NO EXTENSION OF SESSION IS PROBABLE

Speaker Beckley Does Some Pretty Plain Talking to Members of the House.

The House did a very creditable amount of business yesterday, although there was some advance made upon a special bill. A large number of committee reports were cleared out of the way, after Speaker Beckley had read the members a little lecture on the subject of the way to get the most and the best out of a session by keeping the mind absolutely free on all non-essential matters at the opening of the morning session. The business of the House ran as smoothly after that, as the business of a school room does following discussion, in generalization on the part of the master. The House, in fact, is in something of an anxious state, and this condition must continue so long as the Governor holds the county bill. Incidentally to this, the Speaker said he had been reliably informed that the Governor would not grant an extension of the session at the end of the statutory sixty days. And that statement furnished food for thought.

The Senate session yesterday was of the liveliest since the Legislature began its meetings, but withal there was a lot of business transacted. The Legislature was the worst dealt of trouble in the morning, which resulted in Senator Brown resigning as chairman of the Judiciary Committee. The bill has some strong enemies in the Senate.

In the afternoon the Governor sent a nomination to the Senate, that of Alexander Lindsay as chairman of the Oahu registration board, which was passed without opposition.

The ominous back bill went through as it came from the House and the committee recommendations as to the language qualification which passed second reading were knocked out and with but slight change the House bill passed. As the measure was passed it is said to be unconstitutional and a prominent law teacher says that there will not be the least difficulty in wiping it from the statute books, if the Japanese and Chinese are discriminated against in fact.

Both the salary and the loan bill went over, the former being referred to a special committee to investigate the question of salaries. The loan bill may be scaled down to the limit imposed by the Organic Act, and there was a caucus for that purpose last evening.

The jury bill passed third reading as it came from the House, with but little amendment. The Federal water bill went through after a short sharp battle on the part of Candless. An amendment is made providing that the water shall be paid for from current expenses in lieu of bonds.

AN EXTRA SESSION OF CONGRESS IS TO BE CALLED IN NOVEMBER

The President Has Had Word Conveyed to the Cuban Executive That the Tariff Will Be Taken Up in Autumn So as to Put the Reciprocity Treaty Into Effect.

(WAIL SPECIAL TO THE ADVERTISER)

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 6.—A very exceptional thing in federal politics, which will give party leaders nothing to talk about and plan about all through the hot season, has developed this last week:—practical assurance of an extra session of Congress beginning November 9 next. The President has talked it over with Senator Campbell, chairman of the Committee on Foreign Relations, and Senator Allison, the chairman of the Appropriations committee, indicating that November 9 is the date he has settled upon, which is the Monday immediately following the November elections. It is rare that extra sessions are known about positively seven months ahead of time.

A little less than a year ago, in the midst of the Cubist campaign, President Roosevelt had semi-officially known that he was going to call an extra session of Congress, the following autumn or the present Spring for a revision of the tariff. The big Republicans in both branches of Congress dis- sipated him from such a course, demonstrating that it would be fruitless and would probably work him and his administration in reverse. The President has permitted Secretary of State Hay to announce officially to the Cuban Congress that an extra session would be called in the autumn to enact the necessary tariff legislation to put the Cuban treaty into effect. Accordingly there seems to be no escaping from it. A puzzling situation arises from that decision. One year ago last winter, when the Republicans had majority in the House, they were overthrown on Cuban legislation by a rebellion within their own ranks, the recalcitrants joining with the solid Democratic minority. In the present House the bill

SHAMROCK III IS DAMAGED IN A GALE

At 11.45 P.M., yesterday, the schooner Shamrock III, owned by the Hawaiian Steamship Company, struck a buoy and was damaged about 70 feet from the bows. The Captain reported that the damage amounted to $500.

TAYLOR IS FURTHER IMPLICATED

A new point has been added to Thomas Taylor's case. Sailing Master L. Shanirock, of the schooner Sabina, said that he had been given a letter by Mr. Taylor giving him a position on the foremast. Mr. Taylor, it is said, was using the letter to secure employment on foreign vessels. The letter was given to him by the late Mr. C. E. Taylor, who had been a member of the Board of Health for many years, and who had been implicated in the typhoid fever case. The letter has now been found on Mr. Taylor, and it is said that it was written by Mr. Taylor to Mr. C. E. Taylor.

Sentry Edward F. Way, of the Hawaiian Steamship Company, said that the letter was found on Mr. Taylor when he was arrested. The letter was found on Mr. Taylor when he was arrested.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 17.—The cable to the Farallones in operation.

The cable to the Farallones has been under construction for some time and is designed for the early reporting of ship- ping entering the Golden Gate and also for use in securing tags in case localised vessels are in danger of drifting on the rocks.

Land Bill Amendments.

DUBLIN, April 17.—The national convention to consider the land bill has adjourned. It is believed that the amendments proposed will be acceptable to Parliament and that the measure with these changes will pass the House of Commons.

publicans have about thirty majority, so that the defection of four of them will come near upsetting administration plans. It will be surprising if that number of men cannot be rallied, but in any event the President will have to take a hand this summer of whipping a considerable handful of Representatives of the Republican party into line. It will also present a problem of serious nature right at the threshold of his term as Speaker for "Uncle Sam" of Illinois who will take up the gavel for the first time at that session.

The opposition of some large states chiefly from California, Nebraska, Michigan, Minnesota, and West Virginia. There were a few from other states, such as Ohio, Maine, and Massachu-ettes. President Roosevelt finally got the Republican Republicans from those states mostly in a subservient mood, although in an unguarded way they were fighting concessions to Cuba right down to the day the treaty was ratified. To fully line the Republican party in the House up solidly for the legislation will undoubtedly begin on the President's Western tour, but he will stop short, to the best of his personal popularity in most of the states where the recalcitrants abide.

These things have significance far beyond their immediate 3reaty for it means an effort to divide the Republican party on the tariff issue. There is a very interesting parliamentary situation in prospect for at the opening of every Congress there is a trial within the Republican party to modify the fixed rules and the best sugar recalculators, so-called, will have an immediate incentive to prevent the adoption of what the Democrats term a gag law to prevent extensive debate in the House on tariff questions. Iowa, Wisconsin, Wisconsin, and Massachusetts are big Republican states that want some change in the tariff and the influence of their Representatives, unless urged, will go to any program that points the way for revenue. Unless great concessions are made on a line of things in the House, there will be opportunity for amending the Cuban measure in the House so as to apply to general tariff rates in all on the ability of the Republican party to hold the deliberations strictly to the Cuban business.

THE POSTOFFICE SCANDAL

The storm within the Postoffice Department, which people on the inside, have known for a long time to be impending, broke during the past week and the details of proceedings, in-agitated by President Roosevelt over the head of Postmaster General, Mr. Payne, to claim that Department of corrupt and improper business dealings, have been made known throughout the states.

The prolonged Republican role developed strange situations in several of the big business departments. The importance of postmasters and the extensive pledges of the presidential campaign of 1900, contributed to the unsatisfactory situation. President Roosevelt, coming into office without any pledges because of his unexpected promotion from the office of Vice-Prez-ident, first set about cleaning the Treasury Department. Officials in that capacity, either inquinated or unfit for their duties, in that great business department, have been gradually weeded out and competent men put in their places. This has been done so carefully that the change has not been published to the public with any details, so as to have attracted much comment, but Mr. Roosevelt did not hold in the White House a month before he sent the name of his confidential friend of his invention to reanimate the Transmission Department, under which comes the duties of civil postmasters, which are derived from internal revenue and customs and the administration of laws and regulations affecting the

Postal

He has now progressed well along with that work, when he issued his attack on the Postoffice Department. The beginnings were accomplished by the First Assistant Postmaster General, Mr. Robert J. Wyne, the acting Postmaster

General while Mr. Payne is cruising in the West Indies on a three-month trip in company with the Secretary of the Navy.

The first step, Superintendent George W. Beavers of the sales-and allowances division, which new duties, with enforcement, a fund of $20,000,000 annually for the hire of postal liners, the power to hire or rent post offices to the number of many thousand, was a powerful weapon to the activity of civil postmasters, some of whom have been put in charge of the office and it will be administered now according to the President's views.

The Fourth Assistant Postmaster General, Mr. Bristow, a very competent and able official, is feared is feared by officials of the Postoffice Department. He is working under the President's personal direction, although in the office of Postmaster General, his report will have to be made to the Postmaster General.

Not only current expenditures but rank favories have been abolished in the last ten years by subordinate postmasters, who have grown so bold that they dared act independently of their superiors. The inauguration of postal savings banks (of which Congress is now appropriating $12,500,000 annually with a proposed increase to $20,000,000) has enabled the Postoffice

Department to require 4,000 separate routes, has been followed by remarkable results. Congress, who could get no information, has put in favor of a subordinate official, had them their districts literally shifted" with new routes. Inspectors for the enforcement of these rules were easily sent there, but other Congressmen, in the favor of the head of the Postoffice Department, the Postmaster General, Mr. A. T. Sampson, is a former Democrat, has been far less successful. As those new bureaus became exceedingly desirable, because it gives Congress a picture of the distribution of rural routes beyond the opportunity for building up and maintaining public and personal influence among the officials of Democratic parties. Following this other abuses developed. The fight for the clean administration in this great department has made good progress but it is not yet over and will add materially to the stability of the Capital during the next three or four months, or a complete reorganization is expected.

Pains in the Back

Are symptoms of a weak back, or stagnant condition of the kidneys, a reason to use a massage? Many people believe it can help reduce tension, strengthen muscles, and promote general well-being.

We have found that some massage techniques can provide temporary relief, but it's important to address the underlying causes of pain.

If you're experiencing discomfort, consider consulting with a healthcare professional to determine the best course of action.

A rather obscure cablegram announcing that a San Francisco paper had been used for libel for publishing the “Merry letters” is explained in the receipt of the April 11th file of The Call. That journal prints several anonymous missives signed “W. A. X.,” which it is admitted to Admiral Merry, late of the Honolulu naval station. This correspondence, originating in Honolulu in 1892-93, is addressed to Mrs. Mary Ashton, the half-Hawaiian wife of a real estate man of San Francisco. The writer speaks in his more sedate paragraphs of “having rather the best of the Bishop Estates,” in the Pearl Harbor circle, and of being at a card party with the Puines, and other well-known naval people. The passages of affection, some of which are only partially praeticed by The Call, are of a character to win Admiral Merry heavy damages in case the San Francisco paper cannot prove his authorship.

All bidders must deposit $100 with the court-appointed receiver, M. McPherson, before participating in the sale. The sale will be conducted in accordance with the provisions of the Missouri Revised Statutes, Chapter 452, relating to the sale of real estate by order of the court.
The business men and shipper of Honolulu have taken in dead earnest the matter of the development of the Pineapple and wharfage facilities of the city, and propose to see whether some needed work cannot be done in the interest of the commerce of the port, and consequently the interest of the whole territory. The plans of Superintendent of Public Works Cooper, in the first place, was called for a $700,000 improvement of general harbor improvement. It was believed by shipping men and is still their belief that every cent of this amount would be needed if the work was completed. Governor Dole, however, cut this estimate to $400,000, and that work that would not do the work needed, still it would suffer to make a start at it.

Here, the suggestion is a letter at the estimates, next, and that body cut down the Governor's estimate to $250,000, and, in effect, that would be about as good as it was possible to do. It is necessary to a proper understanding of the situation, to propose that many of the wharves are in a truly deplorable condition. They are extensive in fact, that they are in daily danger of falling down, and in that entire space between the wharves and the foot of the dock is a stone dock that is safe to land freight upon. When the Kaimoa was in the hold of the Wilbur company cannot settle to more than $100 tons of coal on her dock at one time. If more is put upon it the coal structure at once begins to fail, and the Pacific wharf is in such evil case that freight must be hauled away from it as it is known by the number of coal loaded on it and coal in the train is taken out in such a manner, that the mill cannot remain in business at all, and it must be abandoned altogether. If they are not separated larger vessels would go to the Pacific wharf, where there was a sufficient depth of water to permit going in and it is no weak.

Now, it is the present issue of the Wilder and Inter- Island Express to appear in new quarters at the foot of the extension of Queen street, just beyond the Brewer wharf, and the plans of Superintendent Cooper called for the building of a wharf house for hoisting the smaller vessels, such as those at the Naval Station, four of them, between the Brewer and Navy wharves and the Navy house, back to Allen street, making the harbor one of the most commodious in the country for all shipping. The present plan, however, cannot be had to do the work all over, in to start the new ones, being only two of the smaller.

To that expense, last night at Republican headquarters between representatives of the tailing of the city, the mayor, W. G. Ireland, & Co., T. H. Daines & Co., & Co., and the public and the Senate in the party of the government, and the party of the opposition, and the legislative leaders was trying to sell the idea that the Real Estate business in the commerce of the port. A number of the Republican candidates were hand in hand with his plans, also, in explain away doubtful points.

The vote of the council was rather satisfactory, on all hands inasmuch as the merchants would probably be given a million—on which we will see half million given in the ap- proval bill to start this very necessary work. One of them said, "We believe it's the right thing," that the coal wharves were repaired and strengthened and two of the new ones built, and the work could be sold without the demand made, and the largely increased revenue, inasmuch as many ships that are now hoisting at the old wharves would be taken to the new ones, and at the government wharves if they could shop floors if they could be accommodated, and could go to them in safety.
