CONTRACTORS CHINESE MEET AFTER THE PLUM

Five Firms Figuring on Reception Yesterday in Hilo Breakwater Contract.

There is to be no lack of bidders on the Hilo breakwater contract, which carries as a first item and a starter an appropriation of $400,000, to be expended within the next three years. The bids for this are to be opened by Captain Otwell, Corps of Engineers, U. S. A., on March 31 at noon. Five firms will compete with each other for the work.

Hoogs & Belser, a newly created firm, which will go into the contracting and draying business in Honolulu, have had men go over the ground of the proposed work twice and will offer a bid; D. E. Metzger, now superintendent of the Hilo railway, and L. E. Pinkham, president of the Board of Health, have associated themselves for the purpose of undertaking the big work and will submit figures; the Atlantic, Gulf & Pacific Dredging company, composed of the same people who own and control the San Francisco Bridge company, the corporation that did the dredging in the Honolulu harbor with the big dredger Pacific, have had a man in Hilo for some time, going over the ground and preparing estimates upon which the firm will tender; King Brothers, an Eastern corporation, have also had a representative at Hilo prepared and authorized to bid, while another new firm, Lord & Whitehouse, will be in the field. This firm is supposed to have the backing of H. Hackfeld & Co. in their work for the big contract. Both members of the firm, accompanied by Frank E. Thompson, leave for Hilo on Tuesday to have another look over the ground and check up their calculations preparatory to bidding.

The above list of contractors will furnish a number of surprises, consisting as it does of familiar names in new combinations.

The breakwater, as planned, is to have a length of ten thousand feet, of which 7500 feet consists of an arm running from a point about three-quarters of a mile northeast of Reed's Bay and extending across the mouth of the harbor so as to check the prevalent southeast by east swells. The second section extends almost due west from the end of the arm and is planned to be 2500 feet long. As a preliminary, $400,000 has been appropriated by Congress, which is to be spent on the shore end and made to go as far as possible. The rubble mound will have a height of eleven feet above the mean tide level and will be built in water of an average depth of twenty feet, although in two places the depth of the water is over forty feet. The $400,000 now available will not be sufficient to complete the work, but further appropriations will be forthcoming, according to the consensus of opinion among the party of visiting Congressmen here last summer, who went over the location of the proposed work and studied the whole situation thoroughly. It was after this inspection that Congressman Davidson, in a speech at Moohanu park, stated that the money would be available when needed to make of Hilo harbor the best harbor in all America.

The building of this breakwater will call for an initial outlay on the part of the successful contractor for plant and equipment of from $50,000 to $60,000.

QUERY FROM SECRETARY REGARDING OUR HARBOR

If any doubt has remained in the minds of the citizens of Honolulu as to the big fleet coming here, the following dispatch, which was received by Admiral Very at 1:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon ought to settle it:

"Washington, D. C., March 21. "3:15 p. m. "Naval Station, Honolulu. "How many battleships can coal at one time at Honolulu? Is there water enough at wharves for deepest draft? What is rate of coaling? (Signed) METCALF, "Secretary of Navy."

"Immediately on receipt of this dispatch," said the Admiral yesterday, "I made the necessary inquiries from the Harbormaster and the stevedores and others, and sent an appropriate reply. And I would like to say that this is the first cablegram or the first inquiry of any sort that I have ever received from the Navy Department or any other authority in connection with the contemplated visit of the fleet here. "Of course, now that this has come, there will doubtless be other messages

ROOSEVELT FAVORS TARIFF REVISION AT A SPECIAL SESSION

Will Recommend Congress to Declare for It ---Fortification Bill Passes in House ---Andrews Will Lose.

(Associated Press Cablegrams.)

WASHINGTON, March 22.—It is reported that President Roosevelt will recommend that Congress pass a declaration in favor of the revision of the tariff to be done at a special session to be called in 1909, at which session can also be taken up the question of limiting the power of the courts in issuing injunctions in labor disputes, the passage of a new Employers' Liability bill to eliminate the portions making the present one unconstitutional and the consideration of the Aldrich financial bill.

FORTIFICATION BILL IS PASSED IN THE HOUSE

WASHINGTON, March 22.—The Fortification bill, carrying items aggregating one million one hundred thousand dollars for fortifications in Hawaii, passed in the House yesterday.

KEIFER SPEAKS FOR PEARL HARBOR.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—Representative General Keifer of Ohio today urged the fortification of Pearl Harbor during the discussion of the subcommittee report in the House.

DESPERATE MEN GAIN LIBERTY.

HELENA, Montana, March 22.—George Frankhauser and Charles McDonald, who robbed a Great Northern train and secured $40,000, and who were serving a sentence for the robbery, escaped from jail here yesterday.

The robbery for which these men were convicted took place near Rondo, Montana, on September 12, 1907. The two men, masked, secreted themselves on the tender of the Oriental Limited, crawling into the engine cab and holding up the engineer and firemen with revolvers, forcing them to stop the train. They dynamited the safe of the express car and stole four packages of registered mail. Rewards aggregating $13,000 were paid for their capture.

COMMITTEE REPORT WILL EXONERATE WILFLEY

WASHINGTON, March 22.—It is reported that Judge Wilfley will be exonerated in the report to be presented on the impeachment proceedings brought against him by Lorrin Andrews.

SENATE APPROPRIATES $33,000,000.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—The legislative appropriation bill, carrying thirty-three million dollars, has passed in the Senate.

CUBAN SUGAR CROP WILL FALL FAR SHORT

HAVANA, March 22.—The Cuban sugar crop for 1908, according to estimates, will be five hundred and fifty thousand tons less than the crop of 1907. The shortage will be on account of drought.

PRIEST MURDERER TO HANG.

DENVER, Colorado, March 21.—Allo Guiseppe has been sentenced to be hanged in July. He attempted to commit suicide.

ANOTHER COAL PILE IS AFIRE

This Time Navy Coal Is Burning Opposite the Sailors' Home.

Another coal pile fire was discovered yesterday, this time in one of the Naval coal piles. It is in the coal pile on the lot on Richards street opposite the Sailors' Home, between Queen and Halekauwila streets.

The fire is right in the center of the pile, and a large amount of coal will have to be moved in order to get at it. There are seven or eight thousand tons of coal in all in the pile. Fortunately there is a vacant lot adjoining this where the coal which will have to be moved can be placed and a large force of men will be put to work this morning.

The fire in the Inter-Island company's coal pile was finally extinguished Friday afternoon.

DEATH OF MRS. CLARK.

Death came last night, shortly after seven o'clock, to Sara Jane Clark, wife of Dr. A. B. Clark, of Manoa Valley, who has been ill for some time. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon, services to be rendered at the house at half past three. The interment will be in the Nuuanu cemetery. Deceased was a daughter of Dr. D. D. T. Hanlin, of New York state, being born on the Hudson and coming west with her parents when six years old. She was married to Dr. Clark in Chicago in 1872. Six years ago she moved to Honolulu, the birthplace of Dr. Clark, where she lived until her death.

Besides her husband she leaves two daughters and a son: Mrs. Charles E. Sedgwick, of Fort Wayne; Mrs. W. T. Bolding, of Hilo, and Albert B. Clark, of Honolulu.

GOVERNOR AND PARTY HOME.

Governor Frear, Superintendent Marston Campbell, Commissioner Pratt and Private Secretary McBride returned from the tour of Maui in the Kinau yesterday. The Governor looked exceedingly rugged after all the rough-riding experience. He and the heads of the Public Works and Land departments paid brief visits to their offices on returning.

WIRELESS ONLY IN ITS INFANCY

Expert Isbell and His Record-Flash From Point Loma.

"I wouldn't care to say where I think the wonders of wireless telegraphy will cease," said A. A. Isbell, the wireless expert, who is now here experimenting with the local system with a view to its wider scope. "Wireless telegraphy is merely in its infancy."

Mr. Isbell is morally certain that he caught fragments of messages from the Point Loma station at the Barber's Point station Friday night. If he did, this is a record of 2300 miles, which surpasses anything yet achieved by the local system.

Mr. Isbell was at the station Friday night listening for a message from the Thomas, in accordance with his agreement with the wireless operator of the transport. The Thomas was then between 1900 and 2000 miles away. No message, however, was received. But while he was waiting he caught the spark of the Point Loma station, the peculiar quality which differentiates that station from all others to the acute ear trained to the wireless. What the message was could not be made out, but Mr. Isbell feels certain that what he caught came from Point Loma station. He also caught a message from the S. S. Enterprise, 700 miles distant at sea.

Speaking of the progress of wireless, Mr. Isbell said that practically every steamship plying the Atlantic was now equipped with wireless appliances, and that the steamships of the Pacific soon would be. A number of systems were in use, all the same in principle, but differing in the manufacture of their appliances. In the North Pacific the Marconi system, by reason of its long-time contracts with the British Admiralty, Lloyd's, and some of the larger steamship companies, had for the present the Marconi company, which in its contracts prohibited the users of its appliances from handling messages from any other system. The United States Navy, however, refused to enter into contracts with Marconi, and had a system of its own, superior to Marconi's in many respects. In the south Atlantic the De Forest system had made great advances.

"While there are not many stations as yet along the South American coast, it would be a great thing if every ves-

INQUEST BEGUN OVER BURGLAR SUICIDE

The inquest over the body of the Japanese burglar who was shot while attempting to burglarize the store and postoffice at Waihlawa on Thursday, and who later committed suicide by stabbing himself in the abdomen with a large pair of shears as he lay in the plantation hospital at Waihlawa, was begun a few hours after his death on Friday afternoon. Deputy Sheriff Cox empanelling a jury. The dead Japanese, whose name was Ozawa, has been identified as the gardener of Henry Davis, who has a place about two miles from the scene of the shooting. He had been employed by Davis for two years past and according to the evidence given at the inquest by his late employer was a very good man without any bad habits. Davis, while he identified the iron bar as belonging to his place, the bar used to force an entrance into the store, and who also identified the knife with which the burglar attempted to cut his throat after being shot, insisted that the man was utterly incapable of having committed any crime. The testimony of John Staff and of H. R. Grant, the manager and assistant manager of the pineapple company, was very clear, however, as to the burglary and the shooting. It is thought that Thot will be fully exonerated.

"Well," said the Devil, "I will let you off if you can think up three tasks which I can't accomplish." "All right," we observed, "bring us the Great American Novel, an interesting vaudeville show, and a fountain pen that won't leak." The old boy shrieked terribly, but there was nothing for him to do but to acknowledge gracefully that he was beaten.—Puck.

Harvey—You should have seen Hotayre swell up at that min-treading sance the other night when the blind-folded lady actually told him the number of his automobile. Beattie—But he has no auto. Harvey—Of course not. But he looked astounded and acknowledged she was right.—Puck.

ADOLESCENCE OF THE DOLLAR.

The dollar took some rounding. Nor did it formerly ring true, but, much alive, simply gave a beat or bellow. Cattle, among country folk, at one time constituted the dollar, while primitive man generally made use of any article sufficiently abundant for the standard payment of all merchandise. Thus, in ancient Greece, a large bronze tripod had the value of a dozen oxen. A good, hard-working woman, on the other hand, was given in exchange for only four such beasts. When metal took the place of money the dollar clung to its traditions, and coins were still called after live stock. Thus "pecunia," applied to metal money, derived its origin from "pecus" (cattle). From the custom of counting heads of cattle came the present designation of a sum in cash—capital, or "capita" (heads). In Sanscrit, rouse (herd, flock) made roupya, or the Indian rupee. While ingots of electrum, or admixture of gold and silver, when first in use as money, bore the impress of an ox or cow. Not clumsy, but too fragile, were the shells in use as money by the negroes of Africa, and throughout ancient Asia where the natives, taken by its beauty gave the shell a money value.

Pat, a stout Orangeman from Munster, married Bridget, a native of Cork. In the parlor of their home on one wall hung a framed picture of the Pope, and on the other an equally elegant chromo of King William crossing the Boyne. Bridget was asked one day by an inquisitive friend how the religious peace of the family was preserved. "Poine," was the reply. "On the 12th of July Pat gets a little extra patriotic, when he is out with the 'bys.' Then he comes home, takes on Pope's picture from the wall, jumps on it and goes to bed. Then I takes King William down and pawns him, and with the money buys another Pope, and them in the mornin', behad, Pat has to go down and get King William out o' pawn. Shure, we get along foine!"

"Pardon me, sir," began the portly person in the railroad train to the man who sat next to him, "but what would you say if I sat on your hat?" "Suppose you sit on it and then ask me," suggested the other. "I did," admitted the portly person, calmly.—Harper's Weekly.

IN THE COOL OF THE EVENING.

By Alfred Noyes.

I.
In the cool of the evening, when the low sweet whispers waken, When the laborers turn them homeward, and the weary have their will, When the censers of the roses o'er the forest-slates are shaken, Is it but the wind that cometh o'er the far green hill?

II.
For they say 'tis but the sunset winds that wander through the heather, Rustle all the meadow-grass and bend the dewy fern; They say 'tis but the winds that blow the reeds in prayer together, And fill the shaken pools with fire along the shadowy burn.

III.
In the beauty of the twilight, in the Garden that He loveth, They have velleed His lovely vesture with the darkness of a name! Through His Garden, through His Garden it is but the wind that moveth, No more; but O, the miracle, the miracle is the same!

IV.
In the cool of the evening, when the sky is an old story Slowly dying, but remembered, ay, and loved with passion still, Hush! . . . the fringes of His garment, in the fading golden glory, Softly rustling as He cometh o'er the far green hill. —The Nation (London).

A RANK MOLLYCODDLE.

"Don't be foolish, Henry. This is a portrait of yourself, when you had hair."

MARINE

THE ASTRAL'S CANE STRIPPERS.

The ship Astral with her Japanese crew, in tow of the Kinau, left the harbor yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock for Hilo.

United States Shipping Commissioner Almy shipped the crew on Friday and went aboard of her yesterday afternoon to muster the crew.

Captain Dunham of the Astral planned to sail to Hilo, but the release of the Kinau just at this time from the Hilo run, made it possible to secure her as a tow boat.

THE ASIA ARRIVES.

The Pacific Mail steamship Asia arrived off port early yesterday morning, and came into the harbor about 8 o'clock.

The Asia brought Charles H. Broad here as a passenger. He formerly lived here, but for the past fourteen years, he has been employed by the Pacific Mail Steamship Company in Yokohama.

He speaks very highly of the educational facilities which Honolulu affords. His sincerity in this is evidenced by the fact that he had sent his children here to be educated.

Among other passengers were Mr. C. D. Wilkinson, a prominent lawyer of Hongkong, with his daughter, who are on an extensive tour which includes the mainland of the United States, Cuba, Porto Rico, South America and Europe.

PINEAPPLES TO KONA.

Fifty thousand pineapple plants from Wahia were shipped to Kona yesterday to be planted. They were shipped by the little island schooner Moi Wahine which was towed out of the harbor during the forenoon by the tug Intrepid.

Besides these pineapple plants she carried about fifteen hundred feet of steel cable to be used on the Kona plantation as trolley wires to deliver cane from the fields to the mill by means of gravity.

FUTURE OF THE KINAU.

No announcement has yet been made as to what will be done with the Kinau. There has been a sort of understanding that she would be put on the Mikahala run, to leeward Kauai, sailing Thursdays. But there has been no announcement when this is to be done, if at all.

RETURNING MISSIONARY.

Rev. A. B. de Roos and wife with their two children are returning from the Philippines where Mr. de Roos has been engaged in missionary work. Mrs. Bickel is a leading American merchant of Manila.

The Asia sailed promptly at 2 o'clock for San Francisco. Among her passengers from here was F. Pollard.

TWO OIL SHIPS SAIL.

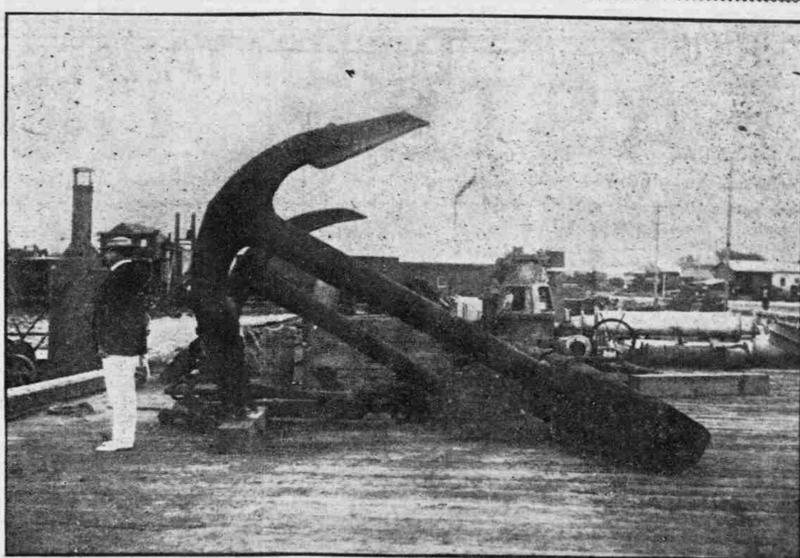

The Associated Oil Company ships Marion Chilcott and Falls of Clyde sailed from here yesterday morning for Gaviota. The Falls of Clyde came in on Monday, and remained to make some repairs to her donkey engine boiler.

HELENE OFF THE WAYS.

The four-masted schooner Helene came off the marine railway yesterday afternoon and was towed around to the Oceanic wharf where she will take on a large quantity of sugar for the Western Refinery, afterwards going over to the Railway wharf to finish loading.

HILONIAN AT RAILWAY WHARF.

The steamship Hilonian went over

THE BIG ANCHOR WAS CAPTAIN METCALF'S MASCOT; WITH IT HE PULLED THE MIOWERA OFF ONE REEF AND THE MANCHURIA OFF ANOTHER, AND SALVED TWO VESSELS WITH IT ON THE MEXICAN COAST.

Near the Ewa end of the Hackfield bottom and held with such a powerful grip that immense power could be brought on cables attached to it, and thus the Miowera was finally pulled off the reef and into deep water.

Then Captain Metcalf shipped his gear, including this anchor, back to San Francisco, and during the next ten or twelve years was sent for twice to get steamships off the Mexican coast. He took his wonderful anchor with him each time, and each time the anchor held fast while the wrecked vessel was pulled off the reef.

Then the Manchuria went on Waimanalo reef, August 20, 1906, and Captain Metcalf was again sent for. Again he brought his anchor of hope with him. Again it was placed in position, and against its holding powers the steam winches of the Manchuria tried their strength with the result that the Manchuria, aided by the steam vessels that were pulling on her, was pulled off the reef and is today in service in the transpacific trade.

But Captain Metcalf did not take the anchor away with him this time. He sold it to Captain Miller and it rests on the wharf, kept well painted to prevent rust, where it can readily be put into service should occasion arise for its peculiar usefulness.

Aside from its usefulness as an anchor, it is considered a fine piece of forging, and in its shape is exceedingly artistic, having the lines and curves of the anchor of art.

It was with a good deal of regret that Captain Metcalf parted with it.

SUNDAY ADVERTISER

WALTER G. SMITH EDITOR SUNDAY MARCH 22

THE RED CROSS MOVEMENT.

Peace hath her victories no less renowned than war and, paradoxical as it may sound, some of the greatest achievements of peace, in these days of lively humane enterprise, are born of war.

In the Red Cross Society there is another example of war bringing increase to the blessings of civilization in peace. This organization has recently extended its bounds to include Hawaii and, as readers of the Advertiser have learned, a branch of the Grand Legion thereof is now being organized in Honolulu.

To help the sick and injured when physicians are not at hand, and also to assist the latter. To help care for those sick or injured in great public celebrations.

To teach ordinary care and forethought for the prevention of accidents. To teach what to do in moments of danger to prevent injury or loss of life, as in panics and street crushes.

Who that has had opportunity of seeing the first aid in accident or sudden illness which a handy man or woman, perhaps with only a little modestly held skill derived from home teaching or intelligent reading and observation, is enabled to afford but will have some realizing sense of the general benefits to accrue from having an organization with a mission of training all willing members of the community in the best methods of such most useful service?

With regard to the Grand Legion some information from the leaflet already mentioned will here be in point. It is to be presumed, as we are at the moment without information, that, at least in the outset, nothing greater than a relief column, the unit of a legion, will be attempted to be formed here. It is stated:

"The Grand Legion is made up of four or more legions. Each legion has four relief columns, each column four detachments and each detachment four squads. The column has 64 men and 24 officers; the legion, 256 men and 104 officers. A legion is commanded by a director-in-chief, the column by a director. Both director and director-in-chief must be physicians.

"Each column, in time of peace, will ultimately have an auxiliary relief corps of women. What does it mean to young men?" the brochure continues, answering: "It makes those who become members self-reliant and alert in every emergency."

"It shows them how to look out for themselves and for others. It makes them especially useful to the community. It gives them unique distinction. It offers an opportunity for social service of an attractive and chivalrous kind, in fellowship with active men of high standards."

Notwithstanding the fine record the people of Honolulu made in the epidemics of 1895 and 1899-1900, we can easily imagine how supremely useful such an organization as a legion of the Red Cross would have proved in those great emergencies.

The Emmanuel Movement

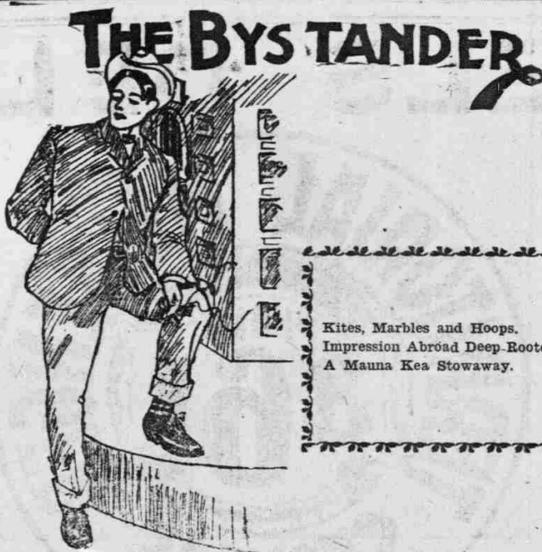

Springfield Republican.

It is impossible to say how widespread will be the so-called Emmanuel movement among the Protestant churches, yet its progress promises to command attention. The success of the "clinics" for nerve trouble at the Emmanuel Protestant Episcopal church of Boston the past two years seems to be making a strong impression upon the Protestant clergy in other cities.

In venturing this prediction, it is not necessary to enter upon a discussion of religion or philosophy, although those who are best fitted to discuss religious and philosophical questions could find very much to interest them in current developments, if they are in the least in sympathy with the "pragmatic" view of things upon which Prof. James has lately placed so much emphasis.

Green—I can't understand why De Short wants a divorce. His wife had nearly half a million when he married her. Brown—Yes, and she has every dollar of it yet. That's the trouble.—Chicago Daily News.

"It's no disgrace to be poor." "I can remember a time when it was no disgrace to be rich."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Kites, Marbles and Hoops. Impression Abroad Deep-Rooted. A Mauna Kea Stowaway.

Let those who think that erroneous ideas regarding the islands can be driven from the world by moving pictures, promotion literature, or anything else, listen to the experience of Monsieur Menant, the new Consul for France. Shortly before embarking for Honolulu on the steamship Malte, M. Menant met Monsieur Vizzavona in Paris.

Acting on what he supposed was the voiced experience of fourteen years' residence here, M. Menant spent the last days of his stay in Paris in a round of shopping. The results of this shopping were eighty trunks and boxes packed with all the commodities that could be thought of as useful or useful, or convenient.

If fourteen years' residence here will not qualify for less erroneous advice than that, how many years' residence will? But this reminds me of the experience of another friend of mine. She came here many years ago during Bishop Staley's time.

"Above all things," said Mrs. Staley, "take no jewelry, nor finery of any kind; you will have no occasion whatever for them. Take nothing but the plainest of clothes."

My friend acted on this advice. It was in the old days when steamers were less frequent than they are now and everybody went to the wharf on the arrival of a steamer. What was my friend's surprise therefore to see on the wharf a better dressed gathering of women than she had often seen, except on formal social occasions, in her beloved English home, and jewelry worn as though it were the adornment of every occasion.

All of which goes to show that there is no way of telling beforehand what kind of reports and advice will be given about any place in the world.

There was a stowaway aboard the Inter-Island flagship Mauna Kea when she pulled out for her first trip on Friday night, but it is expected that she will be still aboard the steamship when she returns this morning. A wireless message to The Bystander states that there was consternation among the passengers when the fair intruder was hauled out of her hiding place and confronted with the captain, but none were prepared for what followed.

Now, that kite flying is becoming a popular sport, I wonder that someone has not arisen to chant the glories of marbles. I know that a good many regard the good old pastime with the dills as highly immoral, but still there is enough of good to be acquired out of scientific kneeling down and fan-gobblings to bring the game into favor, especially among those of the octogenarians who were a little sporty in their youth and haven't forgotten how it feels.

For those who have to slave at their desks all day, what better form of athletic amusement could be devised than chasing the elusive glassy up and down the street, and how gratifying it is to make a well-calculated shot or successfully pink the dilly, as the phrase goes? I think that I shall have to get my friend Alexander Ford to bring this to the attention of the Promotion Committee.

As a matter of variety, and to be something for the kite flyers to fall back upon on a rainy day or on a day when the wind fails, tops will be found an excellent thing. From a scientific standpoint as well as that of mere amusement, there is a great deal to be had out of whipping the spinners. Franklin got a spark out of his kite, but his was a lonesome sparking match compared with a first-class top match in which spinners and spinsters could mutually take part.

In fact there is no limit to the game. Hoops, jackstones, duck-on-the-rock and other athletics. Kites are good, but there are other sports.

"I heard one man," said the playwright, "who attended the premiere of my new play last night, complain that it was so late when he got out." "Yes?" queried the critic. "Yes, and yet the final curtain fell before 10:45." "Ah! perhaps he overslept himself."—Philadelphia Press.

Prospective Buyer—Heavens! It must be a terrible experience to run over a human being! Auto Demonstrator (smilingly)—Not with this make of car, my boy; it's equipped with the best shock absorber on the market.—Brooklyn Life.

Church—What's that piece of cord tied around your finger for? Gotham—My wife put it there to remind me to mail a letter. Church—And did you mail it? Gotham—No; she forgot to give it to me!—The Congregationalist.

Nell—Why doesn't Maude join your sewing circle? Belle—She wouldn't be of much use. Nell—Can't she sew? Belle—Oh, yes, she can sew, but she has an impediment in her speech.—Philadelphia Record.

"Why do you set your alarm clock? You never get up when it rings!" "No. But I have the satisfaction of knowing I am sleeping late of my own free will, and not by accident."—Washington Star.

"That Mrs. Sawbones always alludes to her husband as 'the dear doctor.'" "Well, that's the kind of doctor he is."—Tit-Bits.

Commercial News

By Daniel Logan.

Hawaii shipped domestic merchandise to the United States mainland in the year 1907 to the value of $31,984,433, which was an increase over the year 1906 of $2,676,329. Domestic exports to the mainland in 1907 did not come up to those of 1906, when the value was $37,429,396 or $5,444,963 greater than last year.

Table with 3 columns: Articles, 1906, 1907. Rows include Animals, Beeswax, Coffee, Fibers, Fruits and nuts, Hides and skins, Honey, Leather and mfrs. of, Rice, Sugar, Wool.

Shipments of domestic merchandise from the United States to Hawaii for the year 1907 amounted to $15,357,907, being an increase of $3,062,927 over the amount for the year 1906. There was nearly half a million of increase in domestic merchandise imports to Hawaii from the mainland in December, the figures being $930,594 for that month of 1906 and $1,417,941 for December of 1907.

Hawaii's imports from foreign countries were $4,478,289 in 1907, an increase over 1906 of $646,937. Hawaii exported to foreign countries domestic merchandise valued at $191,662 in 1907, against $55,561 in 1906, an increase of $136,101. Imports of foreign merchandise from the U. S. mainland amounted to $374,167 in 1907, being an increase of $38,192 over 1906.

Leaving out coin shipments the aggregate imports of this Territory for 1907 were $20,210,363, an increase of $3,748,056 over those for 1906, and the aggregate exports $32,214,238, an increase of $2,785,233. The grand total of Hawaiian commerce for 1907 was $52,424,601, an increase of $6,533,289 over 1906. This is a splendid showing, particularly in view of the relative loss from the low price of sugar.

Small Talks

E. R. STACKABLE—I am told that the Mauna Kea surpasses the best boats of the Pacific coast coastwise trade in every respect except perhaps size.

A. A. ISBELL—The sending apparatus of every wireless station has a distinct tone sound, as clearly and easily recognized as the differences in the voices of different people.

ROSE DAVISON—Many of the worst cases of cruelty to animals we have to deal with, are cases where people have moved from one place to another and abandoned their pets.

T. E. WALL—I only got back from Hilo today, so I'm rather out of touch locally. People over there seem to be very prosperous, however, and they are evidently pleased with that breakwater project.

CLINTON J. HUTCHINS—I do not think the day is far distant when marine underwriters will make a lower premium for vessels, sailing and other, equipped with wireless than for those without it.

W. C. WEEDON—Fifty thousand pineapple plants from Wahia were shipped today to the Kona Agricultural Company by the schooner Moi Wahine. The pineapple industry in Kona is growing rapidly.

KILOHANA ART LEAGUE—The town hall proposition has a great many strong advocates. We must need a town hall when the Elks and the Congress of Song can find no place for large assemblies which suits them but the old market building.

W. H. M'INERNY—I think it's foolish for a community of this size to try to entertain 20,000 men. If we have a public reception and dance to the admiral and the officers of the fleet I should think that would be about enough for a city of this size.

FRED TURBILL—I think a good deal of the talk about the fleet and what it is going to do to Honolulu's food supply is a bugbear. In the first place it is likely that but a few ships will come here. They will disperse to different stations in the Pacific. You will see another war scare on the eye of the presidential election.

JOHN SMITH—One matter the business community ought to take up and fight against is the incorporation into all fire insurance policies issued in this Territory of the earthquake clause. No company incorporates that clause in its policies issued in San Francisco. No company could do business there if it did. Why should it be in policies issued here?

CLINTON J. HUTCHINS—The Territory of Hawaii should certainly have a fire and marine insurance company of its own to handle its own business better and replace the drain from the premiums taken from here for insurance written on the mainland. And another matter—it will be only a question of a short time before the islands will be in touch with the mainland by "wireless," and I have no doubt that steamers approaching from all directions may announce their coming many days beforehand.

A Hughes Forecast

Washington Post.

- 1. On the first ballot Taft will lack about 150 of the nomination; his total may increase in subsequent ballots, but not sufficiently to nominate him. 2. Hughes will be 125 or more behind Taft on first ballot, but will increase on every ballot until nominated. 3. On no ballot will a majority of any candidate's vote be transferred to Taft. 4. The candidate who, although his vote may be large to begin with, will lose votes the quickest is Cannon. 5. When a majority of Cannon's vote goes to Hughes, following a break-away of some Cannon votes to Taft, the Pennsylvania vote will follow the bulk of the Cannon vote to Hughes on the same ballot. 6. When that movement is seen the Foraker vote will go to Hughes. 7. The Fairbanks and La Follette votes will endure the longest, but if the balloting is prolonged enough votes to nominate Hughes will go from them.

TOLOSAN MEETS GALES AND STORM

Is Hove To Thrive, Runs Short of Coal and Has Fire in Her Bunkers.

The German steamship Tolosan, which put into this harbor in distress last January from a voyage from Tacoma to Vladivostok, had quite a serious time on her voyage from here to Japan. According to a letter from Arthur C. Ridges, third officer, she met tempestuous weather, was hove to several times, and fire broke out in the coal bunkers.

The Tolosan, after leaving here January 18 in the afternoon, met with a mishap to her engines almost immediately after the pilot left her. She returned off the harbor and anchored there, spending six hours in making repairs. Nothing of interest occurred until January 25, when the engines broke down again, involving a delay of four hours. On January 27 there was a strong westerly gale, and it was found necessary to lash the steering gear all, as it showed signs of weakening. The gale and high seas continued on January 28, and on January 29 there were terrible and mountainous seas, rain and hail storms, and the vessel was obliged to heave to. While hove to, the U. S. transport Thomas passed. The Thomas on arrival here reported passing a German steamship hove to, but did not know its name. The high seas continued, and on January 31 there began to be fears that the vessel would run short of coal. February 1 the gale, which had been southerly during the 28th, 29th and 30th, and northwest on the 31st, again veered to the southwest. The seas broke over the flyingbridge and smashed in the wheelhouse, and the vessel hove to.

The weather moderated slightly, but on the 5th fire was discovered in the coal bunkers. It was nothing serious, however. On the 6th the gale from the southwest freshened, and the barometer went way down. The gale shifted to the northwest, and on the 8th the vessel was hove to for hours. On this date it was decided to change the vessel's course and steer for Yokohama, as it was feared that they did not have coal enough to reach Mororan, a seaport on the island of Ezo, the north island of the group. Mororan is not far from Hakodate, and is in the same latitude as Vladivostok, and not far distant. On the 9th, however, it was decided to change the course again and make a dash for Mororan. Land was sighted on this date and Mororan was reached on the 10th. At this time it was very cold and there was snow and ice on the ship. The Tolosan left Mororan February 12, reaching Vladivostok on the 15th, twenty-three days from Honolulu.

DRAGGED BY RUNAWAY HORSE.

A Chinese cart driver had an exciting experience on Smith street yesterday afternoon, being taught a lesson in the way not to use his reins that he will probably remember. Finding it inconvenient to hold the reins always in his fingers, he tied them around one wrist when he got out of his cart to have a talk with another Chinaman. The horse got frightened at something and started off, jerking the driver off his feet and hauling him on his face from King street to Beretania avenue. Escaped shedding various patches of skin, the man was unhurt when the horse was stopped, and the first thing he did was to untie the reins.

WAIAPAHU JAPANESE WILL CELEBRATE.

A Japanese celebration will be held at Waipahu today in honor of the fact that the two new wings built on the Japanese school there are ready for occupancy. It is expected that a large number of Japanese from the neighboring plantations will be present, and a long program of games, wrestling matches and races are planned.

A cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend and participate in the celebration.
Judge De Bolt yesterday granted a motion requiring Samuel Leialoha to give security for payment of fifty cents per day alimony to his divorced wife Healani Leialoha, as directed by the court at the time of granting the divorce. The libellant in her motion alleged that the libellee had stated that he expected to leave soon for the Coast, and that he did not propose to keep up the alimony payments.

PRUDENTIALS' 1908 REPORT.

The Hawaiian Trust Co. is in receipt of the annual statement for 1908 of the Prudential Insurance Co. of America. The report is an elaborate piece of printing in book form, and shows the exact method of the apportionment of dividends, salaries of all employees, records of all bonds and mortgages and all other details in connection with the business of the company. The report is a handsome example of the printer's art. It is now on exhibition at Hawaiian Trust Co. and will prove interesting to anyone who cares to see it.

SATURDAY NIGHT GAMBLING RAIDS.

The Magoon block was visited by the police last night in their rounds and five Porto Rican gamblers captured. Another gambling raid on a joint on Fort street extension bore fruit to the extent of twelve Japanese. This joint was located by the police following a suspicious Jap with a bundle, who wandered through the taro patches, finally landing up at the game. The suspicious bundle turned out to be a supply of booze for the gamblers. Among this twelve were several well-known players, including Ah Sam, who figured prominently before Judge Andrade on Friday.

crop prospects, immediately benefiting the non-irrigating plantations and replenishing the water resources of those that irrigate.
An advance of about $5 a ton in 96 degree test centrifugals has taken place in New York, the quotations to the Planters' Association having gone from 4.05 cents a pound, $81 a ton, to 4.297 cents a pound, $85.94 a ton, but since its latest cable James F. Morgan has received one announcing 4.36 cents a pound. European beets parity has advanced from $85 to $88 a ton.
Onomea declares a monthly dividend of one per cent beginning April 5, it being one of three of which such action was predicted last week. Honolulu Rapid Transit & Land Co. declares a return to one per cent quarterly, after two years at three-fourths, on its common stock, March 31. Ewa has gone to 26 and Oahu to 25, an advance of one dollar in each case.
Transactions reported by the Honolulu Stock & Bond Exchange for the week have been these: McBryde ($20), 100, 85, 25, 50, 12 at 3.50; H. C. & S. Co. ($100), 10, 80, 10, 5, 15 at 80; L. I. S. N. Co. ($100), 35 at 116.50; Ewa ($20), 5 at 25.25, 23 at 25.50, 20 at 25.25, 5, 10 at 26; Oahu ($20), 5 at 24.25, 25, 45 at 25, 10 at 24.875, 200 at 25, 230 at 25; Paauhau ($50), 65, 25 at 15; Haw. Pineapple Co. ($20), 50 at 22.25; Hon. Brewing & Malting ($20), 10, 5 at 22; Waiialua ($100), 5, 9 at 72.50; Haw. Sugar Co. ($20), 5, 100 at 33; O. R. & L. Co. ($100), 100 at 94; Waiialua 5's, $500, $2500 at 93.50; Pioneer 6's, $1000 at 101.
REAL ESTATE.
With the brightened prospect of sugar this year, together with the certainty of large Federal expenditures, real estate seems to be looking up. Many small transactions are being recorded and some large deals are being negotiated. In this column sales for less than $1000 are not quoted, though many sales of small building lots for less than that, which form a goodly proportion of late registrations, may indicate increasing prosperity more than a few sales at higher figures. Among recently recorded deeds are the following: Oahu College trustees to Mrs. Helen M. von Damm, College Hills lot, $1000; Sarepta A. Gulick to Stephen J. Carter, two Gulick tract lots, $1000; Mary A. Kaloamaikai and husband to Linda C. Bergstrom, interest in Manoa Road property, $1000; J. Garcia and wife to Maria G. Rodrigues, one-quarter acre land, Waiialua, $1732.50; A. Leihulu Keokakole and husband to Olowalu Co., two kulepas, Ukumehame, Lahaina, $1000; Stephen J. Carter and wife to Jacob M. Lee, two Gulick tract lots, $1000.
PROMOTION AND PROGRESS.
On the 16th inst. the sub-committee on fortifications of the House of Representatives reported the fortifications bill, which carries a total of $8,210,611 instead of the $38,443,945 asked for by the War Department. Pearl Harbor fortifications are not included in the amount recommended, but there is $1,100,000 for Honolulu fortifications and mortars for Pearl Harbor.
Secretary H. P. Wood, in reporting to the Chamber of Commerce on his visit to Washington, stated he thought it could be safely said that there was no opposition in Washington to the plans for the improvement of Pearl Harbor. He believed that the bills to that end would be accorded the right of way and pass by a strong non-partisan vote, which would mean the ultimate expenditure of many millions of dollars on the Island of Oahu. In addition to the doubling of the accommodations at Fort Shafter already provided for, Mr. Wood says, there will be a large artillery post on the Honolulu side of the entrance to Pearl Harbor and a regiment, if not two regiments, of troops located on the government reservation at Leilehua.
L. A. Andrews and R. W. Shingle have given Advertiser readers the benefit of their respective experiences in the shipment of bananas to San Francisco. The consensus of their views amounts to a conclusion that good fruit, well selected and picked at the right time, with proper packing besides care on the voyage, needs but regular shipping facilities of the right kind and handling on the Coast independent of the banana trust to create a profitable trade.
Ralph Lyon, chemist, has discovered a fertilizer which seems to make the ground inhospitable to the destructive Japanese beetle, that almost wiped out rose culture here many years ago, and at the same time forces the growth of the rosebush.
E. C. Smith and Albert Waterhouse, two local apiarists, have discovered a new process of extracting the wax of the honey bee from the "slumgum" and an application for a patent on the process is now on its way to Washington. Dr. Phillips, the visiting bee expert now in the islands, has declared the process a new and important discovery in the interest of apiarists.
The Thomas Pineapple Co., Ltd., is in process of incorporation. It owns 122 acres of land at Wahiawa and 100 acres at Pukukea, besides a lease of 100 acres at Wahiawa. The capital stock will be $100,000.
W. G. Kellogg, president of the Wahiawa Consolidated Pineapple Co., is working on a scheme to start a large pineapple industry on the Koolau side of this island. James B. Castle, owner of lands on which the enterprise is to be located, is taking an interest in the project. It is proposed to lease 2000 acres from Mr. Castle, cut it up into blocks of suitable size and offer it to American settlers on attractive terms.
On Wednesday night Mr. Isbell, a wireless telegraph expert, received at the Barber's Point station on this island a message from the transport Thomas 1300 miles at sea. On Friday night he caught fragments of a message originating at Point Lomas, California. The prospect of direct wireless communication with the Pacific Coast seems near.
OCEAN STEAM TRAFFIC.
Ocean steam arrivals for the week have been the Siberia from San Francisco, the Hilonian from San Francisco and the Asia from the Orient. Departures have been the Kasato Maru for Yokohama, the Siberia for the Orient, the Virginian for Kahului to load, the Elvaston for Newcastle, N. S. W., the Nebraskan for San Francisco and the Asia for San Francisco.
Against a booking of 200 cabin passengers, the steamer Mongolia, from the Orient for San Francisco, due to sail hence next Saturday has accommodations for but sixty-five.
A cablegram of the 21st inst. states that the ocean mail subsidy bill, which passed the Senate the day before, provides for the payment of four dollars a mile for sixteen-knot steamships and two dollars a mile for twelve-knot boats. Only the three new Pacific Mail boats, of those that have been till now or recently on transpacific runs touching at Honolulu, can hope to come in for the larger subsidy.

CALLING DAYS IN HONOLULU.

Mondays - Punahou, Manoa Heights College Hills, Makiki. Tuesdays - Waikiki, Kapiolani Park, Kaimuki and Palolo. Wednesdays - Nuuanu and Punul. Above Nuuanu bridge, first and third Wednesdays; below, second and fourth. Thursdays - The Plains. Fridays - Town and Hotels. Saturdays - Kalia.

Yesterday afternoon Miss Pope entertained the College Club at Kamehameha Girls' School in a very pleasant manner. During the afternoon a most interesting paper was read by Mr. Ralph Hosmer on "The Growth of Civic Art in the United States." He dwelt at length on the plans of beautifying the different cities—Washington, Boston, Chicago, St. Louis, and others, and closed with Honolulu with the hope that the interest in this city might be more alive for its beautifications. Light refreshments were very daintily served. Mrs. Hosmer was the guest of honor.

The rehearsals for "The Mascot" are progressing in the most favorable manner, and tomorrow night the leading people of the cast will begin singing with the chorus. The exact date of the production has not yet been set, although it is known that it will be some time in the latter part of next month. "The Men of the Hour" will probably be put on a week or so after

Mrs. Harry Danford entertained at luncheon last Wednesday Mesdames Cockburn and Stanley, and the Misses Holmes and Bullen.

Cards are out announcing the wedding, on March 10, 1908, of Florence, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William W. Hall, to Mr. Malcolm McIntyre.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Marx expect shortly to visit the Eastern coast and ultimately go to Europe, where they will join Mrs. Claire Williams, Miss E. Castle and Miss Bacon.

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Swanzy entertained the Misses Bartlett and Gregory of Chicago at a delightful bridge supper last Friday evening.

The following card has been received: Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Arthur Roberts announce the marriage of their sister, Miss Alice Louise Marshall, to Doctor James Robert Judd, on Saturday, the twenty-ninth of February, one thousand nine hundred and eight, San Francisco. At home after the fifteenth of April, Honolulu, Territory of Hawaii.

Mrs. Gartenburg of Waikiki gave a bridge tea Thursday afternoon which was pronounced one of the most pleasant affairs of the week. Mrs. Selden Kingsbury captured the first prize, a Colport cup and saucer, and the second, a copy of "The Weavers," fell to Mrs. C. A. Brown. Among those present were Princess Kawananakoa, Mrs. Campbell-Parker, Mrs. C. Hedemann, Mrs. M. Phillips, Mrs. C. A. Brown, Mrs. Jas. Dougherty, Mrs. Phillip Frear, Mrs. Paxton, Mrs. Sachs, Mrs. Scholtz, Mrs. Walter Macfarlane, Miss Ada Rhodes, Mrs. Grinbaum.

Mrs. Turner, a sister of Mrs. Balou, was among the passengers for the Orient on the last trip of the Manchuria, and will return here in the course of the next two months.

Mr. and Mrs. Moore, guests at the Moana from Redlands, California, are recent acquisitions to the social set, and are making many friends.

Mrs. Theo. F. Lansing gave a luncheon yesterday to a number of her friends at the Commercial Club, after which the party adjourned to the Orpheum.

The Country Club is becoming the scene of numerous small dinners, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Riggs giving a party on Thursday night, and Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Case-Deering preceding the event with a like function on Wednesday evening.

Among the arrivals in the Siberia were Dr. and Mrs. Morris, Mrs. E. B. Waterhouse, Miss E. J. Waterhouse, Miss Marion Waterhouse, Miss Margaret Waterhouse, Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Burnette, Mrs. A. J. Gignoux.

Mrs. Grinbaum's luncheon at the Young Hotel during the week, at which seventeen covers were laid, served its purpose as one of the most recherche events of the week. The tables were beautifully decorated with violets and ferns, and at the close of the repast Mrs. Walter Frear favored the assemblage with the reading of a poem. Among the guests were Mrs. Augustus Knudsen, Mrs. Henry Holmes, Mrs. Knudsen Stanley, Mrs. Walter Frear, Mrs. Vincent Kiteat, Mrs. Hopper, Miss Margaret Hopper, Mrs. Shell, Mrs. W. O. Smith, Mrs. J. O. Carter, Mrs. McKinley, Mrs. McBryde, Mrs. Francis Swanzy, Miss Stanley.

The little folks now entertaining many hundreds nightly by their operatic work at the Orpheum will be entertained at a number of garden parties and outings this week in recognition of the pleasure they have given Honoluluans. Today they spend at Waialeale, in Kailhi Valley, Mr. Allan Herbert having turned over his beautiful place to the Lilliputians. Manager Cohen will take the party up the valley in a trolley with a six-in-hand and nothing will be omitted to make the day a red-letter one for the little folk, who, after all, do not have the continuous round of pleasure that so many of the Honolulu little folks think and envy them for.

Waialeale is an ideal spot for the outing, with its coolness, fresh air, picturesque location and bathing pool. It is kept up as the greatest luxury the owner affords himself, and nothing pleases him more than to share its pleasures with his friends.

Mr. R. K. Bonine will accompany the party up the valley and secure a number of photographs.

Among the visitors in town on Thursday and Friday last week, passengers of the transport Thomas en route to Manila, were First Lieutenant and Mrs. J. Van Schaick, Fourth Infantry. Mrs. Van Schaick was formerly a resident in Honolulu, having lived here with her father, Dr. P. S. Kellogg, in 1896. Lieutenant Schaick is returning to Manila from leave in the United States.

While in Washington he presented President Roosevelt with a silver loving cup, sent by the mayor of the city of Manila to the President as a token of the gratitude towards him of the Filipino people. Later he lunched with the President at the White House.

Upon his return to Manila, Lieutenant Van Schaick will resume his duties with the Civil Government as Inspector of the Philippine Constabulary.

While in Honolulu the Van Schaicks were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Kerr.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Arendt of Wai-pahu entertained at dinner at the Young on Thursday in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Cohen and Mr. and Mrs. Scoville, the party afterwards attending the performance of "The Belle of New York."

Mrs. L. S. Augst, wife of Postmaster Augst of Kona, is spending a few weeks in the city, the guest of Mrs. J. F. Morgan.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rix Collins, who have been living at the Young Hotel since their marriage three weeks ago, have leased the Wm. Lyon cottage, and are now at home to their friends at No. 1638 Anapuni street.

A delightful affair last Wednesday occurred at the home of Mrs. Campbell-Parker in the form of a polo luncheon in honor of the birthday of her daughter, Mrs. Walter Macfarlane. Bridge was afterward played, Miss McIntyre and Mrs. Pillsbury being the fortunate winners of the prizes, two handsome cut glass bonbon dishes.

Those present and invited included Her Majesty Queen Liliuokalani, Princess Kawananakoa, Mrs. Pillsbury, Mrs. Newall, the Misses Newall, Mrs. M. Phillips, Mrs. Cunha, Mrs. Eben

Kilohana Art League Notes

Mrs. Walter F. Frear's talk on "Edward Rowland Sill" was most interesting. About fifty ladies were present. All regret that this closes temporarily the Saturday morning lectures. We hope soon to have some travel talks by Dr. Wodehouse, who is going to stop over in Honolulu.

On Friday afternoon, March 27, at 4 o'clock, there will be a meeting of the Pictorial Circle. This branch is the oldest part of our society, and it includes all of those who do work for the semiannual exhibitions. Mr. D. Howard Hitchcock, the chairman, will meet his fellow artists and talk over the importance of each one's bearing the responsibility of being well represented at the semiannual shows. During the exhibitions the popular custom of serving afternoon tea, so satisfactorily introduced at the last two exhibitions, will be repeated on a much more elaborate scale. On Saturday morning, after the literary talk, a call for volunteers to aid in the reception of, and the serving of refreshments to, guests visiting the exhibition was responded to by about two dozen members, who will have charge of this pleasant duty.

The permanent exhibition rooms on the ground floor of our building have been rearranged, and at present are more attractive than they have ever been since the league's taking up its abode on Miller and Beretania. Tourists are especially invited to come and see the work of Honolulu's local artists.

Mrs. Thawing and Miss Wolfe, assisted by the young ladies of the Junior Missionary Society of the Chinese church, gave a reception Friday afternoon to their proteges at the Children's home at Kaimuki.

The Pillsburys, Newells, and the Misses Winstons, left yesterday for Haleiwa where they will spend a few days.

Mrs. Nannie Winston entertained at dinner this week the Misses Winston, her nieces, Princess Kawananakoa, and Messrs. Scott, Shingle, Wright and Kimball, the party ending the evening by a visit to the Orpheum.

Mrs. Campbell-Parker gave a box party at the Orpheum Thursday evening, entertaining Queen Liliuokalani, Governor Clegg, Princess Kawananakoa, Mesdames Schmidt and Nawahi and Mr. Frank Thompson.

Mr. Newell, who has been here for some time, expects to be a passenger for Minneapolis on the Mongolia next Saturday. His wife and family will remain in Honolulu a few weeks more.

A delightful evening was spent by the friends of the Young Women's Christian Association at Englishes last Tuesday, the occasion taking the form of a book shower, whereby the library of the young ladies was enriched by seventy-five additional handsome volumes, presented by admiring friends. Refreshments were served and a literary and musical program rendered.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Irwin, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Holbrook and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Tobin are guests of the Coronado Hotel, California, for the purpose of taking in the polo tournament there.

An informal tea was given last Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. A. A. Hobson at her residence on Makiki and Hastings streets, the affair being graced by readings by Mrs. McKeever and Mrs. Fred Carter, after which delicious refreshments were served. Mesdames Pope, McKeever, Cooper, Carter, Rhodes, Pratt, Smith, Cohen and Tuttle were the guests.

Harold Dillingham and his bride, nee Hyde-Smith, who arrived on the Siberia Monday, were given a warm reception by their friends when the big steamer pulled in, after which they repaired immediately to their new home on Beretania avenue.

The ladies of the College Club met Friday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. J. M. Whitney on Punahou street, where a very interesting discussion was had on the "Far Eastern Question," the particular subject being the effect of the opening of the Panama canal on the Orient.

Mrs. Harvey Murray, who has been ill for some time, is able to be out again, much to the gratification of her numerous friends.

Walter Dillingham is expected among the arrivals on the Manchuria on March 30.

Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Burnette and children, who have been absent on the Coast for the past three months, returned last Monday on the Siberia.

Mrs. A. Gignoux, wife of the vice president of the firm of Benson, Smith & Co., was among the arrivals on the Siberia Monday.

Col. and Mrs. George De La Vergne came in from the Orient Monday and are visiting here.

Col. John Biddle, U. S. A. Engineers, Department of California, who was here on official business recently, has returned to San Francisco.

Mrs. E. L. Lobdell and Miss Adeline Lobdell, of Chicago, who were recent visitors here, left for the Orient on the Siberia.

The Hospital Corps of the First Infantry, who gave a military ball in the K. of P. hall Thursday evening, have been the recipients of many compliments on the universal success of the affair. The music was furnished first by the Hawaiian band and afterward by the Kailimal Glee Club, the floor being crowded throughout the entire evening.

An unusually temperate man, who was a model husband and a credit to the community, happened to go out with a friend one night and inadvertently got drunk. When he betook himself home he wondered how he could deceive his wife. A brilliant idea occurred to him that he never saw an intoxicated man reading a book. That was it. He would enter the house, pick up a book carelessly, and thus disarm his wife's suspicion. Getting into the house with some difficulty, he seated himself in a chair and opened a ponderous volume. Soon his wife appeared from her boudoir. "John, what on earth are you doing?" she asked.

"Why, my d-d-dear," he said, jauntily, "I'm rreading. Can't you seee?" "John, you idiot, shut up that valise immediately, and go to bed."

The only preparation that will remain on the skin during a full day in this climate. The effect is instantaneous and pleasing.

The annual Hawaiian athletic championships were decided at the Boys' Field yesterday in perfect weather and in the presence of a large crowd of interested spectators.

Four clubs entered athletes and victory rested with the Kamehameha track team, perhaps the strongest aggregation of field and track stars that has ever competed under one name in Honolulu. No less than five island champions were included in the Kams' entry list.

The points worked out as follows: Kams, 54; Y. M. C. A., 36; Honolulu High School, 14; Chinese Athletic Club, 4 points.

The Y. M. C. A. furnished the surprise of the meet. Dr. Hand expected his team to make a prominent showing but the public looked for Kamehameha to walk away with the handsome kou bowl offered the winning team by the Boys' Clubs.

The High School showed up well and it was a very sporting thing of them to enter; a remark which applies with equal force to the Chinese Athletic Club.

McKenzie and McCandless, the Kamehameha team captains, together with Lyman, Pa and Whiting were the Kam stars.

Carey, Frank Bechert, F. S. Warren and Ewaliko were the Y. M. C. A. standbys, and W. Rice and E. Andrews were the strong men of the High School combination.

Lota established a new island record for the high hurdles; O'Leary Jones set a new mark for the 16-pound shotput; McKenzie and Rice tied the island records for the 100 and 220 yards events; and new figures were set for both the mile and the half mile relay races.

Perhaps the most sensational running of the afternoon was in the special fifty yards for a gold medal presented by the Kaili Athletic Club and which brought out a field of the fleetest sprinters in the city. McKenzie, who won, covered the distance in the world's record time of 0:51-5. This time, it will be remembered was recently made by En Sue, and created great interest in athletic circles on the mainland. Doubts were freely expressed as to the merit of the record but now that the time has again been equaled on the same track, the mainland runners will undoubtedly sit up and take notice.

Mackenzie did another sterling performance when he won the hundred yards in 1:01-5 seconds after as close a race as has ever been witnessed here.

The island record was twice broken in the hurdle race, first by Joe Pa in the first heat, who made 0:18 4-5, and again by Lota in the second heat, the race being won in 0:17 1-5. In the final Pa came within a fifth of a second of the last record.

Whiting ran true to his form in the mile and sawaguchi who followed him home was cheered for his plucky effort.

Carey, winner of the 440 yards, ran in good form and shows promise of making a very good runner.

W. Rice, who tied the island record for the 220 yards, ran fully nine feet more than his course called for.

Frank Bechert won a nice half mile race, coming within three seconds of Deverill's longstanding record.

No team could be found to oppose the Kams in the half mile relay, so rather than disappoint the crowd which was waiting for this event, they ran against time and time fared badly.

O. Jones, champion with the 12-pound shot, gained fresh laurels by setting a new mark with the heavier weight.

Frank Kanae would probably have won the hammer throw had he arrived on the field in time.

Mackenzie jumped 21 feet 7 inches and has stepped into McCandless shoes as the best and most versatile athlete in the Territory, and he is only a boy at that.

of the meet and for the conscientious, intelligent work he did in connection with the preparation for the field-day. The Kams were out in force and each team was well supported by friends and advisers. Some cheerful rooting was indulged in but no incident occurred on the part of anyone present to cause annoyance or regret.

The prizes, which consisted of blue ribbons, appropriately stamped with gold letters, were distributed by the following ladies: Mrs. W. F. Frear, Miss Virginia Frear, Mrs. Knudsen, Miss Ruth Knudsen, Mrs. Brainerd Smith, Miss Dorothy Smith, Mrs. F. J. Lowrey, Miss Alice Moore, who, after making the award, placed a fragrant carnation lei round the neck of each victor.

The program commenced with the 100 YARDS DASH. W. Desha took the first heat and Lyman the second. The starter in the second heat beat the timekeepers. En Sue ran unplaced in the second heat and it looked as if he was holding back for the special fifty.

The final heat produced a crackling race between Mackenzie, Rice and Lyman, who finished in the order named, inches apart. Mackenzie won by lurching forward at the worsted. The winner is wonderfully consistent and seems to be able to reel off 10:2-5 or better every time out.

The mile relay won by the Y. M. C. A. was started by C. Livingston of the Kams and Carey of the Y. M. C. A. Livingston ran poorly and was beaten the lap by a good margin.

Coffin and Holstein took the next relay and the former managed to retain the lead for his side, though finishing very tired.

Hunn and Kamalopili were the next to take the stick and although the latter made a gallant effort to make up lost ground Hunn passed the piece of wood to Frank Bechert with several yards to spare. J. Pa had a forlorn hope ahead of him and in Bechert tackled a tartar, the latter winning easily in 3:46 2-5, which must stand as a record because the time of previous mile relays is not forthcoming.

THE HURDLES. Pa won the first heat in 18-4 5 seconds, beating the island record of 19-1-5, held by him. In the second heat Lota beat this good time, the clockers catching 17-1-5 seconds.

In the final heat G. Warren fell and Lota ran out of his course, Pa winning a good race from J. D. Cockburn in the fast time of 17-2-5 seconds. Yesterday, for the first time on the Boys' Field, the hurdles were of uniform height and proper size.

THE MILE RUN. Coffin led the first time round attended closely by Maby, who is a good, old trier. Passing the stand the second time Coffin was still ahead with Maby, Sawaguchi, Hunn and Whiting following in the order named. Coffin still had a lead at the beginning of the fourth lap but Whiting was abreast of him and Sawaguchi was running strongly close by, with Maby in fourth place. Coffin weakened and Whiting drew further away the further he went, winning easily from Sawaguchi, who had no difficulty in defeating Coffin for third honors. The time, 5:18 2-5, was very slow.

FIFTY YARDS SPECIAL. Mackenzie took the first heat from En Sue in 5-2-5 seconds. Both men beat the pistol. In the second heat Rice got home by the smallest of margins in front of Arclia, time 5-2-5. The final saw Mackenzie come tearing home in 5-1-5, world's record time, beating Rice by an eyelash. En Sue, who was away badly, was third.

The race did not count any points but was for a gold medal presented by the Kaili Athletic Club. The only thing against the fifty is that it is finished so soon. As poor old Billy Emerson used to say, "You turn round to spit and the race is over."

THE QUARTER. Carey ran a nice race in the 440 yards, getting home in front of Bechert and Andrews in 57 seconds flat.

Pa and Kamalopili of the Kams were caught exchanging place checks by Referee Hand and a little conversational badinage ensued between Pa and the medic who resulted in Pa being ruled off for the rest of the afternoon.

Captain McCandless entered a vigorous protest and the upshot was that the referee said that he would allow Pa to race again but under protest. He fell race again but under protest. He fell race again but under protest. He fell race again but under protest.

Mile Run--A. Whiting (K.); H. Sawaguchi (K.); E. W. Coffin (Y. M. C. A.). Time, 5:18 2-5.

KAMEHAMEHA TRACK TEAM CHAMPIONS, 1907.

220 YARDS DASH.

Fast time was looked for in this event, for Rice of the High School was credited with a remarkably speedy work-out. The courses were measured so as to be mathematically correct, the outside man's start being about ten feet ahead of the mark for the inside runner, this to offset the additional ground to be covered at the turns. The competitors, however, elected to start even. Rice drew the outer berth and sprinted home ahead of Lyman and McCandless in 2:25-5 seconds, equaling the island record. Had he run his proper distance his time would have put the existing figures completely in the shade.

THE HALF MILE.

Seven toed the scratch in this event, and the order of lead at the end of the first lap was Bechert, Coffin and Hung Chack, with the rest of the field well bunched. Bechert ran splendidly and won easily from Carey, though all in when he broke the tape. J. Wright took third place. The time, 2:11, is the best that has been made here since Deverill set the record of 2:08.

HALF MILE RELAY.

No team could be found to tackle the Kams in this event, and the blue and white Rah, Rah, Rah boys set out on an excursion planned against the record. Mackenzie, McCandless, Pa and Lyman were the quartet and, each running like a scared rabbit, they delivered the goods in 1:36 3-5, time that looks like taking a lot of beating.

HIGH JUMP.

McCandless jumped as well as ever, topping the bar at 5 feet 6 1-2 inches and winning from F. S. Warren and Makekau. It looked for a while as if K. C. Hopper's record of 5 feet 8 inches would go a-glimmering.

SIXTEEN-POUND SHOT.

O. Jones, the island champion with the twelve-pound weight, was in this, and won with a put of 38 feet 6 3-4 inches. Ewaliko came next with 37 feet 4 1-2 inches, and Frank Kanae put the shot 36 feet 3 inches.

RUNNING BROAD JUMP.

Mackenzie demonstrated that his recent record-breaking feat was no fluke by leaping 21 feet 7 inches. McCandless and En Sue, in the order named, were his nearest opponents.

TWELVE-POUND HAMMER.

Frank Kanae, island champion in this event, unfortunately arrived too late to take part in the contest. R. Venhuizen won with a throw of 117 feet 3 inches. L. Kaapana hurled the weight 116 feet 3 inches, and Kailihiwa stretched the measuring tape 114 feet 11 1-2 inches.

POLE VAULT.

This was a long-drawn-out and stubbornly-contested event. Andrews, J. Hoy and the two Macs, Mackenzie and McCandless, were much of a muckness and the bar had begun to be lowered when the High School man got cleanly over and was greeted with hearty applause. His height was 9 feet 7 1-2 inches. Hoy took second place, and Mackenzie and McCandless tied for third place and let it go at that.

The summary follows:

SHOOT TODAY FOR PRIZES

The prize list for the big shoot of the Hawaii Gun Club, which takes place today at the Kakaako range, is here appended, together with the events, time of each, and all necessary information.

This is the regular semiannual shoot, and the devotees of marksmanship are expected to turn out in full force to take part. Whether there will be any records broken is, like Kipling's celebrated remark, "another story," but it is understood that there has been considerable practicing done by some of the members, and these will enter the lists prepared, no doubt, to shatter records as well as "pigeons."

There are certainly enough prizes on tap to induce a large attendance of the sharpshooters, and the very nominal entrance fees ought to find favor in the eyes of all concerned.

The list follows:
First event, 10:30 a. m.--20 birds, scratch, known angles. First prize, Hawaiian Gun Club's cup, and championship of the club. Entrance fee, $1.
Second event, 11 a. m.--10 birds, scratch, unknown angles. First prize, E. O. Hall & Son's Cup; second prize, hunting coat; third prize, 50 Challenge shells. Entrance fee, 50c.

Third event, 11:30 a. m.--15 birds, scratch, known angles; "Visitors' Match." First prize, cup; second prize, pocket knife. Entrance fee, 50c.
Fourth event, 1 p. m.--20 birds, handicap, known angles. First prize, Walsrode cup, presented by Woods & Sheldon, to be won twice. Won once by K. B. Porter, H. E. Gares, L. C. King, J. W. Harvey, J. L. Fleming and J. A. Robb; second prize, sweater; third prize, 100 Challenge shells; fourth prize, cleaning rod. Entrance fee, 50c.

Fifth event, 1:45 p. m.--20 birds, handicap, known angles. Free-for-all. First prize, gun case; second prize, hunting shoes; third prize, stein; fourth prize, cribbage board. Entrance fee, 50c.

Sixth event, 2:30 p. m.--10 birds, handicap, known angles; "Consolation." Open only to those who have not won a prize during the day. First prize, 100 Challenge shells; second prize, 50 Challenge shells. Entrance fee, 50c.

Matches will start promptly. Lunch will be served at the clubhouse at noon. Shells can be had at the clubhouse. The public is cordially invited to the shoot.

Today's Sports

Annual shoot Hawaii Gun Club. Kakaako traps; morning.
Baseball--Atkinson League. Kakaako Park; morning; Pearl Handles vs. Ocean Views. Afternoon, 1 p. m., championship series, best two out of three games. Kailihs vs. Leliehuas. Riverside Junior League, Aala Park, at 1:30 p. m., Asahis vs. Oriental A. C.; Aala A. C. vs. Chinese Alahos.
Kapiolani League, Kapiolani Park; afternoon; opening games. Highlands vs. Reliance; Young Tides Waves vs. Leahis.

REGULARS LOSE THE FIRST GAME

Co. F of the N. S. I. defeated the 20th Infantry of Fort Shafter yesterday in the first game of the three-out of five for the silver cup mentioned in the Advertiser yesterday. The heavy stick work of the town boys was too much for the regulars, and the extra good word of pitcher E. Knud, who struck out no less than thirteen men, also helped to wallop Uncle Sam's warriors. Knud certainly seemed a record, that might be rivaled by some of the star men in the Coast League as far as the number of men he put out was concerned.

MALLET WINNER OF FINAL RACE

Mallet, the game little polo pony, proved the winner in the third and final race yesterday afternoon at Kapiolani Park, passing under the wire a good three lengths ahead, notwithstanding the fact that Candy Boy had gotten away with a start of at least a length, which in a three-eighths of a mile event counts for something.

There was quite a crowd in attendance, a good many autos being in evidence, and had it not been for the counter attractions of the ball games and "Field Day," doubtless the visitors would have been troubled in number. As it was, the sporting blood of the lovers of the "pastime of kings" was up, and quite a tidy sum of money changed hands before the starter gave the signal.

There were no odds offered, however, as far as could be learned, the previous heats having been a little too close for any person to get that risky with his coin. Mallet was taken at the close of the event to his home in Manoa Valley, by his owner, there to remain until the next event, which, if the challenge is taken up, for it is understood that there will be one through the press shortly, will be to try conclusions with Indigo.

Of course, no date has been set for this latter event yet, but if the parties agree it will probably be pulled off within a fortnight, and possibly next Saturday. The time yesterday was 38 1-2.

Lazy Lewis--I was told that the farmer wot lives on dat hill paid his hands jist de same whedder they worked or not, so I went an' hired 'im. Tired Thomas--Den youse played off sick, I reckon? Lazy Lewis--Yep, an' at de end ov de month I found dat he never paid nobody nothin' nohow--Chicago Daily News.

SOCIETY
The old fishmarket has been secured for dances by a club of 100 young men and arrangements will be made to have a dance semi-monthly.
Mrs. Carrie Jacobs-Bond will give one of her noted recitals next Tuesday evening at the rooms of the Kiloahana Art League for the benefit of the Kulanu Rowing Club.

Mrs. John Ena, who intends to depart for Long Beach, California, soon, gave a luau last Tuesday for Queen Liliuokalani.

Mrs. C. A. Brown will entertain a few of her friends today at her beautiful Ford Island residence.

Last Tuesday Mrs. Eben Low gave a poi luncheon in honor of Mrs. Harndon, the decorations being in chrysanthemum yellow. The guests were Mrs. Sanford B. Dole, Mrs. Lackland, Mrs. John McClellan, Mrs. McGrew, Mrs. James Wilder, Mrs. S. Parker, Mrs. Laura Wight, Mrs. Harndon Jr., Mrs. Gerrit Wilder, Mrs. E. J. Walker.

Miss Alice Cooke gave a supper last Friday evening in honor of Miss Emily Rice which was one of the most pleasant events of the season, combining as it did, a delicious repast, dancing and the playing of many games. The guests included, besides the guest of honor, Mrs. Rickard Cooke, Mrs. Geo. Cooke, Misses Lorna Laukae, Alice Hedemann, Carmen Clowe, Irene Fisher, Helen Garum, Alice Brown, Sara Lucas, Beatrice Castle; Messrs. Geo. Fuller, Gustav Schaefer, George Brown, Derwent Kennedy, E. W. Sutton, Carl Hedemann, George Cooke, Fred Lowrey, Howard Hedemann, Alexander Walker, Alan Lowrey, Richard Cooke.

Dreier hall was the scene last Tuesday evening of a happy assemblage of maids, matrons and men who had gathered to do honor to their patron saint, Patrick, and by the same token, there was not a merrier crowd to be found in the length and breadth of the land. The evening was taken up for the first part by a musical and literary program, after which card playing held the floor until about half past ten, when dancing was indulged in by way of a fitting end to a delightful evening. All through the festivities lunch was served, and when the last waltz had been played the merry-makers felt that the day had been fittingly celebrated.

GRAND JURY ACTION DISPLEASES JAPANESE

The wireless message received by the Hawaii Shippo on Friday regarding the failure of the grand jury to indict Sam Johnson, a Hawaiian, for the killing of a Japanese named Takahashi on January 30, by kicking him off a moving train, is exciting a considerable stir among the Japanese of Honolulu, who are again saying among themselves that in the eyes of the law it is no crime to kill a Japanese in Hawaii. Until further advice are received from Maui, however, the leading Japanese are advising their countrymen not to voice their complaint too loudly.

The death of Takahashi, according to the story which reached Honolulu at the time, followed a fight between him and Sam Johnson on one of the trains of the Lahaina plantation, the two struggling between the cars. The Japanese was finally thrown and fell between the cars to the ground, saving himself from being ground to death under the wheels by clinging to a chain. Johnson, instead of helping him out of danger, however, deliberately kicked at his hand until he had to let go and be run over. This was witnessed by a Japanese woman, according to her statement at the time, who reported the matter at the Japanese camp.

The Japanese there grew much excited, so much so that trouble was feared and policemen were stationed among them to preserve order. The Japanese quieted down, however, upon being assured that Johnson would be placed under arrest and an investigation into Takahashi's death made by the coroner. Johnson was eventually held for the grand jury, but no bill was found in his case.

CHINESE MEET THEIR NEW CONSUL

good thing. But I would like also to see a Chinese Commercial Club, similar to the American one here in Honolulu. It could promote business interests in many ways. More Chinese education is also needed. Our young Chinese are working hard with their English studies which is good, but they should work more to learn Chinese. It is very important. I am glad to be here and see you, and thank you for this kind reception you have prepared."
After another piece by the band, the president of the society invited Rev. E. W. Thwing to say a few words. He made a short speech in Chinese, greeting the new consul.

MR. THWING'S SPEECH.
"It is a great pleasure to be present today at this reception to the new Chinese Consul General for Hawaii, and add my welcome to that of my Chinese friends. With so many of my wisest Chinese brothers here, I hardly dare to speak, but still wish to improve the opportunity, to say just a few words.
"When living in China, it was a treat to read from your philosophers, Hung Fu Tsz, Mang Tsz, Lao Tsz, and Tsang Tsz; but today we have a 'Tsang Tsz' here among us. Mr. Tsang, may you have the wisdom, like that worthy philosopher of old, in helping all the Chinese of Hawaii.
"There are two duties that come before each one of us, a duty to Hawaii and a duty to China. We must work for the good and prosperity of the land where we are now living, and also do all we can for the advancement and upbuilding of China. If the Chinese in Hawaii are faithful to their present opportunity, they can do much to influence and help on, the great middle kingdom.
"We all want to see more of the Chinese coming to Hawaii. Let us all work heartily together for it. Put away small differences, and work earnestly and unitedly for this important object, which will benefit all. With best wishes to our new Chinese Consul, Mr. Tsang, and a sincere hope that his stay in Honolulu may be pleasant, and result in added prosperity to all the Chinese community of Hawaii. I again express my pleasure at being with you today."
All then adjourned to the dining hall, where a good lunch was served in the usual generous style of the Chinese.

Mr. Tsang Hol, the new consul, is a pleasant, intelligent gentleman of nearly sixty. He speaks English well, and is welcomed heartily by the Chinese of Honolulu. He has been invited to visit some of the fine government public schools of Honolulu next week, and said he would enjoy doing so. He takes much interest in the education of the young Chinese of Hawaii.

Sports

BALL TEAMS WELL MATCHED

There will be some lively baseball at Aala Park this afternoon.
The first game will start at 1:30 o'clock and will be between the Orientals and Asahis.
The Asahis have improved of late, and with Tsuji in the box and Harry Moto catching, the Orientals will have to play all they knew in order to secure the verdict.
The second game will be between the Aalas and the Chinese Alohas. Both nines are evenly matched, but Sam Hop, manager of the Aalas, thinks that he has a shade on his opponents.
Both games will be played under the auspices of the Riverside Junior Baseball League.

FINAL LEAGUE GAME TODAY

The deciding game of the Atkinson league will be played at 9:30 a. m. today between the Honolulu Police and the Ocean View nines. This will be the final game of the three nines tied for first place of the second series. If the Ocean View men win, they will be the champions of the series, and, if the Police win, all will be tied again.
The lineup will be as follows:
Police—Medeiros, p; Butler, c; B. Parker, 1b; H. Kaal, 2b; Kealoha, 3b; S. Parker, ss; N. Jackson, cf; H. Espinda, lf; H. van Giesen, rf.
Ocean View—Kaapa, p; Martin, c; Makamu, 1b; Kahalewa, 2b; Bailey, 3b; Kaowal, ss; Leandro, cf; Arcia, lf; En Sing, rf.

Peerless runabout, 1908 model, to F. F. Baldwin.
The latter is one of the best high-grade American cars made.

KAMEHAMEHA ALUMNI DANCE.

Partly on account of their victories on the athletic field yesterday, and partly because it was about time for the annual ball, the Kamehameha Alumni gave a dance last night in the K. of P. hall, which proved to be a very enjoyable affair.
The young girls of the school were chaperoned by Miss Pope. The floor committee, Messrs. Harry K. Auld, Thos. H. Treadway, A. A. Dunn and Wm. Ahia, understand in the most complete manner their business and the music of Sam Nainoa's orchestra was good.

FAMOUS SNAKE ARTIST WHO LIVES IN THESE ISLANDS

The Strand Magazine has the following about John W. Thompson who, for a year or more past, has been living on the shores of Pearl Harbor:

One of the most remarkable cases of natural genius recorded in art annals is that of Mr. John W. Thompson, the keeper of the reptile-house at the Zoological Gardens, Philadelphia.

Despite his humble station in life Mr. Thompson is a painter and sculptor of ability, and has, moreover, invented what is practically a new art. Snakes are his specialty, and the state of perfection to which he has brought the art of reptile painting is truly wonderful. First he makes casts of them and then paints in their natural colors, getting a result which is simply startling in its wonderful accuracy.

His work has attracted general attention, and Mr. Thompson has lately been commissioned by the Smithsonian Institution to execute some casts for the national collection. The contract was only awarded after experts had carefully investigated the subject and examined Mr. Thompson's work. Their verdict was that no living artist could compare with him in this special line, and as a consequence no one else was considered.

It is a fact little known that the keeper's room at the Zoo is the studio of one of the most remarkable sculptors and painters recorded in the art annals of Pennsylvania.

Until the ambitious and art-loving keeper discovered the possibility of allying the two arts—molding and painting—in order to secure truthful reproductions of snakes of all varieties in characteristic coils and attitudes, the only known methods of preservation to future generations for study, a record of the different species of reptiles now existing, but rapidly becoming extinct, was through the medium of paintings or by keeping their dead bodies in alcohol. The disadvantages of these methods can readily be seen. A painting conveys but a poor idea of the size and general shape, while in the case of preservation in alcohol no idea of the natural colors could be retained, for they fade and lose all brilliancy in a very short time. Mr. Thompson's discoveries have worked a practical revolution in this branch of what may be advisedly termed scientific art.

The finished products of the keeper-artist are simply startling in their accuracy, and at a glance it is practically impossible to distinguish the life-like painted casts, coiled and poised as if ready to strike, from real reptiles. Mr. Thompson's work has been attracting the general attention of naturalists and art connoisseurs from all over the country, and much curiosity has been aroused by the fact that a man of such exceptional talent should be passing the greater part of his invaluable time in discharging the onerous duties of a keeper. The story is one of absorbing interest, and the career, life-struggles, and ambitions of the artist-keeper would make a romance worthy of a master of fiction.

Mr. Thompson's den, which is almost as interesting as himself, is a small room about eight feet square, opening from the main reptile hall. This is his studio; it is here that he works, and every operation, from the first securing of the cast to its painting and final completion, is here performed. Everything in the little room is characteristic of the man and his work. The walls are adorned with vividly life-like casts of snakes and reptiles. There are copperheads, rattlers, a gigantic salamander, frogs, fishes, and lizards. In addition to these are some really excellent landscape paintings and drawings in black and white, which indicate that Mr. Thompson might have turned his attention to either of these branches with every prospect of success. Snakes, however, are his specialty, his mania, his life-work, and at first the visitor to the little room is kept in a state bordering on nervous dementia, by successive shocks resulting from the close proximity of life-like figures of the most venomous and dangerous reptiles. All the snakes are not plaster, however, for in several boxes bearing the menacing label, "Poisonous," are hundreds of little rattlesnakes and copperheads from 3 inches to 10 inches long.

Mr. Thompson was busily engaged in putting the finishing touches on a beautifully marked Arizona rattlesnake, but willingly gave some interesting details concerning his methods of work and his career. He is a man who would attract attention in any company—tall, powerfully built, with a finely-shaped head, a strong face, and a pair of blue eyes which fairly kindle when he discusses his art. The snakes, which are regarded by the average person as about the lowest and most forbidding element of creation, have no reputation for Mr. Thompson, who studies their literature with avidity, and by reason of his constant association with them for twenty years has come to be considered an authority on everything pertaining to snakes and snake-life. "In my opinion," he said, "a snake is the most remarkable of all the many manifestations of the wonderful powers of Nature. Look at its construction—what a model of light, sinewy strength, perfectly adapted to the mode of life. Many varieties have little peculiarities adapted to their varying physical characteristics. For instance, the rattlesnake, being somewhat slow in its movements, is provided with the rattling warning sound of which prevents other animals from stepping on it. Water-snakes have in the nostrils a sort of valve which absolutely prevents the taking of water into the lungs. In my twenty years of practical experience with serpents I have again and again been filled with wonder at the ingenuity with which Nature has equipped them."

Mr. Thompson then described his method of casting and painting.

"The greatest part of my casting is done from dead snakes, which is a comparatively simple operation, but in many instances I find it necessary to use live ones, and, as can be imagined, this is a task of no small difficulty. The occasional necessity of casting from live snakes proceeds from two causes. In the first place the characteristic colors and markings of some snakes are very delicate, and fade within a few hours after death. As a result, in painting the cast, it is almost impossible to reproduce the colors as they were in life. By using a live snake of course I can study the living model. The second reason is the fact that I often receive orders for a particular kind of snake, and as we have a great many varieties here, I do not go to the trouble of trying to buy one, but simply use the proper precautions and take a good live specimen from one of the cases."

When asked if this hazardous operation was not attended with some danger, he laughed and said, "Yes, to the novice, but I am so familiar with them that I incur comparatively little risk. It is work requiring great care, however, and a miscalculation may mean a dangerous bite, or possibly the death of a valuable specimen."

"The first step is to secure the snake. My assistant makes a slip-knot with a piece of strong twine, attaches it to a long pole, and opening the cage places it over the snake's head. The struggling, squirming snake, wild with fear and anger, is lifted out, and when it happens to be of the venomous variety there are several exciting moments before he is finally conquered. I then take him into my private room and hold a sponge, saturated with chloroform, to his nostrils. In a short time he is temporarily dead to the world, and the cast is made with all possible expedition. Quills are placed in the nose, so that his snaking can breathe, and the mixed plaster of Paris is poured all over him. After the plaster has had time to harden the snake, which was greased in advance, to facilitate its removal, is carefully pulled out from the cast, and, after reviving, is returned to its cage, usually none the worse for its novel experience. The inside of the cast is now flushed out with soapy water, the grease of which fills up the pores and prevents sticking. The plaster is then poured in, and the cast remains undisturbed for twenty-four hours in order to insure perfect hardening. The next step is the chipping away of the outer shell, which has to be done with extreme care, lest the delicate outline of the impressed plaster snake be irretrievably ruined. Particularly is this true of the head and eyes, which I always leave till last. When all the shell is chipped away an exact reproduction of the snake, down to the finest details, has been secured, and all that remains to be done is the painting in the original colors.

"It is this painting which is really the crucial feature of the entire operation, and the one which determines the success or failure of the effort. For many years I found it impossible to secure the exact shades I desired. My colors, though fairly good imitations, always seemed to me too shiny. Oil colors always showed too bright, and I did not seem able to get the exact shades necessary to a perfect illusion. After six years of experimenting with various paints and chemicals at last I struck the desired combination, and I can now produce with absolute accuracy any shade of color known to snakes, and with such fidelity to Nature as to deceive even the expert. The brilliant colors are comparatively easy, the most troublesome ones being the quiet shades, especially the delicate touch of color which appears at the edge of every scale, as a result of the under part of the scale being white.

"The painting is very tedious, and I usually spend fully a month on each specimen. I place a live snake in a glass box beside me and carefully study its colors as I work. Each scale receives separate treatment, and the head is usually a labor of several days. To produce the glassy shade of the eyeball three colors are placed on top of each other, and the result is usually a good approximation to the original.

"This, of course, is the only way to really preserve to future generations any idea of the snakes of today. As I stated to the authorities of the Smithsonian Institution during a recent visit here, snakes kept in alcohol soon lose all relation to the original, and become mere colorless, shapeless masses. I was shown several specimens of this kind, and I remarked to them, it looks no more like a copperhead than I do. It is not the proper color, and no one ever saw a copperhead with a sticky, shiny coat like this. I showed them some of my work, explained my theory of colors, and demonstrated to them where they failed, and as a result was given the contract of repainting this and several other specimens, and also of executing some new casts for them.

"I always had a great love of art, and even as a child, used to paint and draw the pictures from the magazines. I was not, however, one of those fortunate mortals who have only to express the wish in order to have it gratified. I wished to study painting, but I had no wealthy parents to educate me, so I was reluctantly compelled to forego my ambition.

SOME BEAUTIFUL IRISH WOMEN

"I was born at Greenport, Long Island, and worked at various places up my native town until the Centennial attracted me to Philadelphia, and I have lived here ever since. The subject of snakes had always had a great fascination for me, and when twenty years ago I visited the Zoo for the first time I developed such an interest in the snake-house that I applied for and secured the position of keeper, and have held it ever since.

"My love for art was not dead, however, and I used to watch the painters who came here to sketch the snakes with heartbreaking regrets that I, too, could not have the opportunity to do this congenial work. Finally, the feeling became so strong with me that I could not suppress it, and fourteen years ago, out of my scanty resources, I raised enough to start my studies. Since that time I have had the advantage of the tuition of several well known artists. I had received some praise for my pictures, notably a landscape, which won many favorable comments at the annual exhibition, but I soon discovered that my real forte, my specialty, was in the field which I had created, the casting and painting of snakes, and it is to this branch that I have devoted the greatest part of my life.

"I believe I have made casts of every known variety, including a gigantic python over 16 feet long, rattlesnakes, cobras, copperheads, moccasins, pine snakes, indigo black snakes, adders, harlequin salamanders, lizards, frogs, and even an alligator.

"Sometimes the results have been so life-like that they have even frightened myself. I remember especially the cast of a Florida diamond rattler. I had finished it and was showing it to two friends, and in order to get the full effect removed it from its accustomed place and put it on a soap-box which stood near the door. Engrossed in other duties I had gone away, forgetting all about the snake, and left it standing where it was. It was a particularly life-like specimen, and was poised as if about to strike. Entering the room suddenly, there, by the dim fading twilight, I beheld what at first thought I took to be a gigantic rattler, coiled and ready to spring at me. I jumped about three feet, and in spite of long experience with reptiles was for the instant paralyzed with fear.

An excited rattlesnake is a ticklish customer for anybody to handle, and I was afraid to move, knowing that in my little room I should have but a small chance of escape. My natural thought had been that some of the big fellows had escaped from their cages, and I believe that I stood there motionless for fully three minutes before I recalled that the cause of my fright was only my poor harmless plaster cast. Many of my visitors and friends have had almost the same experience, and my casts have been the cause of many laughable occurrences. "While the art of snake reproduction and everything having the slightest connection with reptiles is highly distasteful to many people, I believe that as mere matter of scientific record, if for nothing else, some effort should be made to preserve reproductions of every living species. I have long been working on a plan looking to this end, and which I shall eventually present to the national authorities. My idea would not necessitate any great outlay, and in years to come would comprise a collection which would be simply priceless. My plans involve the erection of a museum devoted exclusively to snakes. Here every known variety could be shown full-sized, in their natural colors and exact living conditions. Such a collection could be collected for a comparatively small sum, would be of great educational advantage, an invaluable aid to students, and would insure the lasting preservation of the reptiles, even after they ceased to exist in their living state. It seems criminally negligent to miss this opportunity of doing a priceless service to ourselves and to future generations."

GIGANTIC IN SIZE AND WEIGHT.

Biggest Man That Ever Lived Claimed by North Carolina.

"I'll bet none of you folks know that the largest man that ever lived was born and raised in North Carolina," said a Tar Heel. "His existence and dimensions are vouched for in the American encyclopedia.
"His name was Miles Darden. He was seven feet six inches high, and in 1845 weighed 871 pounds. He was born in North Carolina in 1798 and died in Tennessee January 23, 1857. Until 1853 he was able to go about his work in an active manner, but his weight increased so fast that after that year when he wanted to move about he had to be hauled in a two-horse wagon. In 1839 it is chronicled that his coat was buttoned around three men, each weighing more than 200 pounds, who walked together in it down the streets in Lexington, N. C. At his death he is said to have weighed not less than 1000 pounds. His coffin was 8 feet long, 35 inches deep, 32 inches across the breast, 18 across the head and 14 across the feet. These measurements were taken at the time and are matters of historical record."

A CALIFORNIA POET FONDLY REMEMBERED

A typographical error occurred in the Advertiser of today in the mention of the reading at the Kiloahua Art League rooms, this morning, by Mrs. W. F. Frear, of some of the poetical writings of the late and lamented Professor Edward Rowland Sill, the well-known name being spelled "Fill." In 1892 I published, in a paper I then owned and edited in California, "The Ojai," several columns of Professor Sill's verses, under the heading, "California's Poets—Choice Selections from the Writings of those Poets who Have Been Identified with the Literary Life of the State." The list included writings by Bret Harte, Ina D. Coolbrith, Camilla K. von K., Isaac R. Baxley, Eliza A. Otis and Maud Wymann.

Professor John Murray, the eucutionist (a descendant of Lindley Murray, the grammarian, I believe), wrote of Professor Sill in 1892, "If the late Edward Rowland Sill had not been cut off in his prime, dying in his forty-fifth year, the world at large would readily have given him a place among California's poets second to none, and, possibly, far above all the rest. Bret Harte included. Comparison between the two would be difficult. Certainly that is a wide and splendid range of poetry and poetic prose which is so ably filled by the author of 'Concepcion Arguello' and 'The Outcast of Poker Flat.' Those who were familiar with Professor Sill's writings, during his short career, had no hesitancy in ascribing intellectual powers of the rarest order to the quiet, reserved, sensitive man. After his death the memorial services held in Berkeley brought tributes of respect and love from the neighborhood and from afar. Among these were verses of the talented Miss Coolbrith and a touching recognition of personal loss from the pen of the poet Aldrich."

Among Professor Sill's poems I recall, "The Fool's Prayer," "Opportunity," "Five Lives," "Peace," "A Foolish Wish," "A Californian's Dreams," "California Winter," "A Drifting Cloud," "A Tropical Morning at Sea," "The Invisible," "Eastern Winter," "Evening," "The Secret," "Spring," "Dare You?" "Tranquillity," "But for Him."

I would like to send you Ina D. Coolbrith's poetical gem on the death of Professor Sill, but fear I have already asked for too much space. I will close with this uncaptioned verse from Edward Sill's pen:
"The ill-timed truth we might have kept—
Who knows how deeply it pierced and stung?
The word we had not sense to say—
Who knows how grandly it had rung?"

ELECTRIC ICE HARVESTER.

Along the Hudson river, where more ice is harvested than in any other section of the country, electric motors are being extensively used in handling the crop for next summer's trade. Out on the surface of the river the ice is being marked and cut with "ploughs" drawn by horses. The cakes are spudded off by hand and floated to the electrically operated chain conveyors, where they are automatically hoisted from the water and hurried to the ice houses. As the cakes pass along on the conveyors they go through the various finishing machines. One device trims the cakes to the proper size; another shaves the top of each, because passing trains and the smoke from nearby cities have left sediment of soot on the surface of the ice. This machine also trims off all snow ice, which does not keep well. The ice is hoisted and carried to the most remote corners of the great ice houses entirely by electricity. The packers only have to shove each cake into its place as fast as it comes.

THE OVER-STRICT LIBRARIAN.

Postmaster General Meyer, at a dinner in Washington, was advocating postal banks.
"These banks," he said, "have so many good points and so few bad ones that they who find fault with them have to exaggerate and dwell on their defects like an old librarian I used to know.
"This librarian was very strict and censorious. Once, when I was a boy, I returned a volume of Scott to him. He, as usual, looked closely into the book's condition before marking it off on my card.
"'Page 59,' he said, glaring at me over his spectacles, 'a hole.' Then he turned the leaf. 'Page 90,' he added, 'another hole.'"

FUN IN THE AD.

Lillian Braythwaite Hill, the very successful writer of humorous advertisements, spoke at a business men's dinner in Chicago on "Fun in the Ad." Miss Hill began in this way:
"Does it pay to advertise? Well, I should say so. A man came to an editor in the town of Shelbyville one day and asked that question.
"'Does it pay,' asked the man, 'to advertise in your paper?'
"'Does it pay to advertise in my paper? You just bet it does,' the editor replied. 'Look at Sands, the cash grocer, for instance. Sands advertised for a boy last week, and the very next day Mrs. Sands had twins—both boys.'"

HER RISE.

"Yes; she started in life as a poor shop girl."
"And now?"
"Now she's a saleslady!"

A WORTHY CUSTODIAN.

"My man, here's a nickel. Don't spend it foolishly."
"I won't, sir. I'll invest part of it in a good newspaper, an' inspect de business chances."

WHEN we tell you we have Spring clothes we mean clothes to wear now, suits that were cut from the patterns of today, not last year, and fitted upon models of various shapes and sizes. No tailor does as well in this respect as Hart, Schaffner & Marx, whose suits and trousers we sell. They are comfort-giving clothes and do not bind, nor do they make the wearer feel that there is something wrong. You can not get the same satisfaction out of other clothes because the same attention is not given to the detail, the little things about clothes that invite criticism. This spring brought us pretty patterns of likeable goods.

LAUGHTER NOT ALWAYS GOOD.

Evidences of Merriment Sometimes by No Means Satisfying.

"Of course, you have heard," said the man with a sensitive ear, "a laugh that jarred. I don't mean," he continued, "so much a laugh at an inopportune time—I imagine we have all heard such laughs—as a laugh the quality of which is unpleasant. There is something contagious in laughter of the right kind, even though you may be the object of it. It bubbles from the well of good humor; there is no hidden thought, or 'arriere pensee,' as the French say, behind it. It is the essence of frankness; it is spontaneous and wholesome, and it cleanses the system of the laughter, and, too, of the hearer, like a spiritual bath.
"But there are other kinds of laughter. The sneering laugh is perhaps the most familiar. Then there is a quiet laugh—a sibilant searative sort of laugh that is quite as certain to mean mischief. Another laugh, disagreeable in its nature, is the high-pitched, nervous exclamation that comes either from embarrassment or is a mere vocal habit. The worst laugh of all, however, to my mind, is that mirthless sound provoked by the distress or embarrassment of others, and it rasps, naturally, most of all, the object calling it forth. A person laughed at and hurt never forgets the experience."

THE KAID'S RETURN: HIS FIRST APPEARANCE AFTER CAPTIVITY.

SIR HARRY MACLEAN RIDING THROUGH TANGIER AFTER HIS RELEASE.

In the picture above, Kaid Sir Harry Maclean may be seen making his entry into Tangier after his release from captivity. He is seen passing the British postoffice, which stands at a corner of the road almost opposite a mosque. Across the road there is a bar, where the less-reliable correspondents of the European press are wont to gather in times of great excitement to sift the bazaar rumors and create from the chaos of irresponsible chatter a message that would be true if it could. Higher up the street through which Kaid Maclean is riding one comes to the house of the Sultan's Resident Minister for Foreign Affairs. Note in the drawing the curious Moorish custom of bandaging the horses' eyes.

THE SMART BOSS.

Rudyard Kipling concluded his recent address to the students of McGill university with an attack on "smartness." He said:

"Whenever and wherever you find one of your dear little playmates showing signs of smartness in his work, his talk, or his play, take him tenderly by the hand, by both hands, by the back of the neck if necessary, and lovingly, playfully, but firmly, lead him to a knowledge of higher and more interesting things."

Afterwards Mr. Kipling told a story about a smart man.

"This man," he said, "owned a dry goods store, and one day, to his great disgust, he heard a new clerk say to a lady:

"No madam: we have not had any for a long time."

"With a fierce glance at the clerk, the smart employer rushed up to the lady and said:

"We have plenty in reserve, ma'am: plenty up stairs."

"Lady and clerk looked dazed, and afterwards the smart proprietor learned that the clerk's remark had been made in answer to the lady's, 'We haven't had any rain lately.'"

A GENIUS ALREADY.

At the recent sale of the superb and priceless Stanford White collection, Miss Elsie De Wolfe, the actress, told a not inappropriate architect story.

"A gentleman stopped an architect on the street," she began.

"Good morning, Mr. Blank," the architect said. "Are you thinking of building again?"

"No," said the other, "I stopped you to inquire if you could take my son into your office as an apprentice. With training I think he would some day prove a magnificent architect."

"He has shown some talent, has he?" said the architect a trifle glumly, for he was disappointed at not getting another contract.

"Talent! Genius, sir; positive genius."

"What's he done?"

"He designed a garden for our Christmas tree."

"Well, what is there remarkable about it?" said the architect impatiently.

"Why, sir," said the other, "he designed that garden for $3, and it cost $37."—Washington Star.

LIQUOR DEALERS SEEK CHARTER

Former Voluntary Wholesale
Association to Be Incorporated.

An application for a charter for the "Wholesale Liquor Dealers' Association of Hawaii Incorporated" has been filed in the office of the Treasurer of the Territory and referred to the Attorney-General for examination.

This, on the face, looks as if the liquor interests have deemed it wise to put their house in order for meeting the anti-saloon campaign. From the sixth clause of the proposed corporation's purposes printed below, it is evident that it intends to take a hand in the politics of the liquor question whenever that impinges on the business of its members.

The charter members of the association are A. Wirtz, R. J. Buchly, W. Lishman, C. G. Bartlett, D. H. Lewis and R. F. Lange, who say in their application that they represent H. Hackfeld & Co., Ltd., W. C. Peacock & Co., Ltd., Gonsalves & Co., Ltd., Honolulu Brewing & Malting Co., Ltd., Lovejoy & Co. and Hoffschlaeger Co., Ltd.

They state that they, together with certain other associates, all residents of the Territory, whom they represent, constituting an unincorporated, voluntary association known as the Wholesale Liquor Dealers' Association of Hawaii, desire to become incorporated under the name above quoted. They will have or issue no capital stock and will be governed by a board of nine directors, with officers as named below, the temporary board being:

W. Lishman, president; C. G. Bartlett, vice president; R. J. Buchly, secretary; D. H. Lewis, treasurer; R. F. Lange, A. Wirtz, St. C. Sayres, J. G. Serrao (Hilo) and C. W. Spitz (Lihue).

The purposes of the incorporation are thus stated:

"1. To protect the rights, property and interests of the wholesale liquor dealers of the Territory of Hawaii in respect to trade and commerce in liquors (which term 'liquors' wherever used herein shall signify spirituous, distilled, fermented, vinous, malt, alcoholic or other liquors);

"2. To protect the rights, property and interests of the wholesale liquor dealers aforesaid in the matter of any and all other or different lawful business, trade, commerce, undertakings, subject or thing, pertaining to or connected with the operation of any license for the sale of liquors within said Territory, whether at wholesale or at retail, or at wholesale and retail, or in any other or different way;

"3. To protect the said wholesale liquor dealers against the nonpayment of debts due them and against delinquent or fraudulent debtors, and to protect the said wholesale liquor dealers generally in the collection of their accounts;

"4. To protect the said wholesale liquor dealers against the fraud or oppression of foreign or extra-territorial liquor dealers and to protect the interests of the said wholesale liquor dealers in all other or different ways in the business relations between them and foreign or extra-territorial liquor dealers;

"5. To promote the interests of the wholesale liquor dealers aforesaid in the matter of trade and commerce in liquors and in the matter of the business relations and dealings between the said wholesale liquor dealers and the retail dealers of the said Territory on the one hand and between said local wholesale liquor dealers and foreign or extra-territorial liquor dealers on the other;

"6. To devise, recommend and promote such legislative, municipal and other measures as to the corporation may seem wise and expedient, having regard to the objects of the corporation;

"7. To encourage the development of trade and commerce in the Territory of Hawaii and to assist its members and the business enterprises of the Territory of Hawaii generally in devising, recommending and promoting such measures as may be desirable and expedient in the interests of the trade and commerce of said Territory."

A term of fifty years is provided in the charter. The usual powers of suing and being sued are assumed, also the right to own property, real and personal, not to exceed $25,000 in value, any or all of which may be bought, sold, leased or mortgaged.

Any person, firm or corporation in good standing, holding a wholesale liquor license or paying a wholesale liquor dealer's tax under the laws of the United States or of Hawaii, may become a member of the corporation. The property of the corporation shall be liable for its debts and the members shall incur no personal liability by reason of membership, except to the corporation. General corporation powers and liabilities are taken.

An admission fee of $50 and $2 a month dues payable quarterly in advance are prescribed.

The regular annual meeting is fixed in the first week of May, other regular meetings to be held in the first week of August, of November and of February. Special meetings are provided for in the usual manner. Ten members constitute a quorum.

A LENGTH AHEAD AT THE FINISH

In the past, in the present, in the future—not only as good as the best, but better than all—genuinely no competitors. The most effervescent water in the market. The most delicious water in Hawaii. The most healthful water in the world. What? Why, Tansan of course. None in the same class. Ring up 171 and place order.

"MASCOT" IS UP-TO-DATE.

The comic opera of today is a very different spectacle from what it was in its infancy when Gilbert and Sullivan fathered it into the prominent position it now holds upon the modern stage. Every year something new is added, either in stage effects or action, and nowadays nearly every comic opera introduces some favorite popular songs, local hits and specialties outside of the actual plot.

In this respect the forthcoming production of the "Mascot" will be strictly up-to-date, several new specialties being introduced. The scene of a stage within a stage especially lends itself to extras being run in, and this will be taken advantage of. The vaudeville in this one scene alone will be well worth the price of admission.

"Sonny" Cunha has several startling innovations which will be produced in this scene. To explain them would to some extent spoil the effect, but it is safe to predict that nothing quite so surprising has been seen on the local amateur stage. Even at the rehearsals the actors themselves are delighted with these specialties. How much more so will the audience be who have not had to "peg away" at them every night.

The management is actively pushing things along and very shortly the finishing touches will be added, making the "Mascot" that which it at present promises to be, a huge success.

MORE THAN HE WANTED.

"Sometimes ladies thank me when I give up my seat to them," the young man said, "and sometimes they do not, and then occasionally something unusual happens. This morning when I gave up my seat to a lady she thanked me effusively.

"Thank you very much," she said; "very acceptable, I assure you." This speech attracted the attention of all around, and really I think I would prefer not to be thanked at all rather than to be thanked so generously.

"If it would be polite for me to indicate just how I'd like to be thanked for giving up my seat I should say that just a little smile with a slight inclination of the head, would be the acknowledgment that would please me best of all."

WHO'LL COMPEL IT?

"It has been decided that babies must pay fare on the trans-Atlantic steamers."

"S'pose a baby declines"

AMONG GIRLS.

"Yes," said she defiantly, "I admit that I kissed him."
"Did he put up much of a struggle?" inquired her best girl friend.
