FREE LABOR IS THE SOLUTION

Judge Dolé Praises McBryde Plan of Settling Land With Independent Farmers.

"In connection with the campaign being carried on by the Advertiser for the settlement of American farmers here, upon which I desire to compliment your paper, would it not be a good proposal to suggest whether the Bishop Estate, which has vast lands and interests throughout the islands, would not find it to their interest to also encourage the settlement of their lands by Americans?" said Judge Sanford B. Dole yesterday. "The opening up of North and South Kona by the Castles and the promise of a railroad through those districts affords a great opportunity for settlers and particularly for the Bishop Estate, which has a great deal of land there that could be transformed into American homes. I don't think that the bringing in of Americans from the mainland would be to the prejudice of the American-Hawaiians in any way, but would aid in stirring them up to also get back to the land. The Hawaiian is most susceptible to what is going on around him and a good example of energy and thrift would inspire him along the right lines. I rather think that J. B. Castle, in opening up his lands in Koolaupoko and Koolaula, expects to do something in the way of bringing in settlers.

"I do not think that the scheme of settling plantation laborers on fee simple title sugar lands with the expectation of having them raise cane for the plantations is a practicable one. The McBryde plantation people have, to my mind, solved the problem of settling laborers for the sugar plantations.

"Their plan, in brief, is this: The laborers are settled on government land lying in the midst of their plantation lands, taking it up on homestead entries. The plantation has loaned them money for the building of their houses or has built their houses for them on a good safe basis of security, taking mortgages with the consent of the government. I rode all over that land recently and there were houses going up on every hand. Some of the lots are big ones, from ten to twenty acres, and there is water laid on every lot, although it may not be needed for irrigation.

"The settlers on this land are nearly all Portuguese, a few of them being Spaniards, and the men are taking up their homes there without being under obligation to do one day's work on the plantation, not a single day unless they want to. They are absolutely free of any obligation, but are working just the same to increase their income: They are planting pineapples on their land and the plantation has built a large and up-to-date cannery to handle the fruit for them.

"The plantation estimates that when this land is all settled they will have between seven hundred and eight hundred laborers available for the plantation. The absolute freedom that these

THE KAHLUI BREAKWATER

Big Work Almost Completed for the Third Port of the Territory.

The work which is now practically completed, in the building of a breakwater which has made Kahului a safe anchorage for ships of any size is probably one of the most important undertakings ever accomplished in this Territory by private enterprise. Kahului is the third port in the islands in importance and until recently the vessels of the American-Hawaiian steamship company and the ships which go to that point to discharge cargo, were compelled to lie far out from the wharves and even then if the sea commenced to be rough, would be forced to pull up their anchors and move farther out.

Under the present circumstances the vessels may come within a couple of hundred yards of the wharf and the sugar with which they are to be loaded may be taken out to them on lighters at a comparatively small expense and in smooth water. In the same way the big cargoes of freight which are brought for use on the plantations in that section may be landed with ease.

Practically the entire waterfront at Kahului belongs to the Kahului railroad, which is controlled by H. P. Baldwin, and to him is due the work which has meant the spending of upwards of $90,000 and which has made the harbor one to which the captains

PROF. KOEBELE IS COMING BACK

Announcement Made at Meeting of the Board of Agriculture.

It was announced at the meeting of the Board of Agriculture and Forestry which was held yesterday afternoon, that Prof. Koebele, who is now in Mexico in behalf of the board, will very likely leave there soon and come to Hawaii. It is now about two years since Prof. Koebele was in Hawaii, but in the meanwhile he has done an immense amount of work in entomological work of value to the Territory.

This announcement came in connection with a request from the Honolulu Improvement Advisory Board urging that in view of the damage already done by the "Maui Blight" (Orthesia insignis) and of the liability of it to spread to other plants than it now attacks, the Board of Agriculture and Forestry take the necessary steps to secure the natural enemies of the blight that they may be propagated and distributed throughout the Territory.

W. M. Giffard said that Prof. Koebele had told him that the natural enemies of the orthesia existed in Mexico and that whenever they were wanted they could be procured. If however, the board determined to secure them right away, it might not be possible to get the instructions to Prof. Koebele in time to enable him to secure them

JAPAN SETTLES ONE TROUBLE

Ends Disagreement With Canada—Dominion Leaves Enforcement to Her.

(Associated Press Cablegrams.)

TOKIO, January 16.—The difficulties which were occasioned between the Japanese and Canadian governments over the immigration of Japanese into the Dominion have now been settled on the basis of the agreement arrived at between Minister of Labor Lemieux and the Japanese officials during the visit of the Canadian Minister here. Canada will rely on Japan enforcing the regulations agreed upon, which allows only a limited number of laborers to leave Japan for Canada each year.

BUDGET DIFFERENCES ARE CAUSE OF JAPANESE CRISIS

TOKIO, January 16.—The Cabinet crisis in the Japanese government is purely the result of differences concerning the budget.

Nakashoji, the Vice-Minister of Communication, has followed the example of his chief, handing in his resignation yesterday. He will be succeeded by Mazuka.

It is thought that the several resignations among the Cabinet officers will force on a general election as soon as the Diet meets.

The figures of the budget, announced as agreed upon by the Japanese statesmen on December 17, provided for a vigorous policy of retrenchment for the next six years, the estimated saving to be two hundred millions. The army and navy estimates had been cut down so that no imperial schemes could be possible, and it was further resolved to increase substantially the taxes on sugar, oil, sake and tobacco. The cutting down of the estimates for railroad work is what resulted in the resignation of the Minister of Communication and the Vice-Minister.

PLANS AND SPECIFICATIONS FOR BREAKWATER APPROVED

The plans and specifications for the building of the Hilo breakwater, for which an appropriation of $400,000 was made at the last session of Congress, have been approved and returned to Captain Otwell, in charge of the work of the United States army engineers in this Territory. This means that in the near future the bids for the work will be advertised for and they will probably be opened on March 30.

After this date the successful contractor will be allowed a reasonable amount of time in which to prepare for the work and then construction will begin. It is expected that bids will be made from this city, Hilo, San Francisco and possibly from New York. The plans which have been accepted will give Hilo a harbor several times the size of Honolulu's, and part of which, the section now known as Reed's Bay, will be so well protected, that no matter from what quarter the wind blows, the water will be quiet.

The breakwater itself will be a very long structure and will be of a comparatively small cross section, running far out and following the line of a reef, which will allow its being built at less expense than if deeper water was to be encountered. Those who are familiar with the waterfront at Hilo will have noticed the line of breakers which may be seen when the weather is at all rough, extending from a point beyond Reed's Bay, over a mile out, and nearly parallel to the general shore line. Over this reef the breakwater will be built and will be designed to protect the entire harbor, except when the north winds blow. In such a case the outer part of the harbor may have a swell, but the inner portion will always remain smooth. The prevailing swell is from the east-northeast and will break on the walls of the structure and disappear.

Before the work is completed it is likely that a further appropriation will be asked from Congress, as the intention is that the structure shall be built out about 7300 feet to the northwest and then turned towards the west for about 2800 feet. It will be one of the most important works of the kind which has ever been undertaken on the Pacific Coast, the only larger proposition being that at San Pedro.

SUICIDE OF HILO BARKEEPER FORMERLY LIVING HERE

(Wireless to the Advertiser.)

HILO, January 15.—Wm. Downer, bartender of the Union Saloon, committed suicide at 9 o'clock this morning by taking corrosive sublimate. He was here nine years. Downer formerly lived in Honolulu, arriving there on a British warship twenty-eight years ago. He was once proprietor of the Keystone saloon in Hilo.

COLONIAL LINE MAY WITHDRAW

Australian Report Says the
Only Line to America May Suspend.

According to the newspapers received on the last steamer from Australia there is some likelihood of a discontinuance of the steamship service of the Canadian-Australian Royal Mail line, which touches here. No rumor to this effect has been heard in Honolulu and the vessels have been carrying passengers to the full limit of their accommodations since the Oceanic vessels stopped running. Their freight has been heavy, though the larger part of their cargoes on the trip to the north is picked up at Suva, consisting of raw sugar for the Vancouver refinery. The following article in the Sydney Herald shows the feeling in that city, caused by the refusal of the Canadian government to continue the mail subsidy:

"The disquieting news, practically confirmed by our cable messages of yesterday, that there is a grave possibility of steamship communication between the Commonwealth and Canada being abandoned, has created a profound feeling of uneasiness and anxiety, not alone among the commercial men of this city but among practically all classes of the community. It is less than a year since the line of mail and passenger steamships between Sydney and San Francisco ceased to run, and the stoppage of the Vancouver service would be the removal of the last link that binds us to the continent of America. It is difficult to conceive a period in our history when communication across the Pacific will be a thing of the past, but there is a very serious possibility of such a state of affairs being realized, unless prompt steps are taken.

"It is generally known that a fleet of steamships running between Sydney and Canada could not possibly be maintained without very substantial subsidies. The existing service is a monthly one, and the total subsidy paid amounts to £66,000, contributed as follows:—Canada £37,095, Australia £26,620, and Fiji £2,285. The existing contract has some months to run, but, although the agreement is for two years' duration, the contracting governments have reserved to themselves the right to terminate the contract at the expiration of the first year. The renewal of the old agreement specified the withdrawal of the Mlowera and the substitution of a better class of steamer, and this has already been carried into effect.

"While it is perfectly true that during the season—about three months in the year—large numbers of passengers are carried from Australia to Canada and vice versa, taking the year as a whole the tourist traffic is not very large, while the cargo trade is almost infinitesimal. As a purely commercial enterprise the line would have failed years ago; but, stimulated by subsidies, the Union S. S. Company of New Zealand, which acts as the Australian agents, has from time to time fostered and encouraged the service by placing magnificent vessels on the line.

"The view that the Australian tariff is responsible for the contemplated action of the Canadian authorities is not supported here. The Federal Treasurer last night remarked, 'I do not for a moment think that it is on account of our tariff that the subsidy for the Vancouver service has been omitted from the Canadian estimates. When in London I met both Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Mr. Fielding, and I had conversations with them on the subject of reciprocal trade relations with the Commonwealth. As a matter of fact, communications have been proceeding since the introduction of our tariff, but we told the representatives of Canada that we could not negotiate for preferential trade until the tariff had been finally disposed of. We were compelled to halt for two reasons. In the first place we do not know with any degree of certainty what the Australian tariff will ultimately be; and, secondly, until the question has been determined we will not know what position we will be in to enter into reciprocal trade relations with Canada. The negotiations have certainly not been broken off, and as soon as the tariff is completed they will probably be renewed. Canadians must not forget the fact, Sir William added significantly in conclusion, 'that their tariff as it stands now is as high and perhaps higher than ours.'"

VARIED WORK OF CENTRAL UNION

Annual Meeting Following a
Fish Chowder Supper.

Central Union church held its annual meeting last evening. At 6 o'clock a fish chowder supper was served by the Ladies' Society of the church to more than 300 people. The Sunday school room, opened to its largest capacity by the removal of folding doors, was set with long tables, each graced with carnations and other flowers. At these the supper was served. The service was by young ladies of the church. The menu included, besides chowder and delicious coffee, sandwiches and cake.

MANY PASTORAL CALLS.

Following the supper the annual meeting was held. Rev. Dr. Doremus Scudder, the minister, presiding. Dr. Scudder presented his first annual message. He said that his 295 pastoral visits during the three months of his pastorate had shown him that the church directory needed revising. Many of these calls had been futile because of removals. He estimated that it would take from three to five months more for him to find out exactly where most of the families who look to Central Union church as their church reside. He intended, however, to persevere, as first-hand acquaintance with the minutiae of the problems of the church, he considered a sine qua non.

The Standing Committee had revised the church rolls, in an endeavor to make the rolls represent the actual members of the church. This revision had reduced the total of membership to 886 which was probably, he said, very nearly the actual number.

WHERE GOLF WILL WIN.

"The Sabbath morning service," continued Dr. Scudder, "seems to be gaining strength. The idea of worship rather than entertainment is being steadily exalted. Where attractive preaching, artistic music, and ministry to aesthetic tastes are made ends in themselves, golf and other outdoor recreations are sure to win."

"The Sabbath evening service," Dr. Scudder says, "should become the church's weekly net drawing. Its purpose should be to attract those who have not acquired the church habit, to reach outsiders, to gather young people who like to be out Sunday evenings. Meanwhile direct, informal, evangelistic sermons without manuscript, and entirely different in make-up and style from those of the morning will be employed consistently."

NOISE OF SUNDAY TRAFFIC.

As a remedy for the noise of Sunday traffic on Richards street and Beretania avenue, of which complaint is made, Dr. Scudder suggests that if the church should energetically petition the authorities to asphalt both streets for a distance east and south, it would help remedy the matter. He suggests that the church itself might bear some of the expense.

The effective work of Clifton Tracy as Superintendent of the Bible school, and of the self-sacrificing teachers and officers, he spoke of in praise.

In speaking of the Christian Endeavor Society, which he praises highly, Dr. Scudder says: "One of the interesting features of the Endeavor movement here is the faithfulness of the older members of the church to the society, shown in their staying away from its meetings. Many an Endeavor society is killed by kindness, the young folks being overawed, first into silence and next into absence, by the presence and ready words of their elders. Moral, after graduating from the Endeavor Society, pray for it, but instead of attending its meetings (except on special occasions) carry the Endeavor spirit into the mid-week meeting of the church."

In conclusion Dr. Scudder said that the ideal of a church required some one definite duty to be assigned to every member. He promised that as soon as all resident members shall have been located, he would see that everyone of them had before him a clear statement of the opportunities for work—and there were plenty of them—that the church offered.

W. W. Hall, as clerk of the church, reported on church membership as follows: The total membership at the beginning of the year 1907 was 983. During the year there had been added, by letter 15, and by confession of faith 14; a total of 29. There had been dismissed from this church to others by letter, 29, and there had died 8; placed on the retired list 87; and dropped from the roll 2. The total deductions were 126, making a net loss in membership of 97, leaving the present membership of the church, 886.

A record was given of the meetings of the Standing Committee; of the resignation of the Rev. J. Walter Sylvester; of the clergymen who had supplied the pulpit of the church, and of the call and installation of Dr. Scudder as pastor.

Mr. F. J. Lowrey for the standing committee reported for that body, dwelling on the need of a Sunday school building, and asking that authority be voted the trustees to build such a structure. This was done. A perspective view and plans of the proposed building, drawn by H. L. Kerr, were on view in the room.

W. O. Atwater as treasurer of the church reported that during the year there had been contributed to the benevolences of the church, $5527.29 and been disbursed in these benevolences $4996.84.

Jonathan Shaw, treasurer of the board of trustees, reported that there had been contributed for the support of the church $11,441.12, and there was a balance on hand of $326.37. To the church building fund there had been contributed in cash and pledges $2163.

The estimates of needs for the coming year amounted to $14,632.

Mr. Shaw gave some of the results of the experience of the church with the envelope system which had been adopted at the beginning of last year. On the whole it had worked satisfactorily. The largest amount ever received in an envelop was $50, and the smallest two cents.

Clifton Tracy, for the Sunday school, reported much advance since paid services had been dispensed with in its management and instruction. There were needed a few more teachers and a few more workers in other directions. The infant department could be more than doubled if there were sufficient room for it. The need of a new building was emphasized in many ways.

W. J. Forbes, treasurer of the Sunday school, reported receipts of $1811. There was a balance on hand of $20.24.

Rev. O. H. Gulick reported on the Pleasant Island mission. The most striking announcement in this report was the completion, including binding, of an edition of a translation of the entire New Testament scriptures into the Pleasant Island language; and the addition of a new worker, Miss Linck, of Germany, who would be supported by a Christian Endeavor Society in Germany.

For the Ladies' Society Mrs. W. J. Forbes reported showing the work of the society which included $103 for relief in individual cases, and expenditures for purposes of the society of $428.55.

Mrs. Scudder reported for the Woman's Board of Missions, giving a review of the extended and varied activities of that organization. The work of the Gleaners was reviewed by one of the officers of that organization.

Miss May E. Paty reported for the Christian Endeavor Society, outlining its activities which were by no means confined to work in Honolulu.

James A. Rath gave an interesting report of the work of the Palama Settlement. The work of the year had been characterized by three things in particular: The establishment of the pure milk depot for infants; the dormitory for young men; and a system of membership in the settlement. The people ministered to were poor and those earning small salaries but the amounts received from the people themselves had increased from about $400 to more than $1000.

The work of the Japanese mission was reported on by Rev. O. H. Gulick; that of the Portuguese Sunday school, which is now twenty-one years old, by Rev. W. D. Westervelt; and that of the Chinese mission Sunday school by Rev. E. W. Thwing.

The meeting closed with the benediction.

Last night, at eleven o'clock, a baby boy, a child of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Heen, died at the home of its grandfather, Charles K. Notley.

The indications are that the weather will be cooler.

MAY BE MORE THAN A JOKE

Governor Frear Drops Remark About the Federal Building.

Governor Frear, in seeming jest, yesterday made a remark about the proposed Federal building for Honolulu, which may have had more behind it than facetiousness. It was addressed to an Advertiser reporter, Secretary Mott-Smith being present.

An expression dropped from the Governor indicating hope that within a year work on the building would begin, but he immediately foiled the force of the words by humorous facial signals. There was a responsive laugh from the Secretary. Yet as the Governor had just been to Washington, there is a chance that, in this instance, actions did not speak louder than words.

"The Governor and the Secretary have put in their first day in office," Mr. Frear said after dismissing the latest official caller at five o'clock. Reference was to the fact that both officials had that morning been sworn in for their regular terms of four years each, under commissions dating from December 13, 1907, the day the Senate of the United States confirmed their appointments.

They were just as much Governor and Secretary, respectively, of Hawaii during the short term of their Senate recess appointments, but the latter term is not counted out of their statutory period of office. In the same way, Mr. Frear was twice appointed, with the approval of the Senate, as Chief Justice, but he holds three separate commissions as souvenirs of that high office.

Chief Justice Hartwell administered the oaths of office to the executive officials. Besides those having part in the ceremony there were present Attorney General C. R. Hemenway, Mrs. W. F. Frear, Mrs. Hugo Frear, Alexander Frear, Chief Clerk David Lloyd Cookling and E. P. Irvin.

Governor Frear was busy all day with matters brought to him by heads of departments.

Among matters requiring early determination are those of the Kapapa lands and of public lands under expiring leases to plantations on the Island of Hawaii, the Governor mentioned in reply to an Advertiser reporter's question at the close of the day.

He referred with gratification to the starting of work on the Honolulu High school building, as well as the prospect of a satisfactory contract being made at an early day for completing the Nuuanu reservoir. A number of school-houses were to be erected among the earliest public works.

Speaking also of the early probability of seeing the Federal leprosyarium on Moikoi erected Governor Frear dropped a remark sounding full of hope that something would be doing on the Federal building in Honolulu about a year hence. Although he did some vigorous winking in discount of the newspaperman's blinking at such a dazzling prospect, it was too natural an impression to be obliterated that the Governor, with all his tremendous activity at Washington, must have talked Federal building there in so many influential places that the need of it, as a matter of national policy, bulges up in higher relief now than that of the Panama Canal.

TIMELY TALK AT CONFERENCE

Bishop Moore's Lesson on the Old Year and the New.

The second day's session of the annual meeting of the Hawaiian Mission of the Methodist church was held yesterday, beginning at 9 o'clock in the morning by the conference examination and concluding at 9 o'clock last night by the singing of closing hymns in three Honolulu branches of the church, the First Methodist church on Beretania avenue, at which Bishop Moore delivered an address, the Korean church and at the River Street Japanese church, at both of which the teachers of the nationality of the congregation spoke.

During the afternoon, at the institute meeting, Secretary Paul Super, of the Y. M. C. A., spoke on "The Work Among Young People."

The address delivered last night by Bishop Moore dealt with the value of time, his subject being "A Timely Address on Time." Taking part also in the services were Rev. Dr. Wadman, Rev. Dr. Crane and Rev. A. C. McKeever, while special music by the members of the choir and a solo by Mrs. Hare were rendered.

BISHOP MOORE'S ADDRESS.

The address of Bishop Moore, who was introduced by Dr. Wadman, was, in part, as follows:

Though it is mid-January, the Old Year is only hazy on the horizon. We fired noisy salutes to welcome the New Year, but after all our thoughts and hearts are with the Old Year, fading in the haze yonder.

But it is to the year of grace, 1908, the unveiled New Year, to which we are to address ourselves tonight. It is big with destiny for us, but the destiny is hidden in mystery. Health, disease, perchance death; social joys, and sorrows; business success or failure; political disaster; pestilence and war—all may be there and there for us. We cannot escape if we would. We must move on. Of some of these strictly personal experiences we have hints and prophecies. Here and there one in our circle seems marked for early transfer; business here seems foredoomed; and anon glimpses of better fortune. As our vision takes a longer sweep, the mystery yields gleams of light. We speak with certainty of oncoming economic events; of political issues; of world-embracing diplomacy. Hints and foregleams are these—far-reaching rays from the uplifted torch of Experience. Valuable. Not to be disregarded. Yet they, too, are veiled in mystery. We know not what a day shall bring forth.

This mystery not only includes the events of the year, but its integrity as well. It is not given to us absolutely. Only a moment at a time. "Go to now, ye that say, today or tomorrow we will go into such a city, and continue there a year, and buy and sell and get gain; whereas ye know not what shall be on the morrow." Thus St. James rebukes us.

What a vivid picture Tupper gives of this moment-by-moment living—"A man's life is a tower, With a staircase of many steps, That as he travels upward crumble Successively behind him."

It follows that we must act according to this measurement—use and value time as consisting only of the present moment. The past is gone. We cannot recall its priceless opportunities. True, "Tis greatly wise to question our past hours, And ask them what report they bore to Heaven, And how they might have borne more welcome news."

But only in order that the mistakes and follies be not repeated.

Each moment is the heir from its predecessor, from all its predecessors—in health, in business, in mental and moral character. How dare we be careless, indifferent as to its patrimony!

And this "time," so uncertain, is our only preparation for eternity. I repeat: God help us seize the moment as it flies.

PROGRAM FOR TODAY.

The conference program for today will be:

PROF. H. KOEBELE, WHO HAS INTRODUCED MANY BENEFICIAL INSECTS INTO HAWAII.

before leaving Mexico, as he would shortly return to Hawaii.

Forester Hosmer stated that the resolution asking that these enemies be secured was introduced by Captain Kidwell who said that already the orthesia had spread to seven or eight other plants besides lantana; a list of these he gave. Mr. Hosmer was of the opinion that any drastic efforts on the part of the board to destroy the orthesia would meet with opposition in Maui where many of the graziers were convinced that it was the principal agent they had in limiting the spread of lantana.

Mr. Giffard said that when the first announcement of the existence of this Maui blight, as it was popularly called, was made, Prof. Koebele had warned against it, expressing the view that it was liable to become a damage to other plants and trees; and that Mr. Dole, then president of the Republic, had issued a proclamation against it. In spite of this however, it had spread, both naturally and by direct efforts to spread it, and it could now be found in all parts of this island. He realized however that its benefits in destroying lantana were overestimated, and that those who believed in it for this purpose so thoroughly had failed to closely differentiate between its work and that of the insects introduced by Prof. Koebele. The orthesia, in his opinion, was ineffectual to prevent the spread of lantana. Its effect was to cover the lantana with honey-dew and a sort of black dust that made it difficult for the lantana to breathe—plants breathing through their leaves as animals do through their lungs. The result was that the growth of the lantana was stunted and retarded, and sometimes killed. But it still matured its seeds which, spread by the agency of birds, spread the lantana. The effective agency in preventing the spread of lantana was first a moth which laid its eggs in the corolla of the flower and these developing prevented the formation of seed. Where the flower was not destroyed and the seed was formed, a fly laid its egg in the seed so that the seed did not mature and would not germinate. It had, he believed, been demonstrated that mynah birds and doves would not eat the lantana seed attacked by this fly because there was no nutriment in it. The orthesia, in fact, interfered with the work of some of these beneficial insects. Because of the amount of honey dew it formed on the leaves, these insects would stick in it and so could not carry on their natural habits.

"The time will come, undoubtedly," said Mr. Giffard, "when the natural enemies of the orthesia will have to be introduced. The only question is whether the time has arrived; whether it has yet begun to do damage overshadowing the good that many people believe it is accomplishing."

The matter was referred to the Committee on Entomology, and Dr. Perkins as well as the entomologist of the Board will be consulted. The matter may be brought before the entomological society.

Resolutions presented by George R. Carter and approved by the Committee on Forestry were adopted looking to the creation of two forest reserves, one to be known as the West Maui Forest Reserve and the other to be known as the Waialua Spring Forest Reserve. The former is to include the lands in Maui which may be described as embracing the entire top of the West Maui Mountain above a line so encircling the mountain as to exclude all agricultural land. It will contain about 44,440 acres.

The Waialua Spring reservation lies on the western slope of Mt. Hualalal, bounded on the north by the land of Puaa I, and on the south by the land of Kahulu 2, between the elevations of 2000 and 3000 feet, and containing an area of 193 acres.

The Board reconsidered the action it took at a previous meeting in regard to the application from the Kukaiua plantation for a lease of certain lands in the Hamakua district, and referred the matter back to the Forestry Committee to consider the points raised by the Commissioner of Public Lands. In addition, the Superintendent of Forestry was instructed to visit the Hamakua District, ascertain the views of those interested in agriculture below the area in question and report whether in his opinion the lands in question are of more value for grazing purposes than forestry; and if in favor of forestry, whether such forest should be for timbering purposes only.

The following report from Forester Hosmer was made and the recommendation was concurred in and the Survey Department will be asked to make the surveys suggested.

Honolulu, Hawaii, Jan. 15, 1908.
 Board of Commissioners of Agriculture and Forestry, Honolulu, Oahu.
 Gentlemen: One of the forest reserve projects that for some time has been before me is the question of creating a reserve in the District of South Kona, Island and County of Hawaii.

During the early autumn of 1907 I made an extended investigation of the forest lands in that district, seeing as much of the forest as possible from existing trails, and in general getting in touch with the forest situation.

South from Hookena the district is practically undeveloped. Except for a narrow belt along the government road, that hardly anywhere reaches above the 2000 foot contour line, the higher land is heavily forested; and even the cultivated area is not continuous for ancient lava fields and more recent, well defined flows confine the good soil to pockets and kepukas of varying size. In many of these the soil is rich and of high productive capacity but their location is known to but few persons and what little accurate information there is is not generally available.

At irregular intervals lava flows, mainly of the "aa" type, extend to and below the government road. Many of these are covered with ohia lehua trees of large size and excellent quality, giving to what would otherwise be barren stretches a valuable crop. On the flows the ohia tends to form a pure stand but elsewhere it is found a mixture with the other trees characteristic of the lower forest zone. At about 4000 feet all through South Kona is an abrupt line of demarcation between the ohia forest below and the koa belt, which extends up to about 5500 feet. Higher than this ohia again appears but at this elevation it is scrubby in type, as is also such scattering koa as is found in mixture with it. This formation runs up into the great privately owned land of Kahuku.

Owing to the absence of permanent running streams and the scarcity even of springs, the chief value of the forest in South Kona rests in its commercial importance, and because of the growing demands for ohia railroad ties, ohia as well as koa becomes a factor to be reckoned with. I am confident that rightly lumbered the forest on the government land in South Kona can be made to yield a considerable revenue to the Territory and at the same time be brought under a system of forest management that will lead to an improvement in the condition of the forest and insure future returns as well. While this statement applies particularly to the area above an elevation of 2500 or 3000 feet I believe it would be to the advantage of the government to include in any plan of forest utilization all the government forest in South Kona that has commercial value. In this way the stands of ohia on the lava flows that come down to and across the government road would be included as well as the ohia and koa mauka.

It is recognized that this department is the appropriate branch of the government to take charge of its forest work. The disposition of the timber on these lands is essentially a forest problem. Therefore, in my judgment all of the government lands in South Kona on which there is now a commercial forest should be set apart—at any rate for the present—as a forest reserve. To accomplish this it will be necessary that the boundaries of a number of the lands be run, that certain points be located and that some other surveying work be done, such as the location of the principal topographic features. I have taken up the matter in a tentative way with Mr. Wall, the government surveyor, and find that were an official request made it would probably be possible for one of his assistants to start almost at once to do such work as may be required. In order that no time may be lost I therefore recommend that the Board authorize this request.

There is an additional reason why such a survey as is here proposed should be made now. As has been pointed out there is much good land belonging to the government in South Kona but at present there is very little accurate information available in regard to its character and condition. With the development of the district through the opening up of better means of transportation—of which there now seems promise—will come a demand for this land. A comprehensive survey including the location of the boundaries and of the main topographic features is imperatively needed before any appraisal or allotment can be made. The proposed survey will make available these data as well as those in regard to the forest.

If the Board approves this recommendation I shall, after the survey is made submit a more detailed report on the forest situation in South Kona. Until more information is available than at present it is impossible to recommend accurately what boundaries should be chosen as the limits of the projected reserve.

Very respectfully,
RALPH S. HOSMER,
 Superintendent of Forestry.

A MORNING PAPER.

LAND FOR AMERICANS.

The most pernicious plea we have yet heard on the question of agricultural settlers for Hawaii is that their coming is dependent on the success of measures to get European immigrants, non-English-speaking ones preferred.

Europeans of this class are sought for the cane fields, the lure being tiny truck farms by which they may be staked to the soil. The Advertiser approves this undertaking as an aid to the sugar industry and as a means of diversifying race strains; but it utterly rejects the idea that the Americanization of these islands, through the establishment of a substantial middle-class, can be accomplished by any plan which suggests the exclusion from the lands of American farmers.

What Hawaii wants and what it means to get, is immigration of the kind which settled at Wahiawa and has made such a triumph of farming there; the sort of immigration which turned the Southern California deserts into orchards and vegetable gardens and is ready to come this way when enough public lands are opened to give it a show.

Hawaii can not be Americanized by grape and chicken raisers from the Azores or by tortilla makers from Spain or by ex-convicts from Siberia. These people may all find a place in the sugar industry, but their presence on the soil represents an ignorant and unprogressive foreign element, more or less unstable, not the element likely to build up diversified agriculture and fit Hawaii for statehood within this, or the next or even within the third generation.

We want our Americanization as soon as we can get it and we want Americans to give it to us.

Why not get it? Why not get it now?

Americans with energy and means are all the time writing here about lands to settle on. They want to come and cast in their lot with us, but they seem to get little encouragement of a practical kind.

Why?

It is not for lack of land. There is plenty of land—"vacant, smiling principalities of it;" land not needed for sugar but capable of producing half a dozen other export crops; land capable, in the opinion of experts, of supporting 20,000 American families.

The most statesmanlike thing which can be done for Hawaii is to make that land available. The man who does most to that end will be Hawaii's greatest benefactor.

But why wait?

Incorporated in the minutes of the meetings of the Chamber of Commerce and the reports of the trustees of the Chamber presented at the bimonthly meeting yesterday and approved, being the minutes of all the meetings held since September last, are the reports of the various special meetings as published in the Advertiser. These press reports included the various addresses made before the Chamber during the past few months by distinguished visitors in the city and the sanction of approval voted on them yesterday is a testimony to the thoroughness and accuracy with which these reports were prepared for the news column of this paper. Other commercial bodies of Honolulu express their appreciation of the reports of their proceedings in these columns by purchasing editions of the Advertiser for mailing to other commercial bodies and for distribution as promotional literature, and also for filing away with the records of their organizations.

If the best sponges sell in the American market for $10 a pound, Hawaii has neglected an important industry. According to the report of the Albatross made several years ago, the sponges from these seas leave nothing to be desired. Some specimens in the rough, lately received here, are large and handsome. With sponges at $10 per pound, a wage-scale based upon one-fifth that sum would enable Hawaiians, who are especially good at sponging, to make a fair livelihood. It is not difficult to prepare raw sponges for the market. After the growth has been taken from the sea it is exposed to the air until decomposition sets in and is then beaten with a stick or trodden under-foot in water till the soft parts are removed. After cleaning, these sponges are bleached, dried and baled. The Florida sponge fishery is worth about $750,000 per annum.

This has not been an average winter for rain, as yet, but February and March rarely disappoint pluvial expectations. Rain, however welcome in the country, is not popular in town, yet it does more good here by far than it gets the credit for. The Sunday rain following the appearance of an alarming case of illness a little while ago, swept away innumerable germs of one kind and another and proved to be an effective ally of the Board of Health. It was during the protracted drouth of 1899-1900 that the plague made its first appearance here. Heavy rains before long would cause relief to everyone who wants Honolulu kept clean. They do what no Board of Health, however effective its work may be, could hope to accomplish.

In a paragraph quoting the views of the Advertiser about the unwisdom of building the great Pacific naval base at a Southern California port instead of at Pearl Harbor, the Army and Navy Journal suggests that there is no foundation for the rumor upon which the Honolulu argument is based. We are glad to have the assurance of this from so authoritative a source; and, indeed, we had surmised, after the President's interview with the California Congressmen, that, if the coast project had really taken form, it had since come to nothing. The original story was credited to Secretary Metcalf, who, it is reported, wants support at home for the seat in the Senate now occupied by George C. Perkins.

With men like Sanford B. Dole, Francis M. Hatch, James B. Castle and Jared G. Smith strongly for the American farmer in Hawaii, and with Governor Frear standing ready to do his part in the diversification of island agriculture and the building up of a substantial middle class, the outlook for the Territory is promising well. These men are leaders in a movement which is gaining recruits every day and which has found legislative expression in the provision made for the College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts.

It is an unexpected pleasure to agree with Mr. A. G. M. Robertson on any question of local politics; but the Advertiser believes he is right in contending for uninstructed delegates to the Republican National Convention. The party will send two men there and it is possible, that, if independent, they may be in a position, should a deadlock ensue between instructed delegates, to help pick the winner. At any rate it will be wise to give them a chance to put their influence where it will be of the most advantage to Hawaii.

One of the Eastern papers which opposes the transfer of the fleet to the Pacific, berates the folly which sends the big ships through the Straits of Magellan in "the dead of winter." As it is the dead of summer in the southern hemisphere now, it is not likely that this argument will make any change in Admiral Evans' plans.

The Democrats say they will nominate Jarrett for Sheriff. All right. If the Republicans put up a good man against him the party now in control of the Sheriff's office will move out.

As between American farming and European truck farming in Hawaii, the best friends of this Territory will not linger over a choice.

Our naval ships may not be the best in the world, but if their gunnery is the best, the rest won't matter.

Canada has settled her immigration troubles with Japan. May the United States settle hers as easily.

GOOD RULES FOR CONTEST

The attention of the owners of automobiles is fixed at present on the endurance run which will be held next Saturday. The rule which has been made against racing by the committee in charge of the contest, will meet with the approval of all. Racing is strictly forbidden and not only will anyone caught in the act of violating the rule be disqualified, but he will be disbarred from all competitions which may be held in the city at any future date.

Tomorrow will be the last day on which entries can be made and while the list is now larger than was expected, it is hoped that more will come in and make the event still better. The cars will be started far enough apart to keep them from bunching and in each machine will be an observer, who will keep a record of every stop made. The time limits have been carefully arranged so that a fair rate of speed must be kept up but no very fast driving will be allowed or be needed. Between this city and Kahuku the run must be made in less than three and a quarter hours and in over two hours and a half. From that point to Haleiwa the cars are allowed an hour and a half, but must not go so fast that they will reach Waialua in less than an hour. A stop of at least an hour for lunch will be made at Haleiwa and then the return trip will begin. The cars will be allowed two hours and a quarter to reach this city and must not arrive in less than an hour and a half.

From this it will be seen that a reasonable rate of speed must be maintained, but that no very fast driving will be tolerated. Under such conditions, with good weather, the run ought to be a great success. The Haleiwa hotel will be prepared for its guests and lunch will be served in the tasteful manner which Manager Bidgood has made a reputation for. This will be the only stop allowed with the exception of that at Kahuku, where the cars may remain for half an hour if they see fit.

'STRALIA WON FIRST TEST

Local cricketers will be interested to learn the result of the first cricket match played recently in Sydney between an eleven of the Marylebone Cricket Club and an Australia eleven. The scores were:

M. C. C., 273, 300.
Australia, 300, 275 runs for 8 wickets.
Australia therefore won an exciting game by the narrow margin of two wickets.

G. Gunn was the highest scorer for the M. C. C., making 119 runs, the first and 74 runs in the second innings.

SPORTLETS.

The regular meeting of the Palama Athletic club will be held this evening at 7:30 o'clock sharp at its usual meeting place. All members are earnestly requested to attend as business of importance will be transacted.

A big seven-seated 35-horsepower Packard, was one of the arrivals on the Manchuria, brought to this city by "Tom" White, only a few years ago one of the crack motor cycle racers on the Coast. He has been one of the agents for the Pope Manufacturing Company till recently, when he was seriously ill and has come here to recover and enjoy driving his car around the island.

One of the latest among the automobile owners in the city is Attorney Frank E. Thompson. He may be seen running around town in a fine Standard-Dayton runabout, of which he may be justly proud, as it is a 1908 machine and one of the best in the city of its class. The machine was a present to Thompson from E. J. Lord, of this city. Thompson has acted as Lord's agent several times when the latter has been on the Coast on business and as a token of thanks for the attention paid to the work, Lord has given him this unusually fine gift.

men have and the knowledge that they do not have to work for the plantation is proving most attractive to them and the white laborers are flocking in from all directions. In this way the McBryde plantation is solving the labor question in a practical way and securing for themselves the best labor possible.

"H. P. Baldwin, of Maui, is also encouraging the settlement of lands near his plantations and recognizes the value of a steady labor supply from the homesteads.

"This way, I think, is the road for us to take to combine the settlement of the land with the securing of steady labor for the plantations, but most important of all is the settlement of the land by Americans, either on the lands adjacent to the plantations or independent of them. I see no other way of keeping this community from becoming a community where the Orientals will always predominate."

SURFING IN SHARK WATERS

How the Australian Pleasure Seekers Mingle With Selachians.

Sydney Herald—A shocking tragedy occurred in Middle Harbor on Saturday afternoon, a young man named Henry Jones being taken by a shark without a trace being left beyond the blood stains in the water.

Jones, who resided in Spencer street, Mosman, and Edward Davis, of 45 Pitt-street, North Sydney, who were both in the employ of Mr. W. E. Smith of Bridge street, city, hired a boat at Lyons' shed, at the Spit, and went boating with two lady friends. They rowed up the harbor to Sugarloaf Bay, where they landed and spent about an hour ashore. The men, at Jones' suggestion, then decided that they would have a swim, their companions in the meantime going for a walk in the bush. Davis was the first to come out of the water, and while dressing he noticed that Jones had swum about twenty yards from the shore. Suddenly an agonized shriek from Jones startled Davis, and he had just time to see his friend disappear. Davis immediately launched the boat, and sculled rapidly over to the spot. As he approached he saw Jones come to the surface, but before he could seize him the unfortunate man sank, and rose no more.

The water by this time was discolored by blood, and Davis therefore concluded that his friend had been taken by a shark. He rowed back to the shore, and having informed the ladies of what had happened, they embarked and returned as quickly as they could to the Spit. There the matter was reported to the North Shore police and the water police, Sergeant Wallace and Constable Shakespeare, of the latter body, were dispatched to the scene of the tragedy in the launch, and dragged till nearly midnight, without recovering the body. Dragging operations were continued yesterday, but without avail.

MAN-EATERS AT BONDI.
Surf bathers did not enjoy their dip at Bondi yesterday morning with their accustomed freedom, owing to the presence of several large sharks, which were seen lazily swimming about in the bay. A large number of people went in, but did not venture beyond the first line of breakers.

Shortly after daybreak the monsters were first seen by a few early-risers, and they hung about until about 7 o'clock. They then disappeared for a time, and did not return until three hours later. By this time some hundreds of men and women were reveling in the pleasures of surf bathing, when the news that a large shark was approaching the breakers arrived. There was a sudden rush for the beach. The crowd became frantic, and many of the men tumbled over in their excitement. For a few minutes their only object in life seemed to be to reach dry land, and many did not stop running until they had placed about fifty yards between themselves and the water. From the higher parts of the beach four large sharks could be distinctly seen.

After a few minutes they again went away, and the more adventurous of the bathers resumed their sport. They were not left long without again being interrupted by the sharks, however, and two or three times the water was left entirely to the fish.

One gentleman, a resident of Bondi, who is a regular bather, had an unpleasant experience. He said that he was in about four feet of water, and was looking for a good breaker to "shoot," when to his horror he saw an immense shark outlined in an incoming wave, about ten or a dozen yards away. The fish was lying broadside on. Of what happened after, the bather has not a very distinct idea.

He said that for a few seconds he seemed frozen to the spot, but the next minute he found himself making about half past the land, and did not feel comfortable until he was safe and sound on his native element.

About 11 o'clock a shoal of porpoises hove in sight, and they immediately attacked the sharks. The watchers could not obtain a very good view of the combat, but to all appearances the porpoises had the best of it, for the sharks were soon afterwards seen making toward the open sea, closely followed by their pursuers. During the fight one of the sharks was thrown completely out of the water, and could be plainly seen by a large number of the people assembled on the beach.

After the unwelcome visitors had disappeared a few bathers went back to the water, but they did not make a very enthusiastic crowd.

On Saturday night a number of men fishing with ropes and shark hooks off the Bondi Beach landed a beautiful specimen of the grey nurse variety. It has been reported that many such monsters have been caught during the past few weeks, and great crowds throng the beach at night time to join in the exciting sport.

LARGE SHARK AT WATSON'S BAY.
Nearly all day yesterday a shark, estimated to measure about eighteen feet in length, was seen cruising about Watson's Bay. The fishermen and others made several attempts to catch it, but it had evidently fed well, because it could not be tempted to take a bait. Several complaints have been made by fishermen lately of the presence of sharks in the harbor, many, when fishing with stout lines, having had to cut them to save themselves from being dragged into the water.

BIBLE READING MOVEMENT, READING FOR JANUARY 16

MATTHEW XII.

At that season Jesus went on the sabbath day through the grainfields; and his disciples were hungry and began to pluck ears and to eat. 2 But the Pharisees, when they saw it, said unto him, Behold, thy disciples do that which it is not lawful to do upon the sabbath. 3 But he said unto them, Have ye not read what David did, when he was hungry, and they that were with him; 4 how he entered into the house of God, and ate the showbread, which it was not lawful for him to eat, neither for them that were with him, but only for the priests? 5 Or have ye not read in the law, that one greater than the temple is here. 7 But if ye had known what this meaneth, ye would not have condemned the guiltless. 8 For the Son of man is lord of the sabbath.

9 And he departed thence, and went into their synagogue; 10 and behold, a man having a withered hand. And they asked him, saying, Is it lawful to heal on the sabbath day? that they might accuse him. 11 And he said unto them, What man shall there be of you, that shall have one sheep, and if this fall into a pit on the sabbath day, will he not lay hold on it, and lift it out? 12 How much then is a man of more value than a sheep! Wherefore it is lawful to do good on the sabbath day.

13 Then said he to the man, Stretch forth thy hand. And he stretched it forth; and it was restored whole, as the other. 14 But the Pharisees went out, and took counsel against him, how they might destroy him.

15 And Jesus perceiving it withdrew from thence; and many followed him; and he healed them all. 18 and charged them that they should not make him known: 17 that it might be fulfilled which was spoken through Isaiah the prophet, saying, 18 Behold, my servant whom I have chosen;

My beloved in whom my soul is well pleased: I will put my Spirit upon him. And he shall declare judgment to the Gentiles.

19 He shall not strive, nor cry aloud; neither shall any one hear his voice in the streets.

20 A bruised reed shall he not break. And smoking flax shall he not quench, till he send forth judgment unto victory.

21 And in his name shall the Gentiles hope.

The Jewish law of the sabbath was very positive. Christ shows, 1st, law of necessity is greater; 2nd, law of charity and mercy far transcends it. Jews regarded the temple above everything, except God, who was worshiped there. Christ greater than temple—asserts that he is God. No law of God forbids our doing good any time or place.

PROGRESS OF CALIFORNIA FOR LAST MONTH OF YEAR

The Bulletin of Progress, issued by the California Promotion Committee under date of December 31, says:

With December, California closes a prosperous year, despite a number of untoward circumstances which worked to the detriment of agriculturists. Heavy floods on the rivers in the early spring, and partial failure of the prune, peach and apricot crops seemed to threaten trouble to growers, but with heavy returns on other produce, and increased prices for all, the sum of the year brought general conditions above the average.

There has been extraordinary activity in railroad building, both of steam and electric, and while there has been a temporary reduction of construction forces in this line, assurances are given that there will be even greater activity during the coming year, with increased demand for labor.

Arrangements are under way for the subdivision of many large tracts of land, with inducements for the small farmer in all parts of the State, and the wonderful influx of settlers which marked 1907 will be outdone in 1908. Reports received by the California Promotion Committee from all parts of the Middle West and Eastern States and Europe indicate that there will be an unprecedented rush to California.

Building operations in all the cities of the State have been above normal during the entire year, and reports indicate that this will be continued during next year. The coming of the fleet of warships will bring 20,000 men, for whom food supplies will have to be provided, thus adding increased market for California products, and increased demand for labor.

The following summary shows California conditions from November 23 to December 23, inclusive, and for the year 1907:

San Francisco building permits, $3,916,085; Year, $58,970,541.
San Francisco building permits since the fire, $38,276,605.
Los Angeles building permits, $382,257; Year, $14,234,421.
Oakland building permits, $290,579.
San Diego building permits, $79,715; Year, $2,178,865.
San Francisco real estate sales, 450; value, $1,000,000; Year, $31,624,122.

San Francisco bank clearings, $123,307,458.46; Year, $2,141,181,298.08.

San Francisco bank clearings, December, 1906, $196,216,734.68.

San Francisco bank clearings, December, 1905, $161,316,530.53.

Los Angeles bank clearings, $29,522,636; Year, $577,569,639.48.

Oakland bank clearings, $5,253,824.99; Year, $137,681,207.12.

San Jose bank clearings, $1,682,445.97; Year, $28,889,386.81.

Sacramento bank clearings, $3,112,572.76.

Stockton bank clearings, $1,664,053.87.

San Francisco customs receipts, $623,994.11; Year, $8,124,715.93.

AN INDIAN NOBLEMAN USES CHAMBERLAIN'S COUGH REMEDY.

You will see by the following that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is a favorite in the palace as well as with the humbler people in India: "For the past four years I have been getting large supplies of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, not only for myself but for friends and relatives. I cannot say enough in praise of this remedy. It is a never failing cough and cold medicine and I always keep a supply of it in my house, and in His Highness's, the Elaya Rajah's palace. It is one of my traveling companions. I shall never feel tired of recommending it as I have been doing in the past."—N. Rungra Row, Private Secretary to His Highness, the Elaya Rajah of Travancore. Why Drugs Won't Cure You Want to know why drugs haven't cured you?

You are dosing your stomach day after day with nauseating medicines, but don't seem to get any better. I'll tell you why.

The stuff that you take is nothing more than poison, and poison never cures anybody.

Instead of giving your body nourishment, something to build up, you take drugs, which tear down.

To cure anything you must help nature. Nature will cure you if she has the power. This power is electricity. You see, electricity runs to every part of your body.

Most of all ailments of man can be traced to the failure or breaking down of the nerves, stomach, liver, kidneys, heart and digestive apparatus. The reason any organ fails to do its work properly is because it lacks motive power, electricity. Restore that force where it is needed and pain and sickness will disappear. I do this with my Electro-Vigor.

Electro-Vigor saturates the nerves with a soothing stream of electricity and they carry the force to every part of your body, giving strength and nourishment where it is needed. It removes the cause of diseases.

Electro-Vigor is an electric body battery which you wear while you sleep. It makes its own power and is always charged, ready for use.

Electro-Vigor is not an electric belt. It is easy and cheap to be cured by Electro-Vigor.

Two weeks' use of Electro-Vigor cured the rheumatism in my arm. It also cured me of bowel trouble, constipation and general debility, which refused to yield to medical treatment.

JOHN CONLIN, Consumma, Cal.

Since using your Electro-Vigor I am wonderfully improved in health. It has made my back strong and I am not bothered with nervousness.

W. H. CARLEY, Murphys, Cal.

HOW LAKE GOT THE SAVOY HOTEL

His Predecessor Left Suddenly, Deserting a $600,000 Spouse.

In connection with the announcement that H. W. Lake, formerly of the Hawaiian and later of the Young, had taken the management of the Savoy Hotel, San Francisco, the following from the Examiner of January 14 is of interest: "James T. Dunn, manager and proprietor of the Hotel Savoy has disappeared from this city, leaving behind a letter to his wife, begging forgiveness and explaining that it is best that they should part."

INVEST IN HOTEL.

"Since Dunn's marriage he has prevailed upon his wife to invest over $100,000 of her own money in the Savoy Hotel. The hotel has done a fairly good business and the friends of Mrs. Dunn here cannot understand why he should leave her in the way he has done."

"Whether that is true or not, he has left a letter to his wife stating that it is best that they should part and that while he married her for her money he does not think he has taken a cent from her outside of what money she put in the hotel to keep it running."

MARINE

The United States Army transport Sherman sailed for Manila, via Guam, last night promptly at 5 o'clock, leaving the Naval dock with her upper deck lined with the prettiest crowd of girls which has ever passed through here on a transport. Apparently there were about three women in the first cabin to every officer.

For nearly two hours before the transport sailed Berger's band gave a concert on board. The Hawaiian boys were seated on the upper deck and both the music of the band and vocal selections by its members, proved very pleasing to the army people. During the last hour the band of the Fourteenth Infantry played on the wharf, filling in the time when the local players were not in action.

In response to a cablegram from San Francisco, Chief Taylor and his men searched the Sherman thoroughly for a highwayman from that city, who was supposed to be on board. All the men from the vessel were ordered on the dock while the search took place but no trace of the criminal could be found. It is not thought that he is on board but should he be, he has small chance, as Simmons, known through the West as the "Cowboy Detective" is there and has his description. Simmons was one of the men who worked with William J. Burns in the uncovering of the graft in San Francisco and is now on his way to Manila, where he will take a position in the secret service.

Five stowaways were sent ashore from the Sherman just before she left. Among them was one man who had served in the army, and had also been a steward on one of the transports. His wife and family are in Manila and he was desirous of reaching them but had no money. Captain Babcock was anxious to take him along but could make no exception to the rules.

The stowaway pest on the transports has become so bad that strenuous measures will be taken from now on. Captain Babcock states that anyone of this description caught on the Sherman will be placed in irons in solitary confinement and fed on bread and water, till the end of the voyage. If going to the Coast they will have to be released on reaching San Francisco, but if going to Manila, they will be kept on board and brought back to this city.

KAHULUI BREAKWATER, LOOKING TOWARD SHORE FROM THE OUTER END.

There was a protest made to Captain Babcock in regard to putting the stowaways ashore here, as they are not a desirable class of people, but there was nothing to be done, as the affair had already been arranged with the immigration authorities and the landing could not be prevented.

DIX DUE TODAY.

The United States Army transport Dix, from Seattle, is expected to arrive here today, unless she has had the misfortune to strike rough weather, in which case she will probably be late. The Dix will bring no passengers, her cabins being reserved for horses and mules to be used in the Philippines. Captain Garrity, the quartermaster in charge of the Dix, is one of the old-timers in this city and his many friends are always glad to see him. The Dix will probably remain here for at least twenty-four hours and possibly more.

MADE FAST TRIP.

The oil ship Falls of Clyde, Captain Larsen, which sailed from here on December 28, made a fine run to Monterey, evidently meeting with good weather and plenty of wind all the way. The cable advices from the Coast state that she arrived Tuesday, which means a trip of sixteen days. It was her first trip to Honolulu for some time, though she has been here frequently before this. Her former captain, Charles P. Matson, who was well-known here, was killed in Oakland, California, on December 30, being run over by a railroad train. He was trying to board the train while it was in motion and slipped, falling under the trucks. At the time of his death he was port captain for the Matson Navigation Company. He was no relative of William Matson of the concern, though the names were the same.

CORONADO ARRIVES.

The barkentine Coronado arrived yesterday early in the afternoon after a rather unpleasant passage of twenty-two days from San Francisco. She brought down a cargo of about 1100 tons of miscellaneous merchandise.

Commodore Potter, one of the best known of the shipping masters who enter this harbor, and an old naval officer, is once more back as captain of the vessel. About a year ago he was taken ill with stomach trouble while in this city and was forced to lay off for a couple of days. Potter is back at the old stand again now, however, and Langfeldt is still with him, as second in command.

NUUANU DUE.

The Nuuanu, of the Sewall line, should arrive very soon. She has been out for one hundred and forty days from New York. It will be remembered that she made two starts from that city, as she sprang a leak the first time she left and was compelled to return for repairs. Captain Josselyn will be glad to be back in Honolulu, where he feels very much at home from his many visits and the fact that he has a married daughter here.

THE KAHULUI BREAKWATER

of freighters no longer dislike to take their vessels. The sugar from the Puunene mill, the largest mill in the world, is all shipped from Kahului and with this enormous output it was found necessary to make such improvements as would allow easier and cheaper handling of freight.

At first it was proposed to build the breakwater and to dredge the harbor to such an extent that the big American-Hawaiian vessels might come alongside of the wharves, but when the cost of such work became apparent, it was decided that it was not practicable to follow out this plan. There it was decided that the breakwater should be built out far enough to make safe anchorage for vessels and to handle the cargoes by means of lighters.

The contract for the dredging was awarded to the Hawaiian Dredging company of Honolulu, and they have

WANTS MOVING PICTURES OF THE FLORAL PARADE

R. K. Bonine, whose moving pictures taken here last year have been received with favor all over the world and which received the praise of Thomas Edison, the great inventor, is now in the city, the main purpose of this second visit to Hawaii being to secure a series of views of the coming Floral Parade. In addition to these Mr. Bonine will add largely to his collection of Hawaiian views and scenes, having brought with him the very latest photographic machines for the taking of moving pictures and having also a large amount of material for developing the positive pictures and films here, so that before he leaves again for the mainland he will be able to show Honoluluans how others will see them.

Mr. Bonine is here direct from the floral festa held in Pasadena and will be able to give the Floral Parade committee some very valuable assistance in arranging this year's parade. He has already had several consultations with A. Gartley in the matter and has promised his assistance in making the parade the best yet.

So far the program for Washington's birthday has not taken on concrete shape, Mr. Gartley confining his work as yet to sketching out the general outlines of the plans he has in mind. He has been promised the active assistance of the Automobile Club and several of the leaders in local society have offered to assist in the coming event. Altogether a general interest towards making the affair an unlimited success is being shown and Mr. Gartley is on that account gratified.

It has been definitely decided to have this year a comic section to the parade, in which calithumpians, antiques and horrors will be in line. It is understood that the Elks will be asked to take this in hand, the success made of the burlesque baseball exhibition by that fraternity being evidence that if they will take hold of the matter all may rest assured that it will be made a go.

Yesterday Mr. Gartley was in consultation with Walter Dillingham regarding the membership of the various committees to be named, Mr. Dillingham having his experience as the organizer of last year's parade to go on. The names of those chosen will be announced before the end of the week.

now practically finished the work and their dredge has been brought back to this city where it has started work on the government contract in the harbor here.

Captain John R. Parker has been in charge of the dredging work and to his efforts, in a great extent, the rapid completion of work is due. The big suction dredge has kept at work day and night, and the masses of sand and soft coral which it has brought up have formed the base of the entire inner portion of the breakwater.

J. N. S. Williams, of the Kahului railroad has been in active charge of operations, assisted by a corps of young engineers, and he has rushed the work through very rapidly. His office is located within a stone's throw of the breakwater and a daily inspection of the work which has been accomplished, has been one of the duties which he has carefully performed.

The breakwater itself is divided into two sections. The first or inner section starts about five hundred yards from the Railroad wharf and is over five hundred feet in width where it leaves the shore. This section extends nearly 1600 feet out, narrowing down very slightly to a point where the second section begins. The structure is so large that it appears to be simply a long point of land. It was formed by planting huge boilers, which have been used at the Puunene mill till their usefulness there was exhausted, far out in the water. Then stones were dumped in around them till finally a strong wall was built. This was done all along the outer edge till a small lake or lagoon of shallow water was formed. Into this the big suction dredge commenced to discharge its masses of coral.

At first there was nothing but a layer of mush, but, as the water leaked out, and left the dry coral, a structure as solid and compact as dry land was formed. Against this the ocean waves, which come in with terrific force waste themselves without doing harm.

Then the more difficult part of the work was commenced. This consisted in the building further out. Waves ten and twelve feet high are considered small at the point where the breakwater is built and to contend against such power as they possess, was a job which required not only care, but an immense amount of labor. Again the big boilers came into play. Over thirty feet in length and perhaps eight feet in diameter, they made an elegant bed on which to build. A railroad track was built to the end of the structure and first one of these big masses of iron would be taken out and dropped, with the aid of heavy tackles, into position. Then train after train loaded with huge rocks brought from Puunene, was sent down and a solid structure was built.

The power of the waves was shown well early in last December, when a heavy storm came up and without apparent difficulty stones weighing over a ton were washed away from their position as easily as one might wash away gravel with a stream from a hose.

The way in which this enormous power has been successfully defied has been by building the breakwater so that the waves strike it at an angle. Then besides this, instead of hitting a solid structure which presents a flat face, they hit the rocks one after the other, part of the wave can get through and part is stopped, so that the force is exhausted before harm can be done.

Even with this careful building so that the best possible means to stop the force of the waves have been used, when it is rough outside and the force of the wind has caused the waves to pile up high, it is unsafe for a man to venture to the end of the breakwater. Even in the calmest of weather a trip to the extreme point of the structure is liable to mean a ducking from a big comb which will come in without any warning.

The only work which remains to be done on the breakwater is at its extreme end, where it must be strengthened and made particularly solid, as at this point the waves come in and pick off one stone at a time and thus gradually undermine the strength of the entire structure. It is probable that at the very end large concrete blocks will be used, weighing seven or eight tons apiece, which will be so heavy that nothing will be able to stir them.

The importance of this work may be seen from a visit to Kahului where there are always vessels in the harbor. Sometimes there are four or five sailing vessels with the addition of a couple of the big freighters of the American-Hawaiian line. These latter vessels which bring supplies for the plantations from the Coast and from New York, come inside and discharge their freight, then pick up thousands of tons of sugar and leave without the least worry about the weather. A year or two ago this could not be thought of. At Kahului was an open roadstead, and when the least sign of a blow was apparent, it was the duty of a vessel's captain to start out for the open sea. Now work may be done in complete safety.

QUEEN EMMA ESTATE DISPUTE

Episcopal Church Objections to Queen's Hospital Proposition.

St. Andrew's Priory and Bishop Restarick have entered a demurrer in the suit of the Queen's Hospital against Bruce Cartwright and others. Besides technical grounds the demurrants state:

That it appears on the face of the bill that Bruce Cartwright, trustee of Queen Emma's estate, is required by the terms of the trust to retain in his possession and control the entire corpus of the trust fund until the death of all the annuitants, and that he cannot until said time deliver over to plaintiff any part of the corpus of the trust fund as demanded by plaintiff.

That it appears on the face of the bill that Cartwright cannot at this time safely and prudently deliver over to plaintiff any part of the corpus of the trust fund, and cannot be required to do so by plaintiff.

That it appears on the face of the bill that defendants Lucy Peabody, Grace Kahoalii, St. Andrew's Priory and Henry B. Restarick are entitled to insist that Bruce Cartwright, trustee, retain in his possession and control the entire corpus of the trust fund until the death of all the annuitants under the trust.

LARGE ESTATE WILLED.

F. Wundenberg's will was filed for probate yesterday. It was executed on April 15, 1902, in presence of Mary E. Low and J. Lightfoot. After payment of just debts and funeral charges the entire estate is bequeathed and devised to the testator's wife, Elsie Wundenberg nee Eastmure, who is nominated as executrix without being required to furnish any bond, "but," the testator says, "it is my wish and I so request, that my executrix consult with, employ and be guided by my friend J. Alfred Magoon in all matters pertaining to my estate."

The estate is valued at $114,000, of which $4000 represents real estate in Honolulu, and $110,000 shares of stock in corporations, notes and mortgages and interest in life insurance policy.

JUDGE PERRY COMES IN.

Antonio Perry, before Judge Lindsay, showed his authority to act as counsel for Etta P. Whiting and Martha Dougherty in the Afong case. William T. Rawlins, who had been challenged to show authority for acting for these parties, withdrew from the case.

CITATION IN DIVORCE.

Judge Lindsay signed an order requiring George C. Myhre to show cause, at 10 o'clock Saturday next, why he should not pay Marion Myhre, who is suing him for divorce, or her attorneys the reasonable expenses to be incurred at the trial of the action, together with the expenses required for her journey from California to Honolulu, so that she may testify in her own behalf, and why he should not pay her $50 a month for the support of herself and three minor children, also a reasonable sum for attorney's fees while the action is pending.

COURT ITEMS.

A discontinuance has been filed in the case of the Territory, by Land Commissioner Pratt, against Oswald St. John Gilbert.

It is stipulated that the case of Sister Albertina, trustee, v. Kaaihua et al be continued until moved on for trial.

Respondents in the partition suit of Maliana v. Lellehua Kamakea et al have entered a demurrer.

Lottie Kane, whose codefendant William Larsen withdrew his appeal from a $50 fine and costs before the opening of the January term, withdrew her appeal in open court from a fine of $20 and costs imposed by District Magistrate Andrade.

Judge De Bolt's jury for civil cases will appear in court this morning. Judge Robinson will not begin trials of the criminal calendar until next Monday.

LUAHWA'S CAPTIVES LINE UP FOR TRIAL

There were sixteen names of alleged offenders on the police court blotter yesterday and thirteen of them were charged with illicit dealings in the products of the brewery and the still. These included the eleven Japanese and one pake rounded up by Lieutenant Luahwa yesterday and a Portuguese, F. J. Camara, who is one of Luahwa's earlier arrests. The last named was the only one whose trial was carried through, he being found guilty and fined one hundred dollars and costs. In his case the defense presented practically no evidence, relying evidently on an appeal and a jury trial. The other twelve cases will be called again today. Charley Chillingworth is defending the Japanese and Judge Edings the pake. Frank J. Dillon, the chauffeur of Jack Scully's bubble, was before the judge to answer to a charge of furious and heedless driving, having been arrested on a warrant. His case went over and will be up again this morning.

The only other name on the list was that of Sam Kale, a Hawaiian, arrested on an assault and battery charge, his wife having been the victim of his attentions. In the evidence it was brought out that during the conjugal set-to the better half had been quite as drunk as the prisoner, who was accordingly allowed to go and sin no more on a suspended sentence.

William C. Lyon Co., Ltd., have moved to the second floor of the Boston building.

ALIKA DOWSETT NOW ON TRIAL

Exceptions to Jury—Good Pay to Witness—Long Trial Is Probable.

Alexander C. Dowsett, whose first name is popularly given as Alika in native, was placed on trial in the United States District Court yesterday for an offense contrary to the Edmunds Act. William T. Rawlins, Assistant District Attorney, appeared for the prosecution, and A. S. Humphreys for the defense.

Exhaustion of the jury panel at the morning session necessitated a special venire returnable at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

Daniel Lovell, W. J. Dyer, J. H. Schnack, W. H. King, S. A. Walker, William F. Heilbron, F. H. Kilbey, Wm. Lishman, J. N. Wood, L. C. Ables, Clifford Kimball and J. L. P. Robinson were finally sworn to try the case.

Judge Humphreys objected to the special venire. Also to the excusing of regular jurors by the judge at chambers. Also to the swearing in of the jurors as empaneled to try the case. Judge Dole overruled in its turn every exception, and exceptions were noted to his rulings.

Joe Smith, a dark complexioned lad who spoke good English, was the first witness. He had been employed by defendant at Punaia and gave evidence of doings that came under his observation there and of defendant's carriage driving with a Miss Wood.

Against objections of the prosecution overruled by the court he told of his detention at Honolulu jail as a witness for thirty-eight days, when he was released under a bond furnished by Dowsett. The United States paid him a dollar a day in witness fees for the time he was detained.

For a short time before the trial he had stayed with the Wood family. They gave him some money—enough to make him comfortable, such as carfare, etc.—also a suit of clothes. He went to the Orpheum with a Wood boy one or two nights.

Joe told of his interview with District Attorney Breckons regarding the case, in which he was cautioned that Uncle Sam would not stand for any monkey business.

Sung Aiyau, a Chinese who had been at Punaia for twenty-five years past, was the second witness, called late in the afternoon.

There are about twenty witnesses in the case, so that the trial is likely to be long. Considerable of a crowd of spectators watched the trial yesterday, defendant being very well known in the community.

BOTTOMLEY A CHAMBER OF COMMERCE TRUSTEE

The members of the Chamber of Commerce held their regular bimonthly meeting yesterday afternoon, the only business of importance done being the election of A. W. T. Bottomley to fill the vacancy on the board of trustees caused by the death of Alexander Garvie. Mr. Bottomley's election was unanimous.

The dearth of business at the meeting was taken advantage of by President Morgan to have the minutes read and approved up to date from September last and the reports of the trustees since November 20 presented.

GIVEN UP BY SPECIALISTS CURED BY DOAN'S BACKACHE KIDNEY PILLS.

Miss Emma Shirley, of Kill Buck, N. Y., says: "Kidney trouble mysteriously fastened itself upon me and I ran down so rapidly that in a short time I was a nervous wreck. I had no strength and was so weak and had so much pain I could hardly totter about. I was down in bed for weeks, and could hardly turn over. When I got up I was so nervous, that if anyone looked at me I was ready to cry. My eyesight failed, headaches and dizzy spells racked me, and I had terrible pain in the side. I could not retain my food, my complexion was pasty, and all the time the kidney secretions were awfully irregular. I went to Buffalo and was treated by renowned doctors, but only sank lower and lower until my friends gave me up to die. Through a friend I learned of Doan's Backache Kidney Pills, and after taking two boxes, felt very much better. I kept on until I had used twelve boxes, and was then so greatly improved that I was able to go home to Kill Buck. This was within four weeks after I left my bed, and I hardly dared hope I was well, but so it proved. Though I had lost 18 pounds while in bed, I recovered that and six pounds more. Doan's Backache Kidney Pills saved my life, and I shall never quit praising them."

Doan's Backache Kidney Pills are for sale by all chemists and storekeepers at 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50. Mailed on receipt of price by the Hollister Drug Co., Honolulu, wholesale agents for the Hawaiian Islands.

A PLAY OF STRONG HUMAN INTEREST

"Home Sweet Home," which is to be played tonight at the Orpheum theater for the first time, is one of the strongest of the plays Manager Cooley has so far selected for production here. It is particularly strong in heart interest, the story concerning the wife of a gambler who, neglected by her husband while he is at the gaming tables and socially ostracized because of his calling, listens to the persuasions of a villain to flee with him. Her husband enters unseen while the conversation is at its height and hears her consent to desert him. While afterward she realizes the enormity of what she was about to do and treats the villain with the contempt he deserves, she and her husband are estranged and do not meet again for many years. Reconciliation is, however, at last brought about through the medium of their daughter, and the villain meets with his just deserts at the hands of another whom he has deeply wronged.
The play is to be given for three nights, and at the Saturday matinee. On Monday night next another farce is to be presented, "Lend Me Your Wife," a play that is guaranteed to be one continual roar of merriment from the beginning of the first act to the end of the last.

THEATERS AND BATHS SAVED THE SITUATION

"You say the soldiers in town are well-behaved," said Joe Cohen yesterday. "That's true, but do you know why? It was because there were plenty of amusements going on outside of saloons. The Orpheum and the Empire were open and well-patronized by soldiers and the Hotel Baths were full. Patronage of the saloons was limited. Give a city plenty of amusements of a decent sort and strangers won't go in for the other kind."
"In spite of this, however, the government tries to freeze us all out by imposing a stiff tax on each performance. Amusements should be licensed. I admit that, but the license should not be so large as to discourage business."

BISHOP MOORE'S BATTLE LECTURE MONDAY EVE

Bishop David H. Moore, D.D., LL.D., who was an eye-witness of the naval battle between the forces of Russia and Japan in the bay of Chemulpo, Korea, will deliver a descriptive lecture on that event in the River street Japanese church on next Monday evening, January 20.
The date has been changed from Tuesday evening, as previously announced, in order that the Bishop may leave on the Kinau for visitation of the Methodist Mission stations on Maui and Hawaii islands.

INSTALLATION BY LEAH CHAPTER O. E. S.

Leah Chapter No. 2, O. E. S., held their installation ceremonies Tuesday evening when the following officers were installed for the ensuing year:

- W. M.—Clara M. Schmidt.
- W. P.—Thomas Sharp.
- A. M.—Anna S. Wright.
- Secretary—Adelaide M. Webster.
- Treasurer—Amelia B. Reedy.
- Con.—Elva B. Evans.
- A. Con.—Nellie J. Stephens.
- Adah—May E. Heminger.
- Ruth—Edna M. Porter.
- Electa—Ada A. Sharp.
- Warder—Emma L. R. Crabbe.
- Sentinel—James O. Lutted.
- Chaplain—Alice G. Herrick.
- Marshal—May E. Paty.
- Organist—Lena Mackie.

The chapter room was beautifully decorated in green and white while the banquet hall was in red and green, the handiwork of the entertainment committee of which Miss Clara M. Schmidt is the chairman. Ray B. Reedy, P. M. F., acted as installing officer assisted by Mrs. Emma L. R. Crabbe, P. W. M., as Marshal. The retiring officers, Mrs. Alice G. Herrick, and Henry H. Williams, were presented with past officers' jewels. A delicious banquet was served at the close of the ceremonies which closed a very enjoyable evening.

Taxpayers who fail to make proper returns within the time prescribed by law (January 1st to 31st) lose their rights of appealing from any assessment made against their property or income by the Assessor.

HIGH CLASS MUSIC IN BERGSTROM'S STORE

Manager James Bergstrom of the Bergstrom Music Co., entertained a small party of friends in the company's rooms last night with music on the zophonone. This is one of the recent inventions of the Victor company and is, practically, a machine for magnifying sound. It is done by means of an electric motor with fan attachment which forces the sound produced on a Victor talking machine.
The notes of a quartet from Riggoletti by Scotti, Caruso, Abbot and Homer were as clear as if delivered directly to the small audience gathered and Melba's rendition of the mad scene from Lucia was truly grand. The selections presented last night included everything from Harry Lander to the higher class music by great Italian singers.
Mr. Bergstrom contemplates taking the zophonone to Aala park some evening and giving a public concert. The sound can be readily heard for a distance of two blocks and there will be no difficulty in hearing the music at the park.

Now is the time to file your Property and Income tax returns for 1908, blanks for same can be secured at the several Tax Offices.

Pure Food

needs no advocate here in Honolulu. Everybody will agree at once that it is the most vital thing in the preservation of health.

And almost everybody will add that, in order to have pure food, it is necessary to have a REFRIGERATOR.

Most people will stop there. Those who know will say: "And the BEST Refrigerator is none too good!"

Leonard's Cleanable Refrigerator

is the best, because it is the cleanest, most durable, most economical. It's the handsomest, too, as well as the most convenient.

HARBOR LIGHTS ARE CHANGED

Front and Rear Range Lights Are Moved to New Positions.

The captains of vessels coming into this harbor tonight will find changes which they have already been warned of, in the moving of the harbor range light. The old lights were moved yesterday, and last night, for the first time, they shone out from their new positions. The present lights of course are only temporary but have been made necessary by the work of harbor improvement which has just been started.

The old lighthouse, known as the front range light, will be torn down in the near future, as the entire point on which it now stands will be cut away under the contract operated by the Hawaiian Dredging Company. For this reason a new position has been selected and the light has been placed temporarily on a structure near the water tower which has been erected several hundred feet further out. The rear range light, which has been on the Custom House and which is one of the relics of the monarchy, has been taken down from that position and placed on top of the shed of the Oceanic wharf.

This work was started early yesterday morning with two gangs of men and hurried along with all possible dispatch and both lights were in position and shining at an early hour last night. It required fast work for this, as the old fashioned structures are cumbersome and had to be taken to pieces and put together again.

LOCAL NOTICE TO MARINERS.

Temporary Channel Buoy 9, a second-class can, was established, January 14, in 33 feet of water, to mark the turn from the main channel into the inner harbor after Honolulu Front Range Lighthouse is moved, about 730 feet SW by S, from its present to its proposed temporary location on the reclaimed land on the westerly side of the channel.

Honolulu Rear Range Lighthouse, N by E 1-8 E, about 1780 feet.

Channel Wharf (formerly Quarantine wharf), left tangent, ESE 1-4 E. Chimney Sewer Pumping Station, SE 3-4 E.

Honolulu Front Range Lighthouse, WSW 1-2 W, about 75 feet.

By order of the Lighthouse Board,
J. F. CARTER,
Lieutenant Commander, U. S. N., Assistant to the Inspector of the 12th Lighthouse District.

YEAR'S WORK OF THE POLICE COURT

A statement of the work done during the past year in the District Court has been submitted to Chief Justice Hartwell by District Magistrate Andrade, showing that the total cases brought to trial before him and his predecessor were 3469, of which number 2728 were convicted, an average of over eight a day for every week day of the period. Nearly one-half of the convictions were for gambling, and three-quarters of those convicted were Chinese, thus giving that race a leading place in the nationalities figuring in the returns. The total figures in convictions for gambling are 1069, including 709 Chinese. In drunkenness, the second biggest total in the lists, the Hawaiians figured largely, being down for 378 of the total of 880.

Dividing among the different races the convictions were divided as follows:

Chinese	826
Japanese	418
Portuguese	171
Hawaiians	682
Others	631

CIGAR SMUGGLER IS UNDER ARREST

M. Keogh, the master-at-arms on the transport Sherman, who was caught trying to smuggle sixteen hundred cigars ashore on Tuesday night, was placed under arrest yesterday. Before the Sherman left port he was discharged from the vessel and, according to a statement made by an officer on board, will never again get employment in the transport service. In speaking of this the officer said: "It is such fellows as Keogh who cause us all a great deal of trouble. This ship has been in trouble in this way three times, and when we reach San Francisco we are treated differently from any of the other vessels. A double line of customs men is placed around the ship and we are watched like a lot of thieves. We want to catch any man who tries to smuggle stuff ashore. He simply brings us in trouble and causes unpleasantness for every man on the ship."

CHINAMAN SEEKS REFUGE FROM SELF

The Chinese proprietor of the restaurant recently opened up in Fred Kiley's old saloon has twice asked that he be placed in confinement in a cell at the police station, fearing that if left at liberty he might carry out the suicidal ideas that the wheels in his head are evolving. He first appeared on Tuesday night and was accommodated with a place to himself in the lockup. Last night he reappeared and was again locked up for the night. He states that he is worrying over financial troubles, but inquiries bring out the fact that his restaurant business is in the very best of shape.

SOLDIERS ROLL THE BONES.

Six Porto Ricans and a number of soldiers from the transport Sherman were pinched in Iwilei yesterday morning by Detective Leal for shooting craps. The local shooters were put in jail and the soldiers turned over to the transport officers.
