TEACHERS TALK OVER TEMPERANCE

Doctors Discuss the Hygienic Points.

Methods of Teaching the Science of Health.

Many Short Talks All Showing Great Interest in Ways of Reaching Children.

Temperance was the topic of the Territorial Teachers' Association at the meeting at the High School last evening. There were other topics in the line of hygiene, but just the same the meeting may well be considered a temperance meeting as that subject was uppermost in the minds of the speakers most of the time.

The evening was relieved by the singing of the High School pupils who opened the program, interspersed songs and closed the very enjoyable meeting with a vesper. There was a good attendance of the teachers of the entire city. The next meeting will be held July 10th, that being the annual meeting.

Dr. E. C. Waterhouse had for his subject antiseptics and antidotes for poisons. He took up the first branch and considered it first as to antiseptics, laying stress upon the necessity for cleanliness as a first consideration, explaining the methods of sterilizing instruments and the operator's hands.

As to dressings for wounds the speaker told of the dry and wet antiseptics, naming the most commonly used and telling of proportions. Another use of antiseptics was described as for fumigation, the use of fumes of sulphur and formaldehyde being advocated with the further advice that all clothing that may have come in contact with a patient should be boiled. Sunshine was described as the best antiseptic. As to tuberculosis Dr. Waterhouse impressed the necessity for disposing of sputum and as to typhoid fever he remarked that if everyone should drink boiled water typhoid would disappear.

Treating antidotes for poisons Dr. Waterhouse urged first the cleansing of the stomach, the keeping warm of the patient, the use of stimulants like strychnia and ammonia, and the administering of white of eggs. A number of special antidotes for special poisons were enumerated and methods of treatment explained.

Miss Emogene Hart, of Punahou Preparatory, discussed emergency cases. She began with the suggestion that experience was the best teacher and that there should be imaginary cases so that the pupils will be thus more perfectly prepared. Instructions for reviving persons suffocated, by drowning were given. Bandages were explained, the value of the triangular bandage as tourniquet and sling was gone over and a patient used in explanation. The danger of removing a patient with a broken limb was discussed and the necessity for various forms of temporary splints and litters was outlined.

Dr. Albert B. Clark talked of the care of children's teeth. In some cities of Europe he said a dentist was employed to look after the teeth of the school children, but in America this is being overlooked. He said that the mouths of children should be carefully watched so as to see that the second set are regular and are kept beautiful.

As to the necessity for preserving the teeth Dr. Clark said that cleanliness was the first consideration, as the harm to teeth came from bacteria, which could not work except they are given a lodgment, for they can make no progress on a clean, smooth surface. Tooth ache was described as of two kinds, both of sufficient importance to call for immediate remedies, which were hinted at in many varieties. Dr. Clark closing with the expression of trust that the teachers would do all in their power to protect the teeth of the children as conducive to their best health.

Dr. Charles T. Rodgers talked of Temperance having prepared a rather elaborate paper on the subject. Dr. Rodgers said temperance meant moderation but now it has come to mean abstinence from liquors or strong drink. He devoted the principal portion of his paper to a discussion of the teaching of temperance in the school, reading the Act of Congress passed in 1886, making such teaching compulsory. He described the instructions sent out by the department and told how the subject has grown.

As to the necessity for the instruction he said probably no two opinions could be entertained. He dwelt upon the loss in money, in energy; the misery and social demoralization resulting from the drink habit was gone over. The effect upon men, the moral disintegration or deterioration brought out some good facts which were used to point the moral. As to teaching, Dr. Rodgers said not only the hygienic effect must be taught but as well the moral and sociological view must be kept just as well to the front and given their proper place. As to the ways of reaching pupils he said there must be care so that children will not be brought to look with reproach upon parents or adult relatives.

As to moderate drinkers, Dr. Rodgers said he believed there were such, though he said he would not advocate drinking at all. He pointed out the many evils of the habit, but entered his protest against the intemperate language of some of the temperance advocates. He said that if misinformation is given to children they will find it out and the result will be a loss of confidence.

After discussing narcotics and stimulants and their effects, saying such things have their field in medicine, Dr. Rodgers showed that it would be a mistake to base teaching upon the radical opinion that there is no possible good from either, for later instruction would show the fallacy of such a teaching and result in breaking down the influence of the teachers. He urged that teachers confine themselves to the truth for the case against strong drink is too strong to need any exaggeration. He maintained that emergencies made stimulants necessary and that at times such things are important.

Mrs. C. A. Macdonald read a digest of a report by Prof. W. O. Atwater on Alcohol, Physiology and Temperance Reform. In the course of the paper the point is made that alcohol has food value but at the same time has poisonous qualities. Prof. Atwater made the point that a thinking boy must not be told that alcohol is poison, for he will find that such is not always the case. Stress was laid upon the business and social side of liquor drinking, the effect of example and the service which every man owes to his fellows. The moral side of the instruction was brought out and the necessity to keep within accurate knowledge was impressed. The effect of alcohol upon character was set forth as the most important, where it would be impossible to exaggerate.

A general discussion followed, the Rev. Alex. Mackintosh of Royal School opening this portion of the program. As to his method of teaching, he said that he encouraged his pupils to talk of the subject, just like a debating society, so that the young had an analysis of occurrences, the effects of liquor as a producer of crime. He touched on the moral obliquity which follows the use of liquor habitually and said that the teaching must be most careful and must be followed after school. Mr. Mackintosh explained how bible studies were brought up and then he read several essays which were based on the story of Daniel, which amused the teachers quite a deal.

Miss Ivy Girvin, of Kaahumanu School, talked of the hard features of making an impression upon children who have become sophisticated with all kinds of evil during their youth. She advocated stories, poems and recitations to awaken the interest and thus secure the confidence of the children.

Dr. W. B. Elkin, of Kanehameha Manual, said that he expected that a toxin may be discovered which will remove the taste for liquor or tobacco. He said he had known of success attending the use of tobacco with boys by giving them all they wanted until they were ill. As to the liquor-selling business he thought perhaps the best thing would be to place the business

HOUSE IS CLOSE TO ILLEGALITY

Lawyers Agree on Question of Period.

That Three Days Close With Wednesday Is Believed.

Question Now Is What Will Be Result of Commission of Illegal Act.

What will be the status of the Legislature after Wednesday is a question which is being largely discussed just now. That a failure to meet on Wednesday will constitute an illegal act is considered as well established as can be any legal fact, but of those who discuss the matter no two agree as to the effect of such an act.

The section of the Organic Act which says that neither house shall adjourn for more than three days, without the consent of the other prescribes no penalty, and sets forth no result of the illegality. This makes a question which will be added to the other allegations of the irregularity of the session, and of which there may be no settlement until some act of the legislature is contested in the courts. Governor Dole is at work on the question, looking up precedents, and it is expected that he will ask for an opinion from the Attorney-General today.

JUDGE DICKEY A CAPTIVE OF COURT HOUSE JANITOR

Was Locked in the Law Library Saturday Afternoon and Had to Break Out.

Judge Lyle A. Dickey, of the Second District Court, was in trouble Saturday afternoon, and he isn't quite certain whether it was accident or design that caused his involuntary confinement in the Supreme Court library for several hours. Judge Dickey went into the library early in the afternoon to look up law points for the brief he is preparing in the case of Dickey vs. Rapid Transit Company. So absorbed was he in his study of authorities that he failed to notice the flight of time, and it was four o'clock before he was ready to leave. Then he discovered that he couldn't. The door to Judge Gear's court room was locked, also the door leading to the outside veranda, and the remaining hall door, which is supposed to be always open, was also closed and the key was turned. Then the Judge studied the windows in the library. But the leap of some twenty or thirty feet to the earth didn't appeal to his athletic spirit. He tried to study a little longer in the hope that some one would come to his rescue, but nothing of the kind happened, and the Judge, who was becoming desperate as well as hungry, made one last effort to arouse some one in the neighborhood. He wasn't a bit more successful than on previous attempts. And then the Judge, "with malice aforethought, deliberately and premeditatedly," raised his fist and smashed in a window pane in the door leading to the outside veranda. He broke out the remainder of the pane and then from all appearances (for no one witnessed the escape) climbed through the aperture he had made with his fist. Fortunately the Judge is not a very large man, and he had no difficulty in getting through the door.

Yesterday morning Judge Dickey settled with the janitor for the cost of the glass.

So great is the interest of those who have the good of the Territory at heart, that some friends of Governor Dole yesterday suggested that it is a matter of such importance, that the Attorney-General of the United States should be asked to cable an opinion, so that pressure might be brought to bear upon Speaker Beckley to issue a summons for the members on Wednesday and thus prevent the illegality which threatens.

Speaker Beckley yesterday, to an afternoon paper, said that the calculation of the time of the adjournment began with Monday morning, which made Wednesday the third day, and Thursday the day on which the House must sit again. Unfortunately perhaps Speaker Beckley has in this view the backing of none of the prominent lawyers. It is an axiom in the law that parts of day are not reckoned. Another is that one day of a fixed term is dropped. Thus the adjournment on Saturday meant of that day, and not as to any particular hour. This is in accordance with the oldest rule of law. But at the same time it is as well established that if the first day is disregarded as a portion of a fixed time, the last must be counted. Thus if Saturday is excluded from the count of the three days, Wednesday must be taken into account.

Where the rules of the House are silent the best rules of the country are taken, and these are those of the late Thomas Brackett Reed, who was speaker of the United States House of Representatives. Yet it is a fact that in the special session for the passage of the Dingley law, in the summer of 1897, a fact which is in the mind of many Honoluluans, as there was a delegation at the capital fighting against the cutting out of the reciprocity treaty, which was threatened, there was a battle of the giants over the adjournment of Congress from Thursday to Monday, with a similar provision in the constitution to that in the Organic Act. Many of the best lawyers in the United States argued that more than three days intervened, and the argument of James Hamilton Lewis, of Seattle, was so elaborate that Mr. Reed was obliged to call wait for a time to examine the authorities before he would make his ruling, though of course he upheld the three days contention of his party.

There are many theories as to the effects of the failure of the House to meet on Wednesday. One is that the legislature expires, owing to the wording of the section "during any session," limiting the time of the adjournment.

FOREIGN LADY WAS ROBBED OF $3,200 IN HONOLULU LAST NIGHT

A sensational robbery took place in a house on Miller street last night in which the thief or thieves got away with $3,200 in money.

The owner of this money was Mrs. Ellen Nurkewich, a lady who has been in Honolulu but a short time, having come here from the Orient.

Mr. Nurkewich, her husband, and three small children arrived only recently from the Orient. Mr. Nurkewich is a capitalist and has been engaged in large enterprises in Manchuria. On arrival here he expected to go into business but not being able to find an opening he decided to go to Canada. He and his family booked to sail on the last Canadian-Australian liner for Vancouver but when the vessel arrived in port only one of the party could be accommodated on board.

Under these circumstances Mr. Nurkewich decided to go on ahead. He could arrange business in the north while his wife and children could travel by the next steamer. He divided what money he had with his wife. He took half and left the remaining portion, $3,200, with the wife, and sailed away. She kept her rooms in Miller street and last night went to the Orpheum. She left the money in her room and on her return it was missing.

The matter was reported to the police after midnight and Deputy Sheriff Chillingworth tackled the affair at once. He thought he could arrest the thief by morning.

Mrs. Nurkewich is a friend of Mrs. Sam Johnson and Capt. Sam Johnson accompanied her to the Police Station last night to interpret her complaint to the police.

READY FOR LOAN ISSUE

Kepoikai Submits Form of Bond.

Approval of the Banks Also to Be Asked.

Treasurer Decides Upon Denominations—Bonds Must Await Further Action.

Treasurer Kepoikai is preparing data for the bond issue authorized by the legislature, which after submission to Governor Dole will be submitted to the various banks for approval as to form.

The bonds cannot be issued under the provisions of the act until the legislature has authorized loans, and then only in such amounts as are fixed by that body. The arrangements being made are simply as to form and denomination. Treasurer Kepoikai stated yesterday that the denominations would be probably be $100, $200, $500 and $1000. He thought that a $250 bond might also be issued. The bonds will bear interest at five per cent. There was a conference between the Governor and the treasurer yesterday as to the bonds, but no conclusion was reached.

The law as passed contains the following provisions:

Section 1. That the Treasurer of the Territory is hereby authorized and empowered, with the approval of the Governor, to issue from time to time Bonds of the Territory of Hawaii, with interest coupons attached thereto, to an amount not exceeding Five Million Dollars, the principal and interest to be paid in Gold Coin of the United States of America, or its equivalent at its present standard of weight and fineness, in the manner, upon the terms and for the purposes in this Act stated.

Section 2. No such bonds shall be issued, except in pursuance of an Act of the Legislature defining the purposes for which the same are to be issued, nor until approved by the President.

Section 3. All Bonds issued under authority of this Act shall bear interest, payable semi-annually, at a rate of not more than five per cent per annum, and be made redeemable in five years and payable in fifteen years from the date of issue thereof.

Section 4. All such Bonds shall be exempt from any and all taxes whatsoever, and the payment of the principal and interest thereof shall constitute a charge upon the consolidated revenues of the Territory.

Section 5. The proceeds of the Bonds so issued shall be exclusively devoted to the purposes for which the same are issued, as expressed in Act of the Legislature under which the issue of the Bonds is authorized.

Section 6. The Treasurer of the Territory may, with the approval of the Governor, determine the denominations of such Bonds to be issued under the authority of this Act, and the place in which the principal and interest of such Bonds, or any of them, shall be payable, and the method of their redemption.

He may make such arrangements as may be necessary or proper for the sale of the whole or any part of each authorized issue. Such arrangements shall provide for the sale of such Bonds by the Government itself, by public advertisements for tenders, but no Bond shall be issued at less than 2 per cent below their nominal par value; and no indebtedness shall be incurred in any one year which shall exceed one per centum upon the assessed value of the taxable property of the Territory, as shown by the last general assessment for taxation.

Section 7. All Bonds issued under the provisions of this Act shall be lithographed or steel engraved, and shall be signed by the Treasurer of the Territory, and by the Registrar of Public Accounts, and be sealed with the seal of the office of the Treasurer.

Interest coupons shall bear a lithographed or engraved facsimile of the signature of the Treasurer of the Territory.

Section 8. This Act shall take effect and become Law from and after the date of its approval.

STACKABLE ACTING FOR MACLENNAN

Secretary Carter yesterday turned over to Treasury Agent MacLennan the last of the fire claims warrants duly certified by Governor Dole and himself, and in such shape that they can be paid either in whole or pro rata without the bonds.

It will be several days before corrections can be made and payment begin and there may be even longer delay because of the illness of Mr. MacLennan. Collector Stackable is acting for Mr. MacLennan during his illness and is going over the records, making comparisons and preparing everything so that all the treasury agent will have to do is to affix his signature.

in the hands of respectable men who would conduct the business carefully and give the people the benefit of the profit. He called attention to the alcohol in remedies and said this should discourage beer.

Mr. Lull, of the High School, talked of temperance teaching, saying that the best results would follow incidental teaching of moral and ethical subjects. He thought too much harping on a subject might produce nausea but that careful instruction would lead to better living.

Principal Taggard of Kailhi-waena School, commented on the opening of a beer saloon at Kailhi, telling the story of how the children had observed the saloon, and that a large proportion had been so attracted that they had observed the interior even. Many children played on the streets and consequently they became well acquainted with this saloon, though all said they had not entered it. Mr. Taggard said that the beer saloons will have a strong influence even to the extent that appetite may be fostered or created by the odors. Consequently the effect of the saloons will counteract the influence of the schools, which meant that the opening of these saloons in residence districts must be hurtful to morals.

White Rock Water Has No Peer !! It Is Used By King Edward

Since the King's illness he has been recommended by his physicians to dilute his wine, and at the Guildhall Luncheon on Saturday last two bottles of effervescent spring water, called "White Rock" were placed beside His Majesty's plate. The water comes from a natural spring in the western part of the United States called Waukesha, and is very brilliant and pleasant to the palate. It was sent to the King as a present by a friend, and His Majesty used it in place of the usual Roshach or Apollinaris.

HOW THE REPUBLIC OF CUBA IS PROGRESSING

Predictions of Evil and What Came of Them. Surplus in the Treasury and Industrial Matters Looking Up.

HAVANA, May 7.—It is now twelve months since the island of Cuba started in business on its own account as a nominally independent and self-governing republic. On May 20, 1902, it emerged from the control of a semi-military administration, virtually autocratic in its methods, to essay a new political life under untried and inexperienced leaders. Assertions of Cuban incapacity for self-government had been frequently made by Americans, both official and civilian. Predictions of early if not of immediate disaster to the new organization had been equally frequent. The assertions and the predictions have been alike confounded. Governmentally, the island has shown no retrogression. Many assert that the new regime has been an improvement upon its predecessor. Peace and order have prevailed, with the single exception of a speedily suppressed labor strike in the city of Havana. Public work, sanitation and educational processes have been maintained. The national treasury has accumulated a surplus of some $2,000,000, in addition to the $540,000 left by the former administration. Viewed broadly, the productive industries of the island show a measure of improvement. While the island is really in a much less prosperous and satisfactory condition financially and industrially than many have recently asserted it to be, the Cuban record for the past eleven months commands the respect and approval of all right-minded Americans.

INDUSTRIAL CONDITION.

Another point is to be noticed. The present industrial situation in the island requires some explanation. A general misunderstanding has followed a general lack of adequate information concerning Cuba's industrial and commercial condition. A year ago it was asserted that the island was confronted with the menace of widespread industrial disaster. The President of the United States had urged, and continued to urge, the "vital need" of American tariff concessions to the products of the island. The Secretary of War in his report had stopped little short of a prediction of anarchy in Cuba unless something were done for the relief of the island's industries. The Military Governor declared that a continuance of the existing tariff meant the utter ruin of the great industries on which the people of the island depend. The press of the United States, with few and insignificant exceptions, echoed these expressions. But the American Congress was obtuse and nothing was done. None of these predictions of disaster was fulfilled, and Cuba actually stands, at this immediate time, in better place than she did a year ago. In view of these assertions and predictions the situation presents no small measure of perplexity for the superficial observer. Yet it is entirely plain to the few who have made close and careful study of the Cuban people and Cuban affairs. A clear understanding of the causes of this unexpected outcome is imperative for any intelligent comprehension of the Cuban situation and of those relations to it which the United States must inevitably sustain.

THE CUBAN CHARACTER.

The factors which have influenced this situation, and which have brought about the present condition, are of two kinds. One of these may be called moral, while the other is distinctly material. Beneath all the froth and fume which appear on the surface of Cuban life, and the volatile excitability which too many hold to be the dominant Cuban characteristic, there runs a strong undercurrent of patient endurance and a persistent tenacity of purpose and aspiration. The long years of Cuban submission to Spanish exaction have been counted as evidence of weakness and unworthiness of character. They were rather a time of passive resistance and protest, marked with periods of open revolt. Resistance and protest assumed the form of open and prolonged rebellion in the Ten Years' War (1868-78), when there was hardly less of ground for American intervention than there was when that intervention came, twenty years later. Revolution came again in 1895, and had lasted for more than three years before the American Congress passed the joint resolution of April, 1898. For nearly a hundred years, Cuba has clung tenaciously to her ambition for a broader and fuller life. At times she has struggled. At all times she has endured, maintaining her purpose.

Cuba has seen periods of abundant prosperity, but industrial distress is no stranger in her experience. These times of distress have even called out another strongly marked trait in Cuban character. That is their charity and mutual helpfulness. In days of need, those who have help those who have not. They lend and they give. They stand together and battle through days of stress as a body rather than as individual units in a suffering and struggling mass. Along with this there is a hopefulness of spirit. The deprecated and ridiculed doctrine of "manana" is not without its redeeming feature. It may involve, and does involve, procrastination, but it also involves an anticipation of and a belief in a day of better things. It may rain today, but the sun will surely shine manana. The word does not exclusively mean, as many suppose, "tomorrow." It is also "morning," as tarde is "afternoon," and is often used in the sense of our "some day." It conveys the sense of hopeful anticipation as well as the evidence of postponement.

Personal and national pride and a sense of responsibility also operate forcefully upon Cuban mind and action. Charged as they so often have been, with incapacity for self-government, and with political likeness to certain other nations of Latin-America, their pride appears with purpose to demonstrate the falsity of both charge and parallel. A sense of responsibility will often turn the most blatant of ultraradicals into the quietest of conservatives.

These, then, may be set down as the moral factors in Cuba's disappointment of predictions which were pessimistic, though they may have been entirely honest and seemingly fully justified. They are the unknown factors in all Cuban economic equations. The precise influence of patient endurance, persistent tenacity, charity and mutual helpfulness, hopeful anticipation of better days, personal and national pride, and the effect of a sense of responsibility, are not to be easily measured as an operative force in Cuban affairs. Again and again they have carried the island through the slough of despond and brought her up smiling upon the other side.

THE SUGAR FACTOR.

Besides these, there have appeared factors of a more material and tangible nature. Yet, without the moral features which lay behind them, these would hardly have served to avert the danger which threatened the island in the spring and summer of 1902. The most important of the material influences was, doubtless, the general stiffening of the market prices of sugar. This was due, chiefly, to the action of the Brussels Conference, which provided for the abolition, in September of this year, of the European system of bounties and special legislation affecting the beet sugar industry of the Continent. European beet sugar, aided by artificial systems, had left the United States as the only possible outlet for the Cuban product. Cuba was at the mercy of the American tariff. European quotations plus the American tariff left the price of sugar in the American market at a figure which meant an actual loss to Cuban producers. The increase in price in Europe, anticipating the conditions to be established as a result of the Brussels Conference, was followed by a corresponding increase in the American market, although manipulation of that market has, for a time, destroyed the customary parity between New York and Hamburg.

While the enhancement of prices has been far from sufficient to insure a general prosperity for the Cuban industry, it was enough to promise a small margin of profit to a few advantageously located plantations, and to enable some others to produce without disastrous loss. Factors and money lenders once more opened their check books, and planters of fair financial standing have been able to secure advances which enabled them to make well toward its conclusion. Most unfortunately, the various hopes by which the Cubans have been buoyed up during the crop-making season are sorely shattered. Prices are disastrously low, the crop is less than was anticipated, and any possible advantage from reciprocity with the United States has been denied them. The market is glutted with the offerings of planters who must sell in order to meet their obligations, incurred for the making of the crop, and a distinct buyer's market exists for the measureless detriment of the Cuban industry. A few of the most favorably located estates may come out with a narrow margin of profit. A few will escape without ruinous loss. Many will be staggered, and some must fail.

IMPORTS MAINTAINED.

An unlooked for influence in the Cuban situation has been the maintenance of the island's imports. Had these fallen off, as many of the leading merchants and bankers of the island confidently expected, the Government's revenues would have fallen off to a point of serious embarrassment to the administration. The inevitable result of that would have been a grave commercial depression resulting from widespread doubt of governmental stability. Tense financial stringency would have been equally inevitable, with financial panic a strong probability. In connection with this, it is of important interest to note the fact that Cuba's imports for the last four years since the date of American occupation, have remained practically fixed in the close vicinity of $66,000,000 per year. Cuban exports, within that time, have increased materially, nearly fifty per cent. This increase is due to individual energy and enterprise, and is in no way attributable to governmental assistance, either Cuban or American. The fixity of imports, in the face of an increasing export trade, invites investigation and explanation. Upon no ground can it be reasonably accounted for except that of an assumption that some $65,000,000 per year represents the minimum of Cuba's imperative import needs in a time of general prostration and industrial distress. But the maintenance of even this volume of imports has unquestionably tended to steady the entire situation.

Another factor appears in the item of the investment of foreign capital, principally American. There have been many purchases of land tracts, large and small, for development, for investment and for speculation. The Cuba Railway Company has paid large amounts for labor, for land, and for

LIST BEING ARRANGED

Mrs. Turk's Case Goes Over Until Friday.

In the police court yesterday morning Attorney Humphreys appeared for Mrs. Frank Turk and Miss Mabel Lyle, who were arrested at 3 a. m. Sunday for keeping a disorderly house on Beretania street, but his clients did not appear. The attorney asked for a continuance of the case until Friday which was assented to by the prosecution and granted by Judge Dickey. There was a big crowd in the court-room assembled to listen to the case, and upon the announcement of its continuance, it gradually melted away.

It is understood that Mrs. Turk will fight the case, and to this end the prosecution is making up a long list of subpoenas for men who have been seen by the Deputy Sheriff and his officers enter Mrs. Turk's residence at various hours in the night time for sometime past. The list is said to include the names of several prominent residents. The admissions of certain men who have frequented Mrs. Turk's place, made to Deputy Sheriff Chillingworth, are said to be of a damaging nature to Mrs. Turk's case.

IT'S THE TRUTH

Tell a man it's a food and he doesn't want to pay for it. Tell him it's a medicine and he says it doesn't look like it. Then tell him it's both a food and a medicine and he thinks you're playing some game on him.

Yet these are the facts about Scott's Emulsion of pure cod-liver oil. It is the cream of cod-liver oil, the richest and most digestible of foods. The food for weak stomachs. The food for thin bodies and thin blood.

But that's only half the story. Scott's Emulsion is also a good medicine. It gives new life and vigor to the whole system and especially to the lungs.

We'll send you a little to try, if you like. SCOTT & BOWNE, 409 Pearl Street, New York.

PHASES OF LABOR QUESTION.

If the skilled citizen laborers of Honolulu would do their duty by other white men, other white men would feel more disposed to do their duty by them.

At a labor meeting held here some months ago twenty-four opponents of the Asiatic artisan were present.

White mechanics say living is so high here that they cannot afford to pay the white dealer's prices; but that is also the argument of the white merchant who hires Chinamen to build his store or house.

That the Asiatic situation needs the sort of adjustment which will force the yellow and brown men back to agriculture is as true as the way of capricious it is doubtful and obscure.

It is a pity that the Legislature at its late session did not amend the Settlement Association law in a way to make its requirements more drastic.

The Advertiser has been asked why it does not publish the names of the men that have been seen at the Turk house.

Perry Heath went out of the Post-office Department under a cloud and now the cloud has burst.

The police did well with their raid the other night. If a conviction is had, well and good; if not they should keep on raiding until this and all other suspected resorts are closed for want of patronage.

The steamship line between the Sound and Australia, announcement of which appears in this morning's cable advices, may be expected to do business here.

AMERICAN EXPORTS.

The two sections of the world in which exports from the United States do not make satisfactory growth are South America and India.

These facts, especially with reference to the trade of the United States with British India, are set forth in a statement just published by the Treasury Bureau of Statistics, entitled "Commercial India in 1902."

It was at first supposed that it needed the low flat coral lands, such as those at Ewa where the first plantation was started.

Sisal plantations have already been started by Representative Knudsen at Waimea, Kauai, and by Speaker Beckley at Molokai, and it is growing well in Kau, Kona and Hamakua, Hawaii.

A very large proportion of the trade of British India is with the governing country, the United Kingdom, and a considerable proportion of the remainder is with British colonies.

Though Masatlan is not the "Lower California metropolis" as a contemporary has it—nor is it in Lower California at all—it is far enough away to suit the retiring nature of missing Treasurer Wright.

The Senate, having done nothing it is ashamed of, will print its vouchers. Whether the vouchers of the House will be printed or not depends on how they look after coming out of the doctor's hands.

The Ruler of Turkey. Abdul Hamid II. is 60 years old and has between 200 and 400 wives.

A COMMERCIAL MILE STONE.

[The Official and Commercial Record.] The report of B. F. Dillingham on the receipts and expenses of the Hawaiian Fibre Company for the past 4 years, constitutes a mile stone in Hawaii's commercial progress.

The company is now harvesting its first crop, and an analysis of its receipts and expenses shows that it is producing sisal fibre for $98 a ton, including all expenses from preparation of land to freight and commissions on the finished product, and is selling the fibre for $150 to $160 a ton.

The standard of excellence in sisal fibre has heretofore been that produced in Yucatan. The Hawaiian fibre is as good, and in several instances has graded higher than the best Yucatan sisal.

The cost of production given above, $98 a ton, is for the first crop, on an experimental plantation, conducted by men who knew nothing of the business from practical experience.

One of the strongest grounds for hope that sisal will prove a great industry in Hawaii, is the wide range of soil and climate in which the plant flourishes.

It was at first supposed that it needed the low flat coral lands, such as those at Ewa where the first plantation was started.

Sisal plantations have already been started by Representative Knudsen at Waimea, Kauai, and by Speaker Beckley at Molokai, and it is growing well in Kau, Kona and Hamakua, Hawaii.

Altogether there is the best of reason to believe that sisal will become the long sought "second industry," which will lift Hawaii out of the undesirable one industry category.

Those holding this view believe that the illegal act of the House ends the session forthwith, and that nothing done by the Legislature after that is legal.

Others, while agreeing that the adjournment is illegal, hold that the effect cannot be so far reaching, but that there must be a remedy at law to prevent hardship to the innocent branch of the Legislature through the wrongful act of the lower house.

It is understood that Judge Estee has been consulted and that he holds that the adjournment is illegal, as do all the other judges of the courts here.

FORESTRY BOARD IS AT WORK

First Fight Will Be on the Leaf-Hopper.

Koebele to Make Trip to Australia for Study.

L. A. Thurston Elected President and H. E. Cooper Secretary of Agricultural Board.
 The new board of Commissioners of Agriculture and Forestry was formally organized yesterday afternoon at a meeting in the Public Works office, and signified its organization by the inauguration of a war upon the destructive leaf hopper.

Mr. L. A. Thurston was elected president of the board and Supt. H. E. Cooper, who is an ex-officio member and the executive officer of the board, was elected as secretary. W. M. Giffard and James D. Dolé were the other two commissioners present.

Professor A. Koebele at present government entomologist was elected as Superintendent of Entomology. Mr. W. M. Giffard stated at the meeting that the Hawaiian Sugar Planter's Association had discussed the advisability of Mr. Koebele's taking up the question of the leaf hopper pest as soon as practicable, but added that Dr. Hoffman had informed him that Koebele was in such ill-health that a trip to Australia would be impossible at present.

It was decided therefore that Professor Koebele be given two months' leave of absence at the conclusion of which

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND

Does a Wondrous Work for a Lady Who Was Almost Crazy with Pain and Suffering.

It is well known that terrible rheumatism, sciatica, and neuralgia cause more helplessness, acute suffering, and agony, than any of the other diseases that afflict humanity. The great medicinal virtues of Paine's Celery Compound make it the only trustworthy specific for the cure of all forms of rheumatism and neuralgia. Thousands of strong testimonial letters from the most prominent people of the land, prove that Paine's Celery Compound has banished these terrible fatal troubles when all other treatment has failed. Mrs. Margaret Bethel, of Brainerd, Minn., after thirty years of agonizing tortures had a desire to end her life, if it was the will of Heaven; she almost prayed for the time to lay it down. Heaven-directed, she made use of Paine's Celery Compound, and is enjoying true life once more. She says:—

"For thirty years I have been a great sufferer from neuralgia in the head, and also with rheumatism in the whole body. I began taking Paine's Celery Compound and soon found I was much better. Before taking the Compound, my life was such a burden that I almost prayed to lay it down. I was bedfast every two weeks with horrible pain in the head, back, and neck, until I was almost crazed. I am able to do harder work and more of it today than for twenty-five years. I am really enjoying life again, thanks to Paine's Celery Compound. I am satisfied that my life has been prolonged many years by its use."

time he will be requested to go to Australia to study the pest and secure enemies of the leaf hopper. Mr. Thurston was also appointed as a committee of one to confer with the Planter's Association as to what financial aid the association is willing to render towards securing the assistance of an entomologist to travel with Koebele. Mr. Cooper was appointed as a committee to compile the laws and regulations relating to Agriculture now in force in the islands, as a basis for formulating new rules.

No appointment was made of a forestry superintendent but the secretary was instructed to correspond with Giffard Pinchot, head of the forestry bureau in the United States Department of Agriculture, with a view to securing a professional forester, who also shall have had some acquaintance with tropical forests.

Mr. Pinchot while on a visit here some months past expressed his willingness to assist the Territory in every way possible in securing an expert forester for the islands and his assistance will now be asked. A request was received also from a number of Hilo people to allow settlement in the forestry belt back of Honouliuli plantation, which had first been sent to Land Commissioner Boyd and by him referred to the board for an opinion, in accordance with the statute requiring its approval. As the board is unfamiliar with the facts and the application involves the settlement of principles regarding forestry preservation, of much importance, action was deferred.

It was decided also that the board should for the present meet once a week on Wednesday afternoons.

TIME AND MONEY.—Sickness causes a loss of both time and money. You lose the time and have the expense of medical attendance, entailing a double loss. This can be avoided by using some reliable remedy at the first stage of the sickness. The purchase of a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy often proves a profitable investment, for by its use at the first appearance of any unusual looseness of the bowels, a severe attack of diarrhoea or dysentery may be averted that might otherwise compel a week's cessation from labor. Every household should have a bottle at hand. It never fails and is pleasant to take. Get it today. It may save a life. Benson, Smith & Co., Ltd., wholesale agents, sell it.

PUNAHOU WINS CHAMPIONSHIP

The Punahou baseball team defeated the Kamehameha team yesterday afternoon at Punahou by a score of five to four, thereby winning the championship of the Junior League. The League originally consisted of five schools: Punahou, Kamehameha, High School, St. Louis and the Royal School, but the last two dropped out early in the season. This is the first time Punahou has held the championship since 1898, the Kamehamehas being the victors heretofore.

The game was a close one, the teams being practically even until the sixth inning when Punahou brought in her fifth man. Both teams made costly errors through faulty throws to bases, but the batting on the whole was good. Campbell for Punahou did some fine pitching and displayed good head work in handling the ball.

The teams were as follows: Kamehameha—C. B. Lyman (Capt.), John Desha, Ed. Morton, S. Kaji, J. Kealoha, Apela, C. Hamauku, Ah Pui, E. Hardee.

Punahou—Forbes, M. Robinson (Capt.), Campbell, Griffiths, G. Canavaro, R. Ahrens, Pahu, W. Giffard, W. Ryevoft.

ELSTON BEATS ROTH IN MATCH

C. A. Elston won the tennis championship of the islands from W. H. Roth on the courts of the Pacific Club, yesterday, in a very one sided match. In the four sets necessary Roth took only one. The first was a love set, Roth being plainly out of form, being unable to place at any stage of the set. He took a brace in the second and beat Elston by four to six, but it was too much of an exertion and he had to let down being beaten two straight then, the score of each being 6-4.

The first play in the ladies' singles championship will begin at the Pacific courts this afternoon at 4 o'clock, when the Misses Young will contest, at 5 o'clock the match being between Mrs. Richard Ivers and Miss Lillian Bacon. The first round will take place Wednesday, the contestants being Miss Cunha, Mrs. Elston, Miss Birnie, Miss Adams, Mrs. Gunn and Mrs. Field. The championship is now held by Miss Ethel Horner.

GOMES' WOUND QUITE PAINFUL

A continuance in the cases of Charles Ferreira, John Hollerson, Antone Souza, Willie Dias and John Gomes, held for investigation, with Joaquin Tarres, who stabbed four of the men while defending himself from an attack, was granted in the police court yesterday pending the result of the injuries received by Gomes. The latter is still at the Queen's Hospital. Yesterday he passed a fretful day, being overcome by nausea, while his wound gave him considerable pain. He will probably be out in a short time and the entire matter will then be aired in the police court. Dias, Souza and Hollerson are held at the police station.

LUZON TO CARRY SAILOR SKELETONS

MANILA, April 23.—The Spanish colony in Manila, headed by the Casino Espanol, is taking the necessary steps to have the remains of the Spanish dead found on the Reina Cristina given a funeral in the Cathedral and to have them shipped to Spain on the S. S. Luzon which leaves May 12.

When the finding of the skeletons was reported and the question of shipping the bodies to Spain was broached, Don Antonio Correa, Manager of the Compania General de Tabacos, at once announced that he would leave for Spain on the Company's steamer Luzon on May 12, and offered free transportation for the bodies to any port which the Spanish Consul might indicate. The Casino Espanol has taken up the matter and, while no official action has yet been taken, it is understood that it is the wish of the Spanish residents to hold a funeral in the Cathedral and ship the bodies on the Luzon.

The archbishop has offered the Cathedral for the purpose and the Augustine friars have also offered their church and their services there, or in the Cathedral, for the funeral.

It is the desire of the Spaniards in Manila to ship these bodies home in order that they may be buried in the great Pantón de los Muertos Ilustres, or Tomb of the Illustrious Dead which is being constructed in Madrid in honor of those who have fallen in Spain's many wars.

PORTO RICANS COMING BACK

Several weeks ago a large number of the Porto Rican residents of Kakaako were shipped over to Kauai and other islands by representatives of the planters, and the police thought they were rid of them, for the majority belonged to an element which kept the officers constantly watching their movements. The boats recently returning from Kauai have brought in big batches of the same people. They have earned a little money and have come back to town to spend it and again live in idleness.

NEW MILL FOR PAAUHAU COMPANY

A portion of the cargo of the steamer Helene which sails at 5 p. m. today for Hawaii comprises heavy timbers and structural work intended for a new sugar mill for the Paaupahu plantation, Hawaii. A new mill is to be erected in place of the old one, and the one to be built will be a modern affair in every detail.

HARD TO GET MURPHY JURY

Two Special Venires Issued From Court.

But little progress was made yesterday towards securing a jury to hear the case of Pat Murphy charged with murder in the first degree. In the morning fourteen jurors were excused for cause and in the afternoon the entire special venire was exhausted with three peremptory challenges, the prosecution still having four and the defendant eleven challenges to exercise.

It seems to be rather hard work to get a jurymen to sit on a murder case, particularly where the evidence is circumstantial. A large percentage of those examined yesterday had conscientious scruples against inflicting the death penalty, which they couldn't lay aside in any event where the evidence was not of a direct nature. A lot of those excused were unable to distinguish the difference between direct and circumstantial evidence and they were permitted to go without objection from either side.

The regular panel of jurors was exhausted at noon, without either side having exercised a peremptory challenge and Judge Robinson issued a special venire for fourteen, returnable at two o'clock. But four of the jurors were served and another adjournment was necessary for the summoning of more jurors. Judge Robinson then issued an open venire directed to the High Sheriff for twenty-five jurors to be chosen by him from the body of the district.

The jury will probably be chosen before evening today.

THE PEABODY CASE.

There now appears to be some hope of a conclusion of the case of Lucy K. Peabody vs. Trustees of Bishop Estate. The rebuttal evidence of the plaintiff was practically closed yesterday afternoon and today will be given over to arguments.

PROBATE MATTERS.

K. Yamanato was yesterday appointed administrator of the estate of T. Niya under bonds of $10,000. He has control of two stores in Ewa and was legally put in charge of them by Judge Gear.

S. Ochiai was appointed administrator of the estate of M. Sakuragama with a bond of $1,000. Evidence as to the death of Sakuragama was received in depositions from Tokio, Japan.

Shipping Notes.

Yesterday was pay day with the Iroquois crew. The sailors of the Edward Sewall were paid off yesterday. The Iroquois is about ready for her voyage to Midway Island.

The British ship Arctic Stream shifted over to the Railway wharf to discharge coal for Irwin & Co.

The Ventura from the Colonies is due this morning and will probably sail this afternoon for San Francisco.

WILL TRY TO GROW TREES

New Experiment to be Made at Wahiawa.

Hayselden to Start a Ranch in the Kau District.

Executive Council Disposes of a Number of Land Questions.

Experiments with forest and fruit trees are now to be tried at Wahiawa. W. B. Thomas, one of the colonists of that place, was yesterday granted permission by the Executive Council to acquire ten acres of land remaining from the Wahiawa settlement on which to make tests of different varieties of woods. The ten acre lot is a strip which runs along all of the Wahiawa farms and divides the colony from the military reservation. The petition of Thomas was granted and the land asked for by him will be put up at the merely nominal rental of one dollar an acre.

Thomas, or any other man who buys the lease will have to observe the conditions attendant upon the sale. In the first place the purchaser must agree to experiment with various woods. Thomas intends to try fire woods, fruit trees or any rapidly growing species. The purchaser must plant at least seventy-five trees to the acre and when the twenty-one year lease expires must turn over that many trees, each at least twenty feet in height, to the Territory.

HAYSELDEN GETS LAND.
The Executive Council also finally granted the petition of the F. H. Hayselden Settlement Association for land in Kau, Hawaii. This application was granted some months ago and then withdrawn when objection was made that the land was not to be used for settlement purposes. Land Commissioner Boyd has since investigated the matter and stated yesterday he had found the request to be bona fide and that the applicants intended to actually settle upon the land. Mr. Boyd said that the Hayseldens intended to establish a cattle ranch in Kau, having disposed of their interests on Lanai. The land is to be planted in trees and grasses under the conditions of the sale. Altogether 2,000 acres are granted to the association and the purchase price to happiness. Well might the greatest and wisest Man that ever lived teach us to pray, "Give us this day our daily bread." The hands, with which we do so many cunning and skillful things, the eyes that reveal to us all the sun shines on, the hearts which beat within our breasts, were once merely the yet unteated food upon our plates. What a strange, what a wonderful transformation! The body builds itself! No other machine can do so. Yet when the wear and tear becomes greater than the process of repair we grow weak and waste away. If we could keep the loss and the gain balanced, or nearly so, we should live long and be able to work and enjoy ourselves all the time. The opposite condition we call sickness or disease. To keep the wheel turning, to prevent permanent loss of flesh and power, is the aim of that ever-successful remedy known as WAMPOLE'S PREPARATION. It quickly and quietly removes the waste matters from the system, promotes the marvelous change called digestion, expels the impurities and disease germs from the blood and furnishes what the body needs to make it strong and healthy. Being palatable as honey or sugar the most sensitive palates accept it freely—even those of delicate women and young children. It contains the nutritive and curative properties of Pure Cod Liver Oil, extracted by us from fresh cod livers, combined with the Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites and the Extracts of Malt and Wild Cherry. It is a specific in Lung Troubles, Influenza, La Grippe, Anemia, Scrofula and all affections caused by impure blood. No failure. Effective from the first dose. "You cannot be disappointed in it." Sold by all chemists here and throughout the world.

ranges from four to six dollars per acre. KOHALA LAND SOLD.

The Executive Council also approved of the application of J. Wight for the Puuepa and Kokoiki lands in the Kohala District. Wight asked for a ten years' lease on six hundred acres and he has to comply with a lot of conditions, though the tract is to be sold at an upset rental of fifty cents per acre. The purchaser is required to give rights of way for ditches and roads and whenever any portion of the land becomes fitted for agricultural purposes it can be taken over by the government. The purchaser will then get a reduction pro rata from the agreed upon rental. When ever desired the government may also take over any land wanted for settlement purposes.

ANOTHER PIPE DREAM.

I was seated by the fire place in a little New England cottage. 'Twas bleak December. The wind was whistling around the house and carrying in its arms great loads of winter's crystals which it threw in white banks against the doors and windows. The dying embers in the grate cast a soft glow over the room and with no other light the strange shadows seemed uneasy ghosts come to dance within, protected from the cold outside. I lighted my pipe, arose and sauntered dreamingly to the window, my thoughts roaming at their own will through the halls of the Past and Future. I looked out upon the great, white sheet that covered the sleeping form of Nature, and saw—

There in the very center of the white screen was a circle in which was inscribed the words "The Douglas Patent Closet." Even as I looked it disappeared, then again saw it with the added words, "Bath, the Plumber." And then my pipe went out.

MONSARRAT AND WEAVER

Two Candidates for Appointment on the Land Court.

There is a warm fight on for the judgeship of the land court constituted by the new Torrens Land Law. There are only two announced candidates, but there are others who have their eyes on the place and may be called upon in the event of a deadlock. The leading candidate in the sense of having the greatest number of signers to his petition, is J. M. Monsarrat. It is understood that there has not been a refusal to sign by any person, to whom the application has been presented. On the other side many of the young members of the bar are making a fight for the place for P. L. Weaver, assistant attorney general. Mr. Weaver wrote the first opinion on the matter of this law, which was read before the Young Men's Research Club, and from which it is claimed started the discussions which have resulted in the securing of legislative action. Senator Cecil Brown is said to be making the fight of Monsarrat.

BURGLARY AT CHILLINGWORTH'S

Manuel Charlain, a Porto Rican, was placed under arrest last evening and charged with larceny. A man named Rosellos, who has fouled with the police before, was also arrested for obstructing a police officer in endeavoring to arrest Charlain. Charlain is alleged to be the man who recently burglarized the rooms of several Japanese house servants along King street between Pili-ko and Keaumoku. On Saturday evening some one broke into the room of Nebo, the Japanese police officer, who occupies a room on the premises of Deputy Sheriff Chillingworth, rifled his trunk and carried away a portion of his wardrobe. A Japanese next door was also relieved of some of his belongings, and other Japanese near by suffered from visits earlier in the week.

BROKE HIS NOSE WITH HAMMER

Ah Kong is in jail because he tried to collect a debt in a way which is contrary to the law. About 8 o'clock last evening Ah Kong went to the house of George Kelo, who lives in Makiki and demanded payment of a debt he claimed Kelo owed him. The money not being forthcoming the Chinaman became abusive and suddenly struck Kelo in the face with a hammer which he had brought with him. The native's nose was broken by the blow. The noise of the fight attracted Senator Woods who was in the vicinity and he called for the patrol wagon. The Chinaman was arrested for assault and battery and the native was sent to the Queen's Hospital.

Vanderbilt Coming Home.

There appears to be little doubt that William K. Vanderbilt is coming home for good. Not only is he going to settle down to the railroad business after his marriage, but he will bring to this country all his horses and become a patron of the American turf. He has a stable filled with some of the best 2-year-olds alive, and on the Kentucky farm he intends to buy he hopes to raise others equally good.

MRS. GERTZ LOSES AGAIN

Now She Will Have to Go to Circuit Court of Appeals.

Mrs. Gertz, whose persistent fight in the local courts for property she claims was wrongfully taken from her by J. A. Magoon, will have to go to the Circuit Court of Appeals at San Francisco for relief, as the Supreme Court yesterday denied her application for a rehearing. Mrs. Gertz conducts her own cases, makes her own arguments in court and files highly sensational briefs in support of her case. She is able to pay a lawyer, she says, but acts for herself because all the judges and all the attorneys are in a conspiracy to defeat her in the battle for her property. Mrs. Gertz gets little consolation from the Supreme Court for all her long briefs and arguments. The decision is short and to the point. It is as follows:

No. 70—Anna Gertz in her own behalf and as Executrix of the Will of Christian Gertz, deceased, vs. J. Alfred Magoon in his personal capacity and as trustee for C. H. Banning and B. R. Banning, John Buckley and Maria J. Forbes. Motion for rehearing. Submitted March 25, 1903, decided May 18, 1903.

Per Curiam. No sufficient cause appearing for granting a rehearing, the motion is denied.

BAD COMPANY

Not a Home in Honolulu Where This Visitor is Welcome.

The most unwelcome visitor in Honolulu. Is any itching skin disease. Itching piles is known in nearly every household. And eczema is no stranger. They're both bad company. They come early—stay late. We always say "good riddance" when they go. Know how to keep them away? Use Doan's Ointment. Doan's Ointment cures piles and all itchiness of the skin. A Victoria, Australia man endorses our claims. Mr. William Preston has been a resident of Victoria for over half a century and therefore will be known to many of our readers. Mr. Preston is at present residing at No. 68 Argyle St., St. Kilda. He says: "For some considerable time I have been troubled with Eczema on my legs. The irritation at times was very great especially at night, and it caused me considerable annoyance. I obtained a pot of Doan's Ointment and I must say that it allayed the irritation almost immediately. Doan's Ointment is a good remedy and I can highly recommend it for Eczema."

Doan's Ointment is splendid in all diseases of the skin, eczema, piles, hives, insect bites, sores, chilblains, etc. It is perfectly safe and very effective. Doan's Ointment is sold by all chemists and storekeepers at 50 cents per box (six boxes $2.50) or will be mailed on receipt of price by the Hollister Drug Co., Agents for the Hawaiian Islands.

His early training: "A two-cent stamp, please," said the lady at the stamp window of the post-office. "Yes, madam," replied the new clerk, who had just graduated from a department store; "will you take it with you or have it sent?"—Chicago News.

THE FIRE-WALKERS OF JAPAN

By W. C. Jameson Reid. Author of "Unexplored Asia," "Among the Farthest People." &c.

When you go to Tokyo and can find a few minutes to spare, pay a few "bits" to a "ricksha" boy and pronounce the magic name "Hi-Wattarai," and if you are of that incredulous disposition which laughs with scorn at so-called Eastern mysticism you will doubtless come away, as has many a visitor before you, with an impression sufficient to last through an ordinary lifetime and ready to believe that the moon is made of green cheese or anything else known to earth, sea, or sky, if one of these smart little Japs would have you so believe, for the rite of "Hi-Wattarai,"—fire walking, and that is actually what takes place,—is a mahatma convention, a spiritualistic seance and a Hermann performance embodied in one thrilling, awe inspiring, hair raising function.

If you do not come away convinced that you have been witness of a spectacle which makes you disbelieve the evidence of your own eyes and your most obtuse matter of fact judgment, then you are a man of stone. But it is well worth the two "bits," whatever the degree of your belief.

At a little Shinto shrine in Kanda, one of the poorest districts in Tokyo, known to every "ricksha" boy or street lounge, but which you would find it impossible to discover yourself, this curious function is carried on. Formerly it was only performed every spring and fall, and until recently the occurrence was known only to the Japanese. But alert globe trotters and foreign visitors in the quaint Japanese metropolis, ever on the search for novelty, soon ferreted it out; and as the priests who perform the rite are not averse to lining their pockets with the gratuities of inquisitive foreigners, they have now what might be called a continuous performance.

EIGHTH WONDER OF THE WORLD.

In the last year or two a knowledge of this curious spectacle of Eastern mysticism has reached the ears of an increasingly large number of foreigners, who, mostly incredulous beforehand, have departed completely mystified. And if you wish to "do" Tokyo completely, you must not miss a visit to the temple of the fire walking Shintoists, for it is the eighth wonder of the world.

For days beforehand the priests connected with the temple devote themselves to fasting and prayer to prepare for the ordeal. The performance itself usually takes place between five and six o'clock in the afternoon in the temple court. The preceding three hours are spent by the priests in final outbursts of prayers before the unveiled altar in the inner sanctuary of the little matted temple, and during these invocations no visitors are allowed to enter the sacred precincts. We had been so much enlightened by our Japanese Nestor, so we timed our arrival accordingly, and in the cool afternoon threaded our way through the impressionists by lanes and alleys of Tokyo to the secluded and solemn gloom of the temple gardens.

The knowledge that "Hi-Wattarai" was to take place had drawn crowds of people into the courtyard and adjacent streets, the flying of banners and the beating of drums giving audible evidence, if other was lacking, that a matsuri, or festival, was soon to begin. A small "douceur" satisfied the vigilant gatekeeper, and, following his shuffling footsteps, we were soon ushered into the main temple, where the curious ceremony was to take place.

CHANGING THEIR ROBES.

Shortly before five o'clock the priests filed from before the altar into some interior apartments, where they were to change their beautiful robes for the coarser dress worn during the fire walking. In the meantime coolies had been set to work in the court yard to ignite the great bed of charcoal, which had already been laid. The dimensions of this bed were about twelve feet by four feet and perhaps a foot deep. On the top was a quantity of straw and kindling wood, which was lighted and soon burst into a roaring blaze. The charcoal became more and more thoroughly ignited until the whole mass glowed in the uncertain gloom like some gigantic and demoniac eye of a modern Polyphemus. As soon as the mass of charcoal was thoroughly ignited from top to bottom a small gong striking in the temple gave notice that the wonderful spectacle of "Hi-Wattarai" was about to begin.

Soon two of the priests came out, said prayers of interminable length at a tiny shrine in the corner of the enclosure, and turned their attention to the fire. Taking long fans and poles from the coolies they poked and encouraged the blaze until it could plainly be seen that the coal was ignited throughout.

The whole bed was a glowing mass, and the heat which rose from it was so intense that we found it uncomfortable to sit fifteen feet away from it without screening our faces with fans. Then they began to pound it down more solidly along the middle; so far as possible inequalities in the surface were beaten down, and coals which protruded were brushed aside.

The long and tedious service of invocation now began, during which time the priests mumbled forth numerous prayers of inordinate length to their god to cast out the "soul" of the fire, and thus make manifest his power to them. This continued for some little time, when the head priest addressed the closely packed group of native spectators, and invited those who wished to make presents to the god bring forward their gifts to be laid on the altar.

He retired for a short time into an inner temple in order to prepare himself for this most important ceremony; meanwhile the native spectators remained prostrate on the ground in awe and silence until he reappeared. The altar upon which the gift offerings were to be laid occupied a conspicuous part of the temple in sight of all, reached by a flight of steps so narrow that only the very edge of the toes could rest on the ledges in making the ascent.

The head priest took up his position before the altar, while the minor priests remained at the foot of the narrow stairway and received the gifts of the worshippers as they were brought forward and passed them up to be placed upon the shrine.

These gifts consisted of wine and large trays of fish, fruit, rice cakes, loaves, vegetables and candies, and were handed to the minor priests at the foot of the shrine, who in turn passed them from hand to hand, meanwhile chanting in a barely audible monotone prayers of invocation, until at last they reached the hands of the head priest.

Dressed in his green brocade robe of office, he deposited the offerings on the shrine, and taking the kanagi, or wand, of cleansing power he waved it backward and forward, whirling it first over the heads of the minor priests and ending by coming down into the main space of the temple, flourishing the kanagi from time to time over the bowed forms.

All this had occupied some time, and we were momentarily growing more impatient, but in a furtive whisper our guide bade us restrain ourselves, as the wonders of which he had informed us were about to commence. The priests for a short time remained in one of the inner temples, where, as we subsequently learned, they passed the time in cold water ablutions to render them clean of body and holy, otherwise they would not be able to walk through the fire unscathed.

This practically ended the preliminary devotional exercises. Soon two of the priests came out and with the assistance of the coolies again encouraged the fire to a glowing heat by heaping on fresh charcoal and removing the projecting obstructions. In turn they were followed by the other priests who were to take part in the curious ceremony.

One of the latter held a pile of white powder on a small wooden stand. This was said to be salt, which in Japan is credited with great cleansing properties, but so far as could be ascertained by superficial examination it was a mixture of alum and salt. He stood at one end of the fire bed and poised the wooden tray over his head, then sprinkled a handful of it on the ground before the glowing bed of coals. At the same time another priest who stood by him chanted a weird recitative of invocation and struck sparks from flint and steel which he held in his hands.

This same process was repeated by both the priests at the other end, at the two sides and at the corners.

Ten minutes, more or less, were spent in various movements and incantations about the bed of coals. At the end of that time two small pieces of wet matting were brought out and placed at either end and a quantity of the white mixture was placed upon them.

At a signal from the head priest, who acted as master of ceremonies during the curious succeeding function, the ascetics who were to perform the first exhibitions of fire walking, gathered at one end of the bed of coals, which by this time was a fierce and glowing furnace.

Among the closely huddled group of native spectators a constant buzz of curious anticipation was kept up, but as the first ascetic took up his position this was succeeded by a deathlike silence throughout the gloomy temple, in which one might have heard a pin drop, the reverberation of the crackling coals, in the weird and unnatural silence, seeming almost thunderous in tone.

WALKED ON GLOWING COALS.

Having raised his hands and prostrated himself two or three times to render thanks to the god who had taken out the "soul" of the fire, the priest about to undergo the ordeal stood upon the wet matting, wiped his feet lightly in the white mixture, and while we held our breaths and our eyes almost leaped from their sockets in awestruck astonishment he walked over the glowing mass as unconcerned as if treading a carpet in a drawing room, his feet coming in contact with the white hot coals at every step.

He did not hurry, or take long steps, but sauntered along with almost incredible sangfroid, and before he reached the other side he turned around and sauntered as carelessly back to the mat from which he had started. Not even the smell of burning reached our nostrils, though his flimsy kimono reached to his ankles and was constantly blown up above his head by the force of the heat waves enveloping him.

On regaining the side from which he had started he rubbed his feet again in the powder before renewing the performance, crossing the fire in this manner several times. Even if, as advanced by one incredulous and searching spectator, the salt preparation prevented the feet from being burned, it is impossible to explain why the upper part of the body, which was not thus protected, was not burned, or his flimsy garments ignited, for, as I have said, the intense heat, even at our distance, several yards away, was almost unbearable.

After the first priest had walked over two or three times the chief priest took his turn. His movements were slower and even more delicate. He took short steps, his hands were clasped in front, and he seemed lost in contemplation, as he might on an ordinary garden walk. During the numerous times that he traversed the bed from one end to the other he acted with the same deliberation and dignity.

He, in turn, was followed by a young priest who, carried away by the religious frenzy of the moment, was theatrical in the extreme. He swung his hands, in one of which he held a fan, back and forth and lifted each foot high at every step and stamped violently on the glowing coals, yet he remained as unscathed as the others by the fiery ordeal. For five or ten minutes the priests passed over the coals, those not so engaged keeping up a monotonous invocative chant in the most dolorous strains. But the most remarkable and unexplainable part of the ceremony was yet to come.

The glow of the fire had now somewhat died down, so the coolies again came forward to replenish it, until once more its intense heat was plainly felt in all parts of the temple court yard. Some of the minor priests at this time passed through the little group of foreign spectators selling tickets for three sen (a cent and a half), which would permit the bearer to pass over the coals in the same way. But no one in our little group seemed willing to sacrifice himself on the altar of experiment, for even the most skeptical balked at the prospect of any hitch in the arrangements entailing more or less discomforting results.

The native spectators, however, were eager for the privilege, and a land office business was done among them by the priests. The fire being at its highest pitch of heat, several of the priests ran over it lightly and then called on those who wished to cross to do so, as the "soul" had been taken out of the glowing coals and there was no danger in the operation.

The first to go across was a woman with a baby on her back. She afterward crossed several times. After her came forty or fifty people, men, women and children, walking fearlessly across, one closely following the other, some, like the mother and her baby, returning to go across again and seeming to enjoy it. There were two or three who appeared to hurry at the end, but this was rather because they had stepped on a sharp coal than because they had received a burn.

While the salt and alum at each end had been renewed from time to time, there were many who walked across when it was practically exhausted, and they could have come in contact with very little of it. As one started on the fiery pilgrimage the priest with the flint and steel struck sparks about the person's head, while the other priests did not cease from their prayers and the waving of fans and gohei (sacred wands).

As night fell the scene became more and more impressive. The coals glowed out by contrast, and the white robed priests, with their weird incantations; the swart, intent faces of the onlookers and the eerie surroundings made one imagine for the moment that he was a passive and spellbound witness of one of Dore's imaginative drawings sprung into actual being.

The Japanese women and men and children about us got up and walked over the fire unhurt, a continuous stream passing over the fiercely glowing coals, the occasional swirl of the colored banners held by the priests, the flickering of the little red lanterns hung about the temple like gigantic fireflies, and the fascinating spectacle of the devotees passing like supernatural visitors from another world through the fiery bed of charcoal combining to form an indescribably weird and eerie panorama.

There was no doubt in the minds of any of the foreign spectators—and there were many skeptics among the number—as to the genuineness of the exhibition. The fire not only was genuine, but intensely hot, which might be felt even a considerable distance away from it.

The priests refused to divulge anything; the natives who had passed over the fire were ignorant of the power by which they were enabled to do so, so no satisfactory explanation of the seeming miracle can be given. The use of the salt and alum on the damp mats was the weakest point of all, but even that could have been but a very slight and temporary protection, and for the soles of the feet alone.

Curiosity prompted me a few days later to visit the temple, where I was able to interview the head priest through the good offices of

DON'T WANT EXECUTOR

Controversy Over John Wright Estate.

Treasurer Wright's Absence Causes Trouble.

Widow Has Put in a Claim of $22,347 Which Will Wipe Out the Estate.

The absence of Treasurer W. H. Wright from the Territory is likely to lead to some trouble over the estate of his uncle, the late John S. Wright. The missing treasurer was one of the heirs of the estate as well as a co-executor with the widow, Mrs. Anna Wright and W. O. Smith. Mrs. Wright was in court yesterday with an application for the appointment of an executor in the place of her erring nephew, and requested Judge Gear to give the position to her brother F. W. Wundenberg.

The petition however aroused a protest from C. F. Peterson whose wife is also one of the legatees under the will of John S. Wright. Wright died April 24th, 1901, and left a will providing that his widow should receive one-third of his property. After that, E. E. Conant of Kauai was to get a $1,000 bequest and the balance was to be divided in equal thirds—one share to W. H. Wright, one share to Mrs. C. F. Peterson and the third share to a brother of the deceased residing in California. The principal portion of the estate consists of 1850 shares of Ooakala Plantation stock of the par value of twenty dollars a share, though the stock is worth less than that amount now.

Mr. Peterson appearing for his wife objected to the appointment of a third executor claiming that the two were sufficient, and could carry out the provisions of the testator without the aid of a third. Mr. Magoon appeared for Mrs. Wright and urged the appointment of F. W. Wundenberg saying that the will provided for three executors and the two could not act in the absence of W. H. Wright. The petition also calls for the removal of Ex-Treasurer Wright who the petitioner says has left the Territory with no intention of returning.

W. O. Smith who is one of the executors also appeared in the matter, and explained the contents of the will and the intentions of the testator. He said however, that a claim of $22,347 had been made against the estate by one of the executors which would more than wipe out the property. This claim however, he stated he had so far not been willing to admit as just.

The claim for $22,347 is made by the widow of the decedent, Mrs. Anna Wright. It is claimed as due to her for sums advanced to her husband during his lifetime. The money so loaned was obtained from the proceeds of a ranch and land given to Mrs. Wright by her husband. Part of this alleged claim arose from money obtained from a sale of a portion of the land, and from rents obtained for other portions. This claim is resisted by Mrs. Peterson, as to allow it will wipe out her entire legacy. The objection to F. W. Wundenberg is also said to be due to the same cause, as he is a brother of the claimant, Mrs. Wright.

The hearing of the matter was finally postponed until next Monday at the request of Attorney Peterson who asked for more time.

"Up to the Machine."
Senator Quay tells a story to illustrate Senator Penrose's loyalty to the organization without regard for his personal opinions or comforts. Quay, in a spirit of well concealed gallantry, told the junior senator one day that no inconsiderable part of official popularity lay in entertaining during the Washington season, and advised him to go in more lavishly for social honors and attentions. "Why," said Quay, "a senator of your age ought to be married. Indeed, Penrose, I'd advise you for the sake of the organization to get married. Your chances for re-election through influential demand by the bigwigs will be increased a thousandfold if you take a charming wife down there with you next term. With your money you ought to be able to do it well." Penrose pondered deeply a minute or two and then asked: "Do you really think a thing like that counts?" "Sure!" answered the old man. "Well," said the junior senator, resignedly, "let the organization pick out the woman and I'll marry her."

Convict—"Yes lady, it was whiskey wot brought me here; I wuz pinched w'en I wuz boozey."
Kind visitor—"Ah, poor man! Promise that you will never enter a saloon again."
Convict—"I promise. I'm servin' a life sentence."

Not Much of a Scrap.
"Understand you had a fight with Jones. How was it?"
"Oh, it wasn't much of a fight. Jones blustered around and threatened to thrash me. I dared the coward to lay a hand on me, and he didn't take the dare. It wasn't much of a scrap."

"Why, two or three persons told me he kicked you into the gutter."
"Well, that wasn't laying a hand on me, was it?"

Merely a Suggestion.
Mullett—"The new minister came up to me today and said, 'Friend, lend me thine ear'—and then stopped short. Wonder what he did that for?"
Keener—"Probably he wanted to use it as an awning."

The Sultan's Shooting.
"Artistic workmanship" with the revolver, by the way, is one of the Sultan of Turkey's accomplishments; he is reputed to be one of the finest shots in the world, and practices daily. The reason of this is his constant dread of assassination, and he has always his weapon ready. It is stated that he once killed a gardener who stepped suddenly from behind a tree in the garden of the Yildiz palace, before the man had time to move a hand. He is, in fact, as the ranchmen of the wild West used to say, "some sudden with his artillery."

Free to Men! A Book Full of Facts About

Dr. McLaughlin's Electric Belt for Weak Men

I KNOW THAT NO MAN REMAINS A WEAKLING BECAUSE he wants to; I am sure that you want to overcome every indication of early decay that has shown itself on you. I don't think the man lives who would not like to feel as big and strong as a Sandow, and I know that if you have a reasonable foundation to build upon I can make you a bigger man than you ever hoped to be. I want you to know that, you who can't believe it, and I want you to have my book in which I describe how I learned that manly strength was only electricity and how I learned to restore it; also I want to tell you the names of some men who will tell you that when they came to me they were physical wrecks and are now among the finest specimens of physical manhood.

A HAPPY MAN

Dear Sir: Having used your famous electric belt for thirty days, I have received the greatest benefit that a man could gain—that is, health and strength. The tired, despondent feeling has gone. I feel the beginning of a new life, and am ever your debtor.

JUDGE HITS WINE SELLERS

Punchbowl Corner Grocers Must Pay Heavy Fines.

Portuguese corner grocers who sell liquors without carrying license to do so, had a sorry day of it in the police court yesterday. Judge Dickey hit three of them pretty hard, and one received a $500 fine. There were four Portuguese store proprietors from Punchbowl who were arrested on Saturday night by Deputy Sheriff Chillingworth and officer van Giesen.

The first man on the list, J. C. Abreu, pleaded guilty and was fined $150 and costs. Antone Paresa, Jr., put in the same plea and received a like sentence. J. J. Jardine it was supposed would plead guilty, but at the last moment, he determined to plead not guilty. There is a suspension of sentence resting against Jardine in a former case. M. J. Simoes had an idea he would win out against the Deputy Sheriff and fought his case with Attorney Vivas for his counsel. Simoes said that the native boy, who appeared as a witness for the prosecution, had purchased a bottle of soda and some crackers, and then asked to make his light meal in Simoes back room. Simoes said he permitted him to do so, the native boy taking the precaution to close the door behind him. The Deputy Sheriff was amused at this testimony, and the court room spectators smiled audibly.

When the Deputy asked how the boy happened to have a glass of wine in his hand when arrested, Simoes said he guessed it was a glass which he had accidentally left on a table after eating his supper. Vivas thought that the Judge would be better able to render a verdict, and probably in favor of his client, if he saw the premises and the lay of the rooms. After much argument the Judge announced his willingness to take a look. He was accompanied by Simoes, Vivas and the Deputy. When the Judge finished his inspection and was driven back to the court, he sentenced Simoes to pay a fine of $500 and costs. Simoes admitted on the witness stand to having been convicted once before of selling liquor without a license.

Jardine, who secured a continuance of his case until today, making himself objectionable to the Deputy Sheriff by asking for one favor and another, was sent to the jail yard for several hours to cool his insistent matner down.

The Planters' Monthly

This magazine is now in the twenty-second year of its publication.

It is especially devoted to the agricultural, more particularly sugar interests, of the Territory of Hawaii.

It contains all of the proceedings of the Meetings of the Hawaiian Sugar Planters Association, including the detailed reports concerning Machinery, Fertilizers, Methods of Cultivation, Transportation and Manufacture and many other subjects vital to the sugar business.

It contains a Directory of the sugar plantations of the Territory, their agents and managers.

It contains a Directory of the corporation stocks and bonds listed on the Honolulu Stock Exchange, showing the capital, shares issued, par value and price at last sale.

It contains carefully selected news of the sugar situation, progress, and prospects in Hawaii and throughout the world.

It contains news of the development of all local industries of an agricultural character, and the best that is published in a wide circle of exchanges, concerning tropical agriculture.

With the back volumes it forms an invaluable reference library concerning the agricultural development of Hawaii during the past twenty odd years.

THE FIRE-WALKERS OF JAPAN.

a Japanese friend. Nothing which I gleaned during this conversation tended to throw further light upon the apparently inexplicable phenomenon, but the manner in which the Shintoists themselves claim to receive supernatural power to perform this puzzling feat may not be without interest.

"To you, and to the ordinary spectator," replied the chief priest, in answer to my queries, "it seems an impossible thing, and doubtless you believe that it is some mere vulgar trick or conjuring deception. But we of the Shintoist faith do not find it difficult to account for our immunity while passing through the ordeal. We believe in our god thoroughly and purely, and by invoking him we are able to pour boiling water over our bodies, to walk over fire, and to mount sword blades without sustaining any harm.

"All this power we have gained by living pure and abstemious lives; we eat only when necessity prompts, and never of flesh; nor do we take stimulants. It is only after we have lived this life of absolute purity for years, and are clean in heart and spirit, that we can perform what seems to you, and is, a miracle."

MORSE AND MOTT TO ARRIVE TODAY

On the S. S. Ventura due to arrive this morning from the Colonies, there will be a number of passengers whose guiding hands have led the Young Men's Christian Association to its present successful position. The central advisory committee which influences the movements of all the American associations, with its headquarters in New York, of which Dr. Lucien C. Warner is chairman, Richard C. Morse, general secretary, and John R. Mott, associate general secretary for foreign work, will arrive on the steamship. Mr. Mott is the only one of the trio who will be unable to remain over in Honolulu for a visit. The other gentlemen and their wives will remain here until the next trip of the Alameda.

The first opportunity for the members and friends of the Honolulu Y. M. C. A., to meet the distinguished Association representatives will be on Thursday evening at 6 o'clock. At 6:15 the guests, the officers, directors, trustees and members of all committees, will gather around the festive board in Association Hall, where the ladies of the Y. W. C. A., will show what can be done for twenty-five cents a plate. Those who have not hitherto attended the meetings of the Life Problem Club, which dinner was served, will be surprised at the spread. About sixty people are expected to be present on this occasion. After the speeches are concluded the ten committees will hold meetings in various rooms.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

D. L. Van Dine leaves today for Hawaii.

The grand jury will probably make a final report today.

Commissioner Sargent expects to leave in the Ventura.

The public library reading room is being renovated and painted.

Miss Fannie Osborn leaves on the Ventura for a visit to her mother in Oakland.

The recent shipment of furniture for the Young Hotel is being unpacked and placed in position.

The Kilohana Art League's "first view" will be held at the rooms of the League this evening.

Artist Hitchcock and family expect to go to New York in the fall to be gone for two or three years.

Pacific Lodge, A. F. & A. M., will hold a special meeting tonight at 7:30 o'clock for work in the first degree.

The Initiatory degree and opening of the box taken from the corner stone of the I. O. O. F. building will take place at Excelsior Lodge tonight.

Immigration Commissioner Sargent was the guest yesterday of the United Chinese Society. United States officials and the Chinese Consul were present.

Albert K. Nawahi of Paho, Puna, Hawaii, was granted a retail liquor license by Treasurer Kepōkai yesterday. The application of Paul Kokomokai of Kau was denied.

The members of the Hayselden family leave for Lahaina at noon today, with the remains of the late Mrs. Hayselden, in the steamer Kihau, and not by the W. G. Hall as was first arranged.

The remains of Mrs. Talua Hayselden, who died at the Hawaiian Hotel on Saturday, will be taken to Lahaina today in the Kihau, for burial there in the family plot. All the members of the family will accompany the remains.

The W. C. T. U. will hold their regular monthly meeting in the parlors of the Central Union church this afternoon at 2:30. The subject of discussion will be "Savings Banks in the Schools." Rev. Alex. Mackintosh will address the meeting. A good attendance is requested.

Secretary Carter was busy all day yesterday with depositors of the Chinese fund, and has now paid out about $4,000 of the $155,000 in his hands. He expects to pay out the entire amount at the rate depositors are coming forward daily. Yesterday's crowd was the largest he has had since the signing of the bill by the Governor.

Commissioner of Immigration Sargent, accompanied by his secretary, P. A. Donahue, leaves today in the Ventura for the mainland. After making a short visit in San Francisco the Commissioner goes to Tacoma and Seattle, and thence perhaps to Vancouver from which city he will go to Washington via the Canadian-Pacific Ry.

Wahawa Home Furnishings.

The Christian Association Wahawa vacation homes will have a fair start in the way of furnishings. Mr. Coyne has contributed four spring beds to the Y. W. C. A. home; Mrs. P. C. Jones, a game table; Mrs. B. F. Dillingham, one dozen silver forks; Miss Carrie Gilman, a number of framed pictures; Mrs. Crabbe, bedstead, matting, refrigerator and three chairs. All the members of the Association who can possibly assist, are asked to be present at the gymnasium tomorrow afternoon to sew for the Home. Any persons wishing may donate material for sheets, pillow-cases, and other needful articles. The contract for the Wahawa home calls for its completion on June 3.

SARGENT GUEST OF JAPANESE

Hon. Miki Saito, Japanese Consul for Hawaii, was the host last evening at a dinner function given at the Moana Hotel in honor of United States Commissioner of Immigration Sargent. About forty guests, including leading United States officials in Honolulu and representative Japanese residents, were present, the dinner being given in the main dining hall of the beach hotel, with an elaborate regard for effective table decorations. The guests sat at two long tables arranged in the form of the letter U, the host, with Commissioner Sargent on his right and Hon. S. M. Damon on his left, occupying the seats at the rounded portion. Electrical decorations were used with striking color effect, red and white shades over many bulbs typifying the Japanese national colors, while here and there, bulbs covered with blue, carried out the color effect of the American flag.

Beside the host and guest of honor, here were present, United States Judge M. M. Estee, United States District Attorney R. C. Breckons, United States Marshal E. R. Hendry, Secretary of the Territory George R. Carter, Superintendent of Public Works Henry E. Cooper, U. S. Commissioner of Immigration for Hawaii J. K. Brown, Attorney-General Lorrin Andrews, Collector of Customs E. R. Stackable, Collector of Internal Revenue Roy Chamberlain, Postmaster J. M. Oat, Chief Justice Walter F. Frear, Circuit Judge Robinson, U. S. Quarantine Service Director, Dr. L. E. Cofer, Postoffice Inspector L. R. Bricker, R. D. Mead, secretary of the Planter's Association, P. A. Donahue, secretary to Commissioner Sargent, Messrs. Geffney, Brown and Ridgway of the Japanese Bureau of the Customs, Prof. Scott, principal of the High School, S. Okabe, secretary of the Japanese Consulate, K. Kishi, Dr. I. Katsuki, Dr. Tomiza Katsunuma, T. Ishikawa, A. K. Ozawa, S. Nagasawa, S. Mori, Dr. I. Mori, S. Ozaki, Dr. J. Uchida, S. Araki, K. Watanabe, C. Shiozawa, K. Kobayashi, J. Iwaga, Y. Yamaguchi.

Throughout the dinner Hawaiian music was rendered by the Moana's new quintet club.

On last Thursday evening United States District Attorney R. C. Breckons was host at an elaborate dinner given at the Moana Hotel in honor of Commissioner Sargent. The guests were seated at a circular table. The guests were Commissioner Sargent, Judge Estee, Collector Stackable, Internal Revenue Collector Chamberlain, Secretary of the Territory George R. Carter, Commissioner J. K. Brown, Mr. Donahue.

DIARRHOEA is more to be dreaded than diphtheria. It attacks all ages and is equally fatal to young and old. The great mortality resulting from diarrhoea is due to the lack of proper treatment at the first stages of the disease. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is a reliable and effective medicine, and if given in time will prevent serious consequences. This remedy never fails and is pleasant to take. Every household should have a bottle at hand. Get it today. It may save a life. Benson, Smith & Co., wholesale agents, sell it.
