FRUIT SHIPMENTS FROM HILO PORT

Oil for Hawaii—The Knights in San Francisco—Islanders in the City.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 22.—Mr. S. S. Dickenson, representative of the Pacific Cable Co., is staying at the Palace hotel. He is booked to return to Honolulu on the Korea, leaving here the 30th. He will probably soon go on to Guam to arrange for the cable landing there upon the same lines that he has been doing at Honolulu. The cable has been finished and during the next few days the loading of it aboard the steamer will be completed. There have been some unexpected delays, however, and the probability is that the steamer will not get away from England until the first or second week in September, and the completion of the laying of the cable will accordingly be likewise postponed until approximately December 1. The terms proposed to the cable company by President Roosevelt upon which he will allow them the free use of the windings between Honolulu and the Philippines, have not yet been accepted by the cable company, and it is not likely that they will be unless modified. The principal ground of objection is that the proposition requires the cable company to allow the government to take possession of the cable and operate it free of charge during war time. The cable company do not object to the government taking possession during war time, as the government has the right to take possession of any property under such circumstances, necessary for carrying on the war; but they do not see the justice of requiring them to surrender their property for an indefinite period without compensation. It would be cheaper for the company to make their own soundings.

Another minor point is the requirement that the operators shall all be American citizens. It is a fact that in the United States the Morse system is used exclusively, whereas all foreign telegraph and cable companies, as well as all of the American cable companies across the Atlantic, use the International system of signals, which is entirely different. Very few Americans have learned the International system, and in case an American operator of the cable on the Asiatic side should be disabled or unobtainable a foreign operator could readily be picked up, while the restriction to American citizens would endanger the whole operation of the cable. The company are still in hopes that a modification of the requirements by the government will be made. If not, there will probably be an additional delay in laying the cable beyond Honolulu, but this will not affect the laying of the San Francisco-Honolulu section.

PUNAHOU TEACHERS.

Mr. Griffiths, the new president of Oahu College, accompanied by his wife, is at the Occidental. They are booked to go to Honolulu by the Korea, which will land them in Honolulu on the 5th or 6th of September, in ample time for the opening of the institution on the 15th. Two other teachers newly engaged by Mr. Griffiths will follow him on the Sonoma, leaving September 4. Miss Hassforth, who has been spending the summer in and about San Francisco, also returns on the Sonoma.

THE FULLERTON.

The Fullerton, the Union Oil Company's first tank vessel, after a number of delays, finally sailed for Kihel on Tuesday last, carrying a load of a little less than 15,000 barrels of fuel oil. It is noteworthy that the Fullerton is the largest and most expensive wooden ship ever built on the Pacific coast; that she was built for a California company by a California shipbuilding company, almost exclusively of California materials; was christened with a California name, by a California Native Daughter, and will handle only California products; all of which goes to show that with all its modesty, California is getting there all the same.

FRUIT SHIPMENTS FROM HILO.

The steamer Enterprise arrived this week from Hilo with a shipment of several hundred bunches of bananas and quite a number of boxes of alligator pears. A few of the bananas were sewed up in gunny sacks and these were all in bad condition. Those wrapped in banana leaves were, almost without exception, in good condition. The pears were mostly packed in large boxes, which contained several hundred pears each, and the pears were not wrapped. The result was that as the weight of the others, so that scarce any were in good condition. A few of the packages were thin boxes containing only two or three layers of pears and the fruit was wrapped in paper. These, as a rule, arrived in good shape, although quite a number were so green that they were worthless. It cannot be too strongly impressed upon the Hilo people that they will be wasting their money by sending alligator pears unwrapped and in large boxes. They should be packed so that if possible the pears will not come in contact with each other and will have no weight resting upon them. This can be accomplished by wrapping each pear in a double layer of paper or grass or leaves and having a partition of some kind between each layer of pears rigid enough to keep the next layer from resting upon the one beneath. Good pears bring a fancy price in the San Francisco market, as they retail all the way up to 75c apiece. Care in sending only fully matured fruit and in packing will secure these prices, while failure to do will result in absolute loss.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 23.—Thinking a few items from this busy mart might be of interest to your many readers, I send you the following.

The all absorbing topics in this city for several days past have been the arrival and entertainment of the Knights of Pythias and the attack upon the administration of State Governor Gage. The convale of the Knights of Pythias, 50,000 guests were expected, and although the actual number fell short, still there was no relaxation in the city's efforts to entertain the guests. I understand that $30,000 were raised and expended for that purpose. A notable feature of the display made for the entertainment were the electrical illuminations extending from the pier building to beyond Tenth street, exceeding anything ever attempted in the country outside of the display of the Pan-American at Buffalo. Conspicuous in the display was the ferry building, the Call building and the City Hall building. These buildings were equal in design and beauty of effect to many of the principal buildings of the Pan-American. In addition to these was the wonderful canopy design at the intersection of Third, Kearny and Main streets.

Honoluluans are greatly in evidence throughout the city. Rear Admiral Merry, Dr. Howard and wife, left for the East by the flyer on the morning of the 21st. Rev. Mr. Kincaid has taken private apartments on Sutter street, same street. A. F. Cooke and family are in Oakland. Franklin Austin is now connected with the Overland Monthly. Former Commissioner of Agriculture Joseph Marsden is hale and hearty, and Mr. James F. Morgan has greatly improved in health since his visit to the coast. The Wilcox brothers, B. F. Dillingham and family, Mr. Robert Lewis and family and many other kamaainas are at the Occidental. Mr. W. C. Weedon has been quite active with his lectures and has met with overcrowded houses.

THE KOREA.

This leviathan of the Pacific arrived in port and docked on the 11th. She is due to sail for the Orient via Honolulu on the 30th inst. and many of the Honolulu people have booked to sail.

PREST. ROOSEVELT SPEAKS ON TRUSTS

Important Address Made to Republicans of Connecticut During His New England Tour.

The Executive Discriminates Between the Good and Bad Combines in Field of Business and Gives Sound Advice.

WILLIMANTIC, Conn., Aug. 23.—President Roosevelt, after spending the night at the home of John T. Robinson, at Hartford, today resumed his journey through New England. His train left that city promptly at 6 o'clock, but the early hour set for his departure did not deter the people from turning out in force and giving him a hearty send-off. As he drove up to the station in an open carriage accompanied by Senator Platt, the crowd cheered and the President responded by raising his hat. The floral horseshoe presented to the President by the workmen of Hartford yesterday was by his request placed on the engine. All along the line the small towns turned out their entire population, each apparently anxious to share in the welcome which Connecticut is extending.

When Willimantic was reached the President was driven to the public square, where he delivered an address from his carriage. Following are the President's remarks:

THE PRESIDENT'S SPEECH.

"We are passing through a period of great material prosperity and such a period is as sure as adversity itself to bring mutterings of discontent. At a time when most men prosper somewhat it always happens that a few men prosper greatly, and it is as true now as it was when the Tower of Babel fell upon all who were under it, that good fortune does not come only to the just nor bad fortune only to the unjust. When the weather is good for crops it is also good for weeds. Moreover, not only do the wicked flourish when the times are such that most men flourish, but what is worse, the spirit of envy and jealousy and hatred springs up in the breasts of those who, though they may be doing fairly well themselves, yet see others who are no more deserving doing far better. "Wise laws and fearless and upright administration of the laws can give the opportunity for such prosperity as we see about us. But this is all that they can do. When the conditions have been created which make prosperity possible, then each individual man must achieve it for himself, by his thrift, intelligence, energy, industry and resolute purpose. If when people wax fat they kick, as they have been prone to do since the days of Joseph, they will speedily destroy their own prosperity. If they go into wild speculation and lose their heads, they have lost that which no legislation can supply, and the business world will suffer in consequence. If in a spirit of sullen envy they insist upon pulling down those who have profited most by the years of fatness, they will bury themselves in the crash of common disaster. It is difficult to make our material condition better by the best laws, but it is easy enough to had laws to throw the whole nation into an abyss of misery.

"Now, the upshot of all this is that it is peculiarly incumbent upon us in a time of such material well-being, both collectively as a nation and individually, each in his own account, to show that we possess the qualities of prudence, self-knowledge and self-restraint. In our government we need above all things stability, fixity of economic policy, while remembering that this fixity must not be invariable, but must be able to meet the shifting needs of the people as these needs arise. There are real and great evils in our social and economic life. There is every need of striving in all possible ways, individually and collectively, to shape our course anew to meet the needs of the people as these needs arise. Only let us be sure that we do not use the knife of the ignorant zealot to shape our course anew to meet the needs of the people as these needs arise. Only let us be sure that we do not use the knife of the ignorant zealot to shape our course anew to meet the needs of the people as these needs arise. Only let us be sure that we do not use the knife of the ignorant zealot to shape our course anew to meet the needs of the people as these needs arise.

"One of the dangers of the tremendous industrial growth of the last generation has been the very great increase in large private, and especially in large corporate, fortunes. We may like this or not, just as we please, but this fact, nevertheless, is a fact, and it is a fact that we must face.

less, and as far as we can see it is an inevitable result of the working of various causes, prominent among which has been the immense importance steam and electricity have assumed in modern life.

It is not true that the poor people have grown poorer, but some of the rich have grown so very much richer that where multitudes of men are herded together in a limited space the contrast strikes the onlooker as more violent than formerly. On the whole, our people earn more and live better than ever before, and the progress of which we are so proud could not have taken place had it not been for the great upbuilding of industrial centers, such as our commercial and manufacturing cities. But, together with the good, there has come a measure of evil. Life is not so simple as it was, and surely both for the individual and the community the simple life is morally the healthy life. There is not in the cities the same sense of common understanding brotherhood which there is still in country localities, and the lines of social cleavage are far more clearly marked.

For some of the evils which have attended upon the changed conditions we can at present see no complete remedy. For others the remedy must come by the action of men themselves in their private capacity, whether merely as individuals or by combination one with another. For yet others, some remedy can be found in legislative and in municipal action, not only to the wage-workers, but to the whole community, as the history of many labor organizations has conclusively shown, so wealth, not merely individual, but corporate, when used aright is not merely a benefit to the community as a whole, but indispensable to the upbuilding of the country, under the conditions which at present the country has grown not only to accept, but to demand, as normal. This is so obvious that it seems trite even to state it, and yet it is one of the most important of the arguments advanced against, and attacks made upon, wealth as such, it is a fact worth keeping in mind.

A great fortune, if not used aright, makes its possessor in a peculiar sense a menace to the community as a whole, just as a great intellect does if it is not accompanied by developed conscience, by character. But obviously this no more affords grounds for condemning wealth than it does for condemning intellect. Every man of power by the very fact of that power is capable of doing damage to his neighbors, but we cannot afford to discourage the development of such men merely because it is possible they may use their power to wrong ends. If we did so, we should leave our history a blank, for we should have no great statesman, soldiers or merchants, no great men of arts, orators or of science. Doubtless on the average the most useful man to his fellow citizens is apt to be he to whom it has been given what the palmist prayed for, neither poverty nor riches, but the great captain of industry, the man of wealth, who alone or in combination with his fellows, drives through our great business enterprises, is a factor without which this country could not possibly maintain its present industrial position in the world. Good, not harm, normally comes from the piling up of wealth through business enterprises. Probably the most serious harm resulting to us, the people of moderate means, is when we harm ourselves by letting the dark and evil vices of envy and hatred towards our fellows eat into our natures.

"Still there is other harm of a more evident kind, and such harm it is our clear duty to try to eradicate if possible, and in any event to minimize. The corporations, and therefore those great corporations containing some tendency to growth, which we have grown to regard as rather loosely as trusts, are the creatures of the State, and the State not only has the right to control them, but

CIRCUIT COURT PLUM

Many Men Eager To Pull It Down.

CHINESE CONSUL CHARGE UNPROVED

Honolulu's Receipts for Customs, $1,327,518 23—Brazilian Sugar Statistics.

(Special to the Advertiser.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 18.—The judicial aspirants out in Hawaii are not losing sight of the Circuit plum, which in the nature of things must fall within a few weeks. Bushels of letters and recommendations have been coming to the Department of Justice, particularly within a week or two. There are said to be a half dozen of candidates in the race, but the Department refuses to make public any of the names, in compliance with a long established rule and there seems to be no one else in the city aware of what the candidates are doing.

It was stated at the Department this afternoon that probably the President would not take the matter up for some weeks yet. He starts off in a few days from Oyster Bay for an extended tour, including a trip to New England, which would seem as though he did not intend to consider the Hawaiian judgeship at least before September, the date of Judge Humphreys' resignation. As far as anybody here knows all the papers in the judgeship case are now on file in the Department of Justice. Attorney-General Knox is expected back here soon, however, and it is possible he may consider the applications, as is usual in such cases and make a recommendation to the President. Nevertheless, it is doubtful if the appointment is announced before the middle of September and, perhaps, not then, from all the information which can be gleaned here now.

HAYWOOD COMING HERE.

Hon. William Haywood telegraphed some of his friends in Hawaii by the last steamer that he intended to make a trip to Hawaii. He plans sailing on the Korea and may make quite a stay in the island. The small Hawaiian contingent in town are entertaining a view that Mr. Haywood might prove an available candidate for delegate on the Republican ticket. He has been a very efficient man here in his place as representative of the Planters' Association, knows all the ropes, is familiar with the ways of securing legislation, and furthermore has the confidence of the people in authority in the legislative and executive departments of the government. His great familiarity with Hawaii is another factor to his credit mentioned here.

However, Mr. Haywood, so far as known, cherishes no such ambition for himself. He is making the trip to get in touch with the people in Hawaii and may have something to say during the campaign in behalf of his friends. "I believe Mr. W. O. Smith ought to run for Delegate," said Mr. Haywood here a few days ago. "He knows the interests of the islands and it would redound greatly to the benefit of the territory to send such a representative man to the Capitol."

POSTOFFICE BUILDING EXPERT.

Mr. Smith wrote here recently, requesting that the Supervising architect of the Treasury, Mr. James K. Taylor, come out to Honolulu to inspect the condition of the postoffice buildings at Honolulu and Hilo, as authorized by the recent act of Congress. Secretary Shaw would very much like to comply with Mr. Smith's request and send Mr. Taylor on that mission but at present it seems improbable.

"I mentioned the matter to the Secretary," said Mr. Taylor today, "and he told me it would be very difficult for me to get away for six or eight weeks this year. You see the omnibus public building law authorized the construction of some 150 public buildings over the country, which has necessitated

EDITOR IS RELEASED

Y. Kimura Made an Acceptable Apology.

INDICTMENT IS THEN QUASHED

Court Wouldn't Sentence Chinese Boy for Criminal Assault.

Y. Kimura, the Japanese editor of the Honolulu News, who was indicted by the August grand jury for criminal libel, was discharged yesterday morning by Judge Gear, upon a nolle prosequi being entered by Mr. Cathcart.

Kimura was charged with having libelled a prominent Japanese merchant, one S. Kimura, in the News' issue of July 31st. In this article it was alleged that Kimura had not shown the proper respect for a deceased friend, and had danced naked in the room where his dead body lay. It was alleged further that he with others had been singing and otherwise enjoying themselves at the funeral.

In court yesterday morning Mr. Cathcart announced that he desired to enter a nolle prosequi. "It has been represented to me," said the deputy attorney general, "that the amende honorable has been made to the person who claimed to be libeled, and he is desirous of dropping the prosecution."

Judge Gear inquired if it wasn't a rather strange proceeding to drop the prosecution after an indictment had been returned, simply at the request of the prosecuting witness.

Mr. Cathcart replied that in his opinion the only reason libel had been made a criminal offense was because of the trouble a personal quarrel might cause. He thought it was but a personal matter and did not believe it worth while to take up the time of the court and jury with a trial when the offender had apologized and the prosecuting witness was satisfied.

The nolle prosequi was entered, Judge Gear stating that he didn't believe a grand jury indictment should be made the basis for an apology.

COURT NOTES.

W. G. Chong, a Chinese boy 15 years of age, charged with a criminal assault upon a girl of 13, was released upon suspended sentence. Judge Gear stated that he did not feel justified in imposing even the minimum of three months, and the order was consequently entered.

An inventory has been filed of the estate of the late David Center, showing property worth $23,890.92. Judge Robinson yesterday heard the case of Godfrey vs. Kidwell.

Motion to have the sale of the McCully tract confirmed will be presented to Judge Humphreys this morning.

Judge Humphreys yesterday granted a license to practice law in the district courts to Robert W. Shingle.

Divorce was granted by Judge Robinson to Alice A. Bryant from Edwin J. G. Bryant, on the ground of non-support.

Mrs. Kato Kiku has applied for letters of administration upon the estate of Kato Iwakichi.

A NEW FUR SEAL ROOKERY

WASHINGTON, August 19.—Lieutenant Ellsworth Berthoff of the revenue cutter service, who received a gold medal from Congress last spring for his part in the expedition in Alaska in the winter of 1897-98, has added to his exploits by discovering a new fur seal rookery in the Aleutian Islands. While cruising among the islands near the extrema western end of the chain early in July, as executive officer of the cutter Manning, Lieutenant Berthoff went ashore with a boat's crew on the island of Boulder. There he found a rookery of fur seals, similar to those found on the famous Pribilof islands, which are situated 700 miles in a northeasterly direction from Boulder.

The scene of the newly discovered seal herd is a mere dot of land between Behring sea and the Pacific ocean, fully 3500 miles west of San Francisco, but still within American jurisdiction.

Lieutenant Berthoff approached the herd closely enough to learn that none of the seals had been branded, and there was no sign that white men in search of fur seals had ever been near the island. Captain Shoemaker, chief of the revenue cutter service, heard through the Aleutian island natives that there was a seal herd near the western end of the long chain of islands and he issued instructions last spring that the report be investigated by the Manning. It is believed that further discoveries will be made which, in view of the gradually declining seal fisheries in the Pribilof islands, will prove to be of great importance.

ed practically the reorganization of my office to meet the conditions. I don't say yet that I shall not go to Honolulu but I think it very improbable. No other man is yet in mind for the journey but it is not likely that anyone will go out there before sometime late in the fall."

THE CASE OF CHINESE CONSUL.

It is probably already known in Honolulu that Territorial Senator Carter, who investigated the alleged cases of smuggling, in which the Chinese Consul at Honolulu was said to be implicated, found that there was not sufficient evidence to sustain those charges. Mr. Carter's report was forwarded here to the Treasury Department and thence referred to the State Department. There it was stated this afternoon that the charges had not been sustained against the Chinese Consul but for the good of the service it had been deemed expedient to transfer him to another post of duty. This, of course, was done through the Chinese government on the strength of representations from the State Department to the Chinese Minister here.

HONOLULU CUSTOMS RECEIPTS.

The annual summary of receipts for customs at the port of Honolulu, covering the fiscal year ended June 30, last has been received from Collector Stackable and is on file in the office of Mr. W. S. Chance, chief of the division of special agents. It will be printed as a part of the Secretary's annual report to be made public two or three months later. It shows that the receipts from customs in the territory of Hawaii during the past fiscal year were $1,227,518.23. The amount of refunds and drawbacks was $16,355.02. The expenses of collecting this sum was $86,932.82, of which $92,521.04 was for salaries, $262 for cents, $4,038.28 for miscellaneous expenses, and $111.50 for expenses paid directly by the Department.

Collector Stackable states that the number of vessels which entered Honolulu or Hawaiian ports from foreign ports was 210, that cleared there for foreign ports was 118; while the number of vessels which entered from domestic ports was 382 and that cleared for domestic ports 499. The entries of merchandise for duty numbered 3,250 and the entries, which were free of duty, numbered 132. The total number of entries of every character was 4,876.

BRAZILIAN SUGAR.

H. W. Furniss, the United States Consul at Bahia, writes to the State Department the following account of a convention of sugar producers in Brazil:

"Pursuant to a call issued by the National Society of Agriculture at Rio de Janeiro, delegates assembled here on June 25, 1902, to take part in the first sugar producers' convention of Brazil. Delegates were present from all the sugar-producing States—Sao Paulo, Rio de Janeiro, Pernambuco, Bahia, Parahiba, Alagoas, Sergipe, Rio Grande do Norte, and Maranhao. They were not sent according to any basis of apportionment, but were designated by the various agricultural and commercial societies, municipalities, State governments, groups of cane raisers, and sugar producers.

"The national society had planned an elaborate programme, to include the discussion of such subjects as symptoms of the sugar crisis, its causes and remedy; condition and preparation of the soil and qualities of cane cultivated; methods of culture; methods of sugar making; production; foreign trade; internal trade and means of enlarging it; production and consumption of alcohol, its industrial application for light and heat, its use as fuel for large factories; use of sugar cane for feeding stock.

"The subjects were not assigned to delegates, but it was left to the individuals to take whatever part they might wish; and instead of discussing the points outlined on the programme, the convention virtually narrowed down to considering various plans which were proposed to better the condition of those engaged in sugar production. These plans included federal loans to planters; abolition of tax for foreign export and payment of bounty for sugar so sent; a consumption tax on all sugars, the revenue so derived to reimburse the States for the export taxes removed and the bounty established; the storing of sugar by the Government and the sale of same without the intervention of the middleman; etc.

"After a week of discussion, it became apparent that the interests of the delegates were so diverse that it would be impossible to come to any definite conclusion, and the convention adjourned on July 4, to meet in February, 1904, at Pernambuco. The only thing accomplished was the adoption of a motion to the effect that inter-state duties should be abolished and protesting against the high rates of taxation in general."

FOURTH DISTRICT REPUBLICANS ACT

Declare One Representative Candidate Will Be Selected From Names Submitted.

Republicans stand ready to place the name of a Portuguese upon the ticket for the Legislature if the members of the political club of that nationality will agree to support the nominees of the party. This was agreed to in the meeting of the Fourth district committee yesterday, although the members of the Fifth district committee decided that they could not agree to make such a nomination unless the Portuguese came into the party by the regular channels.

The meeting of the Fourth district committee was well attended, though the members did not get together until late. The motions of McClellan and Isenberg were set aside and finally after some discussion the following motion of Brooks was passed:

Resolved, That it is the purpose of the Fourth district committee to place at the meeting of the district committee, to be held next week, one Portuguese American on the legislative ticket this year, from the Fourth district, provided the Portuguese Political Club will select names from which such candidate is to be chosen, and will pledge themselves to unanimously support the entire Republican ticket in return for such nomination.

A letter was read from Major Camara, saying that he had been misrepresented, that he had said only that the Portuguese club would not affiliate with the Republican party, but would support the entire ticket if the club nominees were on it.

Members of the committee said that the statements of members of the club were that the Republicans must take the Portuguese as they found them, and that there would be no affiliation with any party.

The conference committee of the Fifth district committee reported the substance of the conference and the matter of representation was then taken up. McCandless offered the Isenberg proportional representation resolution. This was tabled after some debate, and the secretary was directed to notify the central committee that the matter of representation should be taken up at the regular course of coming into the party, and should secure representation in the usual way.

The committee on rules reported and under this plan the following committees were appointed:

- First precinct—Lot Lane and James Davis.
- Second—Nainoa and Kekuku.
- Third—Naukana and Goodale.
- Fourth—Gilliland and Kekahuna.
- Fifth—Douglass (only one member from this precinct).
- Sixth—Nawaakoa and Woodward.
- Seventh—Clark and Sherwood.
- Eighth—Dwight and Kapono.
- Ninth—Apio and Harris.
- Tenth—Kwai Fong and Isaac.

Finance Committee—L. McCandless, George S. Harris and J. C. Lane.

On motion it was decided that a committee of three should be created for the purpose of conferring with a similar committee from the Fourth district and then deciding the date for the holding of the joint convention for the nomination of senators for the Third senatorial district.

Chairman Achi announced that he had made arrangements for the placing on file at the headquarters of the remarks of all the Home Rule orators, and that any member could see them so as to refute them.

WAS AN ORNERY SPANISH PARROT

Bird That Cursed Officers of the Chilean Customs Service.

There are nationalities among parrots as well as among men and when a parrot decides to stick to one nationality and to adopt but one language all the wiles of man will not prevent him from doing so. Captain Perry of the barkentine Addenda has a parrot on his vessel which has been with him for some years but which declines to speak anything but the Spanish language. The bird has caused Perry some trouble.

This parrot is a large, bright, green colored bird. It was raised on the Isthmus of Panama. For months and months Captain Perry has been endeavoring to teach the parrot to speak English. The only reply he has received to his courtesy in this way toward the bird was a cursing in Spanish. The bird swears like a regular deep sea skipper but sticks to its Spanish.

The only friends that the parrot has aboard the ship are two Guam natives who speak Spanish and can thus understand the bird.

But the last time that Skipper Perry was in a Chilean port he came very near going in to durango ville and all because of the bird. When the Chilean customs officials boarded his vessel they enquired if he could speak Spanish. He replied that he could not but a moment later the officials heard a voice declaring in pure Spanish: "Captain is a d—n liar." Later the bird was shouting: "Get off the ship you thieving officers." This was too much for the officials. They looked high and by her. It may be of interest for your readers to have some of the measurements of this grand boat. A gross tonnage of 12,600, length 572 feet, beam 63 feet, and mean draft 27 feet. The writer had the pleasure of going over the vessel soon after reaching port. Her trimmings and furnishings are plain, but substantial and uniform. Her cabin staterooms are fitted up for 220 passengers and the dining saloon has seating for over 200 at first table. The beautiful bronze staircase is something unique in itself and exceedingly appropriate to the general finish of this magnificent boat. I find the staterooms to be quite roomy, high between decks, with air tube ventilators for the let out or take up of foul air. The suites, of which there are four sets, are complete in their furnishings and comfort, and suggest all the luxuries of travel that can be conceived. The social hall is unique in itself and entirely different from anything of the kind I have visited. The advent of this vessel in the Pacific will revolutionize ocean travel to the Orient, and we predict that this boat will bring about many progressive improvements for the comfort of passengers in other competing lines. low for the owner of the vessel and finally learned that it was the bird, Captain Perry had considerable difficulty in explaining that the bird was an "old Spanish shiner" and that it had not been taught such bad and discourteous language aboard his vessel.

It's Really Remarkable

How Many Men Sacrifice Their Money to a False Pride.

We know numbers of them who have their clothes made-to-measure simply because they desire to be able to show their friends the tailor's label, so as to prove their disdain for anything that is not made "especially" for them. We almost despair of converting this class to the Stein-Bloch idea. But, you who are sensible—we want you to come to us and let us show you the Stein-Bloch Clothes.

You can readily compare them with regard to fit, cloth, quality, tailoring and style with those that your tailor has made to-your-measure. Comparison with the ordinary ready-made clothing would make the latter look like less than the now proverbial "thirty cents."

MONITOR FOR HARBOR WORK

The United States Navy Department is preparing a new scheme for defense of the smaller American ports and islands which have no shore batteries. Hawaii will probably be included in this scheme, as there are no shore batteries here which can be used to defend the islands from the possible attacks of a foreign fleet, and it is not always possible to have a gunboat or cruiser in these waters. For island defense small monitors have been planned, and one of these for use on the Atlantic coast has already been launched. This is the Arkansas, and she is officially termed a harbor defense monitor. She is an interesting vessel.

The Arkansas has a beam of 50 feet, is 252 feet long and upon a water displacement of 3225 tons will draw only 12 1/2 feet of water. Her bow is fitted with an enormous ram, and this would be certain doom for a large battleship should the smaller craft be able to get a run at her.

Lying low upon the water, with all her exposed hull stoutly covered with armor ranging from five to eleven inches thick, with her two big guns well housed in a turret of hardened steel eleven inches thick, and with the bases of her smokestack and ventilators guarded by folds of the same tough metal, she offers but a limited target to an enemy's fire. The housing amidships of no military importance, could be riddled from end to end and turned into a tangled bunch of plates and angles, but so long as the turret remained intact the ship would be practically as formidable as ever.

The main battery consists of two 12-inch guns of the older type—not such as have been designed for the latest battleships—in the forward turret, four 4-inch rapid-fire rifles, mounted on the corners of the superstructure, and a number of smaller rapid-fire guns, the object of which is to repel torpedo craft. Accordingly they are mounted on the superstructure and up in the fighting top. The vessel carries no torpedo outfit.

Working along the American coast, the coal supply of 200 tons will give the Arkansas a considerable radius of action, while modest draught will enable the class to safeguard many of the seaboard cities and towns not protected by permanent batteries.

The Arkansas was built by the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company. Her keel was laid November 14, 1899; she was launched a year and four days later, and will be ready for commissioning now in a few months. When turned over to the Navy Department, her contractors will have earned $960,000, and the government, while not acquiring a thing of beauty, will have got a useful instrument of defense.

Naval men consider that such a craft will be especially suited for the work around Hawaii after the Pearl Harbor Naval Station has been completed.

Guam Prisoners.

is in duty bound to control them wherever the need for such control is shown. There is clearly a need of supervision—need to exercise the power of regulation on the part of the representatives of the public wherever, as in our own country at the present time, business corporations become so very strong both for benefit work and for work that is not at ways beneficent. It is idle to say that there is no need for such supervision. A sufficient warrant for it is to be found over and over again in any of the various evils resulting from the present system, or rather lack of system.

"There is in our country a peculiar difficulty in the way of exercising such supervision and control because of the peculiar division of governmental power. When the industrial conditions were simple, very little control was needed, and no trouble was caused by the doubt as to where power was lodged under the constitution. Now the conditions are complicated and we find it difficult to frame national legislation which shall be adequate, while the mixture of practical experience state action has proved entirely insufficient and any in all human probability cannot or will not be made sufficient to meet the needs of the case. Some of our states have excellent laws—laws which would be well indeed to have enacted by the National Legislature. But the wide differences in these laws, even between adjacent states and the uncertainty of the power of enforcement result practically in altogether insufficient control. I believe that the nation must assume this power of control by legislation, and if it becomes evident that the constitution will not permit needed legislation, then by constitutional amendment. The immediate need in dealing with trusts is to place them under the real, not nominal, control of some sovereign to which, as its creature, the trusts shall owe allegiance, and in whose courts the sovereign's orders may with certainty be enforced. This is not the case with the ordinary so-called 'trust' today, for the trust is a large state corporation, generally doing business in other states also, and often with a tendency to monopoly. Such a trust is an artificial creature, not wholly responsible to or controllable by any legislature, nor wholly subject to the jurisdiction of any one court. Some governmental sovereign must be given full power over these artificial and very powerful corporations being. In my judgment this sovereign must be the National government. When it has been given full power then this full power can be used to control any evil influence, exactly as the government is now using the power conferred upon it under the Sherman anti-trust law. Even when the full power has been conferred it would be highly undesirable to attempt too much, or to begin by stringent legislation. The mechanism of modern business is as delicate and complicated as it is vast, and nothing would be more productive of evil to all of us and especially to those least well off in this world's goods, than ignorant meddling with this mechanism and above all, if the meddling was done in a spirit of class or sectional rancor. It is desirable that this power should be possessed by the nation, but it is quite as desirable that the power should be exercised with moderation and self-restraint. The first exercise of that power should be the securing of publicity among all great corporations doing an inter-state business. The publicity, though non-inquisitorial, should be real and thorough as to all important facts with which the public has concern."

Shah Fires Maxim Gun.

LONDON, August 21.—The Shah paid a lengthy visit to the Maxim works this morning. He showed keen interest in the latest inventions in artillery and electrical appliances. On the invitation of Sir Hiram Maxim, the Persian monarch got astride of the seat of a Maxim gun and fired three belts of blank cartridges. His majesty was considerably shocked by the recoil at his first attempt, but he stuck to his post and finished up like an experienced gunner. The Shah and his suite prepared for moving pictures before leaving. He subsequently proceeded to the Persian Legation, where he gave a state luncheon which cost $15,000, so sumptuous were the decorations and arrangements.

The coming week in social circles will be enlivened by several functions which will practically commence the fall social activity.

Besides the guest of honor, sixteen enjoyed the hospitality of the professor. The house had been lavishly decorated and exclamations of delight greeted the appearance of the table which was literally hidden by the floral decorations. The electric lights, shaded by silk covers, shed a soft radiance on the feast, while potted plants and other floral decorations made up a pretty scene not soon to be forgotten.

The Misses Gurney returned from San Francisco in the Alameda.

Ex-Senator and Mrs. J. M. Thurston and Mrs. Senator Burton were the recipients on Thursday evening of a delightful serenade at the Hawaiian Hotel.

WHAT THE MAIL STEAMERS BRING

Meats, Fruits, and Other Things That Arrive Regularly From Coast.

"She had about a thousand tons of general cargo for Honolulu." Such a statement as this appears in the Honolulu newspapers every time a mail steamer arrives from the coast, but very few people realize how much that small statement means to them and what a lot of goods are included in that thousand tons. It means an enormous amount of foodstuffs and other articles which must come from the coast regularly or the people of the Paradise of the Pacific would find high prices and a shortness of all kinds of provisions on the market for a week until another steamer should put in an appearance.

One such cargo as an illustration will show the class of goods and the amount brought here by a mail steamer. The Oceanic liner Sierra was the last mail steamer from San Francisco. She had an immense amount of stuff in her cold storage chambers. There was one item of 35,527 pounds of fresh meat—steaks, chops, roasts and all sorts of dainties; and 3,138 pounds of dressed poultry counted for a large number of good dinners. There were 5000 pounds of codfish—enough to provide a large amount for every boarding house in Honolulu for boarders here very frequently have that article on their menus; 1550 pounds of millstuffs also represented considerable breakfast foods. There was a large consignment of canned goods. Over 1500 gallons of wines and liquors give only a small idea to the man on the coast of the drinking capacities of the people here. A consignment of cigars and tobacco comes by every boat having a cargo similar to the Sierra's. All sorts of vegetables in large quantities show what a market there is here for anyone who will use industry enough to grow these things in Oahu.

Best of course provisions make up the best part of the cargo for this port and so one is not surprised to see over 8000 pounds of ham and bacon being discharged on the Oceanic wharf. There were about a thousand pounds of cheese and nearly a hundred packages of sundry provisions and groceries. Hawaiian hens cannot anywhere else supply us with eggs, so the 150 cases that came by the Sierra did not give anyone an idea that they would lower the market price. Then there were large boxes of dried fruits, dry goods, boots and shoes, hats, leather, zinc, arms and ammunition, machinery, boiler tubes, sewing machines, stoves, steel, iron, paper, electrical goods, mill work, marble, white lead and paints, to say nothing of 29 packages of beer.

In addition to all of this the steamer had tons of newspapers and letters— even more eagerly looked for than the supply of fresh meats, fruits and other provisions.

THE PACIFIC Commercial Advertiser

WALTER G. SMITH - - EDITOR. SATURDAY : : : AUGUST 30.

The masterly way in which President Roosevelt passed over dangerous ground in his New England speech on the Trusts, ought to even win the praise of The Commoner.

The Korea is having a hard time to ship a Chinese crew. It is quite possible that she will have to take, instead, a crew provided by the Sailors' Union. Whether the trouble will delay the coming of the big ship remains to be seen.

The Advertiser is now the only paper in Honolulu publishing the special Associated Press service, rendered up to the hour of the sailing of the steamer from San Francisco. The special telegrams have hitherto been also received and published by the Evening Bulletin.

The native people on Hawaii, who oppose Wilcox, accuse him of treachery. They well might. Treachery, political and otherwise, has been the rule of Wilcox's life, and his old benefactor, Celso Caesar Moreno, charged him with it on his dying bed. Just now Wilcox is trying to sell over half the Home Rule legislative ticket to the Democrats, and the natives, in observing this, remember how he threw the onus of his 1889 revolution on Kalakaua and abandoned the Queen in 1893 in the hope of getting an office from the P. G.

ECCENTRICITY OF KING ALFONSO

NEW YORK, August 21.—A cable to the Journal from Madrid says: All Spain is aghast today over the latest reports of the extraordinary eccentricity of King Alfonso. During his recent provincial tour the King repeatedly gave evidence of a lack of mental balance. At Oviedo, at a great reception, the King complained of being bored, and asked why he could not go to bed. Pacheco explained that etiquette demanded that the people leave first. "Oh, must they?" replied his majesty. "I'll soon send them away."

A moment later Alfonso doubled his fists, and placing them to his mouth in imitation of a bugle, sounded taps. Everybody stood aghast and glanced toward the King, who again sounded taps, stretched his arms and yawned. The people took the hint and departed. At Santander, when the King was acclaimed with shouts of "Long Live the King!" Alfonso shouted to the Duke of Veragua, who was near by: "Say, Duke, you didn't get anything this time, did you? No long life for you?"

He then laughed boisterously at Veragua's confusion. While at Cadabonga viewing a shrine, which is one of the most famous in Europe, when the Bishop showed him the sacred relics, St. Peter's toe, nail and St. Paul's hair, the King said: "Bishop do you believe that nonsense?" "The Bishop affirmed that he did."

"Well, I don't," replied Alfonso. "We have seen enough. I'm going to dinner." With this remark he marched off toward the dining hall. NEW YORK, August 22.—A cable to the Journal from Madrid says: King Alfonso continues to startle the nobility of Spain by his eccentric actions. He has disregarded all the protests of his counselors that he marry a European Princess, and has announced his intention of marrying the daughter of some South American capitalist to mend the shattered state finances, reconcile the republican element by taking a plebeian consort and restore Spanish prestige in Latin America. The King has instructed a representative of the Spanish crown in South America to forward him full details of the millionaires possessing eligible daughters. Alfonso has thrown a bombshell into the ranks of the nobility by stating his intention of dissolving the Grand Order of the Annunziata, the oldest order in Spain, and substituting for it the new order of Alfonso XIII.

Lee Talks of Cuba.

URBANA (Ill.), August 21.—At the Chautauqua encampment here today General Hugh Lee spoke on Cuba before one of the largest audiences of the assembly. He said that in his opinion Blanco had nothing whatever to do with the blowing up of the Maine, but that young officers left by Weyer at the Havana arsenal were the ones who knew most about placing the torpedo that destroyed the lives of so many Americans. He was of the opinion that the little republic was destined to have political trouble and that there was a strong possibility that the United States would eventually acquire the island. He believed it was needed to round out the United States and that the building of the isthmian canal would put the United States in a position where Cuba would be necessary for the maintenance of United States supremacy in those waters. He prophesied a great future for the island, in an agricultural way.

Abducted by a Lunatic.

MACON, Ga., Aug. 23.—With a pistol in his hand, James I. Tindall, said to be an escaped lunatic, entered the home of L. A. Roach, in Wilkinson County, and carried off Agnes Roach, a 15 year-old girl. The kidnapping was accomplished while Roach was absent. Tindall drove away with the girl, and so far has not been apprehended.

The Cholera in Manchuria.

ST. PETERSBURG, August 18.—Cholera continues to spread in Manchuria, and isolated cases have been reported in Siberia outside of Blagovitchensk, where it has a firm hold. Up to the last reports there had been 274 cases and 179 deaths at Blagovitchensk, 45 cases and 25 deaths at Port Arthur and 33 cases and 20 deaths at Dalny.

KING TO CALL ON KAISER

BERLIN, Aug. 23.—Gilded masts surmounted by evergreen crowns are being set up along Unter-den-Linden, in preparation for the entry into Berlin of King Victor Emmanuel of Italy, Thursday next. The Unter-den-Linden midway is being bordered throughout its length by long rows of potted greenery. The program for the King's entertainment, which includes receptions, state dinners and a daily performance at the opera, ends on Saturday with the great Fall parade of troops on the Tempelhof field.

The object of King Victor Emmanuel's visit, as explained at the Italian Embassy, is that the young King is simply making his first call since his accession upon his friend, the Emperor, that such was the only purpose of his visit to Russia, and that it is quite probable that the King will visit France next year. Austria is not likely to be visited by King Victor Emmanuel for the reason that Emperor Francis Joseph had never returned the late King Humbert's visit to Vienna because he wished to avoid offending the Vatican by seeing King Humbert in Rome.

As King Victor Emmanuel on his visit to Berlin will be attended by the Italian Premier, Signor Zanardelli, the relations between Italy and Germany will, naturally, be discussed, but anything approaching negotiations with a definite object, growing out of the question of King Victor Emmanuel's disarmament proposals, are for the Emperor's personal ear, and are not official, and the fruitlessness of making them is well understood by the Ministers here. As for the rest, the Berliners are looking forward to a brilliant show and officialdom anticipates a wearisome series of functions, which it must attend.

PERILS OF THE PARISIAN STREETS

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—Quoting the Francs the Evening edition of the Matin, the Paris correspondent of the World cables the following:

"Victor Evandale, an American, about forty years of age, declared at a cafe table that he had lived for ten years in the wildest regions of Western United States and never carried a weapon and was never afraid. Several Frenchmen who were present told him that Paris was more dangerous. "They asserted that he could not go from Grenelle to Montrouge, for example, after 10 o'clock at night without being killed, unless he wore laborer's clothes."

"Evandale left the cafe after a time without reverting to the conversation about dangerous localities."

"Next morning his companions of the night before were horrified to read of the discovery of Evandale's body in the glacis of the fortification near the Malson Blanche. It is supposed he must have actually attempted to walk from Grenelle to Montrouge immediately after leaving his friends. "Evidently he was attacked from behind. Tight around his neck was found a thin leather thong which had been used to strangle him. His pockets were rifled, his shoes and coat removed."

Inquiry by the World correspondent tends to show that Evandale was an Englishman instead of an American, but had lived in Texas.

GETTING READY FOR WILL CONTEST

The record of French dispatches bearing on the question whether Mrs. Fair survived her husband is as follows:

First Day—Louis Bretey, the chauffeur, was reported insane. Second Day—Bretey said that Mr. and Mrs. Fair died instantaneously. Dr. Perriquet of Pacy-Sur-Eure made the same declaration.

Third Day—Madame Houdret said that after the fatal injury Mr. Fair moved his feet and his wife moved one of her hands. Bretey said he didn't know whether either moved. Dr. Perriquet declared that any such movement was impossible after the sustaining of the injuries.

Fourth Day—Madame Houdret qualified her original statement and said that she saw Mr. Fair's foot move after Mrs. Fair's hand had become motionless.

PARIS, August 23.—The correspondent of the Associated Press learns that the postponement of the shipment of the remains of Charles L. Fair and Mrs. Fair to Cherbourg on their way to New York is the result of an agreement between the lawyers to hold the bodies here until it is decided whether it is advisable to examine them with the view of ascertaining the exact nature of the injuries which caused death. The consent of the late Mr. Fair's family has been cabled for.

HUNDRED MILE AN HOUR CARS

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—An electrical company at Lynn, Mass., is building a train which is soon to be used in Illinois, says a special dispatch from Lynn and which the engineers estimate will make ninety to one hundred miles an hour.

It is added that the track for the train in Illinois is almost completed; that the line is about 150 miles long and is remarkable for solidity and strength. As far as possible grades have been eliminated. Electricity will be the motive power and the third rail system will be used.

A train of three cars has been built for the first trials. The train will be equipped with twelve motors of 120 horse-power each. Instead of the high speed increasing the danger, it is claimed that the train will be safer and run less risk of leaving the rails than an ordinary street car.

The theory held by electricians is that the train is practically electrically welded to the track and cannot leave it while the power is on. The location of the track is not given.

Dyspepsia

What's the use of a good cook if there's a bad stomach—a stomach too weak properly to digest what is taken into it?

The owner of such a stomach experiences distress after eating, nausea between meals, and is troubled with belching and fits of nervous headache—he's dyspeptic and miserable.

"I have been troubled with dyspepsia and have suffered almost everything. I have tried many different remedies, but could get no relief until I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. CAMPAIGN'S FIRST GUN

Senator Thurston Will Fill the Orpheum.

MANY CANDIDATES FOR LEGISLATURE

Men Who Are Named for Places on the Ticket From Both Districts.

Senator John M. Thurston will address a gathering of citizens at the Orpheum this evening, which from indications will more than fill the seating capacity of the house. This, practically the first gun of the Republican campaign, will be one of the most remarkable speeches which will be heard during it, for Senator Thurston is known as one of the foremost orators of the party, in the nation.

The meeting has been advertised throughout the city and arrangements have been made for music which will relieve the waits during the evening's program. There will be but the one speech, others taking up such time as may not be occupied by Senator Thurston with short talks. There will be no translation of the address, but there will be a digest in Hawaiian after the conclusion of the remarks, by Judge Wilcox or some other Hawaiian orator. Chairman A. G. M. Robertson will say a few words during the evening's discussion.

The arrangements for the handling of the crowd are practically complete. There will be a large portion of the hall reserved for ladies and these seats will be held until at least 7:45 o'clock, after which they will be thrown open to all comers. There will be an overflow meeting in Fort street in the event that the Orpheum is more than crowded by the people who wish to hear this distinguished Westerner.

It is expected that arrangements may be made for an address during the Republican convention of Monday, either by Senator Thurston or Senator Burton of Kansas, who will return from a trip to Hawaii today. The convention will have some time to devote to oratory and it is the expectation of the leaders that the visitors will recognize the importance of a wide discussion of American citizenship, its privileges and duties, and a broad address is looked for by the leaders.

There was a meeting of the executive committee of the Republican Central Committee last evening, and some routine business in connection with the convention was done. The final arrangements will be made today by the called meeting of the Republican Territorial Committee. The hall is now being arranged for the meeting and there will be all the accessories of a well appointed convention.

Several names have been suggested for the chairmanship. Among these are A. N. Kepolokal of Maui, Cecil Brown of Oahu, W. G. Walker of Hawaii and H. P. Baldwin of Maui, who will sit in the convention bearing a proxy from Molokai.

Members of the party have made up platforms which will be brought forward for consideration by the committee on resolutions, and it is now certain that the convention, which must pass upon the rules recently adopted by the Territorial Committee, will have a fight over the question of an open primary.

There has been recently much discussion of the men who may be brought forward for nomination in the several districts of the island, for both the upper and the lower houses. Among the many mentioned are the following: Senators—Fourth district: W. W. Harris, A. L. C. Atkinson, William Aylett, D. P. R. Isenberg; Fifth: W. C. Aehl, John C. Lane, L. McCandless, Dr. G. H. Huddy, Representatives—Fourth district: W. W. Harris, J. A. Lucas, Frank Andrade, William Aylett, A. L. C. Atkinson, George Smithies; Fifth: William Olepau, Judge Kaulukou, Charles H. Clark, G. W. Nawakaos, Ben Naukana, James Davis, C. J. Holt, A. W. Seabury, E. C. Winston.

PRINCE CUPID'S RETURN.

Prince Cupid returned from his trip through Hawaii and Maui yesterday. He reported favoring audiences and that there was much enthusiasm for the Kuokos. It was understood last evening that a call for a mass meeting, to hear a verbal report from Prince Cupid, would be issued today, for Monday evening at the Orpheum.

By the same steamer came reports that Wilcox was being coldly received by the people of Hawaii. One of the reports said that the people of Kohala upbraided the Delegate for his failure to do anything for them. There were reports of personal indignities offered to the Delegate, but these were denied by passengers in the Helene.

The Hui Kuokoa it is said will get down to work and make a fight for its organization at once.

Prince Cupid was the principal speaker last night for the Hui Kuokoa party at the old sand lot in Kakaako, his audience being a large one and very enthusiastic. Four other speakers followed him and all were listened to attentively. Prince Cupid made no mention of the results of his Hawaii trip, but announced that the natives would be given an opportunity to hear all about it next Monday night, when the mass meeting is held at the Orpheum.

ANNUAL INSPECTION OF WHARVES MADE

Quarantine Dock Is in Splendid Condition—Hackfeld Wharf Ready for Korea.

As a result of the annual investigation of wharves and harbors about Honolulu the Public Works Department will ask the next legislature to make an appropriation for the rebuilding of the Pacific Mail and the Oceanic docks.

The wharves were found to be generally in good condition by Supt. Boyd upon his examination, excepting the two above-mentioned.

The big Quarantine dock which was constructed two years ago was found to have been hardly affected by the wear and tear of twenty-four months' usage. Of the seven hundred piles which support the heavy docks but two were found to be in such shape that it was necessary to replace them. These two piles had been struck by incoming vessels and damaged in that way, otherwise the wharf was not marred in the slightest degree.

The new Hackfeld wharf has now been accepted by the Department and the legislature will be asked to reimburse Hackfeld & Co. for the money spent upon it. This dock is in the best of condition and a final examination has been made to see that it is in proper shape for the reception of the Korea which is expected next week. The harbor which has also been dredged out was carefully sounded and in no place is there a less depth than thirty feet. The dredging was done also by the Public Works Department, though properly it should have been the duty of the federal government. The Territorial government has spent over $30,000 in improving Honolulu harbor alone within the past year, simply because of the fact that the delegate to Congress failed to place the matter before the proper authorities at Washington. This branch of work is in the charge of the Secretary of War, there being ample appropriations for such purpose, but as the needs of Hawaii had not been presented no assistance could therefore be expected from that quarter. It is quite likely that the matter will be presented in the proper light to the Senate Commission upon its visit here.

The second Hackfeld wharf on Queen street will not be built until after the next session of the legislature, and an appropriation will be asked for this purpose also.

Both the Oceanic and Pacific Mail docks were found to be greatly in need of repairs. The underpinnings require attention, some of the piles having rotted away, though there is of course no danger of a collapse of the structure. The upper work also could be greatly improved and in view of the great cost of the necessary improvements it has been decided not to undertake the work at all this year, but wait and request a sufficient appropriation from the legislature to entirely rebuild these two wharves.

The wharves in and about Honolulu are a paying proposition to the Territory and pay the cost of their construction and maintenance several times over before requiring rebuilding. The continued falling off in the sailing fleet does not affect the revenues of the government in the manner that would naturally be expected. The sailing vessels are replaced by steam freighters and the steamers pay greater dockage charges for their short stay in port than did the largest fleet of sailing ships that ever came to this port within a year. The freighters lay at the dock during their entire stay in Honolulu while the sailing vessels go to anchorage in the stream immediately after unloading their cargoes.

ANCESTRAL HOME OF WASHINGTON

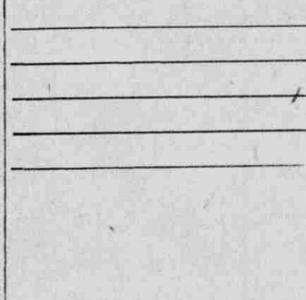

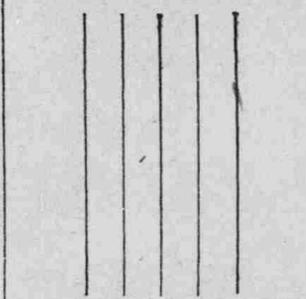

CHICAGO, August 21.—The ancestral home of George Washington may be brought from England to this country. A cable from London today says: Northamptonshire real estate agents advertise for sale at public auction in September the ancestral home of Washington in the village of Banbury, eighty-six miles from London. The property includes the ancient manor house and 204 acres of farming land.

Tradition says that the manor house was once occupied by Queen Elizabeth. It is a quaint, moss-covered stone structure, containing fifteen rooms, including a drawing-room. The walls are decorated with antique carvings, among which is the Washington coat-of-arms, said to have been the origin of the Stars and Stripes. It has been suggested that the British Government acquire the property as a kind of international memorial. The price asked by the owners is $27,000. Should it not be sold for that price it probably will be transported to the United States and exhibited at the St. Louis Exposition.

Another Sull Captured.

Internal Revenue Collector Roy H. Chamberlain made another raid yesterday with good results. Accompanied by Deputy Collector Couzens and Special Deputy Drake, he captured an okolehao still at Kalihi which had been in full operation just a few minutes prior to the capture.
 Ah Fong, the Chinese distiller in charge, was arrested, and together with his still and a sample of manufactured spirits, was taken to the lockup. About 5 gallons of okolehao were destroyed. The still captured had a capacity of about 50 gallons per day, and the fire was still under it when the raid was made. Criminal information will be filed against the Chinese by United States Attorney Breckons today.

Died of Rare Disease.

NEW YORK, August 23.—Rudolph Fiedner of New Brunswick, N. J., is dead after a lingering illness from a rare disease of the skin, known to scientists as pemphigus vulgaris. No other case of the disease has ever been known in the United States. It is asserted. Fiedner's skin became as if scalded and his nurses had to swathe his entire body in cotton. Mr. Fiedner was first taken ill in May. Specialists were called, who studied the case with great interest, but could do nothing to relieve him, and he died from exhaustion. He was 44 years of age, and starting as a factory laborer, had built up a large business.

MAY DELAY THE KOREA'S SAILING

Government May Refuse to Allow Transfer of Chinese Crew From Gaelic.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 23.—The Examiner says: The 250 Chinese sailors who were brought from the Orient under contract to work for the Pacific Mail Steamship Company as the crew of the Korea will not be permitted to land nor to go aboard the American steamship and they will be deported to China or Japan.

The original order allowing them to land in San Francisco, it is now learned, was based upon misrepresentations made to the department at Washington, presumably by the Pacific Mail Steamship Company. Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, upon learning the facts, countermanded the order and instructed Collector Stratton to hold the Chinese until the whole matter can be investigated.

"Our first information," said Assistant Secretary Taylor to a correspondent of "The Examiner" at Washington last night, "was that the Chinese aboard the Gaelic were seamen in distress and as soon as possible would be transferred to a ship sailing for China. Tais being the case, the Treasury Department directed Collector Stratton to allow the Chinese sailors to land."

"We have a protest from the Sailors' Union at San Francisco that the Chinese aboard the Gaelic are to be used as a crew for the Korea. If that is the case it is clearly a violation of the law. We will not permit it. I have countermanded the first order to allow them to land and to get on board the Korea. We will investigate the matter fully and report to the department. When I have this report I will take action."

"The official investigation will show the facts to be exactly as the Coast Seamen's Union has represented them," said Secretary Andrew Furuseth last night. "These men are not sailors in distress, but coolies imported in violation of the contract labor law."

"We have heard of the misrepresentations made to the Treasury Department in order to effect their landing and believe that the fiction was built on the fact that they were originally placed aboard the Peking to be shipped to San Francisco. That vessel was disabled and ran into Kobe, Japan, where the Chinese were transferred to the Gaelic. If the Seamen's Union had not made its protest they would have been landed on the Gaelic to be detained on board until a convenient opportunity was offered to send them back to their homes, and they would have been shipped on the Korea as sailors and they would have remained there. We are confident that the Treasury Department will order their deportation in possession of the facts."

It is understood here that the Chinese will be impounded on board the Gaelic until the matter is settled. On August 22 Secretary Taylor of the Immigration Bureau in Washington said: "If they were simply Chinese trying to get back to Hongkong, we would let them go on the Korea or any other boat so long as they placed on board a Chinese crew and placed aboard American vessels. I do not think the Korea will sail on the 29th. However, we are waiting for mail advices before acting. In the meantime permission to transfer has been rescinded."

Babcock Posted as Overdue.

The American ship W. F. Babcock, formerly commanded by Captain Graham, who is now in Honolulu as captain of the ship E. M. Phelps, has been posted as overdue, being 125 days out from Baltimore for San Francisco. The vessel is loaded with Cumberland coal, which is considered a dangerous cargo, owing to its liability to ignite easily.

Captain Moxsen of the Babcock was chief officer of the Roanoke last year when that big Sewall ship caught fire in her cargo of coal from Baltimore, while bound for San Francisco. The Roanoke ran for Honolulu, a leak adding to the vessel's danger, but this port was reached in safety. Moxsen, on account of his experience on that terrifying occasion, is believed to be taking every precaution against the ignition of the cargo of the Babcock.

VOLCANIC ACTIVITY

Earthquake Shock Was Felt at Hilo.

RED HOT LAVA LAKE IS VISIBLE

Steamer Helene's Officers Report Earthquakes and Explosions on Hamakua Coast.

The volcano broke out again last night, at the same time a heavy earthquake shock was felt at Hilo. A lake of red hot lava is visible at the bottom of the crater," says Mr. Berg, agent for the Wilder's Steamship Company at Hilo, in a letter to President C. L. Wight of that company. The letter is dated August 26th and was received yesterday by the steamer Helene which arrived from Hawaii ports.

The officers of the steamer Helene say that the outbreak of Kilauea was accompanied by an earthquake. While the vessel was lying at Papaaloa additional evidence of renewed activity was secured. In the afternoon, reports Captain Nicholson of the Helene, the tide which always runs from towards the Hilo side suddenly changed direction and he considered this due to some outbreak of the volcano. During the evening of that day rumblings were heard, the steamer's anchor chains rattled, and the waters around were greatly disturbed. This marine earthquake caused the officers of the steamer to get ready to put to sea but as it soon subsided they remained at Papaaloa.

All along the Hamakua coast there was an earthquake at about three o'clock the following morning and this was reported to have been accompanied by subterranean explosions.

The steamer Claudine is due from Hilo today and will probably have later and more detailed reports of the outbreak.

TROOPS TO PRESS INSURGENTS MOROS

MANILA, August 18.—The Moros in Mindanao are renewing their attacks upon the outposts and pack trains of the American column at Lake Lanao, which is under the command of Captain J. J. Pershing of the Fifteenth Cavalry. The Americans have successfully repulsed the Moro attacks and have suffered no loss.

The commanders of the American forces in Mindanao report aggressive action against the Moros to be necessary, and ask permission to move against Bacolod and other strongholds of the hostile Mohammedans. There are about 2000 American soldiers in Mindanao available for the desired aggressive movement. It is believed this number is sufficient to defeat the Moros, although it would possibly be necessary to strengthen their base before undertaking the movement.

WASHINGTON, August 18.—A cable dispatch has been received from General Chaffee, stating that in his judgment an active campaign against the Moros in Mindanao was necessary in order to curb the opposition that has been growing against United States authority. The dispatch was considered of sufficient importance to be repeated to President Roosevelt by Oyster Bay. General Chaffee has been directed to use his own discretion in the matter, and will no doubt engage in an aggressive movement against the insurgent Moros. Some time before Secretary Root left Washington the Moro situation was under consideration, and from a dispatch then at hand the Secretary was of the opinion that the Moros must be dealt with severely before they would respect the authority of the United States.

General Chaffee is now in Mindanao, having left Manila some days ago. If the campaign should continue for some time he no doubt will remain in the Philippines, instead of leaving on September 20th, as he had planned. It is understood at the War Department that General Chaffee has sufficient troops to make an active campaign.

JAPS NOT AFTER WAKE ISLAND

WASHINGTON, August 19.—The Japanese Minister, Mr. Takahira, said today, when asked as to the attitude of the Japanese Government in regard to the Midway Islands and Wake Island, of which so much has been written lately, that the Japanese had no intention to claim sovereignty over the islands, and that when the United States Government made certain representation in relation to the Midway Islands in January, 1901, the Japanese Government at once declared to the same effect. Mr. Takahira further said that if the United States Government should send a war vessel to the islands, as reported in the newspapers, Japan would expect only that due protection should be given to Japanese subjects who may be found there as long as they are engaged in peaceful occupations. Aside from the foregoing statement by the Japanese Minister, it can be added from authoritative Government sources that the most satisfactory feeling exists between the American and Japanese officials as to the good faith of each and the harmonious adjustment of the question relating to Marcus Island.

Krueger to Resign.

LONDON, August 20.—The correspondent of the Daily Mail at The Hague telegraphs that he is informed that at the approaching meeting between General Botha and his colleagues and former President Krueger, the latter will formally abdicate his position as Afrikander chief and hand over the reins and the residue of funds to Generals Botha and De Wet. There are also rumors here adds the correspondent of the Daily Mail, of an impending struggle for supremacy between Generals Botha and De Wet.

Fifty Troopers Drowned.

LONDON, August 20.—In a dispatch from St. Petersburg, the correspondent of the Daily Express says: "During the maneuvers near here a squadron of cavalry was ordered, suddenly to charge. It galloped into a river and fifty men are reported to have been drowned. Details of the affair are difficult to obtain."

COLORED LABORER BESTS NAVAL STATION EXPERTS

Mad dogs are afraid of water. This is a truism. The men at the naval depot in Honolulu are not afraid of water, but strange to say, any ordinary man is afraid to mention water to them—at least artesian water. This is almost a truism. And how it all came about is a joke the like of which the waterfront of Honolulu has never heard before. It all came about simply by a colored man, a laborer, figuring out a problem in less than one minute that the experts of the navy department in Honolulu had been figuring on for the past two months.

And this is the story as it goes. Two months ago the usual large supply of water that the naval station gets from its fine artesian well gave out suddenly one day and only about a fourth of the previous daily supply became available. Every man on the station set to work to find out the reason. The experts made many investigations. Blue print plans and drawings were got out, figured on, and shown to many water experts. But no reason could be found for the supply giving out. When the transport Buford came along she wanted to fill her tanks in a hurry. The hose was brought over from the navy yard. The water refused to run, and as a result a fire engine had to be cured to pump the water into the Buford's tanks from the hose connecting with the artesian well. This did not prove a success, as the engine was pumping air half of the time.

Captain Whiting, commandant of the station, wanted water. He needed it in his office. The tap in his office was dry. After appealing to his engineering officers and securing no relief, he decided to have a tank placed on the roof of his office, and in this way thought he could store enough water so that the quantity would be sufficient to use occasionally. The tank was constructed and put in place.

The chief engineer of the Buford became furious. He must have water. He must get even with the officials in Honolulu who had allowed him to pump water with a fire engine from an expensive well that had gone dry! Finally, he decided to send a report to Washington stating that the artesian well at the Hawaii naval station had gone dry. He did so.

Meanwhile the navy experts were moving heaven and earth in an effort to learn why the well had given out. Outside experts on artesian wells were called in and all the piping leading from the well examined, but the cause of the trouble could not be ascertained. The naval people thought by this time that something must be radically wrong. They got a steam gauge and after putting it on the pipe learned that they had but twelve pounds pressure from the well.

They decided to make an examination of the top of the artesian well. They wished to examine the valve controlling the output from the main pipe.

An officer told a laborer to wipe off the dirt before he made his examination. The laborer wiped off the dirt, and said:

"Why, this thing is only turned on to about one-fourth of its capacity!"

Every officer had cold feet. A sickly smile played about the faces of the experts. They went way back in their offices and seated themselves in their cosy chairs.

The navy artesian well is in as good shape as it ever was, but the naval officers have given strict orders to the men employed about the station to keep out anyone who has even a distant connection with water.

ODE TO THE LAUREATE.

The London Punch pays its respects to the Laureate of England by the following:-

CORONATION ODE.

Welcome, thrice happy morning! None too soon Certain preliminary days are past; The veritable Twenty-sixth of June Is here at last!

O lift your voices in united strain To welcome Him—and eke to welcome Her Who take their place within the ancient fane Of Westminster.

First listen to the immemorial vows Phrased with befitting dignity of speech; Next, place Two Crowns upon Two Royal Brows, (One upon each).

And then keep silence, while in roundelay Which, I opine, "may soothe some sufferer's lot" When "new and noisier notes" (namely R. K.'s) Are clean forgot.

I bid the Lion of the Land arise, Grasping that Flag of Freedom in his paw, Which in such various localities The Ophir saw.

Dread Destiny withal I charge to fill With devastating draught her cruel cup, Which having drunk, our envious rivals will Simply curl up.

I bid the Lion-cubs to gather fast, Flying, as swallows fly, across the waves, Adding that Britons never will be classed Withal as slaves.

I sing of Realms imperishably set Above the sands of time, of Empires fixed Upon "the wave-tide track"; in fact, I get A rife mixed.

And, as I warble to each hemisphere, Comes the responsive cry from West and East:- "Oh make the Bard, if possible, a Peer— A Knight, at least."

HUMOROUS.

Conditional: Aunt—"Do you like ice-cream, Willie?" Willie—"If you've got it already made, I do; but if you want me to turn the freezer, I don't."—New York Sun.

"I can safely say that no man ever attempted to bribe me, gentlemen." "Voice in the crowd—"Don't be down-hearted, old chap; your luck may change."—Tit-Bits.

She—"It's awfully hot, isn't it? I wish we could find a big bowlder where we could rest awhile." He—"I would be only too glad to be a little bolder, if I were not afraid of being sat on."—Life.

"Not much in this life," complained the chronic kicker, "not much for me. Everybody else I know seems to get along, but I'm left out in the cold." "Well, that won't happen to you in the life to come," remarked the sly Mr. Pepprey.—Philadelphia Press.

The absent-minded beggar: Mabel—"Oh, mamma! do give this man a shilling. Only fancy, besides being both deaf and dumb, he has a wife and three children." Beggar (absent-mindedly)—"Beg pardon, miss. Mistake on the card—wife and five."—Tit-Bits.

An inquisitive woman once asked Prof. Andre, before he left on his ill-fated balloon trip: "How will you know when you have crossed the North Pole, professor?" "Oh, that will be simple enough, madame," replied Andre, with his well-known dry humor: "a north wind will become a south one."

The steamer rolled and pitched in the waves. "Deah boy," groaned Cholly at the end of his first hour on shipboard, "promise me you will send my remains home to my people!" A second hour passed. "Deah boy," feebly moaned Cholly, "you needn't send my remains home. There won't be any."—Chicago Daily Tribune.

Mrs. Blinkers—"What! Going away? Why?" Servant—"Yes, mum; when I came yesterday you gave me the keys to your trunks, and drawers, and chests, and jewel boxes to keep for you." Mrs. Blinkers—"Yes; I did that to show that I trusted you. What is the matter?" Servant—"Ther don't one of 'em fit."—Tit-Bits.

For good reasons: Mrs. Askew—"So your marriage is put off?" Miss Crummy—"Yes; papa is not at all satisfied with his position; mamma doesn't like his family connections; auntie thinks he is too careless in his dress, and I think—" Miss Askew—"Yes, what do you think? That is the important thing." Miss Crummy—"I think I ought to wait until he asks me."—Brooklyn Life.

The other day a Sunday school superintendent, in talking to his pupils about cruelty to animals, said: "Only a coward would abuse a creature that has no way of protecting itself. Why, children, I once knew a little boy who cut off a calf's tail! Think of it—took a knife and cut the tail right off! Can anyone tell me a verse in the Bible that would have taught this cruel boy that he should not have cut off the calf's tail?" After a moment's silence, a small boy held up his hand, and when asked to quote his verse, ventured: "What God hath joined together, let no man put asunder."

MADE $50 GO A LONG WAY.

Mrs. Holden received a $50 check from an unexpected source, representing her share of property left by a deceased relative. It was a complete surprise. By the time her husband came home she had mentally increased its purchasing power many times over. She fussed about that night in terror for fear the unindorsed check should be stolen, and in the morning yielded to Holden's suggestion that he cash it and keep the money till she decided what to do with it.

"But I've already decided," she said. "Don't you know, dear, how I've longed for a perfectly lovely china cabinet? I was looking at some only the other day, but I was afraid to speak to you about it. It's just what I want."

"Then get it," said Holden promptly. "Don't see why you should be scared anyway to tell me about a little simple thing like that."

"Oh, may I?" cried his wife. "You have no idea how it will improve the dining room, and I do want it so. And you would really like it?"

"Yes, indeed," said Holden genially and departed for the city. Two nights later when he came home he found the cabinet and the bill.

"By the way," he said, "I meant to tell you to come by the office for your money the other day."

"Oh, I just charged it, dear," said Mrs. Holden. And all was peace. Till the week following. Then Mrs. Holden spoke serenely one morning:

"You know, dear, I've been thinking and thinking over what I really want to buy with that $50 of mine, and since I have this lovely cabinet I am almost decided on getting a lot of cut glass. Would you like that, dear?" Holden caught his breath.

"I thought you got the cabinet with your $50," he said faintly. "Why, you told me to go and get it," cried his wife. "You said you would like to have it, and that I should have told you before that I wanted it."

She was so palpably cut to the heart that Holden hastily relented. "All right," he said, soothingly. "Cut glass is good, and if you want it, get it. But you might as well go to Chrystal & Chrystal's to buy it. They owe me a bill of $68 and we'll try collecting it by jumping accounts."

The next evening Holden was taken out to a glitter of glass that was dazzling. "It cost a little over $50, dear," said Mrs. Holden, "but I asked the man just what the bill was that he owed you and bought exactly that. Isn't it lovely?"

Holden calculated rapidly. He was out $18 on the glass deal, but at last his wife had spent her $50, so he was content. It was something of a shock therefore when Mrs. Holden, a few days later, broke a breakfast silence with the remark: "Dear, I do want some bookcases made into the library walls. I was talking to the cabinet-maker down yonder." She pointed vaguely. "He made estimates and everything, and can match the woods and for one on either side of the fireplace he'll charge me only $50."

"Well, I don't know now," said Holden, hesitatingly. "Oh," she interrupted, "but it's my money, of course, dear, that pays for them."

"Say," asked Holden, "didn't you buy that cut glass?" "That was just jumping accounts, you said," she answered serenely. It ended in the cabinetmaker taking measurements. Holden discovered in him one who owed the firm a bill that would about cover the bookcases. For family peace it was cheap at the price, and the man got the job, which he did in a leisurely and distinctly inferior manner.

It was perhaps a fortnight after the cases were in that Holden came home to an excited wife, who waved before him some imposing papers and told an incoherent tale of an advertisement she had read of a gold mine out West, far out West, so wondrously full of promise that she had seen at last the place for her $50 and had promptly got in on the ground floor with ten shares at $5 a share.

Holden read the circulars and the certificates with an incredulous countenance. "Where did you get the money?" he asked.

"It was my $50," she said. "But I wanted to surprise you, so I took it out of the month's house money, and there's a little bill at the grocer's, but you won't mind that, will you dear?"

"My dear," said Holden, "I don't mind the grocery bill nor the bookcases in view of the fact that your $50 is at last irrevocably gone."—Chicago Daily News.

DUCHESS DE LA ROCHEFOUCAULD

Formerly Miss Mattie Mitchell, younger daughter of ex-Senator John H. Mitchell, of Oregon, Miss Mitchell was married in the Church of St. Clothilde, St.-Germain, to the Duke de la Rochefoucauld in Feb., 1882, and has since resided in France. Miss Mitchell was not wealthy. She was distinguished for her beauty, intelligence, and pronounced amiability. This is from her most recent photograph.

PICTURING ETERNITY.

The Iola Register has discovered an old-fashioned preacher down in Southern Kansas who recently gave this picturesque description of eternity: "If a little sparrow was to dip its bill in the Atlantic ocean and take one drop of water and then take one hop a day across the country and put that drop in the Pacific ocean and then hop back to the Atlantic, one hop a day, until the Atlantic was dry as a bone, it wouldn't be sun-up in hell."

THE NEW GUN THAT SHOOTS TWENTY-ONE MILES.

THE NEW SIXTEEN-INCH GUN JUST COMPLETED AT WATERLIET ARSENAL.

The 16-inch breech-loading rifle just built at the Watervliet arsenal for the defense of New York Harbor marks an epoch in the whole history of artillery warfare. The great cannon is half again more powerful than its nearest rival—an English gun of 16.25-inch bore. It is one of a series of coast-defense guns provided by the Endicott Board, appointed during Cleveland's first administration. Eighteen such rifles are to be mounted for the defense of New York City, ten for San Francisco, eight for Boston and four for Hampton Roads.

Guns of larger caliber are in use in other countries; there is an Italian 17.76-inch rifle, a French gun of 16.5-inch caliber, and the Armstrong gun on the British battleships measures 16.25 inches. But the maximum energy of the new American gun is 88,600 foot tons, as against 45 per cent., 41 per cent, and 65 per cent of this energy for the Italian, French and English giants, respectively.

The most dramatic feature of the American rifle is its range. The greatest actual performance in long-range shooting is that of the Krupp gun, fired before the Kaiser in April, 1902, which carried about twelve and one-half miles. The new American rifle will have, theoretically, the amazing range of twenty-one miles. In other words, a warship carrying such a rifle could anchor in New York Harbor and throw projectiles into New Rochelle, or Paterson, or Hastings. In the course of its flight the shell would rise about six miles above the ground.

SCIENTIFIC

Aluminum tubing for scientific instruments is made so fine that 1000 feet weigh only one pound.

A mile of wreck-strewn coast in southwestern Norway proves to be filled with magnetic ore, deflecting the compass a whole degree.

Incandescent lamps emit more heat than is generally supposed, only six per cent of the energy of the current being converted into light. A 16-candle power lamp fed by a current of 100 volts has heated ten ounces of water to boiling point in an hour, and fires celluloid in five minutes.

A new lifeboat from Scotland is inflated automatically on being plunged into the water. A perforated metal case holds materials for generating gas, together with a spiral spring held under tension by a strip of paper, and as the paper becomes wet it tears, releasing the spring, and this causes the mixing of the chemicals and the beginning of the gas-making.

The rice-like seeds produced this year on the bamboo plants in Midnapore, India, are being examined with interest. These plants rarely flower, and the appearance of flowers and fruit seem to mark some peculiar climatic conditions, which are locally believed to herald the approach of famine. How to make the plants yield these edible seeds in famine years is now the problem.

Malarial fevers are favored by light instead of heat, in the view of Dr. A. F. A. King. They have been noticed to be less severe in very hot than in very clear and sunny seasons, and to be lessened in foggy places. This, he explains, the immunity of races affected by dark skins. Dr. King would keep malarial patients in dark rooms, and between attacks would clothe them in dark-lined garments.

A smokeless artificial coal is expected to result from a new French treatment of garbage. Paper and straw, and the refuse from abattoirs, fish markets, etc., are mixed with tar and naphthalene, kneaded, dried, and pressed into briquettes. These burn brightly, with slow generation of heat. With improvement in details, it is believed the process will yield a fuel burning with less ash, and having heating qualities about like ordinary coal.

The new type of steamship of Herr J. Brohan, of Hamburg, is equipped with four propellers. The vessel is flat-bottomed, with a short keel in the center and two false keels forward, and one propeller is placed between the forward keels, another just before the rudder, and the two others at the stern. It is claimed that such a steamer 300 feet long would make the trip from Havre to New York in four days.

A cheap substitute for marble claiming advantages over the natural product has been brought out by S. Sborowitz, of Berlin. A stiff mass is formed by pounding together asbestos, felspar, and other substances, shelling and ash, and this is subjected to great pressure, the resulting material being firm and tough and easily worked and polished. It has the appearance of a fine grade of marble. It can be moulded into any shape, and is more durable in contact with water than other artificial marbles.

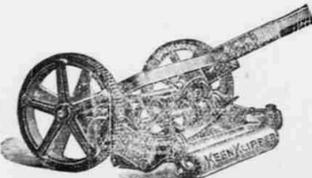

One of the packages of seed provided by the Department of Agriculture was recently returned to a member of Congress by one of his constituents, with the following modest request: "I appreciate your good will in sending the seeds, but my eldest daughter, Matilda, is going to marry the doctor down to the village next month, and wife and I think of leaving up the farm and going there to live. If we do, the seeds won't be much good, as we shan't have a garden, so if you could change them for some stockings, No. 9, and some handkerchiefs or a nice spring bonnet for Matilda, I would be much obliged."

In the electrolytic reduction of lead sulphide, as now carried out at Niagara Falls, the ores are used as cathodes in an acid electrolyte, hydrogen sulphide being formed and passing off as a gas, while the spongy metallic lead remains. The apparatus resembles a pile of lead dinner plates, each plate representing a cell, and with 48 cells in series, using 130 volts, the product is about two pounds of lead per horse-power hour. The process, whose chief difficulty has been incomplete reduction through passage of the current through the lead produced, has been so improved that about 92 to 95 per cent of the ore is now reduced to metal. The gases developed are hydrogen sulphide and oxygen in their combining proportions, and it is proposed to utilize these for driving gas engines.

That a certain portion of the blind may be taught to see is indicated by the striking success of M. Heller, of Vienna. When brought to him three years ago, two Hungarian boys, aged seven and five years, could see nothing, but their eyes appeared to be normal. Their training began with looking at a bright disk in a dark chamber. They learned to distinguish this and the younger boy, who has progressed more rapidly than the other, was then shown familiar objects against the disk, then lines and figures, and finally was able to read. Later he was made to recognize the objects and letters by daylight. Another examination showed a defect of the retina, and it was concluded that the field of vision was so narrowed that the feeble impressions reaching the brain attracted no notice before the unusual teaching.

Chemical food is the dream of Prof. Berthelot. As long ago as 1854 this chemist exactly imitated the natural fats by means of glycerine and acid, themselves produced synthetically, and sugar has been since produced in the laboratory in division of food-stuffs. The third broad division of food-stuffs, the albuminoids, thus far has eluded the chemical builder. These substances are more complex and more liable to spoil, but it cannot be doubted that they will be produced by synthesis within a short time. Great changes in agriculture have been wrought already by chemistry. Chemical substitutes have crowded madder out of cultivation in the South of France, indigo in the West Indies, and vanilla elsewhere in the tropics, and camphor and many other products are created by synthesis. But it is an illusion to suppose that one's dinner will ever be carried in the waistcoat pocket as a small pill-box of tablets. The body burns daily from 250 to 300 grammes of carbon, and eliminates from 15 to 25 grammes of nitrogen, and a certain bulk of weight of food will continue to be indispensable, even in the good time when the factory shall feed us and the earth's surface shall be converted into a pleasure garden.

Court Says Even With Jury Porto Ricans Could Not Be Tried.

The criminal calendar was called yesterday morning by Judge Gear and in every case Deputy Attorney General Cathcart moved for a continuance to the November term, at which time it is expected that a jury will be called. The court will rule upon the applications for a continuance this morning. Nearly every attorney in Honolulu was in the court room representing one or more defendants and nearly all joined in objections to continuance on the ground that the Constitution guaranteed to every man a speedy trial. A number of attorneys however attacked the action of the court in discharging the jury called for the term claiming that it was an error of law as the jury should have been compelled to serve, and that it was not the duty of the judge but of the government to provide for their pay.

C. F. Reynolds, who appeared for George Ferris, charged with murder, first objected to the continuance saying he was ready for trial, and excepting to the former order of Judge Gear discharging the jury. He further asked that the court summon a special venire, contending that the judiciary has nothing to do with ways and means to carry on the government. He objected further on the ground that no good reason for a continuance had been shown and that the defendant was entitled to a fair and speedy trial.

His sentiments were echoed by Kaulukou, Stewart, Chillingworth, Stanley, Mathewman, Brooks, Rawlins, Vivas and others. Judge Dickey, who was appointed to defend a prisoner, contended that the fact that the appropriation had been exhausted was no ground for a continuance; that the statute gave the court full power to impanel a jury and that it had never been the custom to pay jurors in advance. The claim for fees was he contended a valid claim against the government and it was the duty of the court to impanel a jury and let the questions of fees be settled afterwards.

Cecil Brown, who was also appointed to defend an indigent prisoner, said that the court was in error in discharging the panel, and that the pay of jurors was a matter with which neither the court nor the Attorney-General's Department had anything to do.

Mr. Cathcart asked only for continuances until November and was asked what reason he had for thinking there would be money available at that time. The Attorney-General replied that he had hopes that the presiding judge would take a different view of his right to compel jurors to serve than that held by Gear.

Gear replied that in any event the Porto Rican cases could not be tried because no Spanish interpreter could be compelled to serve without pay, even though the courts could compel the jurors to do so. The court continued further saying he had sent the bills for the Porto Rican interpreter to the auditor and they had been returned with a refusal to pay, and with no interpreter the Porto Ricans could not be tried.

Judge Gear intimated his intention to release at least some of the defendants on their own recognizance. "In our conference with the Governor and Attorney-General," said the court, "these two officials made the suggestion that the defendants be allowed to go on their own recognizance. It would be a good idea to let them out of the country as fast as they can go, it would not only be a good thing for the Territory but a saving to the government."

Mr. Cathcart objected to such release particularly in the cases of Porto Ricans, who he said were likely to commit new crimes; and that none of them would appear for trial if released. In the case of Yowell charged with manslaughter in the third degree he agreed to a release on recognizance and the court stated that the position of the Attorney-General was inconsistent. Mr. Cathcart replied that Yowell's case was entirely different, and there was no danger of his leaving the country, while the Porto Ricans were habitual criminals. The discussion was finally ended with the court reserving its opinion until this morning. In a number of cases at least, Judge Gear will order the release of prisoners upon their own recognizance.

CLAIMS REVOLVER WAS BUT A PIPE

"I didn't have a revolver, but I just pulled this pipe out of me pocket like that," and prisoner Tom Johnson took a dirty, stubby pipe from his coat pocket and triumphantly exhibited it before Judge Wilcox. Johnson was arrested at 1 o'clock Thursday morning for disturbing the peace and quiet of a Kewalo neighborhood, the neighbors having been alarmed at the sight of a big revolver which he flourished.

a pipe instead of a revolver is an old dodge," replied the judge. "It has been tried on the court many times before, and it won't work."

It seems that Johnson went home about 1 o'clock and a mosquito-net lecture was in store for him from his Portuguese wife. Johnson who had taken aboard considerable lager began to row with his wife and it ended in the woman calling on the neighbors for help. Joe Freitas donned his clothes and told Johnson to keep quiet or he would call a policeman. Words were bandied back and forth, Johnson alleging that he was badly insulted during the duel. The affair culminated in his going into his own house, procuring the revolver and marching around to the steps of the Freitas house. Mrs. Johnson warned Freitas not to go out for fear he would meet with a volley. Mrs. Freitas says she distinctly saw the revolver shining in Johnson's hands and she got her husband out of harm's way behind a door. Johnson finally went to his own home "soft-soaped" his wife with honeyed words and then shouted to all the neighbors that he had had no revolver, but was "jest foolin'."

In court yesterday morning Johnson said he had had no revolver since the Alameda left last time for San Francisco. Mrs. Freitas assured the court that she had seen the revolver in Johnson's house on Sunday last and also a box of cartridges.

Johnson said he had only three glasses of beer during the night, but the judge evidently was not impressed with the testimony, for he gave Johnson one of his customary lectures on the evils of filling up on beer, going home and pulling his wife's hair, throwing her out of the house, and then going after his neighbors with a revolver. It had only one ending, that of an appearance in a court of justice, and he advised Johnson, although the latter is a German, to leave beer and revolvers alone and he would get along better in the world.

YESTERDAY'S FIRE

Owing to the nature of the fire which occurred yesterday morning at 2 o'clock in the store of G. Dohl, High Sheriff Brown yesterday empanelled a fire inquest jury to investigate the cause. On the jury are Percy Pond, Ed. McInerney, James Torbett, Clifford Kimball and Harry Armitage. The jury went to the premises in the afternoon and inspected them thoroughly, and the jurors were then dismissed until today.

BEFORE WE CAN

use them, iron and gold must first be got out of the ore. The same principle applies to cod liver oil. Its virtues are not in its fatty matters; much less in its sickening taste and smell. No consumptive, or sufferer from any other wasting disease, was ever greatly benefited by the so-called "plain" cod liver oil. The shock it gives to the nerves, the repulsion and disgust it excites in the stomach, the outrages it commits upon the senses of smell and taste, are enough to spoil any medicinal potency that may be in it for the majority of people. This—to say nothing about its being indigestible. Yet there has always been reason to believe that, among the elements which form cod liver oil, there existed curative properties of the highest value. But it was necessary to separate them from the nauseating waste material with which they were combined. This was successfully accomplished in WAMPOLE'S PREPARATION and in this effective remedy, made palatable as honey, we have the very heart and soul of Pure Cod Liver Oil, combined with the Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, Extracts of Malt and Wild Cherry. These constitute a tissue builder, a blood purifier, a health renewer beyond comparison. Disease yields to it with a completeness and rapidity which astonishes medical men quite as much as it delights their patients. In all wasting conditions, Scrofula and Blood Disorders, La Grippe, Chronic Bronchitis, Pulmonary Affectious, etc., it never fails to relieve and cure. Dr. Louis W. Bishop says: "I take pleasure in saying I have found it a most efficient preparation, embodying all of the medicinal properties of a pure cod liver oil, in a most palatable form." It stands in the front rank in the march of medicine. Effective from the first dose. Sold by all chemists here.

WATERFRONT NEWS

LATE ARRIVAL OF ALAMEDA

Brought Many Island People Returning From Their Vacations.

The Oceanic liner Alameda arrived from San Francisco and was alongside the wharf here at eight o'clock last night. She brought a week's later mail, a large number of passengers and 1200 tons of general cargo.

The Alameda left San Francisco on the 23rd and had rough weather for the first day out. After that she had good weather until she arrived off the islands when she encountered strong winds. She was later in arriving than expected.

The Alameda brought a number of well known people and a large number of Honolulu teachers who are returning from vacations spent on the mainland. Dr. C. B. Cooper is back after a month's trip to Salt Lake City, where he attended the Elk's convention. Dr. Alvarez also returned from a couple of months' stay in California.

Miss S. L. Byington, teacher of music in the Kamehameha school, returns from her vacation on the Coast. The Misses Guernsey have also been away on a vacation trip.

Dr. W. C. Hobdy, who is to succeed Dr. Cofer in the quarantine service here, was a passenger and brings his wife and child with him.

Mr. H. M. Lull returns to Honolulu with his bride.

Mrs. G. T. Waller, wife of Manager Waller of the Metropolitan Meat Company, and five children returned after a lengthy stay on the mainland.

C. B. Wells, manager of Walluku plantation, Mrs. Wells, and Miss Wells, who has been at school in the East, were passengers.

Rev. William Paden, of Salt Lake City, came down for a short visit in the islands.

Other passengers by the Alameda were: W. C. Bunker, Mrs. Bunker, R. Campbell, Mrs. Campbell and child, Victor C. Clark, Mrs. Coquard, J. B. Ferrier, Mrs. Ferrier, H. B. Gehr, C. Grange, M. J. Greymount, Mrs. C. Bon and child, J. M. Henry, Miss J. Howard, Miss M. J. Johnson, J. T. Lanaghan, Thos. H. Luke, O. McEachon, Miss K. Nielson, Miss M. Rasmussen, Miss E. M. Rochford, Miss J. B. Simonds, Miss C. Stewart, Miss J. Tanner, Mrs. M. Thompson, Miss M. Tolfofen, Mrs. M. Walsh, Mrs. R. R. Weir, A. Weisert, Mrs. Weisert and three children, O. R. Williams, Mrs. W. S. Withers, Henry Zau, Jr., Miss Stephens.

On the evening of August 28th a social was held on board. C. B. Wells, manager of Walluku plantation, gave an interesting little address in which he thanked the Captain on behalf of the passengers for the enjoyment of the trip. Mr. Withers contributed a solo. Recitations were given by Mrs. Wells, Miss R. Walker and Miss E. Walker, and a quartette composed of Mrs. Withers, Mrs. Walsh, Miss Byington and Miss Walsh gave those who are on their first visit to Hawaii a vivid idea of what Hawaiian airs are like. Mrs. Lull and Miss Byington gave a pretty violin obligato and Miss H. Waller and Miss C. Waller gave piano solos. The passengers all joined in singing "Hawaii Ponoi" and "America."

Neveadan Was Late.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 23.—The slow trip of the steamer Neveadan from Honolulu, occupying ten days, is attributed to the failure of the burners to operate properly with the crude oil of this coast. The oil-burning plant installed in the new steamer was designed in the East, where the fuel oil is more volatile and better suited to the Neveadan's style of burners than the heavier oil produced in this State. The oil consequently would not vaporize, and as a result of being fed to the fire in a stream produced heavy smoke. A change in the style of burners will remedy the difficulty. No trouble was caused by the use of low-pressure air in the operation of the oil-burning plant.

Steamship Hawaiian in Port.

The steamship Hawaiian arrived from Seattle and Tacoma on Friday morning after a nine day run. She has about 500 tons of New York cargo for this port and 2,000 tons of cargo from Tacoma and Seattle. She will sail on Wednesday evening for Kahului and from that port direct to New York. There are about 2,000 tons of sugar at railway wharf for the Hawaiian and she will take on 4,300 tons of sugar at Kahului. She already has 1,700 tons of San Francisco cargo in her hold for New York. The Hawaiian carries 250,000 feet of lumber which will be discharged at Kahului.

Yesterday's Cargoes.

Per str. Helene from Hawaii ports: 6,462 bags sugar, 118 bags coffee, sixty bundles hides, and sixty-two head of cattle. Per str. Nihau: 250 bags sugar, 512 bags coffee, one horse, and one pig. Honolulu Had to Put Back

The schooner Honolulu which left this port on Thursday afternoon for Kaanapali to discharge her cargo of coal had to put back on Friday morning because of bad weather and remained outside at the anchorage all day on Friday.

TWO VESSELS IN BIG NIGHT GALE

Tug Fearless Had to Bring Her Tow Back to Honolulu.

A fierce gale raged on the windward side of Oahu on Friday night and gave the tug Fearless which was towing the schooner Honolulu to Kaanapali such a hard time that after battling with the storm for hours she put about when off Mokapu point and brought her tow back to Honolulu.

The storm was very severe and coming from the northeast the Fearless found it almost impossible to tow the heavily laden schooner against it. For hours the rate of the two vessels was only about a mile and a half an hour and the wind seemed to be increasing so much that Captain Olsen finally decided to put back to Honolulu.

The report brought by the Fearless scared a number of people who contemplated a visit to the volcano on Hawaii out of making the trip yesterday. The steamer W. C. Hall which sailed at noon for Maui, Kona and Kau ports would have probably taken many volcano visitors had it not been for the storm. The officers of the Hall, however, did not expect to have any trouble on account of Friday night's gale.

The Honolulu was left at the anchorage outside and the Fearless came into the harbor for coal. She did some towing work in the harbor yesterday and will proceed to Kaanapali as soon as weather conditions are satisfactory.

TON OF COAL EVERY MINUTE

Fast Work in Discharging the Cargo of the Ship E. M. Phelps.

The ship E. M. Phelps will complete discharging her cargo of nearly five thousand tons of coal for the navy department this morning. This vessel has been discharged in record time. The work of getting out her coal has been done in remarkably quick time by the navy department and the ship's employes.

The coal has been taken out at a rate of one ton a minute during the time the work has progressed. Only two hatches were used on the ship and with twenty carts at work carrying the coal to the navy sheds and stacking it thirteen feet high, the large cargo will be all out today making a record of nine days of nine hours' work each for the work.

On Thursday more coal was discharged in nine hours than any other vessel has ever got out here in a similar length of time. Six hundred and twenty-two tons were discharged and stacked in the nine hour day.

Fire Loss on the Addenda.

The barkentine Addenda has nearly completed discharging her cargo of Iquique saltpetre and will sail shortly in ballast for San Francisco. The damage from last Tuesday's fire in the vessel's hold was not as extensive as at first thought and it is probable that the insurance claim will not be a large one. There has been considerable comment over Chief Thurston's action in preventing the tug Fearless from assisting in fighting the fire. The Chief did not save any salvage for the owners of the craft for as Captain Olsen had not been asked to render assistance by the master of the Addenda he would have been unable to make any claim if even if he had done the whole work of putting out the fire.

"The Finish of Coal as a Fuel."

Commenting on the shipment of 15,000 barrels of fuel oil by the barkentine Fullerton for this port and Kahului the San Francisco Examiner says: "Coal as a fuel has probably seen its finish in Hawaii Territory."

SPORTS

OARSMEN NOW HARD AT WORK

Oarsmen are hard at work getting into form for the Regatta Day struggles, and the outlook is for the finest kind of sport. The Myrtles have not yet even hazarded a guess as to what will be the make up of the various crews which are to represent the club on that day, but their rivals, the Healanis, have put into training three crews, which, while it is not expected they will stand all through, will at least furnish the basis of comparison on which the crews will be made up.

The oarsmen have this year the most hearty support of the clubmen although as in all other matters they find that the dull times will prevent customary expenditures for the preparations. Despite all the drawbacks there are plans making which will result in the very finest racing that can be expected here. The bay is full of racing craft each afternoon. The Myrtle oarsmen are out in the barges and the Healanis crews, beginning with the intermediates at 4:30 o'clock, are rowing from that time until dinner, the seniors being taken out by the coaches at 5 o'clock each evening.

The following bulletin posted on the walls of the Healanis club tells the story of the choice of the crews for that club: After the most careful deliberation, assisted by Messrs. Paul Jarret, Carl Rhodes and D. L. Conkling, who have been greatly assisting with their coaching, the Rowing Committee have decided that for the present the make up of the Senior, Second Senior and Freshmen Crews will be as follows. Whether these men will hold their various positions will depend entirely upon themselves:

Senior Crew—Paul Jarret, stroke; Dan Renear, No. 5; A. E. McDuffy, No. 4; Fred Damon, No. 3; H. E. Murray, No. 2; Gaston Boisse, bow.

Second Senior or Junior—Bert Webster, stroke; C. H. Tracy, No. 5; B. F. Heilbron, No. 4; Jean Allen, No. 3; John Waterhouse, No. 2; Chas. Murray, bow. Substitute A. E. Crook will row Tuesdays and Thursdays with the crew for the next two weeks. All substitutes should get regular pair-oar work to keep in training.

Freshman—McCriston, stroke; Austin, No. 5; Jarret, No. 4; Wilson, No. 3; Desha, No. 2; Williams, bow.

POLO PLAYERS PRACTICE HARD

Polo enthusiasts are looking forward to brighter days when Captain Walter E. Dillingham returns from his trip to the Coast after rubbing up against the game as it is played in the best style at Burlingame. It is expected that Capt. Dillingham will have news not only of some of the latest wrinkles of the game but that as well will be in a position to announce a visit during the fall from a team made up of Coast experts.

Walter Hobart is believed to be ready to make a trip to Hawaii, accompanied by three others of the polo men of the club, and if this can be arranged the mere announcement of the fact is expected to bring a boom to the game. The players will then struggle all the

THAT CHAPTER

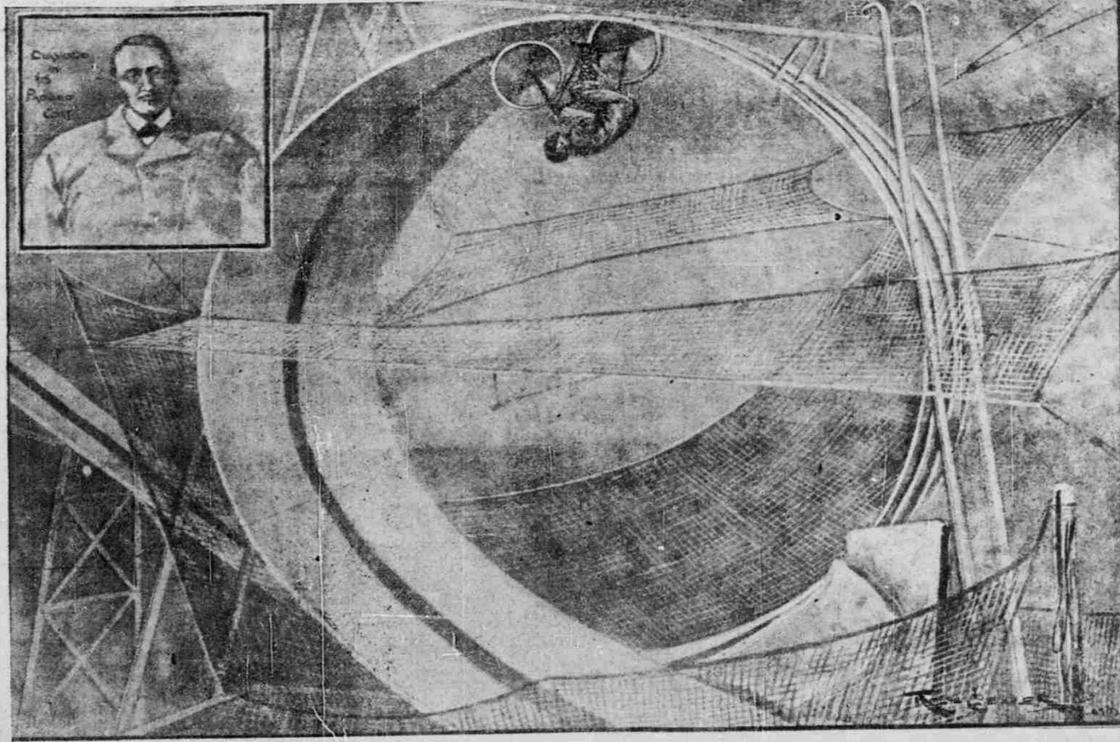

A chapter on Scott's Emulsion often holds a prominent position in the histories of weak children.

The gist of that chapter usually reads like this—"child weak, pale, thin, no appetite, fretful, weakness left over from grippe or other disease. Begon small doses Scott's Emulsion three times a day after meals. No apparent change first week. Then appetite improved, then strength increased, then child more lively, slept better, a decided gain in weight, better color in the face."

And so it goes till the child is reported well and strong.

Sounds simple enough and it is simple—Scott's Emulsion is just what the weak child needs.

THE LATEST CYCLING FEAT: "LOOPING THE LOOP" AT THE ROYAL AQUARIUM.

The much-advertised feat of "looping the loop" on a bicycle was successfully performed for the first time in public on July 28. The track upon which "Diavolo" rides runs from a top corner of the Aquarium, down to the floor-level at an angle of forty-five degrees, then turns upwards. The performer, who wears a padded khaki-colored suit, mounts his machine at the top of the inclined track, sets his feet on the rests which take the place of the pedals, and lets himself go. The terrific speed gained on the downward run carries him round the thirty-five feet circle. The track is four feet wide.—London Illustrated News.

harder to be able to announce that they are on a team which has played against such cranks as would be represented in a Coast team, with the redoubtable Hobart at the head. It is also probable that Dillingham will bring down a trained pony, if he has been able to get hold of a particularly fast one.

The men here are trying to make the game as fast as they can and the practice work has been of a high order. The horses and players are getting into form rapidly. There is a probability that George Angus will return to the field and if so he will be mounted for at least one or two periods this afternoon. George Brown has purchased the pony Jim Crow, bred by Rice and played last season by Shingle, and it is thought will be on the field for a short time this afternoon. There is a chance too that Prince Cupid will play, he having returned from Hawaii, but it is a question whether he will not wait until he has more leisure from politics.

The teams which are to play will be the Whites and Blues. The former will be captained by Judd, and he will be supported by H. F. Damon, Irvine and Erdman. The Blues will be under the direction of S. E. Damon, with Dr. McAdory, Harold Castle and Deputy Sheriff Chillingworth. There will be several periods for any other members of the club who may appear ready for play, and it is expected that there will be several substitutions. Potter, Shingle and Dole will be out of town and out of the game as well.

The play will start at 3 o'clock sharp and the periods will be twelve minutes in length. There will be no waits and if the men are not on the field at the call of time the play will go on all the same. It is thought there will be a large crowd in attendance.

KAMINSKY AND WEDAY MATCHED

Kaminsky has not had enough of Weday and articles have been signed for another boxing contest between the pair, at which time it is expected there will be a settlement of the little disagreements between them. It has been arranged that the bout will be pulled off at the Orpheum as was the last one, and the date set is September 20th.

The affair is under the management of E. R. Walsh, who knows the game as well as any one here, and it is further understood that Paddy Ryan will control the men in the ring on the same line as he conducted the last meeting. There must be a decision and the men will be compelled to box, and not permitted to wrestle.

The affair promises to be much more satisfactory than was the last bout. Kaminsky holds that he was not quite up to form, and this time he will make every effort to be in the best trim. He has arranged for a twenty days furlough and during that period will be under the daily and constant training of Pneumatic Billy Woods. The latter feels that he has in the soldier one of the best men of his weight he has found recently, and he is said to have expressed the opinion that he will make a clever two-handed fighter of him before the training period is over.

Weday however is a hard proposition and the outlook therefore is that the soldier will find his work cut out for him. Both men will begin active work Monday. They will be quartered, Weday at Long Branch, and Kaminsky down town. Weday has been out of training now since the last bout and the soldier has kept fairly well in hand.

The go will be for a purse, and the ends of it will be arranged as was the last one.

THE FIRST MATCH GAME OF BASE BALL IN HONOLULU

On Saturday, August 23, 1867, the first match game of baseball was played in the Hawaiian Islands, the diamond being in a large field just makai of the present Punahou college campus and school grounds. Of the players who participated in to be in the land of the living Captain Black, the well known printer, Fred Wundenberg and Ned Bush, the latter being the only one who was on the winning team. P. C. Jones was the umpire. Captain Black was in a reminiscent mood yesterday when asked about this game. "I came around from New York by the sailing long before that time and had the constitution, by-laws and rules of the baseball team with which I used to play down there in Jones' Field," said he. "I was reckoned as a pretty good player in those days. Considerable enthusiasm was worked up amongst the haoles and Hawaiians in Honolulu and soon there were two teams practicing, the Pioneers and the Pacifics. The first match game we played was a good one. I was then director of the government press, and secured men from all manner of places. We used to practice every afternoon before the game came off. In our team we had two or three rather untried players on the day the match game was played, these were Macfarlane, Sam Nott and the Snow. I made three runs myself and no one except Hervey Whitney made a man. Our team, the Pioneers, was beaten. "I believe the whole of Honolulu was present at the game. Everybody seemed to have turned out for it. I remember that Captain 'Jim' Smith who owned the packet line of sailers plying between San Francisco and Honolulu lost about $1,500 on the game. He picked me up in his carriage after it was over and took me home. I had my little finger broken in the game. I was short-stop and a hot liner right off the bat in Laanu's hands came at me. I took it but was bowled over. However, I held on to the ball, and kept the other side from scoring." The Hawaiian Gazette, in its issue of Wednesday, August 28, 1867, contains the following account of the game: "The first match game of baseball on these islands, came off on Saturday afternoon last, makai of Punahou College, between the Pioneer and Pacific B. B. clubs of Honolulu. At the organization of these clubs in June last, they adopted the rules and regulations of the California National Base Ball Convention, and considering the short time they have had to practice in, the playing will compare with any games played in California or elsewhere.

"The playing was to commence at 3 o'clock, but long before that hour a large concourse of people gathered on the ground to witness the sport, it being something new for Honolulu. After some preliminaries, the Pacifics took the choice of positions. The grounds had been well selected for the occasion, and everything was satisfactory to both parties. The nine innings occupied one hour and forty-five minutes, during which considerable anxiety was manifested by the outsiders on the general result. At 3 o'clock precisely the game commenced, the Pacifics choosing the field, and resulted as follows:

SHAW SAYS NO MORE GAMBLING

The Customs and the Honolulu play ball today. But if any man in the Customs service is inclined to have a little side bet on the game he should think twice before making it, for a new order has come out from Washington which will tie the Smuggler up in such a way that he runs great risk in indulging in any little gamble—even a raffle.

There is to be an end to poker playing, betting on races or any sort of sports, or indulging in any games of chance by the clerks in the service of the Treasury Department. It is not known whether the clerks here are gamblers but if any of them are there will be trouble. Secretary Shaw has issued a general edict abolishing all these practices. Consternation has been caused in Washington by reason of the recent reduction of salaries of those clerks who have been too fond of poker and by some of them being transferred to positions of lesser importance.

Lipton's New Yacht.

LONDON, August 21.—According to the present arrangements contracts for building Shamrock III will be signed next week. Sir Thomas Lipton expects to arrive in the Clyde on board the Erin, to make final arrangements. The contracts will provide for the early launch of the next challenger for the America's cup, thus giving more time for tuning up than was enjoyed by previous challengers.

Won by an American.

COWES (Isle of Wight), August 21.—The American auxiliary yacht Utowara, owned by A. V. Armour of New York, arrived here today and won the Earl of Crawford's coronation cup in the sailing race, which was started Monday from the Nab Lightship, Cherbourg, and back around the Eddystone Light-house.

BASEBALL TEAMS ARE NEAR A TIE

If there is any one who thinks there will not be a game, or rather two games, of baseball for blood this afternoon at Punahou, he is mistaken in his premises, for the season has reached such a stage that games count just now and there will be no overlooking the least point by any one of the players. Much is at stake and upon the decisions of these contests will rest more than the mere winning or losing of one game.

Should the H. A. C.'s lose and the Mallees win there will be a tie and the game between the two scheduled for Monday, Labor Day, will be for real blood. With this condition there has arisen much comment which has made considerable feeling in the two teams which are fighting so closely for the leadership. There have been charges and counter-charges. Some enthusiasts are alleged to have endeavored to reach certain players so that a game might be put in the way of the Mallees, so as to make the contest more even. Even with this however it will be only in the event of a galvanization that the Mallees will be able to beat the leaders.

The Kamehamehas are well up and are making a hard fight to beat out the Mallees for second place. They will put into the field the best team they have, and with Lemon in the box it should be a good one.

The games for Labor Day will bring upon the diamond the same teams though the positions will be reversed. The duel between the leaders will make that day's game as fine as it will can be.

The H. A. C.'s will put in today as good a team as they have. This team too will play Monday if there seems any chance that the Mallees will be closer; the game commenced, the Pacifics choosing the field, and resulted as follows:

The hand will play at the game and there will be every effort made to show the people, now that the season is closing, the highest kind of sport.

The present standing of the clubs is as follows:

Can't Eat

You certainly don't want to eat if you are not hungry. But you must eat, and you must digest your food, too. If not, you will become weak, pale, thin. Good food, good appetite, good digestion, - these are essential.

Mr. Robert Venus, of Lancaester, Tasmania, sends us his photograph and says: "I suffered greatly from loss of appetite, indigestion, pains in the stomach, weakness, and nervousness. Several doctors tried in vain to give me relief. A friend then induced me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, for it had done him much good. The first bottle worked wonders for me. Soon my appetite came back, my indigestion was cured, and I was strong and hearty."

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

There are many imitations "Sarsaparillas." Be sure you get Ayer's.

Keep your bowels in good condition by using Ayer's Pills. They cure constipation, coated tongue, biliousness, sick headache.

RICH LAND

Central Kona FOR SALE

By order of REINNE RODANET Trustee, I offer for sale those certain parcels of land situated at Onouli, South Kona, Island of Hawaii, described by Royal Patent (Grant) No. 1163 to F. O. Schulze, and containing 174 acres. Royal Patent (Grant) No. 2862 to Awahou and containing 739 75-100 acres, situated at Keopuka and Onouli, Island of Hawaii.

This is a tract of land of over 919 acres, situated in the most fertile area richest portion of the Island of Hawaii. It faces the new Government road, extends to the sea, and is five minutes' walk from Kealakekua Bay, by way of the old Government road which runs through the property. Portions of the land are already under cultivation. This tract is so situated that it is about midway between Kaliua and Hookena, and five miles from Napoona, three most important ports of the Kona district. It has sufficient elevation, running up to fourteen hundred feet, to be particularly healthful, and its soil is well adapted to the growth of sugar cane, coffee, fruits, dairying or for the promotion of diversified farming.

Occupants of this land have easy access to several ports for export, and with the advent of the Kona Railroad will find themselves in close communication with the thriving City of Hilo. This, of course, affords splendid opportunity for the exporting of farm products to the California markets. With the revival of the Kona Sugar Co., considerable portions of this land can be successfully planted to sugarcane. This is one of the most splendid opportunities for a good investment that has been put upon the market for a considerable period of time.

A stranger lost in a large city would place far more dependence on the directions given him by a local resident than the guidance of another stranger like himself. This is a natural consequence of experience; it's like a ship in a strange port-a trusty pilot familiar with the harbor is always called upon to bring her safely to her moorings. So it is with endorsement; we doubt the sayings of people living at a distant point because we can't investigate, but public expression of local citizens can be depended upon, for 'tis an easy matter to prove it. Evidence like the following is beyond dispute: Mr. W. F. Williams of this city, is a light-house keeper, and he has held this position for the last 30 years. He says: "I was for a number of years, one of that numerous army of people who suffer with their backs. Mine ached and pained me to no small extent, so that I was glad when I heard of a remedy for it, Doan's Backache Kidney Pills. I obtained some of these at the Hollister Drug Co.'s store, and took them. They gave me great relief, and I make this short narration of my experience for the benefit of others who perhaps do not know that nearly all backache arises from the kidneys, and the best medicine for it is Doan's Backache Kidney Pills." Doan's Backache Kidney Pills are 50 cents per box, for sale by all druggists; sent by mail on receipt of price by the Hollister Drug Co., Honolulu wholesale agents for the Hawaiian Islands. RUSSIANS ARE PICTURESQUE Siberian Dress Worn by Party Looking for Homes in Hawaii. Honolulu is a cosmopolitan city and for this reason one does not express any great curiosity here when noticing a band of foreigners in the streets but occasionally the steamers bring in small parties of people from other countries who excite considerable interest. The three Russian families which came here by the steamship Hongkong Maru are a very picturesque lot in dress, manner and speech. They can be seen any day on the street. They speak barely any English and so have a hard job explaining their presence here, but as they do not appear to be loaded with bombs or any other destructive missiles it is probable that the mechanics and their families can settle here without any difficulty. When on the street they remind one of ice and snow for their clothing is more suited to the climate of Siberia than it is for the perpetual summer of Honolulu. The women of the party wear very heavy dresses and over their heads are worn yarn shawls. The men also wear heavy clothing. One is reminded of a certain old time play wherein a Russian woman is impersonated as always saying "za takes ze cake" when referring to the doings of an American, who struck her fancy, in the Czar's dominions, for these Russian men have shirts that, should they become the rage here, would knock the plans of the makers of shirts at a dollar fifty each endways. They wear white shirts whose bosoms are embroidered in fanciful designs in which thread of all the colors of the rainbow are used. The Yankee colored man's loud shirt is not in it with them. The men also wear heavy caps. But the most interesting member of the party is a six-year old girl. This youngster is dressed in a costume more suited for a "Down East" grandmother than for a child. Her fancy colored dress reaches to half way below the knees and just tops a pair of blue and white stockings that look very odd. The child wears ear-rings and on top of her towled yellow hair there is a straw hat that is of the shape and variety that little girls of fifty years ago used to go to picnics in. The child wanders about the streets some yards behind her parents and the stare of her bright blue eyes takes in everything in sight. HUSBAND PULLED HER BY THE HAIR Eleise Froboese Asks for Divorce Because of Cruel Treatment. Eleise Froboese has filed suit for divorce in the Circuit Court against Gus. Fred. Henry Froboese, alleging cruelty and ill-treatment as grounds. She says they were married in Honolulu on September 1, 1896, by Rev. Sereno E. Bishop. During the whole period of their married life she claims her husband has been guilty of extreme cruelty toward her. On September 4, three days after their marriage she claims he used abusive and vile language toward her, and struck and beat her without provocation, and did the same on other occasions compelling her to seek refuge in the home of her parents. On June 22, 1901, he "ferociously attacked libellant, taking her by the hair and throwing her around the room against the furniture, and so seriously injuring her face that she was compelled to seek medical assistance, and at the same time beating and injuring their infant child, and again in September he beat and wounded her causing her to flow from her mouth and face." She claims that on July 28, 1901, he deserted her and has since utterly failed and neglected to provide suitable maintenance for her and the child, although he is receiving a salary of $150 a month. She asked for the custody of the minor child.

LITTLE IS REVERSED

Supreme Court Sets Aside Ruling in Two Cases.

Judge Little was reversed yesterday in a decision handed down by the Supreme Court in the two cases of C. A. Brown vs. J. D. Spreckels Bros. et al. The suit was for possession of beach property at Hilo which was claimed under a grant from Kamehameha III.

The Supreme Court decision was written by Chief Justice Frear before his departure, L. A. Dickey sitting in the case in place of Justice Galbraith who was disqualified because of his former association with Little. The syllabus says:

Parol evidence is inadmissible to vary or contradict the terms of a deed, as for instance to show that the survey notes made at a distance longer than that described in the deed.

Evidence is inadmissible to show the usual meaning of ordinary words, as, for instance, the broader popular or narrower legal meaning of the word "beach." The Courts take judicial notice of such meanings.

The beach between high and low water marks could be granted to private persons before the annexation of these islands to the United States.

Even if the law were now different, titles to beach property previously acquired would remain valid.

Crown lands were alienable by the King in 1853. Accretion belongs to the littoral proprietor.

A description in a deed, first by monuments, one boundary being represented as adjoining or coinciding with the edge or the shore of the sea; then by courses and distances, which apparently do not go quite to high water mark, and finally by a diagram representing the space between the land as described by courses and distances and the sea as "beach," carries title to high water mark at least.

The words "with the right of extension to low water mark" added to a specific description of certain land near the sea, carry the fee to the land in front of the specifically described land, so far as the grantor has the fee.

As a rule land cannot be appurtenant to land. In construing a deed, the court will, in order to give effect to the intention of the parties, construe a word in a popular or technical or purely arbitrary sense, provided the intended sense can be ascertained in a legal manner. Ordinarily the ordinary meaning will be given to a word, but that it was used in some other sense may be shown by the context, or by proof that it had a different meaning in the particular trade or locality, or, in case of a latent ambiguity, by parol evidence of the special circumstances of the case.

The word "beach" may be used in a legal sense as meaning the space between high and low water marks or in a popular sense as including more or less land, according to the circumstances, above high water mark.

When a deed described certain land by courses and distances and then added, "And also the sea beach in front of the same down to low water mark," and the particularly described land extended nearly to high water mark and the land between was of little value and was used in connection with the rest and no reason appeared for not including it or for granting the beach between high and low water marks alone, and possession of the strip between was taken by the grantee without question, it was error to direct a nonsuit on the ground that the word "beach" had a fixed legal meaning covering the space between high and low water marks alone.

WILCOX IN ROLE OF A SOLOMON

Judge Wilcox was called upon yesterday morning to act as a Solomon respecting the question of a woman's title to property which she holds by living upon the same despite the attempts of mortgagees to wrest it from her. Mrs. Louise Nobles was the way in which the woman's name appeared upon the court docket, although she called herself Mrs. Hunt while on the witness stand, testifying further that she was the widow of the late Fire Chief Hunt.

Mrs. Nobles or Mrs. Hunt was brought before the district magistrate on a charge of assault and battery preferred by J. H. Cummings. The latter alleged that he entered the premises occupied at present by Mrs. Nobles, on the ground that he held a mortgage on the place given him by Mr. Hunt, there being no signature of a "Mrs. Hunt," or that of a wife, attached to the document. For several months he says he has endeavored to establish his claim to the premises, but has failed to eject the present occupant. He stated on the stand that while on the premises yesterday forenoon Mrs. Nobles, or Mrs. Hunt, laid a whip across his shoulders and compelled him to make haste to get through the gate.

It was inferred that yesterday's proceedings were not so much of an effort to establish a case of assault and battery as it was to disprove Mrs. Nobles' claim to the right to call herself the widow of the fire chief. Deputy Sheriff Chillingworth referred to her as Mrs. Nobles throughout. Mrs. Hunt replied, however, by saying she was Mrs. Hunt, the widow of Fire Chief Hunt.

Judge Wilcox dismissed the charge against Mrs. Nobles, by giving her the benefit of the doubt, at the same time stating that the other matters brought up should be decided in a court of equity, which his claim to anything, and the mortgagee had a right to assert his claim to possession.

Lots left on King Street in the PAWAA TRACT, but the 8 lots now remaining on Young Street are equally as good for a home and more quiet and just as convenient to the ELECTRIC CARS on account of the very artistic lane which is now being laid out and which runs through the center of this property to King Street. The contract is now let for macadamizing Young Street through this property, thereby rendering it a beautiful driveway, city width, running through from Punahou to McCully Street; but the choicest lots of all yet remaining unsold in this tract are those on Beretania Avenue opposite the beautiful Dillingham Place, as they face the mountains and are the highest lots in the tract. The terms and prices for which these lots can be bought are the most reasonable this side of Chicago, for if you wish to buy a lot you can do so from $50 to $100 down and $10 a month for which you will receive a Warranty Deed with the title guaranteed as perfect. If you want to buy a home, house and lot and a for from $1,500 up on easy terms, do not fail to visit the Pawaa property at once for the price of this property will positively be advanced 20 per cent after the 15th of this coming month.

COMMERCIAL NEWS.

THE absence of money in the market continues to be the feature, and the small list of sales of stocks, coming after a week when nothing was done, will have little effect upon the general situation. The stillness seems due primarily to the fact that there is no cash. Bank deposits have fallen off and the consequence is that there are very few loans being made. The rates are the same, but the outgoing coin must continue to be small in volume until there is a commensurate amount of payments. Rates have not stiffened, but on the contrary there is no attempt to make any harder bargains with those who must have accommodation.

The feature of the week's trading has been the sale of a block of 66 shares of Waimanalo. This stock, closely held, has fluctuated very little during the past few years. While there was a booming of other stocks this plantation held its own, but did not take any decided brace, and the result has been that it has maintained its usual gait, paying its dividend with regularity and keeping along in the best kind of shape. The stock sold to insiders at $160 a share, which is the usual rate, though there has been a bid of $170 for more of the stock, which was not found. Mr. Irwin has given to the plantation his personal attention in a great measure, and the result must be largely attributed to his skill and guidance.

Apart from this favorable feature of the market, the remainder of the stocks have shown a little decline, due to lack of buyers. The most unusual feature of the whole thing is that Ewa has set the most remarkable decline, having been sold at $20. Only 29 shares have been transferred at this figure, but there is more in the market, and buyers are holding off this stock just as they are from the others of the list. It is the opinion of certain brokers that the decline in Ewa is the cause of the feeling that has forced down the prices of other shares. There seems to be a desire to wait on the part of all, and the result is that the general list has declined. Thus there have been sales of Oahu at $65, not on the board, and probably never to be reported, and there is in the market now some Waiialua which can be had for $40, though there are no buyers for the stock even at that figure. The reason for this low quotation is that the holder of a block of 400 shares of the stock has decided that he will get rid of it here, and he will force the sale at whatever price he may obtain.

Oahu was the most active stock, in that the number of shares transferred was the largest. Six hundred and thirty-one shares were sold of the assessable, and 25 of paid up. The price was the ruling one of $4 for the former and $8 for the latter. There is little of the stock in the market which has the last assessment paid, but there is considerable which is delinquent. There will be an auction sale of the shares which are far back in the payments, held next week, when it is expected that the rates established by the exchange transactions of this week will be the ones to rule.

Oahu Railway and Land Company has taken an inexplicable drop, in that the stock, earning as it does 6 per cent, is held below other shares of the same relative capacity. Thus there were sales of Oahu at $7.50, 39 shares being sold, while in Hawaiian Electric, which is the same relative earner, the stock is strong at about $85, there being none of it loose in the market. Inter Island is firm on account of the dividend, and the feeling that there will be some developments under the new management which will result in increased earnings for the company. The general market is weak, waiting for some developments from the sugar market, which it is thought alone can send shares back to their former standing.

The bond issue of the Kohala Sugar Company has been underwritten for the company by the Bank of Hawaii. The present issue is only $150,000, and the company holds in its treasury the remainder of the authorized amount of $300,000. The bonds will be used for the purpose of providing funds for the putting through of McCully street. This makes the price of the land close to $72,000, for there must be added accrued interest of $225. The company will put on the market the lands as soon as possible, and arrangements have been made with Charles Gilman to act as the sales manager for the estate. It is understood that the lots on the King street side will be offered first, as they will not involve much expense. As soon as the property begins to move there will be pressed forward the improvements to the property, and the streets will be put through and the land filled. The filling of McCully street is finished and the top dressing of rock is being put on. This, it is thought, will be finished by Monday next, and then the laying of tracks, it is expected, will be rushed along.

C. B. Reynolds has purchased of P. L. Dorch in the Manoa Heights addition three lots, just mauka of the residence of Mr. Townsend. It is the intention of Reynolds to erect a residence very soon. It is understood that it will occupy the entire block. The property brought $4500.

Some rebuilding is going on in Chinatown. The Schuman block is now going up, and arrangements are being made for the putting up of an Ah Sui block at the corner of River street and Faunah. This will be of the same general form as the block which was destroyed. There are others who will complete plans for rebuilding within the next few weeks.

The work of putting down the foundations for the Kapoli Estate building is now well advanced, and the stone contractor, Donald McKay, is waiting for the chance to begin the stone work. The building will be put through as fast as possible. There will be no time lost by Fred Harrison in getting ready for the O'Neill building, and as the iron and terra cotta are now being prepared for the building in the States, there should be rapid work done by the contractor.

Downtown property is still inactive and there are few seekers after lots. In the suburbs there are a few lots moving and these are principally on the installment plan to purchasers who will erect little homes.

REAL ESTATE AND BUILDING.

The feature of the week in the real estate market has been the settlement of the troubles of the Walkiki Land and Loan Association, by the purchase of the holdings of the company by the newly formed McCully Land Co., Ltd. At the auction the transfer was made upon the bid of Oscar E. White of $86,000, the amount of the Queen's Hospital Association mortgage. This was subject to a prior lien, entered into by the owners for the purpose of providing funds for the putting through of McCully street. This makes the price of the land close to $72,000, for there must be added accrued interest of $225. The company will put on the market the lands as soon as possible, and arrangements have been made with Charles Gilman to act as the sales manager for the estate. It is understood that the lots on the King street side will be offered first, as they will not involve much expense. As soon as the property begins to move there will be pressed forward the improvements to the property, and the streets will be put through and the land filled.
