Delegates Are All Of The Same Pattern.

GOOD MEN ARE TURNED DOWN

There Is No Chance for Messrs. Atherton, Cooke and Waterhouse.

DELEGATES OF THE FOURTH DISTRICT TO THE REPUBLICAN TERRITORIAL CONVENTION.

J. W. Jones, George McLeod, A. G. M. Robertson, Chas. B. Wilson, J. M. Kea, C. L. Wilcox, Clarence Crabbe, Andrew Brown, J. D. McVeigh, J. H. Boyd, A. V. Gear, W. H. Coney, Archie Gilfillan, Keiki, W. R. Farrington, Enoch Johnson, Nahoolewa, Keohokii.

The above delegates were selected by the Fourth District yesterday afternoon at the Chamber of Commerce, to represent the district at the Republican Territorial Convention to be held on the 24th and 25th of September.

Chairman Jones of the Fourth District Committee appointed the following members as a committee of three to confer with a similar committee from the Fifth to agree upon legislative nominations: H. M. Mott-Smith, C. L. Wilcox and A. V. Gear.

Also the following resolution proposed by W. R. Farrington, was carried: "That it is the sense of the Republican Party of the Fourth District that the delegates be instructed to vote for the Hon. Samuel Parker as the candidate for delegate to Washington."

The protest of a minority of members of the committee that such action was not representative proved unavailing. The committee by the majority of backers of the mover of the resolution took upon itself the prerogatives of the party fully aware that they had the minority at their mercy and could ram down their throats any proposition which they might choose to offer.

The meeting savored of nothing but "machine" politics from the first rap of the gavel to the adjournment, just previous to which the Parker resolution was run in. Not only was the "machine" apparent in the resolution, but also in the voting for delegates to the Territorial convention. The "machine" had its ticket well prepared in advance of the meeting, the names of the delegates appearing on typewritten slips. After twenty-two names were in nomination, a motion by one of the minority that the nominations close was met with opposition on the part of the "machine" which argued that the nominations should be kept open and give every man a chance to put in his nominee. This was voted upon and the motion was lost. The "machine" had but one more name to offer, which was on the typewritten ballots, and then they allowed the nominations to close.

Of the twenty-three candidates, only "machine" men or their favorites were elected. The eighteen men elected were on the typewritten tickets. Henry Waterhouse, Frank Hoogs, J. P. Cooke, Wm. Haywood and J. B. Atherton were voted out of the race with votes ranging from 2 to 10, while the opposition turned in a vote ranging from 15 to 23. Colonel Jones, chairman of the committee, received the highest number of votes, from both the minority and the majority.

When the meeting opened a full attendance vouched for a full vote on the delegates to be elected. After the reading of the roll call and minutes, the communication from E. R. Hendry, Secretary of the Territorial Central Committee, stating that the Executive Committee had selected Honolulu as the place of meeting for the Territorial committee was read.

Chairman Jones announced the personnel of committees appointed by him under the report of the committee on organization, as follows: Executive Committee—Jas. H. Boyd, Andrew Brown, Henry Waterhouse, Clarence Crabbe, Frank H. Hoogs, Enoch Johnson and Archie Gilfillan. It was stated by Mr. Waterhouse that he was already an ex-officio member of the committee. The name of H. M. Mott-Smith was substituted therefor. Auditing Committee—George McLeod, J. P. Cooke and Charles Wilcox.

The chair announced that the business for which the meeting was called was to elect delegates to the Republican Territorial Convention, and asked for nominations. It was decided to nominate as a district instead of by precincts. Upon motion of Lorrin Andrews the committee proceeded to nominate.

The nominations, together with the nominators, are as follows:

J. W. Jones nominated by J. P. Cooke.

J. B. Atherton nominated by Wolf.

Henry Waterhouse nominated by Dr. Burgess.

J. H. Boyd nominated by C. B. Wilson.

Geo. McLeod nominated by Gilfillan.

M. P. Robinson nominated by Mott-Smith.

J. M. Kea nominated by McLeod.

A. G. M. Robertson nominated by McVeigh.

A. V. Gear nominated by Crabbe.

Clarence Crabbe nominated by W. R. Farrington.

David Nahoolewa nominated by A. V. Gear.

Frank Hoogs nominated by Andrews.

Keohokii nominated by Boyd.

Andrew Brown nominated by Gear.

J. D. McVeigh nominated by Gilfillan.

Sam Johnson nominated by Crabbe.

W. H. Coney nominated by Kea.

C. B. Wilson nominated by Farrington.

Keiki nominated by Wilson.

W. R. Farrington nominated by Crabbe.

Archie Gilfillan nominated by McVeigh.

Wm. Haywood nominated by Hoogs.

Frank Hoogs in nominating Wm. Haywood, former United States Consul-General, stated that Mr. Haywood was a man whom all knew. "I know there is a little feeling in a certain quarter against Mr. Haywood. But I am certain that no one can bring anything against his character. I think it is only from personal reason—a personal matter entirely. I contend that personality should not be included in our proceedings here today. I cannot think of a better man than Haywood."

It is generally understood that Harold M. Sewall left order with his best men before leaving for San Francisco last week to have Haywood, if placed in nomination, defeated by all means.

It is also understood that at a caucus before the meeting the minority asked some concessions from the majority. This was refused. The minority stated they would put up Haywood. The "machine" said no concessions would be made if Haywood was put on the list of nominees. They said "take out Haywood and you can have a third of the nominations. They, however, in fact, reserved the right even to name the substitute for Haywood which the minority refused to buckle down to.

Lorrin Andrews spoke for harmony. He stated yesterday afternoon that Mr. Boyd had the day before asserted that every effort should be made to bring the Republicans together. "We are a minority," said Mr. Andrews, surveying the five or six members who were considered out side of the "machine" faction. "We only want to name one-third, or a few of the delegates to go to the convention. All we are asking is for a little representation to appease any hard feeling in the party. We are all going to pitch in and work for the Republican Party. We want to make it a solid Fourth District for the party. We think some names of ours should be considered by you as our choice." Mr. Andrews nominated Frank Hoogs in conclusion.

Frank Hoogs moved that the nominations close after twenty-two names had been put in. W. R. Farrington objected on the grounds that every man should have an opportunity to make his nominations. After the twenty-three votes went in, it was moved that the nominations close and the motion carried. Hoogs moved the committee proceed to ballot. Carried. Andrews announced that he and Brown were paired and could not vote. The proxy of Mr. Nahoolewa appointing C. L. Wilcox to vote for him was read and approved. A recess of five minutes was then taken until the ballots could be prepared. This was quickly done as half the ballots were typewritten and needed little changing.

The chair appointed Messrs. Andrews and Brown as tellers. Andrews withdrew on account of an engagement at the Registration office. Frank Hoogs was appointed instead of Andrews.

The result of the balloting was as follows, 23 ballots being dropped into the hat:

Col. Jones, 23; Geo. McLeod, 22; A. G. M. Robertson, 22; Chas. B. Wilson, 22; J. M. Kea, 21; C. L. Wilcox, 21; Clarence Crabbe, 21; Andrew Brown, 21; J. D. McVeigh, 21; Jas. H. Boyd, 20; A. V. Gear, 20; W. H. Coney, 20; Archie Gilfillan, 20; Keiki, 19; W. R. Farrington, 18; Johnson, 17; Nahoolewa, 16; Keohokii, 15; Henry Waterhouse, 10; Frank Hoogs, 8; J. B. Atherton, 8; Mark Robinson, 7; Wm. Haywood, 2; J. P. Cooke, 2. The first eighteen were declared elected as delegates.

W. R. Farrington, at the conclusion of the balloting, arose and spoke for the future election of delegates at the primaries. "There has been a good deal of feeling expressed. I think all this can be obviated in the future by electing the delegates to the Territorial Convention at the primaries. There can be absolutely no difficulty if that is carried out. That change can be made by the Territorial Executive Committee. I submit this motion, "That the Fourth District Committee recommend that the rules of the party be amended to secure the election of Territorial delegates at the party primaries." Carried.

H. M. Mott-Smith moved that a committee of three be appointed to meet a similar committee from the Fifth District to confer and agree upon legislative nominees. A motion to adjourn was offered, but was lost.

Clarence Crabbe then took the floor to offer a resolution looking towards the selection of the congressional delegate. He thought that all the delegates had made their choice for delegate. He moved that the choice of the party of the Fourth District be Samuel Parker.

Lorrin Andrews jumped to his feet in an instant and foreshadowing what the result of a vote in the committee would be, nevertheless put in this thrust: "We all know how the vote will be. Personally I know of no more available candidate than Parker. But I don't believe that an expression one way or the other should emanate from this committee. The motion will probably go through, but that is my objection. I don't think we should bind the delegates."

A. V. Gear in reply said he did not see where the argument came in. It was the custom he said all over the United States wherever nominations of that kind were to be made to give the delegates the views of the committees. "I don't see where the inference comes in," said he. "Some of them go so far as to instruct their delegates how to vote."

H. M. Mott-Smith said he did not think it was a question of inference. To him it was a question of wisdom or lack of wisdom.

Crabbe's motion prevailed, however, with a change from the word "choice" to "sense."

The chair appointed H. M. Mott-Smith, C. L. Wilcox and A. V. Gear on the committee on conference with the Fifth District Committee.

Adjourned subject to the call of the chair.

CONVENTION TO BE HELD IN HONOLULU

Honolulu is to have the Republican Territorial Convention.

For the third time the Executive Committee of the Republican Party has announced the place for holding the Territorial Convention. Yesterday morning at 9 o'clock the five committeemen, who reside on Oahu, Chairman George W. Smith, A. V. Gear, Enoch Johnson, J. A. Hughes and Clarence Crabbe met at the Chamber of Commerce and agreed upon Honolulu as the place for holding the convention. The first vote resulted in a tie upon the proposition, A. V. Gear and Clarence Crabbe voting in favor of Hilo. Chairman Smith had no alternative but to cast the deciding vote which he did in favor of Honolulu.

Upon motion of Mr. Crabbe the vote was made unanimous.

The dates set for the conventions are September 24 and 25, Monday and Tuesday of week after next.

The time was short after the holding of the meeting in which to prepare letters to the executive committeemen residing on the other islands and for the secretaries of the various district and precinct committees. But the mail was sent out on the island steamers yesterday, which will give the delegates ample time to take the return steamers and reach Honolulu on the Friday, Saturday and Sunday preceding the convention. The following circular letter was prepared and sent out by Secretary Hendry:

Headquarters of the Republican Territorial Central Committee.
Honolulu, H. T., Sept. 11, 1900.

To the Members of the Executive Committee and the Territorial Central Committee of the Republican Party, the Delegates to the Coming Territorial Convention and all others interested:

At a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Republican Territorial Central Committee held in the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce in Honolulu this morning at 9:30, it was decided that the Republican Territorial Convention previously called by the Territorial Central Committee for the 20th and 21st inst. shall be held on the 24th and 25th of September in Honolulu.

This decision is final.

Owing to the lack of time to write personal letters, information is sent by this circular letter.

Every effort should be made to secure full delegations from each district.

By order of the Executive Committee.
E. R. HENDRY,
Secretary.

S. T. Mills of Kona went before the Executive Committee to urge that the convention be granted to Hilo, and his request aroused considerable discussion. Following the vote a resolution was presented and carried that the next convention be held at Hilo.

RETURNS FROM THE DISTRICT CONVENTIONS

The official returns from the Second District which includes the Districts of Kona, Kau and Kohala, Hawaii, has been received by the Territorial Central Committee. The meeting of the Second District was held at Kailua, Hawaii, on September 2, at which the delegates were instructed to vote for Samuel Parker as Republican nominee for delegate to Congress. The resolution which covered this action, was as follows:

Resolved, That the twelve delegates this day elected to attend the Republican Territorial Convention called as of the 20th and 21st days of September, 1900, be instructed and are hereby instructed that Samuel Parker is the choice of this convention for Delegate to Congress—both for the long and short terms—and that said delegates shall use their best efforts to secure the nomination of said Samuel Parker and be it further

Resolved, That the president and secretary of the District Committee sign and promulgate the foregoing.

The Third District (Maui, Molokai and Lanai) Republicans have come out in favor of Samuel Parker as Congressional candidate and the delegates to the Territorial convention were instructed to cast their ballots for him.

The District meeting was held in Wailuku on Monday, with Hon. A. N. Kepoikai in the chair and thirty-five members in attendance. The following officers and delegates were elected:

JAP THESPIANS IN HONOLULU

The New Theater Is In Fullest Swing.

THE GEISHA IS HERE AT LAST

Glimpses of the Real Thing From the Farther East.

Judging from the throng of people at the Japanese Theater last night, that new play house promises to be one of the future attractions of Honolulu. The theater itself is situated in a square of ground at Makiki and Kinau streets, the Beretania side of which is fenced by a fringe of young banana trees. Under the full moon, the theater with its many and vari-colored lights and lanterns presented a brilliant and novel appearance. Cabs were before the door, and men and boys hung breathless over the fence at the imminent risk of toppling over. Peals of laughter, the tinkling of the Japanese stringed instruments, and a sort of wailing accompaniment, all bore witness, when the Advertiser reporter arrived, that the play was on.

The square of wood, dignified by the name of door, was closed. That is contrary to our effete ideas of running a theater. We prefer to run out a sign, "Standing room only." Here they might with equal reason have said, "kneeling and sitting room, only," for when the square of wood suddenly swung open at some talismanic word, a really beautiful and fairy-like scene spread out before one like one of the dainty stories from that same wonderful land of Miss Cherry Blossom. It was like being wafted by some invisible power straight into Tokio.

The building is a large one, partly canvas covered at present, owing to its not being completed, and it was literally packed with people. Some were sitting, others kneeling, and still others squatting in attitudes of comfort, if not of elegance. The tiny Japanese mothers with their babies were out in force, each smiling and bright-eyed, while their kane's, more stolid, it is true, plainly showed delight at the bit of Japan-land spread out before them. There was quite a sprinkling of white men, who sat bolt upright in cane chairs at the rear and tried to look as if they were happy. The stage was gorgeous. It was rainbow-tinted, and fine low settees each held three candles apiece, and served duty as footlights. Lanterns flashed everywhere. Flags, squares of white, embroidered in silver, in gold, and violet and blue, were hung overhead, lined the walls and hung over the stage entrances. The play is a very old one, about 270 years old, a Japanese said. The heroine, who was pretty and a mass of fine clothes, swayed and pranced up and down before a sort of wicker-work door, in plain sight of the disconsolate hero. She is named Wakaba and he is Atsumori. Atsumori rose and fell back and climbed up over the rise in the flooring and in true stage fashion descended the slanting flooring in measured and dramatic style. It was really clever. Then he advanced to the lattice-work door, and after a bit of declaiming smote it heavily. The beautiful heroine caught the child (there is a child) in her arms and swayed and moaned. Then Wahaka climbed that slanting stage again and fell heavily over the drop, or division. The second time he broke down the lattice work and caught both child and mother in his arms. Tableau. Atsumori did some very pretty dancing after awhile to the accompaniment of the Japanese violins, which never ceased for a moment. Like a Greek chorus, they kept at it eternally. Wakaba's singing does not appeal to our tastes; but the Japanese went wild over it. They clapped their hands and their cries could have been heard a block on such a stilly night. Even the one little black dog, who seemed a privileged character, ran wildly about wagging his tail and trying to be friendly. He only knew that everyone was happy and that boded him good.

Watermelon, tea, saki and rice, as well as certain kinds of Japanese sweetmeats, were all on sale, and no doubt freely partaken of. But it was a big, merry, happy crowd, noisy only when touched, and without the slightest objectionable feature.

The singing girls were dressed in their silken, gaily-colored robes, and naturally attracted no end of attention. Altogether the procession was well worth seeing and remembering in this land of many races.

AMATEUR ORCHESTRA.

Popular Organization Begins Its Work For the Year.

Last evening the Amateur Orchestra resumed work after a vacation lasting two months and more. Nineteen members out of a total membership of twenty-seven were in attendance and the first rehearsal was a most successful one. Director Wray Taylor was all smiles over the good showing made. The rehearsal was held in the hall of the Y. M. C. A. and quite a good-sized audience, including a number of the soldiers from the Logan, attended the two hours or more of practice.

The Amateur Orchestra is an organization of which Honolulu may well be proud. Organized five years ago by Mr. Taylor with five members it passed through a most successful year and then went out of existence. Three years ago this fall it was reorganized and since then has been active every season. The orchestra plays for charity and at public festivals only, maintaining its distinctive character as an amateur organization. It starts the year under most favorable auspices with several new members and all of the old ones manifesting unusual interest and will doubtless delight Honolulu audiences on many occasions during the coming season.

HANRAHAN A CITIZEN.

Holds Three Honorable Discharges From U. S. Army.

Officer Hanrahan of the Police Department resents the imputation that he is other than an American citizen. Born an Englishman, he was when a young man, enlisted in Her Majesty's army. Later he took out first papers for naturalization in New York.

He also holds three first rate, honorable discharges from the United States Army service. According to the naturalization laws of the United States the following reference is made to aliens who have worn the army blue:

"Any alien of the age of 21 years and upward who has been in the armies of the United States and has been honorably discharged therefrom, may become a citizen on his petition without any previous declaration of intention, provided that he has resided in the United States at least one year previous to his application, and is of good moral character. (It is judicially decided that residence of one year in a particular State is not requisite.)"

TEXT BOOKS SOLD.

Children Preparing For Year's Work In the School.

A constant stream of school children kept the officers of the Board of Education busy yesterday. Text books by the score were sold during the day and it is likely that the heavy sales will continue throughout the week as well as most of next week. The Board sells the books to the scholars at cost price so they are obtained much cheaper than if they were purchased at the book stores.

The attendance at the school yesterday was somewhat larger than that of Monday, but it will be at least a week before the schools are as full as they will be through the term. No report has yet been made to the Board of the attendance at most of the schools but it is likely that a report will be prepared for all the schools before the last of the week and a comparison can then be made of the attendance this term and last.

THE Y. M. C. A.

Annual Fall Reception of That Important Body.

The annual fall reception of the Young Men's Christian Association will be held next Monday evening at the institution rooms. The reception will be of an informal nature, and special musical features will be introduced. The devotional, educational and gymnastic committees are planning to have representative booths, as is the Triangle Literary Club. Dr. Burgess is chairman of the arrangements committee, and has charge of the program. The hall will be tastefully decorated.

The educational classes commence next Tuesday evening, and those desirous of joining are invited to send in their names to the secretary.

The Reading Club of the Young Women's Christian Association met last evening in the rooms of the Association. "As You Like It," was the subject of the evening.

The Wireless Telegraph.

The wireless telegraphy people are having a small balloon built for the purpose of ascertaining how high they must raise their pole at the Kaimuki station in order to make the system work well between this island and Molokai. It has been ascertained that the pole at Kaimuki is somewhat too short and while communication has been established the signals are not always plain and it has been decided to raise the pole. Manager Cross still has faith in the ultimate success of the system but it will not be in complete operation for some time yet. Meanwhile more money must be collected.

"ALL OF THE WHITE MEN FIRED," SAY LAYSAN ISLAND JAPANES

"All of the white men on the platform fired shots at us from their revolvers." This was the testimony of both of the two witnesses who were on the stand yesterday in the Police Court in the preliminary examination of Captain Joseph Spencer, charged with murder in the first degree. The examination began in the morning about 10 o'clock before Judge Wilcox. Attorneys Kinney and Chillingworth appeared for the defendant and Attorney General Dole and High Sheriff A. M. Brown represented the prosecution.

A CROWD PRESENT.

The court room was crowded, many old waterfronters and shipping men were present and friends and acquaintances of Captain Spencer and members of the Pacific Guano and Fertilizer Company were also on hand.

Captain Spencer, calm and in the best of spirits, paid the strictest attention to every word of testimony given by the two Japanese who had their innings. Now and then, in a strong, deep voice which was almost impossible to confine to a whisper, he answered some question put to him by his attorneys during the examination of the witnesses and often his placid countenance broke into broad smiles at some subtle question of the lawyers or some tangle of assertions unwittingly gotten into by the long-winded little Japanese. Occasionally he mopped his brow for it was exceedingly warm in the court room and every once in a while he would look up to smile a greeting to some acquaintance who would drop in to listen a while to the stories of the Japanese.

PHOTOGRAPHS OF LAYSAN.

On the table, in front of Captain Spencer and his attorneys, were spread photographs of the buildings on Laysan Island in which Captain Spencer and his wife used to live, the laborers' quarters, the guano house, the platform and so forth. A map of the place was also handy together with the official log-book of the American bark Ceylon which brought the Spencers, Captain Spilner, the carpenter and thirty-eight Japanese guano laborers back from Laysan Island a few days ago. On the floor, near to the hand of Attorney Chillingworth, lay a carefully wrapped bundle containing assorted hoop-iron weapons, something of the nature of cutlasses, with which the Japanese were armed, according to Captain Spencer and Captain Spilner and the carpenter when questioned aboard the Ceylon as she was coming into port the other day.

THE CHARGE READ.

Stenographer Davis was sworn in as the official recorder of what everybody had to say, after which the charge of wilful and premeditated murder of one Goto, on Laysan Island, "within the jurisdiction of the court," on August 11, was read. The defendant was notified that as this was only a preliminary examination he need not plead. Attorney Kinney, however, said that the prisoner would take his privilege of pleading and entered a plea of not guilty.

Then the first witness for the prosecution was called. This man was Higuchi Shiro, who, according to his testimony, stood close by Goto when that person fell after the shooting had taken place.

HIGUCHI SHIRO TESTIFIES.

High Sheriff Brown kept the witness a considerable time, making him go over carefully in detail every event of the day on which the shooting occurred, Saturday, August 11. Interpreter Gibbs translated for the Japanese witnesses.

Higuchi Shiro, who is pictured in the witness box in the illustration, testified, in substance as follows:

The Japanese on Laysan Island went to work at 5 o'clock on the morning of Saturday, August 11, the day on which Goto fell. At 9 o'clock in the morning a number of the Japanese, representing the whole number, went to Captain Spencer for the purpose of arranging with him, if possible, for the men to alternate in working ashore and on the water. It was their desire, said the witness, to work one day on land and the next day afloat.

The reason of this was that the guano dust, blown by the fresh sea breezes, got into the eyes of the laborers and greatly bothered them.

WANTED EXTRA PAY.

Captain Spencer informed Tanaka, the luna of the Japanese, that he could not very well comply with the request of the men in this respect, said the witness. Then the laborers applied for higher wages in view of the fact that their eyes were suffering from the successive days of work under the same uncomfortable conditions. Shiro testified that the Captain had said that he could not give the men extra pay and that he had said he would send the Japanese back to Honolulu on the next vessel if they repeated their request.

"Then what did Captain Spencer say?" asked the High Sheriff.

WENT TO THEIR QUARTERS.

"He said 'Get out!' So we all went to our house," answered Shiro. Some slept at their quarters while others passed the morning in reading, according to the witness.

"When did you next speak to the Captain?"

"About 11 o'clock in the morning when we asked for some rice."

"Did you get any rice?"

"No."

"Why not?"

"The boss said that if we didn't work we would get no rice?"

"Were you willing to work?"

"We were willing to work, but the boss told us to 'get out,' so we went to our house and didn't work."

"When was the next time you went to Captain Spencer?"

"About 4 o'clock in the afternoon."

"What happened then?"

"Tanaka, the luna, came home and the boss came to our house."

"Well! go on—what did they do—tell all about it."

"The boss found Goto, one of the Japanese who was killed, drinking from a gin bottle and he took it away from him."

"What next?"

WANTED TO BUY RICE.

"The Japanese asked the boss to sell them some rice. They said they had money of their own and wanted to buy what rice they needed."

"Did you get any rice?"

"No; the boss said he could not sell any rice."

"Why not? Did he say?"

"He said the rice belonged to Hackfeld, and he had no right to sell it."

At half-past six o'clock on the evening of Saturday, August 11, according to the testimony of Higuchi Shiro, the Japanese sent word to Captain Spencer that "they couldn't stand it," and wanted to know if they were to be killed by starvation. They came and stood about six feet from the platform where the five white men were stationed.

"What did you go to the platform for?" asked the High Sheriff.

THEY WANTED RICE.

"To get rice."

"Was any rice kept on the platform?"

"No; not on the platform. The rice was kept near the house where the boss lived."

"Did you ask for rice, then?"

"Yes."

"Did you get any?"

"No."

"Were you told not to go on the platform?"

"The boss said that a few of us could go on the platform to talk over the matter."

"Did any of you go on the platform?"

"Goto and I and several others stepped up to go on the platform."

"Well; what then?"

"They pointed guns at us."

"Who did?"

"All of the five white men on the platform."

"Did any of you tell the white men to go ahead and shoot?"

"No. We asked them why it was they pointed guns at us when we were just asking them for rice."

WHEN THE SHOOTING BEGAN.

"What did they say?"

"They began shooting at us."

"Who did?"

"All of the five white men on the platform."

"Then what happened?"

"Goto fell."

"Where did he fall?"

"On the platform."

"On what part of the platform?"

"On the edge, near the steps."

"What did you do?"

"I ran away."

"How far were you from the white men when they shot at you?"

"About ten feet."

"What did the Japanese do then?"

"They ran toward their quarters."

"When the Japanese went towards the platform did they carry knives or clubs, or any arms?"

"Why, no; we would be very foolish to go armed when all we wanted was some food. We did not want to fight."

The above are only a few of the questions and answers up to this point in the direct examination. The little Japanese was never guilty of answering a question directly, but required several questions on the same point before he would give an answer. He spoke carefully and, judging from his gestures, with great precision.

A SAMPLE ANSWER.

"What time was it when the shooting took place?" continued the High Sheriff.

"It was at night."

"What time of the night?"

"About dark."

"Was it dark when the shooting took place?"

"Not so very dark."

"How far could you see?"

"Only just in front."

"Then it was just beginning to get dark when the shooting took place?"

"It was not long after the sun had set."

"What occurred after the shooting, after the Japanese had run away to their quarters?"

"Tanaka came and told the Japanese to stay in their quarters or the white men might kill them all."

Afterwards Goto was carried to the bark Ceylon and put aboard, where he died two days after being shot. He was buried on the Island. High Sheriff Brown here turned the witness over to the attorneys for the defense.

CROSS-EXAMINATION.

Attorney Kinney started on a very thorough and lengthy cross-examination of Higuchi Shiro shortly after 11 o'clock in the morning.

"How long had you been in these Islands before you went to Laysan Island?" asked Kinney.

"About four years."

What were you doing?"

"Working on plantations."

"Where?"

"At Waimanalo."

"What was your number at Waimanalo?"

"Two hundred and one."

"Did you hear anything about a change in the government of Hawaii affecting the Japanese laborers on Laysan Island?"

"No; nothing of the kind."

"Is it not so that the Japanese who went to Laysan Island this last time took the news of Hawaii becoming a Territory of the United States, and that the Japanese who went from here told the laborers on Laysan Island that they were now free men, and needn't work any more on the Island?"

"I didn't hear any talk about that at all."

"Then you heard no talk about labor contracts being made void by the application of American laws here?"

"I heard no talk like that."

"Didn't any of the twelve Japanese who arrived at Laysan on the Ceylon say anything about the change of laws and the effect on the contract system?"

"I heard no one say anything about the change."

FESTIVAL OF THE DEAD.

"On the day of the shooting did the Japanese have a flag raised on top of their house?"

"Yes."

"What was the significance of that flag?"

"It was a Japanese holiday."

"What was the holiday for?"

"A festival for the dead."

"Were the Japanese banging on pots and kettles, and making a great noise?"

"I heard a noise."

"Were the Japanese wrestling among themselves?"

"Yes."

"Was this all in celebration of the dead?"

"Yes."

"Were any of the Japanese picking up things and hurling them to the ground again?"

"I don't know about that."

"Then the flag and the banging on the kettles, and the wrestling, and other things were all in celebration of the dead, or of somebody you thought was going to die—which?"

"The Japanese wrestle and do these other things on their holidays."

"Then your actions had no significance to the boss or any of the white men, or had nothing to do with your intentions toward them?"

"It was all in the celebration of the festival of the dead."

"When is this Japanese holiday?"

"On the 17th of August in the Japanese calendar. In the English calendar it is the 11th of August."

SPILNER WOULD BE BOSS.

In the cross-examination of Higuchi Shiro it was shown that Captain Spilner, formerly of the Honolulu mounted police patrol, had informed the witness just after Captain Spencer had left for Honolulu that the Captain was not going to return to Laysan Island, and that he, Spilner, was to be the manager for four or five years after Spencer left. According to the witness, after Spencer had come back, Spilner told the Japanese that they would to work harder than they had the Captain was away. At court adjourned until 2 o'clock afternoon.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

Attorney Kinney still had the when the court resumed at He questioned him very closely gard to the rice and water knocking off of work on the part Japanese.

"How many times did you ask rice?" asked Kinney.

"Two or three times."

"Before the shooting occurred, were you given rice last?"

"We had some rice on Sat morning for breakfast; it was left from the night before."

"When was the time that you supposed to get your rice?"

"At noon on Saturday."

"What time did you go for it?"

"The cook went about 11 o'clock"

"Did he get any?"

"No."

"What did he tell you?"

"He said that the boss said we not get any rice unless we worked."

"Were you willing to work?"

"The boss told us to 'get out,' went to our quarters."

"What occurred about 6 o'clock evening, when you went to the to see the boss?"

"We went to ask for rice."

"Why did you go to the platform ask for rice?"

"We were very weak for food, and we went to talk it over the boss to see if we couldn't get rice."

"You were all very weak?"

"Yes."

"How long had you been food?"

"We had no rice for lunch didn't have any for supper."

"And you had not been working ing the day?"

"No."

"Then you were not so very

"We felt a little weak, having food."

"Which bothered you most, or no work?"

"We were hungry and weak, but willing to work."

About 3 o'clock Kinney was with the first witness. He had ed him most thoroughly, asking numerable questions, and bring many interesting things. Shiro dicted himself once or twice and rather a serious tangle once, but most careful witness, and took very coolly, never losing self-sion.

THE SECOND WITNESS.

Okamu was the second witness the prosecution. High Sheriff did not hold him long, and soon him over to Kinney. Okamu told most the same story as was told Shiro. He said that all of the men fired at the Japanese from platform. He didn't see Goto fall cause he ran away when the first was fired. He said that the white pointed their revolvers at the when four or five men started on the platform in the evening.

CAPTAIN'S SON FIRED FIRST.

Okamu testified that Captain cer's son fired the first shot from platform. He said all the white fired shots from their revolvers. the Captain cried "Go ahead! ahead!!" they all fired from the form. Both Okamu and Shiro that none of the Japanese carried hoop-iron weapons shown in when they went to the platform. said they were used in fishing. was questioned by Kinney at length on the rice matter. A to the method of dealing out the at noon one week and in the the next week, and the reasons for, was being straightened out Judge Wilcox adjourned court until o'clock this afternoon.

The Japanese Consul, Miki Saito an attentive listener at the examination.

[SO]ME INTERESTING DATA

[State]ment of Collector Stackable on Exports and Imports Up to June 14th.

[The] pamphlet containing the final [report] of E. R. Stackable as Collector [of Customs] for the Republic of Hawaii [has] been issued from the press of the [Hawaiian] Gazette Company. It contains [Mr.] Stackable's statements for the six [months] beginning on January 1st, 1900, [and ending] on June 14th last, when he [went] out of office as collector under the [Republic] and became the collector under [the] United States.

[The] book contains many interesting [tables] showing the status of Honolulu as [a port] and the amount of ex[ports] and imports at this port and other [ports] of the Islands. Comparative data [gives] many interesting points as [and] the book contains likewise a com[plete] table of the vessels which carried [the] Hawaiian flag prior to the annexation [of the] Islands to the United States.

[The] volume opens with a comprehensive [summary] of the revenue and customs [receipts]. The revenue for the six months [was] as follows:

REVENUE BY MONTHS.

[Janu]ary, $119,125.96; February, $85,736.10; [March], $99,?6.22; April, $105,307.23; May, [$...]; June (to June 14th), $73,579.43; [total], $597,897.14.

[A t]able is also given showing the rev[enue] received at the different ports of the [Islands]. It is as follows:

[Of] imported goods the largest percentage [was] machinery of which there was im[ported] during the six months an amount [valued] at $1,501,601.33; groceries and pro[visions] came next with $797,268.9?. Of [build]ing material there was imported an [amount] valued at $698,220.39 and agricul[tural] implements followed next with [$...]. Railroad materials valued at [$...] were imported and iron and steel [valued] at $25?,155.87 came to the Islands. [...] Among the other imports of note [were] Ale, beer, etc., $84,2?8.51; coal and [coke], $199,502.05; fertilizer, $346,463.54; lum[ber], $223,622.21.

[Th]e total exports from the Islands was [$...] and of this amount an [enormous] proportion was credited to su[gar]. The amount of sugar exported was [$...]. The next largest item was [...] $200,497.67 in good hard cash being [ex]ported. Coffee came next with $49,-[...] and hides next with $46,135.24. Next [in] order was bananas of which 9732 bunches valued at $9,317 were exported. The other exports were divided among a large number of different products, most of them in small quantities. The principal thing that the table shows is the entire dominance of sugar in the Hawaiian export trade.

A table is given showing the advance in the trade of the Islands from 1843 to the present day. In 1843 the total customs receipts amounted to but $8,468, there was imported a total of goods valued at $223,388 and exported goods valued at $66,-618. In the first six months of 1900 the customs receipts were $597,801.59, the imports amounted to $10,231,197.58 and the exports to $14,404,496.16.

HAWAIIAN VESSELS.

But about the most interesting table in the lot is that which gives the list of vessels which flew the Hawaiian flag before Annexation. That it was quite a respectable fleet is shown by the following list:

Steamers—Kilauea Hou, Kaena, Mokolii, Lehua, James Makee, Iwalani, Kinau, W. G. Hall, Waialeale, J. A. Cummins, Kaimiloa, Mikahala, San Mateo, Hawaii, Claudine, Rover, Ke Au Hou, Kauai, Aztec, Mauna Loa, Noeau, Helene, Upolu, Barracouta, Maui, Malolo, Niihau. Ships—John Ena, Hawaiian Isles, Helen Brewer, Fort George, Star of Italy. Barks—Andrew Welch, Foong Suey, Mauna Ala, R. P. Rithet, Santiago, Iolani, Diamond Head, Roderick Dhu, Nuuanu, Himalaya. Schooners—Rob Roy, Millie Morris, Luka, Mokuola, Kauikeaouli, Kawailani, Kulamanu, Moi Wahine, Lavinia, Ka Moi, Liliu, Americana, Norma, Ada, Honolulu, Waialua, Lady. Sloops—Healani, Kaiulani, Hilawe. Register applied for: Ships—Euterpe, Falls of Clyde, Star of Russia, Star of France; bark Willscott; schooners Concord and Blanche & Ella.

Getting down to minute details the report shows that from the United States there was imported some peculiar things. It is not surprising that 110 dozen bathing suits came to the Islands in six months, for bathing is a pastime for which the Islands are noted and a bathing suit is almost a necessary part of any man or woman's outfit but it is somewhat interesting to note that the Isla..ds imported over 123,000 pounds of butter during the six months and that 253,731 pounds of beans were consumed. The amount of soap used, 207,083 pounds, and more shows that the Hawaiian residents are cleanly to say the least. Thirty-three pianos and twenty-one organs were imported and 250 other musical instruments including guitars, mandolins, violins and others. Over 4000 cigars came in from America and 20,000 cigarettes.

The importations from Great Britain were largely woven goods, hardware and groceries and from the other countries largely the same. From France the chief item was brandy, 686 cases being imported, valued at $2967.67. From the other islands of the Pacific there was but one item of imports, curiosities valued at $11.15.

HORSEMEN MEET BUT TO ADJOURN

Prospects are Good For the Thanksgiving Day Race Carnival.

The meeting of the Honolulu Driving Association held last night in the Hawaiian Hotel was adjourned without any business being done, on account of the paucity in number of members present.

A meeting of members and directors of the Association will be held next Friday evening in the same place for the purpose of passing on constitution and by-laws. It is to be hoped that all interested in the welfare of the Association will at least make an effort to be present.

It has been suggested and will probably come about that races for Hawaiian bred harness and running horses be included in the program of the Thanksgiving Day meeting.

Owners are getting their horses into training quarters at the track, and the paddock looks busier than it has been for many a day.

An invitation to participate in the Thanksgiving Day meeting will be forwarded to horse owners on Hawaii.

It looks as if Thanksgiving Day would hold the same important place in the history of the Driving Association as June 11th does in the records of the Jockey Club.

Mr. L. H. Dee wants to race Albert M against C. H. Judd's Silas S for $250 a side, best two heats out of three, provided the 2:30 class for Thanksgiving Day does not fill.

J. A. Morgan was driving a white horse yesterday which was the cynosure of all eyes.

MISSIONS OF HAWAII NEI

How Gospel Spread From Here.

SIMEON NAWAA'S ADDRESS

Son of a Native Minister Speaks at Kawaiahao Church on the Subject.

The following is a portion of the address delivered Sunday night in Kawaiahao church by Simeon Nawaa, the son of a well known native Hawaiian missionary. The address was in Hawaiian and was translated by Mr. Nawaa himself:

"Go therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost." Matt. 28:19.

You have heard a few Sundays ago from our previous speakers concerning the work of the American missionaries on these Islands, and the results thereof, since the year 1820. We are proud of their good and influential work. We are today enjoying all the privileges they have brought. Today, we are numbered among the civilized nations; partly for our being christianized for a short period of eighty years, and partly for our union with a country able to protect our interests.

But, amid all our enjoyments, let us not forget, that among the isles of the Southern Seas, there lies part of our interest of which no man can tell the value but He who has supreme power over all the universe, the One that gives this most excellent command: "Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost."

We received the first privilege of being baptized for nothing, but the love of humanity hidden away in the hearts of those American missionaries, while those who are drifting along with us on this wide Pacific ocean were left, and only came to realize their dark conditions when Hawaii followed the example of the good Samaritan.

Thirty-two years after the landing of the first American missionaries on these islands, that was in the year 1852, the first Hawaiian missionaries were sent out consisting of two principal parties. They were Rev. and Mrs. Kauwealoha and Rev. and Mrs. Kekela, now spending a period of vacation among us.

These missionaries were selected to preach the gospel to the Marquesas islanders, who were found swaying in the old barbarous living, although, possessed of that which is great and valuable more than all the riches of this world. They have souls, souls that knew not the value of that great gift of God. Souls that live, and are subject to be judged, when the trumpet sounds, and the whole world is lifted up before that One supreme Person to answer for the deeds done in the body.

Their first object, when landed, was to seek the sympathy of those people and to master their language. By constantly discharging their duties, they succeeded in obtaining their hearts. Consequently, re-enforcement was necessary; and nothing was better than the voluntary act of these following Hawaiians: Mr. and Mrs. Kauwi, Mr. and Mrs. Kaukau, Mr. and Mrs. Laioha, Mr. and Mrs. Hapuku, Mr. and Mrs. Kapohaku and Mr. and Mrs. Kuaihelani.

They went hearts and souls on their new errand, and of late, we received information showing that our efforts were not in vain. Where once stood the tremendous temples of idols, churches have sprung up, and their steeples are telling the same tidings that the angels told the shepherds on the field of Judea: "Peace on earth, good will to men." This is a most valuable information, and our experiences tell us, that where the churches of God are built, ignorance is disappearing and civilization rules, and where once silent without means of communications but by voice, education has reached a high pitch.

We may have joy and gladness for what we heard, but sorrow is not of a different relationship. Tho' gladness prevail, sorrow may break in unchallengeable. Since the beginning of this great operation, we have lost five-eighths of the original number. Their places are left unfilled.

Our financial standing shows a vast sum of twenty-four thousand dollars spent for the support of the missionaries, since they were involved in this undertaking.

Ours were not the only representatives of the Christian religion residing on these islands, but America had many. Among them were the parents of our present pastor, who held an active work there before they came here.

The Marquesas Islands were not only our field of labor; but Gilbert, Caroline and Marshall Islands were later added after due consideration of the ability of the Hawaiians' administration.

Geography indicates these islands as merely dots, but to combine them, one can realize how broad a field lies before him. Imagine the large population living on them, who may not have the chance of penitence, has Hawaii not extended her willing hands?

The periods of 1856-1870 was a period of a great "send-off," or in another word, the period of great extension. Never was before known such enthusiastic movements among the Hawaiians, and when called to leave their happy home for the Master's sake, young and old gladly accepted it. To leave their homes and the loved ones behind was nothing but a living inspiration drawing them closer to their Maker.

These following Hawaiians were the first to carry the cross to the fields: Mr. and Mrs. Aumai, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Kanoa, Rev. and Mrs. J. H. Mahoe, Rev. and Mrs. M. G. Haina, Rev. and Mrs. W. B. Kapu, Rev. and Mrs. G. Leleo, Rev. and Mrs. W. N. Lono, Rev. and Mrs. R. Maka, Mr. and Mrs. Ahia, Mr. and Mrs. Nea and Mr. and Mrs. Kaehuaea. They left on the Gilbert Islands, where Rev. Hiram Bingham, son of the Founder of this Church, was in charge.

For the Caroline Islands, Rev. and Mrs. Aea, Rev. and Mrs. Sam'l Kaaikaula, Rev. and Mrs. Kaelemakule, Mr. and Mrs. Opunui and Mr. and Mrs. Noa.

Marshall Islands—Rev. and Mrs. D. Kapali, Rev. and Mrs. S. W. Kekuewa, Rev. and Mrs. S. K. Nawaa and Rev. and Mrs. S. P. Kaaia. Dr. and Mrs. Snow were in charge of this work. They were succeeded by Dr. and Mrs. Beers.

It was not an easy task to gain the consent of those people to permit the Hawaiian missionaries to stay, but a rather hard friction, but God ..d an influence that soon removed all these frictions, and an open door was granted to them.

The first steps taken by these missionaries were similar with that on Marquesas islands, one using different methods from the other. Rev. H. Aea had a noticeable way of attracting his people. After his long study of their customs, and their great amusements, he found that they were not only interested in tales and songs, but also loved dancing. He at once composed songs in their language, taken the air from their own, and using their dancing movements as time-keepers.

It was not long afterwards they became useful to these people and their influences went wide and free.

The teaching of God's words then was carried, first by voice and later by reading in their own tongues.

The Rev. Hiram Bingham, after his careful study, found the alphabets now use by the Gilbert Islanders. He deserve credit as a translator of the bible, and composer of songs now sung by ..s people. The Rev. Snow might have accomplished all for the Marshall Islands, had he not died; however the Rev. Dr. Beers, his successor, is devoting his time translating the Bible as well as composing songs and writing matters of interest in the line of education.

Schools were also established largely by these missionaries, and such branch of their work became the key by which, the salvation through Christ took a firm stand among them; this results in the uplifting of these islands from their lower standing to that of civilization.

"So poor old Mr. Clubite is dead." "Yes. But he died happy." "Is that so?" "Yes. Almost his last words were that at last he was going to a place where golf wouldn't be the only burning question."—Harper's Monthly.

GETTING READY FOR NEXT SATURDAY'S GREAT REGATTA

Local yachtsmen met in the Hawaiian Hotel last night to arrange for next Saturday's regatta. Messrs. L. W. Wilcox, Oscar White, T. R. Hobron, H. M. Dow, A. B. Merry, H. P. Roth, G. A. Crosier, H. Penhallow, R. A. Dexter and David Kawananakoa were present.

Judge Wilcox filled the chair and Ruby Dexter took notes.

The first-class yachts' course will be the same as last year with the exception that a buoy will be placed opposite J. B. Castle's home, instead of Sans Souci. The course is as follows:

From starting line, passing out channel, keeping between line of buoys and piles, leaving spar and bell buoys on port side; thence to and around flag boat off J. B. Castle's house, keeping it on the port side in rounding; thence to flag boat off entrance to Pearl Harbor, keeping it on starboard side in rounding; thence to and around bell buoy, leaving it on port side; thence to spar buoy, leaving it on the starboard side, thence keeping between line of buoys and piles in channel to starting line.

The stake boat will have a flagpole fifteen feet high, and will display large red and white flags.

The course for second-class yachts will be the same as in the first-class.

The course for third and fourth-class yachts will be the same as last year, except that the position of the buoy will be changed from Sans Souci to opposite J. B. Castle's residence. The course will be as follows:

From starting line, passing out of channel, keeping between line of buoys and piles, leaving spar and bell buoys on port side; thence to and around flag boat off J. B. Castle's house, keeping it on the port side in rounding; thence to a flag boat off quarantine station, keeping it on the starboard side in rounding; thence to and around bell buoy, leaving it on port side; thence to spar buoy, leaving it to starboard; thence keeping between line of buoys and piles to starting line.

The start will be made from an imaginary line extending from the lighthouse to the Healani boathouse.

The start will be made by what is known as the "one-gun start," i. e., a preparatory gun followed by another five minutes later; all times to be taken from the last gun.

All boats must carry numbers eighteen inches long in the lower luff of their mainsails.

Entries close at 4 o'clock next Thursday afternoon at the Pacific Hardware Company.

The classification of the yachts is as follows:

First-class—Ewa, Bonnie Dundee, Helene (formerly second-class).

Second-class—Marion, Dewey, Hawaii and Healani.

Third-class—Myrtle, Malolo, Kiki, Vi-ke and Opitsah.

Fourth-class—Pokii, Edith L., Abbie M, Rose Clytie, Volante, Maria, and Charlie Chillingworth's Durance Vile.

The prizes this year will be considerably increased, and will be:

First-class—First prize, $100; second prize, $50, provided three start.

Second-class—First prize, $75; second prize, $50; third prize, $25, provided four start.

Third-class—$50, $30 and $20, provided four start.

Fourth-class—$50, $30 and $20, provided four start.

There will be no time allowance in the third-class.

Messrs Hobron, White and Roth were appointed a committee of three to confer with the regatta committee and notify them of the transactions of the meeting.

L. A. Thurston, or C. W. Macfarlane, should the former be unable to serve, was appointed to represent the yachting interest in the capacity of judge on Regatta Day.

Wireless politics are even more difficult to get than wireless telegraphy.

When men like J. B. Atherton, Henry Waterhouse, J. P. Cooke and Mark Robinson are turned down as Republican delegates because they are not the sort of people whom H. M. Sewall can use to pull his chestnuts out of the fire, the less the machine says about a "desire for harmony" the better.

Mr. Bryan may assume that Kansas has no real prosperity but all the same more steel safes were sold there last year than in any other part of the Union. At this rate it won't be long before Bryan must change his tune and denounce Kansas as a nest of gold bugs and a lair of plutocrats.

In his "Address to Bimetallists" four years ago Mr. Bryan said that "before the year 1900 arrives, the evil effects of a gold standard will be even more evident than they are now." Well, 1900 is here and only the other day Mr. Bryan, who owns a Nebraska farm, sold his crop of oats for more than the land cost him.

The convention will be held in Honolulu, this point being the most convenient one to the majority of Island delegates. It is reported that the Hiloites will not come here unless their expenses are paid but this story comports so badly with the stalwart Republicanism of that city and of the big Island that we refuse to credit it.

The New York Democracy is ready to make an issue of the Boers but it doesn't want to have the thing cost money. The Sulzer-Tammany fund for the relief of Boer widows and orphans netted $18. Perhaps, however, the Democracy argues that its sympathy is so valuable that it would be almost an insult to supplement it with anything so gross as cash.

Honolulu has long had a Chinese theater but a Japanese playhouse, with lanterns and cherry blossoms and Geisha girls, is a taking novelty. The new theater looks as if it had been lifted bodily from a Tokio corner and set down in this city. No Yankee innovation has been permitted to rob it of the Oriental charm which attaches to all abodes of the Japanese Thespia on native soil.

One of the many strong features of Judge Estee's speech the other night was an appeal against great landholdings. Vast estates are a necessary incident of the sugar business in Hawaii but it will be possible, so far as the public lands are concerned, to do much in the way of carrying out Judge Estee's views. Nothing is truer than the fact that small homesteads for the people are among the best guarantees of civilized progress here as elsewhere.

We are glad to see that the Attorney General's Department is taking a sensible view of the blue laws and that, in Mr. Dole's opinion, no useful purpose can be subserved by closing soda water, mineral water, ice cream and cigar stores and eating houses on the first day of the week. As the Advertiser has repeatedly pointed out, the sale of such commodities in no way interferes with the Sunday peace and is a question closely allied to the comfort of our citizens. So far as disturbance goes the fizz of the soda water bottle is much to be preferred to the barbarous clangor of church bells and the grind and rattle of overladen trams carrying people to Sunday picnics.

In expressing his regret at not being present at the banquet of Native Sons Governor Dole spoke of the friendly feeling that every progressive citizen of Hawaii ought to have for California. That State certainly deserves the good will of our people, for, from the very earliest commercial times, it has contributed much to Island prosperity. In all great undertakings for the good of Hawaii which required the aid of the United States Government California has been ours to command. During the long fight for annexation the people of the Golden State, despite the blandishments of the Sugar Trust, stood shoulder-to-shoulder with our own American party. These services Hawaii will not soon forget.

THE ANTI-HAOLE MOVEMENT.

The Independent party, in making its legislative nominations on all the islands but Oahu, has drawn the color line. The ticket as made up contains many English names but they belong to half-whites, the rest of the names being those of full-blooded natives. On Oahu it is possible that one or two white men may be nominated; but if so they will have to pledge themselves, if elected, to vote and work in accord with native sentiment. Undoubtedly such men can be found.

It is of course useless to argue with the Independent leaders against the merits of their policy; for when they are capable of believing that the bonds which unite this Territory to the Union may be severed by Act of Congress, they are beyond the reach of logic or of common sense. They must go their own way. Where that way will lead—into what perils and perplexities it will force the responsible, property-owning classes of Hawaii; what calamities it will finally bestow upon the native electors themselves, people familiar with the American method of eradicating political cancers may guess. These questions need no special comment.

In view of the numbers behind Wilcox in his political adventure it is a poor time for the junta which controls the Republican organization—but not the party—to try and precipitate a factional war. To meet the Independents the influence of every Republican will be needed, yet we find the majority of white Republicans of Oahu ostracised by a coterie of politicians who would never have been heard of as leaders if the voting at the early primaries had been confined to party men. Is it possible their votes and other contributions are not wanted? If so how does the machine intend to overcome what seems to be the large numerical majority of the Wilcox party?

HARMONY WITH A HATCHET.

Yesterday a few men who mismanage the Republican party in Oahu were given a chance to practice the harmony the have been preaching for a short time back and the result is a solid machine delegation from the Fourth District to the Territorial Republican Convention. Their side got a majority at the late primaries by the narrowest of margins and they have been appealing almost daily to Good Government men for funds. It was supposed on these grounds that they would concede to the latter the right to name at least one-third of the delegation but this they refused to do unless permitted to take their own pick. Every name proposed by the Good Government men was voted down; and as a result the white majority in the Republican Fourth will have no representation in the body which is to frame a ticket for all Republicans to support. Intoxicated by the power given them chiefly by citizens who mean to support the Independent party they rode rough shod over their fellow Republicans and in doing so made an ostentatious display of the most offensive weapons of machine tyranny. There can be no harmony which these men are not ready to destroy for the advantage of their clique.

What the outcome of these courses may be time will tell. We attribute the folly and the blindness of it all to H. M. Sewall, who is desperately anxious, on his own behalf, to convince the Republican National Committee that he is the political boss of Hawaii and the undisputed leader of the Republican party here. The news of a solid machine delegation from Oahu would help him in the East; the news of a machine Territorial ticket would aid him still more; and if he can report the success of the ticket at the polls his chances to get the job he is chasing will be more than sixteen to one. We cannot but believe that Sewall has put the ticket in imminent peril, led to do so by a blind confidence in the pledges of two or three men to control the native vote. But as to that, time will tell. It may be that the convention, with a sudden access of wisdom will name a ticket which self-respecting party men can support; but it looks now as if the machine had made up its mind to accept the advice given by Mr. Sewall at a Sunday morning conference not long ago and ignore the white majority altogether.

TROPICAL COSTUME.

It must have been borne upon most of the diners at the Native Son's banquet Monday night that the conventional evening dress, with its two thicknesses of coat and vest and its high standing collar, is a physical affliction in the tropics and that some more suitable apparel ought to be devised. The modern evening habiliments of a gentleman were evolved in the North Temperate Zone and are well-suited to the climate. The cloth used is firm and warm; to protect the shirt front from bodily perspiration in heated rooms the climate permits the free use of flannel underwear; and in ordinary circumstances the collar is not likely to wilt. Here flannel underwear is a grievance, the shirt front softens, the collar goes to hopeless ruin and the broadcloth coat and vest, worn in rooms where the temperature is raised by many lights, becomes a manufactory of prickly heat.

They do these thinks better in warm countries further west. When summer comes in Southern Japan, Southern China, Singapore, Colombo and Amoy gentlemen appear at banquets, evening parties, weddings and the like in semi-dress suits of white duck. The bob-tailed white Tuxedo used is not all that sartorial grace might make it but it is comfortable and that ought to be the chief disideratum. The trousers are of duck and the shirt with a turn-down collar is made of a delicate shade of silk girdled at the waist with a silk band. The general effect is neat, gentlemanly and appropriate. A man so garbed looks well and what is more to the purpose feels well.

Is not Honolulu independent enough socially to invent a formal costume of its own, a modification in linen duck of the Hongkong fashion, suitable for high occasions? The ordinary black costume might be used in winter but why should you cling to it in summer until it clings to you?

WATER AND WEALTH.

The completion of the new irrigation canal at Spreckelsville means much to the Island of Maui. By it a large tract of land that had in the past been considered irreclaimable is put under cultivation and will soon be covered with growing cane. From a spot over twenty miles distant water is brought by this canal to vivify a hitherto barren region, a region rich in possibilities of wealth production, needing but the water to make it the equal of the most favored spots in the Islands.

The successful carrying through of this enterprise is an example of what may be done in dozens of other localities. Water there is in plenty in the so-called rainbelts on all the islands, and while in these regions millions of gallons of the precious liquid are wasted in the sea near by, there are tracts of excellent alluvial soil capable of bringing forth splendid crops of sugar could the water but be brought to them. To do this needs an expenditure of time and energy and expense that too frequently frightens the owners and they allow their land to lie unfruitful while their more far seeing neighbors are coining money from tracts no better situated but which they have had the enterprise to bring under water.

The multiplication of such canals as the Lowrie Irrigation Ditch will mean an increase of the wealth of the Islands to an untold extent. With modern engineers there is almost nothing that cannot be done in the way of ditch construction. It costs money to be sure, but in these days the penny wise system of land cultivation does not pay. It takes money to make money in sugar cultivation and many managers will find that an emulation of the liberal methods adopted by Manager Lowrie of Spreckelsville will bring largely increased returns to their stockholders.

The Laysan Island shooting episode bids fairly to require a lengthy investigation before justice and the Japanese are satisfied. Whether it was a case of heroic defence on the part of five white men, one of whom fought for the life of his wife as well as his own, against forty infuriated laborers or an instance of master's brutally shooting down harmless and defenceless employes, begging for food, is a question for the courts, and the courts alone to decide.

Col. Watterson says that the country is in "a hopeless state of prosperity," but it won't be that way long in case the Colonel's candidate wins.

BACK FROM HAWAII

Supt. McCandless and W. E Rowell Circled the Big Island

Superintendent McCandless and Assistant Superintendent Rowell of the Public Works Department returned on the Mauna Loa yesterday after a trip of two weeks around the Island of Hawaii. Mr. McCandless stated that the trip had been taken for the purpose of looking over the whole situation on Hawaii, to find out what was needed in the way of improvements.

"The trip was an eminently satisfactory one," said Mr. McCandless, "for by personal observation of conditions on Hawaii we are much better informed than we should have been had we trusted to reports. We landed at Mahukona and made the trip down the windward coast of the island to Hilo. Thence we went to the Volcano, and so by road through Kau and the Konas to Kailua. The roads in that part of the island are bad, but not so bad as has been reported. It has been frequently stated that they were impassable for bicyclists, or rather that wheelmen would have to push their wheels or carry them most of the way through Kona, but we found but few places where they were not rideable and we met several parties of wheelmen who were making the trip around the island.

"Owing to the lack of funds in the treasury we shall not be able to do much in the way of road improvement for some time, but our trip has at least given us an idea of what was needed and when the funds are available we shall know where they may best be applied."

Fisher Sells Land.

Yesterday at noon, Auctioneer Will E. Fisher disposed of a reversionary interest in the real and personal property, consisting of all the right, title and interest in and to the property of the Hospital da Misericordia of Angra de Heroismo, formerly the estate of Louis Perry, who died in 1892. The property comprised a piece of land at the west corner of Maunakea and Hotel streets, with an area of 5,850 feet. The upset price was set at $6,000, and the proceeds of the sale were $6,025. Part of the land is leased to a Chinese for the term of eighteen years from March 1, 1887, at a monthly rental of $40. The balance is subject to a lease of twenty-five years to Y. Anin from June, 1886, at a rent of $50 a month.

Warned Against Lee.

There is a certain Chinese in the city who has it in for another of his race whose name is Lee. In order to get even with Lee he has addressed a circular letter to all and sundry warning them against him. The letter was written in Chinese and was sent through the mail. As the man did not designate his enemy any further than to call him Lee and there are several hundred Lees among the Chinese of the city, the letter failed of its purpose.

Arlington Sale Today.

Will E. Fisher has been giving bargains during this sale, and it is expected it will be completed today.

LIBERAL CONSTRUCTION OF HAWAIIAN BLUE LAWS

The blue law campaign may now be relaxed. It has caused much hostile feeling in the city and a petition is going the rounds against its further prosecution. Happily the attitude of the Attorney General's Department has been changed as may be seen by the following communication to the High Sheriff:

Territory of Hawaii,
Office of the Attorney-General,
Honolulu, H. I., Sept. 10th, 1900.

Mr. A. M. Brown,
High Sheriff of the Territory of Hawaii,
Honolulu, H. I.

Dear Sir: I desire to suggest that Section 322 of the Penal Laws was enacted in 1872 and appears to be inconsistent with Section 217 of the Penal Laws which was enacted in 1896. It seems to me, therefore, that victualling houses, restaurants and coffee shops should be allowed to keep open on Sundays after 7 o'clock in the evening, as well as before, for the service of meals.

The circumstance that on Sunday, September 9th, the United States Transport "Logan" arrived in Honolulu with about seventeen hundred men, and a rigid interpretation and enforcement of the Sunday law, brings up sharply the question of what is a fair construction of the law.

The section (317 Penal Laws) is as follows:

"All labor on Sundays is forbidden, excepting works of necessity or mercy, in which are included all labor that is needful for the good order, health, comfort or safety of the community, or for the protection of property from unforeseen disaster, or danger of destruction, or which may be required for the prosecution of or attendance upon religious worship, or for the furnishing of opportunities of reading or study. Provided, however, that on Sunday "fresh meat and fresh fish may be sold and delivered; that until 9 o'clock in the morning and after three o'clock in the afternoon milk may be delivered and cattle, sheep and swine may be slaughtered: that during the entire day meals may be sold to be eaten on the premises where sold or served elsewhere by caterers, drugs, medicines and surgical appliances may be sold, personal baggage may be conveyed to and from vessels leaving and arriving at port on that day, that steamers and public carriages, horse cars and licensed shore boats may convey passengers for hire, and that all labor which may be lawfully performed on Sunday shall be conducted, as far as possible, so as not to interfere with the right of the community and of each individual to quiet and repose."

In the United States, Sunday laws except from their operation works of necessity and mercy, and wherever they have failed to do so have been declared unconstitutional. Although the decisions are very conflicting as to what are works of necessity, the general trend of authority is toward a liberal construction. Running tram cars and railway trains, sending despatches by telegraph, repairing railways to prevent short delays, shoeing stage horses to prevent delays to the United States mail and running an ice factory that customers might have their daily supply of ice, are examples of what have been held to be works of necessity.

Our statute is peculiar in that it excepts not only works of necessity and mercy but also "all labor that is needful for the ——comfort—— of the community."

In a tropical seaport town, where large numbers of people are transient, seamen and sailors, going on shore temporarily from long voyages, I think that an opportunity to purchase harmless refreshment such as ice-cold soda and mineral waters, is "needful for their comfort." Under new and changing conditions, I think such an opportunity is also needful to a large part of our own people, and even those who have airy homes and ice chests cannot carry their ice chests with them when they take their Sunday drives.

Although there may not be an equal necessity for the sale of cigars on Sunday, as smokers can more easily provide them beforehand, so large a portion of the community smoke, and the comfort of being able to purchase cigars when wanted is so great, that I am inclined to think the sale might be permitted consistently with a reasonable construction of the statute.

The statute is certainly more liberal than the old Sunday laws of New England and evidently contemplates the comfort of the masses during their day of rest. It seems to me that it admits of a golden mean between the Puritan Sabbath of a century ago and such conditions as might interfere with religious worship and the rights of individuals to quiet and repose.

Very respectfully yours,
E. P. DOLE,
Attorney-General.

NEW YORK SOCIETY BEAUTY TO WED A SUGAR MERCHANT

MISS ELIZABETH KILSYTH LIVINGSTON.

Miss Elizabeth Kilsyth Livingston, of New York, is engaged to marry Charles James Welch, a wealthy sugar merchant of San Francisco.

She is a very beautiful woman, whose descent from one of the oldest families gives her a place in the best society.

She is a direct descendant of Robert Livingston, first lord of the Livingston manor.

She was a Baptist some years ago, then joined the Episcopal church, and early in 1899 she was admitted into the Roman Catholic faith. Others of her family had joined the same church before.

Miss Livingston will become a bride on or about October 21 in St. Patrick's cathedral, New York.

UNUSUALLY QUIET DAY IN THE COURTS

A Few Orders Issued and Appointments Made and That Was All.

Yesterday was the quietest day in courts for a month or more past. Although the August term is still running, having been extended for two weeks, the jurymen have been discharged and no trials of jury cases will be held until the November term.

Ira Eskew was yesterday appointed by Judge Humphreys administrator of the estate of Donald G. Campbell, alias James Osborne. The estate consists of lots at Waikiki valued at $750, land in Maywood Colony, Cal., worth $1000, and land at San Diego worth $250. The heirs are a brother and sister in England.

Henry Federhen has applied to the Circuit Court for release from guardianship. The sum of $541.69 is now in the hands of Henry Smith, the clerk of the Judiciary department, he states, and as he is of legal age he is entitled to the money.

W. O. Smith has been appointed administrator of the estate of Mrs. Louisa J. Bindt. The estate consists of $5000 in Kauai real estate and $399.45 in the Postal Bank. There are six heirs, Mrs. Bindt's husband, F. M. Bindt, and their five children.

Judge Humphreys yesterday heard arguments in a motion to reopen the case of the Il Estate vs. Mrs. A. H. B. Judd. The motion was granted.

W. H. Pain has applied to the Circuit Court for the quashing of the complaint recently filed in the assumpsit case of W. F. C. Hasson vs. the Palawai Development Association.

J. M. Peenahele was yesterday appointed guardian of Emalia Kenala, Kihelu Kenala, Kawekiu Kenala, Wm. M. Peenahele and Annie W. Peenahele.

For that tired feeling, brace up on Jesse Moore "AA" whiskey; it is the perfection of Kentucky distilling.

MAUI'S SOCIAL LIFE TO BE IMPROVED

Hawaiian Commercial Company's Club House—Yacht Club and Hotel

MAUI, Sept. 10.—A very interesting meeting has recently taken place at Kahului which bids fair to bring about a condition of things that will be of great public benefit to Central Maui.

In Wailuku, Kahului and Spreckelsville, social intercourse has, up to now, been almost nil. A condition of things has come to pass that may be summed up in three words—work, eat, sleep. This short sentence accurately describes the daily life of nearly all the employes of the various concerns doing business here, and these said employes, no less than their employers, have long felt that such a state of things was not ideal, nor likely to be beneficial to either party.

The directors of Hawaiian Commercial and Sugar Co. have built a splendid club house at their new mill-site, at Spreckelsville, and are doing a great deal to make it an attractive home, and they have also encouraged their Kahului employes to co-operate with them in effecting a great improvement in the social life at that busy little seaside town, for it is now rapidly being built up again. A meeting of young men from Wailuku and Kahului recently formed themselves into the Maui Yacht Club. A fine sea-going boat is being negotiated for in San Francisco, a new hotel is about to be built, a billiard table will be furnished, also a reading room, and much social enjoyment and friendly intercourse is being planned. Members are being enrolled from all over Central Maui, and it will shortly be impossible for men who have been living and working within a few miles of each other for years, to only know each other by hearsay. That is certainly the case at present, and the sooner such an anomalous state of affairs is ended the better for all concerned.

DEW POINT TO BLAME.

That is the Reason For the Heat.

PROFESSOR LYONS TALKS

A Scientific Analysis of Weather Conditions by the Leading Expert of Hawaii.

Professor Lyons says that the uncomfortable weather is due in great measure to the dewpoint.

For years we've been abusing
Our good old friend, the sun,
Because our poor anatomies
At times are over done;
But we owe him great apology
And how our heads in shame,
For now the savants tell us that
The dewpoint is to blame.

Oh, most pestiferous dewpoint!
Oh, dewpoint steeped in sin!
No more your crimes are hid from those
Your inconvenience took in;
If half the stories told of you
Were but one-quarter true,
'Tis very evident your end
Has long been overdue.

H. M. AYRES.

My! but yesterday was a hot one. For the past week the citizens of Honolulu have been congratulating themselves that the vagaries of the thermometer had come to an end for the season and lo and behold yesterday turned out to be a sweat provoker as bad or worse than any of its heated predecessors.

About 8 o'clock the unwonted "mugginess" of the atmosphere gave promise of a broiler, by 9 the business community had shed their coats and were pining for shirt waists. Long ere the noon hour struck all desire to do business had been sapped out of the army of busy looking clerks and prosperous looking merchants and they lolled limply against their edifices of business, too hot even to eat.

One, two and even three o'clock showed no let-up in the temperature and at last singly and in companies the workers of the city, despairing of relief, withdrew to cool haunts by the sea or to breezy hillside retreats, there to cool off contentedly from the baleful effects of the fag end of the hot spell.

Much good and enthusiastic lying marked the career of the quicksilver yesterday. Every one told his acquaintances how hot it was and the result was, to put it politely, an elegant difference of opinion. All kinds of figures were quoted from 87 in the shade to 112 on an exposed paving stone on Fort street. Anything less than 100 degrees was received with marked disapproval and the individuals on whom stories of such common torridity as 93, 94, 95 degrees and so on were unloaded showed unmistakable and emphatic signs of feeling aggrieved by reason of the modesty of their friend's meteorological estimate. They wanted it a hundred or nothing.

Professor Lyons, he who lets us into the secrets of the weather, laid all the blame onto the southerly wind and the much abused dewpoint. He explains that a southerly wind brings more moisture than the trade winds and that excessive humidity was the trouble yesterday. The maximum temperature yesterday was 85 degrees and the dewpoint registered 71.

Mr. Lyons predicts hot weather for the next day or so but partly atones for his sweltering prophecy by promising cool, sleep laden nights. He does not think that rain will fall immediately despite the general cloudiness.

COMPLICATED CASE OF ABDOMINAL TUMOUR.

A Portuguese lady from Maui had been suffering from pain in the right side of the abdomen for several months past and was diagnosed as pelvic tumour by Drs. Armitage and Bond of other islands. So she came down to this city and was operated by Dr. Mori, a prominent Japanese surgeon, on July 6th. The operation disclosed that the case was the haematosalpinx in considerable size, which was firmly adhesed to the appendix vermiformis and a part of the intestines. The operator experienced a hard task and a part of the intestines. The operator experienced a hard task to manage those intestinal adhesions and removed the large tumour at last. The patient recovered her health very rapidly and left here for her home in six weeks after the operation.

STARTING THE NEW STABLE'S BUILDING

Structure Will be Made of a Strong Concrete Mixture.

The Concrete Construction Company has the contract for the erection of the new Club Stables' office and carriage repository. Engineer Osborne is in charge of the work. On the grounds he has set up the mixing machinery for the concrete which was put into operation yesterday morning. The building will be two stories in height and constructed entirely of concrete. The foundations are being set and are nearly twenty inches in width. Coarse stone from the Pauoa quarries mixed with sand and cement form the basis for the foundation. When hardened and settled Engineer Osborne says it cannot be shaken and there will be no disintegrating.

The machinery consists of a gasoline engine and a huge cylindrical mixer, looking much like a cable drum. The cylinder is turned in one direction by the engine power upon a series of cogs. From a platform the coarse rock is dumped inside the cylinder with a proportion of cement into which water is poured. The cylinder is provided with inside rails and catch bars so that the mixing process is thorough. A proportion of sand makes the mixture complete. When ready a steel flange is raised inside acting as a dam and by this means it is carried up and into a receiver from whence it is taken by barrows to the foundation trenches.

The walls will be erected by means of wooden forms, the conerete being much finer than that used for foundations. A gang of Portuguese laborers were employed yesterday morning and commenced work on the coarse stone. Engineer Osborne is used to quick work and the machinery requires constant attendance from every workman so employed. About 9 o'clock Mr. Osborne discovered that no more wheelbarrows were being trundled to the platform of the mixer. An investigation showed that the laborers had thrown up their jobs. White men and Hawaiians were afterwards employed and worked satisfactorily.

Will Fisher Spoke.

By inadvertence the report of the Native Son's banquet omitted the toast to the Absent Friends responded to by Col. Will E. Fisher. Mr. Fisher's speech was short and to the point and concluded with an interesting story. It was one of the pleasant features of the evening.

When cold and damp after exposure to the elements, use promptly the famous old Jesse Moore Whiskey. Lovejoy & Co., distributors for the islands.

NO TRUTH IN STORY THAT VOLCANO HOUSE WILL CLOSE

The Volcano House is not to close despite Hilo reports that the management will cease to operate the resort for lack of patronage. E. C. Macfarlane, the treasurer of the company, is authority for the statement that the Volcano House will continue to receive guests and Manager Waldron will be on hand to entertain them. The directors have no idea of relinquishing their hold on the popular hotel and will instead make improvements increasing its facilities as well as looking after the transportation of tourists, and making the journey an easier one than heretofore.

Mr. Macfarlane denies the report in the Hilo papers which has been used here. "There is nothing in it whatever," said he to an Advertiser reporter yesterday. "We have no intention of discontinuing the hotel, and so far from there being a lack of patronage, guests are on the increase. It is true the plague epidemic temporarily curtailed the receipts, but that is past and we are now looking forward to an era of prosperity. The Hilo papers say that the affairs of the company are to go into liquidation. That is not true. I have been much annoyed that any such statement should have come out. On my recent visit to the Volcano House I decided to recommend to the directors that new features be added to the hotel which would make it much more pleasant as a family and tourist report."

When asked as to what the features were he said it was intended to extend the sulphur bath accommodations, increasing them materially by the addition of new bath rooms which are to be fitted up in an attractive manner. The railroad company will run as far as the 23-mile station when the road is completed up the volcano slopes, and this Mr. Macfarlane believes will be in eight or ten months. This will shorten the time by stage, leaving but eight miles to be covered between the station and hotel.

One of the most important improvements in connection with the travelling facilities is the contemplated establishment of an automobile service. The grades, says Mr. Macfarlane, are easy along the eight mile stretch. Mr. Macfarlane is strongly in favor of using this mode of transportation in preference to any other. This would admit of travellers being taken to and from the trains several times a day, and with the railroad service would entirely obviate the inconvenience of stage travelling—a distance of twenty-two miles.

The Honolulu automobile company has been approached upon the subject and arrangements may be concluded to establish a line of their autos.

Another proposition which Mr. Macfarlane has in hand is an alternative route to the Volcano House. This is by way of Kawaihae and Waimea over the mountains. He says the scenery is much more attractive by land than by sea and this would cut out the rough steamer travelling from Kawaihae to Hilo via Laupahoehoe which is the most disagreeable feature in connection with the sea trip between Honolulu and the Rainy City. The trip overland from Kawaihae shows by far the most beautiful of all the scenery on the island of Hawaii, excelling even the scenery along the Volcano road.

"Unquestionably," continued Mr. Macfarlane, "this will in time be the favorite route for reaching the volcano, providing the transportation and hotel service can be kept up to the standard required by modern travel. During the present summer months the hotel has been well filled with guests, principally of Honolulu and island families in general." These improvements and suggestions will be laid before the directors and stockholders soon.

The appropriation for the Kawaihae and Waimea road made by the last legislature was not half sufficient to put the road in shape. With that road completed and with one or two changes in the grade between Waimea and Kukuihaele, it would be perfect all the way over until it joined with the Volcano road for Hilo. An automobile coach will run about twenty miles an hour on this road, asserts Mr. Macfarlane. There is in contemplation the building of a comfortable little hotel at Waimea which if carried through, will enable this proposition to be taken up in earnest. The climate on the Waimea side is cool and salubrious and would make a restful trip to the Volcano after the tedious sea trip.

The general character of the Kawaihae-Waimea roads is perfect with the exception of a rough grade near Kukuihaele. With these put in proper shape the proposition is perfectly feasible for automobiles.

It is the intention of Mr. Macfarlane to lay considerable stress upon this automobile road proposition from the windward side of the island to the Volcano house.

Letters of Acknowledgment From Missionaries in Yokohama and Kobe.

For the destitute missionaries and Chinese refugees from China, there was raised here early in August $547 which was sent to Japan. One draft for 591.04 yen was sent to Adaline D. H. Kelsey, M. D., Yokohama, and another draft for 497.51 yen to Miss Julia A. E. Gulick, Kobe. Letters of acknowledgment from both of these came by the last Oriental mail; the one fro mDr. Kelsey is published herewith.

Other contributions came in to the amount of $216.66 and Aug. 20 another draft for 431.14 yen was sent to Miss Gulick. Since then a contribution has come to hand from the Makawao Foreign church of Maui amounting to $137.50, and by the next mail to Japan a draft for 275 yen will be sent to Dr. Kelsey of Yokohama. Any more collections for this object may be sent to W. W. Hall or T. G. Thrum, and they will be forwarded to Japan.

The following letter of acknowledgment came from Dr. Kelsey:

48B Bluff, Yokohama, Japan,
August 18th, 1900.

Mr. Wm. W. Hall.

Dear Friend: In behalf of the missionaries and other refugees, some of whom are Chinese, I wish to express most heartfelt thanks to you and all other friends in Honolulu who have so kindly and so generously sent aid to relieve their immediate needs. I am too late to catch the return steamer which grieves me much as I wanted to tell you at once of the great good your money is doing. The delay was caused by some very ill refugees coming who demanded all my time and strength just at the time your letter with the much needed help came. The ill ones are now convalescent. As soon as I can gain a little time from these pressing duties I have a plan to write out for the friends who have helped the marvelous stories of miraculous escapes that have been told to me by the refugees, who have been helped by your generosity. It has been a blessed satisfaction to help these sufferers and so to minister to Christ. With gratitude too deep for words believe me.

Yours most gratefully,
ADALINE D. H. KELSEY.

SPECIAL TERM, JULY, 1900.

THE TERRITORY OF HAWAII v. LO KAM.

SUBMITTED JULY 14, 1900. DECIDED SEPTEMBER 6, 1900.

FREAR, C.J., GALBRAITH, J., AND J. A. MAGOON, ESQ., OF THE BAR, IN PLACE OF PERRY, J., ABSENT.

(1) "Without lawful excuse," in section 370, Penal Laws, 1897, means without lawful authority or a reasonable belief in lawful authority.
(2) One who goes upon the premises of another, by night, for a lawful purpose, and on the invitation of one rightfully occupying the premises, without the knowledge or consent of the owner, remains over night, is not there "without lawful excuse."

OPINION OF THE COURT BY GALBRAITH., J.

The defendant was charged with "the offense of violating Section 370, of the Penal Laws, 1897, in Honolulu, Island of Oahu, January 25th, 1900, by being found on the premises of one C. Bolte, by night, without lawful excuse," and after trial, was found guilty.

He excepted to the charge of the Circuit Judge to the Jury, also to the order overruling his motion for a new trial.

Section 370 of the Penal Laws, 1897, under which the prosecution was brought, reads as follows:

"Any common prostitute, or any person who is lewd, wanton or lascivious in speech or behavior, or any person who has no visible lawful means or insufficient means of support, or who wanders abroad or places himself in any public place to beg alms, or causes any child so to do; or who solicits or collects alms or contributions under any false pretense; or who practices hoopiopio, hoounaua, hoomanamania, anaana or pretends to have the power of praying persons to death; or who pretends to tell fortunes for money or other reward, or who has in his possession without lawful excuse (the proof of which excuse shall be upon such person) any false or skeleton key or any implement of house-breaking; or who is found by night dressed or disguised with a felonious intent; or who is found by night without lawful excuse (the proof of which excuse shall be upon such person), in or upon any dwelling-house or other buildings or any enclosed yard, or on board any vessel, or who is a dangerous or disorderly person by reason of his being a rioter, disturber of the peace, going offensively armed, uttering menaces or threatening speeches, or otherwise shall be punished by imprisonment at hard labor not more than six months."

While there is some conflict in the evidence, the testimony tends to support the following state of facts: That Mr. C. Bolte, a resident of Judd street, Honolulu, had a number of Asiatic servants in his employ; that these, together with a Chinese fisherman, with the consent and knowledge of Mr. Bolte, occupied a building on the premises as "servants' quarters"; that the defendant on January 25th, A. D., 1900, without the permission of Mr. Bolte, called at the servants' quarters at 7 or 8 o'clock in the evening for the purpose of collecting $100 due him from one of the occupants, the Chinese fisherman, who was also the defendant's partner in some business enterprise; that the money was collected and defendant lingered to talk over business and social matters until about 9:30 o'clock; that the defendant was then afraid of being robbed if he returned to his own home, and, on the invitation of one of the occupants of the "tenants' quarters," stayed over night and on the following morning returned to his own house, and was afterward arrested for violating the above statute.

The charge of the Circuit Judge, excepted to by the defendant was as follows, to-wit:

"Mr. Chillingworth's argument has clearly shown what was apparent before, that the issue in this case is largely one of law.

"There is very little that is to be determined by you. The section of the law which applies was correctly read by one of counsel in this case. What is or is not a lawful excuse is for the Court to determine. That is a matter of law.

"The granting of the permission by the Chinaman to defendant to sleep on the premises without Mr. Bolte's permission, the said Chinaman himself having no authority to give such permission to the defendant, would not constitute a lawful excuse under the circumstances of this case: Moreover, at that time it is a fact that there was a Board of Health regulation in existence having the force of law, forbidding any person changing his place of abode without a permit, so that the defendant at the time in sleeping on the premises was in fact engaged in a violation of the law.

"The excuse that he offers then is not a sufficient excuse under the law and the only question of fact for you to determine upon the evidence is, whether it has been shown to your satisfaction that the defendant did sleep on those premises that night.

"If you believe from the evidence of the witnesses for the prosecution that he did, or, if you believe the defendant's own admission that he did, then you must find him guilty. The only theory upon which you can acquit him is that you disbelieve the evidence entirely."

While it is apparent from a reading of Section 370, under which the charge is laid, that this Statute was enacted to cover a "multitude of sins," or offenses, that by it the Legislature intended to remedy many wrongs, it does not appear, nor do we think, it was intended, by this section to declare a simple trespass to be an offense and punishable as a misdemeanor.

"Excuse," said Willes, J., "is either an authority or a reasonable belief in authority." The Queen v. Harvey. Crown Cases Reserved. Vol. 1, p. 286.

Under this definition the phrase "without lawful excuse," as used in section 370, would mean without lawful authority or reasonable belief in lawful authority. If the defendant had lawful authority or a reasonable belief in lawful authority for being on the premises at the time alleged and had either lawful authority or a reasonable belief in lawful authority for remaining there over night, he is not guilty of the offense charged.

The defendant went upon the premises, as shown by the evidence, for a perfectly lawful purpose. He had a right to call upon his debtor for payment of money due, and by night, if necessary. Then having gone upon the premises for a lawful purpose he was not there "without lawful excuse" and being rightfully on the premises, had he not lawful authority or a reasonable belief in lawful authority for remaining there over night on the invitation of one who was a rightful occupant of the house?

We think he had and that the Circuit Judge erred in holding and instructing the Jury otherwise.

The defendant was not charged with violating a regulation of the Board of Health. Nor does the record disclose whether or not he held a permit from the health authorities, permitting him to change "his place of abode." That part of the instructions relative to the regulation of the Board of Health does not seem to be pertinent to any issue in the case and we think it should have been omitted.

The exceptions are sustained and a new trial ordered.

Mr. Lorrin Andrews for the Territory.

Mr. Sam'l. Chillingworth for defendant.

Three big sailing vessels left Honolulu yesterday. The British ship Dechmont, Captain Alston, which arrived from Newcastle with coal on August 10th, sailed for Puget Sound in ballast. The American bark St. Katherine, Captain Saunders, which arrived on July 12th from San Francisco with a general cargo got away for that port, and the British ship Carnedd Llewellyn, Captain Griffiths, sailed for Seattle with cement brought from Hamburg. The Carnedd Llewellyn arrived here on August 23rd.

Captain Griffiths went away with all of the men with which he came here except three, two having deserted and one being paid over on account of disability through sickness. Notwithstanding the threat of the crew that they would not take the Llewellyn to sea, the vessel got away without any trouble.

The diver is at work upon the bottom of the British bark Dunreggan which is lying in the stream. Herbert Young is making the repairs necessary before she can resume her voyage to Seattle. There are about twenty rivets in one or two of the big steel plates on the starboard side of her keel, forward, which are being replaced. When the vessel arrives on the Coast she will have to go on the dry dock and have these plates bodily removed and re-rolled to get rid of the dents received off Diamond Head by the pounding on the reef. This will cost a considerable sum, something in the neighborhood of $15,000 or $20,000.

The American ships Florence and J. B. Brown, the British ship Kilmory and American ship Standard are at the railway wharf. The J. B. Brown, Kilmory and Florence will sail during the next few days.

Steamers Kinau for Hilo, Claudine for Maui ports, W. G. Hall for Kauai ports, and Lehua for Molokai, sailed from Honolulu yesterday.

The Mauna Loa, Captain Simerson, arrived from Maui and Hawaii ports yesterday with 9,623 bags of sugar, 28 bags of coffee, 31 kegs of butter, 55 bunches of bananas, 11 cases of tobacco, a horse, a donkey, 3,440 feet of Koa wood, and 211 packages of sundries. Among the passengers aboard were: C. McWayne, Dr. C. B. Wood, J. Coerper, J. T. Taylor, G. K. Wilder, W. E. Rowell, J. Greenwell, R. McWayne, J. A. McCandless, Capt. Thompson and wife, J. Cornwell and wife, W. H. Cornwell, W. D. Baldwin, Capt. Lorenzen, Geo. Dunn, Rev. J. J. Makaio and Rev. J. Kekipi.

Purser Tuft's report is as follows: We left 1,254 bags of sugar at Punaluu and 1,620 at Honuapo; also, 624 at Honuapo mill. Fine weather all the trip. No rain at Kau. Rain every afternoon at Kona. The Noeau expected to leave Hamakua at 4 p. m. Monday, September 10. She leaves 6,000 bags at H. S. Co. and 2,500 at P. S. M. Good weather and no rain. The Upolu left Kailua Sunday morning for Kawaihae with Republican electioneers. The Eclipse was at Kailua loading lumber for one of the other Kona ports. The schooner Jessie Minor has discharged her cargo of lumber at Kailua and will leave for the Sound Tuesday morning, September 11.

Some of those who left yesterday on the Kinau for Hilo and way ports were: Miss Massey, J. F. Woods, J. C. Cohen, Mrs. Robert Laing, E. Avery, H. Wise, W. A. Fetter, Father Matthias, Rev. O. H. Gulick, Mrs. G. F. Maydwell, Rev. O. P. Emerson, W. E. Sharp, R. L. Colburn, G. E. Thrum, H. S. Pratt, E. K. Wood, J. C. Baird and William Macdonald.

Steamers Ke Au Hou for Kilauea, and Niihau for Honuapo and Punaluu, sail today.

The Mariposa from San Francisco for Sydney, and the China from San Francisco for the Orient, are both due to arrive today.

Transport Logan sails for Manila today via Guam.

The schooner Robert R. Hind from Hilo, arrived in San Francisco on August 3d.

Schooner Annie M. Campbell sailed from Port Townsend for Honolulu on August 31st.

Capt. William Weir, of the Claudine, while superintending the loading of a 22-ton dump car on that vessel at the Wilder wharf yesterday afternoon, was partially caught between the car and the bulwarks. His left wrist was broken and the arm badly cut.

Birkin, the first officer of the schooner Enterprise, yesterday morning swore out a warrant in the United States Marshal's office for the arrest of Captain Frietsch, of that vessel, for assault and battery. The mate was beaten on the deck of the Enterprise not far from Honolulu, sued for $2,000, won the suit, and got $150, and now, feeling that his wounds are not sufficiently healed, he brings the other charge. G. D. Gear is his attorney.

A THRILLING TRIP.

TACOMA, Wash., August 31.—The two-masted schooner Alice, owned and manned by Captain Walter S. Milnor, which sailed for Nome in June, arrived at the northen port, according to advices on the Senator, after one of the most thrilling trips in northern waters on record.

After passing through Unimak Pass and within practically a few days' sail of her journey's end, she encountered a storm so fierce, according to the passengers, that pen can hardly describe it. Day after day they swept on, clear up past the St. Lawrence Islands, through Bering strait and up fully 100 miles north of Cape Lisburn. During the frightful trip the little schooner, with its freight and passengers traversed a distance almost equal to the long trip from this city to Unalaska.

That they were not wrecked is a miracle; they fully expected every moment to be their last, and through all the terrible trip, passengers say, Captain Milnor acted the part of a hero. Tied to the stanchion which supports the wheel ropes, he held the wheel and skilfully manipulated the little vessel. For twenty hours at a stretch during the worst of the gale, he remained at his post, drenched and nearly frozen by the wash of waters which covered the boat. The wind cut the flesh like a knife, but never once did the brave captain or men falter. The only four men aboard the schooner who were capable of taking the wheel during that distressing time were exhausted until they almost dropped on the decks when the storm at last abated.

The schooner reached Nome August 19th, and before the passengers or crew landed a thanksgiving service was held in the cabin, in which everybody joined with a full heart.

With the Change in Tariff

Comes a sweeping reduction in the price of all goods of American manufacture.

We have cut on every piece of jewelry and silverware in the house, and you will be surprised at the great difference from former prices. No fear of comparisons here, where quality and pattern are considerations.

What do you think of full-sized solid silver teaspoons being reduced to $8.00 a dozen, with engraving thrown in, and all articles of silverware reduced in like proportion.

These are by no means catch prices, but regular prices which will prevail here from now on, on all the different lines of goods from the States.

While reducing all our American goods we have not changed the prices on any of our European potteries, glass and chinaware, and although the present cost is forty per cent more than formerly, while out present very large stock lasts we will sell at the old rates. This is a very large saving to you, and we recommend that you make your purchases from these lines now, before an advance becomes necessary.

THE VACANT JUDGESHIP

The Still Hunt for Geo. Gear.

THE CAT OUT OF THE BAG

The Put Up Job to Prevent a Popular Choice for Circuit Judge.

There is general indignation among lawyers who are not pledged in advance to support ring nominations at the attempt of Judges Humphreys and Silliman to steal a march on the bar and the public in the matter of a successor to Silliman. Acting purely in the interests of the ring, with which he has been coquetting from the start, Silliman resigned on the quiet and joined Judge Humphreys in the recommendation of George D. Gear. Humphreys owes Gear for going to Washington and working, through the late Senator Gear of Iowa, to get the Arizonan a judgeship and he also wants to atone for the attack made on Gear by the Republican in connection with the ownership of Iwilei "boarding houses." So he put up the job to railroad Gear into a judgeship—for which no lawyer could be less fitted—and Me Too Silliman of course voted aye. The people, for reasons which are self-evident, were given no inkling of the resignation until it, with the accompanying letter recommending Gear, was either at Washington or well on the way there.

The Star interviewed Humphreys, Silliman and Gear yesterday as follows. The interviews show clearly enough, between the lines, what the ring scheme is:

Judge A. S. Humphreys was seen this morning and asked if it was a fact that Judge Silliman had resigned some days ago in place of yesterday. He replied: "My letter endorsing George D. Gear for the office of Second District Judge reached Washington today, and it is six days before the next mail. That is all I have to say."

Judge Silliman says: "My resignation was dropped in the post office a week ago today, just before I left for Hilo."

George D. Gear says: "My name went to Washington endorsed by prominent attorneys of Honolulu, in addition to the Judges of the Circuit Court."

Following the interview the Star made this appropriate comment:

It is a matter of surprise that either Judge Humphreys or Judge Silliman should have lent themselves to what must be looked upon as snap judgment in the matter of a successor to Judge Silliman. Judge Humphreys says without equivocation that he sent his endorsement of a successor to Judge Silliman simultaneously or practically so, with the sending of the resignation that made a successor necessary, and practically two weeks before any other recommendation or application could be made. Judge Silliman lent himself to the scheme by withholding the fact of his resignation so that the two weeks advantage could be given to a particular candidate. The question is not of the worth or fitness of the candidate endorsed. It is the manner of the whole scheme. Judge Silliman has no more interest in having an able man on the bench than the rest of the community has. Their zeal in this matter must therefore be taken as the result of personal interest. There is no reason why they should not have a preference in the matter. But the ordinary spirit of fair play would prevent them taking advantage of their judicial positions to further their personal preferences in a public matter as against the whole community. In party politics such clandestine advantage might not so strongly provoke protest, but this is not a matter of party politics, unless Judge Humphreys is striving to create a personal party. It is certainly not in consonance with public ideas of judicial demeanor. And Judge Humphreys himself, at the Republican convention in May last, publicly rebuked Judge Smith of Hilo for appearing in a party convention. But here he is practicing doubtful political methods from the bench, and able to apply them because he is on the bench. "Doubtful political methods," is said advisedly, because when Senator Clark of Montana secretly sent his resignation to the lieutenant governor of his state for the express purpose of forestalling the appointment of his successor, his action was all but universally reprobated. But where is the difference between the action of Senator Clark and that of Judges Silliman and Humphreys? except that Clark was engaged in a purely political game, openly fighting open enemies, while the judges are covertly taking advantage of their judicial position as against a community not aware that they are engaged in political scheming.

NEW RAILWAY FOR HAWAII.

Plans For a Road To Run Along Leeward Coast.

Reports from Hawaii say that a railroad is projected from Kau to Kohala all along the leeward side of the island.

The plans of the promoters include a road to start at Pahala, in Kau, and run through Kau and South Kona to Kealakekua Bay, and thence through North Kona and South Kohala to Waimea, there to join the proposed Hilo-Waimea road.

This route would cover a very fertile and populous portion of Hawaii and would give a direct outlet to the sea to many plantations to reach which is a matter of difficulty at the present time. The road into Kau from Kona would be an expensive one to build, but it ought to prove profitable when constructed. There are many small farmers in the Konas to whom the road would be a great benefit.

It is stated that the road has already passed the preliminary stages of projection and that a survey will probably be made for it within a short time.

COMING EVENT.

We are to have the pleasure of hearing Mrs. Annis Montague Turner and Miss Carrie Castle in Mr. Paul Egry's concert on the 26th day of September at the Opera House, as well as Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Mott-Smith. It will certainly be a pleasure to hear Mrs. Turner in concert in a house adequate to bring out the excellence of her singing.

TICKET OF WILCOX MEN

Named For Several of The Islands.

WILCOX FOR DELEGATE

No Haoles on the Ticket So Far But Some May be Named.

George Markham states that the Independent party has selected the following legislative and congressional ticket for Hawaii, Maui, Molokai, Lanai, Kahoolawe and Kauai. The Oahu ticket will not be completed until October.

First District, Puna, Hilo, Hamakua.—Senators.—Henry West, J. Brown. Representatives.—W. B. Nailima, R. M. Makekau, J. Ewalike, S. H. Haaheo.

Second District, Kau, Kona.—Senators.—J. B. Kaohi, C. Kalaike. Representatives.—J. K. Kekaula, C. G. Nahope, J. K. Keawehawaii, H. C. M. Kaniho.

Maui, Molokai, Lanai and Kahoolawe.—Senators.—Ben Lyons, William White, S. E. Kaalue. Representatives.—C. B. Cockett, J. K. Hihio, G. P. Kauimakaole, S. Kawaihoa, J. Kamakele, D. B. Eldridge.

Kauai.—Senators.—L. Nakapaahu, S. H. Kahilina. Representatives.—J. A. Akina, J. K. Kaauwai, J. B. K. Leleiwi, R. Puuiki.

Delegate to Congress.—R. W. Wilcox.

The tickets were made up at conventions held on each island and the news was brought here yesterday by D. Kalauokalani who arrived on the Mauna Loa. Every name is that of a native Hawaiian either of full blood or half-caste. Mr. Markham says, regarding the exclusion of whites, that there is no personal animosity but for the interest of all citizens of the Territory of Hawaii and to promote the welfare of the islands it was thought best to take the course that was pursued. "The objection to the whites," says Mr. Markham, "is that they have violated our confidence in the past. However we intend to nominate some of our white friends in Oahu."

"Who may they be?" was asked.

"We are not ready to say," was the reply.

"Do you expect to name Joseph O. Carter and S. M. Damon?"

"I cannot give a definite answer as to that."

"Have they been considered at all?"

"No, they have not."

"What is the idea of naming some white men here and none elsewhere?"

"The whites here," said Mr. Markham, "are men in whom we have more confidence. We in Honolulu don't know much about the white men of the other islands; but we know our neighbors here and can size them up. We want men who have the aloha of the Hawaiian people.

"Our intentions are to promote the welfare of all business classes, that capital and labor may work in harmony. We want to strike off all these old blue laws; we will object to confirming all the Governor's appointments; we want for the Hawaiians an equal show in the offices; we want municipal government for Honolulu, Hilo and Kahului; we favor an eight-hour law in Government service; we also oppose Asiatic labor and the employment of any one in public office who is not a citizen of Hawaii.

"Robert Wilcox is our choice for Congress," continued Mr. Markham. "We expect him to carry out the program we have outlined and work for the good of the Islands, though any measures introduced by him should first receive the affirmative action of the local Legislature. Upon the question of restoration Mr. Wilcox has no hopes and he believes that annexation is an accomplished fact. The Queen has no hopes of a return to the throne."

"Does she sympathize with the Independent party?"

"No, she is out of politics altogether."

PEACE REIGNED LAST EVENING

Transport Soldiers Looked After by Provost Guard---Apologized to Deputy Sheriff---Quiet at Midnight.

Peace reigned on the streets last night. The transport soldiers who had shore liberty were chary of it, and made no demonstrations which needed police action. During the evening several hundreds of the "blue shirts" attended the band concert at Emma Square, and afterwards either went direct to the Logan, or fell into the grasp of the provost guard sent out to round them up.

Down town order was preserved by the pressure of armed squads of the provost guard force. They stood in groups in the vicinity of saloon entrances, and at the least disturbance made either inside or outside the saloons, the non-commissioned officer in charge placed the offender under guard and sent him to the transport.

One or two fights occurred at the corner of King and Nuuanu streets, which were promptly quelled. Deputy Sheriff Chillingworth, Captain Fox and all the patrolmen available, were constantly on the gallop on their mounts and were able to maintain order.

Many of the "boys" who participated in the trouble originated Monday night by the negro players at the Orpheum, came to the Deputy Sheriff yesterday and apologized for what had occurred, and in many ways have shown their friendship for the police. Many of them, says the Deputy Sheriff, complimented him for the manner in which the police had endeavored to maintain peace during the trouble, and for the leniency manifested.

By 11:30 o'clock last night the provost guard had most of the soldiers aboard. Few will be allowed ashore again, as the officer hopes to get away by noon today.

PROFESSOR SCOTT TALKS

Interesting Discussion of Educational Matters by the Head of the High School.

Prof. M. M. Scott, of the High School, spoke most interestingly yesterday regarding the difficulties encountered by the teachers here in handling this "Babel of tongues," and the practical obstacles in the way of reaching any standard. "Personally," said Professor Scott, "I am astonished they do so well. Teachers in the States never have to handle such raw material, but, from long and patient labor in this particular field, our teachers have actually reduced this condition of things and brought it down to a minimum. In this respect, they are better able to grapple with the subject today than would be a fresh teacher in the field, unaware of the peculiarities of each and every nationality in our schools. The Hawaiian, as you know, has but twelve sounds in his language. When the first missionaries transmitted, or gave them letters, he took the vowel sounds. There are few consonants in their language, making it a complete phonetic mystery. It is like a gathering of the waters. In fact it is not in accord with any other known language; it is not cognate.

"Now, here we can see some of the difficulties teachers in our schools have to contend with; because, practically, a language of a whole people has had to be changed—peacefully, it is true, for they recognize the fact, as do we, that the change will be the better for their children and their children's children. The difficulty that confronts these children is this: Having to learn a language before they can be instructed to any extent in that language. Right here, in the High School, we find that state of affairs constantly. We have to really prepare them, even when they come from other schools. Of course we have a department for that very purpose. Each year, however, conditions are growing better, and in a few years this state of affairs will be a thing of the past.

"Personally, I feel a regret to see the language of a people dying out. It foreshadows the decadence of the race. It becomes degraded and the language goes down and is finally relegated to the antiquarian and the philologist to study. The Hawaiians are a noble people and I find something pathetic about it. The Hawaiian having but twelve sounds—and of course every sound pronounced has a muscle sound, it takes him a long while to acquire our many consonants; especially the 'gh' and the 'th.' Voltaire made fun of the English for their manner of 'cutting their words in two,' but the Frenchman who has an 'h' in his language has let it become a fossil and he leaps right over it.

"As the Chinese have no 'r' in their language they substitute an 'l;' as, for instance in the word 'rice,' which they pronounce 'lice.' It is not so singular either. The Japanese have no 'l,' so they use the 'r' in its place. Then the Portuguese have peculiarities equally marked; making it very difficult for the teacher new to our polyglot race to make any headway until she has become accustomed to all these oddities of tongue—for dialects they are not.

"Simplicity forms the key-note of the Hawaiian character, and as a race they are most lovable. Voltaire says, 'the alphabet was the origin of all man's knowledge, and of all his errors,' but the system in vogue on our Islands will ultimately merge into one the different factions, or elements, resulting from the mixture of races and produce from the conglomerate mass a perfect unity or whole."

DR. NOBLITT ASKS FOR A LICENSE

Applies for Writ of Mandamus To Compel Its Issuance.

Dr. Noblitt, whose license to practice medicine was taken away over a year ago, and who has been before the public since that time by reason of prosecutions for practicing without a license, applied yesterday to the Circuit Court for a writ of mandamus to compel Treasurer Lansing to let him return to the fold.

In his petition Dr. Noblitt states that he was deprived of his license last year and that although he has made several applications for a reissuance of it, they have been denied. He alleges that he is wrongfully deprived of the right to carry on his profession and earn a livelihood.

The petition was presented to Judge Humphreys late in the afternoon, and he issued an order directing Treasurer Lansing to show cause within five days why the license should not be issued.

Dr. Noblitt's case has attracted more or less attention for a long time. A year or more ago a fakir came to the city to sell patent medicines, and Dr. Noblitt associated himself with him. The man used to hold street corner meetings with concerts and other accompanying features, and his transactions created something of a stir about the city. For joining fortunes with this man Dr. Noblitt's license was taken from him by the Board of Medical Examiners. Throughout the past year he has continued to practice medicine just as hitherto, and he was arrested for so doing and his case is still pending in the Circuit Court. Recently he appeared before the Board of Health to secure a reissuance of his license, and still more recently a petition was presented to Treasurer Lansing signed by upwards of a hundred of his friends. His efforts have been unavailing so far, and he has taken this latest method to secure attention to his requests.

As a pure and wholesome stimulant for medicinal or family use nothing equals the famous old Jesse Moore "A A" Whiskey. All wise drinkers call for it.

GOES ON TRANSPORT.

Honolulu Y. M. C. A. Sends Out a Religious Worker.

The Honolulu Young Men's Christian Association took action yesterday in sending a representative of the organization on the transport Logan to Manila to do Christian work among the soldiers during the voyage. Secretary H. E. Coleman was to be the chosen worker, but the Board of Directors which met at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock decided that he could not be spared owing to the early formation of the fall educational and gymnastic classes.

The authority to send some one on the transport, however, was delegated to Secretary Coleman, and last evening the Rev. A. E. Cory, the evangelist who has been here for several months, was selected. He at once acquiesced and immediately made preparations for his departure.

Evangelist Cory is a well known worker in church circles and has conducted evangelistic services at the Y. M. C. A. He is a splendid worker among men and there is expressed in Y. M. C. A. circles a feeling that his labors on the transport will be well done. One of the regiments left its Chaplain sick in Cuba, and a great many of the soldiers are anxious for religious services. So much work has been done since Sunday among the soldiers that the question came up why could not the local Y. M. C. A. send a man on the transport to Manila, to return via Nagasaki by mail steamer, or by transport to San Francisco and thence back to Honolulu? A letter from Captain Slaker of the Quartermaster's Department to the Transport quartermaster asking for accommodations was courteously acceded to, and a berth in a room occupied by two surgeons was allotted the Y. M. C. A. representative.

The question of cost is not a perplexing one. It is supposed that $200 will cover all Mr. Cory's expenditures, consisting of daily mess at $1 a day on board, and mail steamer expenses. One hundred dollars was subscribed yesterday by two gentlemen and Secretary Coleman anticipates no difficulty in raising whatever balance is needed. Col. Harback said he was glad to have the Y. M. C. A. man aboard to look after the spiritual wants of his soldiers. Plenty of reading and writing material will be taken on, with song and prayer books. Mr. Cory will communicate with the eight army Y. M. C. A. secretaries in Manila and secure his return transportation.

THERE'S ONLY ONE BAND.

The One That Gets Leis by the Wagon-load.

Berger's band made happy a big crowd of Honolulans and soldiers from the transport Logan last night at Thomas Square. The crowds which turn out to receive benefits from the famous band are constantly increasing in size, which goes to show that the more music people get, the more they want.

Yesterday morning the unapproachable brass-blowers and string-scrapers and reed-whistlers, together with the band's singing girls assembled aboard the transport Logan. The boys aboard thought of happy homes behind and great things to come when Berger waved the baton to some inspiring strain. When he pressed the rag-time button they were all troubled with an itchiness of the feet. The commander of the transport didn't do a thing to the Kappelmeister and his boys. He simply ordered an express wagon full of leis and decked the musicians out in style. It is whispered that he also served them "lemonade."

Dance on the Logan.

Officers on board the transport Logan gave a pleasant little party last evening to a number of Honolulu society people. There was dancing on deck to the music of the Second Infantry band and music later by the Quintette club. Refreshments were served in the saloon and the party remained on board until a late hour. The hosts of the evening were: Col. Dufriese, Major Reynolds, Captain Buffin, Lieut. Townsend, Lieut. Martin, Lieut. Downs. The guests were: Mrs. Sarah Angus, Mrs. Hutchinson, Miss Bard of California, Miss Craig, the Misses Afong, the Misses Angus, Miss Grace, Messrs. C. E. Jacox and Fred Angus.

ALSEN PORTLAND CEMENT

WE HAVE JUST RECEIVED a large shipment of this celebrated Cement, which is the STRONGEST AND MOST SERVICEABLE CEMENT MADE, and will permit the admixture of a larger amount of sand gravel, with less loss of strength, than any other brand; it is therefore the most economical.

ALSEN has no equal in color, fineness and sand carrying capacity. It weighs less per bushel, measuring about 10 per cent more cement to a barrel than other brands, which very materially reduces its cost as compared with other cements, is therefore an economical cement to use, and specially adapted for fine concrete work.

The following tests, made in actual work by Col. D. C. Houston, Corps of Engineers, U. S. A., at the sea wall around Governor's Island, New York Harbor, has never been equalled by other cement. It is as follows: Tensile strength per square inch—One day, 384 pounds; seven days, 600 pounds; thirty days, 818 pounds.

For sidewalks it gives the best color and the most endurable wearing surface.

A few of the large contracts in which Alsen Cement was used: Cable R. R., Baltimore, 35,000 barrels; Quebec Harbor Improvement, 40,000 barrels; Northern Pacific R. R. Bridges, 20,000 barrels.
