food is yet passed into the stomach through the oesophagus at the neck. Puueo takes a drink of water occasionally, but it slakes only the parching of the tongue and dry throat until the ragged opening is encountered. The water then trickles out of the neck orifice.

This physiological wonder sleeps as soundly as a child and is less affected with the discomforts with which hospital patients are usually beset than would be supposed. His waking hours are not much fraught with pain and he is as carefully fed as an infant. Dr. Wood personally attends to the feeding of the murderer, that important function needing a steady and trained hand to master. Hawaiian friends who have visited Puueo are able to understand him in his mutterings and it is possible that the police will have an interview with him if the task is not too great for him in his present condition.

The clergyman's little boy was spending the afternoon with the bishop's children. "At the rectory," he said, "we've got a hen that lays an egg every day." "Pooh!" said Master Bishop, "my father lays a foundation stone once a week."

A man had just told a rather racy story. "I've read that somewhere," said a woman, in a heedless moment, who prides herself on her extreme propriety; "it's in 'Merimee,' isn't it?" "No, ma'am, it's in 'Boccaccio.'" "Ah! then I haven't read it."

Bursts Into Poetry. Editor Advertiser:—In view of the attitude to which our esteemed fellow citizen from Arizona is aspiring, permit me to offer a tribute in verse: Still as he climbed into the public view His charms of person more apparent grew, Till the pleased world that watched his airy grace Saw nothing of him but his nether face—Forgot his follies with his head's retreat, And blessed his virtues as it viewed their seat. Trusting that the sonnet will require no diagram, I remain, Yours in sorrow, A. B. Go where you will, the best saloons sell Jesse Moore Whiskey.

ALSEN PORTLAND CEMENT

WE HAVE JUST RECEIVED a large shipment of this celebrated Cement, which is the STRONGEST AND MOST SERVICEABLE CEMENT MADE, and will permit the admixture of a larger amount of sand, gravel, with less loss of strength, than any other brand; it is therefore the most economical. ALSEN has no equal in color, fineness and sand carrying capacity. It weighs less per bushel, measuring about 10 per cent more cement to a barrel than other brands, which very materially reduces its cost as compared with other cements. It is therefore an economical cement to use, and especially adapted for fine concrete work. The following tests, made in actual work by Col. D. C. Houston, Corps of Engineers, U. S. A., at the sea wall arounds; seven days, 600 pounds; thirty bor, has never been equalled by other cement. It is as follows: Tensile strength per square inch—One day, 384 pound Governor's Island, New York Har- days, 818 pounds. For sidewalks it gives the best color and the most durable wearing sur- face. A few of the large contracts in which Alsen Cement was used: Cable R. R., Baltimore, 35,000 barrels; Quebec Harbor Improvement, 4,000 barrels; Nor- thern Pacific R. R. Bridges, 20,000 barrels.

To Those in Quest of a Rug....

B. F. Ehlers & Company FORT STREET

To intending purchasers of rugs we would state that just before the change in tariff we received a large and varied assortment of JAPANESE RUGS. By buying these rugs before the change, a saving of about fifty per cent was effected, which our customers are to profit by, as we do not intend, for the present, to in- crease the price of these rugs, but to sell them, while they last, at the old prices. Under these conditions a buyer here, now, can buy these for much less than they are sold for on the Main- land. We have made a display of these rugs in our large central show window, where their beautiful designs and harmonious colorings are sure to attract attention.
