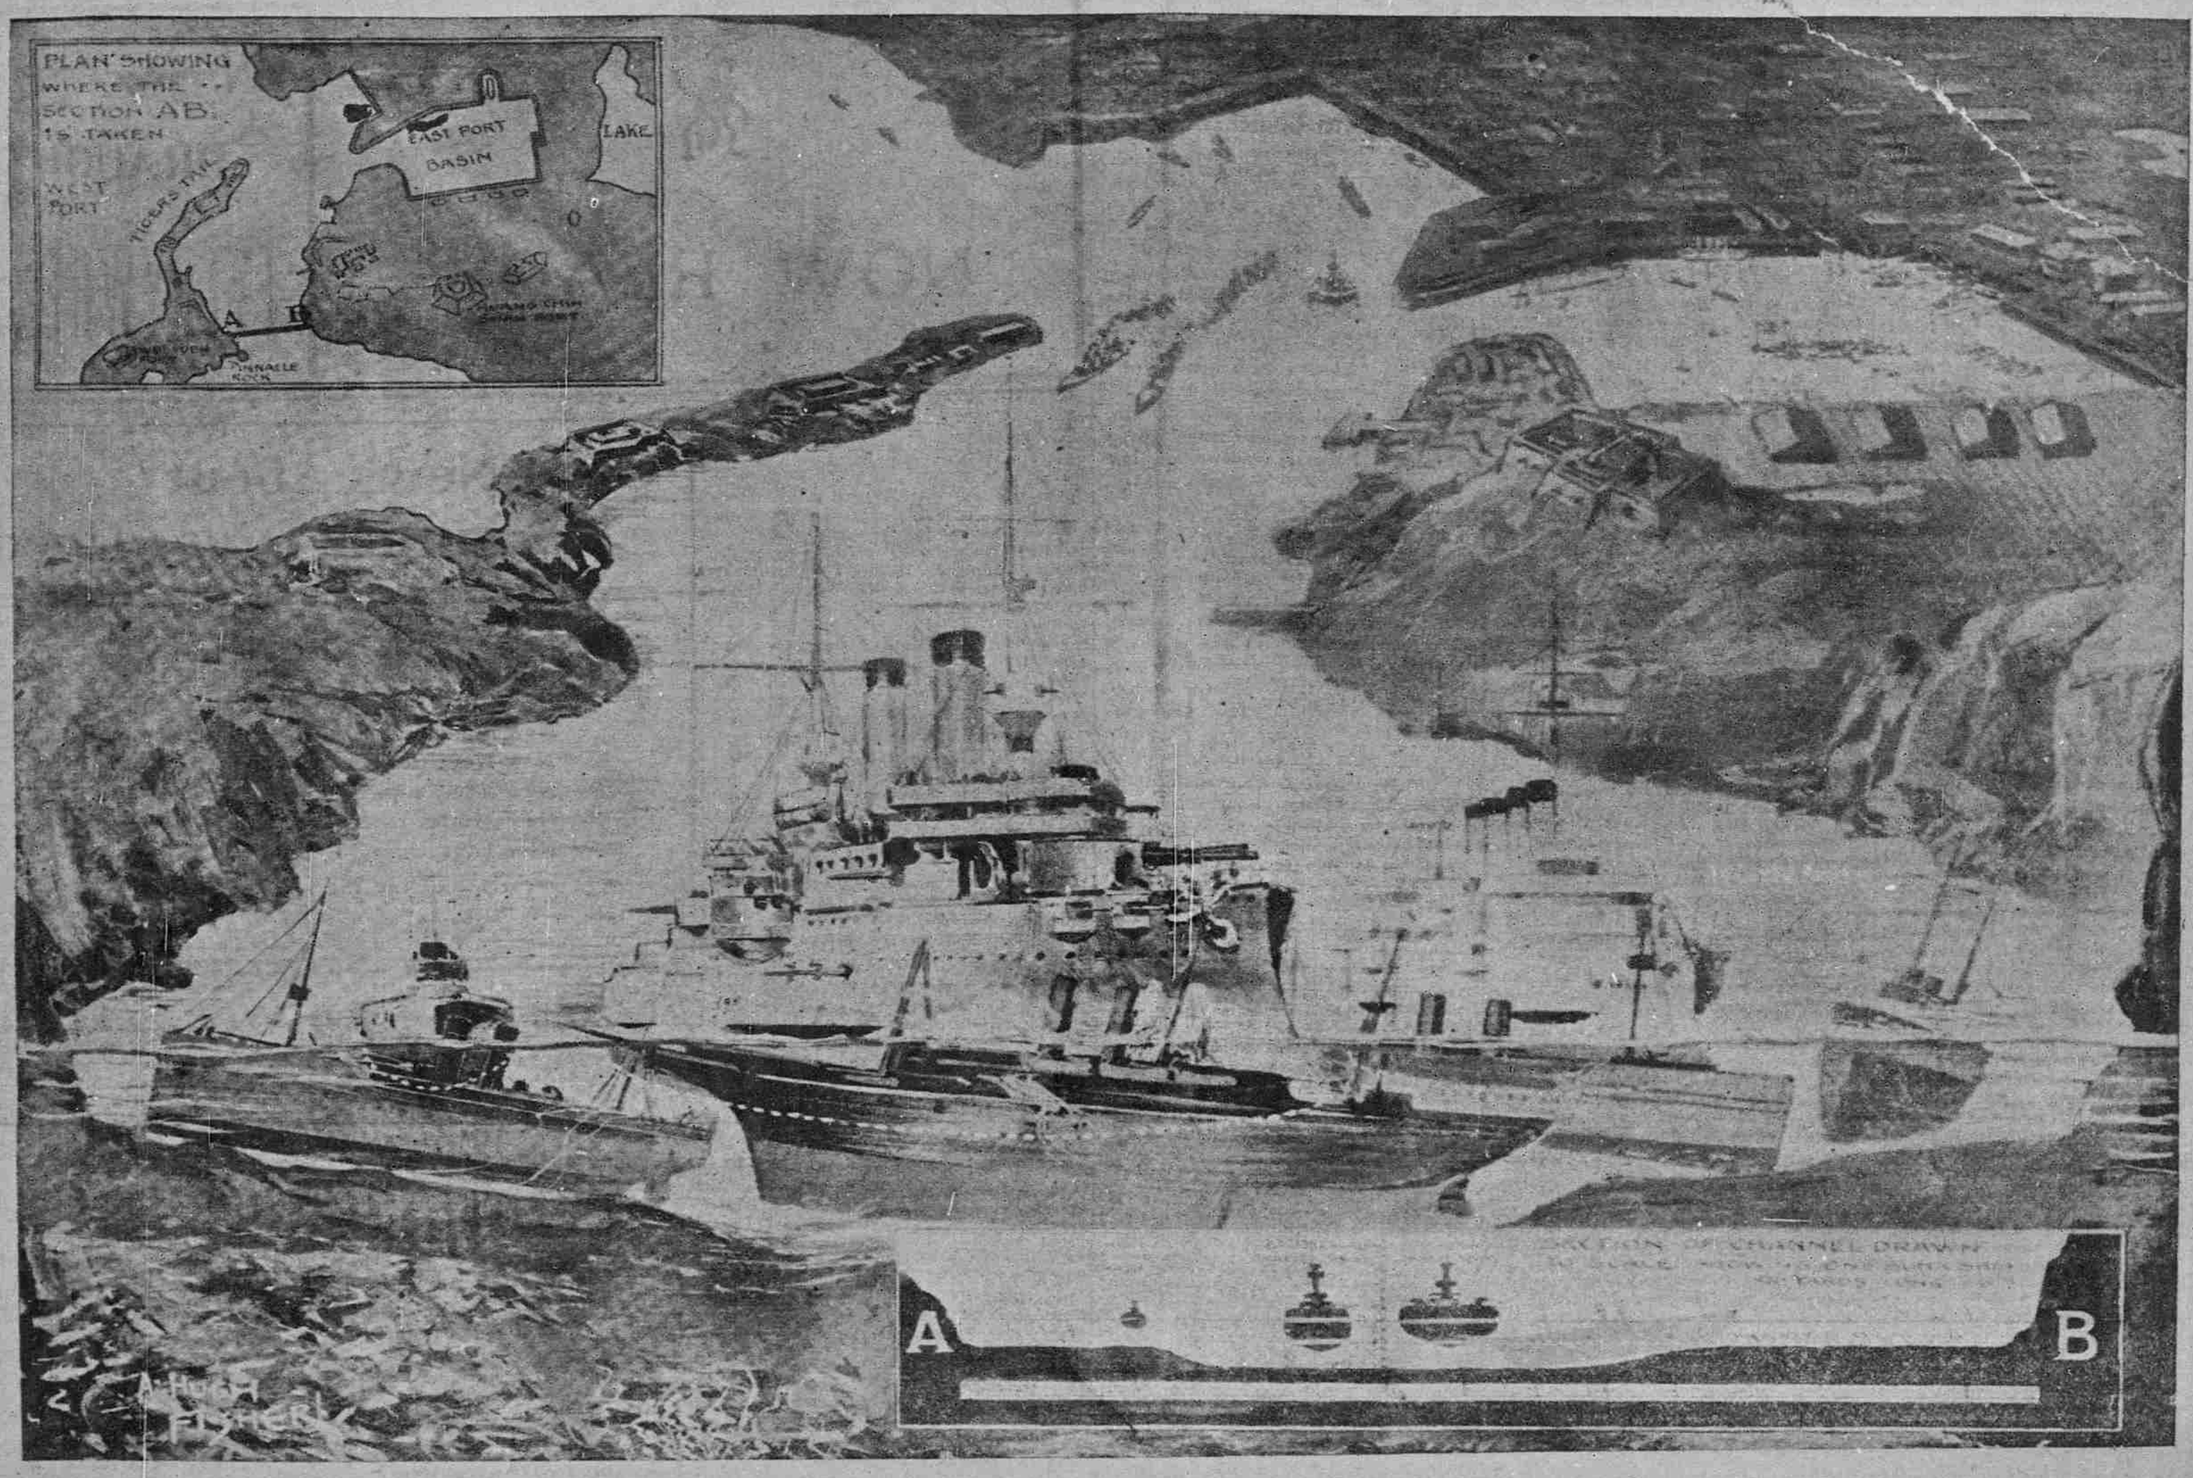
JAPANESE ADVANCE GUARD DRAWS NEAR TO WIJU



THE PRACTICABILITY OF BLOCKING THE CHANNEL OF PORT ARTHUR WITH SUNKEN SHIPS.

This drawing, which is mainly diagrammatic, does violence to perspective for the sake of clearness. The land is imagined as tilted up, so as to give a bird's-eye view of the harbor; and the Russian ships, whose passage is impeded by the sunken hulks, are therefore somewhat out of proportion. The lower diagram is, however, drawn to scale, and shows the exact requirements for the effectual sealing up of the port, with the width of the channel in yards, and the different depths in feet of the water at high and low tide.—London Illustrated News.

HOME RULE LEGISLATORS WILL HOLD CAUCUS TODAY

Home Rulers, Senators and Representatives, will hold a caucus at noon today to decide upon their program during the special session. Practically all the members of the legislature are in the city now, the remaining members having come on yesterday's steamer, so that today's caucus at headquarters will probably decide the course of the party during the special session. Senator Woods, elected as a Democrat, and F. W. Beckley, who since his election has worked for the Republican party, have both been invited to attend the caucus.

Senator John Brown came down from Hilo with five county bills in his pocket, drawn up by John U. Smith who was elected county attorney for East Hawaii at the late election, but it is doubtful if they even reach the introductory stage. Brown is anxious to show what he can do and told his constituents before leaving Hilo, that he would put the bills through the special session without any trouble. While it is possible that county bills will be presented in both the House and Senate it is equally as impossible that they will be given any further consideration than to be turned down by the Republican majorities in both houses. Even the Home Rulers have decided that they want nothing of county legislation at the special session, and the caucus today will very likely decide against the introduction of any such measure.

Nearly all of the members of the legislature are already here. The Senate will be short of members when it opens. Senator Cecil Brown went to Japan some time ago, but may get back on the Gaelic this week. Senator Baldwin of Maui will also not be able to come over until the session is under way. Senator Nakapaahu and Senator Wilcox will not arrive from Kauai until Wednesday morning. Senators Woods, Brown and Kaohi of Hawaii came over on the Kinau and Senator Kalue of Maui arrived on the Claudine yesterday. Senator Dickey of Maui has been in Honolulu for some time.

The Kauai Representatives are not all here, and some of those on the Kona coast of Hawaii will not arrive until the Mauna Loa this week.

The legislature will probably meet at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning, although the time is not specified in the call. There is considerable talk of a short session, as the members will draw only $500 for the session, no matter how long they stay here.

Governor Carter has received notice that R. M. Hardinge, the United States weather bureau man, who is to establish a station in Hawaii will leave Texas for Honolulu the early part of May.

NEWCHWANG, April 4.—The press boat which was held by the Russians has been released. The Russian commander has explained that the boat was detained on account of its coming indirectly from Chemulpo.

RUSSIAN PRESS ON THIBET.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 4.—The Russian presses discuss the Thibetian incident dispassionately.

MESSAGE IS READY

Governor Ready for Special Session.

Program Which May be Submitted to the Legislature.

Recommendation Will Be for Appropriation in Lump Sum.

Governor Carter's message to the special session of the legislature is practically ready for submission to that body on Wednesday. The governor will have the message ready for the printer today and copies will be submitted to the two houses in order to avoid the usual delay in printing which the legislature always encounters at the opening of the session.

Governor Carter has prepared lump sum appropriations for each department, the specifications to be furnished upon the request of the legislature. This is done to avoid the appearance of any dictation on the part of the executive in placing specific items before the two houses, the governor feeling, that the legislature as the law making body, should itself exercise that responsibility. The detailed estimates will naturally be ready and made available for the uses of the legislature, the governor in his message simply pointing out the estimated revenue for the next eighteen months, with the further recommendation that the estimate should not be exceeded by the appropriations.

Governor Carter will recommend the passage of additional lexislative measures which are required to legalize the proposed changes in appropriations. One of these recommendations will be for an amendment to the tax law, giving the assessor power to pay his deputies either salary or commission for collecting taxes. Under the present law deputies receive as much as five per cent commission on the amount of taxes collected, and by the change it is proposed to avoid extravagant compensation. In some districts the deputy simply has to visit one or two plantations and take over the collections made by the company, and draw the usual percentage, which in some districts amounts to between three and four thousand dollars, although the deputy does practically no work.

A change will also be recommended in the garbage department, so that the collection of fees can be enforced from the persons who benefit by the system. It is expected to place the garbage service on a basis, where it will at least pay its own expenses.

Governor Carter has requested the Judiciary department to furnish a draft of proposed laws to put into effect the reductions contemplated in the expenses of the courts. A number of laws which various officials have been asked to draw up will probably be received back today. These if satisfactory will be submitted to the legislature.

QUESTION OF ELIGIBILITY

Precinct Club Members Are Qualified as Delegates.

At the meeting of the Republican Central Committee Saturday evening R. N. Boyd raised the question of the eligibility of a precinct resident, not a voter in the precinct to a seat as a delegate in the coming Territorial convention. Chairman Crabbe stated that the committee had previously ruled that persons could not be delegates from a precinct, unless a registered voter therein.

J. H. Fisher cited the new rules adopted since the ruling made by the Territorial committee, which he held, then being in the chair, permitted any member of a precinct club to be a delegate from the precinct where he had enrolled.

The rules which were adopted after the recent county convention, where the question arose originally, apparently does not limit the election of delegates to registered voters in the precinct, there being no limitation to the right to enroll in the precinct club.

The rules laid down for the government of primaries on this point are as follows:

Sec. 14. No member of a precinct club shall be entitled to vote at a primary unless his name shall have been enrolled in the club. The rolls shall be open for the registration of precinct voters up to three days before all primary elections, at which time they shall close; public notice shall be given at least three times in one or more English or Hawaiian papers or by posters three days previous that the rolls are open and may be signed at some designated time and place within such precinct. Any member of a precinct club upon removing from the precinct may after acquiring a thirty days' bona fide residence in another precinct obtain from the secretary of the precinct obtain from the secretary of the precinct where he was last enrolled a certificate of transfer which will entitle him to become a member of the precinct club wherein he has acquired such bona fide residence.

Sec. 15. Nominations for members of the district committee and delegates to the County and Territorial conventions shall not be received and placed upon the primary ballots unless made at meetings held for such purpose, and no person shall be nominated unless he shall have enrolled his name in the precinct club prior to the placing of his name as nominee.

THE EASTER SERVICES

Churches Celebrate the Birth of Christ.

Musical Programs of Rare Beauty Are Given.

Services in Two Cathedrals—Central Union Program—In the Other Churches.

Easter morn opened up bright and glorious, a sunshiny, balmy day, in perfect accord with the spirit of the Christian observance. The interiors of the city's churches were resplendent with beautiful decorative effects in flowers.

The attendance at the churches was very large and all congregations heard not only sermons appropriate to the day, but special music to which the best musical talent contributed. Every church made special efforts to present an excellent musical program and the auditors were not disappointed.

St. Andrew's Cathedral never looked more beautiful than it did yesterday. The decorations had been in charge of Mrs. E. D. Tenney, Miss Park and Miss Giffard and were in excellent taste.

The services began at 6 a. m. when Archdeacon Webber celebrated the Holy Communion. A large number of persons was present. The Hawaiian choir of men and boys was in attendance and sang the service in English. At 7 a. m. the Rev. Canon Alexander Mackintosh was the celebrant and the body of the church was filled with a devout congregation.

At 8 a. m. the Rev. E. T. Simpson officiated at a service. At 9 a. m. the Rev. F. Fitz administered baptism to two children.

At 9:30 there was a full choral celebration of the Holy Communion in Hawaiian, the Rev. F. Fitz being celebrant and Archdeacon Webber the preacher. The attendance was very good.

At the 11 o'clock service extra seats to accommodate one hundred had been placed with extra chairs in the aisles and in every available space, but still many had to stand. The Bishop was celebrant and preacher.

At 3:30 p. m. the Sunday schools of St. Andrew's, the Priory, Iolani, St. Peter's, St. Clement's, St. Elizabeth's, Kalihi, and St. Mary's, Moiliili, were all present and packed the cathedral nave, choir and ambulatory. The Lenten savings of the children were given for missions and the total placed upon the altar by the Bishop at this Sunday school service of which the Chinese children of St. Peter's gave $31.70 and St. Elizabeth's $18.75. The great procession which had been planned had to be omitted on account of the rain. The church was a beautiful sight with the handsome banners carried at the head of the different classes. The children were addressed by Archdeacons Webber and Tiffany.

In the evening the Cathedral was again packed, the Knights Templar attending in a body. Archdeacon Webber was the preacher.

This service closed a glad Easter for the people of St. Andrew's Cathedral. The Bishop and People are very happy at the blessings which the day brought.

The music of the day was of a high order and excellently rendered under the leadership of Gerard Barton. The Te Deum at the 11 o'clock service was Stanford's and the Communion service was sung to a setting by Tours in F. The anthem both morning and evening was Handel's Hallelujah chorus. Archdeacon Webber will make an address on Monday and Tuesday at 10 a. m. and on Wednesday at 4 p. m. he will speak to women on "Highest Womanhood." He will also preach on Wednesday evening. Next Sunday, he will preach morning and evening and this will close his services here.

ST. CLEMENT'S CHURCH.

St. Clement's church was prettily decorated, the picturesque interior lending itself readily to the artistic efforts of the decorators. Archdeacon Webber preached in the morning and Rev. John Usborne at the evening service. A special program of music was rendered on both occasions.

CENTRAL UNION.

Central Union church was magnificent in its floral array, the platform and altar rail being banked with beautiful white flowers. The vast interior, always beautiful when filled with flowers, was exceptionally attractive yesterday. Both the morning and evening services were so largely attended that the seating capacity was taxed to its utmost. Rev. Wm. Kincaid preached in the morning his text being taken from Peter 1:3-4, and the title of his sermon, "The Message of the Resurrection." The music was beautifully rendered, the solo of Mr. H. F. Wichman, "Ye Bells of Easter Day" being a feature. At the evening service the offertory was sung by Miss Alice Campbell. Her rendition of Handel's "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth" was charming, her pure, rich soprano filling the great auditorium with melody. This is the first time the talented singer's voice has been heard in Central Union.

No sermon was preached at the evening service, the rendition of Dudley Buck's beautiful cantata, "Christ the Victor" taking up the major portion of the time of the service.

CATHOLIC SERVICES.

The services at the Roman Catholic Cathedral were impressive both in the altar ceremonies and in the musical renditions. Although confirmed merely to choir renditions, special solos being prohibited as a part of the Catholic service, the music was of a high order. The Cathedral was filled from morning until night with worshippers. The High Pontifical mass was presented at 10:30 a. m.

METHODIST CHURCH.

There was a very interesting Easter service at the Methodist church yesterday morning, enjoyed by a good congregation. The pastor, Mr. Pearson, preached a strong and helpful sermon from the text, "Remember Jesus Christ, Risen from the Dead," and Mrs. Shanks sang very beautifully the anthem, "Christ is Risen."

Special services were held at the German Lutheran church, the Holy Communion being celebrated at 11 a. m., when pastor Felmy preached.

A prominent educator in Philadelphia tells the following story on himself: In his early teaching days he had a position in a country schoolhouse in New England. The people in the neighborhood worked out their taxes by giving him board, and when there was no vacancy in the farmhouses he took a small room, while the neighbors supplied him with food. One day a young boy came running breathlessly toward him. "Say, teacher," he gasped, "my pa wants to know if you like pork?" "Indeed, I do like pork," the teacher replied, concluding that the very stingy father of this boy had determined to donate some pork to him. "You tell your father if there is anything in this world that I do like, it is pork." Some time transpired, and there was no pork forthcoming. One day he met the boy alone in the school yard. "Look here, John," he said, "how about that pork?" "Oh," replied the boy, "the pig got well."

A DAY ON A PACIFIC LINER

By Rev. Francis E. Clark.

Life on a Pacific liner is like, yet decidedly unlike, life on an Atlantic liner.

There is so much more of the former; the Pacific is so much wider, lonelier, and, for the most part, more peaceful, as it ought to be to live up to its name, that even seasoned travelers, who have made many trips across the Atlantic ferry, can hardly realize what crossing the Pacific means.

Fellow travelers have a much better chance to get acquainted on the Pacific than on the Atlantic. On the Atlantic no sooner do they know one another's names, by a careful study of the passenger list and the tags on the steamer chairs, than the green shores of Ireland loom up, and the slight chain of acquaintance is snapped when the puffing little tender makes fast to the big ship and separates the companions of a week.

But on the Pacific the days lengthen into weeks; groups of passengers find their temporary affinities; they organize tournaments, get up entertainments, discuss politics, theology, and social conditions; they have their evening "sings" and Sunday services; and, for the time being, regard themselves as belonging to one great family.

Shall I introduce you to life on the Sierra, spending a typical day together on these tropic seas?

OUR FLOATING HOME.

The Sierra, you must know, is one of the best boats that plough the Pacific. She belongs to the Oceanic line, and plies back and forth between San Francisco and Sydney, Australia, six times a year, breaking the long journey at Honolulu and Pago Pago, making a round trip of fourteen thousand miles of this great and wide sea—a vast shuttle flying through an enormous loom.

She is as staunch and trim a ship as ever was launched, and affords better accommodations and makes faster time than the average Atlantic liner.

Captain Houdlette is jovial and kindly, and a great favorite on "the coast," and "the islands" as well, between which he has plied for many years, and all the other officers are skillful and kindly and courteous.

So much for our floating home and the officials of our floating family.

We will begin our typical day at sunrise or before, as every waking day would begin, were it not for the artificial, electric-light life we live.

The sun comes up rapidly when once the upper edge of his disk touches the horizon, and promptly on schedule time, at six o'clock; for we are near the equator, and here he keeps very regular hours all the year around, dividing the day and the night into two equal sections of twelve hours each.

The sea is ruffled by a fresh breeze from the east; white caps dance for a moment on the crest of every wave and then disappear, while a long heavy swell gently careens our good ship as she falls into its trough or rises on its opposite slope. But we got used to this long ago, and it no longer excites a qualm of seasick agony in the most sensitive stomach.

"Bath, sir?" calls out the steward as he raps on our stateroom door; and, hastily slipping on a Japanese kimono, we take our towels and seek not a stuffy subterranean bath-room, but a big canvas tub on the forward deck, into which a great gushing hose leads from the salt sea itself.

Into this we dive head foremost, while the water splashes and slops over on the streaming decks, and our tub itself, secured on two horizontal masts by heavy ropes, lurches and plunges with every roll of the ship, and sometimes threatens to spill us out altogether.

The bath over, then comes a quiet hour on deck before breakfast, with the fresh breezes blowing full upon us; for we do not have to seek sheltered nooks and do ourselves up like mummies as on the cold, fog-bound Atlantic.

In nothing else is the contrast between the Atlantic and the Pacific more delightful.

On the north Atlantic you avoid the draughts; on the south Pacific you seek them.

On the Atlantic the problem is how to keep warm; on the tropical Pacific, how to keep cool.

The awe-inspiring vastness of the Pacific is borne in upon you as you keep your quiet morning hour on deck.

You sail and sail and sail, and never see a sail. Yesterday it was the same, and the day before, and the day before that. We have seen but one ship since leaving San Francisco ten days ago, and that was so far off upon the horizon that we could see only her topmasts.

The myth about "the sails that whiten every sea" is now pretty well exploded, even if it was ever anything but a figure of speech.

On the Atlantic, however, you are occasionally reminded that there are fellow creatures in the world aside from your own ship passengers.

A belching smoke-stack now and then on the distant horizon, or a streak of carbonized vapor floating like a steamer on the sky, occasionally a ship that passes near enough to be signalled with flags by day or rockets by night, remind you that "there are others."

But on the Pacific you feel as far away as if you were sailing the waters of Venus or the canals of Mars.

There is something charming about this remoteness, after all.

In the midst of an over-busy life, such as most of us live, it gives us time to think, to get our bearings, to see of how small account are most of the matters over which we sweat and fret and worry.

What is the Panama question, after all? Why should we be anxious about the next election?

We haven't seen a morning paper for a week and shall not for a week to come! Who cares? If things go wrong in the big world, we can't help it. We are absolved from all responsibility for setting them right, or even from knowing about them enough to take sides one way or the other.

But, if there is little human life outside of our own ship's company, there is plenty of life of another kind.

The flying-fish one never tires of.

In places every wave seems alive with them. They start from a watery crest for their brief flight, moving with lightning rapidity their transparent fins, which they use as wings. Glistening in the sun, they skim the surface of the water for a hundred feet, and then plunge in again with a splash like a boy taking a header from a diving-board, while a hundred companions start up from the next wave for a flying-match, each apparently trying to outstrip the others before they sink back into their native element.

The Sierra is attended, too, much of the way, by a convoy with genuine wings and no fin-like imitations. For hundreds of miles out from San Francisco the white gulls followed our wake, thankful for any crumbs that fell from our abundant tables.

On tireless wings, day and night they kept us company, swooping, circling, now flying forward half the length of the ship, then backward to pick up some delectable morsel the stewards had cast overboard; never stopping, never lighting, never sleeping. When did they find that they had gone far enough? How did they measure the distance to know that they were a thousand miles from shore and must turn homewards?

Suddenly they bethought them of home and San Francisco's snug harbor, and away they went as on the wings of the wind.

But their places were taken by the coonies, as the sailors call them, darker-winged birds, slender and fearless, which through storm and calm will follow a ship, and apparently know no home but the ocean billow.

And now that we are near the equator the albatross, with graceful sweep on high-poised wing, keep us company, and no one on the Sierra for half his fortune would risk the fate of the Ancient Mariner by doing them harm.

A CHANCE PASSENGER.

Mother Carey's chickens, too, often skim the waves, flying low, and seeming to seek the deepest hollow between the highest crests, while last night a little web-footed wanderer, attracted by the electric lights, dashed on board and fell exhausted and stunned on the deck.

He was of a velvety dark-brown, with a few white tail-feathers, a crested head, and a curious, two-storied black beak. Altogether he was a most delicate and aristocratic little biped, and soon became quite tame, lying in our hands as if he enjoyed the novelty of being petted by his human brother voyagers on the great Pacific.

Where did you come from, little wanderer out of the blackness of the night, out of the vast, unfurrowed Pacific?

On what lovely coral island is your home nest? What were you doing so far away from shore?

Are all your brothers and sisters so velvety and sleek, so bright-eyed and confiding?

What did you think of men and women, those strange creatures, though bipeds like yourself, who caught you, and stroked you, and fondled you, and then let you go once more?

Well, you will never tell us, for you flew off into the great, wide, black, turbulent sea, just as if you were entirely unafraid and at home, and as if you felt sure your Father careth for you. You were right, for so He does.

CAUSE OF COLD.

The invariable cause of colds comes from within, not without. No one takes cold when in a vigorous state of health, with pure blood coursing through the body, and there is no good reason why any one in ordinary health should have a cold. It may come from insufficient exercise. Breathing of foul air, want of wholesome food, excess of food, lack of bathing, etc., but always from some violaion of the plain laws of health.

There can be no more prolific cause of colds than highly seasoned foods, as well as frequent eating. These give no time for the digestive organs to rest, and incite an increased flow of the digestive secretions. Thus larger quantities of nourishment are absorbed than can be properly utilized, and the result is an obstruction, commonly called a "cold," which is simply an effort of the system to expel the useless material. Properly speaking, it is self-poisoning, due to an incapability of the organism to regulate and compensate for the disturbance.

A deficient supply of pure air to the lungs is not only a strong predisposing cause of colds, but a prolific source of much graver conditions. Pure air and exercise are necessary to prepare the system for the assimilation of nutriment, for without them there can be no vigorous health. The oxygen of the air we breathe regulates the appetite as well as the nutriment that is built up in the system.

The safest and best way to avoid colds is to sleep in a room with the windows wide open, and to remain out of doors every day, no matter what may be the weather, for at least two hours, preferable with some kind of exercise, if not more than walking. One should not sit down to rest while the feet are wet or the clothing damp. A person may go with the clothing wet through to the skin all day, if he but keeps moving. Exercise keeps up the circulation and prevents taking cold.

The physiological care of colds is the prevention of their occurrence. The person who does not carry around an oversupply of alimentation in his system, and furthermore secures a purified circulation by strict, sanitary cleanliness, thus placing himself in a positive condition, is immune to colds. A starving man cannot take cold.

A careful diet would exclude the use of all narcotics and all food that is not thoroughly appropriated. An overfed person is worse off than one who is underfed, because the overfed body is taxed to dispose of what cannot be appropriated, and when not properly disposed of remains only to be an element of danger.——Science of Health.

BROWN'S PROPOSED NEW COUNTY LAW

Senator Brown will go to Honolulu this week with a county government bill in his inside pocket. He will interrupt the chaplain in his opening prayer in the endeavor to make the Hilo county bill number one on the list of measures introduced at the special session.

This bill is said to be favored by the senators and representatives of this side of the island of the Home Rule faith. It is claimed by its supporters that the bill has been so drawn that the objections of the Supreme Court will not prevail against it. Its framers propose to have it go into effect in thirty days—a celerity altogether unknown to the Loan Fund appropriation bill.

The Hilo county bill to be introduced by Senator Brown is a composite of the best wisdom of Home Rule statesmen of this island. The work of drawing it up was done by J. U. Smith, who is confident that the measures will stand the test of popular criticism and judicial scrutiny. The bill or bills which are four in number provide that they shall take effect April 30, 1904. The officials who were elected by the November ballots of last year are to hold office in the several counties for the first eight months. After January 1, 1905, the Governor shall appoint the county commissioners. A bare majority only shall be appointed from any political party. The salaries of county officials are to be fixed as they were under the old law. The bonds are to be reduced. County commissioners will receive only $25 per month with five dollars per day for actual time served, sessions to be limited to five days in each month. The commissioners are to have power to contract for transcripts of the land records in the Register's office at Honolulu and transfer them to the respective counties.

The surveyor is to receive a small salary and a per diem when working.

No County Auditor is provided for, all auditing of books of County officials to be done by the Territorial Auditor who shall have extra compensation for such service.

The County Government scheme is to be effected by the passage of four acts. Senator Brown says he will put the bills through as slick as a cat.—Hilo Tribune.

JARED SMITH ON PLANT DISEASES IN HAWAII

United States Experiment Station at Work on Two Pests for Which Remedies Have Already Been Discovered.

Following is Bulletin No. 9, from the Hawaii Agriculture Experiment Station:

INTRODUCTION.

Two plant diseases present in these Islands, one infesting sugar-cane, the other coffee, are widely distributed wherever these plants are grown and deserve attention in the cultivation of these crops. Their presence need cause no alarm to the producers of either sugar or coffee since both diseases have been well worked out and respond to active measures of control as outlined below.

THE PINEAPPLE DISEASE OF SUGAR CANE.

An outbreak of a disease of sugar cane on one of the windward plantations of Hawaii was reported to this station in November, 1903. The Entomologist, Mr. D. L. Van Dine, visited the locality and made an examination. Specimens of the diseased cane were referred to Dr. Albert F. Woods, Plant Pathologist and Physiologist of the U. S. Department of Agriculture at Washington, D. C., who reported the cane to be infested with a fungus, Thielaviopsis ethaceticus Went, which has caused more or less serious losses in the cane fields of Java, the West Indies and other cane-sugar producing countries.

Fungus is the name applied by botanists to certain lower orders of plants (often microscopie and invisible to the naked eye), which derive their food either from dead or decaying organic matter or by parasitism upon other plants or animals. Fungi do not contain chlorophyl, the green coloring matter in the leaves of flowering plants and ferns. Common examples of fungi are toadstools, moulds, potato blight, etc.

This cane-disease has been reported from nearly every cane growing country in the world. The literature of plant diseases contains abundant references to it. It exists in a number of forms which have been described under different names, according to whether its appearance has been noted on different parts of the cane plant. In its most serious form this fungus attacks the young seed cane or so injures the eye itself that the cane fails to germinate.

It has been noted in other countries that serious outbreaks almost invariably follow the work of some insect pest, either the cane borer or some external feeder like the leaf-hopper.

The fungus is truly parasitic. The fine (microscopic) white threads which constitute the vegetative stage of the fungus, as soon as they have gained entrance into the tissues of the cane through any artificial wound or puncture of the epidermis such as that made by a leaf-hopper or a cane borer, branch and increase in number until the whole interior of the cane stalk is filed with the mass.

The affected parts, especially the leaves, leaf-sheaths and younger and more tender portions of the cane itself show bright reddish discoloration externally, and if the stalk is cut across or split lengthways, reddish streaks all through the interior tissues. When young plant cane is infected the leaves become a light yellowish green and the plant soon dies. If infected seed is planted the eyes often fail to grow so that the field must be entirely replanted. Cane seed the vitality of which has been affected by this fungus after planting, will be found upon examination to be covered with a mass of fine white threads, the mycelium or vegetative stage of the fungus, while the rind of the cane is covered with little raised blisters. These small pustules, plainly visible to the naked eye are characteristic of this disease.

Older cane when seriously attacked presents a peculiar stunted appearance, a sudden decrease in the thickness and length of the joints, dying of the leaves and, finally, if the fungus gains the upper hand the whole plant is killed into the ground. Such killing of the cane by this fungus was observed during February, 1904, in fields where the vigor of the cane had been seriously impaired by the leaf-hopper. The fruiting stage of the fungus appears on the rind of the dead cane-stalks in the same form as on seed cane, as minute pustules or blisters fom the middle of which exudes a black sooty mass consisting of millions of very minute oblong spores,—the "seeds" of the fungus, ready to be blown about by the wind or carried to other cane plants on the bodies of insects.

This disease has been known as "Pineapple disease," the name being applied because of the pineapple odor of freshly cut stalks of cane infected with the fungus. This odor is really due to the formation of acetic ether by the fungus from the saccharine substances within the cane stalk.

In some localities in Hawaii, this disease has been termed "Eleau," but in the opinion of the writer that name more properly applies to a fungus disease which causes a gumming up of the leaf sheath, so that when the cane is stripped the fibres of the sheath remain adherent to the cane.

It has been noted in both the West Indies and Java that where there is any considerable amount of this disease present in the fields that are being harvested, there is a marked retardation of crystallization of the juice.

For the protection of cane seed against this fungus it has been recommended in Java that the cut ends of the seed be coated with tar before planting. Howard investigated methods of prevention and found that better results were obtained by dipping the seed in Bordeaux mixture or in a combination of Bordeaux mixture and tar than by the use of tar alone. He also recommends the use of top seed, because the top joints contain less sugar than the lower joints, and are hence less liable to be attacked by the fungus.

This fungus disease can readily be kept in check:

1. By selecting for seed, cane that is perfectly sound and healthy;

2. By carefully gathering up and burning the stalks left on infected fields after the cane has been harvested.

As before stated this fungus usually proves serious only to young plant cane or to older cane, the growth of which has first been checked by attacks of injurious insects, in which case infection of the cane with the fungus occurs through the wounds made by the insects.

Whenever young plant cane looks yellow and sickly, or when seed cane fails to germinate, or when growing cane shows retarded growth and has its leaves and stalks streaked with red patches, or when dead cane either standing in the fields or that which is left on the field after the crop has been harvested appears light and spongy and is covered with small pustules or blisters, the patches of cane exhibiting any or all of these symptoms should be looked on with suspicion. Under no circumstances, should seed cane be taken from such fields.

THE BROWN-EYED DISEASE OF COFFEE.

A fungus-disease of coffee, causing spotting of the leaves and injury to the berry, is widely prevalent, although rarely destructive, in the Hawaiian coffee plantations. This fungus has been identified by Mrs. F. W. Patterson, Mycologist of the U. S. Department of Agriculture at Washington, D. C., as Cercospora coffeicola B. & C. Its presence in Hawaii was noted as early as 1896 or 1897 by Prof. A. Koebele, the well known entomologist. In January, 1899, Prof. Koebele reported this fungus as causing some losses in Puna and Olaa. He says: "In the wet or cooler parts of Puna and Olaa the disease seems to spread. As yet it is only serious to weak trees or nursery plants where exposed, but is hardly noticeable on healthy and vigorous trees." Its presence on coffee trees has been noted during the past three years in all the coffee districts which the writer has visited. As Professor Koebele points out in his letter in which he first drew the attention of our Department to the occurence of this fungus disease in Hawaii, it is most prevalent on weak trees, such as those in neglected and uncared for plantations, or on isolated trees growing in unfavorable localities, such as door-yards, washed ridges, barren hillsides and rocky, shallow soils.

The Brown-eyed disease has been reported from Jamaica, Guatemala, Gaudeloupe and from Brazil, in the latter country being widely distributed through all of the coffee-growing provinces. Noack, who has studied the life history of this fungus in Brazil, describes it as follows: "The disease produced by this fungus is called the Brown-eyed disease on account of the brown spots formed on the leaves. As a rule these are round or oval, on the lower surface clear brown, on the upper surface dark brown. In the center the spots are lighter and grayish. The margin is sharply defined on the upper surface, dark brown or reddish, generally slightly raised, the surface often marked by fine concentric striae. Frequently several spots unite. The nerves of the leaves do not prevent their spreading. The average diameter of the spots at the center of the leaf is one-fifth of an inch. The largest are about one-third of an inch. If a leaf is badly affected it appears more or less brown. The formation of the spots begins on the upper surface of the leaves. The spots are at first without a sharp marginal line and are scarcely visible on the under surface. The fungus not only occurs on the leaves but on the half-formed cherry. On these, little dark spots appear, which multiply and spread until finally about half the cherry becomes brown and dried."

Many of the cherries which are infected with this disease drop off. Those which remain on the tree do not ripen well and the beans become black, besides being incompletely developed. Even in milder attacks where the above serious condition does not prevail and the bean remains uninjured great difficulty is met in properly hulling the infected berries.

The minute spores of the fungus may be blown about by the wind or carried from one plant to another on the bodies of insects. Infection has been shown to occur only when the epidermis of the leaf is punctured by insects such as the aphis and torpedo fly (Siphanta acuta.)

Treatment to prevent serious losses from this fungus disease would naturally come under two heads, first, improving the general condition of the coffee by better tillage of the soil and the use of the proper fertilizers; second, where many trees are seriously affected and it is desirable to prevent the spread of the fungus through the plantation, by the use of fungicidal sprays or washes.

So far as recorded in the literature relating to the Brown-eyed disease of coffee no actual experiments with controlling it by the use of fungicides have been made. Similar diseases of other plants have, however, been successfully controlled by the use of Bordeaux mixture and the ammoniacal solution of copper carbonate. Fungi of the genus Cercospora are the cause of diseases of celery, plum, sugar beet and mignonette. In each of these cases, one or the other of the above remedies have proved effectual. By analogy it is perfectly safe to recommend the use of fungicides. The time of application and strength of solution required will, however, have to be worked out by the individual planter to suit local conditions. Both fungicides must be applied by means of a spray pump in the same manner as insecticides.

(For description of the various forms of spraying devices see Bul. No. 3 of this Station: "Insecticides for use in Hawaii.")

The following directions for preparing these fungicides are reprinted from Dr. B. T. Galloway's bulletin, "Spraying for Fruit Diseases."

Bordeaux Mixture.—"In a barrel or other suitable vessel place 25 gallons of water. Weigh out 6 pounds of copper sulphate, then tie the same in a piece of coarse gunny sack and suspend it just beneath the surface of the water. By tying the bag to a stick laid across the top of the barrel no further attention wil be required. In another vessel slack 4 pounds of lime, using care in order to obtain a smooth paste, free from grit and small lumps. To accomplish this it is best to place the lime in an ordinary water pail and add only a small quantity of water at first, say a quart or a quart and a half. When the lime begins to crack and crumble and the water to disappear add another quart or more, exercising care that the lime at no time gets too dry. Toward the last considerable water will be required, but if added carefully and slowly a perfectly smooth paste will be obtained, provided, of course, the lime is of good quality. When the lime is slacked add sufficient water to the paste to bring the whole up to 25 gallons. When the copper sulphate is entirely dissolved and the lime is cool, pour the lime milk and copper sulphate solution slowly together into a barrel holding 50 gallons. The milk of lime should be thoroughly stirred before pouring. The method described insures good mixing, but to complete this work the barrel of liquid should receive a final stirring, for at least three minutes, with a broad wooden paddle.

It is now necessary to determine whether the mixture is perfect—that is, if it will be safe to apply it to tender foliage. To accomplish this, two simple tests may be used. First, insert the blade of a penknife in the mixture, allowing it to remain there for at least one minute. If metallic copper forms on the blade, or, in other words, if the polished surface of the steel assumes the color of copper plate, the mixture is unsafe and more lime must be added. If, on the other hand, the blade of the knife remains unchanged, it is safe to conclude that the mixture is as perfect as it can be made. As an additional test, however, some of the mixture may be poured into an old plate or saucer, and while held between the eyes and the light the breath should be gently blown upon the liquid for at least half a minute. If the mixture is properly made, a thin pellicle, looking like oil on water, will begin to form on the surface of the liquid. If no pellicle forms, more milk of lime should be added."

Ammoniacal Solution of Copper Carbonate.—"This preparation, as now generally used, contains—

Water .....45 gallons.
Stronger aqua ammonia .....3 pints.
Copper carbonate .....5 ounces.

The copper carbonate is first made into a thin paste by adding a pint and a half of water. The ammonia water is then slowly added, and if of the proper strength, i. e., 26 degrees, a clear, deep-blue solution is obtained, which does not become cloudy when diluted to 45 gallons.

"The ammoniacal solution of copper carbonate being a clear liquid, its presence on the leaves fruit, and other parts of the treated plants is not so noticeable as where the preparations containing lime are used.

"In case it is desired to keep the strong solution as a stock preparation, the bottle or jug in which it is placed should be tightly corked."

The Brown-eyed disease of coffee almost invariably appears first on poorly nourished trees growing in unfavorable situations.

If observations made here in Hawaii confirm those made by Noack in Brazil, that the spores of this fungus are carried from one plant to another by insects, thus bringing about the spread of infection through a plantation from sickly, poorly developed trees to the more vigorous and healthy ones, a proper method of treatment of this fungus disease would be to destrov the torpedo flies and aphis by insecticides. This treatment should be followed by tillage of the soil, the use of fertilizers, the planting of wind-breaks, or any other remedial measure practicable to improve the vigor of the coffee tree, since it is an accepted fact that trees in a vigorous, healthy condition are far more resistant, both to insect pests and fungus disease, than trees that are poorly developed.

OAHU PRISON EASTER SERVICES

There certainly is a great contrast between a Central Union and a Oahu Prison congregation; yet it is doubtful whether the one which listened yesterday to the Rev. Wm. Kincaid, at Central Union Church was more interested in the words of the speaker than the one which listened to his able assistant the Rev. Arthur G. Logan, in Oahu Penitentiary.

An elaborate programme had been prepared for the occasion, copies of which were distributed to those present from the city. The services were under the charge of Mr. John M. Martin, chairman of the devotional committee of the Y. M. C. A. and were opened by all joining in the singing of the hymn, "Hallelujah! Christ Arose!" The story of the Resurrection taken from the Gospel of Matthew followed, being read in English, Hawaiian Spanish, Japanese, Chinese and Portuguese, from which can be deduced the cosmopolitan character of the Oahu Chapel congregation. Prayer was offered by Mr. C. J. Day, after which touching testimonies were given by prisoners. The Oahu Prison Glee Club, which has improved a great deal lately, and which would have done honor to any of our city churches, contributed two beautiful selections in Hawaiian and the Kawaiahao Seminary Quartette sang in English. Miss Maud E. Paty, who made such an impression upon the prisoners on Christmas day was also on the programme, reciting a beautiful piece entitled "Easter Morning." "Sometime We'll Understand," was beautifully sung by Mrs. Logan, and after a few remarks by Messrs. C. J. Day and John M. Martin, benediction pronounced by Rev. A. G. Logan, closed this very interesting service.

LAWYERS THREATENED WITH IMPRISONMENT

Judge Kalua Hears of Knox's Action, Postpones All Cases to June 6, and Proclaims Himself "the Boss" of Maui Circuit.

Maui is practically marooned in Circuit Court circles, for Judge Kalua has postponed the hearing of all cases to June 6, the day after his tenure of office expires.

The news which came yesterday on the Claudine from Wailuku indicated that Judge Kalua has determined that Attorney-General Knox, as well as the people of his circuit shall suffer because of the former's recommendation that he be not again designated to wear the ermine.

On Friday there were some amusing features at Judge Kalua's session of court, for he not only postponed all cases to the above date, but threatened to send several attorneys to jail if they insisted on protesting against such summary proceedings. Judge Kalua further announced that he was "the boss" and would exercise his prerogative.

On Thursday evening Wailukans received newspapers containing Attorney-General Knox's recommendation that Kalua be permitted to hold his office until the expiration of his term on June 5, with the further recommendation that he should not receive a renewal of the judgeship. What passed in Judge Kalua's mind overnight has not been made public, but it is certain that he determined on the opening of the court to teach aspiring Wailukan barristers a lesson.

The first case to be called was the divorce suit of Ferreira vs. Ferreira, Attorney Vivas appearing for one side and Coke and Case for the other. The clerk announced that the papers were not in the docket. Vivas then requested that the case go over until April 28 when he had two other cases set for hearing and all three could be heard the same day. This was agreeable to the other attorneys.

Judge Kalua looked over the assemblage for a moment and then said abruptly:

"This case continued until June 6!"

A little later the Judge said: "Mr. Clerk, you make an order, all cases in this court continued until June 6, and all chamber cases and term cases to be tried in vacation, are all continued until June 6."

When the attorneys had recovered from their surprise over the summary wholesale postponements, Attorney Case said: "There is a probate case, which is short, that I would like to have considered."

"No, I postpone it, too," replied the Judge.

"Your honor, there is another case here awaiting only your decision," said Mr. Case.

"That case goes over to June 6, too," was the abrupt answer.

Another attorney said that the Judge's ruling would work great hardship not only among the attorneys but among their clients as well.

"No difference," rejoined the Judge.

Case reserved an exception to the Judge's ruling as being an abuse of judicial discretion.

"Abuse of discretion, eh?" angrily from the Judge. "Who's boss of this court? I do as I please. Pretty soon you go to jail!"

Attorney Coke also reserved an exception on similar grounds.

"You want to go to jail, too? I put you all where you all belong. I have been too easy with you people. I won't try anything."

With that the court session came to an end.

Judge Kalua has literally suspended all court hearings until a new judge shall take his seat in Wailuku court house, intimating that he will take things easy and draw his pay.

It is possible the Supreme Court will be resorted to by Maui attorneys to compel Judge Kalua to set cases for trial in the usual manner, or to send some other judge to the Maui circuit to act until June.

"So you think your country will be lost?" "I haven't quite made up my mind," answered the King of Corea, "whether it is going to be lost, strayed, or stolen."—Washington Star.

KUMALAE NOW DEMANDS A TRIAL BY THE HOUSE

Will Not Take His Seat Until He Has Been Vindicated---Mehuela Withdraws and Candidates Appear for His Place.

Representative Jonah Kumalae will not give the House of Representatives an opportunity to suspend him as has been threatened. He has told some of his friends in the House that he would not take his seat when the legislature convenes Wednesday, but intended instead to appear on the floor and demand a trial at the hands of his peers. Home Rulers have promised to support Kumalae in his demand for a trial, and he may be able to secure a majority of the Hawaiian members in favor of the investigation, if an attempt is made to suspend or expel him. Some of Kumalae's friends have advised him not to attempt to secure a vindication at the special session, as they say there will be no time for anything of the kind, but the Home Rule leader is insisting that if he doesn't get a vindication at the present session he will not be able to do so before the next campaign.

If Kumalae demands an investigation the House can give it to him or not as it chooses. The only section of the Organic Act dealing with such a matter is Section 27, which says: "That each House may punish its own members for disorderly behavior or neglect of duty, by censure, or by a two-thirds vote suspend or expel a member."

MEHEULA HAS WITHDRAWN.

Solomon Meheula has announced that he is not a candidate for clerk, as he does not wish to embarrass his friends in the House. There are a number of candidates who are willing to take the job instead. Charles Williams of Hamakua came down on the Kinau Saturday and is the candidate of the Hawaii members for Meheula's old job. W. J. Coelho of Maui is also willing to accept the responsibility of the clerkship, and Jesse Makainai, last session's assistant clerk, is anxious to fill his former chief's old shoes. The proposal to have one man act as clerk and stenographer has fallen through, and the biggest fight in the House will center around the election of the clerk.

In both the Senate and House there will be a decrease in the number of officials. The Senate will probably do entirely without interpreters, but it is doubtful if the reform can be carried through in the lower house. Chaplains also may be dispensed with, although one member suggests calling upon the pastors of the various churches to invoke the blessing without expense to the Territory.

SCHOOL OF WHALES APPEARS OFF CHANNEL ENTRANCE

Within a quarter of a mile of the entrance to the channel of Honolulu harbor a school of whales appeared yesterday afternoon while the Customs Launch Waterwitch was steaming into the harbor from Pearl Harbor.

One big black fellow was seen swimming along the surface and his length was estimated at from sixty to seventy-five feet. Just what species of whale it was, those on the Waterwitch were unable to determine.

The Waterwitch went to Pearl Harbor during the forenoon, Collector Stackable being the host. The guests were Mr. Kilpatrick of Denver, Colo., a railroad contractor well and favorably known all through the Rocky Mountain section; J. G. Pratt, Robert W. Shingle, L. A. Thurston, A. N. Campbell, A. W. Pearson and Byron K. Baird.

A cruise of the lochs was made and Mr. Kilpatrick was given an opportunity to inspect the lay of the channel and adjacent shores. Mr. Kilpatrick may be a bidder for construction work at Pearl Harbor when the Navy Department begins to build its navy yard and docks.

On the return to the city the Waterwitch passengers sighted the school of whales close to the channel entrance.

THE LAND COURT.

There are other things of less public necessity, which can be dispensed with in the Territorial plan of economy better than the Torrens land court.

Titles to land in Hawaii are in unsettled state. Purchasers of real estate are required to trace back through years of changes and descriptions of metes and bounds of uncertain accuracy, and designated by Hawaiian names which in all cases have not been carried down to the present day. Weeks are often required in the searching of records, and a title under the old system is not only expensive but litigation does not always end with the passing of the deed. Hawaii has more need of a system such as the Torrens land registration than probably any other state or territory.

Eventually the land court will straighten all the real estate tangles in the islands, and with the Torrens system better understood, the process will be one of only a few years. If economy requires a reduction of expenses in that particular court, there is no reason why this cannot be done. Probably the court could be continued in mere skeleton shape, with only a judge and clerk, and if need be these could be made fee rather than salaried officials. In a measure the court is self supporting now, applicants for registration paying a fee for the service, which becomes a government realization. Rather than see the law repealed and thus unloading the work which it may again take years to accomplish, the court might be put entirely on the fee basis for a limited period and be maintained at a minimum expense to the taxpayers. A few titles have already been registered under the provision of the Torrens act and the Territory is under a moral if not a legal obligation to maintain them. To appeal the law now would certainly be a backward step.

RUSSIA'S COAL RESOURCES.

The London Financial News declares that it is too often assumed that because Russia is largely a wood-burning country and a considerable importer of British coal her own coal supplies are insignificant. A greater mistake could not be made. If her economic development had depended on wood fuel or oil it could never have reached its present proportions; and, although progress is slow in Russia, when compared with England, America or Germany, it cannot be denied that she has made great strides. from a commercial point of view, within the last twenty-five years —strides that have only become possible by the rapid exploitation of her unquestionable mineral wealth. The native coal may not always be of high quality, but it has sufficed for industrial expansion remarkable alike in extent and character. In 1877 the coal output of European Russia was no more than 1,774,198 tons; twenty years later the production had risen to 12,632,258 tons, and there has been a noteworthy annual increase since then, the total figures for all the centers in 1901 having equaled 16,270,000 tons. Added to this, the Asiatic dominions of the Czar have been brought into closer touch with Russia proper by means of the railway, and it is stated that in Siberia, as in the Ural region, vast coal reserves have thus been rendered available. The Eskibastus district, to the south of Omsk, is estimated to contain 200,000,000,000 poods, or over 3,000,000,000 tons, while the reserves in the Ural mountains are inexhaustible in quantity. It is true this coal has a high percentage of ash and sulphur, but it is used very largely for railway and navigation purposes in European Russia, and, we may be certain, has also found its way farther east. Again, in the Donetz basin the coal resources are such as to preclude the possibility of famine, the yield being about 11,500,000 tons both in 1900 and 1901. There are supplies in this district alone sufficient to last for eight hundred years at the present rate of production, which progresses at something like 1,000,000 poods per annum. Then there are the Dombrovski fields in Poland, which cover an immense area, and, although the quality of this coal is also rather inferior, it makes up in output for its deficiencies, the quantity dispatched by land carriage in 1901 being 2,818,760 tons. It will thus be seen that, while quite a young industry, coal mining is carried on very extensively in Russia; that the production, already large, is constantly increasing, atoning in size for defects of quality, and that, other things being equal, the empire can well afford, in the matter of its coal supplies, to depend upon its own internal resources.

Many friends of the family gathered at Nuuanu cemetery yesterday afternoon to take part in the services attendant upon the depositing of the ashes of little Ian Corbett in the vault prepared for them in the Henry Waterhouse lot. Ian was the only son of David W. and May Waterhouse Corbett, and died last month at the home of Wm. Waterhouse, in Pasadena, shortly after arriving there with his mother from a stay of several months in Honolulu. Mr. Corbett met his family in San Francisco on their return from the Islands, and enjoyed a week of association with his little son before the illness that took him away was contracted. Mr. and Mrs. Corbett are now at their home in Middletown, N. Y.

The movement which has resulted in the organization of a Board of Trade in Hilo and a Civic Federation in Wailuku can only be productive of good for Hawaii. Heretofore the various business organizations in Honolulu have borne the brunt of the campaign in Washington and at home for measures from which the entire Territory derived a benefit. Petitions with the added weight of organized influence from Hawaii and Maui will naturally impress Congress more than resolutions coming from Honolulu alone, even though they might voice the wishes of all the islands.

When Prince Pu Lan arrives in Honolulu Chinese residents will have an opportunity rarely allowed them. In their own country they are seldom permitted the privilege of gazing upon the features of one so exalted. In Republican Hawaii the Chinese may look upon the Prince without fear or favor.

The House may find Kumalae as innocent as a new born babe but it won't save him from the hands of the court and trial jury even though the legislature may be, as Testa says, above and beyond its own creation—the grand jury.

One had only to observe the array of new millinery yesterday to know that it was Easter Sunday.

If Senator John Brown is wise he will keep his county bills just where they now are—in his pocket.

Better men than Kumalae have demanded an "investigation" and were sorry for it afterward.

A church collection of $8,500 in one day doesn't look much like hard times in Hawaii.

NAWNS WILL PLAY SIX NIGHTS A WEEK

Tonight Tom Nawn and his "Polite Vaudeville and Comedy Co." will repeat their success of Saturday evening, to, judging from the advance sale, another crowded house. Many of those who were disappointed on Saturday in securing seats, bought for tonight instead, and an eminently successful season is assured.

The company will play every night except Sunday during their stay here of two weeks, changing their entire bill several times. Tom Nawn and the other Nawns have a series of celebrated sketches "A Touch of Nature" and "Shanty Town" for example, while all the others have a lengthy repertoire which they will draw upon.

After touring Australia and New Zealand the combination will probably take in South Africa over the same route laid out by Rial with the World's Entertainers. The Cape will, it is thought, be in fine fettle by the time the company arrives ad all are looking forward to a fine season, a hope which their excellence will surely help far towards fulfillment.

Derivation of Troika.

Editor Advertiser: Referring to your picture in Saturday's Advertiser, headed "Military Salute to Alexieff" it might be mentioned, that the carriage, characteristic for Russia, is indeed called a troika. The etymon of this word is the Russian cardinal number "troi," because the carriage is drawn by three horses, side by side.

The carriage, reproduced by your picture, resembles more a "landauer" than a troika, especially on account of the team.

Yours very truly,
W. HEYE.

MOVING PICTURES JUST THE THING

Editor Advertiser: I most heartily agree with you in what you say in the Sunday Advertiser about the character of Hawaii's exhibit at St. Louis. A well-chosen and well made set of stereopticon and biograph pictures will keep a crowd before it every hour of the day. In this age people love the spectacular. The eye must be appealed to. Moving pictures are everywhere immensely popular. At every exhibit of the San Francisco Camera club, where fine stereopticon views are shown, a large hall is packed to the doors. People will even stand on the sidewalk and gaze at the shifting of electric letters over a cafe. I remember that several years ago, before I came to Hawaii, and when I knew little or nothing about the country, I attended a stereopticon show in a little country town in New England. During the evening a few Hawaiian views were put on the screen. They were poorly made and poorly shown and the lecturer could say next to nothing about them, but I was filled with curiosity about the "Paradise of the Pacific" and immediately set about reading every book I could find on the subject.

Why could not a few slides be interspersed also which would set forth in brief, crisp sentences some specific information for prospective tourists? For example, something like this:

See the Real Hawaii,
it has
The Finest Hotels,
The Most Hospitable People,
A Tourist Bureau
At Your Service
and
A Multitude of Other Attractions.
You will be well cared for at reasonable expense.

I am confident that an exhibit at St. Louis such as you propose would procure for Hawaii more practical results than all the exhibits made heretofore put together.

Very respectfully,
READER.

BISHOP RESTARICK RAISES $8,584.90

Bishop Restarick scored a triumph yesterday when he raised $8,584.90 toward the fund to be used in completing St. Andrew's Cathedral. At all the services for Easter Sunday the contributions, in cash, pledges and subscriptions, amounted to the above sum which is a third of the entire amount necessary.

Since Bishop Restarick assumed charge of the diocese of the Hawaiian Islands less than two years ago, he has looked forward to the time when the money for completing the cathedral edifice could be raised. He has put forth every effort to induce Episcopalians to contribute of their means to this fund, and yesterday had the satisfaction of receiving a substantial offering.

Kohala Has the Baseball Fever.

Kohala on Hawaii has the baseball fever, good and strong. A baseball park has been cleared in Kohala proper, and fenced in. A fine diamond has been laid out and a grand stand will also be erected. A league is to be formed and a baseball team has already been organized with James Hind as captain and Sam Woods as manager. The team is one of the best on the island of Hawaii and is looking for games with other nines which have baseball hopes and aspirations. A game may possibly be arranged with a Honolulu club.

Catarrh

Is a discharge from the mucous membrane of the nose, throat, stomach, bowels, etc., when kept in a state of inflammation by an impure condition of the blood and a want of tone in the system.

Soothe the inflamed membrane, strengthen the weakened system, and the discharge will stop—to do this purify the blood.

"I was troubled with catarrh for years and tried various remedies but found nothing that would cure me. I then resolved to try Hood's Sarsaparilla and took four bottles which entirely cured me. I have never been troubled with catarrh since. As a blood purifier I can find nothing else equal to Hood's Sarsaparilla." WILLIAM SHERMAN, 1030 6th St., Milwaukee, Wis.

Poor Lamps Make Big Electric Light Bills

Many incandescent lamp bulbs sold in the market use 25 per cent and some even 30 per cent more electric current than standanrd lamps.

Owing to the greater resistance in the carbon filament of standard lamps they use much less current than inferior lamps to give the same amount of light.

It is therefore important that the consumer should use only lamps that are guaranteed standard.

Any customer doubting the quality of the lamps he is using can have them tested here free of charge.

HILOITES GET BUSY

Bridge Street Is Widened Now.

The Board of Trade Is Actively at Work.

Earthquake Shock in Kohala. Captain Parker Marries Mrs. Bailey.

HILO, April 1.—At the request of the Board of Trade, proceedings of which are noted in another column, L. A. Andrews of the road board has placed seven dump carts at work on the extension and widening of Bridge street. The magnificent palms on the part about to be cut away have been given to the Hilo park by Father Oliver. Some apprehension is expressed about the removal and subsequent placing of the palms in the parks; they can be moved once only with safety, and had the promise of the governor, that a landscape gardener would be sent us at once to map out the park, been kept, no difficulty would be feared; as it is no one is prepared to say just where they should go.—Herald.

THE BOARD OF TRADE.

At the Board of Trade meeting held on Tuesday night for the purpose of electing its officers, Mr. Brughelli gained additional laurels as a public spirited citizen by his repudiation of the statement, as shown in the minutes of the previous meeting, that he had placed a man, a mule and a cart at the disposal of the Road Board in the hope of reimbursement at some future date.

Mr. Brughelli stated in most emphatic terms that he had donated, fully and freely, the services of the aforesaid man, mule and cart in the hope that other citizens might follow suit, and by doing away with the menace to public safety existing at the Waiuku bridge, and probably by the extension of Bridge street to Volcano street, convince the members of a dilatory Road Board that improvements of this character must and would be attended to, funds or no funds.

It is needless to state that the minutes were corrected and Mr. Brughelli warmly applauded by the citizens present.

Messrs. Hayes and Smith reported having obtained over 100 signatures to the constitution and by-laws and collected $370 in the way of fees and dues.

In the election of officers there was a spirited contest for the office of President between Messrs. J. W. Mason, E. N. Holmes and W. H. Lambert, the honors finally falling upon the shoulders of Mr. Holmes. Mr. J. W. Mason and Dr. John Holland were elected to the offices of First and Second Vice-President by acclamation. The rest of the office bearers are as follows: Recording Secretary, H. Vicars; Treasurer, C. A. Stoble; Corresponding Secretary, W. C. Cook. The Executive Council consists of seven members of the organization, who will act as chairman of various committees of five to be selected from the main body. Out of fifteen nominations for Executive Councilmen, the following having received the highest number of votes are responsible for the future guidance of Hilo's "ship of trade" through calms and storms into the haven of prosperity: Philip Peck, Dr. Henry Hayes, W. H. Lambert, C. E. Wright, John A. Scott, Adam Lindsay and C. E. Furneaux.

The executive council at Wednesday's meeting appointed the following gentlemen as heads of committees:

Local Improvement—A. Lindsay.
Federal Improvement—P. Peck.
Advertising and Promotion—C. E. Wright.
Agriculture—J. A. Scott.
Various Industries—C. E. Furneaux.
Legislation—Dr. Henry Hayes.
Transportation—W. H. Lambert.
Reception Committee—E. N. Holmes, chairman; Vice-Presidents J. W. Mason and Dr. Holland and Corresponding Secretary W. C. Cook.—Tribune.

AN ELKS FAREWELL.

At the last regular meeting of the local lodge of Elks, the members decided to give a farewell dance to Past Exalted Ruler and Mrs. A. C. McKenney, who leave for the coast on the Falls of Clyde about the middle of April. The house committee was authorized to make all necessary arrangements, and the reception and dance will probably be given in the club rooms on Tuesday evening, April 12. Mr. McKenney goes out of office as head of the Elks' organization after a very prosperous year of administration, and his departure from Hilo and consequent withdrawal from active work in the order here will be a very severe loss to the personnel of the lodge. Mrs. McKenney, by lending the assistance of her musical talents and presence to many of the Elks' affairs, has helped to make the Elks' lodge the popular social organization in Hilo which it has become.—Herald.

EARTHQUAKE IN KOHALA.

A severe earthquake was felt in Kohala on the afternoon of the 29th inst. It lasted ten minutes and according to the report received from Manager Tulloch of the telephone company seemed to move in a northwesterly direction from the Kohala club to Mahukona. As yet no fatalities have been reported but we are sure there will be quite a list before the finish.—Herald.

DELIGHTFUL DANCE.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith F. Mackie gave a most enjoyable dance at their residence on Pitman street Friday evening last in honor of Mrs. Mumby. An extension of the lanai formed the dancing pavilion, the same being prettily decorated with ferns and flowers and brilliantly illuminated by colored incandescent lights strung across the ceiling.—Tribune.

BUGGY ACCIDENT.

Driving up Front street on Friday last Mrs. Lewis Schoen met with a very painful accident due to the breaking of a shaft bolt which allowed the shaft to sag upon the heels of the horse, thereby frightening the animal, which plunged wildly, and colliding with a telephone pole overturned the buggy throwing Mrs. Schoen with considerable force to the ground. Medical aid was at once summoned, and it was ascertained that beyond several painful bruises about the head and face, no serious injuries had been inflicted. From last reports we understand that Mrs. Schoen is making favorable progress toward recovery.—Tribune.

WAIAKEA REPUBLICANS.

The Republicans of the Third Precinct held a meeting at Christian Science hall Waiakea last evening and nominated candidates to the Territorial Convention as follows: Geo. Kaiser, G. F. Affonso, C. N. Prouty, John Bohnenberg, E. N. Voeller and M. F. J. Dale. The Primaries Election will be held at Christian Science hall, inspectors—W. F. J. Dale, John Manula and D. Spaulding.

NOTES.

Capt. E. W. Parker of the Wilder's S. S. Claudine and Mrs. D. T. Bailey were united in the bonds of matrimony on Monday last.

Mr. Peck reports that a surveying gang of six are at work at Honohina placing the line of Hilo-Kohala railroad.

Heavy rains were reported mauka Monday night, the report being confirmed by a very material rise in the waters of the Waiuku.

Mrs. Saunders, mother of Capt. Saunders of the bark St. Katherine, who had her leg broken in an accident at Puna last week, is at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Stone and is reported to be doing nicely.

At the Laupahoehoe baseball grounds, the Papaaloa team succeeded in defeating the Pepeekeo team by a score of 12 to 6. Courage has entered the breasts of the men from Papaaloa to such an extent that they have challenged a team to be picked from the Elks of Hilo.

R. E. Balding, late of Waimea, met and defeated J. P. Sisson on the courts of the Hilo Tennis Club, Monday, Mar. 28, by a score of 6-1, 4-6, 9-7.

Manager J. W. Mason of the Hilo Mercantile Co. leaves for the coast on Friday. From Honolulu he will go to Victoria, dropping down through the lumber camps of Washington and Oregon to San Francisco. He expects to return to Hilo about June 1st bringing with him his two eldest daughters who are in school at Irving Institute in San Francisco. The Misses Mason will spend their summer vacation with their parents in Hilo.

HAD BIRD IN MIND

Native Juryman's Definition of Doubt.

A jury in the Glennan murder case has been made up at Lihue, Kauai, and the case will go to trial this morning. The jurymen were accepted on Saturday but will not be sworn in until today.

Four venires of twenty-six jurors each were drawn. The jury as chosen is believed to be a good one and the case will probably be finished before the end of the present week.

The jurors are H. E. Kerr, C. Christianson Jr., C. Evenson, C. H. Wilcox, C. B. Makee, J. Warner, J. Cockett, J. L. Hjorth, H. Mahn, Jas. Kula, A. E. Spencer and C. Busch.

M. F. Prosser represents the government in the prosecution of the alleged murderer, Matsumoto Moritoro, and attorney Kaeo will defend the prisoner. A. G. Correa, who was appointed by the court to assist in the defense, was excused on his representation that he had to return to Honolulu.

During the examination of possible jurors Mr. Prosser asked a native if he understood the English language and received an affirmative reply. He was then asked if he knew the meaning of the word "doubt." The native replied that he did.

"Well, what do you understand it to mean?" was asked.

"It means a bird," was the startling reply.

"Well, then, if you have a doubt in your mind you mean you have a bird in your mind, is that so?" inquired Mr. Prosser.

"Aye."

Another native when asked if he believed he could decide the case on the evidence replied:

"Yes, sir, on the evidence projected by the law," was his answer.

It was finally brought out that he meant under the evidence "produced."

FIFTY CENTS A MONTH

A small bottle of Scott's Emulsion costing fifty cents will last a baby a month—a few drops in its bottle each time it is fed. That's a small outlay for so large a return of health and comfort.

Babies that are given Scott's Emulsion quickly respond to its helpful action. It seems to contain just the elements of nourishment a baby needs most.

Ordinary food frequently lacks this nourishment; Scott's Emulsion always supplies it.

Imitations always cost less than the original, hence the substitutes for Scott's Emulsion can be sold for a few cents less. But you're not saving anything when you buy them. Cod liver oil has a market value and you get the pure oil in Scott's Emulsion. That's the difference.

We'll send you a sample free upon request.

Maui Club Holds an Enthusiastic Meeting.

Charles Gay Gives a Church to Lanai Natives.

Catholic Priests Take Charge of Church Work—Court Term Has Ended.

MAUI, April 2.—Wednesday evening, March 30th, a special meeting of the Makawao Polo Club was held at the residence of H. A. Baldwin of Hamakuapoko. A committee consisting of H. A. Baldwin, D. C. Lindsay and W. O. Aiken was appointed to select teams and appropriate colors for the practice games of the coming season. A by-law was also adopted or rather amended in regard to membership. No applicant can be admitted into the club if he should receive more than two adverse votes at a meeting of the club at which a majority of members are present.

Several names were dropped from the club roll because of six months or more delinquency in the payment of dues. The consideration of sending a team to Honolulu was deferred until a future meeting.

LEGISLATORS LEAVE.

By today's steamer Representatives Keliinoi, Kalama, Pali, Haia and Nakaleka will depart for Honolulu to attend the coming legislature. Senator Kaiue also will be a passenger on the boat. Senator Baldwin will not be able to be present at the opening of the parliamentary body.

GAY'S NEW CHURCH.

Chas. Gay has had constructed a new church on the island of Lanai at a cost of $2,000.

Those who have visited it report that it is a beautiful little chapel and that it is provided with a fine organ.

The one hundred or more Hawaiians of Lanai much appreciate Mr. Gay's generosity inasmuch as their old church building at Halepalaoa was nothing better than a ruin with a roof so full of holes as to suggest lattice-work rather than a protection against the weather.

A WISE EXPLANATION.

Apropos of the present financial crisis in territorial affairs, a Maui politician offers the following explanation: In passing the six months' appropriation bill, the last legislature believing that county government was near at hand raised the salaries of their friends and appropriated money most lavishly thinking thereby to "do politics," that is to increase their political power and influence among their constituents. They imagined that this extravagance would continue but six months and that the new county officials would soon reduce expenses to their normal condition.

DISCOUNTING WARRANTS.

It is stated that the Wailuku bank has consented to discount treasury warrants at the rate of five per cent to patrons and ten per cent to others than regular clients.

NEW PRIESTS IN CHARGE.

Fathers Justin and Charles, new arrivals from Europe, now have charge of the Roman Catholic churches of Makawao district. Father James Beissel, who formerly was the resident priest, has been given a high position in the church of Honolulu.

MORMON ELDER HERE.

The Mormon elder of the Pulehuiki Mormon church is at Laie, Oahu, attending the territorial convention of Mormon churches. It is reported that he will not return to Kula.

A. HOUSE PARTY.

Friday, the 1st, a number of Hamakuapoko and Paia residents went to Olinda intending to have a house-party at Olinda House during Easter week. Among them were Mrs. Peck, Misses Nellie and Ethel Smith, Miss Culbert, Miss Peck and others including a number of gentlemen who will spend Sunday at the mountain resort.

COURT WORK CONCLUDED.

The Second Judicial Circuit Court met on Monday, March 28th, in Wailuku court house as adjourned. After a futile attempt extending over two days to obtain a jury in the criminal assault case against William Morris, David Espinda, Moke Kamaunu and Manula, all of Lahaina, the court adjourned on Wednesday morning, putting over this case and several others until the June term.

The Maui jury list seems to have been responsible for the unsatisfactory work done during the last court term. It should be carefully revised.

NOTES.

This morning the schooner Kona left Kahului for San Francisco with a cargo of sugar.

The lumber for the new Haiku pineapple cannery is on the ground, and the construction of the buildings is going rapidly forward.

Peaches are ripe in Makawao.

Weather: Warm and sultry with occasional local showers.

YOU WILL NOT

be deceived. That there are cheats and frauds in plenty everybody knows; but it is seldom or never that any large business house is guilty of them, no matter what line of trade it follows. There can be no permanent success of any kind based on dishonesty or deception. There never was, and never will be. The men who try that are simply fools and soon come to grief, as they deserve. Now many persons are, nevertheless, afraid to buy certain advertised articles lest they be humbugged and deluded; especially are they slow to place confidence in published statements of the merits of medicines. The effective modern remedy known as WAMPOLE'S PREPARATION is as safe and genuine an article to purchase as flour, silk or cotton goods from the mills of manufacturers with a world-wide reputation. We could not afford to exaggerate its qualities or misrepresent it in the least; and it is not necessary. It is palatable as honey and contains the nutritive and curative properties of Pure Cod Liver Oil, extracted by us from fresh cod livers, combined with the Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites and the Extracts of Malt and Wild Cherry; and how valuable such a blending of these important medicinal agents must be is plain to everybody. It is beyond price in Insomnia, Anemia, Weakness and lack of Nervous Tone, Poor Digestion, Lung Troubles and Blood Impurities. Science can furnish nothing better—perhaps nothing so good. Dr. W. H. Dalfe, of Canada, says: "I have used it in my practice and take pleasure in recommending it as a valuable tonic and reconstructive." It is a remedy that can afford to appeal to its record and represents the science and knowledge of bright and aggressive medical investigation. "One bottle convinces." At chemists.

LAHAINA LINES IN MAUI PAPER

A farewell reception was given to Dr. Miyata at the Japanese Mission church on Friday evening of last week. The grounds were tastily decorated with Japanese lanterns. Over ninety members of the Japanese Branch of the Red Cross Association were present. In the Maui district there are more than one hundred members in all, and they have been enrolled through the efforts of Dr. Miyata. At the reception Rev. T. Komuro presided, and in well-chosen remarks explained the object for which the meeting was held. Japanese hymns were sung at intervals, and speeches were made by J. Fujiyoshi, S. Nakashima and C. Yamame. Subsequently K. Dayo presented Dr. Miyata with an elegant poi bowl, and the recipient made a very appropriate response.

Dr. Miyata and the two Japanese nurses sailed for Honolulu about 4 o'clock on Saturday morning. They have engaged passage to their native land, on a steamer which is due at the end of this month. During the war with China, Dr. Miyata was in active service with the Medical Corps of the Japanese Army for about a year. He is ready to resume his duties immediately after his arrival in Japanese territory. The doctor hopes to return to Lahaina, when the war is over.

Carpenters are at work on Sheriff Lindsay's new house, near C. B. Cockett's homestead.

Rita Kapaakea, infant daughter of Joseph Edward and Rita Kaleiaka, died at an early hour on Sunday morning, after a month's illness. Being a child of much promise, its decease is deeply mourned.

The water of the canal is very dark, owing to a copious flow of molasses from the mill.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hayselden and Mr. and Mrs. Cross were in Lahaina last week.

Miss N. A. Holden was at Lahainaluna as the guest of Mrs. McDonald last Saturday and Sunday.

MAUI GETS INTO LINE

Civic Federation Is Organized in Wailuku.

For some time past it has been realized that Wailuku has reached that stage of development when some sort of civic body is needed to rightly interpret and enforce our local needs, and a general sentiment has grown up in favor of such an organization.

Consequently, when on Monday evening word was passed round that there would be a preliminary meeting for the purpose of organization, over a dozen of our leading citizens met at the office of Attorney D. H. Case.

Mr. Case was elected President, Judge McKay, Vice-President; W. J. Coelho, Secretary, and C. D. Lufkin, Treasurer. These officers, with H. B. Penhallow, W. F. Crockett and G. B. Robertson constitute the executive committee.

A constitution was submitted and adopted, providing for regular monthly meetings, and special meetings on call. A list of membership was signed by every one present, and a general meeting of citizens was called, for Wednesday evening at the courthouse for the purpose of explaining to the public the objects of the association and giving a chance to all who desired to become members.

The call for Wednesday evening's meeting struck a popular chord, and shortly after the hour of meeting arrived the hall was filled with our leading citizens. President Case called the meeting to order and the minutes of Monday evening's proceedings were read and approved. The constitution adopted was also read and explained, after which a ten minutes' recess was taken to allow those present to sign the membership roll and pay their initiation dues. At the end of the ten minutes on call to order, a list of members was reported. The president also stated that during the afternoon he had received a telephone message from Hon. H. P. Baldwin who although unable to attend, desired that his name be added to the roll of the membership, and that he would do all he could to forward the work of the Association.

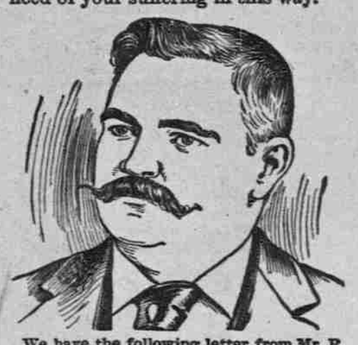
The organization being thus completed, a consideration of the work of the Association was entered into, and several objects that need immediate action were fully discussed the chief attention being given to appropriations in the loan bill, for the benefit of Wailuku District, the money for which is now lying idle in the Territorial treasury. After several motions touching the Iao Valley, the jail, the courthouse, and other appropriations, Mr. J. N. K. Keola moved as an amendment that the executive committee of the association proceed at once to investigate the loan appropriations available, and to push the work further at once by interviewing the Territorial authorities and urging the immediate prosecution of the work provided for by the loan bill. This was carried with enthusiastic unanimity and the executive committee met last night to begin active work, the results of which will be sent to Honolulu today.

Other important suggestions were made by Dr. Weddeck, Judge McKay, John Kinney, Sheriff Baldwin and others, and considered by the Association.

According to the constitution adopted, the Association is to hold regular meetings on the second Thursday in each month, and a full attendance was promised by every member present. By the way the executive committee may have some good news to present at the next regular meeting which will be held on April 14.—Maui News.

Rheumatism

If your muscles are sore, bones ache, joints feel stiff, and if pains dart through your body, it is probably rheumatism. Purify your blood, get out all the rheumatism poison—no need of your suffering in this way.



We have the following letter from Mr. R. J. Kowald, of Mannum, So. Australia. Mr. Kowald also sends his photograph.

"I suffered greatly with rheumatism, which laid me up for a long time. I tried a great many medicines, but they were of little or no use. A friend who had taken Ayer's Sarsaparilla induced me to try it. I thought it would be just like all the other medicines. But there was a great and pleasant surprise in store for me, for after taking one bottle I was better. The swelling began to go down, the pains began to leave me, and I felt better in every way. After taking only five bottles I was completely cured. While I was taking the Sarsaparilla I also took Ayer's Pills to keep my bowels in good condition."

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

There are many imitation Sarsaparillas. Be sure you get "Ayers."

BOARD OF HEALTH WILL ACT TODAY

A Board of Health meeting has been called for this afternoon at three o'clock to consider the letter from Governor Carter, suggesting that if the board did not wish to take the responsibility of further cuts, others might be willing to do so.

Some of the members are talking of accepting the governor's alternative and resigning forthwith, but no action will be taken until the meeting this afternoon.

"The statement made as to our action in reducing expenses is misleading," said President Cooper last evening. "The impression is given that we have made no cuts, when as a matter of fact we have reduced expenses almost one half."

Dr. Cooper said he had no statement to make as to the possibility of the members of the board withdrawing, as the governor intimated they might do.

Life by Registration.

Clarence M. White, chief clerk of the Public Works department, regards the registering of salary warrants with equanimity, seeing in the process an economic device worth trying in household and personal financing. The day the registration took place Mr. White said:

"I am going down to the Gazette office at lunch time to register my Advertiser subscription bill. While down town I shall also have my grocer's and butcher's bills registered. Then, on going home, I shall take along registration blanks to fix up the pay of the Japanese boy and next month's milk bill, providing in the same way for two weeks' bread tickets and something for the vegetable Chinese. Wall, Nichols Co. will register me for the World's Entertainers, and there will be no trouble about grand stand tickets for the baseball season. When the blanks run out it will be easy to register a printing bill for a fresh supply. I tell you it is the greatest idea the twentieth century has yet produced. If Billy Bryan takes it up instead of 16 to 1, Hearst will never be President of the United States."

Prisoners From Maui.

A police officer brought three prisoners from Maui to Honolulu yesterday on the Claudine, for lodgment in Oahu Prison. Thiguta was sentenced to eighteen months imprisonment for rape; John Keawe, five years for manslaughter; Remon Conception, six months to keep the peace.

Sheriff Baldwin also sent an old Hawaiian with the request that he be placed in the Lunalilo Home. The Sheriff states that the man is homeless and has no means of support.

Mrs. Ouderkirk Hurt.

Mrs. Ouderkirk was knocked down yesterday morning by a horse driven by a Japanese named Yamagata, as she was alighting from a street car. The Japanese was arrested for heedless driving, but on the representations of Mr. Ouderkirk, he may not be prosecuted, as he does not believe the driver was careless. The Japanese ran his vehicle upon the sidewalk but was too late to prevent the accident. Mrs. Ouderkirk was considerably shaken up.

Mormons in Conference.

A Territorial conference of the Mormon church was begun yesterday morning at Laie on this island. The conference is to last for three days and general matters of church work will be considered.

Representatives are present from almost all of the fifty Mormon churches of the Territory and an interesting session is anticipated. The conference is the annual one.

On the opening day of the Chinese Hospital fair, tomorrow, a genuine Chinese dinner with chop sticks will be served from four to six o'clock.

The theft of $50 and some jewelry from a room in a lodging house above the Orpheum was reported on Saturday night shortly after the performance was over. No arrests have yet been made.

The engagement is announced of Miss Minerva Fernandez, youngest daughter of Mr. Abraham Fernandez, of the Hawaiian Hardware Co., to Mr. Stanley A. Cutter, conductor on the H. R. T. & L. Co.

The Republican Club of the Fourth Precinct, Fourth District, will meet at San Antonio Hall at 7:30 o'clock on April 6th, for the purpose of nominating delegates for the primary election of the 9th inst.

The funeral of Mrs. Isabella Askew Weight was largely attended yesterday afternoon. Rev. W. M. Kincaid officiated. The floral offerings were beautiful and numerous. Six grandsons of the deceased acted as pallbearers.

Harry Mossman, clerk to the Deputy High Sheriff, returned from Kauai yesterday in the steamer W. G. Hall. He had expected to remain on the Garden Isle for two weeks, but owing to the cloudy condition of the atmosphere decided to return to Honolulu. He will spend the remainder of his vacation at Waialua.

Professor Perkins received a letter from Professor Koebele on the last mail, saying that he is still engaged in the hunt for leaf-hopper parasites in California. Professor Koebele has discovered one particular species of parasite in that state which he is anxious to introduce in Hawaii. He will continue his work there up to the time of his departure for Australia, and will probably remain in Honolulu only for the few hours that the steamer is in port.

Ho Pong, an attache of the Moana Hotel, was arrested yesterday afternoon on a charge of larceny. The Chinaman was suspected of theft and plans were laid to trap him. Detective McDuffie visited the hotel yesterday at noon, but had to wait until evening owing to the absence of the housekeeper. A search of Ho Pong's room revealed a powder box that had been lost by a guest. Several other missing articles are believed to have been taken by the same offender.

IRISH CAPSIZES AT PEARL HARBOR

At the conclusion of a race yesterday afternoon around the Pearl Harbor lochs, the new yacht Irish owned by Sorenson and Lyle was capsized by a sudden puff of wind and the boat turned bottom up. The crew was rescued by other boats. The Customs launch Waterwitch, which was cruising about the lochs at the time passed a line under the overturned craft and soon righted it.

The yachts Hawaii, Irish, Myrtle and a boat known as the "Sidewalk" participated in the race, which was won by the Myrtle. As the race ended a rain storm was seen approaching, but there was a puff of wind ahead of it. The Irish was struck by it suddenly and over she went. The crew floundered about for a short time but were quickly picked up.

SALVAGE FROM THE WRECK KILAUEA HOU

An attempt is being made by R. T. Guard, by means of a winch and giant powder, to loosen the boilers of the wrecked Kilauea Hou, which have been lying in the sand on the beach for the past three years. The winch aforesaid is for the purpose above outlined and has not been used for hauling in Japanese fish nets as has been supposed by some passersby. Plans for the use of the boilers have been temporarily abandoned owing to the difficulty of removing them.—Hilo Herald.

IROQUOIS PUTS BACK TO PORT

The U. S. S. Iroquois returned to port yesterday morning at 10 o'clock after having gone but seventy miles on her trip to Midway. The breaking of the valve stem on the intermediate cylinder prevented the engines from backing, and Captain Niblack put about for Honolulu to have the necessary repairs made. The Honolulu Iron Works will do the work and the vessel may again leave for Midway this evening or tomorrow morning.

Wood Block Paving.

The wood block pavement on the extension of the old Sorenson wharf has been put in with the old pavement and presents a smooth appearance.

The old paved section of the wharf has been in existence for about eleven years, and seems as good as when first laid. The Sorenson wharf has seen hard use but the pavement has outlasted many plank coverings on near by wharves. The latter have to be renewed about every two years.

Hilo Shipping

The bark St. Katherine, Captain Saunders, sailed on Tuesday for San Francisco with 11,278 bags sugar from Onomea, 18,080 bags from Honomu, 3,000 lbs. coffee, 269 bundles hides and skins and general merchandise amounting to $353. Total cargo, $109,320.58.

Freshet on Kauai.

During a freshet on Kauai last Saturday a launch and two whaleboats belonging to Sheriff Coney were carried away from their moorings, but were found by a Hawaiian fisherman who brought them back to their mooring place.

Shipping Notes.

On account of unfavorable weather at Anahola the Eclipse did not get a full load of sugar.

Purser Friel of the W. G. Hall reports the Mikahala at Waimea with 1600 bags K. S. M. sugar aboard.

The Kinau's cargo was as follows: 39 kegs, 22½ cords wood, 28 pieces koa, 10 sacks coffee, 2 horses, 24 hogs, 152 pkgs. sundries.

Purser Story of the Kauai reports the Mauna Loa loading sugar at Honuapo. He also reports a heavy rain on Hamakua coast on Thursday.

WAILUKANS ARE HERE

Committee to Confer With the Governor About Funds.

D. H. Case, G. B. Robertson and W. J. Coelho of Wailuku arrived yesterday on the Claudine from Maui. They represent the Civic Federation of Wailuku, and will today confer with Governor Carter, Treasurer Kepoikai and Superintendent Holloway on matters pertaining to the improvement of the town of Wailuku. Mr. Case is president of the federation, chairman of the executive committee and heads the delegation now in this city.

Several appropriations of money were made by the last legislature for the benefit of Maui, and the committee is desirous of ascertaining when the money is to become available. There is an appropriation for a road up Iao valley, another to Maalaea bay, and others for the improvement of Wailuku streets, a new schoolhouse, a new jail and courthouse, and the Wailukans wish to see the color of the money.
