MISS BEARD IS HEARD IN HER OWN DEFENCE

Took Frequent Counsel of the Lord and Feels That She Has Done No Wrong—Answers Specific Charges.

Before the publication of the story in this paper of the unhappy state of things at the Kona Orphanage, complaint had reached Richard H. Trent, one of the directors of the Orphanage corporation, who wrote to Miss Beard for an explanation and got a long reply. The full correspondence follows, which this journal prints in fairness to the other side but without withdrawing, in any degree, the statements already made on its own account.

Miss Beard's letter was not written for publication, but was confidential. Mr. Trent wishes the public to know that he has released it without her knowledge or consent because of the publication of the story on Saturday:

MR. TRENT'S LETTER.

Honolulu, March 5, 1908.
Miss Alice F. Beard, Kailua, Hawaii.
Dear Miss Beard: I think it due you that I should acquaint you with the contents of a letter received by me this morning from a writer whose name I prefer not to divulge at the present time.

The letter reads as follows:
"I have tried to call on you several times within the past twenty-four hours but you were always engaged, so I take this method of reaching you. I want to say that reports, letters, etc., are coming from Kona that you (and others) are the directors of the Kona Orphanage, and that Miss Beard and helpers are all off on the New Thought religion. The children are in rags and in a starving condition. That the directors should look after the home and put the workers in the insane asylum, etc. I never knew that you was a director and don't know if you are. It seems to me that something should be done to either close up the Orphanage or to plan to carry it on. Can I see you some time? In haste."

I will appreciate it if you will kindly give me by return mail a frank statement of the present condition of affairs at the Orphanage. Awaiting your reply, and with my sincere regards, I am,

Yours truly,
RICHARD H. TRENT.

MISS BEARD'S REPLY.
Kailua, Hawaii, March 11, 1908.
Dear Mr. Trent: Your communication of March 5 was received today. I thank you very much for writing. "A friend in need is a friend indeed." I have thought about you and Mr. Hopper a good many times within the last two weeks.

None of my helpers know anything about New Thought religion. I know something of it. But I am not even reading any of the literature now. I don't believe I have read an article on that line within six months. I never talk New Thought religion to any one.

I have a flighty, irresponsible woman who told a man that the children and herself were hungry. She made many false statements to him about me. He came to me and told me how nice and good I used to be, but that I am not the same person now. He went to Mr. Scott and told him what the woman said. Mr. Scott brought Judge Clark with him here, when I was not here. The woman took them to the school room and pointed out to them three or four rather delicate children, proving to them that they did not have sufficient food. Then she took them to the dining room and showed them the dinner. Then a few days later the first man in question, Mr. Overend, brought me a paper gotten up by Mr. Scott—

HAWAIIAN RAILROAD BONDS PICKED UP IN SALT LAKE CITY

(Associated Press Cablegram.)
SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, March 17.—Bonds of the Kona-Kau railway of Hawaii, of the face value of three hundred thousand dollars were found yesterday in a box addressed to F. W. Johnson in an outhouse in this city. The theory is that the bonds were stolen from an express car and abandoned by the robbers.

CUNHA ALLEY POLITICIANS DON'T UNDERSTAND JACK

The general topic of conversation among the politicians yesterday was the public announcement made by Jack Atkinson on Sunday night of his determination to join the forces of the Anti-Saloon League and campaign for the passing of a Local Option law. The practical politicians all wanted to know what there was in it for the ex-Secretary and after carefully canvassing over the ground and suggesting various things they one and all shook their heads and announced that from their standpoint Atkinson had either picked up the wrong end of the Honolulu Gets Additional Sum for Forts and Provision Made for Mortar Battery at Pearl Harbor—Total for Hawaii Is $1,100,000.

(Associated Press Cablegrams.)
WASHINGTON, March 17.—The Subcommittee on Fortifications of the House yesterday reported the Fortifications bill, which carries a total as reported of $8,210,611 instead of the $38,443,945 asked for by the War Department. It includes practically everything recommended by the Taft Board with the exception of the fortifications at Pearl Harbor.

Provisions are made for the building of fortifications on Carabao Island, in Manila bay, and for the building of the fortifications at Honolulu, including the placing of additional mortars at Pearl Harbor.

For Hawaiian fortifications the bill carries a total of one million one hundred thousand dollars, and for the fortifications in the Philippines, one million nine hundred and forty-nine thousand dollars.

The figures of the totals recommended and asked for, as given in the above despatch, show an apparent discrepancy. An endeavor was made last night to have this explained or corrected, the Associated Press at San Francisco being communicated with. The cable office at San Francisco, asked to repeat the figures lest there be some mistake in transmission, gave them the second time as above and no message had been received from the Associated Press up to the hour of going to press.

JUDGE WILFLEY HEARS LORRIN ANDREWS TESTIFY

Lorin Andrews, the Shanghai attorney, who was largely instrumental in instituting impeachment proceedings against Lebbeus R. Wilfley, judge of the United States extra-territorial court at Shanghai, appeared yesterday before a subcommittee of the House Committee on the Judiciary, to undergo cross-examination on certain points in his testimony. Judge Wilfley was an interested spectator at the hearing. Practically the whole of the testimony of Andrews was given in response to questions by Representative Denby of Michigan, and the whole inquiry was almost upon the one line—that attempting to prove that Judge Wilfley, who, the charges allege, acted harshly and with much unnecessary asperity in Shanghai, was compelled so to act by the character of the people with whom he had to deal.

Question after question was asked of Andrews, in which the nature of the American population of that Oriental city was not rated particularly high. The women were cited as instances of the low estate to which the name American had fallen.

SCHUYLER IS GREATLY PLEASED

Expert Pays Hurred Visit to Nuuanu Dam and Returns Satisfied.

"No one in Honolulu need have any fear now concerning the safety of the Nuuanu dam," said J. D. Schuyler, the prominent hydraulic engineer under whose plans the dam is being built, as he prepared to board the Siberia yesterday afternoon. Mr. Schuyler is on his way to the Orient, and took advantage of what little time he had in port yesterday to visit the dam and go over the work being done. "The contractor is going about his work properly," continued the engineer, "and when the work is finished Honolulu will have a water storage and power developing reservoir of which you ought all be proud. I am very much pleased at the way the work is being carried on."

To C. H. Kluegel, assistant commissioner of Public Works, Mr. Schuyler stated very much the same thing, adding that the preparations at the dam now for the going ahead and finishing of the work were much more complete and elaborate than those he had seen at his former visit. To the department he had no adverse criticism to make at all, stating that on the other hand he was greatly pleased at what he had seen. Mr. Schuyler is on his way to Japan to look over the ground and draw up plans for an English-Japanese syndicate that is purposing installing a power plant to develop electricity for the trolley system of Tokio and for electric lighting. The first plant to go in will be located about fifty miles from Tokio and will have a capacity for developing seventy-five thousand horse-power. The plant will be run by water power from a series of reservoirs to be confined by hydraulic fill dams on almost exactly the same plan as that of Nuuanu. The engineer will be in Japan for some months and will return home by way of Siberia, his plans being to reach Russia in time to take in the great annual fair at Niji Novgorod, the greatest annual fair in the world.

saying we need not go. No reason given. He also sent word to Miss Mullenger that she need not go, but that we would all be expected at court Saturday (of last week). I did not know of that request until Miss Mullenger told me Friday night. Again I went to the Lord to know His will in the matter. Saturday morning while I was praying I saw that the thing to do was to clean up here before going to Kailua. So I immediately went for two of my helpers and then asked Miss Mullenger and Miss Olsen. (Miss Olsen had told me the day before that she saw that they were all together in the wrong and that she had been a fool in the hands of Miss Mullenger, and that she was very sorry for all the wrong that they had done, and that she would go if I wished or she would stay and work under me if I wished). We, the four of us, worked with Miss Mullenger for maybe a half-day. In the meantime a note came from Mr. Overend saying that Mr. Scott said we need not appear at court that day; said he supposed the reason Mr. Scott said not that day was because it was steamer day. Miss Mullenger confessed to us many awful things that she had told to the men (Scott, Clark, Overend, Driver and Curtis). She said that she said very little to Mr. Curtis. She told us many things that she had said to the others. Some things I told her of and asked her if she had told them. She said yes; said that she had talked so much to them that she could not remember what she said. They are both sorry for what they did, but they have no idea seemingly of the enormity of their sins. The worst thing of all that Miss Mullenger did was to defame the character of one of us. When asked why she did it she said she had no reason for it and did not know why she did it.

Saturday afternoon she told me that she wanted to go to the men and tell them the truth and take back what she had said. I told her that when she went I would go with her. Saturday night she asked me if I would not go with her Sunday morning to Mr. Overend. I told her I'd pray to know what to do. Sunday morning I told her I thought she would better write a note to Mr. Overend telling him to come here to see her. I sent the note and told Miss Mullenger and Miss Olsen that they would better make a memorandum of what they wanted to explain to Mr. Overend. He called in the afternoon. She told him that she had misrepresented to him that she had not been herself—had been possessed by some other power. I don't know just how she put it. But he kept complimenting her and trying to show her that the things she had said were not bad as she thought they were. He kept saying he must go; that he had nothing to do in the matter; that it was all in Mr. Scott's hands.

I did some talking to Mr. Overend while he was here. I told him that I should not think Mr. Scott would dare bring the charges that he had set forth in his guardianship appeal against me. I said I should think he would be afraid of my brother in California or of some of my friends in Honolulu bringing suit against him for blackmailing me. I said his article was very cleverly worded, and that he perhaps thought he was keeping himself out of danger. He said he would send Mr. Scott. Monday morning Mr. Scott and Mr. Clark came. Miss Mullenger brought them to my room. I had six or seven fat Hawaiian and Japanese girls in my room; I was helping them with some sewing. I brought the men in and excused the girls.

Miss Mullenger proceeded to tell them that she had wronged me—that she had misrepresented me to them. I started to say something once, and their attitude caused me to say "excuse me for saying anything." Once when Judge Clark was telling Miss Mullenger of something she said about me (a thing which she had not told me about and which I had not heard of or thought of) I said "that's a lie." Judge Clark immediately told me to hush. I obeyed. They talked much to Miss Mullenger. First Scott talked to her a long time and then Clark did the same. Scott asked her if she knew what perjury was. She said yes. He said that's almost what you are doing. His words implied that he believed she told the truth to him the first time and that what she was saying to him then she was saying because I, in some way, was compelling her to. Scott said that he wanted to see Miss Olsen, and that he wanted to see her and Miss Mullenger together without me. They started to go, presumably to find Miss Olsen and to get away from me. I said sit still; I'll go out and send a boy for Miss Olsen. I went in the second room from where they were. I engaged in prayer. Once I heard such a storm that I stepped out on the veranda, and I heard Judge Clark say to Miss Mullenger, "either you lied the first time you talked to me or you are lying today." I went back and heard no more. After they had gone I told Miss Olsen what I had heard and asked her what conclusion they came to. She said, I think when they left they thought Miss Mullenger had told the truth the first time and was lying that time.

While I was in the room Miss Mullenger asked Mr. Scott if we had to go to court when he said for us to. He said yes. When asked what they would do if we did not go, he said they would send a policeman. When asked what they would do if we did not go then, he said we would be pretty likely to go. When asked if the offense would be the same as if court was in session, he said "yes, this is court."

Before I went out of the room Scott asked me if I had anything to say. I told him that in the sight of God and man I had done my best, and that what I had done I had done openly, having repeatedly invited people both here and in Honolulu to come at any time and see what we were doing and eat with us; that I had often asked people to drop in at meal time that they might know just what we had. He said I had done a good work in the past, but that now was not good. I said, "Any time within ten years I would have been treated as you are treating me now if I had had a person who would have opened the way as Miss Mullenger has done." Scott said there had been no talk in the past. I told him that men just as good as he had told me that there had been. He said that he had always tried to suppress it. It's been ten days since they were here. They were here Monday morning; this is Wednesday morning. Among other things, he said that for one of the things that he had charged

SIGNAL CORPS MAY BECOME INFANTRY

The first move towards organizing the four infantry companies in Honolulu needed to bring the First Regiment, National Guard, up to full regimental strength, as required by the order of the War Department, was taken last night when Colonel Sam Johnson officially invited the Signal Corps to take up rifles and become an infantry corps. This took place in the officers' meeting room in the Bungalow after the regular signal corps drill, the men having been given the use of the rooms for a social evening.

Colonel Johnson explained to the men the necessity of placing the regiment on a full strength basis, which meant that the number of companies must be increased from six to twelve. One new company would be formed in Hilo; another in Lahaina, leaving four to be raised in Honolulu. He then mentioned the fact that the thirty-five men in the corps were practically wasted under the circumstances as by recruiting the corps up to company strength it could continue to do its signal work and could be used as infantry as well. The fact that half the rifle team that went to Fort Perry last summer had been chosen from the signal corps, showing what a large proportion of expert shots they had was referred to. "But if it came to trouble you have only revolver," said the Colonel.

Several other good reasons were presented to the men why they should join the ranks of the infantry, the Colonel telling them to think over these and decide at their next meeting. The applause that greeted the speech indicated, however, that a good many of them have already considered the matter and are willing to shoulder guns.

It was also announced at the social last night that the use of the rooms would be granted the men again should they desire to give a dance. This also was received with applause, and a week from Thursday practically settled upon as the date. At the social last night there were music, games and refreshments, the boys remaining until a fairly late hour.

MISS BEARD

(Continued from Page One.) with the children after the guardian was appointed. He said they first thought they would remove them all immediately, but after talking the matter over they decided that as the cows and the horses were here they would leave the children here for a short time. I asked him who would take care of them. He said he did not know, but that there would be changes in the Orphanage. I asked him if I would be compelled to go to court. He said no, I could do as I pleased, but he insisted that I go. He said it would be private and they wanted to be good to me, and if I would not go they would have me tried in the April term of the court.

I went to my room and spent the day in prayer to know what to do. Before the day was done I was pretty sure that I was not to go. The next morning, after I had fully decided not to go, a note came from Mr. Scott me with the penalty would be not less than two hundred dollars or six months imprisonment.

Now I will say that the children are comfortably clothed, as they always have been. Sometimes they tear their clothes and sometimes they look pretty dirty before they change them. They change twice a week; if they do not it is the fault of the woman in charge of that part of the work. Their clothes have been pretty well patched and mended and buttons sewn on before they put them on each time. But if they get them ragged and dirty during the three and a half days they wear them we often let them go so. The little ones we change any time when their clothes are soiled. The bedding is clean and comfortable.

The food has always been good quality and I have always provided a plenty. I looked at yesterday's milk record just now and I find that we had 39½ quarts for forty people (and one fat girl does not drink milk). So that's a little over a quart apiece daily for each one. The herd of cows is mostly Jersey; several of them are pure Jersey. No fresh cows now; season dry; not much grass. Sometimes we get eighty quarts a day. I don't know how many banana plants we have—probably a thousand. I don't know how many papaya trees, but I feel safe in saying several hundred. We do not sell anything that is produced here, except occasionally a calf or a chicken. Have not sold anything else for a long time. I am aiming now to produce only the things that we need to use for our own food or to feed the cows. We have a great abundance of sweet potatoes and we have more than we can ever use. We use some of the carrots for the cows and expect to use some of the sweet potatoes for the calves. We always have string beans. We let a great many of the beans remain on the vines and develop into dried beans. We have been having lettuce and tomatoes in great abundance. During the month past we have had all the breadfruit we wanted, and it was very choice breadfruit. About a week ago we took out for the orphanage more than ten gallons of honey in the comb. We have some radishes—so much as we want; they grow quickly. We have cabbages in all stages of development, some fine hard heads. I never ate as good cabbage any place as the Kona cabbage. We have turnips; they are an uncertain crop here.

The children are all well, very well, and happy. But many of them say they want to go, and I intend they shall go just as soon as I can get them away. They know now that all they have to do is to step to the fence and have Mr. Overend ask them if they are hungry, and if they say "yes" he will send them in something they like better than what we have because it's a change. The two women I have I must send away, because their attitude was from the first that they would believe every word that every child said and nothing that I said. They expressed themselves so clearly that the children fully understood them. I have been conducting this work for several months by being here only a part of the time in the day and not here at night. Now I am here all the time. Mr. Trent, I know nothing to do. I have put the whole thing in the hands of the Lord. I will not fight. I'll do peacefully and in the right spirit everything they compel me to do. During these weeks (I think it's about two weeks since they started) I have had two pretty hard trials. The flesh is weak. It was when I was alone that I broke down. I don't think I'll break down again. I'm sure now that they will do the worst they feel safe in doing. I don't exactly understand myself, but I think my trials were caused because of a feeling that I had so little human sympathy and because of my pride. I pray that the pride will all be taken out and that I will have no desire for sympathy from any but God. There is one more thing, but I'll tell you if I see you. I've put it all in the hands of the Lord—my hands are off. I ask Him that anything that will be for God's glory or my good may be done. Thank you for writing. I remain, Very truly yours, ALICE F. BEARD.

RECORDS WANTED

On this page appears a list of island athletic records, which are believed to be correct. It is desirable that the list shall be made as correct and complete as possible, and that this may be done, anyone who can correct the records given, or furnish records for any events not included in the list, is invited to forward such information to the Sporting Editor of the Advertiser. The names of the holders of the present records, and the dates and places when and where made, will also be gladly received.

RECORDS WANTED

High jump—E. Andrews, V. Marcellino, Sing Huh.

 Half and mile relays—W. Rice, E. Achieu, S. L. White, A. K. Norton, Sing Huh, Hung Yau, Marcellino, W. Hampton, G. Dwight, E. Andrews.
 The Kams have got together a splendid team and cannot help winning. Their victory should be by the biggest margin ever known at a local athletic meet. Besides Mackenzie and McCandless, the Kamehameha stars, the team includes W. Desha, J. Pa and Lyman, three of the best Oahu College athletes. Then there are O. Jones and F. Kanae, the island champions with shot and hammer, and other sure point-gainers.
 The Y. M. C. A. have a fair-looking team in which are included a number of new performers on a local athletic field, but who have reputation of having made their mark at their specialties elsewhere.
 The Chinese Athletic Club will rely on En Sue and John Lo to do most of their scoring and they, the High School and the Y. M. C. A. should make an interesting fight for second honors.
 The fifty-yards dash for the gold medal presented by the Kallih Athletic Club will not appear on the program, being a special event. Entries for this race will be received right up to post time.
 The officials of the meet will be as follows:
 Referee—Dr. Hand.
 Track judges—Charles Fitts, Ed. Towse, Paul Super.
 Field judges—Alan Lowrey, F. E. Steere, Mr. Arnold.

FLUTTER IN CRICKET CIRCLES

In an article on cricket in California, the cricket expert of the S. F. Call writes as follows:
 "Quite a flutter was caused among cricketers of this city during the week by the appearance of a cable in one of the dailies to the effect that the Honolulu Cricket Club had sent an invitation to the California Cricket Association. I have made several inquiries during the week, but have failed to find out anything further about the matter. It is probable, however, that by Wednesday's meeting some officer of the old association will have received the invitation spoken of, and if so the matter will in all probability be placed before the meeting."
 The island athletic records are as follows:
 Half mile—2:08.
 100 yards—6:10 1-5.
 One mile run—4:58.
 One mile walk—8:30.

BASKETBALL IS POSTPONED

The game of basketball which was scheduled to take place tomorrow afternoon at the High School between the teams representing the boys of both the High and the Normal schools will not occur. Linsey, one of the crack Normal players, is disabled, and will be unable to play for some time. The game which was to have been played last Friday was also postponed for this same reason.
 When the game will take place is uncertain. When the Normals first stated that Linsey's foot was the sole cause for the postponement of the game, a few of the knowing ones smiled. The Normals have been losing steadily and by pretty uneven scores, so it was thought by some that the postponement might mean an excuse for more practise.
 Everybody is now satisfied that such is not the case. The Normals are all good sportsmen, and such a scheme is entirely foreign to their ideas of basketball.
 It is expected that Linsey will be in shape to play by next Friday.
 M. C. Webster won from E. Evans, 15-3, 15-8.

SCORES OF THE HANDBALL PLAY

Some good games were played yesterday at the Y. M. C. A., in the handball tournament. Those who played, together with the scores made, follow:

 H. Johnston won from J. Herriot, 15-7, 15-2.
 Paul Schmidt won from C. Lewis, 15-12, 15-6.
 Colto won from P. Schmidt, 11-15, 15-11, 15-8.

 H. Chandler won from Venhuizen, 15-12, 15-14.
 J. Nott won from Axtell, 15-7, 15-3.
 J. Nott won from Venhuizen, 15-11, 15-11.

There is some talk of a race this afternoon at a quarter of a mile between Indigo and Mallet.
 Indigo is a slight favorite over Defender for their five furlongs race next Saturday.
 The man who can pick the winner of the Mallet-Candy Bay match, scheduled for next Saturday, deserves a Carnegie medal.
 Gus Cordes and Alec Morrison have caught the prevalent racing fever, according to Jack Doyle. They have arranged a match race between themselves, to be decided in the near future. Cordes is to ride a horse and Morrison a mule. This, also, is according to Doyle.

Baseball Rules Changed

New York a short time ago, that long flies when made with the intent to score runners from third base should go as sacrifices. The same committee will also make another attempt to prevent pitchers from purposely discoloring new balls as they come on the field. There is an old rule covering this point, but umpires have had enough trouble without trying to enforce it, and it has become obsolete. The principal objection to musing up the ball is that it delays the game. Pitchers walk out of the box and waste valuable time rubbing the sphere in the soil or expectorating tobacco juice on it. Frank Chance suggested this change, and he is a member of the rules committee. It has been a hobby of his for a long time. It will be up to Frank to urge his pitchers to observe the new rule, if the umpires are instructed to strictly enforce it.

PATRICK AND OTHER SAINTS.

The Irish people are admired for several things, especially for their good sense in choosing Patrick for a patron saint. During the last sixteen hundred years saints, as a rule, were a poor lot. They had cataleptic fits and trafficked in them; they begged and otherwise imposed themselves on the thrifty and they wore their clothes so long at a time that "the odor of sanctity" became a by-word among the clean. The best of them were public leaders on the world grew nobler and better, and as intelligence spread, the inferior saints became principle grew nobler and better, and as intelligence spread, the inferior saints began to draw off, and by the time the free schoolmaster and the cynical reporter hove in sight they cleared out as the snakes are said to have done before the wand of Patrick. There are no contemporary saints and few of those of the past sixteen centuries count for much now among practical folk: However, the Irish saved some who were worth saving for the example they set—Patrick, chief of them all. Here was a saint who did things. He seems to have been a sturdy, forthright fellow, who meant to be of some use in the world. Whether he expelled snakes from Ireland or whether the tale is an allegory which covers some other good deed like draining swamps to drive out malaria we do not know; but the legends all point to a saint who was a busy contractor, of money value to any country. No cavern hermitage and begging bowl for Patrick. He was self-supporting, normal, sane and human, and a mighty reputable saint to pattern by. Likely enough he carried a shovel, a shillelah and a pipe when he wasn't busy in the chapels he helped to build.

You can judge a people by their saints—the shadowy beings they venerate. Generally, one will find that a working people have working saints, a warrior people fighting saints, a slothful, no account people, mollycoddle saints and beggar saints. Every race to its ideal. Obviously, the saints of Italy and Spain couldn't have ranked very high in the scale of being; they were a much inferior breed to the saints of the vikings. The ancient, classical saints, whom their worshippers called gods, represented the ideals of power and glory in the Roman mind and ideals of art and grace and luxury, not unmixed with militant virtues, in the Greek mind. If you investigate the Irish saints you will find them true to the old sod. There isn't a tearful victim of nervous prostration among them, nor a man who starves by choice. They have red blood, a wholesome wit and are not afraid to work.

And at the head stalks Patrick, the Grand Old Man of Ireland; and behind come a people who embody his salient traits. They are all bound for the green pastures of the Greater Ireland in which there will also be no snakes and where many an Irishman holds office. There will be Peter at the gate—Peter, a good old Irish name. Patrick will stop near by to give tickets to his friends. Up the street the crowd will see the great Archangel Michael, who commands the police. The familiar names of Matthew, Mark, Luke and John—names borne by ten million Irish families—will greet them along the way. And the air will be full of the melody of harps—harps like those which shed the soul of music in Tara's hall, played by singing colleens with fluffly green-edged wings and that one delicious touch of the brogue which will make Heaven seem like home.

EMMANUELISM.

There is a movement on in some of the Eastern churches, called the Emmanuel movement, which is a system of curing nervous derangements by complementing science and religion. It is a method of medical eclecticism. One of its proponents says: "The new Emmanuelism draws use help from all sources—from psychology, from medicine, mental suggestion, Christian Science and faith cure alike—taking the strength of all, discarding the weakness of all until we have a system in which no rational or moral or scientific inconsistencies can be found. Our work is distinctly scientific and assuredly Christian. It could be called scientific Christianity."

"God with us" is a platform on which all men can unite and which suggests a power that all men crave. "The cause of all our ills," said Tolstoy, "is that men have lost their sense of God."

What Tolstoy says on this question, as on many other questions, is rank word-mongering. God's basic cause of all our ills is the necessity of keeping the population well within the means of subsistence, death, the issue of these ills, being a wise and necessary part of the economy of nature. What we have done to prolong life, to prevent wars and famines and pestilences and to combat race suicide has already so multiplied the units of humanity that the present area of arable land is going to feed the population, at its present rate of increase, only about two hundred years more. Mathematics prove it. Intensified farming and extended fisheries may help out for another century; but we are visibly coming to a time of need. But for sickness and death, reaching us in the natural course of things, we should long ago have down at each other's throats.

However, retarding death and soothing ills by medicine is a habit the race will not give up. Men are in no mood to sit in fatalistic stoicism and let destiny work itself out; and this being the case it is natural to try and bring the art of curing as near perfection as may be. And what could be more acceptable than a school which accepts a curative virtue wherever it can be found, whether in herbs, simples, patent medicines, "regular prescriptions," mental suggestion or Christian science?

This is Emmanuelism, and unless it gets into the hands of charlatans it may become a great aid in the prolongation of human life.

ENTERTAINING SAILORS.

Experience in the East and South in the matter of feeding men crowds, long ago settled on the feast called the barbaque. Whole oxen and sheep are roasted, an immense lot of bread provided and the cooked animals are cut up in public by nimble butchers, and slabs of the barbaque meat distributed, between slices of bread, to the multitude. There is generally something mildly drinkable as well as stoutly eatable about; and there are music, cigars and a baseball game besides. If the affair lasts more than one day all the little shows that can be patched up are allowed to gather around and vendors of fruits, cigars, peanuts, candy, soda water and the like, reap a harvest. It is much like an old-fashioned county fair.

We know of no better way to entertain the sailors of the fleet at a three or four-day gathering. Rope off a big area of the former racetrack grounds, which the police will guard, to prevent the mob from getting in among the sailors. Arrange for an old-fashioned barbaque with trimmings. Have a handstand where the three bands of the fleet can take turns with the Hawaiian band. Put up a big tent for Hawaiian music and dancing. Give all the nickelodeums in town tent or pavilion privileges. Let delicacy vendors into the corral. And finally, if that be possible, have races on the track. Include the seaside park in the scheme of entertainment by turning it over to the sailors exclusively for free baths.

There is a program which would combine the maximum of fun for the sailors with the minimum of cost to the town.

LOCAL OPTION.

The local option idea has been discussed in Honolulu for two years and in that time we have never heard a good reason why it should not be enacted into a law.

Local option is the rule of the majority over a business which affects property values and public order in the locality where the voters live. It is the simplest principle of Americanism.

It means that, if a majority of the voting people in a certain district want the saloon they can have it; and that, if a majority do not want the saloon no one can force it upon them.

That policy is as American as the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution of the United States or the Fourth of July.

What is the objection to it? If any one knows, he may have free space in which to tell the readers of the Advertiser.

It is said that a fund will be provided by the beer and liquor interests of Hawaii and the Coast to combat the temperance movement here by organizing political clubs, subsidizing the press and hiring strong workers at the primaries. In other words the liquor interest will do more in politics than usual. People who keep their eyes open are sure to see some instructive things in the next few months; and it will pay them to watch closely and see how the papers line up on the preliminary issue of local option.

PROMINENT JAPANESE LADY FEARED VIOLENCE

The reports of the anti-Japanese sentiment of San Francisco, which had reached Washington in such number and been reported and discussed about the Japanese Legation and the homes of the attaches, were all remembered by Mrs. Miyaoka, wife of the counsel on the staff of Minister Aoki, when the order came from Tokio recalling her husband and it was necessary for them to stop over in San Francisco until the sailing of the Siberia. Great was her relief, therefore, when she found that she was not only not harmed in that city during her short stay there but was treated on all sides with the greatest courtesy. Yesterday, on board the S. S. Siberia, she laughed over the fears she had entertained concerning the San Francisco hoodlums, but during her praise of the United States and particularly that part of it she had just seen, Honolulu and vicinity, she appeared highly pleased nevertheless at the prospect of soon being again in Japan.

Mrs. Miyaoka is a charming woman, speaking English well and is a favorite with her fellow passengers on the liner. Although she has been twice to the United States this was her first visit to Honolulu, in praise of the beauty of which she was most generous.

CUNHA ALLEY POLITICIANS

good many of the candidates will certainly oppose the measure, forced to do so by the Hawaiian voters. They also state that there is no prospect of any one of the three parties putting any Local Option plank in their platform.

It is feared for one thing, and this is the greatest objection to Local Option among them, that the Hawaiian will not understand what the measure is intended to be and will look on it with great suspicion. It was recalled how many of the members of the last Legislature voted against the measure when it first came up, almost laughing it off the order of the day, all because they did not understand it and could not understand it until nearly every Hawaiian member of the House had been labored over by the temperance workers in their lobby. One member, by no means the slowest witted member of the House, spoke at length against the measure because he thought it would force saloons on neighborhoods that did not want them and increase the number of saloons throughout the Territory.

Thus, when the members of the Legislature so misunderstand the situation, it is not difficult to imagine the misunderstandings that will arise among the rank and file of the Hawaiian voters should the question be injected into the coming campaign, on top of all the other questions that the voters will have to bother over. Those who expect to be on the stump do not want to have to explain this new question and take any stand on it themselves.

They reason that the Hawaiian does not want prohibition and will oppose in overwhelming majority any man or party that advocates it. The politicians, therefore, believing that Atkinson is politically ambitious, can not understand why he has taken up an unpopular cause.

JUDGE WILFLEY

The testimony of Andrews, however, took a hopeful tone, he having evinced no fear that the American population of Shanghai, male or female, would suffer by comparison with people in the States. He usually answered the questions of his interrogators in this vein, but at several points managed to dig Judge Wilfley by saying that the morals of certain people were good, at least before Wilfley took up his duties in the Chinese city.

It was attempted on the part of the defense to show that a former partner of Andrews, a Judge Lambie, had, when the partnership was in existence in Honolulu, been one white man in a large number of Japanese and other foreigners arrested for traffic in vice. A letter offered by the defense to prove this point was rejected by the committee.

The news that the President and Secretary Root have come to the decision of Judge Wilfley will not, it is understood, affect the continuation of the hearings by the House committee. Judge Wilfley has been not only exonerated by the President, but his administration of the court is highly commended.

In passing on the case, the President says that the charges were due to the fearlessness and integrity with which he had stamped out vice and crime in Shanghai.

The conclusion is based upon an investigation by Secretary of State Root. Secretary Root, in his report, says Judge Wilfley's action was never improper, nor did he exceed his judicial powers.

WILFLEY'S CASE.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—The special committee appointed by Speaker Cannon to determine whether there is sufficient ground for the impeachment of L. R. Wilfley, Judge of the United States court for China, at Shanghai, who stands accused of misconduct in office by Lorin S. Andrews and other American lawyers, resident in Shanghai, today heard arguments and took the case under advisement.

Judge Wilfley made an argument in his own behalf. He entered general and specific denials of wrongdoing of whatever sort and denounced his accuser as one who had strung together a long list of half truths and on their strength was trying to satisfy a personal spite.

A fire that spread from the embers of the forge in McDonald's blacksmith shop, on Fort street, near Hotel, to the wooden frame of the coal box, resulted in the turning in of an alarm from Box 21 at two o'clock this morning. The fire was put out with only a trifling damage.

STRANGE MYSTERY IS RECALLED

Death of G. A. Shaw, Father of Man Who Strangely Disappeared.

The curtain has been rung down on another act in the tragedy of the mysterious disappearance of Algernon Shaw, the newspaper artist. Shaw, who had had a wide and not always a pleasant experience, was engaged on Austin's Hawaiian Weekly as an illustrator. He had not been long in this employment when he mysteriously disappeared. The probabilities seem to be that he went away on the transport Ohio or Newport, which sailed from here for the Philippines about August 4 or 5, 1899. It was some weeks later before his disappearance was noted, and since then his parents have maintained a constant flood of inquiries to all parts of the world.

George Alfred Shaw, father of Algernon, died February 17 of this year. The following letter from Mrs. Shaw, received by Chief Taylor on the Siberia, announces the death, which has its pathetic interest here, where the son lived for a short time, and from where he disappeared:

New York, 4th March, 1908.
To the Chief of Police, Honolulu, Hawaiian Islands.

Dear Sir: As you know by the articles which have appeared in the Star and the Honolulu papers, and by the letters which I sent to the Governor, my beloved son, Algernon G. Shaw, has disappeared from Honolulu since the 4th or 5th of August, 1899. Since that time it has been impossible to find any trace of him—dead or living! Mr. Franklin Austin, the journalist, of Honolulu (Austin Hawaiian Weekly), who was one of the last who saw my son, could without doubt have given some information, but for some reason, which I do not understand, he has never replied to my letters, and his mother says he has disappeared and that she does not know his address.

Joseph Seeley, the chief steward of the Australia, could also tell what he knows of the disappearance of my son, but he has kept silent since the inexact information which he wrote me on December 5, 1899, telling me that he was certain my son was on the "Plantation of Valmanelo, Koluau Poko, Oahu, H. I."

Several friends have tried to persuade me that my son has married a Hawaiian girl and hides himself in solitude. I can not, however, believe that so affectionate a son as Algernon Shaw was to me, his mother, would leave me in such an agony of uncertainty if that was the case.

Often the thought comes to me that he has been assassinated! In any case, if he is in the world, perhaps he will send to you, praying that you will have the goodness to have it reprinted in the Honolulu papers. And I should be very grateful to you to have a copy of it.

I have reached the summit of my martyrdom! My beloved and noble husband, George A. Shaw, the father of Algy, died quite suddenly Monday morning, 17th of February last, and I have nothing now, at present, to attach me to this world!

Thanking you in advance for your kindness, dear sir, I remain, yours sincerely,
MATHILDE SHAW.

Address: Mrs. Mathilde Shaw, 262 West 11th Street (Near 4th Street), New York, N. Y., America.

The statement in this letter in regard to Joseph Seeley is hardly fair or just, as certainly no one displayed a keener or kinder interest in the matter or went to more trouble to unravel the mystery than Mr. Seeley.

The following is the newspaper announcement of the death of her husband referred to in Mrs. Shaw's letter:

GEORGE ALFRED SHAW.
George Alfred Shaw, who died in this city on Monday, after a brief illness, was a type of journalist of the old school. He embarked in his newspaper career on the Sun, under the tutelage of Charles A. Dana, some forty years ago. At various times he served on the staffs of the leading metropolitan dailies, including the Herald and the Evening Telegram, and was an editor on the latter for a number of years. He was also at one time the editor of the Standard, owned by John Russell Young, and he contributed to the columns of the World, the Evening Post, the Star and Daily Graphic, the latter the first illustrated daily paper published in this city. Mr. Shaw, who was born in London, in 1840, was a graduate of King's College of that city. Mr. Shaw lived with his stepson at 181 Putnam avenue, and leaves a widow, a contributor to various magazines and the author of the well-known work, "Illustres et Inconnus." The deceased, who died of nephritis, was interred in the Hoboken cemetery.

Don't Be a Slave to the Drug Bottle

Why do you go on from day to day dopping your stomach with poisonous drugs, when you know they have never done you any good? Stop it now. Don't be a slave to the drug bottle any longer.

Get back to nature. Consider how she cures and give her assistance. Nature will cure you if she has the power. This power is electricity. That's because electricity builds up—gives nourishment—strength to the body. Drugs contain no nourishment—no electricity, just poison, which tears down.

Your body is run by electricity. It's the lack of electricity that causes sickness and disease. When you have a full supply of electric energy you are healthy and strong, because electricity gives power to the body enabling every organ to perform its work properly, and when every organ is in a strong, healthy condition there can be no pain or sickness.

Wear Electro-Vigor while you sleep. It feeds a constant stream of electricity to your nerves, and they carry it to every organ and tissue of your body, restoring health and vim. Electro-Vigor is an electric body battery, which gives out a continuous current of electricity. You never have to charge it, for it makes its own power. It does not burn, blister or shock; its only sensation is a soothing glow.

I have perfected Electro-Vigor so that it conveys a stream of electric life direct to the part that is ailing.

so the great force of current goes where it is needed and none is wasted.

I must say that I am pleased with your treatment. After three weeks' use of Electro-Vigor I have no digestive trouble, sleep better and am not bothered with losses.

H. SHARP,
Hobart Mills, Cal.
Two weeks' use of Electro-Vigor cured the rheumatism in my arm. It also cured me of bowel trouble, constipation and general debility, which refused to yield to medical treatment.

BIBLE READING MOVEMENT, READING FOR MARCH 17

ACTS 24.
17 And from Miletus he sent to Ephesus, and called to him the elders of the church. 18 And when they were come to him, he said unto them,

Ye yourselves know, from the first day that I set foot in Asia, after what manner I was with you all the time, 19 serving the Lord with all lowliness of mind, and with tears, and with trials which befell me by the plots of the Jews; 20 how I shrank not from declaring unto you anything that was profitable, and teaching you publicly, and from house to house, 21 testifying both to Jews and to Greeks repentance toward God, and faith toward our Lord Jesus Christ. 22 And now, behold, I go bound in the spirit unto Jerusalem, not knowing the things that shall befall me there: 23 save that the Holy Spirit testifieth unto me in every city, saying that bonds and afflictions abide me. 24 But I hold not my life of any account as dear unto myself, so that I may accomplish my course, and the ministry which I received from the Lord Jesus, to testify the gospel of the grace of God. 25 And now, behold, I know that ye all, among whom I went about preaching the kingdom, shall see my face no more. 26 Wherefore I testify unto you this day, that I am pure from the blood of all men. 27 For I shrank not from declaring unto you the whole counsel of God. 28 Take heed unto yourselves, and to all the flock, in which the Holy Spirit hath made you bishops, to feed the church of the Lord which he purchased with his own blood. 29 I know that after my departing grievous wolves shall enter in among you, not sparing the flock; 30 and from among your own selves shall men arise, speaking perverse things, to draw the disciples after them. 31 Wherefore watch ye, remembering that by the space of three years I ceased not to admonish every one night and day with tears. 32 And now I commend you to God, and to the word of his grace, which is able to build you up, and to give you the inheritance among all them that are sanctified. 33 I coveted no man's silver, or gold, or apparel. 34 Ye yourselves know that these hands ministered unto my necessities, and to them that were with me. 35 In all things I gave you an example, that so laboring ye ought to help the weak, and to remember the words of the Lord Jesus, that he himself said, It is more blessed to give than to receive. 36 And when he had thus spoken, he kneeled down and prayed with them all. 37 And they all wept sore, and fell on Paul's neck and kissed him, 38 sorrowing most of all for the word which he had spoken, that they should behold his face no more. And they brought him on his way unto the ship.

In the afternoon visitors can see the birds on the feeding grounds and will be delighted to see that absolute system and cleanliness prevail, and see the excellent arrangement of the buildings.

NOW, HENRY COBB-ADAMS WILL YOU BE GOOD?

March 16, 1908.
Editor Advertiser: In reply to the letter of Mr. Henry Cobb-Adams in this morning's Advertiser, I wish to say that on the morning in question (the day Mrs. Adams was operated upon), I was in room 35, 3rd floor of the Pauahi Wing, when I was told that some one wanted to speak to me at the telephone. I went immediately, but could get no answer and was told by the Central that "they have gone now." On my return from town that morning, about 10:30, I found a message saying that Mr. Adams wanted to speak to me; I tried at three different times to get Mr. Adams by telephone, King 126, but could get no answer. While I was in town, Mr. Adams telephoned for Dr. J. S. B. Pratt, the message was delivered to Dr. Pratt, who said he would telephone to Mr. Adams from his (Dr. Pratt's) office. If Mr. Adams remembers, as he says in his letter, that he and his have been well treated at the Queen's hospital, he ought also to remember that his last hospital bill is still unpaid. Very respectfully yours,

PORTUGUESE ON THE COAST

Former Islanders Want to Come Back to the Paradise.

Oakland, Cal., March 6, 1908. Editor Advertiser: In your issue of the 20th of February ultimo, I note the following editorial: "As is stated in an interview with Mr. Freitas, published this morning, San Francisco has many Portuguese formerly of Hawaii, who are eager to return. They are without funds and can not get a chance to earn any, owing to an overstocking of the labor market."

The idea advanced by you, Mr. Editor, is one worthy of consideration at this time of the season. Conditions in California, in so far as the Portuguese laboring people is concerned, are not and can not be accepted as favorable. The hundreds of Portuguese who have arrived here from Hawaii during the last three years are now experiencing a tide of time as never before known to them.

Hawaii can thank the Almighty for being able to perform its part in commerce and industry without feeling the slightest shock of this financial depression. Many people whom I come in contact with, in business and social affairs, have words of praise for the little Territory known to us as the "Paradise of the Pacific."

When the Portuguese people first began to come to this state, three and four years ago, they thought that agricultural possibilities were many. Indeed they are, but they were ignorant of the fact that thousands of people are idle all the year round in this state and a great many aim at every spot of land within the reach of capital.

As yet I am unaware of any one of these Portuguese that has assumed possession of land direct from the government. There are many at this time in farms, but these farms have been bought with good gold earned in Hawaii. The building of a farm in this state is a matter that belongs to the man with knowledge of conditions and laws relating to farming.

No man walks the roads of this country that works harder than the laboring Portuguese with a family. In him exists the energy and the faithfulness required to handle the pick, shovel and plough, but chances for this at this time are slim, and they (faithful servants) are now anxious to return to Hawaii—the land of hospitality and prosperity.

I have questioned these people as to their treatment in the plantations and they all seem to be unanimous that the sagacity of the planters in Hawaii is perhaps the one thing that concentrates peace and success in the home of every laborer, whether white or brown. They very often mention the good favors tendered them by their plantation employers, and in this they manifest a sincere desire to return to Hawaii.

is a land adapted for the young and old, resources and opportunities are plentiful according to your editorials and other writings. Therefore, let it be offered to the willing worker and the decent citizen.

When my brother, Mr. A. D. Castro, visited California last June he had the opportunity to address hundreds of these people, and at that time he predicted that time was not far distant when they would apply for passage to Hawaii in large numbers.

Honolulu Citizens Gladly Testify and Confidently Recommend Doan's Kidney Pills.

It is testimony like the following that has placed Doan's Backache Kidney Pills so far above competitors. When people right here at home raise their voice in praise there is no room left for doubt.

Mrs. N. Joseph living at the corner of Liliha and King streets, Honolulu, states as follows: "I was troubled for seven months with a lame back, and also suffered from occasional attacks of chills. These various complaints made my condition by no means a happy one, so that I much desired some remedy which would bring relief."

Doan's Backache Kidney Pills are for sale by all dealers at 50 cents per box, (six boxes $2.50). Mailed by the Hollister Drug Co., Ltd., Honolulu, wholesale agents for the Hawaiian Islands.

Have you secured your copy of Pictureque Honolulu? It is the most beautiful souvenir of Honolulu ever issued. Fifteen cents a copy ready for mailing.

A very interesting sight was presented from the harbor seaward yesterday morning about 9 o'clock when the big steamship Siberia came in, followed shortly by the oil carrying ship Falls of Clyde in tow of the Intrepid, and a few minutes later by the schooner Helene, which sailed into the harbor without taking a tow.

The Falls of Clyde left Gaviota February 27. With the winds that prevailed she went as far south as 23 degrees without getting but two degrees west of Gaviota. From that time on however she had nothing but southeast winds, not heavy but constant. The trade winds were not experienced at all. The Falls of Clyde was towed out of Monterey Bay by the tug Navigator, which accounts for the report sent here that she had left for Honolulu in tow of the Navigator. She was in the terrific rainstorm of Sunday.

When she got into the harbor both the Kasato Maru and the Siberia were in the slip between the Hackfeld and the railroad wharf so there was not room for her to get in. She therefore moored at the mauka side of the Hackfeld wharf and will go into her regular berth this morning and begin the discharging her oil which will take about twenty-four hours. She will not sail for four or five days however as she has repairs to make to one of her donkey engine boilers.

SIBERIA IN AND OUT.

The Pacific Mail steamship Siberia arrived in port early yesterday morning from San Francisco with seventy-five cabin passengers for Honolulu and about two hundred through passengers. This is about the beginning of the time for tourists to go to Japan for the cherry blossom season. The Siberia's list includes a party of sixteen under the direction of Leon Colver, well known as a conductor of tourists. Among the returning island people are Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Burnette and family, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dillingham, Col. and Mrs. George De La Vergne, Mrs. E. B. Waterhouse, and the Misses E. J., Margaret and Marion Waterhouse.

There have been a number of changes among the officers of the Siberia. John P. Pollett, who has been second mate, is not with the vessel this trip. It is believed he is slated for chief officer of one of the other vessels of the company, perhaps the Mongolia. In his place is George Young, formerly a lieutenant in the United States navy and a very fine man. Harry Burkholm, the third officer of the vessel who was taken sick at Hongkong when the vessel was there two voyages ago, is back in his old position. There is a new fifth officer, Henry Nelson, who was formerly the master of a schooner, but wants to get in line for promotion in the steamship service. George McKenna, a nephew of the master of the steamship Peru is a new quartermaster on the Siberia.

The Siberia experienced the pleasantest of weather on the voyage. It began to cloud up on Saturday and on Sunday it rained all day. In the Asiatic steerage, the Siberia has 68 Japanese of whom about 25 are being deported from the United States for coming illegally into the country. They are Japanese who got in across the Mexican border. Most of them were brought from El Paso and Tuxpan on the Southern Pacific shortly before the Siberia sailed. The San Francisco Chronicle says: "A previous bunch of Japanese caught in the same part of the country showed a very belligerent attitude and told the guards that they would come back from Japan some day with rifles. But this bunch appeared quite meek, so much so, in fact, that there has been some suspicion that the Japanese who really desire to return to Japan are working a nice little scheme, by which they go to the border country and then apparently try to evade the inspectors till they are well caught and destined to the land of the rising sun and the blossoming chrysanthemum. The Japanese, say the guards, are on to all the little stunts that made the Chinese peculiarly sly."

There are eight Hindus who went to the United States on the last voyage of the Siberia, but were refused landing at San Francisco. Why they were rejected is not known aboard the Siberia, but it is thought that some of them at least were afflicted with trachoma. There are 132 Chinese aboard the Siberia returning to their native land. The Siberia sighted the Manchuria on March 12 about midnight, two days out from San Francisco. The Siberia sailed at 5 o'clock yesterday for Yokohama, taking quite a number of passengers from here, mostly layovers from previous steamships.

THE HELENE'S RECORD VOYAGE.

The schooner Helene, Capt. Thompson, arrived here yesterday forenoon from Honolulu with 18,000 bags of Hawaii sugar which will go into the Virginia for Salina Cruz. The Helene finished discharging her cargo of Newcastle coal at Honolulu some days ago and then loaded sugar for Honolulu, sailing from there Saturday noon.

The Helene did make the almost record trip of thirty days from Hawaii to Newcastle as stated in the Advertiser March 3, but contradicted on the strength of the Maritime Register. Captain Thompson says that they had favoring breezes the whole voyage and made great speed. The wind was with them right to the last and they sailed into the harbor of Newcastle, rejecting the offers of tug and tow boats to give them a tow. The record made by the Helene on this voyage gave the vessel a great reputation in the Newcastle harbor and it was always spoken of as the schooner that flies. The schooner Harriet sailed from Honolulu to Newcastle in the fifties in 27 days and the American bark Vaquero from Honolulu to Melbourne in 1838 in 27 days. But the Helene's record of 30 days is the best one that has been made of late years, at any rate. But coming back the Helene took 62 days from Newcastle to Honolulu. She was beginning to get foul and she had very light winds. Captain Thompson also surprised the Newcastle people by coming up to the wharf all ready to take coal, something that the antipodeans were not accustomed to. After discharging the sugar she brought here from Honolulu, the Helene will go on the marine railway and will then load sugar for Irwin & Co. Captain Thompson has his wife, daughter and son on his voyage to Newcastle.

THE SIBERIA'S FREIGHT.

The Siberia's freight, which amounts to nearly 10,000 tons, includes a big shipment of arms and ammunition for Honolulu. Fourteen cases of shells for the big guns and 150 cases of rifles, as well as a large amount of ammunition, are being taken. The shipment of cotton for Japan is unusually heavy, while much leather, flour and machinery is to be taken to various ports of the Far East.

Consigned to Manila are a large number of rifles, while for Honolulu, in addition to rifles, are hundreds of cases of ammunition, including shells for the big guns, as well as a tremendous number of cartridges. According to accounts of those who have been long acquainted with the shipment of goods to the islands, never before has so much Army material been dispatched in one shipment.

FALLS INTO STEAMER'S HOLD.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 4.—Henry K. Naal, 35 years old, a sailor, was instantly killed about 3 o'clock yesterday morning by falling a distance of fifty feet into the hold of the steamer Virginian of the American-Hawaiian line, which is docked at Pier No. 23, off Greenwich street. In company with two sailors on board the steamer Naal ran along the deck of the steamer in the darkness. He was a guest of the sailors and did not belong to the crew. He stepped upon the forward hatch, which was covered with a temporary planking of loose two-inch boards and tarpaulin. It gave away and he fell below ship. The autopsy showed that death was due to extensive ruptures of the abdomen. An inquest will be held.

THE ELVASTON.

The British steamship Elvaston will complete discharging her coal in about four days now and will then be ready to sail for Newcastle. She will be the next vessel to take mail to Australia.

LILLIPUTIANS TIRE OF WET WEATHER.

The rainy weather has been disliked more by the little members of the Lilliputian Opera Company probably than any other persons in Honolulu, as it has kept them indoors at the Young Hotel and prevented the sight-seeing in the Paradise of the Pacific that had been promised them and to which they had been looking forward ever since they sailed from Yokohama. Tomorrow or Thursday, however, a special car is being chartered for the little actors and actresses, and they will be given a ride around the city, the grand climax of which is to be a visit to the Aquarium. This week, too, just as soon as the weather clears, the company is to move out to the Moana, where paddling and bathing has been promised the children. Manager Pollard himself wants to get around a little. He knows Honolulu, but confesses that he can never get tired of moving around here and seeing the beauties on every hand. "This is so different to the place we were just left," he said. "I have not seen many changes since my last visit here and I don't want to see any. Honolulu as it is is quite good enough for me."

PEARL HARBOR IN CONGRESS

The Report of the Committee on the Administration Measure.

The Siberia mails brought the Advertiser considerable Pearl Harbor matter, including the report of the Committee on Naval Affairs on establishing a naval base at that point. The report follows:

The Committee on Naval Affairs, having had under consideration the bill (H. R. 18120) to establish a naval station at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, report the same with the recommendation that it do pass without amendment.

The Hawaiian Islands afford the only possible location for a strong naval base in the central Pacific Ocean for a distance of over 4000 miles from our western coast.

Pearl Harbor is beyond question one of the best, if not the best, natural harbors in the world. It has a depth of water of over 60 feet and an area of nearly 10 square miles, and capable of floating the combined navies of the world. It is not only landlocked, but, by reason of the topography of the surrounding ground, ships lying in this harbor are out of view from the open sea. It is the only practicable site for a naval base in the Pacific Ocean, and is the recognized key to naval supremacy in those waters. Its equipment as an operating base is a prerequisite to the most successful operation of our fleets whether offensive or defensive.

For over sixty-five years the United States Government has officially recognized the strategic importance of the Hawaiian Islands and the necessity of preventing their occupation by any other nation.

Beginning in 1842 President Tyler gave notice to all European nations that the United States would never consent to their occupying Hawaii or establishing any naval base there.

This "Monroe Doctrine of the Pacific" was reiterated by Daniel Webster, as Secretary of State, in 1851, and by William L. Marcy, the great Democratic Secretary of State, by James G. Blaine, and by William McKinley, Captain (now Admiral) A. T. Mahan, writing in 1893, came to the conclusions:

"To any one viewing a map that shows the full extent of the Pacific, * * * two circumstances will be strikingly and immediately apparent. He will see at a glance that the Sandwich Islands stand by themselves in a state of comparative isolation, amid a vast expanse of sea; and, again, that they form the center of a large circle whose radius is approximately the distance from Honolulu to San Francisco. * * * This is substantially the same distance as from Honolulu to the Gilbert, Marshall, Samoan, and Society Islands, all under European control except Samoa, in which we have a part influence. * * * To have a central position such as this, and to be alone, having no rival and admitting no rival, * * * are conditions that at once fix the attention of the strategist. * * * But to this striking combination is to be added the remarkable relations borne * * * to the great commercial routes traversing this vast expanse. "Too much stress can not be laid upon the immense disadvantage to us of any maritime enemy having a coaling station well within 2500 miles, as this is, of every point of our coast line from Puget Sound to Mexico. Were there many others available we might find it difficult to exclude from all. There is, however, but the one. Shut out from the Sandwich Islands as a coal base, an enemy is thrown back for supplies of fuel to distances of 3500 or 4000 miles—or between 7000 and 8000 going and coming—an impediment to sustained maritime operations will be high prohibitive. * * * It is rarely that so important a factor in the attack or defense of a coast line—of a sea frontier—is concentrated in a single position, and the circumstance renders doubly imperative upon us to secure it if we rightfully can."

Twenty-two years ago, by the reciprocity treaty with King Kalakaua, the United States acquired the right to establish a naval base on Pearl Harbor.

Ten years ago this nation, foreseeing the likelihood that they might fall into the hands of an Oriental nation, annexed the Hawaiian Islands. This momentous action was taken primarily because of the strategic value of the Hawaiian Islands and for the purpose of establishing a strong naval base on Pearl Harbor.

Since that time a magnificent site for a naval station, consisting of over 600 acres of land, has been purchased by the Federal Government, and a 20-foot channel has been dredged through the channel bar.

The War Department has also acquired ample sites for fortifications at the channel entrance, and the first battery is now under construction.

Up to the present time no beginning has been made toward the actual construction of a naval base on Pearl Harbor. Year after year the needs of the Naval Establishment in other directions have been permitted to crowd it out of the naval bills.

In the judgment of your committee the new developments on the Pacific and among the nations that border its shores make it imperative that a strong operating base be established for our Navy at Pearl Harbor without further delay.

A naval base at Pearl Harbor is not designed primarily for the protection of Hawaii. Its main purpose is to form a buffer of defense for our entire Pacific coast and to make possible our naval supremacy upon the Pacific.

An enemy in possession of Hawaii could harass and threaten our entire western coast. On the other hand, with our own fleet operating from a well-equipped base at Pearl Harbor, no fleet from the Orient would find it practicable to threaten our coast, because of the stronghold left in their rear and of the prohibitive distance from their coaling base.

The equipment of Pearl Harbor is therefore a matter of national prudence and not of extravagance. It affords the nation's least expensive way of defending our Pacific coast; it will constitute one of the strongest factors in the prevention of war with any power in the Far East.

Your committee has received memorials from all of the strongest commercial organizations on the entire Pacific coast, urging that the development of Pearl Harbor be provided for at this session of Congress.

The national importance of this measure is emphasized by the fact that commercial bodies from the Central West and from New York city have also memorialized Congress on this subject during this present session.

The question of a naval base in Hawaii is not comparable with the same problem in the Philippines. Hawaii is both a permanent organic part of our nation, and is also a source of revenue; during the past eight years Hawaii has paid more than $9,000,000 into the Federal Treasury.

Every consideration, whether of national honor or policy, demands that Pearl Harbor be made impregnable and equipped as a naval base immediately.

With a naval base at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii would be our great defensive outpost; in the hands of an enemy it would double the nation's cost for naval defense.

URGES HAWAIIAN BASE.

The following is from the Washington Post of March 3:

"In the judgment of the committee, the new developments on the Pacific and among the nations that border its shores make it imperative that a strong operating base be established for our navy at Pearl Harbor without further delay.

"An enemy in possession of Hawaii could harass and threaten our entire Western coast. On the other hand, with our own fleet operating from a well-equipped base at Pearl Harbor, no fleet from the Orient would find it practicable to threaten our coast because of the stronghold left in their rear and of the prohibitive distance from their coaling base.

"A naval base at Pearl Harbor is not designed primarily for the protection of Hawaii; its main purpose is to form a buffer of defense for our entire Pacific coast, and to make possible our supremacy upon the Pacific."

REPORT OF NAVAL COMMITTEE.

The foregoing constitute vital statements as is sensational a report as ever made by the House Committee on Naval Affairs. The report containing them was submitted yesterday in support of the bill introduced a few days ago by Representative Bates of Erie, Pa., appropriating $3,000,000 to establish a naval base at Pearl Harbor, near Honolulu; $700,000 of which is to be immediately available. The committee ordered the bill to be favorably reported. Such precipitateness of action by so great a committee on a subject calling for such a large expenditure has not been known among House members since the beginning of the Spanish war.

That the Bates bill is an administrative measure and that the talk of war between America and Japan inspired it may easily be inferred from the fact that President Roosevelt asked the Pennsylvania to come to the White House and talk about the bill. The President approved it, so the Pennsylvania member said.

The report ends with the following statement: "Every consideration of national honor or policy demands that Pearl Harbor be made impregnable and equipped as a naval base immediately." In another part of the report the assertion is made that it is the only practicable site for a naval base in the Pacific Ocean, and is the recognized key to the naval supremacy of these waters. Its equipment as an operating base is prerequisite to the successful operation of our fleet, whether offensive or defensive.

BEST HARBOR IN THE WORLD.

The harbor which it is proposed to fortify is said to be the best natural harbor in the world. With a depth of sixty feet and an area of ten square miles, it is capable of harboring all the navies of the world combined. The harbor is land-locked, and the mountains surrounding it shut off all view of ships lying within from the open sea. The mountains are so high that mortar fire would be ineffectual, and the dragging of guns to the heights of land around would be impossible.

For more than sixty-five years the United States government has officially recognized the Hawaiian Islands as the natural outpost of its defenses, and in 1841 President Tyler put out a Monroe doctrine of the Pacific, saying that the United States would never consent to have them occupied by a foreign power.

HOLMES NEW PICTURE MACHINE

Among the through passengers by the Siberia yesterday was Mr. Oscar Dupue, companion and assistant to Burton Holmes in his travels for material for lectures. Mr. Holmes joined him here and the two sailed for the Orient, intending to go through Japan, China, the Straits Settlements, Ceylon and India, going home by way of the Suez.

Mr. Dupue had with him what is undoubtedly the finest and most up-to-date picture machine in the world. It is a machine based on those of Edwards of London, but with a number of improvements which are the work of Mr. Dupue's own ideas. It is the only machine of the kind ever made.

There are three improvements of prime importance over any other machine, besides a number of minor contrivances which add to convenience. Perhaps the most important of the improvements is a device by which the amount of light admitted by the shutter can be changed to meet changing conditions of sun, sky, or object, while the machine is in operation. All machines in the past have had to be stopped and changes made at the loss of time and convenience. But in this one, while the machine is in operation the changes in the shutter can be made simply by the movement of a lever on the outside. Another improvement is a device by which the lens itself can be moved or lowered simply by the movement of a lever while the machine is in motion, thus adding greatly to the scope of the machine. Correlative to this is a device by which the finder acts automatically with the raising and lowering of the lens, so that the finder always covers the exact field that the lens does.

By these devices vastly-improved motion pictures are expected to be produced. With the picture machine as it existed before this one was built, after the machine has been once focused there is no way of changing the field to meet changing conditions of the scene being reproduced except by guesswork. With the new adjustment of the finder, the operator can move his machine up or down or sideways to keep the scene constantly in the center of his negatives, with absolute precision, because the finder will show him exactly what is within the field of the lens. The machine will also meet changes of light and other conditions of photography promptly and accurately.

Mr. Bonine, Mr. Holmes and Mr. Dupue spent considerable time immediately after the arrival of the steamship in examining this new machine and making tests of it.

CHINESE COOKS ON JAP STEAMSHIP

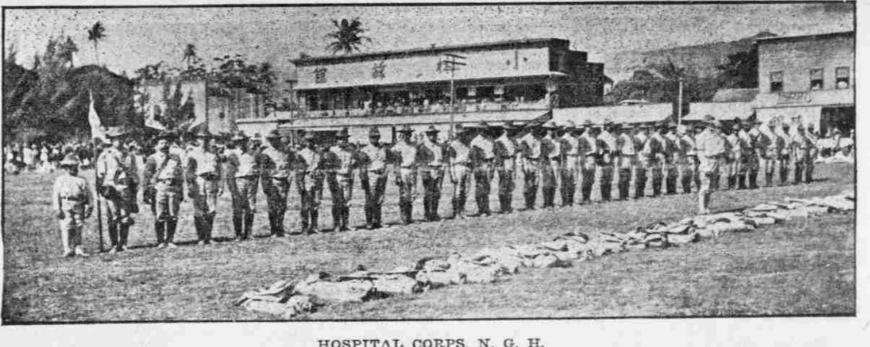

On account of the rain the discharge of nitrates from the Japanese steamship Kasato Maru was stopped much of Saturday and all of Sunday, and the vessel which was to have sailed Sunday afternoon will now not get away until sometime today.

The Kasato Maru is a vessel that was captured by the Japanese from the Russians during the Japanese-Russian war. She is still owned by the Japanese government but is chartered by a Japanese steamship company, the same company which has chartered the America Maru to put on its South American run after she is withdrawn from the trade between San Francisco and the Orient. She is an English built boat and the Chief Officer says that he saw her sister ship while in South American ports lately. The officers and crew of the Kasato Maru are Japanese throughout except in the steward's department, where Chinese are employed. Strangely the language of communication between the Chinese and Japanese aboard is neither Chinese nor Japanese, but is English. One of the Chinese employed has been employed on Japanese vessels for about ten years and he has picked up a fair amount of Japanese.

The Kasato Maru will take the Japanese lepers who have been at Moloai back to Japan where they will be cared for hereafter by the Japanese government. The lepers arrived Sunday morning on the Iwaland.

PERRY SUSPECTED OF ROBBERY.

Harry Perry, one of the discharged sailors of the Astral, was arrested last night on suspicion of knowing too much concerning the robbery of a Japanese, a roomer in the same building. The Japanese last night identifying Perry as the man who had held him up and gone through him. He is booked for investigation. This is the second time Perry has been in the cells since the arrival of his vessel, once before going down for drunkenness.

A BOGUS MONEY HOLDER STUCK

One of Korean Gang Is Found Guilty—Some Federal Sentences.

A Korean named Ong Too Wan was tried before U. S. Judge Dole yesterday and found guilty of having in possession counterfeit coin. An exhibit against him consisted of three bogus ten-dollar gold pieces. Sentence will be pronounced this morning. Wan, on pleading not guilty some days before, declined the court's offer to assign counsel for his defense. On coming to trial he persisted in contending legal assistance, but had his own interpreter with him. Assistant District Attorney Rawlins prosecuted. There were six witnesses for the government, two of them being convicted members of the Korean counterfeiting gang. Wan took the stand on his own behalf and denied that he knew the money was bad when he received it from one of his fellow countrymen. Judge Dole in his charge gave the defendant every chance the law allowed, telling the jurors that his evidence was entitled to be carefully weighed for whatever they deemed it worth from their observation of him on the stand, also that it was for them to consider what weight should be attached to the evidence of the convicts. They should be all the more careful to give him any benefit conferred by the law on account of his being without counsel. The jurors were Walter Waiamau, Charles Hubert, George Fern, Gustave A. Schuman, Harry Murray, A. S. Prescott, Eugene K. Allen, Peter McDonald, Luther Severance, U. H. Walker, Emil Waterman and J. M. Dowsett. They were out only seven minutes finding their verdict. SENTENCES. Albert Toogood and Daisy Wagner, convicted of violating the Edmunds Act, were each sentenced by Judge Dole to three months' imprisonment and payment of costs. Pala, the native caught dealing out swipes at Palama, was sentenced to three months and a fine of $100 and costs. Hashimoto, the Japanese caught in the raid on the big illicit distillery in Nuuanu Valley, withdrawing his former plea of not guilty, pleaded guilty to one of the two counts in the indictment. The second count was nolle, and sentence on the first count was continued until Thursday. JURORS EXCUSED. Judge Dole excused R. L. Wilcox, D. B. Macnochie and Henry Beckley from the trial jury for the rest of the term.

LOSE FAITH IN THE KOKI FAMILY Sureties of Island Officials Coy and Postoffice Discontinued. The Chronicle of March 4 says: The Federal officials are having all sorts of trouble with the Koki family in Hawaii, and as a result the post-office at Kamuela on the island of Hawaii, will be discontinued after the close of business tonight, a result directly traceable to the lack of ability of the Kokis to distinguish between "mine and thine." Moses Koki was postmaster at Kamuela until December 18 last, when he was arrested on a charge of having embezzled money order funds. Three registered letters containing $2500 were missing from his office at about the same time, for although the office is a small one, with a compensation running in the neighborhood of $500 per annum, it does a large money order and registry business. When Moses was arrested his sureties designated Joshua D. Koki as acting postmaster, and everything seemed regular in the conduct of the office under the latter's administration until a cablegram was received by Chief Post-office Inspector Johnston at the San Francisco office yesterday, to the effect that Joshua too had slipped on the financial banana peel, and, according to Inspector Hare, had been arrested for his failure to account for money received at his office. Hare says the sureties refused to designate another acting postmaster, with the result that the department has ordered the postoffice discontinued.

HOW DIPHTHERIA IS CONTRACTED. One often hears the expression, "My child caught a severe cold which developed into diphtheria," when the truth was that the cold had simply left the little one particularly susceptible to the wandering diphtheria germ. When Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is given it not only cures the cold, but greatly lessens the danger of diphtheria or any other germ disease being contracted. There is no danger in giving this remedy, as it contains no opium or other harmful drug. For sale by Benson, Smith & Co., Ltd., agents for Hawaiian Islands.

JUDGE ROBINSON RESUMES DUTY

Criminal Cases Dropped—Big Bond Filed—Divorce and Probate.

Cases were nolle prosequi yesterday before Judge Robinson, who arrived in the Siberia that morning, as follows: Fong Kee, operating a laundry without a license; Maruse Mago and Seyo, assault and battery; Kini Kaina, malicious burning in third degree and assault with a dangerous weapon; Geo. Namau, larceny in third degree. With regard to the laundry case District Magistrate Andrade lately declared the law unconstitutional. In one of the cases a defective record had been sent up from Waiailua. Various reasons were given for dropping the other cases. Judge Robinson's jurors are to appear in court at 10 o'clock tomorrow. LARGE BOND. The trustees of the estate of Bernice Pauahi Bishop have filed their bond as principals and each as surety for the others in the sum of $100,000. J. O. Carter, William O. Smith, S. M. Damon and Albert F. Judd have signed the bond. E. Faxon Bishop, the other trustee, is absent from the Territory. This is a new bond required by the accession of Mr. Judd to the board in place of A. W. Carter, resigned. SEWER RATES. C. S. Holloway, Superintendent of Public Works, vs. Cecil Brown et al., trustees of the estate of James Campbell, deceased, a suit for sewer rates, was argued and submitted to the Supreme Court yesterday. Respondents are sued as executors instead of trustees, which, prior to argument, Chief Justice Hartwell intimated might be a fatal defect in the Government's case. The suit refers to the Campbell block. NEW TRUSTEE WANTED. Stella K. Cockett petitions that a new trustee for her, under the trust deed made by herself to the late A. J. Cartwright in 1888, be appointed in place of Ellen A. Polyblank, who wishes to renounce the office and has resigned therefrom. Petitioner asks that George E. Smith be appointed trustee. ESTATE CLOSING. Robert W. Cathcart and Samuel G. Wilder, executors of the will of B. F. Chapman, had their accounts approved and their discharge granted by Judge Lindsay yesterday. The estate is inventoried at over $68,000 besides 640 acres of land in Nevada not appraised. It will be distributed by the Hawaiian Trust Co. DIVORCE CASES. Charles B. Gray denies every allegation of cause for divorce in his wife La Vancha M. Gray's libel. Mary Sherwood Kahawai sues Chas. Kahawai for divorce, alleging extreme cruelty in the forms of physical violence and abusive language, also failure to provide. They were married on June 23, 1903. In the divorce suit of Victoria Amoi Mahuka against William M. Mahuka, Judge Lindsay has ordered that the libelee pay to the libellant's attorneys $8 a week pending the decision, also $50 on account of counsel fees. WAILUKU TERM. There are nine criminal cases on the calendar of the Second Circuit Court, opening at Wailuku tomorrow before Judge Kepoikai. Three of the cases are against K. Yokogawa for criminal libel. The others are larceny second degree, selling liquor without license, selling poisonous drugs, malicious injury, assault and battery, and gaming. There are nine civil jury cases and twelve jury waived cases. COURT ITEMS. It was stipulated, with Judge Lindsay's approval, that the habeas corpus cases of Amalia Maunakea and Mary Kelihoepole Kaunakaha, in custody of the Board of Health, be continued until Wednesday morning, March 25. Demurrer was argued before Judge De Bolt in the damage suit of E. Campbell vs. H. Hackfeld & Co., Ltd. The demurrer was confessed without prejudice and ten days were allowed to file an amended complaint. J. Lightfoot for defendant. P. J. Monaghan has brought suit against John K. Robinson and Mele Lopikana for $400, with interest, costs and attorney's commissions, on a promissory note made June 29, 1907, at six months and eight per cent per annum interest. Judge Lindsay appointed Dr. B. Anderson administrator of the estate of Mon Min, deceased. J. A. Combs is sworn as stenographer in Judge Robinson's court to act in place of Col. J. W. Jones, laid aside by illness. Judge Robinson approved the accounts of C. M. Cooke and Andrew E. Cox, executors of the will of John F. Anderson, who left an estate worth about $15,000 entirely to County Supervisor Cox above-named.

GOOD PROGRAM FOR ST. PATRICK'S DAY

It is the aim of all good Irishmen and women in Hawaii, as elsewhere, to do honor to the patron saint of Erin's Isle and it is with this end in view that the A. O. Hibernians celebrate, each year, on St. Patrick's Day. Tonight the local lodges give an entertainment in Dreier hall, for which an especially good program has been provided. Many invitations have been issued but in case any friends have been overlooked, they may secure invitations from the members. The Irish are famous the world over for their hospitality and it will be the object of the Ancient Order of Hibernians and the Ladies' Auxiliary tonight to demonstrate this fact anew to the many friends who assist them in honoring St. Patrick and to prove that true Irish hospitality flourishes even in far away Hawaii.

WHY PORT ARTHUR FELL

The true reason for the fall of Port Arthur, the Gibraltar of the Pacific, during the Russian-Japanese war, has never been divulged to the public. The brave defenders of this famous fortress, being unable to obtain Tansan water, owing to the effective blockade, finally gave up hope and surrendered. Honolulu is to be congratulated on the fact that it has a local Tansan agency under the management of Fred Church. No foe will ever obtain possession of this city for reasons as above stated. Ring up 171 and place your orders.
