ELECTION PROCLAMATION MAKES NEW PRECINCTS

Governor Carter yesterday proclaimed the general election on November 4th. The proclamation is typewritten upon heavy paper and with the Governor’s signature bears the big gilt seal of the Territory on gay fastening of red ribbon.

The Governor gave out a statement with regard to changes of voting precincts made in the proclamation. It was on behalf of good government that he had reduced the size of a number of large precincts, creating smaller units for some of the others.

It was made clear in the Governor’s statement that neither he, nor the other officers, nor the voters, nor the people of the Territory, nor any of the territories, nor any of the states were thereby better off.

Great pressure was brought to bear on the Governor for postponement of the work of the alterations two years hence, but he had decided that the necessity arose now and should be met. Probably other changes would be due hereafter in succeeding election.

Complaints were general at last election that some of the precincts were too large, making it a matter of difficulty to pull all the events.

Trouble existed on the other islands from having some of the polling places almost inaccessible to considerable numbers of voters owing to the ruggedness of the country.

In the Governor’s judgment, the first consideration should be to give every possible facility to the voters, which would be a strong factor in making for a honest election. Experience had shown that irregular polling places and great distances were greater to the voter than any small precinct.

The argument that he had heard against the changes—chiefly of the insufficiency of the selecting of precincts—was that some committee might arise, felt that there was yet time before the height of the campaign for re-organization of the polling places.

In the one case, the new committee would be a decided advantage, that of having more precincts, more officers and more officers. The committee would make the changes.

In conclusion, in the Fourth and the Fifth, into which Oahu is divided, the 1st precinct of the Fourth District is split on the line of King street and Waiwai road. All on the north-er side of the line retains the old number (1), with polling place near the foot of Punchbowl street. Before the line constitutes the new No. 1, to receiue the new number (2) with polling places at the Rapid Transit junction, King and Alexander streets. This is a very important change for the one line will not now be divided over here.

The precincts—except that out of the two and two years ago—now named 1st precinct, King street line. No. 8 polling place remains at Thomas Square and that of the new precinct, No. 9, is located at the 4th intersection on the 4th street. A total of 770 voters are four blocks, and five in the 6th, the latter having been cut out. The basc told voting place for the 1st precinct remained the same, but No. 4 keeps its old polling place at Emma square, but No. 6 is changed from 4th street to 2nd street. Both polling places are near the central fire station, Fort and Beresiana street.

The boundaries end at the 8th street. To the south, they now extend north to Vineyard street and east to Emma street.

The Fifth District contains material changes. Twice a section is cut out of the 7th precinct.

The “fighting seventy” had 797 votes, the 10th had only 40. The rest of the 21st is cut into two, the new precinct to be known as the 11th north polling place at Gulick avenue. What is left of No. 7 will still vote at Kahili pumping station.

The Sixth District, islands of Kauai and Niihau, is not changed.

Catharr

It is a disease from the mucous membrane of the nose, throat, stomach, bowels, etc., kept in a state of inflammation by an imperfect condition of the blood, and want of tone in the system. Stretch the infected membranes, strengthen the weakened system, and the discharge will elope itself to purify the blood.

It was a disease which men cannot years, and treat various modes but blood itself is the veriest, the best, the surest, the quickest remedy. To try Homer's counsel and try four bottles with another cure now do we not? We have never been troubled with catharr, never had it. I can tell you, the present is the 'smarter' blast upon all. But what is the matter with this you? These four bottles have been found most efficacious. The subject is easy of solution. The solution is a clear and distinct one. Now if it is not the matter, I am...

The Captain stood on the quarter-deck. His face was wreathed with a smile, as he gazed at the large group of Kanaka men and women standing on the deck of his ship.

"You have come," he said with a broad smile. "And you have brought with you a message of peace and friendship." He reached forward and shook hands with each Kanaka in turn.

"We come," the Kanaka answered, "to bring you news of your friends in the islands and to ask your help in the cause of freedom."

"I am glad," the Captain replied, "to hear that you have come in peace. I shall do all in my power to aid you in your noble cause."

The Kanaka bowed in appreciation and the Captain turned to his officers, giving them orders for the preparations of the ship.

Schooner Marconi.

Entertains Rotarians.

The schooner Marconi, under the command of Captain P. K. Young, entertained a large group of Rotarians on board last night. The party was composed of members of the Honolulu and Hilo clubs and was composed of five members from each club.

Captain Young welcomed the guests to his ship and furnished them with a tour of the vessel, pointing out the various parts of the schooner. He also gave a brief history of the ship and its operations.

The guests were then treated to a delicious dinner prepared by the ship's cook, and the evening was spent in socializing and discussing matters of common interest.

The party sailed at 9 p.m. and returned to Honolulu at midnight. The schooner Marconi is one of the finest vessels of its kind in the Hawaiian Islands and is well known for its fine sailing qualities.

GUM SHOE SNEAKERS and WHALE RATS.

One of the largest baseball games that has ever been played in Honolulu was played Sunday at 3 o'clock at Kamehameha Park.

The game was played by the Hawaiian League and the Whale Rats, a combination team of teams from various parts of the Hawaiian Islands.

The Whale Rats have made an extraordinary showing in their games, and their success is due in a large part to the efforts of Carew, a star player on the team who has been known to hit seven home runs in one game.

The game was played before a large crowd of spectators, and the players were cheered on by the enthusiastic fans.

The game ended in a tie, the Whale Rats gaining the upper hand in the last inning with a score of 2-1. The Whale Rats will be playing again next Friday in the Kamehameha Park.
