THE CURSE OF DIVORCE

Theme of Sermon by Rev. W. M. Kincaid.

A PERIL TO THE STATE

Frivolous Causes for Which Separations are Sought Denounced Last Night.

Rev. William Morris Kincaid, pastor of Central Union church, says that divorces are imperilling the American home, and that this is due in a large measure to the latitude allowed by the courts for the dissolution of the marriage tie.

In a sermon last evening to his congregation, Mr. Kincaid made some startling revelations concerning the abuse of the divorce laws and the frivolous causes upon which annulments of the bonds of matrimony are sought.

"What God hath joined together let no man put asunder" was the text.

He considered the divorce evil as the greatest foe to family life. He divided the subject into two parts: What is marriage? and under what circumstances may it be dissolved?

He contrasted the two conceptions of the subject from the Pagan and the Christian points of view. The Roman Catholic position was that marriage was a divine law and that the church has the right to determine who should marry and who should not. On the other hand the Protestants, in their revolt from the Catholic church, denied that marriage was a sacred rite and that the church had any right in determining who should marry and who should not, and said that it was a civil contract, like any other contract. This doctrine taught that in taking this position the parties to this marriage were simply partners in a common enterprise and that being partners in a common enterprise the natural logical conclusion was that the partnership could be dissolved by mutual agreement of the two parties.

Mr. Kincaid said in contrast to this all should turn to the teachings of Christ from which the text is taken. The words of Christ were a denial of the Pagan conception of marriage at three crucical points—first, that it was a civil contract, declaring it a divine ordinance, and second, it denied the parties to a marriage were partners, but declared them to be of one flesh, and third, there was a denial that the marriage contract could be dissolved by the mere desire of the two parties.

The speaker dwelt at length on the last point wherein he said Christ denied that marriage could be dissolved for frivolous reasons. One of the strongest elements of Christ's teaching in this respect was that He taught that whosoever put away his wife and took unto himself another, committed adultery. No one, said he, has a right to put away a husband or a wife, except for the one crime which destroys the family.

Excerpts from dissertations on the old Roman customs were quoted to show what the Pagan view of marriage was.

The ease with which divorces were granted was illustrated by the record of the St. Louis courts, where between the hours of 9 a. m. and 4 p. m., in a single day not long since, sixty divorces were granted. He then quoted the California laws under which divorces could be granted. These were for cruel and inhuman treatment and other statutory causes, and he cited many amusing instances as adduced by the testimony to show how frivolous were many of the causes assigned for cruel and inhuman treatment. Among them were the following which he read:

"The witness testified that he had seen the plaintiff with but one button on his vest, and that he heard the defendant say that she would not allow the plaintiff to go to fires at night. The court decided that the wife was guilty of cruel and inhuman treatment and granted a decree of divorce."

Another was that "defendant treats plaintiff with great and unmerited contempt, having said that he did not care whether she left him or not. The foregoing remark was adjudged to be cruel and inhuman treatment, as it caused mental anguish. A decree of divorce was accordingly granted."

Still another: "My wife would not get up in the morning nor would she call me in the morning; she would not do anything I requested her to do. All this has caused me great mental suffering and anguish. Divorce granted."

"The defendant does not come home until 10 o'clock at night," quoted Mr. Kincaid, "and when he does return he keeps the plaintiff (wife) awake talking sometimes until midnight. Divorce granted."

But perhaps the most extraordinary of all these cases was this: "During our whole married life my husband never offered to take me out riding. This has been a source of great mental anguish and injury. Divorce granted."

"Such divorces bring the blush of shame to the face of every true American to think that there should be men and women in this land where so much has been made of manhood and womanhood who will stand up before God and pledge themselves to love and cherish and respect and take each other for better, for worse, who after a few weeks or months tear their covenants into pieces and fling them to the winds for the frivolous reasons that the husband did not take her out riding or another did not get up early in the morning.

"The safety of the American home depends upon the recognition of fundamental principles; that marriage is a divine ordinance brought into human society; that husbands and wives are not merely partners who can break the partnership at will. The marriage bond is not only for richer or poorer, for health or sickness, but for better or worse. They fly for refuge from connubial infelicity to the divorce courts. That is not the remedy. It is a long-suffering love; the remedy is not in separation, but in closer union. It is the spirit of discontent that seeks to make separations. It is the spirit of suspicion, not of truth, the discouragement, and not hope, that makes separations. The love that trusts, and when it can no longer trust, still hopes, and when it cannot longer hope, still endures: the love which is like the love of Christ which nothing can destroy, will bring men and women into a better understanding of one another."

PADEREWSKI IN THE ROLE OF DUELIST

NEW YORK, Dec. 26.—A cablegram from Paris says it is rumored that Ignace Jan Paderewski, the famous pianist, fought a duel near the French capital and was killed. No particulars were given.

PARIS, Dec. 27, 5 a. m.—Inquiries in quarters most likely to be correctly informed on the subject show that nothing is known in Paris to justify the report circulated in the United States that Ignace Jan Padereswki, the pianist, has been killed in a duel in France.

THE ORIENTAL FIRE CLAIMS

Governor Dole May Ask the Legislature to Pay Them.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—It is expected that Governor Dole of Hawaii will make a recommendation to the Hawaiian Legislature, which meets in February, for the settlement of the claims of Chinese and Japanese growing out of the destruction of their property at Honolulu at the time of the bubonic plague outbreak. It appears that the Chinese claims are less than was at first estimated and that the total of the Japanese and Chinese claims is approximately $1,800,000.

The Chinese Government has not been in a condition of late to exert pressure in behalf of the claims of its citizens, but the Japanese authorities have been actively looking out for the losses sustained by their countrymen and now seem to be in a fair way of securing partial remuneration. Governor Dole suggested some time ago that the matter be referred to the Hawaiian Legislature, and this was approved by the officials here as the best means of adjustment. It is probable, however, that Governor Dole's recommendation will be considerably below the face value of the claims. There appears to be little doubt that the Legislature will authorize a settlement.

More Porto Ricans Coming.

SAN JUAN, Dec. 27.—The New York and Porto Rico Steamship Company's steamer Arkadia sailed from Ponce yesterday for New Orleans, having on board 400 Porto Ricans, 65 per cent of whom were women and children, destined for Hawaii.

HAZING OF BOOZ

Commandant O. L. Hein Testifies.

CADET AT ALL MEALS

WEST POINT, N. Y., Dec. 29.—Lieutenant Colonel Otto L. Hein, Commandant at the United States Military Academy, was the first witness called today to testify before the Court of Inquiry appointed to investigate the allegations of brutal hazing of cadets. Col. Hein produced the Superintendent's sick reports, which showed that Cadet Booz had only reported sick once while he was at the academy. He was excused on that occasion from drill, as he was suffering from an acute attack of diarrhoea. The records made it clear that Booz had never been absent from a meal while he was a cadet at West Point.

An extract from the records was read by the witness, who said Cadet Booz had availed himself of the Saturday evening privileges of going anywhere within the reservation on Saturday, August 6, the day of the Booz-Keller fight. Booz reported his going away at 1:58 p. m. and his returning at 3:18 p. m. In reply to General Clous, the witness said that in the summer of 1899, through an anonymous letter, the brutal hazing of Cadets MacArthur and Haskell came to the knowledge of the academy officials. An investigation was immediately ordered, but no information as to the facts could be elicited from any of those examined, among whom were MacArthur and Haskell. The regulations prohibiting hazing provided punishment for hazers and hazed alike. In telling of the agreement made by the fourth class men in 1899, among whom were Cadets MacArthur and Grant, not to submit to hazing, Col. Hein said:

"I called the class together (it was a very large one) and explained to them the rules and regulations prohibiting hazing. I told them if they would agree not to submit to hazing and promise not to haze anyone themselves they would rid the academy of a foul blot on its reputation. Soon afterwards they appealed to me to be released from this agreement, but I refused.

"I also heard," continued the witness, "that candidates preparing at Highland Falls were being hazed and I made an investigation, the outcome of which was the severe punishing of the guilty cadets."

The remainder of the commandant's testimony was merely an explanation of the actions of the authorities and the measures taken by them to suppress hazing at the academy. The punishments were increased and the number of cadets found guilty of violations of the regulations in 1899 were greatly in excess of the previous year. Speaking generally of hazing, Col. Hein said:

"Hazing is traditional and I am sorry to say is thought by persons inside as well as outside of the academy to be commendable, and as long as students hear it spoken of in this way it will be impossible for the authorities to stamp it out."

"What methods do you think could be used to stamp out calling out of fourth class men and subsequent fistic encounters?" asked General Clous.

"Why, I consider that a form of hazing and as long as the cadets do not live up to the agreement not to submit to hazing and the upper class do not cease interfering with them, it will be impossible to suppress it."

BUYS A PACIFIC ISLE.

The Government Acquires Private Property at Guam.

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—Secretary Long has purchased for the United States Government another Pacific Island, avers the Washington correspondent of the Herald.

This island is under the American flag and lies in the harbor of San Luis d'Apra, Guam. It is proposed to use it as a site for a coaling station. The price paid for the island was $900 in American gold. It is 130 acres in extent, is healthy and, it is believed, will make an admirable site for the proposed station.

The island was owned by several prominent natives of Guam, who, officials say, will live in affluence as a result of the sale.

ROYALTY MAY VIEW COMING YACHT RACE

LONDON, Dec. 27.—"The New York Yacht Club," says the Daily Express, "will invite Emperor William and the Prince of Wales to witness the cup races, and President McKinley will also send notes expressing the pleasure their visits would give."

Sir Thomas Lipton, who has been interviewed on the subject for the Daily Express, said he thought it within the range of possibility that the Prince of Wales would accept such an invitation.

NEARLY FIFTY ARE DROWNED

Terrible Accident to Many Little Skaters in an Iowa Town.

BURLINGTON, Iowa, Dec. 27.—A telephone message from Washington, Iowa, this evening announces that fifty-one children were skating near Foster, Monroe county, when the ice gave way and forty-nine of them were drowned. The message announced that two of the youngsters, badly bruised and utterly exhausted, managed to reach land and give the alarm. Telephone and telegraph messages to every point near Foster have failed to bring confirmation or denial of the story and there is no means of tracing the origin of the first message.

DES MOINES, Iowa, Dec. 27.—Telephone messages by way of Oskaloosa and Ottumwa say the report of the downing of forty-nine school children at What Cheer is true.

Record of the Boers.

LONDON, Dec. 29.—General Kitchener, telegraphing from Pretoria under date of Friday, December 28, sends a summary of the number of attacks made by the Boers at various points. The only important incident was an attack upon a baggage column near Greylingstad. A company with a pompom made a sortie from Greylingstad and drove off the Boers. Captains Radclyffe and Harvest were wounded, eight men were killed, 27 were wounded and twenty were reported missing.

The American Federation of Labor will extend its organization to Guam.

A GREAT FAILURE IN THE LONDON FINANCIAL WORLD

LONDON, Dec. 29.—The London and Globe Finance Corporation, Limited, has suspended payment. When the brokers yesterday delivered stock purchased on account of the London and Globe and asked for payment they received checks which were dishonored. This was followed today by the failure on the Stock Exchange of twelve firms, as follows: Haggard, Hale & Pixley, Garle & Driver, Douglas, Jr., & Co., Cornfoot Bros., F. A. Cohen, Blockey & Buckingham, Gunn & Aubrey, Richards & Sloper, Baker & Smith, F. C. Watts & Co., Flower & Co., and F. Boully & Company.

The first named is a big firm with important connections. It is feared a number of smaller jobbers will be affected.

While the differences of the firms closely connected with the London and Globe division were largely discounted, the repeated fall of the hammer this morning caused a great sensation. It is feared the full list of failures is not yet known.

Almost the whole interest on the Stock Exchange today centered in the West Australian market, the condition of which sympathetically affected the others. All the shares of the London and Globe group toppled, especially Lakeviews and Lerol No. 2. The shares of the latter were yesterday quoted at 23, but today they are unsaleable at 4. The London and Globe is also heavily involved in the British Columbian market. The situation is not yet cleared up, as the rumors of arrangements to assist the London and Globe are not credited in well-informed circles. There is the greatest indignation against Mr. Whitaker Wright, who is the fountain-head of the concern, and others of the London and Globe group. There has been somewhat of a recovery in Lakeviews since last evening.

The chairman of the London and Globe Finance Corporation, Limited, is the Marquis of Dufferin and Ava, the former Governor General of Canada, and British Ambassador at Paris. The failure of the concern of which he is the head adds one more sorrow to the closing chapter of his life, for he is today preparing to start for South Africa, in company with Lady Dufferin, in consequence of the serious condition of his son, Lord Frederick Temple Blackwood, lieutenant in the Ninth Lancers, who was wounded Monday at Glenfontein. It is scarcely a year ago since Lord Dufferin lost his eldest son, the Earl of Ava, who died at Ladysmith. He is now encompassed by family grief, to which are added these serious financial troubles.

Lord Dufferin's fellow directors are Whitaker Wright, who is well known n connection with many companies; Lieutenant General, the Hon. Somerset-Gough Calthorpe, who has been colonel in chief of the Fifth Dragoon Guards since 1892, and Lord Pelcam-Lincoln, Master of the Queen's household and a son of the former Duke of Newcastle. Lord Dufferin holds 5,000 shares of the London and Globe and 20,000 British Americans.

According to last night's dispatche from London, some trouble was disclosed on the Stock Exchange yesterday in the West Australian market, resulting in a considerable fall in the shares of the London and Globe Finance Corporation, Limited, and Lerol Mining Company, Limited. Seven firms had checks returned by the clearing house. This, the dispatch added, did not imply failure, however, as it is expected that the usual period of grace allowed will enable the firms to meet their engagements.

The thirteenth failure of stock brokers was announced before the close of the Exchange. It was that of Bartholomew & Jacks. The fact that a crisis has been reached in the speculations of the Whitaker-Wright group of mines and that the worst was known, occasioned a feeling of relief, after the strain of anticipation. While the mining market continued depressed, other departments quickly recovered.

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—There was a reflection in the opening stock market of the unsettled conditions in London, growing out of the embarrassment of the London and Globe Finance Corporation. A number of international stocks opened down from 1 to 1 5-8, Kansas and Texas preferred and Northern Pacific being the greatest sufferers. Sugar fell 1 3-4. The few stocks which showed gains were not aggressively strong. The opening declines attracted large buying orders all through the list and there were quick recoveries all around.

HER WORDS DREW TEARS

Audience Affected by Miss Murcutt.

CITY'S GREATEST NEED

FOR nearly an hour yesterday afternoon Miss A. L. Murcutt, "around-the-world" missionary and evangelist, held a large audience at the opera house in close attention and interest. The sincerity and eloquence of the speaker appealed strongly to those present and a number of persons were visibly affected. During Miss Murcutt's address many wept, and when the lecture was finished, dispersing groups talked together seriously, speaking of the religious helpfulness of her words and making resolutions for a more devotional future.

A large chorus sang a number of songs and the opening prayer was offered by Rev. E. A. Cory. Rev. S. P. Perry made a few remarks and Mrs. Dr. McDonald sang "Holy City."

Miss Murcutt, whose manner is very graceful and self-possessed, appropriately greeted her audience and at once took earnestly hold of her subject. Her topic was "Honolulu's Greatest Need" and the substance of her address was as follows:

"It has been my lot to travel through many countries and to see strange things; I have been the honored guest in palatial residences, and I have stood in prison cells beside men condemned to death; I have climbed the Alpine heights and have seen the glory of the tropics. I have visited the grand old burying place of our departed great ones at Westminster Abbey, and I have visited the Great Tower of London, where poor Anne Boleyn was beheaded. These things and many more I have seen, and they all have furnished me with much food for reflection, but I think I have experienced the thing that impressed me most since my arrival in this city.

"I suppose there comes to all of us moments when we want to be alone, shut out from the world.

"Yesterday I climbed yonder mountain. As I ascended the valley widened, and the city grew smaller, slipping down beneath me. Still higher up I looked about me and lost sight of the city in its vegetation. I gazed upon the waving leaves of the plantations, and away in the clear distance to Pearl City, with its shining waters opalescent in the sun. Off to my left Diamond Head reared its loftiness into the sky, looking like a great lion crouching by the sea. Below me lay the city of Honolulu, at the feet of Punchbowl, and all about in the wide sweep of the circle the sentinels of the everlasting hills kept watch, silent in their dignity and grandeur. Out over the sea I looked, and I saw the water turn to gold, with the white-capped waves kissing the sands at its shores. A great peace stole over my soul. In the whisper of the wind through the palm trees I heard the word, 'God.' Well may the artist have received his inspiration here; well may great writers have gazed upon beauty such as this and dipped their pens; well may the muses have almost exhausted themselves in praises. Methinks the Great Architect of the universe has conceived no nobler plans. He has made the great blue jagged mountains and the lowly gentle valleys into one vast cathedral, singing the praises of God.

"The great nineteenth century with its wonderful progress has now passed into history, but I think it will always be referred to as the wonderful nineteenth century. It brought us our first steamboat, it taught us how to light our fires, it gave us our telegraph lines; * * * thousands of cities have sprung up in our republic, and things that have surpassed eighteenth century belief have come to pass. It has been equal to the epics of heroic ages. My friends; oh, my friends, it is a glorious thing to be living in such a time; it is a sublime thing. It has been said that commerce is the soul of progress. A few years ago the Hawaiian Islands were solely dependent upon small sailing vessels for news from the outside world. Now there are something like eighteen mail steamers within a month. Only a few years ago the first missionaries came to the Islands; behold the fruits that are, and that are still to come. With the coming of the missionaries foreign immigration began and commerce sprang up and grew. Now we have our great commercial industries, our great productive plantations, and we have reached a stage of independence. Our imports are decreasing and our exports are increasing ten-fold with the years.

"The other day I visited one of the plantations. They showed me there a tract of thirty-five acres that had produced 14½ tons to the acre. There may be places in the world where there has been such a yield, but I don't know of it if there is.

"Honolulu's greatest need is not commercial activity, my friends, for she has plenty of that. It is religion; no, it is Christianity. I think the whole world's greatest need is not religion, but Christianity. I sometimes think there is too much religion, and not enough Christianity; too much goody-goodyism. I mean the kind of religion that people have who go to church on Sundays and forget to think of Christ on week days. * * * The difference

DOCTOR MARY BARRY MAY PRACTICE MEDICINE HERE

DR. MARY BARRY, the "ideal woman law maker," who is now visiting Honolulu, is much delighted with the Islands. She is visiting with her sister, Mrs. L. M. Smith, on Beretania street, and will probably make her home here.

Dr. Barry has won many laurels in the political world of Colorado, and represented the Fusionists in the State Legislature in 1898. She became most noted through her efforts in behalf of the married women of the State. All the bills she introduced into the Legislature were in the interest of married women's property rights.

Aside from her political career, Miss Barry has made an eminent success of her profession and has held many positions of honor and trust in the various large hospitals.

She had a splendid practice in Colorado when she decided to go into politics, and has subsequently practiced medicine, but feeling much in need of a rest she came to the Islands to visit her sister.

She expresses herself as so delighted with the Islands that Mrs. Smith hopes to induce her to stay and take up her professional work.

In case Dr. Barry remains and goes into public affairs in her usual capable and energetic way, local politicians and physicians will need to look to their laurels.

between Christianity and the rest of the religions is that the others tell one what to do and Christianity tells one how to do it.

"And Christianity, my friends, is the great living religion, the one that will last through the ages. The great law of retribution is at work. The day of downfall for false religions is at hand. The great wall about China cannot much longer keep out civilization and Christianity, nor keep in ignorance and false religion. * * * But Christianity, my friends, is not a question for nations so much—it is the question of the individual, and individually must it one day be answered. Shall we find a glorious salvation, or shall we be lost? It is you, my friend, and me, who must each answer for our soul. * * *

"True Christianity has been taught us, my friends—do you know when and by whom? Why, it was ages ago, and it was Christ himself, who by his own beautiful life, showed us the way—the way of truth, of peace, of glory, of sweet unselfishness and godliness. His life was a life of beautiful days, and hours and moments—it teaches his religion, not to help ourselves so much as to help others. He never lost an opportunity. Do you remember how he sat down by the well to rest. He had traveled far, on a dusty way, and his feet were weary—oh, so weary. But he was not too weary, my friends, when the woman of Samaria came, to comfort her and forget his own weariness in the joy of giving her solace. Then he went on his way to the city of Jerusalem, knowing what awaited him—knowing that he was to be betrayed and that he was to be cruelly crucified. But did he mourn for himself? No, he went bravely on, healing the sick and forgetting his own pain in helping others. He came to the city of Jericho, that great wicked city of commerce, and there were multitudes of unbelievers who came out of curiosity to see the man Jesus. They did not come, my friends, to look on his blessed face in reverence—they came from the merest idle curiosity. There may be some among you this afternoon who have come to this meeting from curiosity—you have heard that a woman was going to speak at the Opera House, and with a desire to see what she was like, you came to the house of God. If it is so I do not chide—I do not care what your motive, I am glad you are here, and I pray that it may help you—that some little seed may be sown in your heart, if you be unconverted, so that it may grow and bear precious fruit. * * * Among those who came to see Christ in Jericho there was the rich man of the town, Zaccheus, and he was wicked, thriving on what he had ground from the poor. He came from idle curiosity, but what happened? When the crowd gathered and the tramp of the march came nearer he climbed a sycamore tree to see the face of the man Jesus as he rode into the city. He looked straight into the face of Jesus, and when he gazed upon that divine countenance his wicked heart was changed; the light of God had found its way into his heart and he was converted. He cried out to Jesus and said that he gave him half of his riches, and that if there were any in the multitude from whom he had taken unjustly, he would return it four-fold. * * * I think there comes a time in every one's life when he wants to see the face of Jesus, but alas, sometimes an obstacle prevents, and he loses the glimpse. Oh, the pity of it! Those obstacles, my friends, are such trifles, did we but know it. Sometimes it is business, sometimes worldliness, sometimes politics—shutting out the sunlight and the glimpse of the Savior. * * * Procrastination is the thief of of many a soul. It is because you 'put off,' my friends, that you are lost. You will keep putting off and putting off until the Savior has passed by and it will be too late.

"It is said that once Satan held a conference in hell in order to devise a new way of gaining souls. His imps were gathered around him, and one of them said, 'I will go to earth and say there is no heaven, no God, no hell,' but Satan said, 'No; they will not believe it.' Another imp said, 'I will go and tell them that the Bible is a cunning fable.' Satan said 'no, that will not do.' But Satan was delighted when the third imp said, 'I will go to earth and tell them that there is a God and a heaven and a hell, and that the Bible is true, but I will tell them there is no hurry; that there is plenty of time.' * * * *

"Ah, my unconverted friends, if you but knew. It is not hard. When one lets in the light it shines, and all difficulties pass away. It brings a change; the dishonest become honest, the immoral become pure. Some of you say you cannot be Christians, because you see people mourning and you cannot mourn, because you do not feel that way. Feeling is not salvation. Salvation is faith in the living Christ. * * * * There are some who get converted, but it is not complete. Some get converted, but their pocketbooks remain unconverted. True conversion, my friends, extends to the pocketbook, and the pocketbook is laid on the altar when one gives one's life to Jesus. * *

My friends, there is salvation for you all. It is not for nations that we battle; it is for the individual. Let us all try to help in the great work, and not try to help ourselves so much as to help others. This is Honolulu's greatest need—to be helped to see the light. Let us all work to that end, and let us gather in a glorious harvest of souls, no matter what the nationality, nor what manner of man we convert, so that we save souls for the Great Day. God is no respecter of persons."

MARQUES IN AUCKLAND.

Theosophist Lecturcs on the Human Aura in New Zealand.

AUCKLAND, Dec. 10.—Dr. A. Marques lectured last night in the Mutual Life Buildings, Lower Queen street, to a large and interested audience, his subject being "The Human Aura." Scientists, he said, had refused to believe in this aura or magnetic emanation that surrounds the human being, but later investigations were adding more and more to the fact. Not only did it exist in connection with humanity, but with all other kingdoms of nature, and it might be observed surrounding animal, vegetable and mineral forms. Occult study of the subject carried it far beyond the physical plane, and it was found to exist in connection with man's spiritiual body, and every form on every plane of existence was surrounded by this colored sphere of light. By it were explained the phenomena of thought transference and kindred subjects, and a knowledge of it was of use in the curing of disease. The lecturer exhibited a small colored diagram of the aura around the human form, a study of which greatly assisted the understanding of the human constitution. Some discussion followed the lecture, which is the last Dr. Marques gives in Auckland.

Dr. A. Marques, the general secretary of the Australian section of the Theosophical Society, leaves for Sydney today by the Zealandia, after a stay of three weeks in this city.

THE COMING CRISIS AMONG THE MORMONS

When Snow Dies, Cannon and Young May Cross Swords.

ONLY THE LIFE of a feeble old man is between the Mormon Church and a crisis affecting the succession to its presidency. Lorenzo Snow, the present head of the church, is 86 years of age, and the state of his health gives his people frequent apprehension and causes consideration of the question as to his successor.

Not since the time at Nauvoo, when Brigham Young overcame rivalry and became the head of the church after the killing of Joseph Smith, has there been any doubt as to the right of succession. The theory of the Mormon Church is that the Lord inspires the twelve Apostles in the naming of the church president, but invariably the presiding apostle has been chosen, and the presiding apostle has been the senior one in term of service in the quorum of the twelve, as the apostolic organization is called. So heretofore it has been simply a formal matter to designate a new head of the twelve or a new head of the church. But when Apostle Richards, the president of the twelve, died a few months ago, he bequeathed an ecclesiastical problem to his brethren.

The president of the church has two counselors, who are chosen from among the apostles. Their apostolic functions are suspended while they act as counselors, but if when their chief dies his successor does not retain them they go back to their seats among the apostles. George Q. Cannon and Joseph F. Smith are the counselors of President Snow. Cannon became an apostle in 1860, and Smith reached the apostolic rank in 1867. But Brigham Young, son of the prophet, was ordained an apostle by his father's favor in 1855, although he did not become an actual member of the apostles' quorum until 1868, after Cannon and Smith had taken seats in it, and he claims seniority, with the right of succession, on the ground of his earlier ordination.

When the apostles were confronted with the duty of selecting a chief on the death of Richards, they evaded a decision of the question of succession involved by leaving the position of president of the twelve vacant. To take the place George Q. Cannon would have been compelled to retire from his present position, in which he is regarded by many as virtually the head of the church. On the other hand, the elevation of Brigham Young would have been a concession, according to precedent, of his claim to the church presidency. So the failure to select a chief apostle is regarded as on the whole indicating the preference of a majority of the apostles in behalf of Cannon. But Young and his adherents hope that his name has not yet lost its power to conjure, and that the favoritism shown him by his father will have strong influence in compelling recognition of his claim.

LE BARON JOHNSON CASE

The Clergyman Asked To Be Deposed Before He Disappeared.

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—The fact that the Rev. James Le Baron Johnson, who left the city simultaneously with the disappearance of Mary Hoffman, was formally deposed from the ministry of the Protestant Episcopal church about a week ago has become known to his friends in this city. It was learned today that he was deposed from the ministry at his own request, and the announcement of his deposition states that there is no reflection upon his moral character in the proceedings.

Mr. Johnson disappeared about two weeks ago. About the time of his disappearance he wrote to Bishop Potter expressing a determination to give up the ministry and requesting that an announcement of the deposition be made. Bishop Potter caused the announcement to be made at the Church of the Ascension, Fifth avenue and Tenth street, although Mr. Johnson had not been associated with the work of that church.

Mr. Johnson had resigned his place as assistant rector of Grace church and his resignation had been accepted. He had resigned the place of chaplain in the fire department and Fire Commissioner Scannell had placed the letter of resignation on file.

NEW ORGANIC LAW FOR CUBA

A Constitution Will be Adopted by the Havana Convention.

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—A dispatch to the Tribune from Havana says: A constitution for the new Republic of Cuba will be adopted by the constitutional convention within the next four weeks. This is the general opinion among delegates to the convention and is generally understood in official circles.

The five sections of the convention have been meeting together and have been discussing the projects carefully. All of the delegates say that the convention is agreed upon all of the principal features of the final project which is being prepared by the central committee, and that there is no doubt that, so far as a constitution for Cuba is concerned, they will complete their work within the next few days.

The center of interest here at present is the character of the constitution this body will prepare and in what light it will be viewed by the Congress of the United States.

When the convention first received projects from the delegates for consideration there were three presented. The one presented by General Ruis Rivera, in naming the qualifications for President of the proposed republic, had this provision: "Any male citizen of Cuba, over forty years of age, and who was born in Cuba, will be eligible to the Presidency of the republic." General Marua, in his project, incorporated the provision which has been accepted. It is that any male citizen over forty years of age who was a citizen of Cuba at the signing of the constitution will be eligible to the Presidency.

This provision has been made to include General Gomez among those who will be eligible to the Presidency. It means that General Maximo Gomez will be the first President of the Cuban Republic if the constitution is adopted with this provision and if it is sanctioned by the Congress of the United States.

The New York Tivoli, lately run as a temperance tavern, has been closed owing to the activity of the police in arresting all women who left it without male escorts.

ANOTHER TRUST GOES TO SMASH

A Big San Francisco Trade Combination is Worsted.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 27.—Judge Morrow has decided that the Tile, Mantel and Grate Association of this and many other states is an illegal organization, in violation of the Sherman Anti-Trust Act and the result of a conspiracy in restraint of trade.

A jury in the United States Circuit Court has fixed the amount of damages suffered by a firm victim of the illegal combination and this is believed to be the first time in the United States a money judgment for injuries suffered at the hands of a trust has been awarded.

The complaint against the combine said: That the said constitution and by-laws provide that no sales or deliveries or contracts for the sale or delivery or for the placing of tiles, grates or mantels will be made by the said manufacturers thereof to any person dealing therein or engaged as a matter of business in the sale, disposal, laying or placing of tiles, grates or mantels, unless they, the said persons, belong to or join the said unincorporated association, and shall pay or cause to be paid over to the said unincorporated association the sum of —— dollars, and shall bind and obligate themselves to abide by the rules and regulations, constitution and by-laws of the said monopoly and unincorporated association.

The Judge held that the members of this organization has, in violation of the law, entered into a contract and combination in restraint of trade and commerce and that they have attempted to monopolize and have monopolized a part of the trade and commerce between the manufacturers in the east and the dealers in San Francisco in the article of tiles.

The verdict of the jury was in accordance with these instructions and the amount of damages was fixed at $500. As the law—the Sherman Anti-Trust Act—provides for a trebling of this verdict it means $1,500 for the plaintiff.

PINGREE DEFIES THE COURT

Says it Has no Jurisdiction to Summon a Governor.

DETROIT, Dec. 29.—Governor Pingree, who was summoned to appear before the Ingham County Circuit Court today to answer to the charge of contempt, as the result of an interview in which he attacked the court and the prosecuting attorney, has refused to answer the summons. He was cited to appear at 1 o'clock today, but at 11:30 the Governor sent the following telegram to the court:

"As the executive of the state of Michigan and representing one of the three independent, equal and co-ordinate divisions of the power of the Government, I am constrained (meaning no disrespect to the Judicial department) to deny the authority of the judiciary in the premises.

"Were I, as chief executive of this state, disposed to recognize the authority of the Judicial department on this particular occasion the official duties pressing upon me in the closing hours of my administration would not permit of my giving the matter attention.

(Signed) PINGREE."

After he had given the telegram, Governor Pingree was asked whether he had anything to say in connection with his action.

"Not a word," he answered. "The public can read the telegram and draw its own conclusions."

IS NOT PERE MARQUETTE

Wisconsin's Present to the Nation is a Fanciful Embodiment.

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—According to the Washington correspondent of the Herald the statue of Pere Marquette, in Statuary Hall in the capitol, about which there was almost a religious war a few years ago, turns out not to be the statue of Pere Marquette at all.

This statue was presented to the nation by the state of Wisconsin. Objections were raised to its installation in the capitol by persons of other than Catholic denomination and for many months the authorities hesitated as to what they should do. They finally gave Pere Marquette a place with other prominent men.

A discovery has now been made of an oil painting of Marquette in Montreal, which indicates that the statue is as far from being an accurate representation of the famous priest as day is from night. The painting in Montreal, it is said, is undoubtedly authentic and was so covered with dust that no outline of the portrait could be had until it had undergone a careful cleaning.

It is believed that this painting is the only likeness of Marquette in existence, and the face in oil is not the face of the Marquette in marble at the capitol.

QUERIES FROM CHINESE COURT

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—A dispatch to the Herald from Peking says: A note was received last evening from the imperial court at Si-Ngan-fu acknowledging the receipt of the demands of the powers.

It further contained five questions, or requests, namely: First, might not the Taku forts remain, standing, though dismantled?

Second, is it proposed to behead princes the same as other offenders?

Third, if the demands are acceded to, would the allies cease sending out expeditions?

Fourth, what places do the allies propose to occupy?

Fifth, how long do they propose to occupy them?

THE PACIFIC

Commercial Advertiser

WALTER G. SMITH - - EDITOR.

MONDAY : : : : : : JANUARY 7

If the planters, when they bring along their negro field hands, would encourage about 3,000 "old black mammy" cooks to join the procession, the day of the Oriental kitchen despot would soon vanish. Honolulu has no color line to draw against the mammy.

Italians are doing well on one of the plantations and the "loafing and sullen Japs" find their walking papers. There will be other Italians and many American negroes here before long and a fine chance given to several thousand Orientals to go back to the land of the elusive yen.

An error in transcribing stenographic notes made 1899 read 1900 in the article in Saturday's paper on the confirmation of the land sales in Hawaii. The text of the article gave a plain intimation of the error but it is nevertheless our duty to correct it. It will be noted in the correspondence that the story of the anti-Dole press that the United States District Attorney here would receive orders to bring suit to annul certain land sales was based, not upon any advices to such effect from Washington, but upon a report filed by the District Attorney himself against the legality of such sales. Inasmuch as the lawyer in the United States Attorney's office who makes up the mind of the Department in land cases has overruled the District Attorney here we may reasonably assume that no such suits will be brought.

Mrs. Sarah J. Grace writes the Advertiser a long letter on the Star Dairy case which we cannot find room for in this issue owing to the pressure of telegraphic news. The points of the letter are that Mr. Magoon, though secretary and treasurer of the Star Dairy, does not run it, and that he has never countenanced the selling of adulterated milk. Mrs. Grace adds that Lambo, the driver, has been arrested twice, the first time on an "absolutely unfounded" charge of "selling" milk adulterated with Irish moss, and the second on a charge "which was not proven" of delivering an adulterated product. Our own recollection of Lambo's career is that Inspector Shorey swore that there was an adulterant in the milk delivered by that driver to a patron, but was not able to show to the satisfaction of the jury that the substance used was Irish moss. If it wasn't that it was something just as bad. Mrs. Grace is certainly in error in regard to the more recent proceedings, for it was shown clearly enough in court that Lambo had delivered bad milk to Mrs. Levy, but as he took no money for it he was permitted to go on that technicality. So far as Magoon is concerned Mrs. Grace says that he helped her start the Star Dairy, which is quite reason enough why she should take up the cudgels in his defense. Doubtless he needs all the help he can get in this and many other cases.

SCOTS ARE VICTORIOUS

EVENLY MATCHED TEAMS

England and Scotland Struggled for First Honors in Association Game.

Saturday afternoon witnessed the first of the championship series of matches which is taking place among the Association football clubs to decide the premier position of the Hawaiian Islands. The grounds of Oahu College had been generously placed at the disposal of the League by Dr. Smith and the contesting clubs were thus allowed the benefit of the finest campus in Honolulu.

The opposing teams were those of England and Scotland and strong combinations of each were placed in the field. Great interest centered in the opening match, as the clubs engaged are probably the strongest in the League, and the winner of the match would therefore be placed in a very favorable position for the championship.

Scotland had brought together a very formidable eleven—probably the strongest which was at their disposal. The team would, however, have been greatly strengthened by the inclusion of Boyd, who is at present on Hawaii. The English were, on the other hand, forced to take the field with a team weakened by the absence of Irvine and Harvey. Both are good and trusty men and their absence is to be regretted. England, however, played three new men, in each of whom they found a trump, viz., Messrs. Biddell, Owens and Cheek. The latter is entirely new to the game but will ere long do great things for the champions of the rose.

The English won the toss, and, selecting the town goal, placed their opponents at the disadvantage of the sun and a slightly raising ground. The game began in great style and it was at once seen that both teams were resolved to fight to the utmost. First the English forwards got away, Lansdale and Davies combining well and doing effective work. Cheek's pace was also used to good advantage but the defense of Robert Anderson and McGill proved equal to the occasion, and the pressure was relieved.

Now came the turn of the thistle attack, which was pressed with the utmost determination. Goudie at center forward played a grand game and was ably seconded by Fiddes. Catton, too, put in several splendid runs down the left wing and for some time the English defense were in dire stress. Biddell played in excellent style and the two fullbacks, Soper and Owens, continually rose to the occasion and defended the English citadel in great style.

At length the Scottish attack forced an unproductive corner, thanks to the excellent work of Ault, who throughout put in really brilliant work and preserved his defense intact when all seemed hopeless. At length some good work on the Scottish right wing, in which Monroe figured prominently, culminated in a well-placed shot from Kay which was impossible to save.

The ball was again started and the English forwards put in a great deal of determined work, which called forth splendid work on the part of Bottomley and Lennox. Just before the call of half time it appeared certain that England would score. Lansdale and Davies appeared to hold the goal at their mercy, but excellent judgment on the part of Kenwick saved the situation. At half-time the score stood:

SCOTLAND 1.
ENGLAND 0.

After the interval the play was of as vigorous and determined a character as during the first half. The Scots, however, held the goal well in hand, and though at times the English broke away, their efforts were neutralized by the sound defense of the Land of the Leal. David Anderson in particular being to the fore in warding off a spasmodic attack. On the part of England Stokes and Parish continued to play a great game, their services being continually requisitioned by the determined attack of the thistle forwards.

At last Scotland's efforts were rewarded by another goal from Fiddes, which placed the English deficit beyond redemption in the short time at their disposal. Towards the latter part of the game the English forwards livened things up again and appeared likely to score, but the call of time found the goal record unaltered: Final score:

SCOTLAND 2.
ENGLAND 0.

Without a doubt the best team won and Scotland thoroughly deserve their victory. The regular and consistent way in which they have turned up on practice nights has only been equalled by the slack attendance of the English.

In the ranks of the thistles it would be difficult to select any for particular mention. The determined rushes of Catton, however, call for special mention, and the accurate kicking of Bob Anderson and Bottomley was conspicuous. McGill, Goudie and Fiddes were also greatly in evidence. It would be difficult to point out a weak spot in the combination. The forward line showed evidences of careful practice and are in the way of doing great things.

The English team were in several points interior to their opponents. Lansdale and Davies were the best of the forward line and although all the halves performed well, they lay too far back to support their forwards properly. Soper and Owens at fullback performed excellently and the goal keeping of Ault was a thing worth seeing. The English team, however, paid the inevitable penalty of insufficient practice and deserve the defeat they sustained. The whole eleven, however, played up well and no slackness of effort was to be seen, but the game was lost before the ball was set in motion. Following are the full teams:

Scotland—Goal, Fenwick; backs, McGill, R. Anderson; halves, Lennox, Bottomley, D. W. Anderson; forwards, Monroe, Kay, Goudie, Fiddes, Catton.

England—Goal, Ault; backs, Soper, Owens; halves, Biddell, Stokes, Parish; forwards, Miles, Blackman, Davies, Lansdale, Cheek.

Mr. Kitcat refereed.

Next Saturday's League match is between Scotland and Iolani United. The collegians are expected to put up a great game. Chris Willis is back in Honolulu and will add greatly to their strength.

The official League fixture lists were on sale on Saturday. They are most artistically gotten up and are a great success. The supply is limited but they may still be obtained from the club secretaries. The card upon which they are printed has been made especially to order and contains a layer of linen which renders them very durable.

The Rev. W. Ault, who arrived from Maui to do battle for the rose, returns on Tuesday. His marriage is fixed for the 24th of this month. The whole football community wish him every future happiness, and look forward to his next visit.

Communications and items of football interest will be gladly received by Right Wing, P. O. box 139, City.

Challenger's Rough Experience.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 29.—Lying at anchor off Harrison street, minus main and mizzen masts, is the American ship Challenger, victim of gales and hurricanes, which for a week beset her off the northern coast. Early yesterday morning the Challenger appeared off the harbor and was brought inside by the tug Relief. Twenty-nine days ago, on December 1st, the ship sailed from Comox for Kahului, Hawaii, with a cargo of coal, and in ordinary weather would have been at her destination discharging by this time. But almost from the time Cape Flattery was cleared the ship was in the midst of storms of great severity, which continued until Christmas day, and most of the time Captain Piltz and the crew were doing their utmost to reach a haven of refuge. At first it appeared that some northern port might be reached, but when day after day the gales continued, and the masts went by the board it was decided that San Francisco could be made with more practicability. The arrival of the Challenger and the story told by Captain Piltz is a confirmation of the report taken to Puget Sound by ship Falkland, to the effect that a ship believed to be the Challenger was spoken in a storm, partially dismasted and making for a coast port.

After leaving Flattery, the ship made fairly good progress until December 18th, when in latitude 42 degrees 14 minutes north, longitude 131 degrees 43 minutes west, a heavy southeast to southwest gale came up, with a high, confused sea. Tremendous waves came from all directions and swept over the ship until the decks were full to the rails, and the wind and sea had no sooner subsided from one direction than they arose from another.

It seemed that no vessel, however strong, could withstand the terrible pounding of the waves. Laboring heavily, the Challenger groaned under the punishment, and all the while the crew were at the pumps. For ten days, in fact, they had little rest, and no opportunity to dry their clothing. It was on the 18th that the sea carried away the supports of the main topmast. On the following day the gales increased in violence and blew away several sails, and on the next day, also, the gales were present, with increasing violence, and the sea was a succession of ragged peaks and dark canyons, which seemed to re-echo the roar of the hurricane through the rigging. With a crash the main topmast and everything attached went by the board, and had scarcely been thrown high by the breaking sea when the mizzenmast cracked and split and fell away clear to the deck. It was necessary to cut away the stays to rid the vessel of the dangerous wreckage, and to get clear of the spars and masts under the quarter of the ship, where they were inflicting damage to the bulwarks and rails. The seas stove in a boat on the port quarter, and caused the Challenger to leak. Courageous work was done by the second officer and the men during the worst of the storm in going aloft to cut away the rigging.

When the ship was left helpless on the rough sea after the hurricane, a skysail yard was made fast to the stump of the mizzen, upon which was rigged the main spanker as a trysail, to give steerage way to the ship. With the foremast in fairly good order, the Challenger then steered for the coast. It is said that the vessel will be transformed into a bark before leaving port. It will not be necessary to discharge the coal to make repairs, and within a few weeks the ship will be able to resume her voyage to Kahului.

Sierra's Second Sister.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 28.—Thirty-seven days and four hours was the actual steaming time of the Oceanic Company's new steamer Sonoma from Philadelphia, and to the credit of the Sonoma is thus given the record for speed from the Atlantic Coast. The Sonoma is the second of the Oceanic Company's new steamers built by the Cramps, and while apparently an exact reproduction of the Sierra, which arrived a few weeks ago, has about 200 tons larger capacity. The Sonoma reached port last Wednesday night, and early yesterday morning steamed to the upper bay. She left Philadelphia at 8 o'clock on the morning of November 17th, passing Pernambuco at noon on the 30th, entered the Straits of Magellan at 2:30 p. m. on December 8th, and passed out of the Straits at 10:30 a. m. on the 10th. Light to moderate winds were experienced throughout the trip, with the exception of a strong northerly gale after clearing the Straits, when the steamer was slowed down for eighteen hours. The length of the passage was thirty-eight days, eleven hours and forty-five minutes, although the actual steaming time was thirty-seven days and four hours. The best previous time was made by the Sierra, which arrived here on November 24th last, her actual running time being thirty-nine days and sixteen hours.

The Sonoma is scheduled to sail on her first trip to Australia on January 23d, the Alameda being scheduled to sail on January 2d.

CRACK IN LABOR NUT

Situation Brightens For the Planters.

HAPPY ITALIANS ON MAUI

Day of the Sullen, Loafing Japanese Passing With Coming of Whites.

(Special Correspondence.)

MAUI, Jan. 5.—The labor situation begins to show some signs of improvement, insomuch as a beginning has been made in introducing a different class of workers than the Orientals; and one hopeful feature is that those men who have come seem to be animated by a feeling of friendliness towards their employers, which is conspicuously absent in the Chinese and Japanese. To give an instance of this: At the New Year's eve dance at Spreckelsville the lately arrived Italians came over to the manager's house, a distance of several miles, spontaneously, and rendered a fine vocal serenade, which was much appreciated and applauded by the assembled guests.

The singing was remarkably good and a great musical treat, but the chief part of the pleasure to be derived from it lay in the fact that it seemed like the dawn of a new era in that a nearly allied race had taken the place of the alien Oriental, and that consequently much closer relations between employers and employed seemed to be foreshadowed. Are we not all brethren? some one may inquire; but an affirmative reply is much easier when instead of a howling mob of strikers giving a medley in the language of the Mikado one meets with a band of sweet singers rolling out the dulcet lyrics of sunny Italy. Welcome, then, to every one of them.—Canadian-French, Portuguese, Porto Ricans and even to the sable sons and daughters, too, of the southern states of the Union.

They are far more likely to grow up into desirable citizens than the herds of aliens who used to arrive via Quarantine Island and whose sole aim and hope was to get as many American dollars in as short a period and by almost any means as possible and then carry themselves and their earnings back to their own far-away land. There is abundant room in these Islands for at least 20,000 of these kindred peoples and it is to be hoped that the planters, having now put their hand to the plow, will not look back till they have accomplished at least so much, and they can have the confidence that every dollar so spent will increase an hundred fold.

The Krajewski crusher lately added to the Spreckelsville mill is a great success and this, added to the labor-saving devices for unloading the cane at the mills and the additional centrifugals, has largely increased the sugar capacity of the mill. Thus if labor sufficient to keep the cutting and loading department in full swing can be secured, there is a chance of a bumper crop for 1901. Increased wages has been no boon to the Japanese. With but few exceptions they either spend it in riotous living on else they loaf half the month, and absolutely no assurance can be felt that any day the whole plantation may be brought to a standstill by some sudden caprice on their part. All the mills on this Island are now grinding, but few of them can make more than half time on account of the scarcity of laborers in the fields, and not a moment should be lost in remedying this defect.

BOARD OF HEALTH IS UNREASONABLE?

Theodore Richards Says Relief Camp Should Be Kept Open.

Editor Advertiser: Your notice concerning the closing of Relief Camp "2" in Saturday ~~morning's~~ issue suggests some explanation. The owner of the premises on Vineyard street (not the undersigned) desires to continue the home for the seven hundred or more people there. A letter was written to the Board of Health requesting to know what the requirements might be in the way of sanitary improvements. There has been no official answer to that letter as yet, but we are informed by the Board's representatives that the place must close.

Following is the rather comical position of the Board: Although the owners have offered to meet every requirement—build the sewer, put in all necessary plumbing, dig anything reasonable, etc., the Board only replies, "We can not give you the right to qualify; we simply declare the place closed."

"But what of the places in worse condition?"

"We will take care of them in time."

"Where are these seven hundred people going?"

"That is not our affair; of they go to worse conditions, we will follow them and root them out."

"How is the city to grow?"

"It mustn't grow until we get ready to handle it. We are short of excavator carts, but the main trouble is that the excavator service is too costly."

Ay—ah! Here's a dilemma. Rather hard for the Board of Health, it must be admitted, but still harder for some of the poorer classes of the City. It is as though a mother were to say to a child, "Your pants are outgrown; efface yourself from the earth till I get time to make you a pair."

The present owners of the land and buildings formerly occupied by Camp "2" will hold them (empty) till—(the Board says six months)—the sewers amble our way. In the meantime it is presumed that our neighbors have their own private sewers to the sea.

Thanking you for the space,

THEODORE RICHARDS.

A WOMAN PAINTER ADMIRES HAWAII

Mrs. Grace Hudson, of San Francisco, Will Tarry Here.

Mrs. Grace Hudson, a painter of Indian subjects, is at the Hawaiian hotel. Her visit to Hawaii is purely one of rest and recreation and she professes herself as being so charmed with the dolce far niente life, with the fragrant breezes and the many changing scenes of interest in Honolulu that her brief stay may be prolonged indefinitely in order to regain that health and strength for which the trip was originally undertaken. Later on Mrs. Hudson will travel leisurely through both Tahiti and Samoa. It is Mrs. Hudson's intention to paint Hawaiian juvenile life, as she has done Indian youth. She does her pictures from life and from photographs, the latter enabling her to get poses too ephemeral for painting from the real.

By birth Mrs. Hudson is a Californian and from Mendocino county. Potter Valley, her home, is also the home of the Pomo tribe of Indians, and as a young girl she had ample opportunity to study her subjects and through her knowledge of their mode of life and habits she has attained a popular success.

Her painting of a Pomo child at the Paris Exposition received honorable mention and her "Crying Baby" was on exhibition at the World's Fair in 1893. "Little Mendocino" attracted great attention and "Mama" was exhibited at the San Francisco Press Club, of which Mrs. Hudson is an honorary member.

"Captain John," the chief of the Pomos, is now in the possession of the National Museum at Washington. She has had canvases exhibited in London, Paris, New York, Chicago and San Francisco as well as many other large cities.

DANCED IN NEW YEAR

A Pleasant Greeting To the Century.

MAUI'S BIG SOCIAL EVENT

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Lowrie, of Spreckelsville, Entertain--News of the Island.

(Special Correspondence.)

WAILUKU, Maui, Jan. 5.—The most notable social affair of the year on Maui was the dancing party given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Lowrie, of Spreckelsville, the evening of December 31. The event was a most joyous farewell to the old century and a happy welcome to the new.

The spacious lanai, brilliantly lighted with electricity, was profusely adorned with long garlands of ferns which hung in graceful festoons from ceiling and walls.

The Waihee Quintet Club discoursed inspiring music and between dances sang popular Hawaiian airs. W. O. Aiken managed the floor in his usual efficient manner.

At midnight pandemonium reigned, for what seemed to be an indefinite period, but really was only about fifteen minutes. The blowing of whistles, the ringing of bells, and the firing of guns all contributed to the din and uproar. After the noise had ceased and while the usual greetings were being interchanged, a weird but interesting serenade was given by the sixty Italian laborers who had recently came to the plantation. They sang their national hymn and other songs, distinguished from ordinary singing by excessive accent.

The Virginia reel, as the finale to an occasion memorable for much pleasure, was danced at 3 a. m. The Kahului Railroad Company ran trains to Wailuku, Kahului and Paia before and after the party.

Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Lowrie, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lowrie, Mr. and Mrs. Allen, Mrs. Petty, Mr. and Mrs. Jennings, Mr. and Mrs. Adams, Mr. and Mrs. W. Coffee, Mr. and Mrs. Walsh, Dr. and Mrs. J. Weddick, Judge and Mrs. McKay, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Ogg, Mrs. Kirkland, Mrs. Austin, Mrs. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Baldwin, Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Baldwin, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Aiken, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Hardy, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Carley, Mr. and Mrs. Hagencamp, Mrs. Taylor, Misses Hons, Minnie Bailey, Adams, Kirkland, Eva Smith, Ethel Smith, Edith Alexander, Dolly Sumner; Messrs. George Hons, Waldeyer, Weller, White, Boote, Keeney, Sparks, Church, Tate, Filler, J. N. S. Williams, Lennox, Robert Hogg, F. A. Alexander, L. R. Crook, L. T. McLane, George Baldwin, and many others.

A CATTLE DRIVE.

On January 14, Enos & Company of Wailuku will have a big cattle drive at Kahikinui ranch. They intend to employ fifty vaqueros or more to round up the cattle recently sold to H. Waterhouse & Co. of Honolulu. The deeds of the transfer have not yet been signed, though $5,000 has been deposited to seal the bargain, which was for $45,000 for the lands, leases and improvements, and $15 a head for the cattle, "little and big"—3,000 head being guaranteed. The books show a record of about 4,000 head of cattle, but many of them have died. So Messrs. Enos & Co. will probably receive more than $90,000 for their Kahikinui property.

DAVID CENTER'S DEATH.

Thursday the sad news of the death of Mr. David Center reached Maui from Honolulu, whither he had gone to undergo the operation which terminated his life. Mr. Center was universally popular owing to his affability of manner; he was a generous and faithful friend, and was recognized as one of the ablest plantation managers in the Territory.

The deep sympathy of many Maui friends is extended to his bereaved wife, his little son and three young daughters.

GENERAL NOTES.

During the 3d the Thursday Club met at Mrs. H. A. Baldwin's, of Hamakuapoko.

Mrs. Damon of Honolulu is visiting her cousin, Mrs. J. J. Hair, of Hamakuapoko.

Dr. E. G. Beckwith is still very ill. His recovery is not so rapid as his friends earnestly desire.

W. A. Robinson, "acting inspector in charge," has been visiting Makawao postoffices during the week.

Mr. and Mrs. L. von Tempsky of Makawao departed for a brief visit to Mana, Waimea, Hawaii, on the 22d.

Judge W. A. McKay has resumed the office of district magistrate of Wailuku, vice G. B. Robertson, resigned.

Mr. Robert Hogg of Alexander & Baldwin, of Honolulu, is enjoying a vacation on Maui. He is at present the guest of W. S. Nicoll of Hamakuapoko.

Weather—Very cold: water was frozen at 4,000 feet elevation; at "Ukulele," which is somewhat higher than this, there was two inches of ice in the water tank.

The Makawao Polo Club is expecting a challenge from the new Honolulu Polo Club recently organized at Moanalua by Messrs. E. Damon, C. W. Dickey and others.

A DOUBTING THOMAS.

Had His Falling Hair Stopped and Dandruff Cured Without Faith.

H. B. Fletcher, Butte, Mont., Oct. 20, 1899, says: "Like many other people, I have been troubled for years with dandruff and within the last few months my hair came out so badly that I was compelled to have what I had left clipped very close. A friend recommended Newbro's Herpicide. I confess that I doubted his story, but I gave Herpicide a trial; now my hair is as thick as ever and entirely free from dandruff." "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect." At druggists, $1.00. Herpicide is a delightful hair dressing for regular use.

Chinese Deviltry

A gentleman prominently connected with the Spreckelsville plantation was the other day passing by a house occupied by some of the plantation. Hearing a pitiful squeaking in the rear of the house, he went round to investigate the noise. There he found two Chinese who had caught a little mouse and nailed its two hind feet to a board, and were amusing themselves by frightening it and watching its useless struggles to free itself. He released the little animal, and it is more the pity that he did not have its torturers arrested and properly punished for their deviltry.—Maui News.

IS QUALITY

then no consideration?

Even if "all coons look alike," certainly they are not all the same quality.

Can anything be more true than this concerning jewelry or silver goods? How many pieces made in the same pattern, from the common plated ware to the finest of gold, bear the same outward resemblance?

Can you tell them apart?

Yet you do not wonder that there is some difference in the cost of making.

Is it not here where the guarantee and the reputation of the dealer is your safeguard?

This fall's productions embrace some striking examples in the better class of ornaments.

Magnificent brooches and pendants set with the different gems. The "Art Nouveau," so popular at the Paris Exposition. Highly artistic and individual. Not the kind turned out by the yard.

We have all the high-class gold and silver novelties to be found anywhere, and believe it possible to meet all requirements for goods in our various lines.

HILO RACING WAS GOOD

Fleet Horses Made the Sport Lively.

HONOLULU EQUINES WIN

A Big and Enthusiastic Crowd Saw the Events of New Year's Day.

Racing in Hilo on New Year's Day was if possible a greater success than on the Tuesday previous and the attendance and sport provided were good enough to satisfy the greediest executive and the most fastidious race-goer.

The card consisted of eleven events and the ball was set rolling at 10 a. m. All the Christmas Day equine performers were again contenders for the big end of the purse and in addition the names of Princess Leotis, Ethel Mae, Maui Rose, Twinkle, General Cronje, Gray Eagle and others were to be found upon the program.

Overnight the pool room did a roaring business, the bulk of the money being played as follows:

Free for all pacing—Silas S $10, Tom Ryder $6.

One-half mile special—Fierro $10, field (Abbey and Bushwhacker) $7.

Six furlongs—Virgie A $10, Dixie Land $7.

2:40 class—Admiral Dewey $10, field (Ethel Mae and Gray Eagle) $5.

One-half mile—Sir Cassimir $10, Rejected $7, Frank S $5.

One mile handicap—Vioris $10, General Cronje $5.

Pony race—Princess Leotis $10, field (Maui Rose and Twinkle) $7.

Hurdle race—Dixie Land $10, Watassa $8.

One and one-half mile handicap—Weller $10, Billy McCluskey $7.

With two exceptions the betting was an exact forecast of the actual result, and the victories of no less than seven favorites put backers on good terms with themselves.

The speculation on the half-mile race was remarkable. Rejected opened favorite and Sir Cassimir pools went begging at $2. Then money for the Prince's horse commenced to pour in and forced him into favoritism, which position he maintained until the books closed. Rumors of a work-out in 52 seconds flat were said to be responsible for the stampede in his favor. Whatever may have been the cause, he never for a single moment flattered his admirers after the flag had fallen, and finished in the rear.

As on Christmas Day, the Honolulu horses proved themselves to be unbeatable, capturing three out of the four races in which they started.

Prince David and party occupied boxes in the grand stand, which were tastefully decorated with the Prince's racing colors—red and white.

In the first heat between Tom Ryder and Silas S they got away to what looked to be a good start and Ryder speedily assumed the lead. The judges thought differently, however, and after waiting till the eighth was reached, rang the bell. Next time off Silas led by a length at the quarter, which lead he had somewhat increased at the half. Then Ryder woke up and had caught Silas when the three-quarters was passed. Desperate racing down the stretch ended in a dead heat in 2:25½.

McManus' vigorous whipping did not help his horse any. If allowed to go the first time Ryder would probably have taken the heat.

Silas was never headed in the second heat, which he won in the track record time of 2:25.

The start of the third heat was a crazy one and neither driver heard the bell calling them back. Silas broke at the quarter and Ryder passed him. At the judges' stand Judd stopped but McManus continued to complete his mile, and on pulling up was told by the judges that it was no go. When the heat was finally and officially started Silas won easily in 2:30.

Abbey, whose boy, by the by, wore a ribbon sent down from the stand by Miss Abbie Campbell, created a diversion at the post by refusing to break, and by a finished exhibition of rearing, which threatened to put his jockey out of commission. After twenty minutes' fooling, Remus, a stable boy, took a hand and succeeded in rendering the brute somewhat tractable. Then he got off and Nichols resumed his seat and the race started. Bushwhacker led to the three-eighths and then gave place to Fierro, who won handily in 54¼, Abbey finishing second. The winner won a race from the same field in 54½ on the previous Tuesday. A notable feature of the preliminaries was the ordering off the track of Sheriff Andrews by the judges. The worthy sheriff had been assisting in quelling Abbey's fractious antics.

The six furlongs affair between Virgie A and Dixie Land provided the best finish of the day. Virgie led by a neck until the last fifty yards, when Moir's game old black forged ahead and secured the verdict by the barest of margins in 1:20½. McAuliffe rode a good race on the winner. Virgie had been ailing for some time past.

The 2:40 class brought out Admiral Dewey, Ethel Mae and Gray Eagle. The two former were the contenders. Ethel Mac is new at the game but has lots of speed, and when she learns to stay down she will make a racehorse. Dewey took the first heat in 2:44. Both broke frequently in the second heat and the lady won in 2:39½, the first half being caught at 1:16. The third heat was practically a running match, which Dewey won in 2:39½.

Jack Wilson, who drove Gray Eagle in this race, was presented with a leather medal after finishing the first heat, and with a handsome gold one when he next went to weigh in.

Frank S was "out" for the half-mile race and won in 51¼. On Christmas Day with a different jockey up Frank S finished a bad third in the same field in 52¾. He ran a good race last Tuesday and his resolute finish came in the nature of a surprise to those who were aware of the horse's weak point.

Vioris had a gallop in her race with General Cronje and won by a street in 1:50¾. This was a good performance, considering the track and the weight the mare carried—127 pounds.

In the pony race all three starters were fancied. Twinkle cut out the pace and led to the three-eighths, when Princess Leotis caught him and won staggering in 54. Maui Rose seems born to zlush unseen. Leotis came from the Coast only three weeks ago and was taken out of quarantine to run this race. Off badly, she ran a most impressive race and will win a big purse when ready.

Dixie Land was pulled out again to oppose Watassa in the "jumps." Boin jumped well, but Watassa lost ground after landing by dwelling after each flight. Dixie Land showed his old-time ability as a timber topper and won by a length in 1:59¼.

Weller and McCloskey brought the card to a pleasant conclusion by a duel at a mile and a half. Weller proved his superiority in unmistakable fashion by increasing his lead the further he went. He won by five lengths in 2:50¼. In this, as in the race won by Vioris, little Harry Jones showed greatly improved form in the saddle and if his education is persevered with should ride many winners in the future.

BOTH CLAIM THE WATER

A Question of Rights in Iao Valley.

COMPROMISE PROBABLE

Hawaiian Commercial and Sugar Company and Wailuku Parties Interested.

(Special Correspondence.)

WAILUKU, Maui, Jan. 5.—A most important lawsuit for trespass is on the tapis. It is a question of the water rights of the crown lands in Iao valley, formerly under lease to the Wailuku Sugar Company, but now since January 1, 1901, (the date of the expiration of the lease), at the disposal of its owners—the Hawaiian Commercial & Sugar Company. By an old decision the water of Iao valley was apportioned to the Wailuku Sugar Company, and to the Hawaiian owners of kuleanas in the valley. The decision did not consider the rights of the crown lands (being then leased to the Wailuku plantation), and so is probably defective.

The Wailuku Sugar Company has since purchased a number of the native kuleanas, so the water question is somewhat involved. The recent visit of Attorneys Hartwell, W. O. Smith, Alex. Robertson and W. R. Castle to Maui was concerning this proposed suit, for they, together with F. M. Hatch, have been employed by the Hawaiian Commercial & Sugar Company to prosecute its side of the issue.

The water under dispute is capable of irrigating about 700 acres of cane. The new upper ditch of the Wailuku plantation is said to divert some of the water in dispute. People well informed concerning the case state that there is right on both sides, and so it is a matter for compromise. It is to be recalled that the Hawaiian Commercial Company not long ago purchased for $100,000 all the right, title and interest of Claus Spreckels to the crown lands in Wailuku.

W. R. Castle, one of the counsel retained by the Hawaiian Commercial & Sugar Company in this matter, said yesterday that the plantation was hoping to come to an amicable arrangement with the Wailuku Plantation Company, and he believed this would be effected.

"I do not believe there will be a lawsuit over the question," said Mr. Castle. "The lease of the Wailuku company merely expired on January 1, 1901, and we are now to determine what shall be done with this surplus in the future. This lease was of the crown lands to the Wailuku company for twenty years. Since that lease was made Claus Spreckels bought out the right of Ruth Keelikolani, one of the Kamehamehas and the last heir to the Kamehameha property. That is, her rights in the crown lands lease were purchased. Then the Legislature of 1882 authorized the Crown Lands Commissioners to convey to him the entire ahupaa of Wailuku, including Iao valley, the towns of Wailuku, Kahului and the Hawaiian Commercial & Sugar lands. Claus Spreckels was succeeded twice in the ownership of the Hawaiian Commercial & Sugar Company—the last transfer being made in 1898. The successors bought out whatever rights he had in the valley and the lands of the ahupaa. So, of course, today the Hawaiian Commercial & Sugar Company owns whatever rights belonged to the konohiki, but what those rights are in the water have never been determined. The principle is well established in Hawaiian courts that the taro lands are entitled to their water, and I suppose after that the konohiki is entitled to the rest of the water. That is the question in this matter.

"With regard to the $100,000 matter, that sum was really paid to settle a lawsuit. The Spreckels boys were suing Claus Spreckels, and when they lost control of the plantation they concluded simply to buy out the thing and stop the lawsuit."

PIONEER PLANTATION.

White Laborers Outclass the Lazy Shiftless Japanese There

WAILUKU, Maui, Jan. 5.—The News says: Pioneer plantation, like this side of the Island, is enjoying the benefit of white labor, a number of white men having been brought down to do reservoir work. A large number of white men are shortly to follow, and if a number of California ranch hands could be brought with them to work in the cane fields, the lazy, independent Japs of Maui would find themselves outclassed.

The Pioneer plantation has let a contract for the construction of two larger reservoirs for the purpose of utilizing the waste waters of freshets. It is the intention of the plantation to construct at least fifteen of these large reservoirs, which, when completed, will save the coal of a two or three months' run of the pumps, besides supplying fresh mountain water to overcome the excess of salt in the pumped water.

Fresno in a Gale.

Another vessel that has had a hard time off the Coast the past few weeks is the bark Fresno, which reached San Francisco on December 28, twenty-eight days from Port Gamble via Port Angeles twenty-seven days, with a cargo of 95,000 feet of lumber. When forty miles northwest of Cape Mendocino a heavy northwest gale sprang up, in which the fore topgallant yard and foresail were lost. The gale lasted for forty hours. Light winds followed after the 25th, continuing to port, though the vessel was off shore in sight of the Golden Gate for several days.

HAWAIIAN MISSION CHILDREN MEET

Cousins Gather at the Home of F. J. Lowrey and are Entertained

The Hawaiian Mission children held a social gathering at the home of Mrs. F. J. Lowrey on Lunalilo street Saturday evening. The beautiful reception rooms of the Lowrey residence were prettily decorated for the occasion and softly illuminated with shaded lights.

About seventy "cousins" of this happy and charitable family assembled and joined in song. Rev. O. Gulick offered on opening prayer, after which an instrumental duet by Mrs. Theo. Richards and Miss Hyde and a vocal solo by Mrs. Philip Frear followed.

Miss Jessie Ackerman, the recently arrived "around-the-world missionary," was introduced in a few appropriate remarks by Rev. Mr. Westerveldt and entertained her audience for a short half hour with a witty and interesting account of her personal experiences while traveling about the world. She paid a warm tribute to the beauties of the Islands and to the hospitality of their people, touching also upon her work and the results she hoped to bring about in conjunction with her friend and co-laborer, Miss Murcutt, during their visit to the Islands.

Miss Alice Wood of Punahou rendered a delightful violin solo and the application of Miss Matthews, recently arrived from Maine, was accepted, admitting her to membership. The rest of the evening was spent in social converse and diversions.

WATERFRONT NEWS

THE chief event of interest along the waterfront yesterday was the departure of the Mariposa for San Francisco. A large crowd gathered on the Oceanic wharf about noon to see the boat off for the Coast and a great many leis were in evidence, while many well known people departed on the steamship.

The coming and going of the Mariposa was unexpected, inasmuch as she arrived thirty-six hours ahead of time and left this port a great deal sooner than was anticipated.

All previous records between Sydney and Honolulu have been beaten and she bettered her own record by twelve and a half hours.

Fifteen days and fifty-nine minutes from the Colonies to these Islands is something to be proud of and it is now up to the new vessels of the Oceanic line to do better.

The Mariposa sailed from Sydney on the 22d of December at 4:21 o'clock in the afternoon; left Auckland, New Zealand, on the 26th at 8.35 p. m. and Pago Pago on the 30th at 11 o'clock in the morning. Her time from Auckland was 10 days, 22 hours and 16 minutes, the steaming time from that port being 10 days, 18 hours and 3 minutes. The time from Sydney has already been stated above, but the Mariposa's actual steaming time from Sydney was only 14 days, 9 hours and 8 minutes.

The average speed from Auckland was 356.88 knots per day.

The Mariposa arrived in this port about 9 o'clock on Saturday evening. She was under rush orders and had the advantage of fine weather all the way from Australia. One day out from Pago Pago she spoke the Sierra, which was not making very rapid progress owing to some trouble with her pumping machinery. The Mariposa thought at first that the Sierra had broken down, not knowing about her delay in coming from San Francisco to Honolulu. The through passengers of the Mariposa included twelve in the saloon and thirty-two in the steerage. Those for Honolulu were Mrs. H. E. Cooke, Miss Grace Cooke and Miss Squire.

Those who left Honolulu for San Francisco on the Mariposa were Morris Hyman, Miss A. Landers, Mrs. J. J. Hendricks, Mrs. M. Aldrich and four children, Mrs. J. B. Frazier, C. H. Lynbery, N. Brown, J. W. Keyston, Jr., Dr. A. E. Blake, R. A. Russell, John H. Talmage, J. Kurkamp and wife, Mrs. Conlon, Ryder, Miss Summoins, Mrs. Fox and daughter, F. C. Smith and C. E. Smith. A number of actresses and actors were also among those departing. They helped to liven things up a little as the vessel got away. One discoursed popular airs on the cornet and brought forth a large share of applause from those on the wharf who had gathered to see the vessel away. The man who has, for many weeks past, been wont to sing that song which refers to various things beginning to "bump just a little bit" was one of the actors. He was profusely covered with leis, perspiration and enthusiasm and took a very touching farewell of a certain well known dealer in fruit in this city.

"She began to bump just a little bit," called the fruit man from the wharf just as the vessel was departing, to the song-and-dance tragedian at the head of the gangway.

"Very touching," shouted back the man who makes the goo-goo eyes. "Send us up a bunch of bananas, won't you?" And, much to the surprise of everybody, the fruit man did send a bunch of bananas over the side to the entertainer, much to the delight of that gentleman and many others who were to get a share of the wholesome fruit.

Many people who anticipated getting mail for the Coast off on the Mariposa had their plans all changed by the early arrival of the vessel and numbers were not prepared to send their letters and papers so soon. The consequence was that the Mariposa carried much less mail matter to the Coast than she would have if she had stuck to schedule time and not arrived here until today.

The officers of the vessel are proud of their achievement and with very good reason. What will the Sierra do on her trip up from the Colonies? is a question that many are now asking.

Kimball May be Lost.

The American schooner Helen N. Kimball, Captain Hansen, is thought to be lost with all on board.

She sailed from San Francisco on the 22d of September last for Pago Pago and Apia with a cargo of supplies and general merchandise. In the latter part of the following month she arrived at Pago Pago safe and sound, discharged her cargo of merchandise and then took on about fifty tons of copra for Apia, sailing for that port. She has not been seen or heard of since that time.

The Mariposa reported yesterday that nothing had been learned of the long-missing schooner, and that it was feared in Pago Pago that the little vessel had been lost in some sudden storm with all hands on board.

The Helen Kimball is well known to shipping men of this port. She is a craft of 183 tons register, and was always considered a seaworthy and smart little vessel.

American Maru Fined.

The Toyo Kisen Kaisha America Maru was fined four hundred dollars by Collector Stackable before she left this port for the Orient on Saturday, and the money was handed over to the department by the captain of the vessel.

It seems that two passengers were brought to Honolulu on the America Maru contrary to the laws, and landed here. They were not reported to the customhouse as layover passengers, nor were they in any way identified as through passengers who were anxious to stop over in this port for the allowable period.

They came ashore here, did Mr. and Mrs. Vance, of New York, with their bags and baggage, to stay here as far as the customs officials knew.

Collector Stackable assessed the captain of the America Maru $400, $200 for each passenger, as he was required to do by law.

Mr. and Mrs. Vance returned to San Francisco on the Mariposa yesterday on account of the lady's illness.

The America Maru is one of the finest of the vessels which plow the Pacific Ocean. She arrived off port on Friday night, from San Francisco, and was met by the Advertiser's chartered launch, but, owing to the regulations which forbid the boarding of a vessel, or even the passage of a newspaper over the side before the doctor had passed her, the public was compelled to wait fifteen or sixteen hours before the news of the outer world was given through the press. It will be remembered that the Maru was just a half hour too late to enter port on Friday night. The doctor is not supposed to go out to vessels after 9 o'clock in the evening, and the Maru was sighted at 9:30 p. m.

The steamer brought three days' later news. The trip from the Coast was a pleasant one, and things were very enjoyable aboard. Holiday festivities characterized the passage, and a magnificent Christmas tree ornamented

On the 11th of this month there is to be a fancy dress ball on board. The Maru sailed from the Pacific Mail wharf on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock for China and Japan.

Customs Men Remember Tommy.

Genial, happy, handsome Tommy White, who recently resigned his positions on the customs force on account of his going to make his home on the Island of Hawaii, where he is to be married, was, on Saturday last, at the hour of 5, made to blush and smile and look handsomer than ever, by the presentation of a handsome and very appropriate wedding present from his former fellow inspectors on the customs force.

It was a great occasion, and Inspector George Keister made a reputation as an orator when he delivered the presentation address.

The present was a magnificent set of carvers, and old Tommy's eyes swam with emotion when they saw the gift and the good feeling of fellowship which was manifested by all the members of the force towards himself.

Keister's address was eloquent and to the point, and the response which was made by the recipient of the handsome gift was full of appreciation and brotherly sentiment.

The boys of the department, the inspectors, were at a loss for some time what to give Tommy for a wedding present, but finally they very happily decided upon a set of carvers, and it is the wish of every inspector on the force that the same carvers may, in years to come, when Tommy has to count noses before he starts to carve the turkey or roast beef, remind him of the fellows he used to know in the customs department.

Hyades Arrives at 'Frisco.

First of the American-Hawaiian Steamship Company's vessels to arrive at San Francisco from New York with a cargo of freight, is the Hyades, which reached that port on December 27, after a passage of seventy-three days. The steamer is not owned by the company, but was chartered from the Tweedie Trading Company in New York to bring out a cargo of freight that had accumulated before the company's first vessel, the American, could be completed and made ready for the trip. The American will arrive from New York this month. After discharging her cargo of 4,000 tons of general merchandise, the Hyades will remain on the Coast and engage in the coal trade between San Francisco and Seattle. The vessel is nearly new, the present trip from New York being the seventh ever made by the Hyades.

The Hyades sailed from New York on October 14th, from St. Lucia on October 23d, and from Coronel on December 3d. Pleasant weather was experienced throughout the trip, except for a short time after passing through the Straits of Magellan, when a rough sea was encountered off Cape Pillar and the steamer was hove to. Twice the steamer anchored for the night in the straits, but on neither occasion was the vessel molested by the natives. An old Indian and his family came aboard in the straits, but the treachery that has been credited to the natives of that region was not apparent in their actions. At Coronel, however, the rough element which inhabits the place attempted to foment trouble on board the Hyades while the vessel was coaling, but the watchfulness of the chief officer prevented an outbreak.

The Hyades was in the center of the Galveston hurricane on September 5th, but, on account of being 100 miles off shore, was not completely wrecked. The steamer Roma, which had but a few hours before taken her berth at Galveston, was driven four miles inland, and is still high and dry. The Hyades was overwhelmed by the hurricane, however, her stern was six inches below water when the hurricane passed. For six hours the barometer recorded 28.10, which was so remarkable that the Weather Bureau made a note of it in its report.

An excellent remedy for insomnia will be found in the famous old Jesse Moore "AA" Whiskey taken at bedtime.

Gerritt P. Judd, son of the late A. F. Judd, who was injured Friday night at a cattle corral near the Damon Ranch, is getting well. The young man was engaged in lassoing cattle there and was mounted on a mule. The animal stumbled while a bull was being pursued, and young Judd was thrown from the saddle, his foot catching in the stirrup. The mule continued on its run as soon as it regained its feet, and the young man was dragged about the enclosure, unable to help himself out of his difficulty. He was much bruised about the face and body, while a severe cut was inflicted on his chin. Several stitches were taken to close several of the wounds.

SOLD WATERED MILK.

M. Abreu Is Fined Fifty Dollars on the Charge.

It looks as if the police nad succeeded in fastening a charge of selling watered milk upon one of the many offenders who have heretofore been filing unharmed through the courts and escaping by technicalities. M. Abreu, who claims to sell milk for his father, was found guilty Saturday and fined $50.

Dr. Shorey, who examined the milk sold by Abreu, testified that it contained no less than twenty per cent of added water. The adulteration of milk is said to have a certain and appreciable effect upon the mortality among infants, watered milk being a known cause of many deaths among babes, and the Board of Health is determined to check the practice if possible.

Although the usual gauntlet of technicalities had to be run in Abreu's case, he was not allowed to escape, and unless he takes a successful appeal, the case of the milkman will form a precedent.

George Q. Cannon and Others Guests at the Whitney Residence.

Chief Counsellor George Q. Cannon of the Mormon church, departed on the Zealandia Saturday for San Francisco, whence he will leave for his home in Salt Lake City, Utah. Hosts of friends were on the Oceanic dock to see him off and liberally bedecked him with leis. The aged churchman regretted leaving Hawaii after such a short visit. The rest of the members of his party, which included Bishop Cluff, Mrs. Clausen and others, were also given a hearty godspeed. Mr. Cannon said he had enjoyed his stay and had been much surprised by the proficiency he had retained in the native tongue which he had first learned fifty years ago.

Mr. Cannon and wife and Mrs. Clausen were entertained at lunch on Thursday last by Mr. H. M. Whitney. Mrs. Helen Kelley and Mrs. William Goodale in return for courteous attention paid to them by President Brigham Young and Mr. Cannon some twenty or more years ago, the latter being at that time editor of the official Salt Lake newspaper. During the stay of Mr. Whitney's party in Salt Lake City, of one or two days only, they were entertained by Brigham Young and driven around the city in his state carriage by Mr. Clausen and shown all the sights of that remarkable city, including a peep into the great temple, which was then in course of erection. The visits there and here were made more interesting to both parties by the fact that Mrs. Clausen is a second cousin of Mr. Whitney. Both the ladies referred to are well educated and would grace the best society in any country.

SHIPPING NOTES.

The fairest of weather is reported on the Hamakua coast.

The training ship Adams leaves for California on Wednesday.

The brig Consuelo cleared at San Francisco on December 27 for Mahukona.

The W. G. Hall, from Nawiliwili, brought 5,526 bags of sugar to port yesterday.

The Iwalani, from Kukuihaele, brought 5,616 bags of sugar to port yesterday.

The barkentine Skagit, forty-one days from the Sound, arrived at Hilo on the 1st instant.

Vessels arriving at San Francisco from the north continue to bring reports of disasters at sea.

The bark Monican and the ship Emily F. Whitney cleared at San Francisco on December 27th for Honolulu.

Island steamers Kinau, Claudine, W. G. Hall, Iwalani, Niihau and Ke Au Hou arrived yesterday from their usual ports.

The Toyo Kisen Kaisha Hongkong Maru is due from the Orient on Thursday. She carries the next mail to the Coast.

The Oceanic steamship Alameda is due from San Francisco tomorrow with three days' later news of the outer world.

The army transport Grant was expected to arrive at San Francisco on the 30th of December, from Manila, via Nagasaki.

Tomorrow the Kinau, the Claudine, the Lehua, the Mauna Loa, the Maui, the W. G. Hall and the Waialeale sail on their regular runs to the other Islands.

The Kinau brought the following from Hilo and way ports yesterday: 80 hogs, 10 cords of wood, 40 bags of corn, 4 horses and 180 packages of sundries.

The steamer John S. Kimball is to be surveyed at Tacoma by the government officials, in consequence of the injuries received in a storm off Cape Flattery.

On December 28th the brig Lurline, nineteen and one-half days from Kahului, and the brig W. G. Irwin, eighteen days from this port with sugar, arrived at San Francisco.

The new steamer Hanalei for the Inter-Island Steam Navigation Company has been taken from Oakland to the Fulton Iron Works to receive her machinery, preparatory to her sailing for this port.

A number of recruits and cabin passengers are aboard the transport Hancock, which sailed from San Francisco on the 1st instant for the Philippines via Honolulu. The Hancock is due here tomorrow.

The following cargo was brought by the Claudine from Maui and Hawaii ports yesterday: 1,000 bags of sugar, 200 bags of taro, 84 bags of corn, 73 bundles of hides, 67 hogs and 104 packages of sundries.

There was something of an exciting race between the steamers Kinau and Claudine of Wilder's line from Lahaina on the last trip. Both boats sailed from Lahaina about the same time, and for a great part of the way things were pretty even, but the Claudine got into port yesterday morning long ahead of the Kinau, much to the delight of those aboard the Claudine. It is understood that Purser Beckley, of the Kinau, bet a few dollars on his own boat, and that he is still wondering how it was that the Claudine beat the Kinau so badly.

Harry Wickes, chief engineer of the Honokaa Sugar Plantation, met with a very painful accident during the early part of last week, while at work in the mill on the triple effect. He was standing on a ladder with a large jack in his hands. In some way the jack slipped from his hands, knocked him from the ladder and precipitated him to the floor. Wickes attempted to grab a portion of the machinery in his flight and, although he broke his fall, he sprained both wrists in such a way that it will be necessary for him to lay up with his injured members for some time.

Steamer in Trouble.

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—The Bristol City line steamer Brooklyn City, Captain King, which arrived this morning from Bristol and Swansea, reports that on Sunday, December 16, in latitude 50.33, longitude 26.30, a distressed steamer was sighted with another steamer standing by. The distressed steamer was in ballast, had a yellow funnel with black top; the other was loaded, had a buff funnel with two white bands and black top. The latter had evidently been towing the former, as they were hauling in the hawser at the time. Captain King said that he could see that the distressed vessel had lost her propeller and tail shaft. Signals were seen on the Brooklyn City asking the names of the vessels, but receiving no reply she proceeded on her course. A strong southwest gale and thick misty rain with heavy sea prevailed at the time.
