Boxers to March on Peking---President Castro Abdicates---Important Sugar Discovery.

(Associated Press Cable.)

SHANGHAI, Jan. 3.—Prince Tuan has concentrated 50,000 troops and joined General Tung Fu Sian, the notorious and cruel enemy of all foreigners in China and former commander of the Northern Imperial Army and a Boxer leader, for a march upon Peking with the object of overthrowing the present dynasty.

This rebellion is in the northern provinces and the Court at Peking is said to have taken serious alarm at the uprising.

For months General Tung Fu Sian has led a powerful band of Boxers who have not until now made any serious move towards invading the district around Peking. His troops are said to be well drilled and he is supposed to have supplies and arms and ammunition sufficient to wage a fierce contest against the Imperial troops.

In some quarters it is believed that these leaders have induced about 5,000 Imperial troops who were located in the provinces of Shensi and Mongolia to join them—but this latter information lacks confirmation.

It is said that these two leaders have for some time been given protection by the Empress Dowager owing to the fact that they are haters of the "foreign devils" and that now finding their strength sufficient they wish to take Peking and entirely control the situation.

CASTRO ABDICATES.

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—The Herald says that censored dispatches from Caracas indicate that President Castro has abdicated or is about to do so.

The insurgents menace the city and the situation is critical according to Associated Press dispatches. A forced loan is feared, which would cause fresh complications.

SUGAR DISCOVERY.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 3.—Thomas Wommack, a prominent planter of East Baton Rouge, has discovered a new process of making sugar which promises to revolutionize the industry in Louisiana. Mr. Wommack declines to divulge the secret until a patent is received but says he converts his whole product from ordinary syrup into sugar with only a small percentage of residue in the shape of a black glucose with scarcely a trace of sucrose and as hard as a brick. He brought samples of the residue to the Sugar Exchange for chemical examination as evidence of the success of the discovery. Every pound of sugar made him this season was clear white at first.

DE LA MONTANYO'S TROUBLES.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 3.—James De La Montanyo deeded his property to his children when his wife began her suit for divorce. The wife was given a decree and he now wants his property back, but the children refuse. He has brought suit to set aside the deeds. The property is valued at three hundred thousand dollars.

USES OF THE CABLE.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 3.—The cable was used for the first time today to intercept an alleged criminal, Chief of Police Wittman wiring the High Sheriff at Honolulu to arrest a Chinese woman on the steamer Peking. It is claimed that she embezzled $1,000 from countrymen here.

MARCONI'S TRIUMPH.

WINNIPEG, Jan. 3.—Signor Marconi is installing his transcontinental system and the first wireless station in the United States will be opened next week with a dispatch from South Wellfleet, Mass., to the King of Italy. The message will be sent with a force of a million volts, the largest voltage ever obtained from an electrical current. The initial test was found to be all right. The apparatus throws a spark as big as a man's fist and a foot long.

GLACE BAY (N. S.), December 22.—To his wireless message transmitted from Canada to King Edward VII. Mr. Marconi has received the following reply, signed by Lord Knollys, the King's private secretary: "I have had the honor of submitting your telegram to the King, and I am commanded to congratulate you sincerely on the successful issue of your endeavors to develop your most important invention. The King has been much interested in your experiments, as he remembered the initial ones were commenced by you on the royal yacht Osborne in 1898."

"KNOLLYS, Private Secretary."

THE SECRETARY OF WAR CONGRATULATES HAWAII

From War Department to Gazette, Honolulu, H. I.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 3.—I congratulate the people of Hawaii on the event which completes their union with the people of the United States. Communication, mutual knowledge and understanding, community of interests, advocacy of the same principles and pursuit of the same ideals, are more potent than acts of Congress to bring about true unity. All these the cable must greatly promote.

ELIHU ROOT, Sec'y. of War.

HON. ELIHU ROOT, Secretary of War, is one of the best known Republicans in the State of New York. He is a descendant of a well known New England family. He graduated from Hamilton College in 1864. Mr. Root began the practice of law in New York in 1867, and rapidly acquired a large practice in connection with noted litigations, including the famous A. T. Stewart will case. Newspaper men especially remember the success with which he appeared for the late Chas. A. Dana, editor of the New York Sun, and successfully resisted the efforts to remove Mr. Dana to the District of Columbia under an indictment for libel. In 1883 Mr. Root was appointed United States district attorney for the southern district of New York and was delegate-at-large to the Constitutional convention of 1894. He is one of the closest confidential advisers of President Roosevelt and one of the strongest men now in public life.

ROOSEVELT'S GREETINGS TO THE HAWAIIAN PEOPLE

Prince David Kawananakoa has received the following message from the President:

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 3, 1903.

David Kawananakoa, Waikiki.

The President is much pleased to receive through you the cordial greetings of the native Hawaiians, and extends to them his hearty congratulations upon the opening of telegraphic communication with Hawaii.

(Signed) GEORGE B. CORTELYOU, Secretary.

Col. Parker received a message couched in similar phrase.

PHILIPPINE TARIFF CUT THREATENS SUGAR INDUSTRY

(Associated Press Cable.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—Henry T. Oxnard called on the President today and urged him to use his influence against the bill reducing the Philippine tariff. He claimed the proposed reduction would work great harm to the sugar industry. It is known that the Havemeyer sugar trust is using every effort against the bill. It is certain, however, that the Philippine bill will be passed and the Cuban treaty ratified.

GENERAL FRIEDRICH DEAD.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 3.—News of the death at Juneau, Alaska, of General Robert A. Friedrich, United States attorney for the district of Alaska, was received today.

YELLOW FEVER ABOARD.

PORT TOWNSEND, Jan. 3.—British ship Comliebank from Panama reports the death of six of her crew from yellow fever.

FIRE DESTROYS L. B. KERR'S STORE AT MIDNIGHT

Unknown Man Entered an Hour Before Fire Was Found and May Be Cremated.

One Hundred Thousand Dollars' Loss Sustained by Destruction of Dry Goods Stocks. James F. Morgan Suffers Loss.

Midnight fires last night did damage to the amount of $100,000 to L. B. Kerr & Co., Ltd., James F. Morgan, and the Robinson estate, by the practical destruction of the building occupied by the first two concerns named in Queen street, with all the contents.

When the fire was under control facts were learned which led the police to believe that a man had lost his life in the burning structure.

Barney Oat, the night watchman in that section of the city, saw a man enter the Kerr store about 20 minutes past 10 o'clock and close the big iron doors after him. Oat passed up Kaahumanu street and went on his rounds until the alarm was sounded, the indicator at the central station showing that it came at 11:15. Mr. Oat reported to Fire Chief Thurston as follows: "I was on Queen street about 15 or 20 minutes past 10 when I saw a man walk down Queen from Fort streets directly to Kerr's. He unlocked the iron doors, went in and closed the doors behind him. I have often seen business men come to their stores at night, and thought nothing about it. Kerr's is not on my list. I went around up Kaahumanu street, and while there heard the whistles. I came to Queen and saw the reflection of the flames from Kerr's. I did not see any one come out of Kerr's. Who the man was, I do not know."

The police made every endeavor to find Mr. Kerr last night, but could not locate him up to 1 a. m. His residence is at Waikiki, and the telephone refused to work last night.

The building contained two ground floor rooms, the second story being one apartment. In the stores of Kerr & Co., comprising the Waikiki room and the entire upper floor, was a stock of general dry goods, estimated to be of a value of $100,000. This is practically lost, as the fire, which seems to have started in the rear of the main room, made its way through the entire length of the store, and then, working up, gutted the second story.

In the store-room of James F. Morgan there was a light stock of goods, comprising principally furniture and some canned groceries, and much of this was destroyed by smoke and water, for the fire was late in getting into the room, and did very little damage there. Mr. Morgan saved his books and his valuables in the desk in the rear office, but no one of the Kerr firm appeared, and not a single thing was saved from that building. The fire had such headway at the moment it was discovered that it is doubtful if anything could have been saved. The fire was fought with the utmost vigor, and despite the menace of the lumber piles in the rear, there was never real danger of great spreading, for the department handled the blaze with such determination that no loss was incurred, except in the main building, even the warehouses at the rear being saved from damage.

The fire was discovered by the policeman on the Queen and Fort street beat, who saw the reflection from the flames, which were later found to be breaking through the sky-lights over the dressmaking portion of the Kerr establishment, occupying the rear end of the building. He turned in the alarm from box 13, at Hackfeld's corner. The police wagon was the first on the ground, and Deputy Sheriff Chillingworth, followed by McDuffie, Renear, and Pohaku, went through Allen and Robinson's lumber yard, breaking down the tall gates in the rear of J. F. Morgan's rooms. By this time the chemical engine and a hose wagon from the central station arrived, the latter going to this opening with a line of hose. A ladder was raised and the hose taken to the roof. The water was poured down into this section, which was already a roaring furnace.

The two stories of height of the rear building are taken up by only one open space inside from floor to ceiling, a gallery being the second story. Huge volumes of smoke poured through the skylight openings. Chillingworth and others assisted the firemen to drag a second line of hose around to the rear, where effective play was had on the dressmaking department, and also into the main store. By the time the second hose was in position, the entire store was a mass of flames. With axes and crowbars the police broke down a barrier of iron bars, giving the firemen a fine opportunity to work on the flames from the roof, effectually checking its progress towards the lumber piles. Foreman Deering, of Hose Company No. 2, had charge of the operations in the rear, and kept his men working in closer toward the seat of the fire, Chief Thurston directing all the operations.

The flames finally broke through the frail wooden partition between Kerr's and Morgan's stores, and the rear iron doors of the latter were thrown open for a line of hose to be taken through the partition into Kerr's. Kerr occupied the floor space over Morgan's, and it was not long before this also was in flames. Owing to the iron window shutters being closed all around, the firemen were unable to reach the fire directly, until Chillingworth and Renear had battered away the cement fastenings on two window shutters, which were torn off, giving free play for the hosemen. A double ceiling over Morgan's store prevented the heavy cases of goods with which it was filled from falling through, but a stream of water came down and ruined all exposed articles. Two streams were kept on the upper floor from the rear, two into Kerr's main establishment from the rear, and two through the front entrance.

The front part of Kerr's was used for the display and sale of dry goods. This opened directly into the office, millinery and dressmaking sections, the gallery being used for the storage of millinery and dressmaking materials. The front upper story of Kerr's was used as a general storage and packing department. At an early stage of the fire, it seemed that the floor would give way, and guards were constantly on the watch to give the alarm in case this took place, as the firemen, working in smoke, would have been penned in.

The Inter-Island Company, next door to Kerr's, was not injured, the thick brick wall proving a fire-proof barrier.

The firm of L. B. Kerr & Company, Ltd., was organized some four years ago with a capital of $200,000, subscribed principally by Mr. Kerr, a few others having small holdings, for the purpose of taking over the business of L. B. Kerr, and since that time it has branched out considerably. Recently the firm's statement showed that in the main store and branches there were stocks of $210,000. It is estimated that the firm had a total stock of something like $150,000 in the two buildings, one-third perhaps being in the warehouse.

It is estimated that the insurance on the stock will reach $75,000. This is placed in local agencies. J. M. Dowsett's companies handle $20,000 of the amount, and it is understood that the companies represented by W. G. Irwin & Co. have the same amount. Castle & Cooke's companies have about $10,000 of insurance and Bishop & Co. represent similar losers. Small amounts are carried in other agencies.

James F. Morgan has insurance of $1,000 on the floating stock which comes to his warehouses, and he estimated last night that he would lose that much more.

The building is one of the oldest coral structures in the city. It is the property of the estate of James Robinson and its value is estimated at some $10,000, there being some insurance on it, the amount not being ascertained.

ROOSEVELT WON'T ACT FOR SUMNER

Wants the Hague to Arbitrate the Trouble

GERMANY IS DISAPPOINTED

Castro Makes Amended Proposals and the Powers Land Troops at Porto Cabello.

WASHINGTON, December 26.—President Roosevelt finally decided today that he would not act as arbitrator in the Venezuelan difficulty. As a result the whole matter will be referred to The Hague tribunal for settlement. The President's decision was announced today after a meeting of the Cabinet.

ROME, December 27.—Ambassador Meyer to-day presented to the Foreign Office President Roosevelt's note on the subject of Venezuelan arbitration. The President says that, although he is very much gratified at the confidence the Powers have shown in him by choosing him as arbitrator, which position he would have accepted if there were no other means of solving the question, he thinks it better to submit the case to The Hague Tribunal, especially as all the Powers concerned are willing.

The President adds that as there is no question of national honor or cession of territory involved, after thorough consideration and in accord with all the Powers concerned who have shown an honorable spirit of mutual consideration and moderation, he is glad to be informed that they all have agreed to submit the question to The Hague Tribunal.

GERMANY'S DISAPPOINTMENT.

BERLIN, December 27.—The German government is disappointed by President Roosevelt's declination to be arbitrator in the Venezuelan dispute, but in pursuance of his decision will correspond at once with Great Britain and Italy on the subsidiary questions that must now be agreed upon, such as raising the blockade and the definite form of request whereby Venezuela on one side and Germany, Great Britain and Italy on the other, will ask The Hague Tribunal to adjudicate the dispute. The interchange of views on these and other requirements probably will take place at Washington, where the Ambassadors can confer freely with Secretary Hay and obtain through him President Castro's assent to the precise propositions. The German Foreign Office considers Washington a convenient place for further negotiations. Foreign Secretary von Richthofen regrets the long delay which is likely ensue before the final adjustment of the controversy. He had relied upon President Roosevelt's personality to take up the case and reach a decision quickly. Baron von Richthofen recognizes the declination is in strict accord with his message of December 2 in which, referring to The Hague Tribunal, he said: "It is far better where possible to invoke such a permanent tribunal than to create special arbitrators for a given purpose."

When Baron von Richthofen received Secretary Hay's note this morning he had in his desk the summary of the note transmitted from Washington by the Associated Press.

EXCHANGE OF NOTES.

WASHINGTON, December 27.—There is now in progress an active exchange of notes between the allied powers, Venezuela and the United States respecting the method of submitting to arbitration the issues which have arisen between Venezuela and the allies. Questions are being put and answered, but it is said that the negotiations are in such shape that it would be extremely injudicious and in accord to make each phase public if there really existed a desire to reach a satisfactory settlement.

AMENDED PROPOSALS.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 3.—Nothing has been heard from London, Berlin or Rome in the way of an answer to President Castro's amended proposition relative to arbitration. It is assumed that the holiday season is the cause for the delay. It is known exchanges of views have been made between London and Berlin with the idea of having uniform action by the Allies.

NEW TRUSTEE FOR SUMNER

Bishop Gulstan Is Relieved of Duty.

KELLET WILL CARRY ON SUIT

Witnesses Trying to Show That the Ellis Children Were Paid for Release.

John K. Sumner was relieved of one trustee yesterday, only to fall into the hands of another by stipulation of counsel. Judge De Bolt ordered the discharge of Bishop Gulstan, and by agreement appointed P. D. Kellet, Jr., as trustee, for the purposes of the suit only.

The testimony put on yesterday was only for the purpose of proving that the Ellises had agreed to release the old man from any claims upon payment of $10,000 each.

Wyllie Davis was on the stand at the opening of the court, and told his part in the cancellation of the now famous deed of trust and will. Davis testified, on cross-examination by Thompson, that Mrs. Ah Chuck and Mrs. Sarah Weed were to get some of the money given by Sumner to Mrs. Davis. The witness said that these two women were his "aunts," but denied that they were sisters of Sumner.

Davis said that he went to the Bishop's house the day after the settlement, together with Sumner and John Keller. After reaching there Sumner sent him back for Magoon, and the latter came up. Then the deed was cancelled, though witness said he was not inside the room at that time.

Thompson then went into Davis's record for the purpose of discrediting his testimony.

"Have you ever been convicted of any crime?" the witness was asked.

"No; I might have been arrested for fast driving or something like that."

"Were you never convicted of selling opium?"

"Well, I will tell you about that," said the witness, after some hesitation; "I was in charge of a bumboat, with seven men, and we were coming away from a man-of-war, when we were arrested for having opium in our possession. I was acquitted, though, and Mr. Magoon and ex-Judge Humphreys, his partner then, defended me."

Sarah Weed was next called, and testified that she had been in conversation with Sumner and Mrs. Buffandeau upon the old man's return.

"Victoria told him he was just in time," said the witness, "as she had just got out an injunction to stop the Bishop from selling the property for $100,000. She said she got Humphreys to fix it up, and as he was on the bench yet he advised her to get Mr. Highton. The Ellises didn't want it signed, they wanted more money; and after Sumner came she got a telephone message from Willie, saying to put Sumner in a hack and bring him right down to his office. Sumner said the children wanted him to give them $25,000 each, and was real angry about it. Victoria said, 'Willie has been doing it.'"

Father Valentin and Father Mathias appeared as witnesses at this time, and Magoon asked that they be excused until Monday, as the Bishop was dying. This was done, and Judge De Bolt suggested that he was ready to rule upon the Bishop's resignation. It was finally agreed that the Bishop should be discharged and a new trustee appointed, for the purposes of the suit only. By stipulation the sum of $48,025 was accepted as the whole amount for which the trustee must account, and P. D. Kellet, Jr., was appointed to succeed him. The names of W. R. Castle and A. S. Humphreys were also mentioned in this connection, but the attorneys would not agree to the appointment. A stipulation that the answer of the Ellises be considered as a cross-bill and that they be considered as plaintiffs, was vigorously combatted by Davis, and was finally dropped.

Magoon and Davis wanted the case to go ahead, saying that the trial could be finished by last evening, but Humphreys stated that it would take at least until Tuesday to present his case.

ENA WANTS HIS MONEY.

John Ena yesterday brought suit against the Honolulu Investment Company for $435 for damages. The plaintiff claims that he leased to the defendant, on March 29, 1900, property in Iwilei, Honolulu, consisting of about 65,000 square feet for the term of twenty years, at an annual rental of $750 payable in two equal installments of $375 each. Plaintiff claims that the defendant has refused and neglected to pay the rent due for the second installment, due September 29, 1902, together with the taxes, amounting to $80.

DEATH OF COL. J. J. DICKEY

Senator C. H. Dickey received a cablegram yesterday announcing the death at Omaha of his brother Col. J. J. Dickey, superintendent of the Western Union Telegraph lines with headquarters in that city. By a peculiar circumstance Senator Dickey sent a congratulatory message over the cable on the opening day to his brother. The message went through but was passed by one from Omaha to Senator Dickey announcing Col. Dickey's death.

J. J. Dickey died on December 29, being 64 years of age. He left a widow and the following children: W. Lyle Dickey, a business man of Atchison, Kansas; Arthur Dickey, of Denver, Colo.; Mrs. Belle Pike, of Portland, Me.; and Bertha Dickey, seven years of age. Besides Senator Dickey there is a surviving sister, Mrs. C. H. Wallace of Chicago. Col. Dickey was born at Rushville, Ill., and spent his boyhood at Ottawa, Ill. His first service with telegraph systems was with the Caton lines more than forty-five years ago, and he was one of the oldest telegraph operators in point of service, in the United States. He had been connected the most of this time with the Western Union Telegraph Company, and as a superintendent his territory was probably the largest of any in the world extending from Canada to Mexico and from the Missouri river to the Sierras. He visited in Hawaii about twenty years ago.

MORE TALES ABOUT JOHN W. MACKAY

"I went to Mackay to get a check for a poor widow. It was not long after his experience with old Mrs. Peters and her letter of thanks.

"Sam," he said, "I'm going to fine you for blabbing on me to Mrs. Peters. I'll fine you $200, and a check for $300 is the best you can have for this other woman. And if you let her know where the money comes from don't you ever dare to ask me for another cent, for you won't get it."

"I agreed not to give him away, and accordingly I had his check cashed and took the roll of bills down and personally handed it to the widow.

"Where did this money come from, Mr. Davis?" she asked.

Ottawa, Ill. His first service with telegraph systems was with the Caton lines more than forty-five years ago, and he was one of the oldest telegraph operators in point of service, in the United States. He had been connected the most of this time with the Western Union Telegraph Company, and as a superintendent his territory was probably the largest of any in the world extending from Canada to Mexico and from the Missouri river to the Sierras. He visited in Hawaii about twenty years ago.

The deceased was the son of Col. T. Lyle Dickey, chief of cavalry on General Grant's staff during the Civil war, and brother of Adjutant-General Cyrus E. Dickey, and brother-in-law of General W. H. L. Wallace, who fell at the battle of Shiloh. Adjutant-General Dickey was also killed at the battle of Sabine Cross Roads in Louisiana later in the war.

"Oh," I answered carelessly, "a bunch of your friends here in Carson made up a little purse for you."

"Well," she said, looking at me earnestly for a minute, "you go back and tell Mr. Mackay that I shall thank him to my dying day."

"Once when the press in the Carson City Appeal had just started to run he came rushing in and called to me in an excited tone of voice:

"Stop the press! Stop the press!"

"What's the matter, John?" I asked in alarm.

"Why, old man Crooks—I have explained that Crooks was one of his partners, famous for his stinginess—'old man Crooks has just presented a peck of apples to the orphans' home, and he'll be broken hearted if you don't have a column and a half about it in the paper this afternoon.'"—Sam Davis.

COMMERCIAL NEWS

There were only four days of work for the Stock Exchange men during the week, owing to the holiday and their laying off for the cable celebration. The holiday feeling of absence of care was predominant too, and the result was that there was not a deal of work done during the period. The brokers were out in small numbers and there was a decided feeling of wait yesterday, for the belief is that by Monday there will be communication established between the exchanges, local and Coast, which will mean that the local dealers will have constant and close acquaintance with the state of the market in San Francisco and there may be some material results.

The week developed little in the way of business, and simply was a keeping tab on the various stocks, with some light realizations for the mere purpose of keeping before the wind, according to the way the deals are viewed by brokers. There was one variation, the selling of the fifteen fractional shares of Hawaiian Agricultural, coming out of the recent adjustment of the stock of that company. The last previous sales of the stock were made at $250, but this transaction sent the stock to $260. The stock is regarded as a fine one, the year's end dividend being ten per cent.

Of the usually handled stocks Ewa showed the principal changes, the quotations but no sales being made to establish a new price above that which ruled during the week previous, $34. The asked price now is only $23.75, while the bid is $23.50. There seems no reason for any change in the price of this stock and the outlook is so good that any such depression is without precedent.

To offset this Oahu has developed unusual strength and the bid price has gone on up to $85, which means a gain of several points during the week. There is none of the stock which can be had at this price and the men who want it are said to be likely to have to put up the par figure within the month to get the certificates.

The greatest volume of business was that done by Oiaa, where opening the week at $11 with sales of thirty-six shares the price went on down to $10.75 at which figure fifty shares changed hands. There was no other offering and the stock was closed without any seeming chance that the holders would accept this figure for the plantation shares. The reports from Oiaa are that the crop should be of the highest this year. The only other plantation traded in was Kihai with a block of six shares at $8.50. San Francisco reports show only the usual holiday fractional reductions.

Rapid Transit furnished the only trading in miscellaneous stocks and the effect of the deal with the Tramways was instantly apparent. The last previous sale of the stock was made at $57.50, and before the publication of the news of the absorption of the Tramways by the electric line, the asked price was only $60. Immediately the brokers got together after their holiday with the new information, the figure was sent up to $62.50 for the stock and holders asked $75, at which price there may be had a few shares. There were only eight in the block transferred, and the outlook is for even higher rates. The bond market is firm with sales of $2,000 O. R. & L. Co. at $104.00.

The dividends paid on the close of the year were as follows: Hawaiian Agricultural, ten per cent; C. Brewer & Co., one per cent; Ewa, one-half per cent; Waimanalo, one per cent; Wilder's S. S. Co., two per cent; Inter-Island S. N. Co., one per cent; Hawaiian Electric Co., one-half per cent.

REAL ESTATE AND BUILDING.

Holiday feeling was too much for the realty market and the absence of action has been notable. The facts seem to be that the people are waiting for the spring returns from the sugar crop, and the sales now being made are entirely of small pieces, there being as well a number of leases.

There are plenty of mortgages in the market, but the fact that money is tight has had the effect of preventing the closing of many deals. The rates are not softening, those who have trust funds insisting upon eight per cent for any sums placed below $10,000.

There is some talk of new building down town, and the prospects are that in the event of the settlement of the Postoffice site matter in favor of the location picked out by the committee of Governor Dole's selection, that there will be several small structures and one or two larger ones erected very soon. There are now on negotiations for the lease on long terms, of the mauka end of the Bishop street strip of the Bishop estate, and these may result in the putting up of a fine building, though not a high one.

The lot of the Campbell estate in King street, where the oldtime paint shop, which was burned of a holiday morning, stood, it is expected will be covered very soon by a structure in keeping with the improvements of the mauka side of King street. The plan now seems to be to erect there a three-story structure, with an arch way over the drive, so that the space above the arch shall be available for the use of delivery wagons. This improvement depends much upon the easing up of the money market.

There are a number of trades covering city property which may be pulled off during the coming month, so that the spring may see a renewal of activity.

SUGAR MARKET.

Williams, Dimond & Company, writing to F. A. Schaefer & Company under date of December 27th, say of the sugar market:

Sugar—No changes have since occurred in the local market or for export, prices established Dec. 9th still being in force.

Basils—No sales since last advices; consequently basis for 96 deg. Centrifu-gals in New York established by transactions recorded 16th inst., remains at 3.94c., San Francisco 3.59c.

New York Refined—No change. Quotation 4.70c. equivalent to 4.60c. net cash, established 15th inst. still prevails.

London Beets—Dec. 19th, 8s. 11d.; 20th, 8s. 21d.; 22nd to 26th, 8s. 11d.

London Cable—Dec. 20th, quotes Java No. 15 D. S. 9s. 6d.; Fair Refining, 8s. 9d.; same date last year 8s. 10d. and 7s. 10d. respectively. January Beets 8s. 11d. against 6s. 9d. corresponding period last year.

Eastern and Foreign Markets—Latest mail advices from New York under date of the 20th inst. reveal a steady and quiet market for Raw. Offerings lately are principally from Demerara. A feature of the situation is the active commencement of grinding of the new Cuba crop, there being 22 Centrals in operation, but the views of sellers of new crop sugars are not in harmony with ruling quotations. The Cuban Reciprocity Treaty, providing for a reduction of twenty-five per cent in the duties on Cuban products coming into the United States and a reduction from twenty to forty per cent on articles (excepting tobacco) from the United States going into Cuba, is now in the hands of the Senate Committee of the United States, and it is apparent that vigorous opposition will be aroused to prevent ratification. The effect of the publication of Mr. Licht's estimate of the European Beet Crop, showing a reduction of 110,000 tons over previous figures, had already been discounted to some extent and a weaker tone to the market there is in evidence. The statistical position however, warrants the expectation of an improvement in values hereafter. Refined is steady and the demand is moderate.

Legislation—A bill has been passed by the House of Representatives, providing for tariff rates of 25 per cent of the duties imposed by the Dingley Bill on commerce between the Philippines and the United States. Should the bill be approved by the Senate, and become law, a considerable impetus will undoubtedly be given to the cane sugar industry in the islands. The exports for year ending October 1st, 1902, amounted to 78,637 tons.

Latest Statistical Position—Willet & Gray report U. S. four ports in all hands estimated Dec. 17th, 153,372 tons against 154,204 tons same date last year. Six ports Cuba estimated Dec. 16th, 51,509 tons against 52,498 tons corresponding period last year. United Kingdom estimated Dec. 11th, 122,900 tons against 88,299 tons in 1901. Total stock in all the principal countries by cable December 18th, at latest uneven dates, 2,977,452 tons against 2,589,005 tons; increase over last year, 378,447 tons.

ceiling was cracked, and at every canon explosion, the bulging of the plaster increased. Court was hastily adjourned and the court officials and attorneys left the room until the close of the one hundred gun salute.

Judge De Bolt has notified Supt. Cooper of the condition of the ceiling, and the building will probably be overhauled again.

This evening at the Christian church Mr. Muckley will illustrate his sermon by use of the blackboard. The subject will be, "That Other Man." Morning subject will be "Looking Forward Versus Looking Backward." The church extends you a cordial invitation to attend these services.

The Judiciary building is shaky again. Friday afternoon during the cannonading at the Capitol grounds the ceiling in Judge De Bolt's court room appeared to sway until it seemed as if the plaster was about to fall. Just above where some of the attorneys were sitting the

Sunday Advertiser

WALTER G. SMITH : : : : : EDITOR.

SUNDAY, : : : : : JANUARY 4.

THE SUNDAY ADVERTISER.

The first number of the Sunday Advertiser appears herewith. It is a nucleus around which many improvements will group themselves from week to week, month to month and year to year. The paper is large enough to begin with and will spread out as business warrants and as occasion demands.

The coming of the cable impressed most business men of Honolulu with the need of such a paper. It was justly felt that Hawaii, dependent as it is for its prosperity on the world's markets, could not afford to ignore the news of the closing day of the business week. Whatever of special import, happening in any part of the commercial world on Saturday, it was entitled to know in time for use on the opening day of the week following. A Saturday afternoon paper could but partly meet this demand; what was wanted was such a review of the whole Saturday field as could only be obtained from the cable service of a Sunday morning journal.

Sooner or later this demand was certain to be met, and the Gazette Company proposed, with the approbation of the business public, to meet it first. The lack of dissent in religious quarters was noticeable and the conviction grew that the church people were willing to accept such a Sunday paper as the Gazette Company was likely to issue. The doctrine of Sunday observance has broadened of late years, even in Honolulu. The rule is no longer that of keeping the mind shut to all but the religious activities of man. It is admitted that a religion which can be weakened by reading a good secular book or newspaper on Sunday is a pretty poor article. We emphasize the qualifying word, however. There are books and papers which ought not to be read on any day; but the value of a good book or paper is not determined by the calendar and is not impaired by Sunday acceptance. A good Sunday paper can hurt nobody; and that is the sort of a paper we have tried to present this morning.

LEGISLATIVE RIOTS.

However degraded in political morals the Hawaiian Legislature may be, it has not indulged in any free fights while in session. This may be entirely due to the poi and banana diet of the members, as these innocuous vegetables and fruits do not foment hot blood. It is well for the world to know that the supreme peace which prevails in our Legislative halls is due to a non-fighting diet. There is no record of banana-fed prize fighters, and a poi-fed army would shrink from dying in the last ditch.

Recently there was a serious disturbance in the German Reichstag. The members shook their fists in each other's faces, and behaved like so many wild cats.

In the French Chamber of Deputies, in the early part of last month, there was such a disturbance in the space fronting the tribune, that the commandant of the police entered the Chamber and with his force removed two unruly members. The Frenchmen, however, rarely come to blows. The person is sacred. Every Frenchman has extraordinary skill in shaking his fists in the face of his antagonist, and he may come within the hundredth part of an inch from his nose, but he must not touch it. He may gyrate about his antagonist, like a frenzied maniac, and indulge in fiendish yells, but he must not touch the skin. So that a personal encounter is rare in France. Usually in the Chambers, after one of these dramatic scenes, in which a hundred fists are shaken, with careful attention to avoid an actual blow, it is the custom often, to start some patriotic song, in which all indulge. This is instantly followed by the most violent and friendly hugging and kissing, and general forgiveness.

Our Federal Congress has been the scene of a number of free fights, and some noses have been cruelly pulled, to the glory of Anglo-Saxon institutions. Prentice said of the Kentucky Legislature, that after a "heated" session, little niggers were sent around the legislative chamber with baskets, in which were gathered the slit noses and ears of the fighting members. These invigorating pastimes are gradually being abandoned, and personal conflicts are now mainly confined to "offensive remarks," and sanguinary threats.

Students throughout the world will please take notice that the banana and the taro are the most peaceable vegetables known, and whatever the shortcomings of our Legislators may be, they have not, owing to this tranquil diet, smashed each other's heads, nor knifed each other's bodies. Let us be thankful. Poi makes an open hand, and not a closed fist.

"THE AMERICAN CATHOLIC CHURCH."

Many members on the mainland of the Protestant Episcopal church strongly favor a change of its name to that of "The American Catholic Church." The annual convention of the diocese, in Springfield, Ill., has voted for this change. Five dioceses have already voted in favor of it. Many of the most prominent bishops are also advocates of it.

The name "Protestant Episcopal" does not correctly express the true relation of the church to men. It is not a Protestant church, for, speaking from a historical point of view, it never "protested." It originated in England, during the conflict of the reformers in the Roman Catholic church with the abuses in that church, and signified a dissent to heresies and practices which had sprung up in its service. The "Protestant" church was a distinct body, in no way connected with what was called the Episcopal church.

It is now believed that the word "Protestant" should be dropped, as it is not historically correct.

The word "Catholic" means universal, and, from the point of view of the members of the present Episcopal church, expresses the scope and intention of its jurisdiction. Whether any denomination can, with justice to other denominations, claim to be the universal church, may be open to some question. All churches claim to be universal, both in organization and purpose, and some one of the denominations may, in the course of ages, establish itself as such.

But the day for quarreling about names has passed. So long as men choose to divide, and march under different banners of the Cross, they must be free to take such names as will best preserve their organization. All will not agree with Ruskin when he says: "There is a true church where one meets another helpfully, and that is the only Holy or Mother Church which ever was or ever shall be." The world is yet too young to destroy the visible churches, and they must take such names as best rally men to an active co-operation in matters spiritual.

The term Roman Catholic church is properly designated as one which finds its government and laws in Rome from time immemorial. A Catholic church which springs out of a vast democracy, must equally find a name which, in a measure, expresses its source, and location. Therefore the term "American" is well suited to an organization which exists on American soil. If the Romanic church were, in the course of time, to remove its capital to the American continent, it could justly claim to be the American Catholic church. The possibility of this is remote, though such a removal has been considered by the Pontiff, in order to escape from the domination of the Italian government.

It is now quite possible that within two years, the change of name now seriously considered will be made, and that venerable institution, the Protestant Episcopal church, will become "The American Catholic church."

The celebrated lawyer, Rufus Choate, once gave a toast at a Pilgrim dinner, "A State without a King, a church without a Bishop," but all good Christians in Hawaii will welcome the existence and growth of a church "with a bishop," provided he shall be the truly catholic bishop whom it is our good fortune to now have with us as the head of the Episcopal or Bishop's church in Hawaii.

THE BYSTANDER

HAVE you ever seen a well-blacked pair of shoes in Honolulu—a pair with the real Broadway shine? If you have they were probably worn by a man who is his own bootblack. Back East and on the coast, the "artist" as he has the right to call himself, gets down to business with a vim and the result is beautiful to see. After cleaning the shoe he puts on some good blacking, plenty of it and rubs it in. Then taking two small, stiff brushes, he makes such friction on the leather that a pleasant warmth pervades the foot. More blacking is followed by more friction, this time the brushes being discarded for a strip of rough carpeting. There comes a shine in which the bootblack can see his face, but he is not through. He bends down, opens wide his mouth and expels hot air on the polish, following the act instantly with another rubbing by the stubby, twin brushes. When he is through, the shine can hardly be told from that of patent leather and it costs five cents.

Here in Honolulu the bootblack lazily gets into position, pausing now and then to jabber Portuguese to a mate. Rubbing his thumb over a bit of blacking or dipping a brush in some dark, watery ointment he obscures the front of the shoe, generally slighting the heel. Sometimes he caresses the leather with a soft brush but oftener with a strip of flannel worn smooth. He abhors elbow grease and uses as little of it as possible. Nobody ever saw him breathe on the polish and then rub. He doesn't really rub at all—he rubbers. When he has turned out a job which would make a Broadway bootblack blush, he dabs his patron with a whisk broom and asks for ten cents. It's easy money for him.

Hilo has a bootblack who knows his trade, which goes to prove that he did not learn it in Hawaii. He is probably some stray from back East.

The plumber, wherever you find him, is a bird of prey. I tried sending for one to mend a simple leak, just the simplest kind of a leak. Well, he came to my house, which is in the suburbs, carrying a bag which contained everything but what he needed most. The object of this was soon apparent. He wanted to go back for the "forgotten" things and charge his time to me. Anywhere in California the mending of that leak would have cost me $2. In Massachusetts the price would have been $1.50. In Honolulu the bill was $5 and mostly for "time." The old catechism was wrong when it said:

Time cuts down all
Both great and small.
It doesn't. It never cuts down a bill.

I see Volcano Marshall has appeared in Shanghai, possibly with the hope of being Shanghaied on a Honolulu-bound ship. Volcano wants to come home. When General Chaffee was here, some months ago, he told with a chuckle in an interview he had with the jail Eucalyptus of the San Joaquin. Marshall went to him and asked for transportation to Honolulu or San Francisco.

"Are you connected with the public service of the United States?" asked the General politely.

"Not-by-a-blamed-sight," answered Marshall in that indescribable drawl of his. "I'm-a-free-born-American-citizen-and-no-blanked-seatrapp."

"Well on what grounds do you ask for transportation?"

"On-the-same-grounds-by-thunder—that-those-blankety-blank-surveyors-and-schoolmarm-and-missionaries—who-have-been-coming-here—got-it. See!"

"But these people came from the other end. The Secretary of War sends whom he pleases; but my orders are to send back only those who are connected with the military or civil service."

"General—you could—send-me—if-you-wanted-to."

"See here Mr. Marshall. If you were in my place and had orders like mine, would you give me transportation?"

"You—bet—I-would—and-be-darned—glad—to-get-rid-of-you."

It is needless to say that Volcano stayed in the Philippine eruption belt.

Our old friend Yardley, whose pencil gave Hawaii some new experiences, is a better cartoonist at his worst than Thomas Nast ever was at his best. And he never drew a cartoon before he came here. He was an apprentice on a small salary at San Francisco, a lad but lately out of school and small clothes, but when he reached Honolulu he made up his mind to expand. At first his work was a bit crude, but it soon began to attract attention by its artistic merit and its caustic wit. Some of his cartoons will be remembered for years by the public and for a lifetime by their victims. Yardley got homesick after a couple of years and went back to his old job on the Chronicle where he was treated as an apprentice again. He got borders to draw and little odds and ends. Given the chance he could have made Horner Davenport of the Hearst papers look like thirty cents; but the Chronicle art manager, either lacked appreciation or the appreciation he had congested in his bump of business prudence. In a little while Yardley went to the San Francisco Bulletin where he is doing important work. Apropos of the Thomas Nast comparison, observe the Harper's Weekly Nast cartoon, lately reproduced in these pages from the original drawing, and see how far short it falls of the ordinary Yardley product.

Since the dance of the Oahu College students in Pauahi hall, there has been a swarm of ghosts infesting the place. These are the unhappy apparitions of those deceased worthies who were opposed to dancing in the flesh, and had determined to manifest their displeasure at the misconduct of their descendants, by appearing in ghostly form on the college lawn, with badges and placards covered with rebuking remarks, and stern protests against moving the legs to music. These spectral faces were sour, their spectral noses were turned high, and their impalpable lips were pressed in indignation. They carried placards bearing scornful inscriptions, such as "Dancing and Damnation," "Waltzes and Woe," "Demons love Dancing," and they distributed leaflets which explained the vast moral difference between moving the lips to music, and moving the legs to music. One of these ancient spirits muttered that the whipping post should be restored, and the practice of the old Puritans revived, which inflicted twenty lashes on the back of every young man, who danced in public. An ancient dame, with a ghostly pimple on her nose, snuffed pious imprecations at the wild debaucherie.

But the Angel of Joy came out of the night clouds, with her troop of silver slippers and cherubim, and they touched the lawn in the silent music, which is a Waltz of the Blessed, composed by the ghostly Chopin. Just as the grey light of morning flashed over the summit of Round Top, the celestial troop, led by an invisible ukulele, went off in a Virginia reel into the clouds, while the censorious old ghosts hobbled back to their vaults, muttering to each other: "Heaven sadly needs a missionary to reform its morals."

MAILS CROWDED WITH ADVERTISERS

Yesterday was a busy day at the postoffice. The Peking brought 305 sacks of mail from the Coast, and the Island steamers brought in their usual number of sacks. Then the mails had to be made up for the Korea, Coast bound, and for the Peking, Coast bound, besides getting out that for the carriers, lock boxes, and delivery windows. A force of clerks was kept busy making up the out-going mails for the Korea, and a large part of the matter received at the postoffice consisted of the Cable edition of the Advertiser. The paper drop box for the Coast was filled nearly all the time up to 2 p. m., when the mails closed. A stream of people stopped at this particular drop box and deposited big and little bundles of Advertisers. At times the box was so jammed with packages that depositors had to literally force their own into the mass. Something over 6,000 copies of the Early Morning Earthquake.

Prof. Lyons, the Territorial meteorologist, reports that at 7:29 1/2 o'clock yesterday morning a slight but distinct earthquake was felt at Punahou, and also in Honolulu. A number of early risers also noticed that a tremor was on.

REPUBLICANS WILL GET TOGETHER AND CAUCUS ON PROPOSED LEGISLATION

When the County Bill, which has been framed by the commission named by the Republican Convention, and is now in the course of being rewritten, is turned over to the Republican Central Committee, no time will be lost in getting it before the people, that there may be a free interchange of views.

In addition there will be, with the opening of the next month, a gathering of the Republican members of the Legislature, for the purpose of discussing this measure and any others which may be proposed, so that the result of the session will be one which will redound to the credit of men and party alike. The invitations to the outside members to come to Honolulu in four weeks' time, for this purpose, will go out at once, and the result is expected to be most satisfactory.

The Central Committee, at its meeting held at headquarters last evening, set in motion the machinery which is expected to bring about a certainty of a hard working legislature. Every expression of opinion was along lines showing that the desire of the party managers is to have something done which will show the voters that their confidence was not misplaced. It is not expected that everything that is desired can be accomplished, but the plan is to hold such close conferences and caucuses that the members will go into the session with much of the talking done and ready to vote and vote right.

The meeting was fairly well attended, several members of the Legislature being present. The first part of the evening was spent in reading messages to the committee from leaders at Washington, indicating that they will cooperate with the local men in every way. Several applications for place were read also. Then the meeting got down to the consideration of its serious business.

Chairman Crabbe first asked an expression of the members as to the advisability of having the members caucused here for the purpose of holding a caucus on February 1. It was explained that the only way to hope for good results from the legislature was to have some decision as to the bills which are to be introduced, and then to have the members most familiar with the subjects take them in charge and push them along. If this plan was not followed, the sixty days would pass without any action. The County Bill was said to be the principal measure to come before the session, and this alone should have careful consideration in caucus before it could be discussed in the houses.

G. R. Carter said that it had been found in the course of working over the bill that it was interdependent to such a degree, that often the changing of a word or sentence would mean the entire reconstruction of some other portion of the bill. There should be some such plan for getting together and thus insuring the success of the session. Senator Crabbe said that on the second day of the session.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Attorney F. M. Brooks is ill. Enjoy the day by ordering a rig from the Club Stables. The Eagles will "smoke" on Wednesday evening in San Antonio Hall. Washington advices say the Hawaiian Fire Claims bill passed the Senate without debate. Swell reception and street hats, also the latest trimmings and novelties at Hawley's Millinery Parlors. Date: Jan. 2, 1903, 4:30 a. m., to the wife of A. Durant, engineer, Palama Fire Station No. 4, a ten-pound boy. A. G. Kaulukou, son of Judge Kaulukou, is in excellent health and has passed all his examinations at Yale. Hawaii's postal business was a third greater during December of 1902 than during the same month of the previous year.

"Little Jack" smoking tobacco is put up in 5c and 10c packages now. Grinbaum & Co. are agents for this popular brand. Fewer sacks of mail were sent from here during the holidays than was the case the year before and more were received. The deaths are reported from San Francisco of ex-Chief of Police I. W. Lees and Alfred Bouvier, the theatrical manager. H. Rooney, a hackman, was fined $15 in the Police Court by Judge Wilcox yesterday for assaulting a Chinese hackdriver. See Jordan's ad today for particulars regarding their special sale of silks, woolen dress goods, etc. This sale will begin tomorrow and last for two weeks. Deputy Sheriff Andrew Cox of Wai-anaea had to shoot a valuable horse, his own property, owing to it having a leg broken in a collision with a hand-car.

The Morris-Berger Carnival company, coming on the Coptic on their way to the Osaka Exposition, may stop off and play here the night that the Coptic is in port. Prof. Berger writes the Herald that the Hawaiian band is scheduled to leave for Hilo next Tuesday. The organization will remain here for a week and will give nightly concerts.—Hilo Herald. Beginning tomorrow Whitney & Marsh, Ltd., will sell their broken and surplus stock regardless of cost. Foulard silks are reduced from $1.25 to 50 cents, and other goods in like proportion. See their announcement elsewhere. Miss Cantor Rosenwasser, one of San Francisco's popular milliners, has charge of the millinery department of Whitney & Marsh, Ltd. By the last steamer from the Coast she received advance pattern hats of the spring styles which are now displayed.

The meeting of the Honolulu Engineering Association to be held Monday evening at the Castle & Cooke assembly hall at 7:30 o'clock will be of unusual importance. Addresses will be delivered by Marston Campbell, A. Gartley and Wm. Rowell. Yesterday Judge De Bolt sustained the demurrer in the Club Stables case and gave the plaintiff permission to amend. On January 31 the Civil Service Commission will examine applicants in Honolulu for positions in this Internal Revenue district. Rear Admiral Merry, recently stationed here, has sued his wife for divorce, alleging drunkenness and desertion. The couple had lived together thirty-nine years.

Message to the Pope.

The fathers of the Roman Catholic Mission have sent the following cablegram to Rome: To Monsignor Cardinal Gottl, Propaganda, Rome: Bishop Gulistan on his death bed, the clergy and laity of the Roman Catholic Church of Hawaii send their respectful congratulation to His Holiness, Pope Leo XIII, at the inauguration of the trans-Pacific American cable between San Francisco and Honolulu, and pray for his blessing. F. LIBERT, Pro-Vicar.

Club Stables Officers.

The annual meeting of the Club Stables, Ltd., was held yesterday morning at the offices of the corporation. There were 371 shares of the stock represented. The following officers were chosen: President, D. P. R. Isenberg; vice president, C. H. Bellina; secretary, W. E. Bellina; treasurer, C. F. Murray; auditor, Dr. J. R. Shaw. These officers comprise the board of directors. After the election the meeting adjourned to February 4, when the reports of the officials will be presented. Notice was given that several changes in the articles of association and the by-laws would be offered at that time, the 30 days' notice required by law being thus covered.

Cable Work Clearing Up.

The cable was worked yesterday during the entire day, excepting only four hours, when the tests of the line were made. The great mass of messages which had been filed for transmission showed, in some degree, the effect of the steady efforts of Superintendent Gaines and Operators Harwood and Macmichael, and they continued their efforts all night, so that the wires may be cleared today and ready for the reception of paid business tomorrow.

BORN.

At Kamuela, South Kohala, Hawaii, to the wife of Dr. John Atcherley, a son, Dec. 31, 1902. To the wife of Patrick Gleason a girl at 4 p. m., January 3. Four persons stowed away on the Korea at Yokohama. Two were put ashore but a Japanese and a Russian are still aboard.

HORRORS IN THE SAGHALIN PRISONS

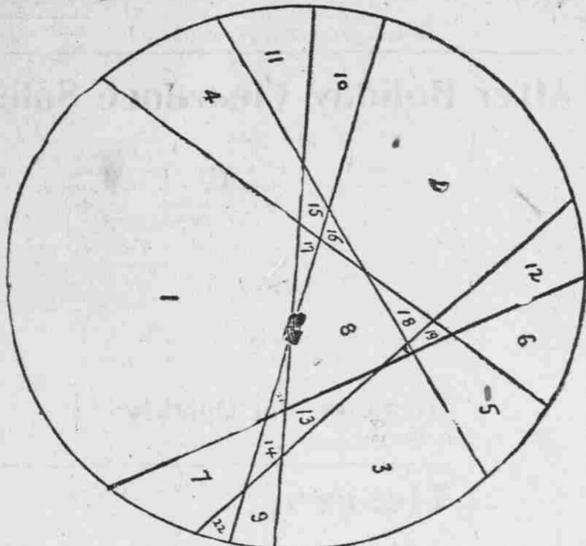

Reuter's representative has had an interview with Mr. Charles H. Hawes, who is believed to be the last Englishman to visit the Russian penal settlement of Saghalin, and the only one to explore the interior and north-eastern coast of the island. Mr. Hawes had been travelling in Korea, when he decided to visit the island. From Khabarovsk he proceeded with a convoy of exile barges, and was landed at Nicholaevsk, opposite Saghalin. The following is an extract from Mr. Hawes's narrative:—

My object was to proceed to the extreme north-east part of the island to study some unknown tribes there and to see for myself the real condition of the convicts. There are five great penal establishments in this convict island, and, with the exception of the clearings round these, practically the whole of Saghalin is covered with forest so dense that even the natives cannot penetrate it. I spent several days in Alexandrovsk where, as in the other settlements, murder goes on with impunity. During my stay four people whom I met were murdered. Almost every one in the streets is a criminal, for, with few exceptions only the worst type of prisoners are sent to Saghalin—certainly besides convicts, ex-convicts, their wives and children, and the officials, there are probably not a dozen free-born individuals on the island. Of murderers alone there are at least eight thousand, and one morning I passed a man in the street of whom I was warned to be careful as he had already killed eight people. It is no exaggeration to say that the majority of the officials are the dregs of the service—in too many cases drunken and brutal. I went over some of the prisons. Despite continued contradictions that such a thing exists there are still two wretched prisoners chained night and day to wheelbarrows. In Alexandrovsk prison there were six hundred convicts packed in four apartments, each constructed to hold about fifty persons. While I was on the island nearly 1,800 fresh prisoners arrived, mostly for this prison, so its subsequent condition can perhaps be imagined.

As the result of inquiry, I found that the three-thong whip with leaden ends, known as the "plet," the use of which is forbidden in Russia and is dying out in Siberia, is in general employment here, and also the birch-rod dipped in salt. With this instrument two women were flogged in February last. The convict's term of confinement in Saghalin is followed by six years' enforced residence in the island as "exile settlers," and a further six years in Siberia as "peasants," after which they are free to return to Russia, but as a matter of fact nine-tenths of the convicts never leave the island. The one bright spot on this island is the presence of an heroic woman, Eugene de Meyers, a young, attractive, and enthusiastic lady who is working alone amid terrible surroundings. She has no regard for danger, and lately spent a long time in the far interior with a band of 200 convicts. It is known that the Czarina is greatly interested in her work, and probably this is the reason why she does not meet with as much active hostility from the officials in Saghalin as might be expected.

In the dry soil of Egypt, Prof. G. Elliott Smith finds, the brains of most non-mummified bodies of the cemeteries have been naturally preserved, even from predynastic times. The convulsions may be mapped, and an account is soon to be given of the brain structure of the Egyptians of different periods.

HOW TO CUT BOARDING HOUSE PIE.

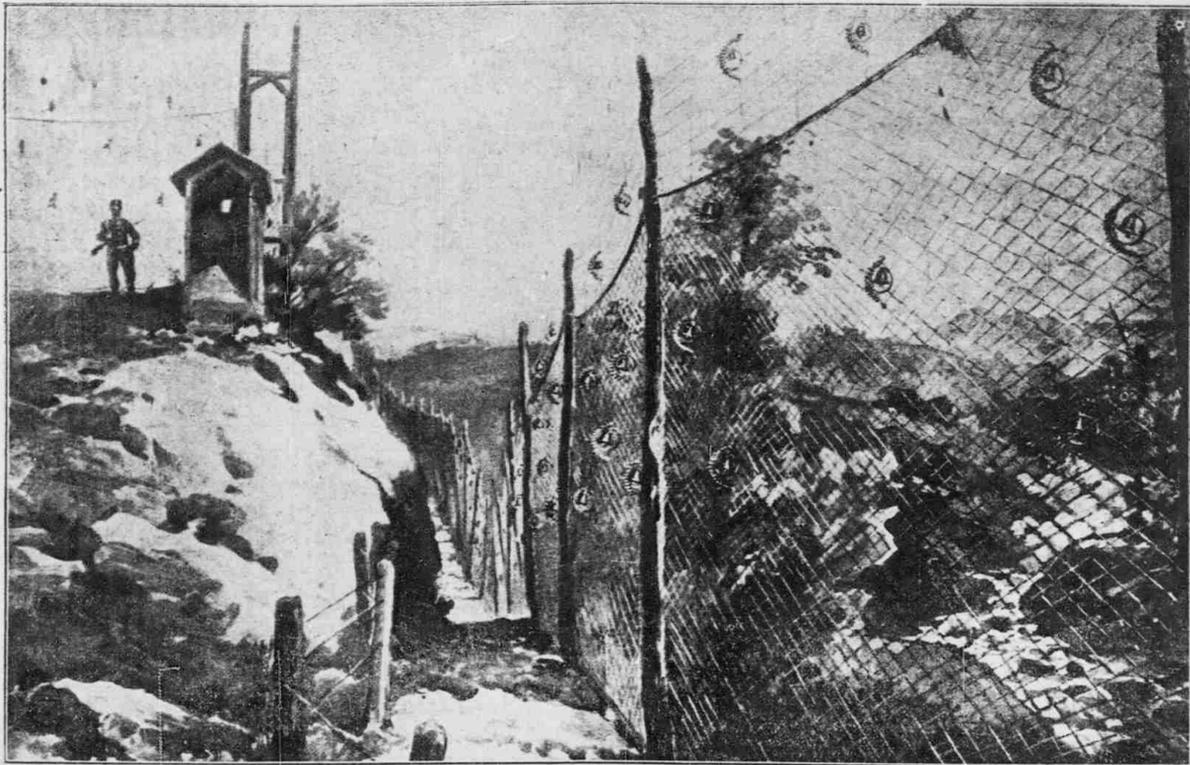

The rule which produces the best solution and cuts the pie into the greatest possible number of pieces with six straight cuts is that "every line must cross every other line," which might be interpreted for the benefit of the young folks to mean that "You must not ask for a second piece, and wait until the elders are helped first."

It will be found that when the rule is followed—every line must cross every other line—as shown in accompanying sketch, twenty-two pieces may be produced. The pieces, however, are not of uniform size, which is one of the advantages of scientific pie cutting. The star boarders, who settle their bills promptly, always get the big pieces with plenty of nice crust, whereas the distribution of the other pieces may be accepted as indicating the amount of revenue derived from each guest, and shows that some who are sadly in arrears in their board bills are being frozen out, so far as pie is concerned.

It may be mentioned that the exceptionally large piece is generally given to the nice young man who is supposed to be paying attentions to the landlady's daughter.

NETS FOR SMUGGLERS

THE PREVENTION OF SMUGGLING ON THE ITALIAN-SWISS FRONTIER: NETS FITTED WITH BELLS.

The bells of this ingenious device are hung upon very delicate springs, and the slightest attempt to tamper with the nets sets up a peal that quickly calls the sentinel from his post.

MAKING YOUR OWN SAUSAGE

The breakfast sausage that appears in the city markets is a coarse article, and has well earned its reputation for doubtful ingredients. Even where the meat is without doubt pork, the poorest cuts and pieces which would not be considered fit for any other purpose are ground into sausage. In the country it is the ordinary practice to make sausage meat at home at the time the pigs are killed, and many people in the city now make their own sausage meat when they cannot obtain a satisfactory supply from the country. The convenient meat chopper may be now purchased at as low a price as $1.25. A month's supply is easily ground by this machine and packed away in pans under a layer of melted lard, which hardens over the top, so that it shuts out the air from the meat. A simple rule for sausage meat calls for seven and a half pounds of lean pork. Sometimes for a change half lean pork and half lean veal are used in the sausage put up at home. Add also two and a half pounds of fat pork, three ounces of salt, half an ounce of summer savory, powdered, three-quarters of an ounce of sage leaves powdered and an ounce of ground pepper. Put the meat, with the fat and lean mixed together, through a coarse meat chopper. Then add the seasonings, rubbing them in with the hands. Finally grind the seasoned meat as fine as possible. Pack the sausage in large pans, pouring at least half an inch of melted fat over it. When the fat becomes cold and hard the meat will be air tight. Keep it in a cold place, and as needed uncover a small portion of the meat, taking out what is wanted and covering up the remainder.

The French use the richest sauces with sausage. A little chopped onion, in the proportion of a tablespoonful to every pound of sausage, may be browned in a saucepan and sprinkled over a dish of fried sausage. Apple sauce and fried apples are excellent accompaniments of sausage.—New York Tribune.

DID DIETING FOR OBESITY CAUSE TOM REED'S DEATH?

Was the death of former Speaker Thomas B. Reed, who passed away at the Arlington Hotel not long ago, induced either directly or indirectly by a rigorous system of dieting, which he had been practicing up to the very day of his dissolution?

This question is being asked seriously by some of Mr. Reed's intimate friends, and as soon as it is known that it has been raised will doubtless spread discussion in medical circles in this country. Within a few months preceding his demise the former Speaker was engaged in an effort to reduce his weight, and during the period of his self-denial succeeded in decreasing his weight 45 pounds. He did this by leaving the table hungry at every meal, having eaten only a portion of the food lobby Mr. Reed and Senator Russell A. Alger, of Michigan, had a long and friendly conversation. The Senator remarked upon the reduction of former Speaker Reed's weight, and the latter explained how he had brought it about. "Mr. Reed stated to me," said the Michigan Senator "that for some little time he had never got up from the table with his appetite satisfied. 'I always leave the table after eating only half a meal,' said he. 'I usually get up in the morning hungry and go to bed hungry, and am always hungry after leaving the table. The doctor who suggested the way in which I could decrease my weight advised me to cut it down 20 pounds. This I did, but, I was still too heavy and knocked off 20 pounds more. I then had too much weight on me, and reduced in another five pounds. Other

REMODELING NOSES

Modern surgery now transforms pug noses into faultless Roman shapes. The loose skin over the depression in the bridge of the nose is lifted and under this the surgeon injects liquid paraffine, heated to just the right point. As it cools it is moulded into any desired shape. So long as the nose is not overheated the artificial contour remains, otherwise there is a tendency on the part of the paraffine to sag. Done without proper tech-nic the operation may cause necrosis of the nasal bone, a disease which is now afflicting that famous American beauty Miss Gladys Deacon, with whom the crown Prince of Germany is said to have been enamored.

which his system demanded or craved for.

Mr. Reed was always sensitive of his weight, having tipped the scales during the last 10 or 15 years of his life at 260 pounds or over. Recently he consulted a dietitian, who advised him to eat less than he was accustomed to, and knock off about 20 pounds. This the former Speaker did by the method mentioned. Then he continued the practice, and reduced his weight 25 pounds more. At the time of his death he was in his sixty-fourth year, and according to one of the best physicians in Washington dieting is a very dangerous practice for a man of his age. This physician said it was quite probable that Mr. Reed's last illness could be attributed to the fact that his system had been impaired through the lack of sufficient nourishment.

"It is very easy to understand how an insufficiency of food would weaken the vital organs of any man," said this doctor, "especially a man of Mr. Reed's age. The heart and circulation would be affected first, and subsequently the kidneys. I believe I am safe in saying that one of the causes, direct or indirect, of his sudden death was his rigid dieting."

On the Sunday night preceding his death, in the Arlington Hotel than my feelings of hunger, I feel fine and in the best of health."

Scientific Miscellany.

Observations in the Alps, at a time of rapid alternations of fair weather and storms, have shown W. Caspari that the air is strongly electrified—or "ionized"—during the clear periods, and that the presence of positive or negative ions changes to correspond with the fair or stormy weather. Mountain sickness was seen to be closely connected with the atmospheric electricity, an excess of free ions appearing to act as poison. The Lysajoch, which is 13,000 feet high at the edge of a vast ice cleft, has a bad reputation for mountain sickness, and here the dissipation of electricity is the greatest ever observed.

The size of atoms, a subject of inquiry since the time of the ancient Greeks, is now a matter of great importance. A recent determination by Mr. H. V. Ridout, reached by a simple geometrical process from dissociation by electrolysis and through the aid of known electrical formula, places the size of the ion—or electrified atom—of hydrogen at about 1-286,000,000 of an inch. The possible errors are thought to be limited to a few per cent. Many other physicists have been working on the problem, and it is a remarkable fact that Lord Kelvin's latest result, by another method, is practically the same as Mr. Ridout's.

Juanita and her maidens, and the shark of wondrous fame, Go surf-bathing every Sunday, with the haole from the main. Wy-kicky, Wy-titty, Wy-kee-kee, Wy-kit-tee, Wy-kick-tee. The canoe capsizes often in the breakers of the sea, And the screaming bathers scramble, from the sea-weed to get free. While the river of Palolo, like the waters of the Nile, From the Point of Diamond Head is about a half a mile. You can walk.

At the beach at Waikiki, there a serpent made its nest, And invited all the innocents their money to invest. Waikiki, Wy-kee-kee, Vaititi, Vy-tee-tee, Wy-kick-tee. But the cable was too slimy for to catch the wary flea; The sand crabs fled to shelter in the rocks above the sea, And the gushing stream Palolo, like the waters of the Nile, Scintillates amongst the limu with an iridescent smile. Take the Transit.

There's an 'otel in the village, in the shadow of the moon; You can get a cup-a-te-ah, you can sip it with a spoon. Waikiki, Vy-titi, Y-kee-kee, Y-kick-tee, Wy-tit-tee. HERE AND THERE.

The air is balmy here, you say? And sweet the breezes, cool and lea? But there all winds come fancy-fanned, At Kualoa by the sea.

The sun smiles brightly here each day, And fills all hearts with joy and glee? But brighter smiles he keeps for one, For Kualoa by the sea.

The waters sparkle here, and play, And dance in joy and ecstasy? But waters there flow opal-mad, At Kualoa by the sea.

And mountains here do gently slope? Green mantled to the top they be? But castle-haunted are the crags At Kualoa by the sea.

The moon shines here, oh wondrous fair? Sweet visions bring to you and me? Ah, "White Nights" does she bring to me, At Kualoa by the sea.

Kualoa, Kualoa, Fairest spot on earth to see— Kualoa in the dawning, Kualoa in the morning, Kualoa in the noonday, Kualoa bright and free, Kualoa in the twilight, Kualoa in the star-light, Kualoa in the night-light, Kualoa by the sea!

THE CABLE

Behold! It's the dawn! It is come at last! Stretching over the Pacific vast, Satisfying Hawaii's want— The cable.

From isolation And dire seclusion With hearts fraught with joy we emerge To active life in 'th' Universe— By cable.

Now we need not bewail The sloven speed of steam, But flashing o'er valley and dale, The news of the world will beam— Through cable.

The distance that spans O'er the wild expanse But a shadowy bridge will be And friends remote with songs evoke— The cable.

And in Neptune's core Where it is in store A band of steel will girdle the sphere, Bringing Hawaii to mankind near— The cable.

A file specially designed for working on gun metal is being used in French machine shops. It has shallow, diagonal channels at intervals of half an inch, the teeth being on the raised portions between the channels. It is claimed that these files, clogging much less rapidly than others, increase the work done by about 50 per cent.

Society

Dr. and Mrs. F. Howard Humphris entertained at dinner on New Year's night.

The German residents of Honolulu sent a dispatch to Emperor William over the new cable, following the custom whenever a new cable is laid and wherever Germans are to be found.

The most prominent ladies of the German colony received on New Year's day, as usual, from 11 in the forenoon. Among those who kept open house were Mrs. W. Pfotenhauer, Mrs. F. A. Schaefer, Mrs. Herman Schultze, Mrs. J. F. Hamburg, Mrs. Herman Focke, Mrs. George Rodiek, Mrs. William Lanz, Mrs. A. Hanneberg.

The revival of the custom of keeping "open house" on New Year's day was a pleasant reminder of the good old days of Honolulu. A large number of ladies made their tables things of beauty and loaded them with the daintiest edibles and the choicest of liquid refreshments to be had. Mountains and valleys were robbed of their green vines and ferns to decorate rooms and tables, and the young men who began in the forenoon to pay their calls did remarkably well.

Mons. Vizzavona, the French consul, has given up his residence on Kapalani street, and has his quarters at the Hawaiian Hotel, his office being located in the Elite building.

Mrs. George Beckley will entertain at a pot luncheon today.

At the Kiloana theatricals in the Opera house Tuesday evening Mr. and Mrs. Harry F. Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Baird, and Mrs. Widdifield occupied aloge. Dr. and Mrs. McDonald had a large party. The lower box on the Walkiki side was occupied by the members of the Florodora sextette, the upper one being occupied by members of Bohemia. The lower opposite box was occupied by Colonel and Mrs. Samuel Parker and the upper one by Miss Davidson and a party.

Ladies night at the club rooms of the Honolulu Symphony Society was a most pleasant surprise to those fortunate enough to enjoy the club's hospitality. The ladies found the gentlemen excellent hosts, and, what was more to the point, the orchestra played exceedingly well. It was the general opinion that such an orchestra, which, in the short time of its life plays the Don Juan overture and Haydn's Symphony so well, must, in another six months, be a pride to the music loving public. Nothing so pretentious has ever been essayed here before, and the result of last Saturday evening's performance sustains the belief that really serious music may be expected from this club. They play with spirit, precision, and intelligence, and interpret remarkably well. The number of guests at the social was limited, each member being permitted to invite two friends. Refreshments were served. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Kopke, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Wichman, Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Marx, Dr. and Mrs. Frear, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Raas, Dr. and Mrs. Walter Hoffman, Mrs. Annis Montague Turner, Captain and Mrs. Berger, Prof. and Mrs. Balleseyus, Miss Hasforth, Miss Hartnagle, Miss Jochen, Mr. and Mrs. Stackable.

Colonel and Mrs. W. F. Allen returned home in the City of Peking yesterday afternoon after a sojourn on the mainland of several weeks.

Miss Duisenberg of San Francisco, who has been spending several months here with her sister, Mrs. H. A. Isenberger, returned to the Coast yesterday in the Korea.

Mrs. V. H. Kitcat returned from Makawell on Wednesday accompanied by her mother, Lady Herron, who will re-

Canon and Mrs. Mackintosh, Mr. Arthur Mackintosh, with the H. M. von Holts, left on Wednesday for Waialua to remain over the New Year holidays, returning to town yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Faxton Bishop returned in the Korea from China and Japan, where they had been sojourning for several months.

During the stay of Mrs. Frank Woods and Mrs. Carl Widemann through the holidays they were widely entertained. On Monday they were the guests of Mrs. James Robertson at a pot luncheon, the table decorations being quite elaborate. On Tuesday Mrs. Jane Walker and the Misses Walker gave a luncheon in their honor. On Wednesday Mrs. Carl Holloway was the hostess at a pot luncheon, at which the table decorations were in yellow, an illia lei encircling the plate of each guest. Early in the week Mrs. F. W. Macfarlane gave an elaborate dinner in their honor.

Dr. and Mrs. Cooper entertained a number of guests at dinner on New Year's day.

Tomorrow evening at the Hawaiian Hotel, the officers and heads of departments of the cable steamer Silver-town will be the guests of Manager Wills at dinner. Later on a dance will be given on the lanais, the dinner guests being augmented by the remainder of the Silver-town steamer and cable staff and the towns folk who usually avail themselves of the hotel's hospitality on such occasions.

Mr. and Mrs. Emmet May gave a very enjoyable dinner New Year's eve at the Moana Hotel. Their guests were Mrs. Winter, Miss Lucy Roth, Dr. High and Mr. Wills.

The Woman's Guild of St. Andrew's will hold its regular meeting on Monday afternoon, January 5, at 3 p. m., at the residence of Mrs. C. B. Cooper, King street.

A pretty dinner was given by Mr. and Mrs. Malling on New Year's eve at the Peterson cottage on Tantalus, at which the engagement of Miss Eunice Mildram Clark, daughter of Mrs. M. E. Clark of Portland, Me., to Mr. Frederick Van Antwerp Berger was announced. The guests were, besides the host and hostess and engaged couple, Mrs. M. E. Clark, the Misses Osborne, George F. Walker, E. B. Clark, and Charles R. Frazier.

Mrs. Frank Woods (nee Parker) and her sister, Mrs. Carl Widemann, leave for their home at Mana, Hawaii, on Tuesday, January 6.

Mrs. Carl Widemann and Mrs. Frank Woods were the guests of honor at an elaborate luncheon given by Mrs. Herman Focke on Friday of last week.

Miss Rose Davison entertained Mrs. Frank Woods and Mrs. Carl Widemann at a pot luncheon at Manoa last Sunday.

Mrs. Victoria Ward and the Misses Ward entertained Mrs. Frank Woods and Mrs. Carl Widemann at their home, "The Old Plantation," on Wednesday.

Colonel Samuel Parker gave a theater party at the Kiloana Dramatic Circle presentation on Tuesday evening in honor of his daughters, Mrs. Woods and Mrs. Widemann, of Mana. Other guests were Miss Crystal and Mr. Cunha.

During the progress of the Cable Ball at the Capitol on Friday evening, Secretary of the Territory and Mrs. Cooper held quite a reception in the Secretary's office, where many toasts were offered for the healths of Mr. S. S. Dickenson, Secretary Cooper, Mr. Gaines, Clarence Mackay and the officers and staff of the Silver-town. Among those present were Secretary and Mrs. Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Hawes, Mrs. George Macfarlane, Captain Morton, Captain Pattison, Mr.

Gaines, Mr. Benest, Mr. Shingle, Mr. Potter, Mr. G. P. Wilder.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Braymer gave a dinner party Friday evening at their Pensacola street residence for a party of twelve. The appointments were perfect. After the dinner most of the party went to the Cable ball. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Walker, Miss May Damon, Miss Gardie Macfarlane, Mrs. Mary Gunn, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Kimball, Mr. Robert Atkinson, Mr. Walter Dillingham, Mr. Isaac Dillingham.

Prince and Princess Kawanakoa may not return to Honolulu from Hawaii until the end of February. Both are enjoying a season of rest in the upper altitudes of the Big Island.

Mrs. Cunha was hostess on New Year's day at her beach residence at an elaborate luau given under the palm trees at 1 p. m., complimentary to Prince Kawanakoa. The tables were decorated with exquisite taste, and the surroundings of greenery lent to the picture a vernal beauty. During the luau music by a native orchestra was a pleasant feature, and Colonel Parker was at his best as master of ceremonies. Many toasts were offered, that of the Princess being a favorite one. Among those present were Prince and Princess Kawanakoa, Colonel and Mrs. Samuel Parker, Dr. and Mrs. Walters, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Highton, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Hawes, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Frank Thompson, Dr. and Mrs. Herbert, Dr. and Mrs. Humphris, Miss Rosie Cunha, Miss Dickson, Miss Bacon, Miss Alice Campbell, Miss Chrystal, Miss Carter, Mr. J. Tarn McGrew, Mr. R. W. Shingle, Mr. H. W. Lake, Mr. McClanahan, Mr. Ernest Ross.

One of the pretty events of the past week was a Christmas breakfast given by Miss Gertrude Whiteman at her home on King street. The flower decorations of the breakfast table were pink and white carnations, and souvenirs of hand-painted pink and white satin puffs. Mrs. Sam Wong assisted in receiving the guests. Among the invited friends were Mrs. Frank Damon, Miss Belle Johnson, Mrs. C. D. Stone, Mrs. Edward Thwing of Wahiawa, Miss Eva Kong, Miss Mong Seong Chong, Miss Fui Zin Ho, Miss Hattie Ayau, Miss Lizzie Ayau of Hana, Maui, Miss Gum Sui, Miss Anoi Lum, Mrs. S. B. Kay, Miss Ah Moi Ahlo, Miss Anna Goo Kim, Mrs. Sam Wong, Miss Ching Kayn Kau.

Many Honoluluans enjoyed a presentation of amateur theatricals aboard the City of Peking on her present trip from San Francisco to Honolulu, it being the first appearance of the "City of Peking Rollabouts." Several Honoluluans were in the affair. According to the program, which was printed on the backs of menu cards, W. B. Gelast was the manager and Miss Williams the leading lady. The program was rendered on New Year's eve, following which a jolly dance was enjoyed. The program of exercises was as follows: (1) Opening chorus, by Rollabouts; (2) Song, Mr. Windett; (3) short story, Mrs. Gilchrist; (4) piano solo, Miss Spieker; (5) song, Chief Engineer McClure; (6) short story, Miss McBoyle; (7) Hawaiian song, Mrs. W. H. Miss Rika Nolte gives a luau on Wednesday.

Mrs. Annis Montague Turner gave a delightful dinner party on Friday evening at "Mignon" cottage, covers being laid for eleven persons. After a delightful evening spent indoors, most of the party attended the Cable ball. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Perkins, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Young, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Benson, Miss Alice Gillette, Mr. C. Von Hamm, Mr. J. Tarn McGrew, and Mr. R. W. Shingle.

The friends of Miss Anita Ward were agreeably surprised over the way in which she played the part of Cicely in "My Turn Next" at the Opera House on Tuesday evening on the occasion of the Kiloana theatrical, it being her first appearance on the stage before any public audience.

Mrs. Iaukea is in the city visiting friends.

Mr. Arthur Mackintosh was the host on New Year's night at a pretty dinner given in one of the private rooms of the Moana Hotel, the guests numbering twelve. Among those present Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Perkins, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Benson, Miss Gillette, Mr. Ernest Ross and Mr. Tarn McGrew.

Miss Hortense Leffingwell, who has been in Honolulu for the past six months as an instructor at St. Andrew's Priory, was among the passengers who departed for San Francisco yesterday in the Korea. That she had become very popular during her short stay here was shown by the number of friends, and especially young gentlemen, who went to the steamer to bid her good bye, all adorning her with leis until she was almost smothered under their fragrant weight. Miss Leffingwell returns to her home in Southern California and may not again visit Honolulu.

Nearly a hundred friends of Colonel and Mrs. Samuel Parker and the Prince and Princess Kawanakoa were entertained at the Emma street mansion last evening at one of the most elaborate luaus given in the city in many seasons, the occasion being the double first celebration of the marriage of Colonel and Mrs. Parker and Prince and Princess Kawanakoa. The former were married a year ago yesterday in San Francisco, and the Prince and Princess three days later. The mansion was brilliant last evening in its myriad lights and tasteful windings of green tracteries around pillars and posts. The lanai was a glorious mass of floral color. Delicate festoons of mountain vines hung from the ceiling, continued down the walls by masses of ferns. Vases filled with clusters of beautiful, blood red and delicate rose-tinted roses and of asters and white marguerites, were banked upon tables. Whole bunches of bananas adorned corners. Two long tables occupied the middle length of the lanai, both prettily covered with ferns and the rich-hued petals of the hibiscus. The healths of Colonel and Mrs. Parker and of Prince and Princess Kawanakoa were drunk in champagne and punch. The appointments of the feast were perfect. Throughout the luau the music of Hawaii lei was played and sung by Hawaiian musicians, who sat behind a palm and fern barrier.

Those present and invited were Colonel and Mrs. Sam Parker, Prince and Princess Kawanakoa, Miss Campbell, Mrs. Frank Woods, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Widemann, Miss Chrystal, Miss Dickson, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Brown, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Carter, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Brown, Admiral and Mrs. Beckley, Miss Beckley, Mrs. Carrie Bush, Mr. and Mrs. Booth, Mr. Bruce Cartwright, Mr. Benest, Miss Cartwright, Mr. and Mrs. Cunha, Mr. A. B. Cunha, Miss Cunha, Mr. and Mrs. J. Dowsett, Mr. and Mrs. Davis, Mr. Doherty, Mr. S. S. Dickenson, Mr. Fox, Mrs. Freeth, Dr. Grossman, Judge Gear, Miss Giffard, Mr. and Mrs. Gaines, Mr. and Mrs. John Holt, Mr. Griggs Holt, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Herbert, Dr. and Mrs. Herbert, Dr. and Mrs. Humphris, Mr. and Mrs. Hawes, Mr. Jones, Judge and Mrs. Kepoikal, Mr. A. Lewis, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lewis, Mr. Fred Lewis, Mr. Lake, Mr. and Mrs. Lantz, Mrs. Long, Mr. Tarn McGrew, Mr. Muhlendorf, Captain Morton, Mr. and Mrs. George Macfarlane, Mr. and Mrs. W. Macfarlane.

SPORTS

PUNAHOU VICTORIOUS FOOTBALL TEAM.

BASEBALL MEN, SEEK TALENT

Baseball men are beginning to look about for material, as the indications are that the struggle between the teams in the League for the season soon to open will be of the hottest. The tryout given to some new men by the Punaheou and Customs, on New Year's day, was quite satisfactory, and if the other teams are as diligent in seeking material there may be some surprises during the series.

Underwood was the only new player in a Punaheou uniform. He is a young man, a protegee of Steere and shows caliber. He did not make a hard try at throwing to second base, but is said to have a staunch wing. He catches well, barring a little slowness on his feet. Williamson in form would be hard to hold for the new man, but he will improve as the season advances, and his arm gets into shape.

Honan, who was in the box for the Customs, is a good man, he has capacity, and his head is well set. He made the running in the mid-season league, winning the series for the Makikis. The company was fairly fast, though not so good as that of the regular season, but he was able to hold down the Young Portuguese, with two Punaheou men, when he would. He will find it hard work to stand a fast nine innings perhaps. In his catcher, Anthony, the Smugglers have a fast man, and a man who will develop into a fine thrower as the season wears on. Macfarlane will be able to hold second, as he has the idea and will be a better fielder than batsman, in the opinion of the talent. The trio will strengthen the Customs.

Meanwhile the other teams are at work. There have been persistent rumors of attempts to take men away from the various clubs, one being that Meyers, of Punaheou, will be with the Redbirds at third. Another, which is denied, is that the Honolulu will have two of the Kamehameha's strong men in their ranks, Vanatta and Kekuewa. The Malles declaration in the Zebra colors, and the Elks are hopeful that they may be able to put up a nine which will stand a show in the race for the pennant. It will take work for the new team, but the men are anxious and willing and the outlook is fair.

The question of grounds is still in the air and the results of the frequent recent meetings have been nil. There are a number of places under consideration, and it is the opinion that these will furnish a fine field, though it is the intention to make a settlement soon, so that the needed work may be done, and the field settle into shape before the season is opened. It seems likely that the selection will be of a Pa-waa location.

HONOLULU BESTS MAILE AT ASSOCIATION FOOTBALL

Close Game Won by a High Grade of Team Play—Many Fine Points Mark the Contest.

According to the quality of playing there should have been a larger crowd at the Association football game at Makiki yesterday, for those who were there witnessed a hotly contested match; and although the Honolulu won, the score of 2-0 showed the Malles to be a fair match.

Honolulu won the toss and elected to defend the southwest goal. Maile put the ball in play, and carried it down the field by dribbling, until a well directed kick by Fuller, followed shortly by another by Soper, put the ball in their opponent's territory.

The play was fast and furious, but the Honolulu seemed to have the advantage in team work, and in the end this told. Several times the Maile goal was in danger, and once a well placed kick by Cockburn was cleverly blocked by Laird, the Maile goal-keeper. After twenty-five minutes playing, Simpson succeeded in kicking the first goal for Honolulu.

The ball was put in play again and with good team work carried forward by Honolulu, until within three minutes from the time the first goal was shot, Anderson kicked the second, making the score 2-0.

In the second half neither side was able to score. The Maile's playing improved somewhat, Mayall especially doing good work with the ball. On the Honolulu side Catton was on the ball most of the time during the first half, but weakened somewhat towards the end. Soper's good kicking saved his side several times from being scored against. Fuller and Rycroft, two new men, caught the spirit of the game, and with a little more experience should do good work for the Honolulu. The men played as follows:

Honolulu—Goal, A. Catton; backs, Soper, Fuller; halves, Andrews, M. Anderson, Glass, Rycroft; forwards, Simpson, Donnelly, J. H. Catton, Cockburn, Waterhouse.

Maile—Goal, J. Laird; backs, McGill, R. H. Moore; halves, A. T. Miles, A. Morrison, J. Anderson, forwards, J. Cumming, E. G. Munro, O. Mayall, R. Anderson, Williams.

Referee, Waldron.

OAHU COLLEGE WINTER TERM

Will Open Tomorrow With Excellent Prospects for the School.

In all its departments Oahu College will open for the Winter term on Monday, January 5, at 9 o'clock. The Fall term was one of the most successful that the college has ever experienced. In the academy the registration was the largest ever recorded. The assembly hall was filled and the capacity of the recitation rooms severely taxed. The number of pupils in the Preparatory school exceeded expectations. Not only was the attendance good but the work in the class-room and on the athletic field was of a first-rate order as well. It is hoped that this and the succeeding term will be productive of equally good results. On Saturday, January 24, an opportunity will be given to remove conditions and make up arrears.

Horse Race Is Off

The proposed race between Aggravation and Racine Murphy, at one and one-eighth miles, did not take place at Kapiolani Park track yesterday, although there gathered at the track a large crowd of those interested in the match. The race had been made with the condition that the track should be in good shape. When the horses were taken out for exercise it was found that the course was slippery and that it would mean trouble for the animals, and slow time, and as a result the race was called off. It may be pulled off during the coming week.

HAWAIIANS IN RACE JUMBLE

Two Local Boys Furnish One Fifth of Yale Mixup.

NEW HAVEN, Dec. 13.—The newest thing at Yale is the international dining table in the Yale commons. Around the board, which is designated as Table 19, are representatives of five races, including the Ethiopian waiter, John F. Wilmore. All except the two Japanese are now subjects of Uncle Sam.

Although the nine men who eat their meals at the table never saw one another before this year, and some are not as conversant with English as they might be, there is never any lack of conversation. The foreigners are anxious to learn what they can by asking questions, and two Connecticut Yankees and representatives of Massachusetts and New Jersey are as inquisitive as their foreign messmates.

The latest arrival at the table is Salvador Saragoza, a native Filipino, the first of his race to accept the offer of an education at Yale. Though able to speak English but slightly, Senor Saragoza has struck up an acquaintance with the colored waiter, who speaks the Filipino language, having learned it in San Francisco. Through him Senor Saragoza is able to talk to his fellow students. He says he likes the country. He already sees great opportunities for gathering information in the realm of Uncle Sam, and intends to fit himself by the study of law to carry something valuable in the educational line back to his native land.

One of the Japanese subjects at the table is Yoshiyuki Abe, of Tsurouoka, Yamagata, Japan. He wears a B. A. at the end of his name, having been graduated from the University of Tehu. He is taking a special course at Yale in biblical literature. The other Japanese member of the group is Takao

NEW PLANS FOR POLO ARE MANY

There seems a brave chance that the coming season will see many changes in the Polo situation, and that the result will be all for the good of the sport and the complete satisfaction of the players, of whom there is promise of several teams.

While nothing has been made known definitely as to the future plans of Mr. S. M. Damon, there is a general opinion that the completion of the Moanalua field will mean the carrying out of certain plans for the establishment of a small country club, as has been indicated before. The polo men are hopeful that this will result.

In the meantime, as the field there may not be ready for some time, members of the local clubs have talked over the probability of having a small field nearer to the city for practice, and the completion of an athletic park may furnish the solution of the difficulty.

Saito, who came to take a post-graduate course in law.

Hawaii has two representatives at the table, though one of them is properly a subject of Great Britain. A. G. Kaulukou, of Honolulu, is a native kanaka and was a subject of Liliuokalani until Uncle Sam annexed the Pacific group.

W. A. Greenwell is the other Hawaiian. The four Americans are Fred E. Clerk, of Newark, N. J.; Morris E. Alling, of Northford, Conn.; B. J. Baldwin, of Woodbridge, Conn.; and B. V. Mathews, of Auburndale, Mass. Clerk and Alling, students in the Sheffield Scientific School and Yale Divinity School, respectively, during their spare hours do city missionary work. Baldwin and Mathews were assigned to Table 19 by request, and say they thoroughly enjoy the mixed society.

The most interesting features of a recent conversation was the revelation that two of the international company had never seen snow until this winter. They are Senor Saragoza and Mr. Kaulukou.

Manager Deshon, of the Yale dining-hall, intends to serve a special Christmas dinner at the table. Several members of the group will then taste American turkey for the first time.

The Moana Hotel was a scene of gaiety on New Year's eve, there being a large number of private dinner parties, after which all joined in one big, jolly family in the dancing which took place in the breezy dining room. A large dinner party was given by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Church. Dr. and Mrs. Humphris entertained Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Hawes, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Baird, Mr. H. W. Lake had for his guest Mr. E. D. Moore of the Associated Press. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lewis entertained a party, and the victorious Punaheou football team gave a banquet, at which Clarence H. Cooke acted as toastmaster.

Captain Rodman of the U. S. S. Iroquois was host aboard the vessel on Tuesday evening after the Kilohana theatricals at a well appointed supper for a number of his intimate friends. About twelve persons participated in the naval officer's hospitality.

WORLD'S NEWS FLASHED UNDER THE WIDE SEA

prints the text of a wireless Marconi message received from the Canadian government, as follows:

"OTTAWA, Dec. 21.—The Government of Canada, through the Times, desires to congratulate the British people on the accomplishment by Marconi of the greatest feat modern science has yet achieved.

"CARTWRIGHT, Acting Premier." The representatives of Marconi say they have been receiving transatlantic messages for a week. They add that the message to King Edward and others came through without a hitch and practically instantaneous. It is calculated that the company will be able to handle 1000 words per hour. As soon as it is able to get the postoffice authorities to connect Poldhu with the Inland Telegraph Company, they will commence regular commercial business between Cornwall and Nova Scotia.

Marconi has expressed mild satisfaction with the results recently obtained, but the manager had said the inventor was always so sure he would be able to achieve his aim that they did not expect him to be enthusiastic. Marconi is going to Cape Cod, where his apparatus only needs slight adjustment before it will be ready to be linked up with Poldhu, which at present is the only wireless station on this side capable of receiving transatlantic messages. Other stations will shortly be built on the Continent.

"OTTAWA (Ont.), Dec. 22.—The King's reply to Lord Minto's message, sent by wireless telegraphy, was received today by cable, as follows:

"LONDON, Dec. 22, 1902.—I am much interested by the wireless message which you have sent me and am delighted at the success of Signor Marconi's great invention, which brings Great Britain and Canada into still closer connection. EDWARD, REX."

ROME, Dec. 22.—King Victor Emmanuel this morning received the wireless message from Marconi, forwarded from Cape Breton via Cornwall, and sent a congratulatory reply.

SHANGHAI EVACUATED.

SHANGHAI, Jan. 3.—The last German troops of the garrison have left for home, thus completing the evacuation of the city by the allied forces.

SHIRAS TO RETIRE.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 3.—Justice Shiras of the Supreme Court will retire this winter.

Justice George Shiras' retirement was rumored as long as six months ago. At that time he refused to discuss the matter. He is now enabled to take advantage of the recent law which provides that Justices may retire at the age of seventy years. He will be seventy-one years of age on January 26th. He has been on the Supreme bench of the United States since October, 1892, having been appointed by President Harrison.

The aged Justice has been noted for the stand he has taken with reference to labor strikes. On the subject of the anthracite coal strike he is quoted as saying last August:

"Arbitration is the logical method of settling labor troubles such as this one, which affects the general prosperity and comfort of a great section of the country. The method and enforcement of this arbitration is a subject for the lawmakers of the nation, but arbitration itself is logical. Incorporation of all labor unions is the primary step toward the passage of an arbitration law. The unions must be responsible for the carrying out of an agreement, and until they are there is little hope for compulsory arbitration of labor troubles."

TROUBLE IN MOROCCO.

TANGIER, Jan. 3.—The pretender to the throne of Morocco has entered Fez. The situation is most serious. European officials refuse responsibility for registered mail. The Sultan's position is extremely critical. Ten thousand Jews, smarting under injustice and cruelty, support the pretender. A letter from the Sultan was read in the mosque acknowledging recent defeats and promising to punish the rebels soon.

For years the rule of the present Sultan of Morocco has been a stormy one. He is Muley Abdul Aziz and became sultan in 1894 on the death of Muley Hassan. Trying to make his rule an absolute one he has met with great opposition from the outlying tribes who have refused to pay in several instances the taxes which he has levied. Foreign governments have at times come down upon the Sultan heavily for damages as the result of Moors killing foreign residents of the country.

Three months ago three of the most powerful tribes of the Berber Kabyles rose in rebellion against the Sultan's rule. They raided caravans, committed many acts of pillage, and put the country around Tetuan, a seaport town about thirty-one miles southeast of Tangier, and well fortified, in a desperate condition. This rebellion was quieted down and was thought to have been suppressed but has broken out in a strong manner again under the leadership of a pretender, Omar Zarabuni, who declared himself to be a Mahdi and is said to be a thorough reformer.

The same tribes were in revolt seven years ago.

KING GEORGE DYING.

DRESDEN, Jan. 3.—King George of Saxony is dying. For some time reports have been current that the King had not long to live. He took to his bed last August because of heart trouble and this is thought to have been brought on through a serious disagreement he had with Emperor William. The Emperor pardoned a duellist who had killed his man. To show his displeasure at this action the Saxon King dismissed in disgrace five junior officers of the 139th regiment for engaging in duels. He also dismissed the colonel of the regiment. Then the Kaiser did some dismissing. He published in the official gazette the resignation of King George from the office of Inspector General of the Second Army Corps without consulting the latter. King George's chagrin at this action sent him to his bed and he has been in very poor health ever since. The elopement of his daughter has made him worse. The King is now seventy-one years of age.

SPAIN'S GOLD STANDARD.

MADRID, Jan. 3.—The Financial Minister has presented the Senate a financial scheme for the free coinage of gold with an absolute prohibition of silver.

GOVERNOR TAFT UPHELD.

MANILA, Jan. 3.—Solicitor General Araneta sustains Governor Taft's contention that he is not in a position to intervene regarding the possession of Roman Catholic property seized by the independent Catholics. The courts must settle the question. The incident will not affect the friar lands negotiations.

A LONE HIGHWAYMAN.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 3.—A lone highwayman held up the stage near Calistoga, Cal., this afternoon. Ten passengers were lined up on the road and robbed. The bandit then took the express box and fled. The amount secured is unknown.

A HEAVY STORM.

SEATTLE, Jan. 3.—Heavy rain and snow have tied up practically all the railways in the State. Tracks are washed out in all directions and train service between Seattle and Tacoma is suspended indefinitely. In many places the tracks are under eight feet of water. All rivers are out of their banks and many towns are flooded. Wires are down in all directions.

LATEST SUGAR PRICES.

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—Raw sugar, 3 7-8. No change from yesterday.

MINISTER GOING OUT.

PANAMA, Jan. 3.—General Perdomo, Minister of State, has left for Bogota to resign on his arrival.

THE COAL FAMINE.

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—Owing to the great shortage of coal in many of the Eastern states, there is great suffering among the poor. The weather recently has been intensely cold and the suffering in many places has been intense.

The deplorable condition will be augmented by the closing of some of the largest manufactories throwing thousands of employes out of work temporarily. The financial loss to the manufacturers for having to shut down on account of this coal shortage will be immense.

AN EDITOR'S SENTENCE.

MANILA, Jan. 3.—Manual Rango, editor of Libertos, has been sentenced to six months at hard labor and a fine of $2,000 for libeling General Bell.

CHINA THREATENED.

PEKING, Jan. 3.—The signatories of the Chinese peace protocol, except America, have decided to notify China that her failure to fulfill her obligations for a gold payment will entail grave consequences.

MEXICAN SILVER.

SHANGHAI, Jan. 3.—Mexican dollars are still falling. They are now at 38 and 39.

COLORADO POLITICS.

DENVER, Jan. 3.—The Denver Journal says there will be contests filed with the Secretary of State against every Democratic member of the House and Senate on the ground of fraud, miscount and intimidation.

IN GREATER NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—New York assessments show an increase of a billion and a half in real estate values for the year.

THE CANAL TREATY.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—The canal negotiations are progressing satisfactorily. The treaty will be signed soon.

A large Chinese and Japanese mail as the people of those two countries resident in Hawaii are just now sending out their New Year's greetings to their friends and relatives in the Far East.

William McClure, the aged chief engineer of the vessel, recently celebrated his seventieth birthday but still stands by his work in her engine room and says that he will continue in the job for many years to come.

She had a fine weather trip from San Francisco to this port.

The O. and O. liner Coptic won the Christmas race to San Francisco. The steamers Coptic, Zealandia, Moana and Nevada all left this port carrying Christmas mail to the Coast. The Coptic reached San Francisco on Dec. 24th after a passage of five days, sixteen hours and fourteen minutes. The Moana reached Victoria on Christmas day, and, although she did not pass quarantine that night, the Zealandia arrived on Christmas eve. The Nevada took seven days and eight hours to make the voyage and the San Francisco newspapers say that she is to go on the dry dock to see what damage she sustained through going on the reef here.

Orders were received yesterday by the Postoffice to add one new carrier to the Waikiki part of town. This gives the free delivery service a complement of ten carriers and one collector. The new route has not been mapped out, as considerable study will have to be given to the requirements of the district before establishing the route permanently.

The steamer Kinau made a fine weather trip from Hilo and arrived in port about noon yesterday. She brought seventy-two hides, twenty-two hogs, one horse and 174 packages sundries.

The German bark Werra arrived at Portland Dec. 19.

The bark Amy Turner sailed from San Francisco for Hilo Dec. 27.

The Zealandia is expected to arrive from San Francisco tomorrow.

The barkentine W. H. Dimond left San Francisco for here Dec. 20.

The Rhoderick Dhu, Engalls, from Hilo has reached San Francisco.

The barkentine Aurora left Newcastle Christmas with coal for this port.

The schooner Alice Kimball left Gray's Harbor for Kahului Dec. 21.

The Coronado reached San Francisco on Dec. 27, twenty days out from here.

The Marion Chilcot sailed from Alcatraz Dec. 21 with fuel oil for Honolulu.

The Planters line has reduced freight rates from $3.50 to $3 a ton from San Francisco to Hilo.

Hackfeld & Co. were advised by telegraph yesterday of the sailing of the Coptic from San Francisco.

The Tampico left Tacoma for Honolulu on Dec. 23, put into Portland with leaky boilers but got away finally on Dec. 26.

Capt. Harry Flint of the waterfront police saved a sailor from the Star of Bengal from drowning Friday night. The man fell off the dock and a Japanese would be rescuer met the same fate and both were pulled out by the policeman.

The news that Rev. J. A. Cruzan had withdrawn from the Congregational Church and will associate himself with the Unitarians will not surprise the members of the congregation of the Hilo Foreign Church. During the latter part of his sojourn here the doctrines preached by him were not in strict accordance with the teachings of the Bible. He seemed to be gradually drifting toward Unitarianism and he has finally reached a harbor wherein he may find shelter for a long period.—Hawaii Herald.

NEWS OF THE WATERFRONT

KOREA'S SAILING DREW LARGE CROWD

Queen of the Pacific Got Away for San Francisco Yesterday.

"O, yes, as long as the Korea runs to this port we will have plenty of holidays. You know it seems to me that we have a holiday for the departure of this boat each time. It's such a fine vessel that the town does not get tired seeing it."

Such was the remark of one of the many people who clambered over the Korea shortly before her departure for San Francisco yesterday. The wharf was crowded and the gangplank of the vessel bore a constant stream of people who were going aboard and hustling off again. The Territorial band played on the ship itself and later on the wharf.

The Korea sailed shortly after three o'clock and performed a new wrinkle in getting out of the harbor. Her stern was towards the Waikiki end of the Pacific Mail wharf. When ready to depart her stern lines were kept tight and the tug Fearless hauled her bow around towards the channel. The big vessel reached almost from the Pacific Mail wharf to Young Bros. Island. As she was swung around, her stern was backed into the Navy dock and when she was finally pointed right she sailed out the channel in shipshape. She was well handled and there was scarcely any difficulty in her leaving the wharf for sea.

The steamer took away a large number of people, considering the dull season of the year for travelling. Some of the cable men, Mr. Moore, the Associated Press representative who accompanied the Silvertown during the laying of the cable, and others brought a large number of friends to the wharf. Commissioner W. H. Eustis also had many friends to bid him aloha. Cheers were given for the vessel and those on board of her as she swung away from the wharf and in reply Commissioner Eustis called: "Three cheers for Honolulu," and these were given with a vim by those on the large steamer.

CITY OF PEKING IS AGAIN IN PORT

But Leaves at Nine O'clock This Morning for the Orient.

The good old liner City of Peking is back in port again after a long absence caused by a broken shaft laying her up in Japan but unfortunately she is berthed down at the Channel wharf where many people do not have an easy opportunity of seeing her. She arrived yesterday morning from San Francisco and is to sail at nine o'clock this morning for the Orient. Captain Robinson, formerly of the Peru, is in command of her. The chances are, though, that the City of Peking will not make more than one run to the Orient and return as the new steamship Siberia is to take her place in February, and she will then go to the Panama run.

The vessel brought a heavy eight days' mail from San Francisco and on her departure for the Orient will take
