LAST PRINCE OF THE KAMEHAMEHAS NEGRO VOODOO KILLS WOMEN FOR INSURANCE

The last of the line of Kamehameha the Great is at rest with his fathers. The citizens of Honolulu, without distinction to race, turned out yesterday to pay the last honors to Prince Albert Kuniuakea and to his line, at the state funeral of the Prince. Time was, and not so many years ago, when the name of the Kamehamehas stood for all that there was of might and kingly majesty in these Islands. Time still is that the name of Kamehameha is honored the whole world around. It is only the name of a Polynesian chief, but it stands for progress and for the redemption of a race. It was the name of a man who, upon the stage that he was called to, played a part that made a nation of a congeries of related tribes scattered over a group of islands. It was the name of a man who, upon a wider stage, would have made history that might have changed the destiny of the world.

Kamehameha had the genius for statecraft, though he was but a savage, and the talent that has made great kings. He was, before everything else, a warrior, but he was a strategist, also, and a statesman. There were other warriors of his people in his time, and other strategists. There was none who, as Kamehameha did, could have turned to account the instruments that destiny sent in his way to accomplish his great purpose of the union of these Islands. Kamehameha did not despise the white men, as the savage so often does, because he sees them in possession of agencies of power that have been denied to him. He used them and their talents to make himself and his people great. And the white men never used Kamehameha for the furtherance of any purposes of theirs. He was a Hawaiian, but he was the greatest man of his time in this region. He would have been one of the greatest men of his time, no matter where fate had cast his destiny.

He ruled these islands, and his descendants ruled them—but the last heir of the line is gone, now. Prince Albert was never king. His line lost the kingship, and the kings had lost their throne, before his chance came. Perhaps, indeed, he did not have it in him to be king, ever. There are men, apparently born to high destiny, who are kept from its achievement by some quality or some lack within themselves no other man can fathom. But Prince Albert had high blood within him, and the veriest scoffer at Island royalty felt in his presence that the man was conscious of his birth. Perhaps it was his line, more than the man himself, whose memory was honored with a state funeral yesterday. Though the monarchy has passed off the stage for all time, there is a sentiment yet in the minds of many good people of the Islands that holds the days of the monarchy dear, and a sentiment in the minds of all citizens that the blood of Kamehameha was worthy of all honor. Prince Albert had taken some part in public affairs, and it was an honorable part. Those here of American blood who knew him, honored the man for his personal worth—and his own people loved him as only Polynesians can love their chiefs. It was to show their love for him that many came from their homes in the distant hills to put themselves in the place of horses to draw the honored body to the tomb. It was to show their love for him that some of them climbed the heights of Kaula, the most lofty summit on this rugged island, to gather sprigs of myrtle to put upon his bier. It was to show their love that the young chiefs stood all night beside his body, waving the kahilis that are the insignia of their dead leaders, and listening to the weird chanting of the meleas that told of his birth and lineage. It was to show their love that they followed him to the tomb, with bared heads and with faces clouded with sorrow.

And there is sorrow now in many a humble home, and will be sorrow for many a day to come for the last of the Kamehamehas. But they have done him, dead, all the honor that they could. It is some slight consolation to these good people that the state has likewise honored, with all the pomp of a public funeral, the man of their love. It was a graceful thing for the state to do—that state whose deep foundations were laid by his great forbear.

SCENES ABOUT THE BIER.

At dawn yesterday the preparations for the formal lying in state ceremonies commenced and floral pieces and flowers and greens began to arrive. A beautiful cross about five feet in height and composed entirely of callas and ferns was sent by George Rooke of England, a cousin of the late Queen Emma. Prince David Kawananakoa sent a handsome wreath of pansies and Prince Kalamanaole's tribute was a beautiful piece with gates ajar. Many prominent residents and societies sent set pieces and the clusters of blooms.

Throughout the night the ceaseless vigil of the kahili-bearers was kept about the bier. At dawn chapters of the meleas of the Kamehamehas told the genealogy of the late Prince and his noble ancestors. The weird chants, now pitched to a high key, now to a lower, always monotonous and often rendered with almost indescribable tenderness, filled the throne room. Following close upon these melancholy dirges came the music of Hawaiian singers, sad and pathetic, and sung as if every sweet note came direct from the heart. Tall kahilis, some of black and yellow feathers, indicative of mourning, other composed of white feathers with tips of black surrounded the bier. The latter kind were used exclusively by the kahili bearers to wave over the casket. When the doors were at length thrown open, about thirty kahilis were arranged about the bier. Upon the casket rested feather ahulua, relics of ancient Hawaii. The huge funeral kahili at the head of the bier was one of the finest on view and the stand which held it was draped with a silk crown flag of Hawaii. Before this rested a crown draped in mourning.

At 11 o'clock when the public might enter, the kahili-bearers were changed and five men arranged on either side of the casket, among them being Solomon Hiram and his singers, and now then they broke into melodies of Hawaii, alternating with the mele chanters. A guard of honor from the First Regiment, N. G. H., was posted on the outer square of the kahilis, the men standing at parade rest with fixed bayonets. Col. Soper, Captain White, Captain Kenake, Captain Campbell, Captain Atherton, of the Governor's staff, all in full dress uniform stood, two at each end of the bier. In one of the old throne room chairs placed near the head of the casket, sat the widow flanked by the mentor for the kahili-bearers.

CROWDS IN THRONE ROOM.

For two hours the crowd passed into the throne room and made a half circuit of the bier and its guardians in an almost unbroken line. When the church services had closed the congregations came to the Capitol and viewed the scene, and in the hour between 12 and 1 o'clock the crowd was so dense that the people had to pass through the chamber three abreast. Conspicuous to the visitors were two handsome silk Hawaiian flags draped over the entrance and exit of the chamber. In the long line which streamed through were men and women of all stations in life. Kamaainas and mallihinis rubbed elbows, rich and poor, and it was as cosmopolitan as only a Honolulu gathering can be. Officials, business men, and strangers passed by and made a scene which may but once or twice again be repeated in Hawaii.

At 1 o'clock the doors were closed and when the last person in the passing line had gone, the chief mourners were assigned to seats on the Ewa side of the chamber. Officials of the government, members of the Legislature and friends of the family were given seats elsewhere. The pall-bearers stood in line on the Waikiki side of the throne room, with John Baker, bearer of the royal jewels, at one end and Admiral George Beckley at the other.

SERVICE OF THE CHURCH.

The clergy of the Roman Catholic church, preceded by crucifix and candle bearers, then filed into the chamber. Pro Vicar Libert taking his place as officiating priest at the foot of the bier. He was assisted by Fathers Valentin and Stephen. The Catholic choir was stationed in the mauka end of the room Father Valentin joining that body and leading the singing. The

Floods in Ohio and Mississippi.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLEGRAMS.)

CINCINNATI, O., March 15.—The Ohio river is stationary here and the outlook seems to be that there will be no further rise. Reports tell of heavy losses above this point as well as along the lines of the tributaries, including the Kanawha and Big Sandy rivers.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 15.—The flood situation here is serious. Reports are of heavy damages along this side of the Mississippi as well as in the Red River bottoms.

NEW ORLEANS, La., March 15.—The flood tide in the Mississippi continues with many reports of heavy damage above. The levees here are still holding.

Robbers Shoot Up Restaurant.

Prince of Wales Reported to Have Lost Heavily When Cheated by French Marquise. Whitaker Wright Arrested for Frauds in London--Castro Is Winning.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLEGRAMS.)

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., March 15.—By the arrest of Hassey, a negro voodoo doctor here today, there has been uncovered a series of the most atrocious crimes.

The charge against the negro is that during the term of his operations, covering two years, he has murdered thirty-four women. The object in each case was the securing of the insurance upon the lives of the women, by their husbands, he seeking out couples where the infelicity of their married life made it possible for him to persuade the man to employ him to commit the murder.

The police say that Hassey charged $100 for disposing of a woman under these circumstances.

Whitaker Wright Charged With Fraud.

NEW YORK, March 15.—Whitaker Wright has been arrested here on a charge of colossal frauds committed in London.

For nearly two years the name of Whitaker Wright, one of the best known company promoters of Europe, has been mixed up in startling company frauds. On January 24th the Appeal Court in London decided against Wright in a case where he was sued for damages for an alleged fraudulent prospectus issued in connection with the Standard Exploration Company, one of the numerous London and Globe finance corporation undertakings. This was only a test case and the decision against Wright was followed by an avalanche of similar claims brought by the numerous shareholders of Whitaker Wright promoted companies.

Wright was a director of the London and Globe Finance Corporation, Limited. This concern failed on Dec. 29, 1900. Its failure caused twelve other big concerns and many smaller ones to go to the wall.

Whitaker Wright was the head of dozens of companies organized for West African mining and British Columbian ventures. He surrounded himself by members of the British nobility and through the use of their names was able to practically rule the London financial market. He counted his winnings by millions of pounds sterling, built himself a marvelous country estate, and was looked upon as one of the cleverest financiers of the day.

In the straightening out of the London and Globe corporation's affairs he succeeded in keeping out of jail, but the authorities have now probably unearthed Wright's work in the whole series of transactions. He came to America recently in connection with his promotion business.

Wales Loses at Cards.

LONDON, March 15.—It is reported that the Prince of Wales lost £3,500 at cards recently at the house of a French Marquise. The French woman has been much admired and her home has been the center for a rather sportive set for some time. She has been accused of cheating and a scandal is imminent.

Hill Will Build to San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 15.—It is announced that the Great Northern will extend its line from Seattle down the Coast by way of Portland to San Francisco. The exact route has not been fixed but it is reported that the line will follow the coast rather than the interior valleys.

Castro's Troops Still Winning.

CARACAS, March 15.—The government troops have recaptured Coropano after three hours of hard fighting. The rebels were forced to retreat toward the East leaving many dead. Sixty-three prisoners were captured by the government forces.

MYSTERY OF MURPHY'S RIFLE

Perry Shot by One Like That He Owned.

But Latter Gun Contained Full Magazine and Was Clean.

Circumstantial Evidence Against Ranch Luna of Makua Difficult to Analyze.

Hemmed in by the sea in front and a semicircle of precipitous mountains in the rear, the little hamlet of Makua was the scene of a frightful tragedy on Friday morning.

Makua is seldom thus disturbed. One-fourth of the population is employed fishing, a fourth compose the men who work on the ranch and the remaining are women and children who lead the ordinary lazy life of the kuleana. But the whole population suspended work after the tragedy on Saturday and after learning all they could of it, assisting the coroner, and laying the dead away in the coffin, they sat down under the trees in a clump of little cottages and accompanied the eating of a roasted pig with words and songs in praise of the virtues of the dead man.

"Joe Perry" or "Joseph Rego," a Portuguese ranch helper, was killed. There are two names for the dead for it seems he was known to different people by both. The police arrested on the preliminary evidence, for the killing, "Pat" Murphy, boss of the cattle ranch, a character known the length of the Oahu Railway as "a bad man when he is in liquor."

The story of the shooting is about as follows:

HOW THEY BEGAN THE DAY.

"Joe" and a native named Kalo arose Friday morning at the usual time. They helped the others with the milking. The milk was stored in the cans and placed aboard a train which left Kalo at six o'clock that morning for Honolulu. Then they were sent to Ke-au to pump water into the troughs for the cattle. Both men were riding mules. They left Ke-au about ten o'clock and rode back towards the ranch headquarters. On the way back the native stopped at his cottage to learn if his wife had prepared his midday lunch. "Joe" rode on. He was to go to the paddock in front of the manager's, Pat Murphy's, house and change the mule he was riding for another. Kalo was to follow him. In this way Joe got a half hour's start on the native and as the latter was approaching the manager's house he heard an "explosion." He rode on to the house and found Joe's body lying beside the mule in front of Murphy's house. The mule was hitched to the fence. It had a saddle on and the girths were in place but had not been cinched.

"MULE KICKED HIM."

Kalo shouted for Murphy and the latter replying from his house, Kalo asked:

"Murphy, what's this? Joe's dead?"

"I don't know—mule kicked him," replied Murphy.

Then Murphy issued orders to Kalo to go to the house of Kaleo, Joe's wife, which was about a sixth of a mile away and tell her to come and dispose of the body.

Kalo did not stop to examine Joe. He did as Murphy directed. He told Joe's wife and also all the natives around.

Kalo said that when Joe's wife got to the body she began to cry but Murphy at once ordered her to stop crying.

Kaleo stated to Deputy Sheriff Chillingworth that she had been at the house of Lili-o with Kamaka, Lili-o and Kila, all native women. They had all heard the report of a gun.

MURPHY TO WAIANAEO COATLESS.

The body was allowed to lie where it was. Under the full glare of the sun it lay while Sam Kaamal got on a horse and rode to Waianae, seven miles away, where he notified Captain of Police William Carney that "Joe" was dead and that Murphy had stated that a mule had kicked him. A train arrived at Waianae at the same time from Makua and Murphy alighted from this. He sauntered out without a coat and Carney met him. He asked Murphy about "Joe" and Murphy stated to him that "Joe was dead and a mule had kicked him," but he did not offer any explanation as to why he had come coatless to Waianae and left the dead body of his employee lying in the sun in front of his own cottage at Makua. Carney permitted Murphy to go his way.

Carney went to Makua, and after making investigations and ordering the body removed to Kaleo's cottage returned to Waianae and arrested Murphy. He locked the latter up, and telephoned to Deputy Sheriff Fernandez of Pearl City that there had been a murder. At the same time messages were sent to Senator McCandless, owner of the ranch, that "Joe" had been killed by a mule and securing a coffin, Senator McCandless left Honolulu on the three o'clock train for Makua. At Pearl City he was joined by Fernandez and at Waianae by Carney. Then at Makua these three made a thorough examination.

THE MYSTERY OF THE GUN.

In Murphy's cottage a forty-five calibre gun was found. This contained one loaded cartridge in the breech, and nine in the magazine—all the ammunition that the gun would hold at one time. They searched high and low but found no trace of an empty cartridge or a gun swab.

Not finding these and realizing that the case was an extraordinary one Deputy Sheriff Fernandez telephoned the facts to Deputy Sheriff Chillingworth, the coroner. At a few minutes before ten o'clock Friday evening the latter, accompanied by Dr. McDonald, police officers and an Advertiser man, left in a special train for Makua. There Dr. McDonald held an autopsy. He found that the bullet of a large calibre rifle had entered the right shoulder of "Joe" and tearing through that had entered the neck at its junction with the body, torn right through and gone out again through the left cheek. The bullet broke the Portuguese's jaw and shattered his mouth. The doctor was certain that this was sufficient to cause instant death. Deputy Sheriff Chillingworth made diligent inquiries and a Coroner's jury was summoned to meet in Honolulu on Monday. Flashlight pictures were made of the body.

Returning Murphy was taken from the Waianae jail. When taken on the train he denied ever having said to anyone that a mule had kicked Joe. He said he did not know how the latter had come to meet his death. He could not give any definite reason for going to Waianae in his shirt-sleeves.

Senator McCandless had gathered Murphy's belongings into a small bag and gave them to him on the train. Murphy immediately changed his clothes, put on a white shirt and clean hat and then calmly smoked a cigar until he arrived in Honolulu about four o'clock Saturday morning. He refused to talk to anyone. When searched at the Police Station he counted his silver carefully before giving it over to the desk man.

Murphy lived alone at Waianae. He had been on a mild drunk since last Tuesday. In his cottage he did his own cooking and was regarded as a bad man to deal with by the other employees of the ranch. On Saturday morning he purchased some sake of a Japanese at Makua.

It is presumed, on the circumstantial evidence obtained on Friday night, that Joe was bending over the mule to cinch the girths of the saddle. The position of the wound indicates that Joe was in this position when shot. The natives declared that there was no one else around Murphy's house at the time of the shooting but Joe and Murphy.

Murphy has not been on the best of terms with the natives at Makua, according to the testimony of those in the settlement there. He has had much friction and only a short time ago was close to his death at the hands of a crowd of the Hawaiian residents, who claimed that they had a grievance. On that occasion Murphy and a former resident there, were walking along the road when they reached a house where a luau was in progress. One of the Hawaiians, who showed that he had been drinking, ran from the house on seeing Murphy, and assaulted him, striking him in the face and on the body. He clinched with his assailant and upon this several others of the natives ran out and assailed him. Only the interference of the visitor, who knew the people well, saved Murphy from serious injury, if not from death at the hands of the people. It is understood that the man who attacked Murphy at that time is a cousin of Perry's wife.

A GOLDEN JUDGMENT.

A man was arrested not long ago in Missouri for burglary. It seems he had forced an entrance into a large wholesale store in the business district and carried off a lot of valuable merchandise. The entrance was made through a back window, during the noon hour. The clerk who was left in charge of the safe had gone to one of the offices in another part of the building. The safe, containing thousands in gold, was carelessly left wide open and access to this fortune was easy. The thief locked the safe without taking a cent, but was discovered later that every DOUGLAS PATENT CLOSET had been stolen from the warehouses. It is readily seen by this that the Douglas is more valuable than gold to one who understands values. Bath, the Plumber, will tell you why. Shop, 165 King street.

MR. COOPER GETS BACK FROM MAUI

He Is Called Home by Order of House.

Does Not Know What He Is Wanted For.

He Had Plenty to Keep Him Busy on the Second Island.

"I received a wireless message at Hana on Friday telling me to come home on the Claudine," said Superintendent of Public Works Cooper last night. "It was not signed by anybody. It merely said, at the end, 'by order of the Legislature.' No; I was not ready to return. My work on Maui was not finished. In fact, I had laid out to put in one more week on that island, and all the time was planned to be filled. It is not my policy to order any work done until I have gone over the ground and seen the proposed work, and I was compelled to leave Maui at a time when there is a need of much public work of various kinds on that island.

"What does the Legislature want with me? I don't know. I have come home in answer to the summons. That is all I know about it. Of course my plans for work on Maui are not all laid out yet. It is probable that the landings at Keanae, Hana and Nahiku will receive attention in the near future. A survey will also be ordered, in all probability, of the main road from Nahiku into Kahului. The road up into Nahiku and the Upper Homesteads is also an important one.

"I made the trip overland from Kahului to Hana, a thing that is not often done. In fact, the road is little more than a trail. There is a good road from the Homesteads into Hana, but for the rest it is the most primitive trails. From all appearances, the Hana district has had little attention from the Department of Public Works in the past. I also made a trip to O'Shaughnessy's Camp. O'Shaughnessy is the engineer of the new ditch that is to be built in that vicinity. That is a most important piece of work.

"I had a meeting with the citizens of Waikuku while I was away, at Kahului, and the question of whether the west side landing for Waikuku should remain at Maalaea or whether it should be removed to McGregor's bay was discussed. If it is to be changed, that fact should be known as quickly as possible, because the present wharf is in a bad condition and must be repaired if it is to continue to be used. The sentiment of the people is rather in favor of McGregor's, but there was nothing definite determined upon.

"I had a good look at the forests in the Hana district, while I was away. That has shown me that it is of the utmost importance to have contour lines run and the forests above those lines preserved. In fact, I had planned almost to circle the island of Maui, this trip. If I had done that, I would have known pretty well what was needed there in the way of public works."

LAST PRINCE OF THE KAMEHAMEHAS

prict sang several beautiful solos and the Pro Vicar solemnly intoned the burial service.

At the conclusion of the service the kahili-wavers sang dirges and other Hawaiian airs and as the last note died away, the tabu sticks were removed, the pall-bearers took up the casket, and, encompassed by kahilis and the tabu sticks, it was borne to the funeral car which was in waiting at the foot of the steps to the Capitol. The car, which was designed and draped by H. F. Davison, was covered with black cloth and white fringe trimmings, the wheels being similarly draped. A canopy resting upon four posts was raised over the bier leaving an open space on all sides. The canopy was surmounted by a crown, the same one that has been used for royal funerals for many years. The catafalque was drawn, not by horses, but by scores of stalwart Hawaiians. One hundred and twenty men, all poolas, pulled at the white and black braided ropes attached to the car, each one wearing a white sailor canvas hat, blue shirt and white trousers. Each one also wore upon his shoulders a yellow cape, or ahuala, of cloth in imitation of the gorgeous feather ahualas which were worn in ancient times. These men were under the direction of William Otepas, wearing a full-length cloak of yellow and red.

MOVES TO MINUTE GUNS.

When the casket was adjusted upon the car, a soldier stationed on the top of the Capitol Building wig-wagged with a red flag and was answered by wig-wag from the summit of Punchbowl, and as the poolas moved away from the Capitol the first minute gun of the Punchbowl battery spoke. During the procession to the Mausoleum guns were fired every minute.

The companies of the National Guard under Col. Jones, which had been lined up on either side of the Capitol driveway, received the car with present arms and were then wheeled into marching line, and the sad journey had started. The procession was in the following order:

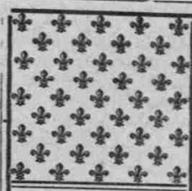

- High Sheriff Brown, Deputy High Sheriff Chillingworth and Senior Captain Parker, Mounted.

The procession moved along King street to Alakea, up Alakea and Emma streets to Vineyard, along Vineyard to Nuuanu and thence up Nuuanu Valley to the Royal Mausoleum.

SERVICE AT MAUSOLEUM.
Every foot of the route was occupied by spectators and great crowds were massed in the vicinity of the Mausoleum, the gates to which were guarded by police and soldiers. The floral pieces had been taken to the Mausoleum ahead of the procession and were placed about the interior by the decorating committee, consisting of the following persons: Mrs. Carrie Robinson, Mrs. Helen Holt, Mrs. Mary Beckley, Mrs. Ena, Mrs. A. P. Taylor, Mrs. Emmeline Magoon, Mrs. Alice Hutchinson, Miss Hilda Burgees, Miss May Lov, Harry Davison, J. McGulre.

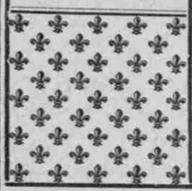

Prince and Princess Kaiulani entered the Mausoleum before the remains arrived and assisted in placing the pieces. C. W. Booth and Edgar Henriques, who had entire charge of the funeral arrangements, in conjunction with Captain Hawes for the Governor, opened the gates for the procession. The band, troops and the poolas with the funeral car filed into the Mausoleum grounds.

When the catafalque stood before the door of the Mausoleum, the kahili-bearers were aligned on either side of the steps, the tabu sticks flanking them. Between these lines the casket was

The last services of the dead was said by the clergy, the band played "Nearer My God to Thee" and the state funeral of the last of the Kamehameha dynasty had come to an end. At some future time the casket will be taken into the main room of the Mausoleum and deposited near those containing the remains of Prince Albert's mother and twin brother.

ENJOY OUTING ON RAILROAD LINES

Mr. D. E. Burley and Mr. D. H. Peery, of Salt Lake, were the guests of the Oahu Railway & Land Company officials on Thursday, the occasion being an outing along the lines of the road. The company, which numbered the mystic thirteen, went down to Waialua, in the observation car of the road, lunched at Haleiwa, visited the Waialua plantation and then after dinner at the hostelry returned to the city by moonlight, arriving at 11 o'clock.

The first leg of the run was to Ewa mill where all the members of the party went through the great factory and thoroughly inspected the workings of the plant. From that point the run down the road was made leisurely, the Sisa, Waianae, Makua and Barber's point territory being looked over from the train windows, and finally the hotel was reached just in time for a late luncheon. The afternoon visit was made to the largest pumping plant in the islands, and one of the greatest in the world, and everything was duly admired by the visitors.

The dinner was served at one great table which was decorated with flowers and covered with the best things of the season. A quintette club was with the company from the time of reaching the hotel, and furnished Hawaiian music all the afternoon and evening, speeding the departing guests in the evening. Those in the party in addition to the guests of honor and the hosts of the day, Superintendent George P. Dennison and General Passenger Agent F. C. Smith, were: Albert Raas, Fred Lewis, M. Phillips, R. W. Shingle, Paul Mubendorf, E. M. Boyd, W. H. Hoogs, Dr. C. B. Cooper and L. E. Pinkham.

MONDAY MARCH 16

PUBLICITY AND TRUSTS.

Ten per cent of the recognized wealth of the nation is represented in the corporations which under the anti-trust laws will be amenable to the publicity rules of the new Department of Commerce and Labor, which through supervisory will have a regulating effect and will without doubt clear the atmosphere in a short time. The census of 1900 gave the wealth of the nation as $30,000,000,000 while the invested capital of the trusts which come under the law is put at $9,000,000,000.

The figures as to the number of trusts are furnished by the Bureau of Statistics of the Treasury Department and show the presence of 793 such combinations of capital. Of this total 340 are classified as natural or local trusts, which do business in one community alone and consequently do not come under the provisions of the anti-trust laws.

The remaining 453 are all engaged in interstate trade and will be compelled to report to the department. The value of these reports to the investors cannot be over-estimated. It will then be possible for the owner of shares to know just what is going on in the corporation and certainly the combinations doing legitimate, safe business will never object to having made public reports of transactions. It is the other kind of trusts that will be hit and they deserve it.

LAST OF HIS LINE.

Drawn by men of his race, preceded by the tabu sticks, surrounded by chief borne kahilis and escorted by a great turnout of mourning friends, and representatives of all branches of the government, the remains of Prince Albert Kuniulakea were laid to rest in the Mausoleum of his family yesterday. It was beneath leaden skies though the tear drops shed by nature were few and after the ceremony the sun broke through and beamed in promise from the western skies.

The ceremonies attendant upon the committing to its final resting place of the body of the last prince of the greatest dynasty ever known in Hawaii were impressive in the extreme. It was an occasion of more than usual feeling for the Hawaiians and their sincere grief was shared by their neighbors and the honors paid to the departed were both solemn and spontaneous. The throngs at the Executive building and upon the streets were great and the procession was one of the longest of recent years.

Not alone for the man was this tribute but as well for the last of his race. History has not placed its final estimate upon the Kamehamehas. The world has not produced a ruler whose aim after conquest, was more beneficent than that of the first of the name. An Emperor, though of a small domain, his talents fitted him for greatest efforts and accomplishments. His expressed desire in peace: To make his country so truly law abiding that the traveler might lie down to sleep by the roadside as secure from harm as he in his palace, stamps him as a ruler as well as a conqueror. That his line has ended is a matter for regret, for such blood would make good citizens under any flag.

The meeting of the Senate Committee on Agriculture this afternoon, when business and professional men will discuss what shall be done with the Department of Agriculture and Forestry, will be an important one. There appears some wide differences between the Executive who wants a trained forestry expert and business men who believe a student of insect pests is invaluable. The place is either so important that it should have the best scientific head obtainable or so insignificant as to be useless. It is a matter of deep public concern and the best interests of the agriculturist would seem to lie in the determination by the legislators to co-operate with the Federal Experiment Station rather than to make plans which will mean a constant rekindling between the station and the local officer. There should be some middle ground.

The Indian Commissioner says the Red man must work to progress and Booker Washington is telling the Black man the same. The Yellow man learned it centuries ago and the White man practices it when he cannot find a "graft." The Brown man is learning the lesson, though perhaps still in the primary grade and will soon be represented with all the other vari-hued "slaves" in the Blue class, which contains so many unsuccessful laborers.

The new Kansas saloon-smasher is called Boise but if she keeps up her work will drop down the alphabetical list until she reaches the "N" block.

There is no room in Hawaii for a trust in agriculture and the Chinese will find it impossible to corner pine-apples.

THE ELECTRICAL INSPECTOR.

The Advertiser's suggestion that the striking out of the salary of Electrical Inspector Haddon by the Senate, was through the influence of the electrical companies, has brought forth strong disclaimers from the Rapid Transit and Hawaiian Electric Company. Representatives of both these companies assert that not only do they have no objection to an inspector, but that they strongly desire his retention not only as a protection to the public, but for the protection of the companies themselves, from careless and incompetent wiring and bad workmanship, of which there is a plenty in the city.

The only company with whom the Inspector is brought into contact, yet to be heard from, is the Telephone company. The general belief is that Inspector Haddon's "pernicious activity" in compelling that company to partially remedy the disgraceful conditions of its lines, has brought upon his head its hostility and that this is the basis of the rear attack upon that officer.

If an injustice is being done the Telephone company in this respect, it should make it known speedily, by joining with the Rapid Transit and Electric companies in asking for the retention of the office of Electrical Inspector.

Evidence of the clear cut style in which Inspector Haddon expresses himself, and of the fearless, independent and straightforward way in which he does business, is contained in his report now before the Legislature.

The way in which he handles the Telephone company without gloves, also furnishes a foundation for the belief that the Telephone company is more anxious for his room than his company.

EXTRACTS FROM ELECTRICAL INSPECTOR'S REPORT.

"The Mutual Telephone Company refused to construct a line on Thurston avenue in accordance with Government requirements.

"A few simple and easily comprehended rules and requirements governing the construction of poles and overhead wires were formulated, in the hope that they would be voluntarily adopted by the electric light and telephone companies.

"The Hawaiian Electric Co. has willingly complied with some of the requirements.

"The Mutual Telephone Company disputed the right of the Government to dictate.

"It was then decided to make a systematic examination of existing pole lines and overhead wires and notify the owners of defective construction noted.

"The results of this examination to date are:

Number of notices sent.....	110
Number of notices acknowledged.....	15
Defects reported.....	1871
Defects corrected.....	40

CONDITION OF EXISTING OVERHEAD ELECTRIC LIGHT AND TELEPHONE LINES.

"The data given in the appendix covers approximately half of the pole-lines in Honolulu, but this half is on the more important streets and the better class of construction. An examination of this data shows:

1. A large percentage of the poles are in decidedly bad condition.
2. Poles lack uniformity in size and shape.
3. Poles are decayed, crooked, unpainted, uncared for and unsightly.
4. Poles are located and maintained independent of the rights of the public to the use of sidewalks or streets.
5. Unnecessary and dead poles encumber the streets and sidewalks.
6. Outside of Government poles there is no indication of ownership of poles.
7. When streets are improved the companies are unwilling to make pole construction harmonious with street improvements.
8. Cross arm construction is abnormally ungainly and insecure.
9. Poor grades of insulators are in general use.
10. Lines cross and recross streets at random and unnecessarily; insecure lines carrying high and dangerous potentials passing over and under still more insecure unprotected telephone and signal wires.
11. Service wires cross streets on long diagonal stretches instead of at right angles. Service wires do not cross street on uniform level, but are run at haphazard to the nearest point on buildings.
12. In brief, service wire construction is cheap in every sense, except an economic one, and bad electrically and mechanically.
13. Telephone wires and signal wires are installed with utter disregard of the existence of anything but the telephone system.
14. Telephone lines considered by themselves alone and in view of the service they presumably give show a lack of application of the most ordinary rules of electrical and mechanical construction.
15. The Government lines are in fairly good condition, the majority of the defects noted with regard to them being chargeable to other lines carried on Government poles.
16. The attitude of the Hawaiian Electric Co., Ltd., is to make construction on fairly proper lines but to avoid as far as possible the expense of remodeling decrepit lines.
17. The attitude of the Mutual Telephone Co., Ltd., is not only non-compliant but distinctly aggressive to Government control or supervision.
18. The attitude of the Honolulu Rapid Transit and Land Co. is to consult the Government as to its wishes and to give consideration to the rights and interests of the public.

It is gossip that an attempt will be made to loot the House Expense appropriation to the extent of $1,500 in the interest of a former would-be leader of the majority party who aspires to be known as the builder of the Long City bill. The report is that for his services in drawing the measure and as well working to secure a majority to force that measure ahead of Republican bills he will receive the fee from the Territory. Certain it is that he will only win after a battle, for those opposing the plan are fighters.

Now that Superintendent of Public Works Cooper is back the Chinese Fund Committee will ask him questions that might as well have been asked within the five days in which the committee was supposed to report when appointed.

The returns from a guava jelly factory, in the opinion of the Maui News, would exceed that of a similar investment in sugar, all of which may turn the attention of small capitalists to the many sided opportunities of Hawaii.

There is work and again work, and the people will not feel like applauding the Legislature if its labors are confined to kahuna and new road resolutions and bills, no matter how hard that work is.

Iao Valley and the other scenic parts of Maui need roads and should have them, and if the Territory does not give them consideration the County of Maui surely will.

If Mr. Bruner will add a superior pineapple, a hardy banana and a more prolific coffee tree to the Hawaiian range of products he will be a benefactor.

BISHOP MOORE TO ARRIVE TODAY

Bishop David H. Moore, head of the Methodist Church in Japan, China and Korea, will arrive in Honolulu today in the Siberia, accompanied by Homer Eaton, head of the Methodist publishing business, now en route to Japan, to open up a new depository, and Dr. M. C. Harris, the latter to remain in Honolulu for some time to assist Rev. Mr. Pearson in Japanese work. Bishop Moore will speak in the Methodist Church this evening at 7:30. He will also ordain Mr. T. Komuro, a Japanese, as a deacon.

W. G. Alexander, of the Sperry Flour Company, of San Jose, spoke at the Methodist Church last evening, and told of the success of the coffee saloon in San Jose. Tea, coffee and sandwiches were sold, and the last month's business brought in about $2,000.

MAY LOSE THE DOWSETT LEASE

United States Attorney Breckons yesterday cabled to the Attorney General that he would be unable to secure an extension of two months on one of the Kahauki leases and it is possible that arrangements may be made for taking up the lease before the present option expires. The Dowsett Estate has, it is reported, refused to extend further the option given to the United States, though the Star Dairy has agreed to the proposition.

No reply has been received from Attorney General Knox as yet though it is possible that if arrangements can be made in any way possible the option will be taken up at once.

FREE TO MEN A Book That Brings Happiness

I know that no man remains a weakling because he wants to; I am sure that you want to overcome every indication of early decay that has shown itself on you. I don't think the man lives who would not like to feel as big and strong as a Sandow, and I know that if you have a reasonable foundation to build upon I can make you a bigger man than you ever hoped to be. I want you to know that, you who can't believe it, and I want you to have my book in which I describe how I learned that manly strength was only electricity, and how I learned to restore it; also I want to tell you the names of some men who will tell you that when they came to me they were physical wrecks and are now among the finest specimens of physical manhood.

A HAPPY MAN

Dear Sir: Having used your famous electric belt for thirty days, I have received the greatest benefit that a man could gain—that is, health and strength. The tired, despondent feeling has gone, I feel the beginning of a new life, and am ever your debtor.

P. O. box 482, Tucson, Arizona. W. E. CLARK.
I want you to read this book and learn the truth about my arguments. If you are not as vigorous as you would like to be, if you have rheumatic pains, weak kidneys, loss of power, day or night losses, prostatic troubles, nervous spells, varicocele or any ailment of that kind that unmanly you, it would assure you future happiness if you would link into this method of mine. Don't delay it; your best days are slipping by. If you want this book, I send it closely sealed free if you send this ad. Call for free consultation.

WAILUKU WANTS ROAD

Plan for Opening Up the Iao Valley.

New Line to Kihei Is Discussed by the Committee.

Hana People Working to Secure Opening Up of That Country as Soon as Possible.

WAILUKU, Maui, March 14.—The two committees appointed by the citizens of Wailuku to look after an appropriation for the Iao Valley road and other matters have been quite busy, and their reports are being sent in to the Legislature.

There is some diversity of opinion as to the route which the Iao Valley road should take from Wailuku to the entrance to the valley. A road from the end of Vineyard street, passing mauka of the cemetery was suggested, but the consensus of opinion now is that the Iao Valley road should be extended from Main street, deflecting from the street at the west end of town and following the grade of the ditch, which would practically make a level road, or one on an easy and regular grade from town to the entrance to the valley.

From the entrance to the valley a new road should be laid out, which would avoid all crossings and be above high water mark. This could be done by turning to the left at the first crossing and following up the Waikapu side of the stream until the table lands are reached. If, however, it would be better to go up on the Waihe'e side, then a substantial bridge should be erected at some point above the first crossing.

The question of a road extending from from the end of South Market street through the sand hills of Kihei is also being discussed. While it is of prime importance to have a good road to Kihei, still the route through the sandhills seems to be of dubious utility. The Maalaea Bay road runs directly from Wailuku to Kihei, and by leaving the Kihei road where it enters the kiawe brush near Camp 7, swinging round the marsh lands, a good and almost straight road, which could always be traveled, could be built to Kihei at but small cost, comparatively.

Want Roads to Hana.

MAUI, March 14.—Last evening, the 13th, the March evening of the Makawao Literary Society took place at the residence of Dr. W. F. McConkey of Paia. There was a good attendance of the district people, who were much amused with the evening's program:

1. Piano Solo—Alcazar (Intermezzo)..... Leonard Gautier
Miss Mosser.
2. Vocal Solo—"Only in Dreams"..... Mr. S. R. Dowdle.
3. Vocal Solo—"In the Deep Cold Sea"..... Mr. L. R. Crook.
4. A farce in two acts—"A Spinster of Arts".....
Dramatis Personae:
Mr. Kent, an old gentleman.....
..... Mr. E. B. Carley
Miss Anastasia Kent..... Miss Ethel Smith
Miss Henrietta Kent..... Miss Asbury
Percy Trimleigh..... Mr. Ed. Peck
Benton Maxwell..... Mr. D. T. Fleming
Hiram Green, hotel servant.....
..... Mr. W. O. Alken
Miss Mosser and Messrs. Dowdle and Crook received encores. The play was of a humorous nature and created much merriment.

The Maui Representatives have recently introduced petitions in the Legislature asking appropriations for the completion of the government road to Keanae and Kailua, Huelo. Contractors W. A. McKay and J. R. Higby have constructed a good road running from Hana through the mauka lands of Nahiku, half of the way to Keanae, though the thoroughfare from Nahiku towards Keanae is rather narrow. This road, when finished, will not only open to settlers many acres of new land, but also should prove most attractive to tourists and other strangers to Maui. The mountain scenery along this highway is very beautiful. There is a most luxuriant growth of tropical trees, shrubs and ferns, covered with a network of vines interspersed with rushing waterfalls close at hand to rustic bridges crossing the roadway. At present the descent from the new road to the old is a dilapidated fern trail, which in rainy weather is most dangerous to the traveler, his horse often plunging up to the girth in mud. Then the pathway below zig-zags up and down over four of the steepest and most frightful gulches in the Territory.

Some improvement on this should surely be made.

STRAY NOTES.

A St. Patrick's dance will be given in the K. of P. Hall, Wailuku, the evening of the 17th by some of the young men of Wailuku.

The Knights of Wailuku will give a ball in April in honor of the anniversary of the dedication of their hall.

The roads of Maui are being repaired and improved all over the Island.

During the week petitions to the Legislature, praying that the county seat be established at Wailuku, have been receiving many signatures in East Maui.

Work on the new Nahiku-Keanae ditch will be begun immediately—as soon as the requisite number of laborers can be conveyed thither.

It is stated that the recent cold weather has in some places destroyed—not the lantana—but the lantana blight.

Mrs. Philip Frear of Honolulu came from Hawaii this week and will make a visit of ten days at Wailuku and Paunene.

Mr. and Mrs. Jared G. Smith and child are at the Erehwon cattle station, Kula.

Attorney Avon Crook of Honolulu made a brief visit to Maui this week.

Senator C. H. Dickey made a flying trip to the Island this week on some private matters.

The position of nurse at the plantation hospitals is rather a trying one—hence there are frequent changes. Miss Ruby Smith of Oakland has recently taken charge at Spreckelsville. Miss Burrill, head nurse of Paia plantation hospital, has resigned and Miss Clara Dowdle of Oakland is expected by the next steamer to take her place. Miss Dowdle is a sister of Mr. S. R. Dowdle of the Kaupakulua school.

This morning the trustees of Maunaloa Seminary held a meeting at the Paia plantation office. Miss Clara M. Snow of Hampton, Va., has accepted the position of principal of Maunaloa Seminary to succeed Miss Alexander. Miss Snow has had much experience in teaching branches of industrial education while in Virginia. Miss Snow is expected on Maui by the middle of April.

Weather—Pleasant and dry; a light southerly wind blowing.

INFLUENZA is always more or less prevalent at this season of the year. This disease is very similar to a severe cold and if allowed to take its course is liable to cause serious results. The best treatment for influenza is to avoid exposure and take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. This medicine gives immediate relief and if used as directed, will ward off all dangerous consequences. It leaves the system in a natural and healthy condition. It always cures and cures quickly. Benson, Smith & Co., Ltd., wholesale agents, sell it.

Can't Eat

You certainly don't want to eat if you are not hungry. But you must eat, and you must digest your food, too. If not, you will become weak, pale, thin. Good food, good appetite, good digestion,—these are essential.

Mr. Robert Venus, of Luncheon, Tasmania, sends us his photograph and says: "I suffered greatly from loss of appetite, indigestion, pains in the stomach, weakness, and nervousness. Several doctors tried in vain to give me relief. A friend then induced me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, for it had done him much good. The first bottle worked wonders for me. Soon my appetite came back, my indigestion was cured, and I was strong and hearty."

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

There are many imitations "Sarsaparilla." Be sure you get Ayer's.

Keep your bowels in good condition by using Ayer's Pills. They cure constipation, coated tongue, biliousness, sick headache.

CHINESE LABOR MADE IT POSSIBLE TO DEVELOP

Editor Advertiser: Mr. W. N. Armstrong, in his interesting paper in last Sunday's Advertiser, regards the introduction of Asiatics in past years as likely to affect injuriously the future of Hawaii. Within fifty years, he thinks, people of Asiatic origin will be in the majority here, and "the white man, though he has not done so purposely, has made the backbone of the Territory Asiatic and Portuguese, and he must abide by the logic of his own acts."

Civilization, with its accompanying progress in trade, science, art, and everything that elevates humanity, which makes life worth while, either advances or recedes and finally disappears. It is the centers of trade which usually have shown the highest type of civilization. We may wish that something better than the cursed hunger for gold were effective in producing conditions favorable to human progress, but history is inexorable and permits no dream of progress unattended by material prosperity.

What, then, was the best thing for Hawaii when its main source of revenue, the whaling fleet, was destroyed and the whaling business, on which Honolulu and Lahaina depended, died out? What besides sugar and rice was there to work up as an industry? What was there to encourage immigration, when the white people already here had sought in vain for means of getting a living? Natives never worked in the fields to any extent after the end of the system of compulsory labor for the chiefs, following the great Mabele or allotment of lands made by the king and chiefs in 1847. Nor have whites ever worked much in cane or rice fields unless they belonged to the Mediterranean race, of which the Portuguese are part. The reasons for this are immaterial. The logic of the condition was either to get people who would do that work or to see the whites who were here gradually leave the country, except the small number who had intermarried with the Hawaiians, or who belonged to the official, consular and diplomatic corps, the surviving missionaries, the small number of mechanics who could get work, and the few commercial houses required to do the business of the country. To be sure, Hawaii might in time have been absorbed by one of the predatory nations who would have made the same conditions here which they have made in India,

Egypt, Africa and elsewhere among weaker peoples. Chinese, who made the overland railroad possible several years earlier than it otherwise would have been, have not affected the back-bone of California. Today the beet sugar industry, on which that state mainly depends outside of its meat product, requires Japanese for its success. The difference between Japanese and Chinese, in the fact that the latter never assimilate with our race, and never interfere with our affairs, and who under treaties between China and the United States can either be excluded or admitted under conditions which require them to work on the soil and not to compete in trades, is self-evident. Was it better, then, for Hawaii to prolong indefinitely the era of the taro patch and grass hut—conditions like those of Samoa and Tahiti today—or to develop its great industries in the only way that was practicable—by Chinese labor supplemented by Portuguese?

I confess that I find myself regretting the life of the early day and its simplicity and charm, which have been rudely displaced by what the world esteems as progress; but I am far from thinking that the material gains which have been made in Hawaii will be a drawback to its higher civilization. Already we see coming back to their early home in Hawaii the young men and women who have been enabled to equip themselves in the States with training to do the professional and scientific work which formerly was done mainly by pioneers and adventurers from abroad. There is going to be plenty of good work to do in Hawaii and it is the children of Hawaii who ought to, and I think will, take the greatest satisfaction in doing that work and doing it well.

Pioneers and adventurers are not a bad kind for developing a country. Between that class and those who have come here in later years and those who continue to come while general prosperity shall enable them to get their living here, I have no fear of the "back-bone" of Hawaii. Americans who have made Hawaii what it is can well afford, I think, to "abide by the logic of their own acts," comparing the results with conditions produced elsewhere by European Utlanders.

ALFRED S. HARTWELL.

SYMPATHY OF THE HONOLULU ELKS

At the regular Friday evening meeting of the Honolulu Lodge of Elks, the following resolution was adopted:

Whereas, It hath pleased our Almighty and Merciful Father to remove our beloved brother, George Hons, from our midst, we, in bending to His Divine decree, desire to express to his bereaved family our sincere appreciation of the many sterling qualities which our brother possessed and our deep regret that he was cut off so early in his earthly career, thus depriving us, his brethren of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, of his society and the enjoyment of his manifold gifts; be it therefore

Resolved, That the fraternal sympathy and condolence of Honolulu Lodge, No. 616, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks be tendered to the family of our deceased brother in their bereavement; and be it further

Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon the records of the lodge, and that a copy of same be forwarded to the family of our deceased brother.

to the Republican measure in the shape of motions to substitute Home Rule bill clauses.

While the county bill committee of the Senate has asked for more time, there is a belief that its report will be forthcoming much earlier and that simultaneous action may be had on the measure.

One of the most important things to be done today is the meeting of the Senate committee on agriculture this afternoon, at which time representatives of the commercial bodies will be present and a general discussion as to the Department of Agriculture will be had.

M. C. A. hall, under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A., and he will tell how Aguinaldo was captured on that historic occasion.

Do not mistake me. There was no irreverence in this, no lack of respect for the grim power that will reach out some day and gather us all to itself. High and lowly, we raise our hats to death passing by. The trappings men put upon the destroyer tell other, and various stories. The native crowd went home, sad and sorrowful. Each incident of the day and each part of the pageant had, to them, a meaning symbolic of the end that is to come to us all—may, to some, it may have carried even a deeper meaning, of the doom that will slowly sweep them, as a race, from the sons of earth.

FUNERAL IMPRESSES OBSERVER

By Sol. N. Sheridan.

It was weather for the funeral of a king. That is the old Hawaiian of it. It was weather to make a white man's holiday. That is the nineteenth century Americanism of it.

Americans are not much accustomed to state funerals. The American eye is too vivid to permit of the putting on by the whole nation, at one time, of the trappings of woe.

Not now, as in the old days, did naked painted heathen howl around the bier of the dead, making the whole earth a saturnalia for their lawless passions and now and again, when they thought of it, knocking out a tooth or killing one of the common people.

Do not mistake me. There was no irreverence in this, no lack of respect for the grim power that will reach out some day and gather us all to itself. High and lowly, we raise our hats to death passing by.

WANT LAW ON BUILDING

Important Plans of Builders Exchange.

Bill is Now Ready for Introduction in Legislature.

Many Safeguards Placed About Buildings in the Honolulu District.

Committees and directors of the Builders and Traders' Exchange have completed and approved the bill which will be introduced in the Legislature to regulate building in the District of Honolulu. This district, in general, may be said to include the territory from the Diamond Head light to Kalihi Valley.

It is provided, first, that within the fire limits exterior and party walls shall be constructed of brick, concrete or stone, or of brick, concrete or stone and iron mixed.

The most important general provision is that all buildings 75 feet in height or over shall be of fireproof construction, with walls of brick, stone or terra cotta, in which timber lintels or bonds shall not be placed. All iron or steel shall be covered with terra cotta or other fire-resisting material, and the floors, roofs and partitions shall be of materials similar to the walls. It is provided also that stairs, landings, etc., shall be incombustible. Elaborate provisions are made also for fire walls, proper roofings, and ample protection against the spreading of fire within the fire limits.

As regards construction proper, the provision is made that all foundations shall be built of stone, concrete or brick laid on solid earth, sand or rock foundations. The footing or base course under all foundation walls not resting on rock shall be eight inches wider than the foundation wall. Foundation walls, that portion below the level of the street curb, shall be of a standard depth of 10 feet, and provision is made for responsibility in case this standard depth is not observed by builders. The outer walls of two-story dwellings or similar buildings shall be 12 inches thick for first and eight inches for second stories. In all buildings other than dwellings, the thickness of walls is thus provided: One story, basement 16, first story 12; two-story, basement 16, 12, 12; three story, basement 20, 16, 12, 12; four-

FOR WEAK NERVES.

"The battle of life to-day is not fought with the muscles but with the nervous system," so says Sir J. Crichton Browne, a high medical authority. Another authority, the late Dr. J. M. Fothergill, adds, "The more the digestion weakens and the liver and kidneys become inactive and sluggish, the more the blood becomes laden with waste matters, causing many disorders; among them gout, rheumatism, heart trouble, asthma and prostration of the nerves. A strong set of nerves, a set to work with, a set to enable you to stand the world's battles and collisions without breaking down, must be a well-nourished set of nerves; and well-fed nerves have got to be part and parcel of a strong, well-fed body. That is the idea; and how then are weak people going to obtain the strength and the assimilating power which lies behind it? By using WAMPOLE'S PREPARATION a remedy known all over the world as the most genuine and quick acting of food-tonics and blood purifiers. You will search far for a case of debility—no matter what the ultimate cause—which this modern and scientific medicine cannot at once relieve and cure. It is palatable as honey and contains all the nutritive and curative properties of Pure Cod Liver Oil, extracted by us from fresh cod livers, combined with the Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites and the Extracts of Malt and Wild Cherry. Dr. Edward Clark says: "From a long experience in the use of cod liver oil, I have no hesitancy in saying that I regard your preparation the best one on the market." It cannot fail, and is beneficial from the first dose. Guaranteed to increase weight and renew strength. If hard to please, try it. Genuine is sold by all chemists here and everywhere throughout the world.

story, basement 20, 20, 16, 16, 12; five-story, basement 24, 20, 20, 16, 16, 12. No story enclosed by a 12-inch wall shall be over 90 feet high; 16-inch-wall, 25 feet high; 20-inch wall, 45 feet high. In rubble stone walls, one-fourth shall be added to the thickness.

Another important provision is that no brick or stone shall be supported on stringers of wood, and no stone or iron steps shall be set on wooden bases. As to material, it is provided that no swelled or refused brick shall be used, and old brick must be thoroughly cleansed and wetted. Mortar shall be equal to mortar composed of not less than one part Portland cement, one part best lime, and five parts sharp sand; for brick or stone work below ground the proportion is one part of cement to three parts of sand. Concrete in foundations must be satisfactory to the Building Inspector.

Provision for combinations of iron and steel and other materials in external walls is made, with the proviso that inside the fire limits such parts shall be wholly protected by terra cotta, brick or plastering.

One of the most important of all the provisions of this measure concerns small frame buildings. In this section it is set forth that all frame buildings shall have the outer walls formed with studding covered with rustic or weather boarding, and in no case shall studding be allowed against the sides of adjoining buildings. In the case of one-story buildings covering an area of not more than 1,200 square feet, these may be constructed from one and a quarter material for walls, with strengthening girts. This is practically the economical method of constructing small houses at the present time, and will not bear harshly upon the cheaper buildings. Provision is made as well for bridging in frame buildings, to prevent air spaces which might serve as air flues. The provisions for the foundations of frame buildings, except those costing less than $1,200 or covering an area less than 1,200 feet, provide for brick, stone or concrete in varying widths.

The provisions for assembly halls are stringent as to exits. No stairway shall ascend more than 10 feet without a platform, nor may have more than three turns. Aisles must average four feet in width, with provisions for greater space in large buildings. Doors must open outwardly, and must be not less than four feet in width, aggregating 16 inches for each 100 persons the room may accommodate. Provision is made for marking of exits. Stand pipes with hose attachments must be provided in every hall.

In dealing with hotel and similar buildings, where more than 25 persons are to be accommodated, it is provided that the walls must be of masonry, with main halls wider than the cross-halls, and with stairways at either end when more than fifty feet long. Fire gongs must be provided at the head of each stairway, with fire escapes and stand pipes furnishing ample protection against fire.

Providing for the use of the space under sidewalks, the bill makes it necessary to have a wall constructed at the curb-line, the sidewalk to be supported by incombustible material, and no high-pressure steam boiler shall be located under a public sidewalk. The thickness of metal in any cast-iron post or column is made three-quarters of an inch.

The provision as to bay or oriel windows is that neither shall project over the line of any street more than three feet, nor shall its bottom be less than 15 feet from the sidewalk, with the further provision that neither shall be constructed upon any street less than forty feet in width. The same tendency to protect the streets is evidenced in a section devoted to awnings, signs and balconies. Awnings must be covered with fire proof material and supported on iron brackets to be 10 feet above the curb, cloth awnings being permitted at eight feet above the curb. All awnings must have iron gutters, with leaders to carry off water. No sign shall be placed on any wall of a building higher than its blocking course or fire-wall, and no sign shall exceed three feet in height, each to be securely bolted to the building. No frame work shall be placed above the roof of any building and covered with inflammable material for signs, or for any other purpose. No balcony shall be constructed overhanging the street, except on fireproof buildings.

As to fire escapes, it is provided that every building of three stories or more shall have sufficient means of egress, and metal fire escapes shall be provided where operatives are employed above the second floor.

Passenger and freight elevators must be inspected once in six months, and the restrictions as to engines and boilers are very rigid.

The necessity for permits is accented, and the fees are placed at $1 when the cost shall not exceed $1,000, with a slight advance above that figure as the cost of structure increases.

The inspector provided for is to be an architect, builder or civil engineer, who shall give $10,000 bond and receive $250 a month. The exclusion under the act covers $100 worth of repairs outside the fire limits.

Ten probate notices and notices to creditors to file claims, appear in the OFFICIAL AND COMMERCIAL RECORD and in no other Honolulu paper. Buy a copy and see if you are interested in any of these estates, or if they owe you any money.

KAMEHAMEHAS WIN FROM SECOND Y'S

With a sweep that carried everything before them, the Kamehameha girls basketball team put to rout the second team of the Y. W. C. A. yesterday afternoon at the Kamehameha school. In the first half they rolled up their score of ten and allowed their opponents but one point, which the Y. W. C. A. obtained by profiting by a foul. Though one sided, the game was perhaps the fastest this season.

At the opening of the game the Y. W. C. A. team seemed blessed with too much confidence, and before they fairly got down to work the speedy Kamehameha girls had rolled up six points. The playing was spirited and fast, and once the association team got started they worked well, but what with splendid team work and trick plays the Kamehamehas forced the ball into the basket twice more during the half, and the Y. W. C. A. team was only able to make a solitary point.

The second half was as fast as the first, but by adding several players from their first team, the Y. W. C. A. managed to hold, and while they kept the other team from scoring, they failed to make anything for themselves and the game ended with the score 10 to 1 in favor of Kamehameha.

Without doubt, the victors of yesterday have a team second to none, and a game between them and Punahou, the present champions, would be well worth seeing. It also brought to light some new talent; and Hattie Jones, the Kamehameha captain, is perhaps the best player in the girls' league, her accurate pitching and willingness to take chances on long throws being especially noticeable.

The field being new to a majority of the association players may have been against them, but on the other hand the Kamehameha girls made a large number of errors, so that if the other side had been at all accurate in throwing they would have rolled up a good score by taking advantage of chances.

A pleasant incident of the afternoon was the singing of a few encouraging words by the Kamehameha girl students as their players appeared upon the field.

The teams were as follows: Kamehameha—Hattie Jones, captain, Lillian Munday, Kaeli Waiata, Lani Wonghong, Achoy Ahu, Mary Aea. Y. W. C. A.—Jessie Prazier, captain, Nina Craig, Anna Tucker, Carlotta Steward, Edna Craig, Elizabeth Dutot; substitutes—Leta Wright, Belle Dickey, Carrie Crewse, Jean Center.

Sporting Notes

A fine colt has been foaled by Magnet, the one time racing wonder. The sire is Weller, and the little animal has all the marks of the great racer. The colt is receiving the best of care from the attendants at Prince David's stable, and will be looked upon as a coming winner.

The bay pacer which has been known as the "Kauai Wonder" is believed to be none other than the old wonder Tout, which Rice drove in the gentlemen's driving race of last June 11. Both Weday and Agnew are training for their match, and promise to put up a hard fight when they get together.

MISS WALDORF AS JOSEPHINE

Before an audience all too small, counting the worth of the play and the values of the performances of the leading members of the company, the Waldorf company Saturday evening at the Opera House presented the historical drama "A Royal Divorce," in a manner worthy of the applause which was given throughout the play. The large cast rendered the realism of many of the striking scenes all the more effective, and the scenic accessories and the tableaux were given such color and relief as to add materially to the perfection of the evening's entertainment.

The interest of the part centers of course about Miss Waldorf as Josephine and McGregor as Napoleon, and to them belongs in the greatest part the success of the evening. Miss Waldorf displayed the quality of her part in the very first act, setting a note of clearness in her portrayal of the wronged Empress, who consents to the divorcing in the interest of the Emperor and his Empire, placing her coronet at his feet with a perfection of acting which delighted, and won the most hearty applause of the evening. Likewise in her scene with the Austrian (Mrs. Dow-Currier) she rose to a height of pathos and force which was overshadowing. It was in the third act, when she protects the Empress Marie Louise from the Parisian mob that she showed the real quality which marks her most finished roles, and stamped the part as one in which she is seen to the greatest advantage.

McGregor looks the part fairly, his conception being the stereotyped one, with hand in coat front and melancholy visage, though he does not affect the stride which has marked the interpretation of others, among them Sir Henry Irving. He was effective in the divorce scene and affecting in the leaving-taking, his acting gaining force until the end at St. Helena, when he imparted something more than was to be expected to the rather commonplace situation.

Mrs. Dow-Currier was an effective Empress and Miss Stanley was not misplaced as the Stephanie. Of the others the least said the better perhaps, though each filled in the groundwork of the picture from which stood out so clearly the work of the stars of the performance.

On Tuesday next a big double bill will be presented in the two farcical comedies "Facing the Music" and "The Wrong Mr. Wright."

A GRAND ARMY LEADER COMING

A letter has been received by the commander of George W. de Long Post, G. A. R., in this city, to the effect that among the passengers who will reach Honolulu by the Siberia, expected to reach port today, is General W. W. Blackmar, department commander of the Grand Army for the state of Massachusetts. General Blackmar will be accompanied by his wife, and by Miss F. R. Brewer of Hingham, Massachusetts. The party will not stop here, being en route to China and Japan, but it is their purpose to make an extended stay in Honolulu on their return from the Orient. In the meantime, Commander Dietz of De Long Post, General Hartwell, and other men prominent in Grand Army circles, with ladies, will meet General Blackmar and his party at the wharf when the Siberia comes in and extend the hospitalities of Honolulu to them.

General Blackmar, whose home is in Boston, is a distinguished soldier of the War of the Rebellion. He served through the war with a Massachusetts regiment, doing valiant service and being mustered out with honor. More than that, he was a college mate of General Hartwell, and he therefore will not be among strangers in this city. As a matter of fact, of course an old soldier in good standing, and particularly one identified with the Grand Army so prominently as General Blackmar has been, is at home wherever there are comrades enough to sit around the camp fire and smoke a pipe. His brief visit to this city will therefore be made memorable, and extensive plans will be made for his better entertainment when he gets back from his trip to the Orient.

Concert Tonight.

If the Siberia arrives today from the Coast, tonight's band concert will be given at the Hawaiian Hotel, otherwise at Emma Square. The program is as follows:

Important Reasons

Why Herring-Hall-Marvin Safe Co. Safes and Locks are the Best.

The concrete filling makes these safes absolutely fire proof and positively damp proof. The solid angle corners add greatly to their security in time of fire and form the only solid corners made. The patent Bolt Work is superior to any in use and does not require the constant oiling, cleaning and repairs that is acknowledged in other makes of safes. That although 600,000 of these safes are now in use and many thousands have been tested by some of the most disastrous conflagrations in the United States, there is not a single instance on record wherein one of them ever failed to preserve its contents perfectly. They make safes for county treasurers, county recorders, county clerks, jewelers, hotels, residences, churches and corporations. We have a large assortment of safes on hand and will be pleased to show same.

DEMAND FOR SUGAR SHIPS

Schooner in Port From Hongkong for Cargo.

All the Way Across the Pacific in Ballast.

There Are Plenty of Ships if They Will Only Come Here.

The harvesting of the sugar crop on the island of Kauai—as well as on the other islands—is now in full blast, and the Inter-Island boats, running to the Garden Isle, are coming in every trip loaded to the guards with the saccharine product. Not all the sugar that is grown on Kauai comes to Honolulu for shipment, but the bulk of it does. The W. G. Hall, which reached this city yesterday, brought 6,000 bags. The Waiialeale had 3,149 bags in her hold this trip, and 3,300 bags on her trip made earlier in the week. The Iwailani brought 5,000 bags on Saturday, and the Nihaui 7,050 bags on her last trip.

And still the sugar is piling up at the landings, although the Nihaui, now at Ahukini, has reported that she will bring all the sugar there is at that port on her next trip. She will reach Honolulu on Tuesday.

The purser of the W. G. Hall reports in sight on Kauai as follows: Mak, 10,800 bags; G. & R., 2,200 bags; McB., 4,200 bags; K. P., 1,170 bags; H. M., 1,750 bags; G. F., 1,575 bags; M. S. Co., 50,250 bags; K. S. Co., 8,500 bags.

In the meantime, the sugar fleet in the harbor here are not sufficient to carry away the cargoes in sight. There is, in fact, a demand for shipping that is likely to grow stronger before it lessens, a fact that seems to have become known to ship owners for it is reported that there will soon be a number of bottoms on the way to take sugar from Honolulu. One of these new sugar ships, the splendid four-masted schooner J. H. Lunsmann, Captain Johnson, came into port yesterday, forty days from Hongkong, in ballast. In fact, there are plenty of ships available for the sugar carrying trade, if it can only be arranged so that they can connect with the cargoes.

AORANGI MAKES QUICK TRIP

The Canadian-Australian S. S. Aorangi arrived in port last evening at 7 o'clock after a quick voyage of seven days from Vancouver. The vessel left Vancouver at 7:12 a. m., March 8, and Victoria at 3 p. m. same day. After leaving Cape Flattery the vessel encountered strong head winds with rough sea for the first two days and afterwards fresh to moderate winds. The steamer left Vancouver two days late owing to the big strike of employees of the Canadian Pacific Railway and docks, compelling the ship's people to load in their cargo. The Aorangi departed for the Colonies at 12 o'clock midnight. Among her passengers for Honolulu were Mr. and Mrs. J. Douglas, the former being a son of Sir James Douglas, the first premier of Canada. He comes to Honolulu to spend a vacation. Prof. D'Albert is a musician.

Geneva's Owner Here.

Captain William Grant, owner of the sealing schooner Geneva, which is lying in port condemned by a Board of Survey, arrived in the Aorangi last evening from Victoria, to investigate the affairs of the little vessel.

Shipping Notes.

The Claudine yesterday brought in 3706 bags of sugar from Maui.

The purser of the Waiialeale reports that it was raining on the island of Kauai when his steamer left there.

There were no vessels in the port of Kauai when the Claudine sailed. However, the ship Fort George is due and should have reached port by this time.

The hulk Paramita has finished discharging her cargo of coal and has been hauled out into the stream, where she awaits the orders of her owners as to what shall be done with her.

The pursers of the Inter-Island boats report smooth weather in all the channels, so that the storm that has been hovering over Honolulu for a day or two has not broken anywhere as yet.

The four-masted schooner J. H. Lunsmann, Captain Johnson, forty days from Hongkong in ballast, came into port yesterday morning early. She had pleasant weather all the way across the Pacific.
