Afternoon Cablegrams of the Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—Senator Carmack, of Tennessee, in a vigorous address in the Senate today in support of the Rawlins resolution, asking the Secretary of War to furnish the Senate with a copy of all information concerning the murder of Father Augustine in the Philippines, arraigned the American army. He declared that many army officers guilty of grave crimes during the Philippine war had been whitewashed and that no punishment had been made for the atrocities committed.

Father Augustine was an important leader of the insurrectionary body in the island of Panay, acting as treasurer and collector of funds for the revolutionists. He was arrested and delivered as a prisoner to Captain Brownell, an officer of Volunteers. Captain Brownell is alleged to have applied the "water-cure" to the reverend father in order to make him divulge information concerning the rebels. The priest refused to give any information and under the torture of the "water cure" died. Captain Brownell did not report the death of his prisoner to his superior officers. The Anti-Imperialist Committee of Boston has been responsible in bringing the matter to the attention of Congress.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 9.—Minister Bowen approves the British protocol for settling the Venezuelan affair, but the German proposal is not satisfactory and has been referred back to Berlin. There is very marked difference between the British and German drafts.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 9.—The Court of Appeals handed down a decision today sustaining the territorial contentions in the Hawaii Income Tax case. Judge Estee's ruling on the points on which the matter was brought before the court is upheld.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 9.—The San Francisco Board of Health has issued a statement declaring that there has been no plague in the city for sixty days.

MONEY UNABLE TO SAVE CRUEL MURDERER YOUNG

MURDERER YOUNG.

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—The jury trying William Hooper Young for the murder of Mrs. Anna Pulitzer has returned a verdict of murder in the second degree. Young was sentenced to life imprisonment. The Young case has been one of the most sensational trials ever held in this city. His father, a prominent Mormon, has believed in his son's innocence, and supplied the ablest counsel for his defense.

William Hooper Young is a grandson of Brigham Young. His crime was one of the most sensational committed in New York in many years. Young cruelly murdered Mrs. Anna Neilson Pulitzer in his father's apartments at a time when the latter was absent in Europe. Her body was horribly mutilated and wrapping it in a suit of his clothes he packed it in a trunk and later deposited the trunk and its gruesome contents in the Morris canal.

John T. Young, his father, would not believe in his son's guilt, although son and father had been estranged for years and the father did not know that his son was occupying his apartments during his own absence in Europe. The father has spent a mint of money in William Young's defense. The murderer was not a member of the Mormon church. His father stated immediately after the crime was committed: "We have been estranged for fifteen years. I helped him frequently through my other son, but have not seen him owing to his waywardness and vicious habits, to which his failings are due."

The Sultan of Turkey, who is being hard pressed by Russia and Austria and now denies that he has been mobilizing his army preparatory to war.

HILO'S BORGIA IS FOUND GUILTY OF MANSLAUGHTER

Mrs. Andrews Gets a First Degree Verdict Against Her for the Murder of Her Husband.

(Wireless Telegram to the Advertiser.)

HILO, Feb. 9.—Mrs. Andrews was convicted today of manslaughter in the first degree. The jury was out three hours.

HERALD.

Mrs. Andrews poisoned her husband, Captain Robert Andrews, early in November. The crime was the result of domestic trouble that had torn the Andrews' household for some time. The night before the tragedy Mr. Andrews and his wife had violent scenes. Mrs. Andrews was beside herself with rage and procuring a revolver she hunted up Andrews in the Waiakea saloon. A policeman was called and the revolver taken from her and given to Mr. Andrews who locked it in his safe. Mr. Andrews did not sleep at home that night and when he came home for breakfast his wife was in an unusually angry and jealous mood. When the Japanese woman was serving the breakfast, Mrs. Andrews called her back to the kitchen. She obeyed, taking with her a cup of coffee. Mrs. Andrews put something in the cup and it was taken back to the table. Mr. Andrews noticed a peculiar taste and suspected that his wife had tried to poison him, having words with her on the subject. Finishing his meal before 6 o'clock Mr. Andrews went to his work superintending the discharge of the St. Katherine's cargo. He soon felt the effects of the deadly poison and in spite of the first pains and spasms, managed to reach the hospital and summon medical aid. Before the doctors arrived the fatal spasms had set in, resulting in his speedy death.

HAWAII'S ESCAPED CONVICTS RECAPTURED BY THE POLICE

OUTBREAK OF WAR AMONG CENTRAL AMERICAN STATES

Honduras, Salvador and Guatemala Turn to the Last Resort of Nations.

The Causes of the Trouble Are Obscure---The Warring Republics Can Recruit a Con- siderable Force of Fighting Men.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLEGRAMS)

LONDON, Feb. 9.—A dispatch to the Daily Mail states that war has been declared between Guatemala and Salvador and Honduras.

Honduras and Salvador have been undergoing small revolutions during the past few weeks. The new president of Honduras had to organize a revolution in order to gain his office from the last incumbent.

There has been trouble between the republics since the Republica Major de Central America, which comprised Honduras, Salvador, and Nicaragua, broke up in 1898.

A dispatch from Panama on Jan. 20 stated that Generals Louisa Varino and Manuel Rivas had organized a force on the frontier of Guatemala and had started a revolution in Salvador but just what connection this has with the present outbreak of hostilities is not stated in the cable message.

The President-Dictator of Salvador, General Thomas Reglado, left his capital early in January with a strong force to put down this row.

Salvador and Guatemala combined can put an effective force of about 60,000 men in the field, while Honduras has a regular army of less than 1,000 men and less than 30,000 men in her militia.

KONA-KAU RAILROAD IS SOLD

Jacob Coerper No Longer Is a Factor.

Disposes of Holdings to Wilson and Quits.

Construction Company Will Put Down Road With Money From San Francisco.

By an agreement reached yesterday afternoon the Kona-Kau railroad company passed from the control of Jacob Coerper and his associates into the hands of President Wilson, of the contracting firm of Wilson, Lyons & Company of San Francisco. With the railroad concerns there went also all the affiliated interests, including the holdings of Coerper in the Kona Sugar Company and the law suits in which his name has been used.

The intention of the new owner of the franchise and the rights of way, the terminal facilities and other valuables including surveys and maps, is to proceed to San Francisco as soon as the company is fully reorganized, and there incorporate a construction company which will build the road, taking over all the securities which now come into Mr. Wilson's hands, and through it secure the money necessary for the work which will fill in the coming two years for the men in control.

Of the stock of the Kona-Kau railroad $2,720,000 passes into the name of the new owner. Of the original issue of $3,000,000, $280,000 worth has been used in the promotion and preliminary expenses. Of the proceeds of this much has gone to advertise the Kona district and again considerable amounts for the securing of the valuable services of men who will have a considerable time to wait until there is any trackage for them to assume control of in their services for the company. Mr. Coerper has been indefatigable in his work of making known the advantages of the Kona district and extensive advertisements have been made in the East of the values of the farming lands to be had there.

It is understood that the consideration exceeds $300,000 in various forms and that the transfer is absolute, so that Mr. Coerper ceases with the signing of the contract, to have any connection whatever with the railroad line or any of the affiliated industries.

Mr. Wilson said last evening that he had no doubt at all as to the future, as he knew that the funds for the construction of the line were to be had in San Francisco and that he would be able to organize the construction company once he placed the proposition before his friends. As to the time of the commencement of the work of actual construction, he said it might be within ninety days, though he would not set any date at all. The matter of labor, he said, would not embarrass the company, as there are at least 1,000 men in Kona who would be glad to work on the road, and probably as many more here in Honolulu who would go out of town for this kind of work, but who would not go to a plantation.

As to the reorganization of the company the men who are to fill the directorate have not been consulted, and there is nothing known as to the make up of the board, though it is understood that Gardner K. Wilder, who has been identified with the enterprise for so long, may continue in the executive branch.

Mr. Wilson said that he could not consider as yet the future of the Kona plantation as it was in litigation and what might become of the estate was a matter of pure conjecture.

A Play Given Every Ten Years.

The village of Ober-Ammergau, the place where the Passion play is enacted every ten years, is beautifully situated in the Bavarian Alps, near the Austrian line. Its inhabitants, who are mostly of the peasant class and who earn their livelihood chiefly in carrying wood, number altogether about 1400 souls, 700 of whom take part in the play and those who do not perform live in hope that some time during their lives they may be permitted to do so. Pictures of the actors and scenes from the play will be shown next Friday evening in the Opera House.

INDICTED KIDNAPPERS

Both Chiltons to Go Before a Jury.

The Criminal Calendar Is Well-Nigh Cleared.

Portuguese Who Assaulted Deaf Mute Given Three Months.

The grand jury made a partial report to Judge De Bolt yesterday morning, returning fourteen indictments. The trial of one of the cases, that of Roger James, charged with burglary in the second degree, was commenced immediately, so nearly at a close is the work of the old criminal calendar.

Among the fourteen indictments were two against Harry B. Chilton and Charles B. Chilton, respectively. The first is charged with child stealing, and his father is indicted on a charge of harboring a stolen child. Chilton is the youth who is said to have kept fourteen-year-old Margaret Place locked up in a cellar under his father's house for over a week. The younger Chilton was arraigned in court yesterday morning, but reserved his plea. His father had not been arrested in time for arraignment yesterday.

BOND OF SOLDIERS RAISED.

A. Bales, H. O. Carlton, and T. Walton were indicted jointly on the charge of burglarizing Chief Justice Frear's House on Tantalus. One of the men is out on bail, and the other two were arraigned before Judge De Bolt yesterday afternoon, still arrayed in the Uniform of the United States artilleryman. Carlton is out on bail of $150, fixed by the lower court, and Attorney Thompson asked that the bail for the other two defendants be placed at the same amount. Judge De Bolt said that he would not consent to a bond for that small amount, as the men were liable to an imprisonment for twenty years if convicted. He fixed the bond at $500, and stated that this was very reasonable.

OTHER INDICTMENTS.

Roger James was indicted for burglary in the second degree, having entered a Jap's house and stolen various property therefrom, according to the indictment. The trial of the case was started immediately, but was continued, owing to the absence of witnesses, and the jury was discharged.

Tin Soon was indicted for the theft of a graphophone and music from the Boys' Brigade School.

J. Bollis is indicted for assault with a dangerous weapon upon Deputy Sheriff Chillingworth. Stocki is also alleged to have committed an assault with a weapon.

The remaining indictments are for larceny in the second degree, in each case a horse and mule having been stolen. The defendants are E. Marks, A. Fernandez, I. Graga, H. C. Blanche, and Frank Caldero.

HONDA GUILTY OF SWEARING.

Honda was found guilty of profanity by a jury yesterday, and sentenced by Judge De Bolt to thirty days in prison. His attorney, S. F. Chillingworth, moved for a non-suit on the ground that there was no sworn complaint, but it was shown that there had been one and the motion was denied.

Honda was fined by Judge Wilcox recently for abusing a Japanese woman, and after he had paid the fine repeated the operation. Attorney General Andrews stated that the defendant had no respect for the courts, and asked that he be sent to prison. The court sentenced the defendant to prison for thirty days, which was the punishment imposed by Judge Wilcox.

THREE MONTHS FOR BRUTE.

A. Benovitz was found guilty of assault and battery upon a deaf and dumb boy by a jury yesterday, and Judge De Bolt sentenced him to prison for three months. The defendant is alleged to have hung the helpless boy with a rope around the neck until he fainted. The prosecuting witness was in court, but there being no interpreter acquainted with the sign language he could not testify.

COURT NOTES.

A nolle prosequi was entered in the case of M. Souza, charged with assault and battery.

A nolle prosequi was also entered in the case of J. K. Mokumara, charged with assault and battery. Sentence was suspended in the case of C. Ahi, who pleaded guilty to selling liquor without a license.

SLOGGETT FOR CHINA

Will Take Place There of Two Officials.

McCoy and Murray Are Superseded by Board.

Oriental Life Insurance Co. Makes Changes in Offices and a New Deal in Its Affairs.

Dr. Henry C. Sloggett, formerly President of the Board of Health, has been chosen as medical director and manager for the Orient, of the Oriental Life Insurance Company, and will, within a short time, leave for the scene of his future labors in Shanghai. In the post of medical director Dr. Sloggett will supersede Dr. H. V. Murray, and as manager he will take the place which has heretofore been held by J. P. McCoy, who exploited the corporation and was its first president.

And in the changes there is said to lie a tale of a good thing gone wrong, a young man who will have to work harder in the future, and a company which has taken on a new form of activity. Mr. McCoy will be a solicitor for the Oriental Company when he returns from his honeymoon trip in the States, which he is now enjoying, and as he proved his capacity for such work before he organized the company of local capitalists, the men who have made the corporation possible here look for even greater results than they have thus far enjoyed.

The company is not yet in its second year of existence but it has made a good start in its work. When it was organized there was set aside a large block of its shares which were to be the bonus of the organizer, and the plans along which he moved were of the most extravagant. He had succeeded in interesting some of the best known capitalists both Hawaiian and Chinese here, and he went to work in good earnest and the preliminaries were arranged with dispatch. The Board of local folk, for the corporation, is under the laws of this Territory and therefore must have its habitat within the boundaries, launched the concern finely and with this office going well President McCoy and Medical Director Murray sought the Chinese field, where the greatest lines were to be written.

But the work was not of the quality that was expected. There were delays in getting to full speed and expenses were of the highest. The offices of the corporation were of the best, the idea of the manager was to make an impression and it was done, but business was not as brisk as it has been figured out, and there were inquiries. It was found that the expenditures were entirely out of proportion to the income. The company was represented as would be one with years of policy writing behind it and a reserve of millions. Then it was decided that there should be a change and it was brought about. W. R. Castle was chosen president and after investigation it was decided further that Dr. Sloggett should be sent out to have charge of the medical directorship and the management as well, and the erstwhile president was induced to become one of the solicitors of the corporation. This involved the alteration of the original contracts for exploitation and the business of the concern was at once put on a sound basis and its stock made to represent capital in the business, without bonuses of moment.

With the changed conditions in China it is reported that there will be opportunities for work which have been unequalled anywhere and the activities of the concern will be concentrated there. By and by there may be a general manager added to the staff, but for the present there will be only a working force, with Dr. Sloggett representing both offices which have been vacated by action of the board.

HOW TO STOP A COUGH.

A simple but effective remedy is the following:

Breathing through the nostrils, inhale a full breath as slowly as is possible without causing fatigue. Expel the breath in the same manner, and repeat the operation ten times. This will stop the coughing for about a quarter of an hour. Take a dose of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy during this lull and the medicine will have a better opportunity to act and will speedily effect a complete cure. It always cures and cures quickly. Benson, Smith & Co., Ltd., wholesale agents, sell it.

SWEAT BAND FOR NOOSE

Porto Rican Tries to Strangle Himself.

Threatening to shoot the judge, crying for some one to put a bullet into himself, and bawling like a baby, a Porto Rican vagrant, known as Fauto among his countrymen, was taken from the police court room yesterday and placed amongst other offenders against law in the jail yard. As the Porto Rican, hardly more than 19 years of age, passed through the cell corridor, he surreptitiously tore the sweat-band out of his felt hat and when he thought he was alone put it about his neck and endeavored to choke the breath out of his body. The attempt was unsuccessful, and as a result handcuffs were clapped upon his wrists and he spent the remainder of the afternoon in the jail yard, alternately crying and cursing.

It was a bad day for Porto Rican vagrants in Judge Wilcox's court. Every one who appeared before the magistrate received a stiff sentence of six months at hard labor in Oahu prison. The sentence struck terror in the Porto Rican spectators in the court room, and the probabilities are that in the next few days the Kakaako loafers will make a show of getting some work to do. Each one has been in prison before, either for vagrancy or stealing, or both.

Fauto, Santiago and Jacinto Selch had no attorney, and there was little need for one. Deputy Sheriff Chillingworth testified to having arrested the defendants in Kakaako, after having had men on the watch of their movements for nearly two weeks. During that time none of the Porto Ricans had done a stroke of work. One made a show of being employed by carrying a bootblack's box around with him.

It was shown in court that there is a sort of padrone system employed in Kakaako among the loafing Porto Ricans. One Antonio, who conducts a cheap restaurant in the purlieus of Kakaako, supplies them with crude bootblack boxes, brushes, and blacking or polish, and sends them out to work; at least the "bootblacks" say so. More than a score of Porto Ricans, able bodied enough to do plantation work, are thus supplied with bootblack outfits, and when arrested invariably advance the plea that they are trying to earn a living by polishing shoes, and refer the police to Antonio. Antonio sat in the court room yesterday and smiled acquiescence to the statements made by two of the Porto Ricans that they were in his employ. Judge Wilcox took no stock in these statements, and paid his respects to Antonio in brusque language. He stated that carrying a bootblack's box around the streets did not signify that they were earning a living, and he doubted that any tried to make money in this way.

"You fellows have got to get work," said he, "honest work. If the police find you are not trying to get it, the court can supply it for you; hard labor, too. I find you all guilty, and sentence you to six months' imprisonment at hard labor."

Jacinto Selch had endeavored to procure $10 from the wife of Ah On, the cure $10 from the wife of Ah On, the Chinese police officer. Ah On stated in court that the man came to his house with two others and demanded $10, which was refused, and when the man became too persistent he put him under arrest. The deputy sheriff stated that the matter was a peculiar one. Some months ago Ah On found the Porto Rican lying in a street, with a half starved baby clinging to him. He got the man up and took the child to his home. Later, he offered to adopt the baby, to which the father consented, and adoption papers were made out and the transaction sealed in Judge Humphreys' court. The father was given assistance by Ah On. Recently the father became importunate, and demanded the child back. Not getting the baby, he has demanded money, which Ah On has refused to give.

During the trial, the Deputy Sheriff asked Selch if he had not stolen two watches since leaving prison and given one to a Porto Rican named Pacheco. Selch denied this, but the Deputy Sheriff sent an officer to find Pacheco. He was found and they demanded the watch. Pacheco denied having a time-piece, but was put under arrest and booked for investigation. While en route to the police station Pacheco endeavored to get rid of a watch which tallied with a stolen one, the description of which was in the possession of the Deputy Sheriff. Pacheco will answer to the court this morning.

When the sentences were finally given by Judge Wilcox, Fauto broke out in a wild denunciation of the judge and the police, alternately threatening to kill the judge, a police spy named Joe, and then asked the judge to shoot him. The fellow became so enraged that he was sent down below at once, where he made the effort to strangle himself.

PROPERTY IN TRUST

The will of the late Margaret V. Carter was offered for probate yesterday by Jessie K. Kaae. Property to the value of $22,000, encumbered by a mortgage for $8,000, is bequeathed by the will, though the heirs mentioned in the will will enjoy only a life interest in the estate.

John C. Lane and Junius Kaae are named as trustees to control the property, which is to continue until the death of the last of her children, then to be divided among the surviving grandchildren.

All the personal property of the deceased is left to the children, the jewelry to be divided among the three daughters. A house and lot at Makao is given to Jessie K. Kaae in trust for her husband, Dr. A. B. Carter, and for each of her children who may care to reside there. Upon the death of the last of her eight children this is also to go into the general trust fund.

The heirs are to enjoy the income of the property during their lifetime. One third of the income goes to the husband, the remaining two-thirds to be used for the support of the children. If any of the children desire a home-stead for themselves, they are allowed to take a house lot not exceeding a quarter of an acre, and located at Makao, to be rent free to such child, but not to be sold.

It is further provided in the will that all real estate held by her outside of the Territory be sold immediately, the proceeds to be divided between her husband and children. This property is said to be located either in Easton, Pa., or Yonkers, N. Y. The property is to remain in trust until the death of her last surviving child, and as the oldest of the eight is but 14 and the youngest only 3 years of age, the trust is likely to continue for a good many years.

Ten Years Ago Today.

Ten years ago this morning the first steamer to arrive from San Francisco after the news of the Hawaiian revolution had reached the Coast came into the harbor. She was the Mariposa, Captain Hayward. Among the returning kamaainas were F. M. Hatch and Miss Pauahi Judd. George Lycurgus was a passenger, and there were a number of tourists and newspaper writers. Among the latter were Sam Chamberlain of the Examiner, now managing editor of the New York Journal; William Naughton of the same paper, who now looks after sports in all the Hearst dailies; Miss Adaline Knapp of the Call; C. E. Washburn of the Associated Press, and now of the Los Angeles Times, and W. G. Smith, representing the San Francisco Chronicle, New York Tribune, Chicago Tribune, Cincinnati Commercial and St. Louis Globe-Democrat. On that day both the Belgic and an Australian steamer of the Spreckels' line left for San Francisco.

HERE'S WHAT'S WANTED

A Citizen of Honolulu Supplies the Information.

Over half the complaints of mankind originate with the kidneys. A slight touch of backache at first. Twinges and shooting pains in the loins follow. They must be checked, they lead to graver complications. The sufferer seeks relief. Plasters are tried and liniments for the back. So-called kidney cures which do not cure. The long looked for result seems unattainable.

If you suffer, do you want relief? Follow the plan adopted by this gentleman. Mr. S. Hanoland, of this city, is a Custom House guard. He writes: "Having been afflicted with an aching back for some time, I procured a supply of Doan's Backache Kidney Pills at Hollister & Co.'s store, and used them. The results were most satisfactory and I know that the pills are a valuable medicine for kidney complaints and especially for a lame back." Doan's Backache Kidney Pills are sold by all druggists and storekeepers at 50 cents per box (six boxes $2.50) or will be mailed on receipt of price by the Hollister Drug Co., Ltd., Honolulu, wholesale agents for the Hawaiian Islands. Remember the name Doan's and take no substitute.

FARMS AND THEIR PESTS.

The everyday criticism of small farming in Hawaii is that, while the land yields well and market prices are high, it does not pay to fight destructive bugs and insects. Precisely the same thing was said of pioneer farming on the mainland. The early New Englander had a hard time battling with the marauders of the air and forest. When he planted corn, myriads of crows descended upon the tender young shoots by day and the deer came to feed by night. The wheat suffered from the wild goose, wild turkey and the weevil. As the remnant of the crops matured, the ripening corn became the prey of coons and squirrels as well as larger quadrupeds and a great variety of birds assailed the tassels of the wheat. Fruit and vegetables were fair game for a host of feathered and four-footed thieves and insect depredators, from robins and jays to rabbits and grasshoppers. Even chicken raising was no pastime, with hawks circling above the fowls by day and foxes and wild cats prowling by night. Getting a living was an everlasting fight in pioneer days; but the time came when, by the SETTLEMENT OF THE COUNTRY, some of the pests disappeared and the rest became easy to keep down.

That is the keynote of the fight against agricultural pests everywhere—the settlement of the country. Today a man goes out into the middle of a thousand acres of wild land and plants a little garden. At once the pests of the jungle rally on the fresh vegetables and the farmer fights against odds. But let a few score more farmers come in, cultivating the whole thousand acres and each tract has no more destructive insects than its owner can handle. Observe the Chinese market-gardeners whose vegetable farms are within city limits or in long settled suburbs. Don't they succeed? Don't they manage to feed themselves and the town besides? There is no necromancy about it all; it is simply the result of good judgment in picking out a place to cultivate and industry in pushing the work. What the Chinamen do in these respects is possible for the superior Caucasian. In any part of the islands white farmers, if they cultivate a large enough contiguous area, can handle the pest question as easily as they do in Ohio or California or Mississippi.

But destructive insects attack, in the main, the growths of staple or general agriculture, which are not the crops we recommend to the white producers of Hawaii. The farmer here must not expect to get rich in growing the things of which California yields an overplus. If he does he will have nothing to export; and in the home market he will meet the rivalry of Asiatics. His great opportunity lies in special agriculture, the pests to threaten which either have not developed or are easily controlled. Let him avoid wheat, corn and garden truck, except for his own private use, and either go into dairy products, for which the whole country is adapted or the raising of sisal, pineapples, tobacco, peanuts, bananas, poultry, small fruits, vanilla beans, etc. In these pursuits the pests count for little and the profits for much. They are the ones to which the small farmer should be invited and the way prepared for him.

It is to be hoped, now that the Territorial Agricultural bureau has got an invoice of tobacco seeds that ranchers will give them a fair trial. Tobacco grown under canvas is making Connecticut farmers rich and the process might be used to advantage here. Mr. Wray Taylor not only has seeds to give away but will furnish directions for planting them. On the surface of things there would seem to be no reason in soil or climate—there is certainly none in latitude—why the tobacco of Cuba could not be equalled in Hawaii. Who knows but that, in course of time, the Honolulu cigar will be as famous as that of Havana or Manila?

If Bulgaria invades Turkey without Russia's help there will hardly be a Greece spot left of her. The Turk may be a sick man, but that is when he is not fighting. A cannon shot turns him into a warrior who needs several huskier men than the average Bulgarian to hold him down.

Another war in Central America has occurred to vex trade, commerce and international relations. If Mexico would step in and annex these little red-pepper republics it would be a good thing for all concerned. They have no business being at large with firearms.

When Tyndall, the mind reader, comes he might be put on the track of the men who read the Wright I O U's and know what became of them.

The San Francisco Board of Health is candid in one thing. It always admits that there was plague in the city some time ago.

The only way to get out of paying a big income tax under the present law is to reduce your income.

If the President calls an extra session for March 5th, Prince Kuhio will have to make an early start.

There is something pathetic in the appearance of Queen Liliuokalani as a waiting claimant before Congress. To those who know Washington and the ways of the Federal Legislature the utter hopelessness of her quest is plain. The United States is notoriously a poor debtor to those who have no absolute legal grip upon its bounty, save in cases where domestic politics or international treaties support the claim and recommend the claimant. Uncle Sam will pension his soldiers and pay indemnity to foreigners whose governments make out a case, but his own private creditors die of old age without getting a penny. The story of the McGarrahan claim and of sundry others is one which Queen Liliuokalani might study with profit as showing that a just debt does not always ensure collection. To see the play called "The Senator," which is based upon the unhappy career of the McGarrahan claimant, would be a liberal education for her in the inner workings of the appropriations committee.

This is the fourth or fifth year in which Liliuokalani has besieged Congress for indemnity. Perhaps it is the sixth; we are not sure of a year more or less. She began there by taking up her residence at a hotel; later she had a house, or at least sumptuous apartments where she kept a little court in which the unforgettable Julius Palmer figured as First Gentleman. Now she is in a flat. Senators go to see her out of curiosity, say smooth nothings about her claim and pass on to the next curio. Session after session has waxed and waned and nothing has been done for the former sovereign. But hope springs eternal in the human breast and something always happens to convince Liliuokalani that her chance will come next time. Of late years she has been the prey of lobbyists and shysters who were ready to encourage the poor woman for a fee. She is in such hands now; and without knowing it she has armed her enemies with an invincible weapon against her. Congress, which lets just claims go by default, often wishes it had a plausible excuse. None answers that purpose better than the assertion that the claimant has agreed to divide whatever Congress gives with contingent-fee lawyers and lobbyists.

It is true that the Senatorial sub-committee which visited Hawaii last summer recommended that something be done for Liliuokalani but every righteous claimant before Congress whose bill remains unsettled has had the same experience, many of them more than once. It is one thing and a comparatively easy one, to get a favorable word from a sub-committee; it is quite another to pass the chairman of the appropriations committee, the speaker and the professional watchdogs of the Treasury on the floor. But for the course of the President, in making mention of the matter in his message, even the fire claims bill would have had a second defeat. The good words of the Mitchell commission for the former Queen of Hawaii will go with very little force to the minds of men whose business in Congress is to keep appropriations down. Mitchell and his colleagues admit that Liliuokalani has no legal claim upon Federal bounty. They say that her claim must rest solely upon "considerations of national grace, public and private justice, political policy and fair, equitable dealing." If the argument of political policy could be made to stand, all might be well; but every practical man at Washington knows that it does not make an iota of difference to the national party how elections go in Hawaii. As for sentimental reasons they are never able to impress the watchdogs. It sometimes takes a good while to get the widow of a President or a great General on the pension list, so what of a long dethroned dusky Queen of a distant insular possession whose friends do not cast a single vote in national elections?

From the beginning the Queen has had the worst of political advisers. Those she uses here, who are well-meaning, have no knowledge of practical American politics and legislation; those who are not sincere are out after fees. In Washington, as we say, the Queen is the victim of lobbyists. Meanwhile she is incurring a great expense. Before long if she does not stop looking for the pot of gold at the end of a rainbow she will find herself compelled to borrow more money. It is a pitiable outlook for the old lady, who ought to be at home, living within her means and accepting fate with fortitude. She is on the Territorial pension list and she will be wise if she satisfies herself with the good the gods provide and ceases to yearn for the unattainable.

EXTENSION OF QUEEN STREET

The Executive Council at its meeting yesterday morning approved of a plan for the extension of Queen street over a new route. This will be on the line of the present Queen street extension, on through to the Iwilei road. It was the intention formerly to extend the road around the Hackfeld wharf but this plan was changed, and a new road will be built running along the wharf line.

Dr. McLaughlin's Electric Belt for Weak Men

I KNOW THAT NO MAN REMAINS A WEAKLING BECAUSE he wants to; I am sure that you want to overcome every indication of early decay that has shown itself on you. I don't think the man lives who would not like to feel as big and strong as a Sandow, and I know that if you have a reasonable foundation to build upon I can make you a bigger man than you ever hoped to be. I want you to know that, you who can't believe it, and I want you to have my book in which I describe how I learned that manly strength was only electricity and how I learned to restore it; also I want to tell you the names of some men who will tell you that when they came to me they were physical wrecks and are now among the finest specimens of physical manhood.

A HAPPY MAN

Dear Sir: Having used your famous electric belt for thirty days, I have received the greatest benefit that a man could gain—that is, health and strength. The tired, despondent feeling has gone. I feel the beginning of a new life, and am ever your debtor.

ISAAC NOAR IN TROUBLE

Receiver Fisher Wants to Get Out.

Says That Noar Won't Let Him Run the Star Block.

Two Rulings by Judge Robinson. Prince David Testifies—Hagey Case Again.

Will E. Fisher and Isaac Noar are still having troubles of their own. A few weeks ago Noar came into court and demanded a new bond from Fisher, as receiver of the "Star Block," alleging that he was allowing the property to go to waste, depreciating its value, and allowing it to remain in an insanitary condition.

Yesterday Fisher told his trouble to the court and also offered his resignation as receiver for the property. He charges Noar with all the things of which Noar previously accused him.

Fisher says in his report that, upon taking charge of the property, he found the premises in a "disorderly and unclean condition" and that he was ordered to clean up by the Board of Health. He now reports the property in a sanitary condition and repair.

Fisher further says that he requested from Noar a statement of rents due by the various tenants, but that Noar refused and still refuses to give it to him and that he was compelled to seek the information from each individual tenant at "considerable unnecessary trouble, annoyance and expense." Fisher says he increased the total monthly rental $98.50 and then says that "in spite of the admonition of this Honorable Court the said Isaac Noar has continuously abused, annoyed and vilified the said Will E. Fisher, and interfered with him in the discharge of his duties."

Fisher charges also that Noar caused certain pipes to be constructed which made the place insanitary, and says also that Noar collected rent from at least one of the tenants and refused to pay it to the receiver. He alleges further that Noar agreed to rent eleven rooms in the Star Block for $20 a month, but that he took possession of fourteen and refused to pay rents. By reason of these acts "and in view of the almost continual annoyances to which he has been subjected," Fisher asks leave to resign.

The matter is set for hearing before Judge Robinson on Wednesday morning.

PRINCE DAVID ON THE STAND.

Prince David was on the stand yesterday in the suit brought against him by John Bright for $850. David testified that the plaintiff was simply a retainer of the Dowager Kapolani, and that there had been no agreement as to any wages to be paid him. He was allowed the use of land for cultivation in the same manner as other retainers of Kapolani. The trial of the case will probably be finished today.

HAGEY CASE MUST WAIT.

Another attempt was made yesterday to have the Hagey gold cure case advanced on the calendar. Mr. Magoon objected to a trial at this time, saying that the presence of F. B. McStocker was required as a witness. He is manager at Oiaa plantation, and Mr. Magoon said that he could not be brought here at this time. Attorney Robertson who appeared for Harrison insisted on an early trial, saying that Harrison had come here from Vancouver for that purpose, and was entitled to a hearing. Mr. McClanahan who represented other defendants also objected to a trial, and Judge Robinson stated that the case would have to take its regular course. McClanahan offered to allow the case to go over until August, but the suggestion was not accepted by Harrison.

HEIRS WANT RENTS.

In the case of Lau Yin and Lau Fong vs. W. C. Achi, Judge Robinson rendered a decision in favor of the defendant. The plaintiffs were the administrators of an estate to which Achi was indebted for rents. The court held however that they could not bring suit for the amount due, but that the heirs at law must bring the action. He accordingly dismissed the complaint.

In the case of J. F. Colburn vs. John D. Holt, Jr., Judge Robinson gave the plaintiff leave to amend.

BREACH OF PROMISE SUIT.

Judge De Bolt yesterday ordered the case of Tomi Sayami vs. Bijui Komatso stricken from the calendar.

The suit was filed in July, 1900, and was for $7,000 damages for breach of promise of marriage.

LONGER LIVES.

We are told that the limit of human life in these days is "three scores years and ten," but if perchance, this period is extended there must be some good and potent explanation. It surely cannot be caused by neglect, as humanity after all its years of turbulent experience, has condemned neglect and carelessness. The law calls for careful lives; the merchant demands careful accountants and employees; the church recommends a careful deportment; the doctor knows that health is a result of care; the nation expects us all to be careful. Hence care is the great element that protects and prolongs life and property. Care means health. If you live in a location where contaminated air visits your lungs you cannot enjoy health. If your house is insanitary your health is endangered. Good plumbing promotes and protects health. Bath, the plumber, can save you expense and annoyance. Install a DOUGLAS PATENT CLOSET! BAR WILL PRINT BILLS

Consideration of Amendments Delayed.

Members Want Measures Before Them When Voting.

More Money for the Judges Advocated and a Committee Will Frame Laws.

When the Bar Association meets on Monday evening of next week, at 7:30 o'clock in the Castle & Cooke hall, it will be to consider the procedure and compilation measures reported at length from the printed bills. It was decided at the meeting of yesterday afternoon that these two bills should be put into type and 100 copies of each printed for distribution to the members of the association, so that the discussion might be intelligent and fully considered.

There were seventeen members of the association present when Executive Committeeman Robertson called the meeting to order, and General A. S. Hartwell was chosen temporary chairman. He then announced that the reports of the last meeting were on the table, and could be taken up on motion.

W. A. Kinney raised the point that he would be loath to see the association act on proposed laws when the same had not been printed, and therefore carefully considered, which could not be done on mere report. G. A. Davis presented the following:

"Be it Resolved, That a committee of three members of this association be appointed by this association to prepare an act providing for the payment by the Territory of Hawaii to the judges of the circuit court of the First and Fourth Judicial Circuits of this Territory of the sum of $1,000 per annum in addition to the salary now fixed by law, and to the circuit judges of the Second, Third, and Fifth Judicial Circuits the sum of $500 in addition to the salary now fixed by law. Also, be it further

"Resolved, That said committee shall present said act to the legislature at the coming session thereof, and in the name of this association urge the passage of said act."

Mr. Davis said that he had talked with members of the bar on the matter, and considered that a majority was in favor of such action. Judge Hartwell ruled that there was another matter before the session, and it could not be set aside without unanimous consent. Objection was made and the resolution went over.

Judge Dickey moved that the association proceed to the consideration of the bill providing for the compilation of the laws. Mr. Kinney said that as there were no copies before the members, he would move an amendment that the bills be printed and laid before the members, and then a meeting be held at the call of the secretary. Davis seconded the resolution, saying that the members wanted to know just what is being prepared as a matter of legislation.

Treasurer Hemenway and Secretary Case called attention to the debt of the association of $230, which should be paid before there be incurred any further indebtedness. The suggestion was made that the discussion proceed now, and that the printing be delayed until there had been oral discussion, and then printing if necessary.

Kinney insisted on his point that there should be careful consideration, which could be had only after printing. He said the association should not take any chance of moving in the wrong direction. He insisted upon his amendment. Judge Hartwell called attention to one bill, that bearing upon negotiable paper, which is the bill prepared by the American Bar Association, and has been adopted by seventeen states, saying that he did not think there could be any long consideration of that bill. There was a long discussion, which finally resolved itself into a vote on the amendment as prepared by Kinney, that the secretary have printed the bills this far recommended by the committees, that these be distributed, and the secretary after several days call another meeting. This motion carried with one dissenting voice, that of Judge Dickey. The size of the edition was fixed by motion at 100 copies.

G. A. Davis re-introduced his resolution for more money for judges, saying that $250 a month was not enough for a judge to maintain himself, and that a well paid judiciary was a necessity.

Mr. Thurston asked as to the propriety of adding to a judge's salary when he was a Federal authority. It was said that this custom was followed in New Mexico and Arizona. Mr. Kinney suggested that the Bar Association commit itself to the policy of increase and put it into the hands of a committee to take the best steps to secure increase.

A motion was then made that the matter be referred to a committee of three to investigate and report a bill if it is found constitutional, and the chair, on its passage, appointed Messrs. Davis, Kinney and Matthewman.

There was a long discussion on means and a motion of Davis that names of delinquent members be posted after one week in the court room was passed, and then reconsidered and in its stead the treasurer was authorized to employ a collector at the usual commission.

Mr. Weaver brought out the fact that there had been printed a full list of authorities on the Torrens land law, and called attention to it.

On motion of F. M. Brooks the next meeting will be held Monday evening next, at 7:30 o'clock, in the same hall.

The question of printing the Torrens land bill came up, but its size, 17,000 words, seemed to put a stop to that, and the meeting adjourned.

INJURED CHINESE TRIED TO WALK

A Chinaman with his left leg broken in two places, above the knee and above the ankle, attempted to walk from the place on Nuuanu street where he had been thrown from his wagon, to the police patrol wagon, and but for the police officers would have walked at least a few steps. Ah Sam was driving his wagon up Nuuanu street yesterday morning when the horse suddenly bolted. Ah Sam was pitched into the street, the fall fracturing his leg. The patrol wagon was called, and when close to him, Ah Sam arose and made as if to walk, but fell again. He was taken to the Queen's Hospital for treatment.

Rescued from Suffering and Death by

PAINE'S Celery Compound
 THE GREAT MEDICINE.

MR. ALFRED BROWN,
 A Prominent and Popular Citizen, Says:
 "After the Use of Paine's Celery Compound, I Am Now in the Best of Health."

The greatest of modern physicians, Prof. Edward E. Phelps, M. D., LL. D., after years of long practice and close scientific study, gave to suffering and diseased men and women his marvelous, life giving prescription, with the conviction and positive knowledge that it had peculiar virtues and ample powers to cure.

Thousands of the strongest testimonials from the best known and most reliable men and women of our country fully sustain the claims made by Dr. Phelps regarding his incomparable Paine's Celery Compound.

One of the most convincing proofs furnished, comes recently from a gentleman widely known in the capital city of the Dominion of Canada. We refer to Mr. Alfred Brown, 91 O'Connor St., Ottawa, Ont. Mr. Brown's letter fully demonstrates the fact that the greatest sufferer may cast off his or her burden of disease and become well, strong, and happy.

It proves, too, that the great medicine maintains more fully than ever before its unrivaled place in the estimation of people of wealth and social standing as well as with the masses. Mr. Brown says:—

"I was getting worse, and was told I was incurable. I was indeed in a critical condition. I could not go from the house alone, as I was liable to sudden collapse. I tried hospital treatment, but no relief or good results came to me. I could not sleep; anything that I ate increased my agonies; I was extremely weak, restless, tired, and despondent; was obliged to walk about with my hands pressed firmly into my left side to ease my pains; my feet and hands were cold continually; had inclination to vomit, had profuse, cold sweats, quick breathing, and would be racked with pain for hours at a time.

"After the regular use of Paine's Celery Compound for a time, I am now in the best of health, have good appetite, and can use any kind of food. Thank God I am my old self once more, all through the use of Paine's Celery Compound."

HISTORY OF TEMPERANCE IN THE HAWAIIAN ISLANDS

Early Efforts to Keep Down the Drink Evil Which Was Introduced Here by Botany Bay Convicts.

By Mrs. J. M. Whitney.

The history of a nation is often singularly like that of the individual. There are much the same temptations and conflicts and in the end stability and respect if the right is chosen and decay and death if evil is allowed to rule. To a nation emerging from the night of heathenism into the light of civilization this battle must be especially severe. The prince of darkness is sure to contest his rule to the last, and bring forth all the agencies, human and satanic, which his resources yield, against the advance of the King of Righteousness.

Of all the agencies which Satan ever devised to enslave the souls of men, and keep both individuals and nations from rising into light and liberty, none has ever been more potent than the love of strong drink. It blunts the conscience; it benumbs the intellect; it deadens the affections; it weakens the will; it destroys the soul and body together. It is not strange then, that when the enemy of all righteousness found that this Hawaiian nation had resolved to turn and serve the living God, that the devil sent his own rum and whisky and gin in here as the surest antidote to all that is good.

It may be helpful to us who are trying to combat this deadly evil in our day, to trace its career from the earliest history of the Hawaiian people, and observe what a powerful spirit of evil it has ever been, and how the early kings and chiefs recognized this fact, and used their utmost efforts to combat the evil, assisted by missionary influence, in spite of the opposition of a large part of the white traders and other residents here.

From the remotest times of which either history or legend speak, the Hawaiians used the liquor made from awa. It was their only intoxicating drink, and then as now produced a stupid kind of drunkenness, affected the skin; inflamed the eyes, and caused premature decrepitude. Its effects are benumbing rather than inflaming like spirituous liquors, and on some accounts less harmful. It was reserved to men of the white races to introduce the latter poison into these islands. It has been well said that "heathenism is never so degraded but that civilization can give it something more degrading."

In the year 1802, eighteen years before the arrival of the first missionaries, an English ship, the Margaret, after cruising among the southern islands, visited this group. One of the officers, John Turnbull, wrote an interesting account of the voyage. Upon leaving the Society Islands he records this remark: "There is no punishment adequate to the wickedness of the wretch who would import a cargo of spirituous liquors into the Society or Sandwich Islands. It would in every respect be tantamount to the willful administration of an equal quantity of poison, as the extent of the evil would only be bounded by the destruction of the whole of the population." Who can tell what sin and suffering would have been saved, had the public sentiment of Christendom sustained this judgment! Trading vessels then, in addition to the useful articles which these people demanded, such as clothing, hardware, etc., always kept a supply of rum which the natives were not slow in learning to use. In this way the taste for intoxicants was readily introduced into these and other islands.

Mr. Turnbull found that some convicts from Botany Bay had previously escaped to these islands, and, in return for some service rendered Kamehameha I, had been put in possession of small tracts of land, upon which they raised sugar cane, and from this contrived to distill a sort of liquor. Neglect of work and quarrels being the natural result, the king made some mild remonstrance. This being of no avail, he gave them to understand that at their next fighting party, he would make one of the company, which hint brought these Botany Bay settlers to their senses. But as might be expected, before long the king himself acquired a relish for spirits, and navigators who touched at these shores, at that early day, carried on a lively trade in rum and other liquors. Mr. Turnbull relates that this taste became so excessive on the part of the king that Young and Davis, white men residing here, became anxious for their own safety during his periods of drunkenness and made attempts to escape from the islands. In one of his times of sobriety, the king demanded of them—What could induce them to these repeated efforts to leave him, when they were treated so kindly, and were daily receiving from him whatever he had to bestow. "That is true," they replied, "but our lives become endangered as often as you are inflamed with spirits. You are then no longer master of yourself." Kamehameha accepted the reproof, and promised that thenceforth he would limit himself to a moderate quantity, which promise, it is said, he kept to his death. His subjects also acquired a taste for the poison, but during the lifetime of this despot, drunkenness was always restrained. Not long before his death he tabooed all distilleries within his kingdom, not a drop was allowed to be manufactured, and breaking this law was followed by the forfeiture of the whole property of the offender. Even the king's oldest son, Liholiho, afterwards Kamehameha II, though ardently fond of liquor, was until his accession to the throne, held in complete restraint by this powerful will.

But upon the death of Kamehameha I in 1819, all restraint was thrown aside. In a state of intoxication Kamehameha II broke the tabu, (which till then had been rigorously enforced,) by eating dog's flesh with the women, drinking rum with the female chiefs, and smoking with them from the same pipes. Seeing that no evil effects followed at once, the people shouted: "The tabu is broken!" Messengers were sent to all parts of the kingdom, and the chiefs and common people abandoned themselves to drunkenness and all kinds of excess.

Among such a people as this, the first missionaries arrived in April, 1820, less than a year from the death of the old king. The common people were everywhere at the lowest point of degradation. It was no uncommon thing to find whole villages in a state of beastly intoxication.

Mr. Bingham, Sr., in describing their first impressions, says: "Intemperance is as stubborn a foe as any species of idolatry. But this foe, emboldened by many foreign traders and visitors, showed his appalling front and gigantic strength wherever we approached, and for years stood dauntless to guard the field." From the highest to the lowest of the people, drunkenness was among the chief of the vices which filled the land. Among the few things cultivated were awa and sugar cane, both for the intoxicating drinks made from them.

INCOME TAX MUST BE PAID

So Says Court of Appeals Decision.

Legislature in Making Law Acted Within Its Rights.

Hul of Forty Lost the Case Appealed From Supreme Court of Hawaii.

SAN FRANCISCO, February 9.—To J. J. Dunne, Honolulu: Peacock decree confirmed. Gilbert, judge, wrote the decision. Opinion in other cases later.

The above cablegram, received by Assistant United States Attorney Dunne yesterday, brought the news that the decision of Judge Estee in the income tax had been affirmed by the San Francisco court of appeals, and tax payers who have been delaying settlement with Collector Pratt will now have to pay their income tax with the added penalty.

The cases in which there has been no decision, and which it was thought would also be decided yesterday, are those of the Honolulu Plantation Company and the Primo Beer case. Mr. Dunne stated yesterday that, as a rule, all opinions were handed down by the court of appeals on the opening of the term, and he could not account for the delay in these two cases.

The title of the income tax case is W. C. Peacock, et al., vs. W. H. Wright, treasurer, and J. W. Pratt, assessor. The suit was instituted by about forty tax payers in the United States court. They asked for an injunction to restrain Treasurer Wright and Collector Pratt from collecting their income tax, alleging that it was unconstitutional and void. The matter was decided upon demurrer in Judge Estee's court. The Territory, which was represented by J. W. Cathcart and A. G. Robertson, demurred on the ground that there could be no combination of plaintiffs in this case, and that each plaintiff had a complete and adequate remedy at law.

Judge Estee sustained the demurrer, without going into the question of the constitutionality of the income tax law. He held that even if the act complained of was unconstitutional, he could not interfere. In his decision, the court stated:

"The passage of the act complained of was undoubtedly within the legislative power, subject to the constitutional and Congressional restrictions referred to.

"This being clear, it alone remains for me to consider whether this court, acting as a court of chancery, has the power or jurisdiction to enjoin the collection of this Territorial tax, which was regularly levied under an act of the Territorial legislature, while acting within the general powers granted by Congress. Can this be done, even if such act is unconstitutional and void? I do not think it can. It certainly cannot be done if there is an adequate remedy at law; and it seems clear to the court that in this case there is a complete and adequate remedy at law."

One of the questions before the court was as to the right of the complainants to act jointly, in order to avoid a multiplicity of suits, and Judge Estee ruled against them.

The question of constitutionality was not taken into consideration at all by the court, and the attorneys here are doubtful as to whether the appeal court passed on the question. The sustaining of Judge Estee will have the effect of compelling the immediate payment of the outstanding tax, which is quite large. Colonel Fitch, who represented the complaining taxpayers, said yesterday that the case would not be carried further. He thought it possible, however, that some of the taxpayers might sue to recover their tax, and in this way test the law. He suggested that the court of appeals may have sustained Judge Estee's rulings, and yet decided that the act was unconstitutional, though he did not have much hope of this.

The income tax law was held to be constitutional by the Hawaiian Supreme Court last year, and that decision will still stand as law.

READY TO BEGIN ON AMENDMENT

An Idea Advanced at the Teachers' Meeting.

The Germ Theory of Disease Is Not Complex.

At Least It Can Be Brought Down to Childish Understanding.

With the first reading of the County bill completed by the caucus of the Republican members of the Legislature, amending the measure is to be taken up with the meeting of this evening, and there will be fast work made of the second stage of the consideration of the bill.

For the purpose of keeping the amendments closely in line with the bill as drawn, a resolution was passed just before adjourning last evening requesting U. S. District Attorney Breckons, who wrote the bill, and the members of the Commission which recommended it to the Republican committee, to be present and act with the caucus. It is expected that by this plan there will be secured a measure which is coherent throughout and that there will be a workmanlike job made of the tinkering which is to be done.

From the number of amendments which have been proposed it will be a well riddled bill before it reaches the Legislature. There is scarcely a single section which will not be altered in the handling and some of the proposed changes are so radical that to accept them is to alter the very purpose of the bill. One of these was brought out last evening when Senator McCandless gave notice that he would move to amend to provide for five counties on the island of Oahu, divided so that there would be counties of Honolulu, Ewa, Waianae, Waiakoa and Koolau.

The Senator suggested that he was actuated by the belief that in this way benefits of the taxation would be direct. There were a number of other amendments brought out in the shape of notice of intention to urge them, the principal ones being for the taking over of the Board of Health and making county institutions instead of a Territorial body, and as well of making the Department of Public Instruction divisible and placing local boards in charge of the schools. There was evidenced a determination on the part of some of the city members to fight such action as inimical to the best interests of the whole Territory, and there may be such radical action presented.

The taxation proposition likewise is assuming acute form, there being a large number of separate bills ready to introduce. One amendment would tax banks $5000 a year instead of $750. The proposals of the members of the Merchants' Association, as to the taxation features of the County bill, will be heard at the end of the week when the Republican caucus will give an audience to all commercial bodies which may have proposals to submit on the matter. The caucus will meet at 2 o'clock in the afternoon of Saturday, and will give the whole afternoon to the matter of hearing committees or memorials.

It was decided yesterday that preparation would be made for this hearing and a special meeting of the Merchants will be held at the rooms on Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock, to consider how to proceed. It seems probable that the Association will provide a committee to appear before the caucus and outline the objections to the various systems of taxation now proposed, and indicate what the business men feel is equitable treatment in the premises.

LIQUOR BILLS COMING.

There will be a half dozen liquor bills before the Legislature, if the present outlook is not changed soon. There are three known to be ready to introduce, and in addition it is understood that another bill will be put in by the brewing interests and one by the liquor dealers, which with the temperance people's measure will be enough to hold the Legislature a while.

The measures which have been suggested as ready are all along lines covering enlarged areas for license, and it is rumored that there will be a strong lobby at work.

NINTH PRECINCT MOVES.

The Ninth Precinct Republican Club held a meeting last night at the residence of S. K. Kane and took steps for the setting forth of the opinions of the club members on the subject of the County bill. There was some little discussion and then on motion a committee consisting of Lyle A. Dickey, S. K. Kane and W. J. Coelho was appointed to canvass the sentiment of the voters of the precinct, and set them before the caucus of Republicans. There was some discussion as to the needs of the precinct in roads and water pipes, and a committee consisting of James Shaw, A. D. Larnach, John Alapai, Louis Kamano, G. R. Carter, S. K. Kane and A. W. Neely was named to ascertain the necessities and urge their being taken up by the Legislature. Horace Crabbe and M. C. Amara were elected members of the executive committee.

SAN FRANCISCO (Cal.), February 9.—The Alameda left this port for Honolulu at 6 p. m. Sunday.

TO TEACH CHILDREN SANITATION

An Idea Advanced at the Teachers' Meeting.

The Germ Theory of Disease Is Not Complex.

At Least It Can Be Brought Down to Childish Understanding.

The regular bi-monthly meeting of the Territorial Teachers' Association drew out a large crowd of pedagogues, mostly from the city schools, last night, and produced one man with a dominating idea. There were a number of ideas, held and expressed, by the teachers present, of course. There was one idea that will take root perhaps in wider ground than these islands. That was the idea of Uriah Thompson, of the Kamehameha Manual school, expressed in a few minutes' talk when the reports were being heard on the subject of "Nature Study" in the several schools. Mr. Thompson did not make any extended report of the work of his classes. He did not have time. But he offered a suggestion, and it embodied the idea. "I want to suggest," he said, "the importance of educating the children on the subject of proper sanitation. The germ theory of disease, universally held by advanced scientists, should be taught in the public schools. You can so simplify it as to bring it to the understanding of the children. I have already begun upon it with my boys. They are all deeply interested in it, too. There is nothing so complex about the relation of germs to disease that it is beyond the childish understanding, and I believe we can so teach them in our schools that when they get old enough they will demand and secure better sanitary conditions. As an experiment, we took some water from one of the taro patches near town, and the boys and I watched the animal life come into it, watched with the microscope, and the boys drew pictures of the bugs for me, so I knew that they saw them. I will warrant you that none of those boys will ever again drink water from a taro patch, nor use it to prepare their taro in. Let us make a beginning of teaching the children how to live better in this way, and how to avoid causes for disease."

The regular proceedings of the meeting opened with music by the girls of Kamehameha school, after which Mr. Frederick Krause, of Kamehameha Manual school, read a most instructive paper on "Soil Making." Mrs. Isabel Creighton, of Kaahumanu school, followed with a paper on "Plant and Insect Life," showing the interest the children took in this study from nature, and Miss M. Alice King, of the High School, told "How I Conduct School Excursions." This paper drew out a considerable discussion, mainly turning upon the expense of such excursions and how it was to be met. The problem was finally left to the solution of the individual teacher.

The girls of Kamehameha Girls' school gave another song, and then came the reports on nature study in the course of which Mr. Thompson formulated his idea, speaking for his school. Other reports, all of them brief but interesting, were received as follows: From Pohukaina school, Mrs. Heapy; Kamehameha Girls' school, Miss Rocheford; Kaili-hi-waena school, Mr. Taggart; Maemae school, Miss Green; Punahou school, Mrs. Turner; Kaahumanu school, Miss Felker; Normal school, Mr. Pope; Kaulani school, Mrs. Frazier; Royal school, Mr. Law.

The president of the Association, Miss Pierce, presided at last night's meeting, and there were a number of interested spectators present.

PREACHERS ALL LABOR VERY HARD

Tasks That Bear Upon Nervous System.

Laymen Have No Idea of the Strain.

Gentlemen of Cloth Tell How Their Tasks Wear Them Down.

An Advertiser reporter was sent out yesterday to ask this question of representative clergymen: "What is the hardest part of a minister's work in this city?" Four ministers responded: "The most wearing part of the duties of most ministers," said Rev. Mr. Pearson, of the Methodist Church, yesterday, "is the strain of the actual Sabbath service. That does not trouble me a great deal, because I speak off hand, and never from manuscript. And still it is a strain to have to face the same set of people, twice every Sunday, week in and week out, all through the year. In my own ministry, I find that it is the strain of the regular work, all of it, that tires me out. A minister has calls upon him that the laity cannot appreciate, calls that wear upon his nervous system all the time. "Of course, if a minister has any special work outside of his regular duties, say if he is building a church, or if his sick list is large, those things wear him. We do not have a great deal of sickness here, and I am doing only my regular work now—at least, I have been doing it, although for the past few days I have been down with dengue fever. But I do not take a regular vacation. The best vacation, I think, is a change of work. I did take a vacation last summer, but I preached every Sunday while I was away, and so it was only a change of scene, after all. But there is a strain in the min-

THAT FATAL NEGLECT.

A tremendous majority of the evils in the world arise from mere neglect. The worst diseases we suffer from and die of, steal on us unawares. A bleeding wound, or a sudden sharp pain, we jump to relieve either of them in a twinkling. But a dull feeling in the head, loss of appetite, failure of force and snap, a little feverishness at night, gloom and depression about nothing in particular, a tendency to be irritable over trifles, why should you be anxious on these grounds? No doubt they will pass off like a drifting cloud and you will be all right again. We are apt to reason thus, and fancy these symptoms to have no serious meaning. Unchecked and only half understood the trouble creeps on until it culminates in local organic disease difficult to cure. The blood poisons, of which the feelings named are signs and warnings, may end in any one or more of a dozen things; lung, heart, liver or nervous disorders, or in some wasting process in which life melts away like snow before a warm wind. You may prevent it by using WAMPOLE'S PREPARATION which will surely and speedily cleanse the blood of its deadly load, stimulate the appetite, infuse new power into the nerves, clear the foggy brain, set the digestive mill in full operation, send the doleful worries flying from the mind, and soon make all things new. But don't neglect yourself any longer, don't trust fortune. This effective remedy is palatable as honey and contains the nutritive and curative properties of Pure Cod Liver Oil, combined with the Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites and the Extracts of Malt and Wild Cherry. "It cannot disappoint." Acts from the first dose. Genuine sold by chemists here and throughout the world.

istry people do not at all appreciate. The minister's life is more wearing than the lawyer's, or even than the doctor's, although the medical man lives a hard life. But he takes vacations. A lawyer has an easier life. He has his topic found for him, for instance, in each case. The minister meets all men. He is with the poor and lowly today, in their hearts and homes, and with the rich, in their hearts and homes, tomorrow. And he has upon him all the time the strain of the worry for those in his fold who may be going astray. He has upon him the strain of the responsibility for the moral and physical well being of his flock, the souls are in his hands, and that is a grave burden for any man.

"Why," said Rev. Mr. Muckley of the Christian Church, "it is the great diversity of my work that bears hardest upon me, I think." Mr. Muckley had just been straining at the pulley machine, along with a class of heavyweights, at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium, when he was asked about his work, and he looked physically weary, being he was outclashed in weight by his fellows. "I do not at all mind the preparation of the Sunday sermons. I do not write them, because I could not memorize them, and my people would not stand a read address. But I study them, and that is a pleasure, because it gives me a study time that I would not get otherwise. But I must go to my church and teach a Sunday School class for an hour before I go into the pulpit, and do as much talking as I do in sermon time. Then I preach my sermon, and in the afternoon I talk to the young people, and then in the evening I preach again. It is the multiplicity of calls that wears, and then the other duties, the duty to the sick, and the business part of a preacher's life. Oh, I do not let the social business worry me, at all.

"Vacation? Well, I do not know. I have only had two in a ministry of eleven years, and one of those was when I got married. So, you see, I cannot talk much about resting time. But it is the multiplicity of duties that wears ministers out."

"Why," said the Rev. Father Valentin, pro-curator of the cathedral, "we are always at work. I suppose," he went on, breaking off from the writing of a parochial letter to collect his thoughts, "it is the calls to the sick that bear hardest upon a priest. We must always go, you know, day or night. In rain or shine, in winter and summer, to the lowly and to the high, that call to the sick is one that is never passed by. My own duties here are multifarious. I manage the business of the Mission, besides being the supply for Waikiki. Oh, yes; I go to the sick also. We all do that. And it is the same, day after day. One day last week, for instance, I was called to Waikiki in the morning, and before I had finished there my man was at hand with the buggy to take me to Kaimuki to another sick bed. I did not get back until 11 at night, and then when I expected to rest, there was another call. But we look for that. It comes in addition to our regular labor, and it is the hardest part—but it is never neglected.

"Vacations? Not at all. The Catholic clergy do not take vacations. I have been here fourteen years and have worked all that time. It is my place to work, my duty."

"I do not let my labors bear hard upon me, not hard enough to be called arduous, any of them," said Rev. Canon Mackintosh, of St. Andrew's Cathedral. "None of my brethren will let theirs, either, by the time they have been at it as long as I have. My life, in fact, has adjusted itself in my thirty years or more in the ministry. I take the things that come philosophically, now. But I grieve, always, when I see sorrow or sickness or grief that I cannot alleviate in some way. To see suffering, and be unable to help, that is the hard thing in a minister's life. The petty ills of every day roll off me as water rolls from a duck's back."

TOBACCO SEED FOR DISTRIBUTION

A quantity of tobacco seed was received by the Territorial Agricultural Department from Washington on the last steamer, and it will be distributed to prospective tobacco planters upon request. Application must be made at the office in the Capitol building. Four varieties of seeds were sent here, Florida Sumatra, Florida Cuban, Connecticut Havana and Ohio Zimmer Spanish.

There is also sent a pamphlet giving the best methods of tobacco cultivation. In a letter from the Agricultural Department the plan of distribution is given as follows:

"For several years the Bureau of Plant Industry and the Bureau of Soils have been co-operating in work looking toward the improvement of tobacco in this country. Under the direction of the Chief of the Bureau of Soils the tobacco seed for the forthcoming Congressional seed distribution was secured from carefully selected and matured plants, in accordance with directions issued by the Department to individual growers. The seed was obtained from the best localities for each variety, and a plan of distribution worked out whereby the varieties suitable for certain districts will be sent there."

HOW TO SEE A MUSEUM

Curator Bryan Gives His Views on Subject.

When William Allanson Bryan, curator of ornithology at the Bishop Museum, concluded an address last evening in the Young Women's Christian Association rooms on "How to See a Museum," those in the audience who had already visited the Bishop Museum at Kamehameha said that their previous wanderings among the valuable articles on display there were practically of no value to them, but, acting on the suggestions given in the speaker's address, they would understand in the future how to really "see" the museum. Mr. Bryan's address was interesting in every particular, and although dealing generally with all museums, and not at all times particularizing the one in Honolulu, yet it was patent that a visit to Bishop Museum on his suggestions would bring out its true value to the sight seer.

A question was asked why the museum was open only on Fridays and Saturdays of each week. Mr. Bryan replied that it was also open on steamer days, but the greater part of the week was devoted to "tidying up" the museum for the two days' display. The real reason, however, was that there are many things in the museum which could not be replaced for love or money, and the oftener they were displayed, the lighter and airier the quicker they deteriorated and faded. It was the preservation of these articles which in general compelled the museum officials to cling to this rule.

A feature of the opening of the new and handsome wing will be complete guide books, dealing with every subject on display there. The books will be valuable, as they will contain scholarly descriptions of the subjects. Mr. Bryan also stated that when the wing is opened, visitors will have an opportunity of seeing to the biggest calabash in the world.

Mr. Bryan gave the history of the word museum, and its significance as a part of the educational system, a place which is considered an "institution for the preservation of the objects which best illustrate the phenomena of nature and the works of man and the utilization of these for the increase of knowledge, and for the culture and enlightenment of the people." There was a museum method of exhibiting specimens, the central object being to convey to the average visitor or student in an attractive form all the information an object or group of objects can impart.

There were three classes of visitors who come to see a museum; those who come to be amused, those who come for information, and those who come for work and study. The first class was the most difficult to satisfy, and the most unsatisfactory one a curator has to deal with. It is this class of visitors that has to be requested not to poke objects with umbrellas and canes, and finding that the museum is really a place of serious study, become dissatisfied with museums in general. For the class which wants information, halls are arranged, specimens placed, labels prepared, and a curator provided, who stands ready with such knowledge as he may have to impart. There was one general principle which was followed in the gross arrangement of a museum and which is found at the Bishop Museum, and that is that the visitor is given an idea of its contents at the entrance. Any visitor can easily note the system and order that pervades the museum. Mr. Bryan said that visiting a museum was accompanied by more or less fatigue, to both mind and body. It was not like a visit to a theater, for it means active, hard mental exertion, not passive reception, to retain what passes before the eye.

Having once taken on the trend of the collections, the visitor will find that the museum is divided into departments, and that if he is interested in any one of them more than another, that one is the first to be seen and the most carefully studied. But before doing this, he will observe, as a general rule, that guide books are to be had, usually to the museum as a whole. With such a book in hand, the fact becomes patent that every specimen on exhibition is not only numbered to correspond to the guide, but the more important objects are provided with suitable labels, bearing condensed information touching upon the specimen exhibited. The visitor will then note that in the system and order of arrangements specimens of similar kinds are grouped together, with an eye single to the natural order of things. He will further observe that the curator has arranged the specimens under his charge with due regard to the time which the student may have at his disposal. He has arranged courses which were he in a university, would correspond to the short course for summer students, a two years' course for those desiring fuller knowledge of the subject, and so on. The curator has brought such objects as he has believed would be of general or special interest well into prominence and has exerted every effort to condense into the fewest possible words a label which bears all the information that he believes the average visitor will be able to carry away. Mr. Bryan's general rules are as follows:

Observe, analyze and compare if you would learn. Compare objects with objects in every possible way for they are arranged in the cases to facilitate comparison; compare the adult with the immature; solids with similar solids; the primitive weapons of one race with those of another; the utensils of one people with the utensils of another; the garments of one race with those of other races; compare facts gathered elsewhere with facts gathered here, but ever, when visiting a museum, compare.

The output of sugar on Hawaii and Kauai will keep the inter-island steamers busy bringing it to Honolulu to be loaded into vessels for the coast.

WARNER'S

WARNER'S RUST-PROOF CORSETS

Rust-Proof Corsets

EVERY PAIR GUARANTEED

Just Suited for This Climate

We have 12 styles; $1.00 and upward.

Rust-proof steel marks a new era in corset making. Rust-proof steel is tempered to a nicety and made non-rustable by a patented process controlled exclusively by Warners. It is the only absolutely rust-proof corsets in the world. If any metal parts of these corsets rust, return them and receive a new pair.

Rust-proof doubles the life of a corset, and is for obvious reasons the best for this climate. The shapes give the upright poise to the shoulders, the sloping bust and extended waistline; there are no straight-front corsets that can surpass them in fitting points.

Whitney & Marsh, Limited

Important Reasons

Why Herring-Hall-Marvin Safe Co. Safes and Locks are the Best.

The concrete filling makes these safes absolutely fire proof and positively damp proof. The solid angle corners add greatly to their security in time of fire and form the only solid corners made. The patent Bolt Work is superior to any in use and does not require the constant oiling, cleaning and repairs that is acknowledged in other makes of safes. That although 600,000 of these safes are now in use and many thousands have been tested by some of the most disastrous conflagrations in the United States, there is not a single instance on record wherein one of them ever failed to preserve its contents perfectly. They make safes for county treasurers, county recorders, county clerks, jewelers, hotels, residences, churches and corporations. We have a large assortment of safes on hand and will be pleased to show same.
