THE CABLE THE KOREANS SENT

Very Significant in Connection With Stevens' Death.

Further developments yesterday followed the investigation which is being made in the Korean plot against Bishop M. C. Harris.

The cable message which was sent from here by Koreans to the Korean League in San Francisco, spoken of in the Advertiser yesterday, quoted in substance some of the things Bishop Harris had said in his interview in the Advertiser regarding Japan and Korea. It then closed with a request for the league to ask the Bishop if he did express the sentiments he was reported to have done.

Taken in connection with the course of events and the Korean method in the Stevens case, this is considered very significant. Stevens, on his arrival in San Francisco, was interviewed by the papers there. The evening of the day on which these interviews appeared a committee of the Korean League called on him at the Fairmont Hotel and asked him categorically if he had said these things attributed to him. He replied that he had, whereupon he was set upon by the Koreans seeking to do him violence, and the next morning when he went down to the ferry to start for Washington he was shot and mortally wounded.

The cablegrams from San Francisco show that Bishop Harris, warned by the press messages from here, did not land in San Francisco at all, but in Oakland, thus foiling, for the time at least, any plot for his murder that may have been formed.

The investigations yesterday were along the line of finding out who was responsible for the sending of the cable message from here to the Korean League in San Francisco. The authorities now know pretty well who are among the conspirators here, and the origin of the cablegram is pretty well authenticated. Whether any arrests will follow or not depends on what further developments transpire.

The state of feeling among a large element of the Korean community is very high. It has been learned that there is in Hawaii a considerable number of Koreans who were formerly governmental officials of one grade or another, and who were thrown out of government employ when Japan took charge in Korea, or who left at about that time. It is this class Bishop Harris said were responsible for most of the outcry and dissatisfaction against Japanese control in Korea. Naturally it is this class which would be particularly incensed at statements of that kind by Bishop Harris or anybody else.

So bitter is the feeling among Koreans that the friends of Rev. J. W. Wadman are concerned for his safety. Not that he has said or done anything for which the Koreans should be incensed at him, but because it is feared that the Koreans may become angry because he is a friend of Bishop Harris. District Attorney Breckons, too, because of his activity in investigating the matter, it is feared may become an object of Korean attention.

MAJOR HAAN WILL MAKE AN ADDRESS

A meeting of decided interest will be that of the Chamber of Commerce tomorrow afternoon, at which Major William G. Haan, of the Coast Artillery Corps, will address the members. Major Haan is one of the authorities of America on coast defenses and has been on Oahu for some time looking into the defenses being installed and gathering information of the further needs of the Territory in the line of great guns. What he will have to say cannot fail in being of the greatest value and interest to Honoluluans.

Koreans Deny Bad Intent

Mr. Walter G. Smith,
Editor of Advertiser.

Dear Sir: We the undersigned are a committee appointed to a meeting of many Koreans assembled last evening to order to write you and to inform you that the Press has misunderstood our action in the Bishop Harris.

There was no intention whatever to injure the good Bishop in any way.

We sent a cable to San Francisco to find out what Bishop Harris had talked on twenty-fifth Advertiser Paper of this month. It is far and beyond of our mind to plot against the life of such a good as Bishop Harris who is so deeply interested in our country.

The Koreans are watching Rev. Wadman as a good friend and faithful brother not in any other circumstance, any other meaning is too foolish for us to think about it.

Yours Respectfully,

DAVID H. KIM,

IMPROVEMENT OF MAIL SERVICE

Favorable Reply to Letter of Honolulu Chamber of Commerce.

The suggestion made by President James F. Morgan, of the Chamber of Commerce, to that organization regarding a possibility of bettering the mail service for Hawaii, and taken up by the Chamber, bids fair to result in the suggestion being taken up and put into effect by the postal authorities. The suggestion was that the letter mail for Honolulu be segregated from the general mail on board the mail steamers from San Francisco, and should be handed over for delivery to the Honolulu office just as soon as the mail steamer reached quarantine, thus landing it ashore an hour or so earlier than under the present arrangements.

Secretary H. P. Wood, of the Chamber, communicated the suggestion of the organization to the postal authorities here, receiving the following encouraging reply from Assistant Superintendent Railway Mail Service George W. Carr: Mr. Carr wrote:

"In reply to your communication of 16th inst., on the subject of U. S. mail transportation, and the proposition that mail steamers from San Francisco arriving at quarantine, to deliver Honolulu letter mails for conveyance by launch or small vessel to dock, and thence into the Honolulu postoffice. In connection therewith I beg to explain:

"(1) All U. S. mail contracts for steamboat service for Hawaii provide that the contractor shall deliver the mails on the mail steamer's wharf at Honolulu, and receive mails on the mail steamer's wharf at Honolulu.

"(2) At San Francisco, the letter mails to be handled as proposed, will be segregated, and delivered to the mail steamer separately, and bearing distinctive address labels to facilitate the proposed delivery at quarantine.

"(3) The general offices of all steamship lines operating mail steamers, San Francisco to Honolulu, and the U. S. A. transport service, will be advised as to the proper handling of Honolulu letter mail, by their mail steamers, for delivery at quarantine to the U. S. mail representative.

"These items 1, 2, and 3, I have already taken up with my superiors in the service. I have recommended the service as proposed. Have requested approval, and the requisite authority to be made effective by this office.

"Mr. E. R. Stackable, U. S. Collector of Customs, Honolulu, has kindly tendered the use of the customs launch for the purpose of this contemplated service, whenever it may become effective.

"All necessary arrangements at San Francisco are now under way, preparatory, in anticipation of approval, which I have no doubt will be granted."

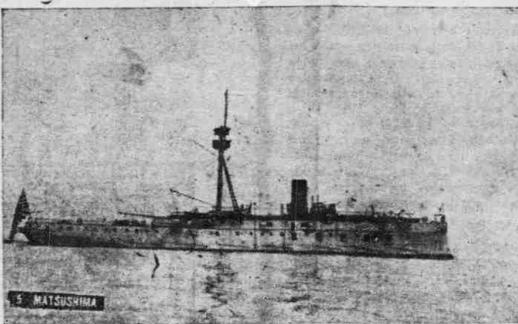

LICENSE COMMISSION TURNS DOWN APPLICANT

The Board of License Commissioners added to its string of scalps yesterday, by turning down the application of a Chinaman for a wholesale license for 68 N. Hotel street, the only application it has had to consider for some time.

At yesterday's meeting the applications of forty-four of the present license holders were received for renewals of licenses, the present authority to dispense booze held by them expiring on July 1 next. All the applications were referred to the License Inspector for his report on how the privileges conferred had been appreciated during the license period just closing. The object of the applicants in filing their requests for renewals at this time is to allow the month's advertising of the applications necessary.

There are sixty-six licenses of all kinds in the county, forty saloons, of which Honolulu supports thirty, eighteen wholesale houses, four hotel licenses and the same number of restaurant licenses.

Matsushima, Which Visited Honolulu a Year Ago, Is Lost—Historical Vessel With a War Record.

(Associated Press Cablegrams.)

TOKIO, April 30.—The Japanese cruiser Matsushima was sunk yesterday. Her captain and two hundred of her crew were drowned.

The cruiser Matsushima visited Honolulu a little over one year ago as one of the three cruisers in Admiral Tomioka's squadron, her officers and men making many friends in this city. She was one of the historical vessels in the Japanese navy, having taken a leading part in the battle of the Yalu with the Chinese navy as the flagship of Admiral Ito. Later, when the Chinese fleet was surrounded and forced to surrender at Wei-hai-wei, the preliminary bombardment was taken part in by the Matsushima. During the recent war, in a subordinate position in the Japanese navy, she took part in the battle of the Sea of Japan and the bombardment of Port Arthur.

The Matsushima was one of the older vessels of the Japanese navy, having been built in 1890 at La Seyne, being a sister ship of the Itsukushima and the Hashidate, which vessels were with her in Honolulu harbor. She was of 4277 tons and carried 360 men. Her batteries consisted of one 12.6-inch Calbet, twelve 4.7-inch guns and six 12-pounders.

SUPERVISORS ON THEIR DIGNITY

Propose to Bring Territorial Officials Up With Short Turn.

The Board of Supervisors of the County of Oahu intend to have the members of the Park Commission up on the carpet to explain about some back bills that have been gathering for the past nine months. To force the commissioners to call around with and for an explanation the Supervisors have cut out the May appropriation from the estimates and there is nothing to buy peacock feed with, not to mention other necessary things to be done, during the whole of next month. The Supervisors also object to the way the Territorial Superintendent of Public Works writes to them, but that is another story.

For the past several meetings various accounts for articles and goods ordered by the Park Commissioners have been turning up before the Supervisors and being as regularly turned down as something the board had nothing to do with. Every meeting they came up and every meeting they were turned down, until the creditors began to ask questions and then some action had to be taken. This action was the refusal of the board to vote any more Kaplalani and Kunst park expense money.

Chairman Hustace said yesterday that the Supervisors would see that the bills run for the parks were paid but before this was done and before any precedents were established there would have to be an understanding between the commissioners and the supervisors about things in general. "We don't know how many more back bills may be rung in on us if we pay these without question," he said.

BISHOP STREET EXTENSION.

The kick the Supervisors have against the epistolography of the Superintendent of Public Works is the somewhat peremptory way in which he tells them to get busy on the roads. At the meeting of the county fathers on Tuesday night the letter from Mr. Campbell regarding the new extension of Bishop street said: "At your earliest opportunity remove the fences and open, grade and macadamize the street to line and grade."

The Superintendent respectfully requested this, but the Supervisors thought that there was no use of advising them what to do. "You would think that he had forgotten that there was county government in this country and that he was running the whole show," was the way Chairman Hustace sized up the matter.

In spite of this, however, the Supervisors are going to rush work on Bishop street and open up the street along the block between King and Merchant. The authority was given the Road Supervisor to commence on the work as soon as the month of May arrived and charge it up against that month's appropriation. As requested by the Waterhouse Trust Company, the county will put in the curbing along this block as the road work progresses, being paid for it on the completion of the job.

LAND EXCHANGES.

Superintendent of Public Works Marston Campbell has completed negotiations for an exchange of lands with the Honolulu Iron Works in the lot bounded by Nuuanu and Maunakea and King and Queen streets. By this exchange the government's land in this block is now all in one parcel. Smith street will be carried through to Queen street, it is expected. In order to make the exchange the Honolulu Iron Works made the purchases from Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Cunha and from the Swans of Santa Cruz, which were reported in yesterday's Advertiser. The government secures 15,102 square feet of land for 5287 square feet.

COMMITTEES ARE LAYING PLANS

Begin Work in Earnest for the Entertaining of Naval Visitors.

The Entertainment Committee of the Fleet Committee held a meeting at the office of the chairman, Fred L. Waldron yesterday morning. It was planned that a daily special train on the Oahu Railway be arranged for the benefit of the men of the fleet with a round trip rate of seventy-five cents.

Three particular plans for entertainment were mapped out. One includes the Fishmarket reception affairs, another the Pearl Harbor and Kapena Falls excursions, and the third the garden party at Waikiki beach. For the Pearl Harbor trip it was proposed that some of the officers be taken down by steamer and part by automobile, and that on the return those who came by auto go back by steamer and vice versa. Thus all will have a view of both approaches.

For the garden party at Waikiki beach it is proposed to utilize both the Seaside and the Moana hotels. It is proposed to bridge the stream between the two with an ornamental bridge, and the proposition was also made that Waikiki road from King street to the hotels be illuminated. A dancing lanai will be erected at each hotel.

Those present at the meeting were: Chairman, F. L. Waldron, secretary, E. A. Berndt, W. H. Hoogs, Abram Lewis Jr., J. O. Lutted, J. M. Levy, Ho Poo, W. T. Lucas, A. L. C. Atkinson, Dr. Mitamura, J. Guild, H. F. Bertelmann, J. A. Wilder, F. Archer, M. Phillips, Capt. Rees, M. Sheba.

Committees on expenses of the different divisions were appointed, consisting of Hoogs, Atkinson and Wilder for the garden party; Lewis, Rees and M. Phillips for the reception, and Bertelmann, Wilder and Sheba for the Falls.

GOOD SPORTS ASSURED.

The Committee on sports has appointed the following subcommittees, and will hold its next meeting in the Bungalow on Sunday morning at 6 o'clock:

Baseball—Chas. Chillingworth, H. M. Whitney, F. E. Thompson.

Football—C. H. Cooke, H. C. Carter, J. S. Reed.

Field Sports—Paul Super, Dr. Hand, N. Fernandez.

Boat Races and Aquatic Sports.—S. A. Walker, O. L. Sorenson, F. B. Angus.

Boxing, Wrestling and Indoor Sports—Col. Johnson, S. Sheba, W. Roth, A. L. Clark, W. L. Frazee.

Tug-of-War—Col. Johnson, Col. Campbell, J. Lucas, Wm. Bray.

NOT SO MANY OFFICERS.

Captain Carter, speaking of the report that 2000 officers of the fleet were entertained at Rio de Janeiro said the number was greatly exaggerated. All told there are not one-third that total of commissioned officers on the battleships and torpedo boats combined. There may have been 2900 people at the Rio banquet, but the majority were doubtless Brazilian and American residents of the city.

A PRESS DINNER.

During the entertaining of the officers and sailors, the Press Committee is to see that the press representatives aboard the battleships will not be overlooked nor allowed to feel slighted. At the meeting of that committee held on Tuesday it was decided to take in hand the entertainment of the correspondents and a dinner or a series of them will be arranged for. L. S. Conness, W. R. Farrington and S. Sheba were named a committee to look after press headquarters and arrange for the dinners. J. W. W. Brewster was named as secretary of this committee. Messrs. Poepeo, W. D. Adams, E. K. Like and R. K. Boone were suggested as additional members of the committee. Admiral Thomas is to be communicated with as to the probable number of correspondents who will accompany the fleet.

DOLLAR A DAY
JUDGES STRIKE

Peculiar Phases of the Labor
Situation in the Mikado's Empire.

(Correspondence Advertiser, Copyright by Frederic J. Haskin.)

YOKOHAMA, April 6.—While nearly all countries have had labor troubles and strikes at one time or another, Japan is the only place where the judges of the courts have refused to try cases until the government agreed to meet their demand for higher pay. While such arbitrary proceedings may appear undignified to legal gentlemen of other lands, the necessity for recourse to drastic measures is explained by the statement that prior to their strike the judges received only a dollar a day. The postmen were getting only five dollars a month, and when their petition for an increase was ignored, they quickly brought the government to terms by refusing to deliver the mail. The policemen were the next to make peremptory demands for more salary, and they were equally successful in their strike.

A noticeable feature of strikes in Japan is that they nearly always succeed. This is due, in a large measure, to the destructiveness of the lower classes when they are aroused. No matter what the grievance may be, or how fair the prospects of a settlement, the strikers have a tendency to first destroy property and then begin their peace talk. They seem to feel that their case will receive more consideration if they make an exhibition of viciousness. On this account, when a misunderstanding comes up, prompt settlement or immediate protection from the police is necessary.

An enraged mob of Japanese workmen will smash what belongs to the government as readily as if it were private property, and sometimes without any justification whatsoever. About 3000 men were employed at one place near Yokohama to do a particular piece of work. As the job neared completion it naturally became necessary to cut down the force. The first lot of men to go were given three days extra wages. When it became necessary to let out another lot of 400, a protest was made on the ground that the notice was not sufficient. Although the objection was not at all reasonable, an allowance of five days extra pay was made merely for the purpose of keeping the peace. However, it developed that the insufficiency of notice was not the real cause of complaint. The men simply did not want to give up their jobs. Having been put on the pay rolls they objected to being taken off, no matter whether they were still needed or not. Before the police could be summoned from Yokohama a nasty row was in progress. The mob not only fired valuable buildings, but raided a government boat and smashed the engines.

The outbreak at the Besaki Copper mines was still more disastrous. The strikers burned all the buildings in the vicinity except the hospital, the school and the laborer's quarters. They tore up five miles of railway track, and set the mine on fire. The manager of the company was beaten and left for dead. The rioters armed themselves with guns and ammunition from the magazine of the mine, then started out to overrun the country. They organized themselves in regular military fashion, blowing trumpets and giving orders by means of cipher codes and signal flags. It required three companies of soldiers to round them up, and before they were brought to bay their depredations caused a property loss of more than $400,000.

Trouble with Japanese laboring classes, however, begins long before the strike stage, as there is never any peace from the time the relation of employer and employe is entered into. The Japanese laborer or servant takes a holiday whenever he is so disposed, and he will quit the service of an employer without notice. Responsibility to his work is a quality which he does not possess. One street railway line in Tokio employs 700 motormen and conductors. On a rainy day these jobs are not at all pleasant, and the Japanese trait of independence is shown in the fact that a stormy day means a short supply of labor. On one bad day recently, 300 of the 700 men failed to show up, notwithstanding the inevitable fact that the worse the day, the greater the traffic.

One of the highest authorities on Japanese economic questions is Mr. F. Schroeder, editor of The Eastern World of Yokohama. Mr. Schroeder has lived in Japan for more than a quarter of a century, and is happily married to a Japanese woman. He has been a close student of labor conditions in this country. He says:

"Suppose one is a head of a household, and has to furnish his home. He goes to a furniture maker's shop, agrees upon the terms and makes a contract. He asks when the job will be finished. In ten days. That is too long, as he is in a hurry. It will have to be done in three or four days or not at all. The little shopkeeper cannot understand why he should be in a rush simply because his customer is in a hurry. There are no near prospects of the collapse of the universe, and there is an endless succession of tomorrows to draw upon. Therefore why should anyone be in a hurry? He decides that it probably is some foreign whim that must be humored and replies that the work will be finished in four days at 10 o'clock in the morning.

"The four days pass and the work is not yet delivered. A messenger brings word that it will be sent that afternoon at three o'clock. An hour later a boy comes to say that it will be delivered the next morning without fail. And thus two or three more days go by. Finally the householder finds that his contractor knows nothing about the work he professes to carry on, and that he is not only unable to deliver the goods, but has not even started the work. In explanation, a catalogue of distressing family afflictions is given, one or the other of which has befallen him or his workmen so that nothing whatever can be done at the moment. But in two or three days more the job will be finished. There is no use to hunt up some other philosopher in the same trade, as it would be but to go through the same experience again. The trade has its laws to which those who want to get things done must bow.

"It is a fallacy that Japan has an abundance of skilled and cheap labor. The employer here is always more or less at the mercy of his employes and must consult their convenience, not his. References of character from former employers are unknown. If a man says he is a carpenter, a blacksmith, a painter or a printer, that he understands everything in his trade, and that he wants so much per month, the employer must take him at his own valuation and later find out what he can or cannot do.

"The virtues of the Japanese workman are that he is sober, polite and cleanly. A way to carry on work with him in a more or less satisfactory manner can be found. He cannot understand why his employer should work himself into a passion merely because a workman spoils material or ruins a whole job. Neither can he account for impatience when a task is not finished on time. To him 'tomorrow' has little or no significance; tomorrow or any succession of tomorrows is just as good as today. If he does a job wrong, or spoils it, he is with the utmost good temper ready and willing to do it all over again, three or four times if necessary, provided his pay goes on. To him, foreigners are strange beings who have rare ideas and unaccountable whims which are very difficult to understand. Neither does he understand how any loss or annoyance his employer may suffer can concern him. He regards any show of temper or impatience on the part of his master as a piece of vulgarity and ill breeding of which no gentleman should be guilty.

"In a word, the Japanese laborer can be neither driven nor led. Considerate treatment and an active interest in his welfare never evoke a show of gratitude or cause more pleasant relations. There is a permanent state of passive resistance and resentment of the fact that the master earns more than his man. Therefore, the Japanese artisan, whether he works on the premises for fixed wages or is employed outside, always looks upon his employer as a hostile force to which an unkind Providence has delivered him. He looks upon it as a duty to do as little as possible, and to do that little in a way most convenient to himself.

"There is no competition in the supply of skilled labor in any branch of trade or industry, and consequently no incentive to improve. Work is frequently delayed or stopped for want of hands able and willing to do it. All through Japan there is an annual waste of many millions of dollars in time, spoiled material and neglected tools and machinery. All arguments to prevent this waste are useless, and there is serious doubt whether they are even understood. The value of all that is ruined, wasted and thrown away every year is probably more than the total amount of national and municipal taxation. Those who might remedy this sad state of affairs seem unable or unwilling to inaugurate an apprentice system which would afford a course of systematic training and produce genuinely skilled labor.

"No matter how the figures of exports and imports may increase, and no matter how many such desperate and fallacious financial expedients as monopoly mongering are undertaken, Japan will always be out at the elbows and down at the heels."

HONOLULU WON FROM AORANGIS

Captain Phillips' Cricketers Handsomely Beaten at Makiki.

The cricket game played yesterday between the S. S. Aorangi's eleven and the Honolulu Cricket Club resulted in a win for the home team by seven wickets and thirty-four runs. The steamer got in early in the morning and representatives of the H. C. C. went aboard at once. It was learned that no members of the English team were aboard. The passengers included several keen players, however, and Capt. Phillips thought that he could put an eleven in the field which would give the local aggregation a rub for the honors. Included in the visiting team were Capt. Lindsay of the Fifth Dragoons, Capt. Melville of the Worcestershire regiment, Capt. Hemming, formerly of the S. S. Miowera, and A. and Donald Grant, two young Scotchmen who play the game well.

The game started at 2 p. m. and stumps were drawn at 5:15 p. m. During the afternoon tea was poured by Mesdames Anderson, Maclean and Osmond. For the sterner sex there were other good things and in this connection it may be remarked that brewery stock went up to par yesterday, presumably on account of the opening of the cricket season.

The Aorangi batted first and were disposed of for 93 runs, the highest scorers being Donald Grant, 29, and G. Bartlett, 22.

C. P. Morse took 3 wickets for 17 runs and McGill and Catton also did good work with the ball. Honolulu had scored 127 runs for 4 wickets when play ended, of which number Bob Anderson contributed 48, R. J. Buchly, 34, C. P. Morse, 18 not out, and W. Brown, 14.

Several members of the steamer's team failed to show up at the ground, including the best batsman and the best bowler. Had these men played the result might have been different. The visitors batted very well but were lamentably weak in bowling.

Robert Anderson was looked to to make a good score and he did not disappoint. His 48 runs were compiled by free hitting which delighted the crowd.

There was a fair attendance and most of Honolulu's past and present cricketers who could be present were on the ground watching the progress of the game.

The local season opened most auspiciously with yesterday's game and interest in cricket is expected to receive quite a stimulus on account of the victory of the H. C. C.

The Aorangi's players hurried down to the steamer in an automobile after the game and were seen off at the wharf by a number of the local cricketers.

The visitors won the toss and sent in A. Grant and Hemming to face the bowling of Catton and McGill.

With only 6 runs scored Grant was neatly taken in the slips by Catton of McGill.

Capt. Lindsay came in but immediately lost Hemming who was caught by Buchly off Catton.

Capt. Melville partnered Lindsay and the game woke up. With 22 on the board Melville was bowled with a full pitcher of Catton's which found the leg stump.

McPherson was next man in. Lindsay gave a chance to Stanley but the latter dropped the ball.

A little later Lindsay was run out in trying to get a third run off a pretty cut which had already netted him two. He had made 13 and the total score was 33.

No runs had been added when Capt. Phillips was caught and bowled by McGill.

Bartlett joined McPherson and Morse took the ball from Catton. McPherson put up an easy catch which Brown dropped. He was clean bowled by McGill, the score being 47.

Donald Grant succeeded McPherson and he and Bartlett made a fine stand. The latter was run out when he had made 22, the total being 71.

Maxwell managed to put the ball away for 4 and was then bowled by Morse.

Quinnell did not stay long, Morse bowling him first ball.

F. C. Martin brought up the rear. Donald Grant made a beautiful drive to the boundary and followed by a leg swipe which netted another 4 runs.

Grant was eventually caught by McLean, the result of a careless stroke. He had made 29 very useful runs and saw the innings close for 93 at 3:25 p. m.

At 3:45 the Honolulu's went in and it looked as if they would have their work cut out to pass the Aorangi eleven's total in the limited time left for play.

Blackman and Brown opened to the bowling of A. Grant and D. Grant. Brown was bowled at 21 by A. Grant, and Blackman fell a prey to Donald Grant almost the next ball bowled.

Anderson and Buchly signaled their partnership by steady run getting.

The score rose to 90 without any further loss. The Aorangi's tried several bowlers without success.

Anderson played carefully until 50 was reached and then started to let out. He hit at everything and scored 4 after 4 with grace and dispatch.

With the score at 84 the players came in for refreshments. It was red hot in the field and all hands seemed to feel the heat pretty badly.

On resuming Anderson skied the ball to Quinnell in deep field and his career ended right there. The score was 91 and 48 of the runs had come from Anderson's bat.

Morse came in and he and Buchly carried the score to 125 before the latter was well caught by Catton off Phillips at deep on, a magnificent one-handed catch. He had made 34 by sterling cricket and it is hoped that he will be seen in the game regularly from now on.

Maclean took the bat and after making two the stumps were drawn, Morse being 18 not out, and the total being 127.

ROBERTS WILL TRAIN ABOARD

Sailor Roberts goes to Molokai with the U. S. S. Iroquois today and will be back tomorrow night.

Prof. Peter Baron has prepared a training schedule for Roberts which will give him just as much work as he has been doing on shore since he started training. The sea trip will do him good and the change of air will put him nicely on edge for his contest with Mitsuka on Saturday night.

Roberts did his usual work yesterday and wound up feeling as chipper as a two-year-old.

Mitsuka has his training quarters near Aala Park and did a lot of wrestling yesterday with two big Japanese who are matched to wrestle for the Japanese championship of Honolulu, with Mitsuka barred, on Saturday.

Jimmy Spencer who has been watching him at his work tips him to win and says that he is one of the best wrestlers that he has ever seen.

The Japanese is getting as hard as nails and his big paunch has almost entirely disappeared as a result of the vigorous course of conditioning he has been undergoing.

Isorashi, Mashikiyama, Akiraka and Ichinoto are all training hard for their bouts. The men will wrestle in pairs and the two winners will then contend for the championship.

Between the preliminary and final round the sparring exhibition between Young Scott and Al. Helne will take place. Both these boys are clever and willing and should give a fine exhibition of the manly art.

The box-office at the Orpheum opens this morning at 10 o'clock for the sale of seats and a big demand is looked for from the start.

It should be borne in mind that there are only a limited number of stage seats and that to prevent any disappointment they should be ordered early.

The Riverside Baseball League will meet tonight in the office of A. L. C. Atkinson for the purpose of acting on the protest filed by the Japanese team over last Sunday's game with the Chinese Alohas.

FAN'S HEART BEATS HIGH

All in Readiness for Opening of Baseball Season on Saturday.

The heart of the fan beats high for on Saturday next the major league season begins. There is added interest in the coming season from the fact that the Santa Clara team is coming and there is a possibility of the Keio University team also joining in. The local teams will meet in the Santa Claras foomen worthy of their meta, and it is a question whether the home players will be able to cope with them.

The plan at present is to have the Santa Claras join in the second half of the season, playing with the regular teams. If they succeed in winning the second half they will then have to play the winners of the first half. Of course, this is all tentative and the plans may be altered by the coming of the Keio.

The league meets today and something definite will probably be decided on.

The St. Louis team have a formidable lineup; Joy and Soares behind the bat; Jno. Williams and Joy in the pitcher's box; Bruns first, Jim Williams second, Bushnell (captain), third, Alfred Williams short, and Ben Sue, Aylett and Arcla in the field. This is the lineup for Saturday when they meet the Punahou.

The Punahou will have Hampton and McCarrison for a battery; further than this the collegians will not say other than that they will be there with the goods.

The Kams and Diamond Heads meet in the first game. The Kams of course, will have Dick Reuter in the box; the Diamond Heads will probably use Chillingworth.

All of the teams have been hard at practice and should make a good showing. The Honolulu public expect a season of good baseball and will not be disappointed.

CROOK NINE WAS SWAMPED

The baseball match between the nine wayfarers from the transport Crook and the regular nine of Oahu College, played yesterday, was a one-sided contest, the locals being too much for the visitors. The Crook boys played under the disadvantage of a strange diamond and with their sea-legs still bothering them, but pluckily kept at it all through the game. At the end of the fifth inning the score stood sixteen to three in favor of the college, after which the scorer ran out of paper. The lineup of the teams was:

Crook—Marshall, 1b; Rightmire, 1f; Bunge, 2b; Bensinger, ss; Johnson, cf; Turner, c; Walters, 3b; Smith, rf; and Hart, p.

Punahou—W. Desha, cf; C. Lyman, c; J. Desha, ss; A. Lowrey, 2b; W. Lidgate, 1b; C. Ahina, 1f; C. Davis, p; W. Hoogs 3b; and D. Townsend, rf.

W. Warren and J. Williams, umpires.

acted was the decision of the league to allow Kaploani League players to take part in the major league games on Saturday, and to play in the Kaploani League games the following day.

The reason for this action is that the big league have been drafting Kaploani League players to such an extent as to cripple some of the clubs of the latter league. This is particularly the case with the Young Tidal Waves who have been on the point of withdrawing from the league.

Under the new arrangement the Young Tidal Waves will reorganize and remain with the Kaploani League, playing out their original schedule.

The next meeting of the league will be held May 20.

AUSTIN WON WEEKLY SHOOT

Six members of the Hawaiian Gun Club gathered at the Kakaako traps last night, the occasion being the first weekly shoot of the season.

A 10-bird handicap was won by D. L. Austin who tied with A. Waterhouse. Austin got 10 straight and Waterhouse killed 10 out of 13.

On the shoot-off Austin broke 5 straight and Waterhouse 4 out of 7. J. W. Harvey was third with 8 birds out of 10.

The attendance was not as large as had been hoped for but more interest will undoubtedly be taken in the weekly shoots as the date of the semi-annual prize shoot approaches.

WILL HAVE A FIELD DAY

The Y. M. C. A. field and track team met last night in the physical director's room to discuss plans for the organization of a permanent track team.

Not much was done with the exception of passing on the constitution. It was decided that the Association have a field day when the fleet is here whether the other athletic organizations of the city come in or not. The meeting adjourned until next Wednesday.

There will be a meeting of the Honolulu Baseball League at 12:15 p. m. today in the office of Frank E. Thompson.

The annual meeting of the Beretania Tennis Club takes place today. Entries for the Transpacific yacn race close today.

THE Pacific Commercial Advertiser
A MORNING PAPER.

WALTER G. SMITH EDITOR
THURSDAY APRIL 30

THE ADVERTISER'S CONTRIBUTION.

The Advertiser, though it will print such fleet editions as its unrivaled facilities permit, will impose no extra tax upon the business men who have sustained it so heartily during its career of nearly fifty-two years. Rates will not be raised, and all of this journal's clientele of advertisers will receive in the opening number of the successive editions a gratuitous write-up of their business. Nor will they be importuned to take larger space for their regular advertising. The policy of doing its full share in all matters of promotion is not a new one with this journal. Because of that, it published in its Jubilee Number of 120 pages and in its Picturesque Honolulu of 80 pages, magazines worth fifty and twenty-five cents each, respectively, yet it sold them for less than twenty cents each, a price below cost. This was done to help the town. Even in issuing special editions carrying the news of great emergencies the Advertiser, realizing its debt to the public, undertakes to pay something on account; and for that reason it published over twenty extras free during the days of suspense over the San Francisco earthquake. Others sought the nickels; the Advertiser refused them.

As a further contribution to the public welfare, the Gazette Company, publishers of the Advertiser, will do all the printing required by the committees charged with the entertainment of the fleet, free of cost to them, whether in the form of job-work or of newspaper notices.

Regarding its fleet editions, the Advertiser prefers not to publish a prospectus at this time; but the public, knowing how this paper handles large subjects, will have no fear as to the unqualified superiority of its fleet service.

ENGLAND AND THE CONGO.

Among humane people there will be no particular outcry if the Belgian charge that England is seeking the mastery of the Congo by the same methods of colonization used to Anglicize Egypt turns out to be correct.

England is the only nation in Europe which has solved the problem of pro-consular government. Spain and Portugal, though long in the business, have never done much to improve the condition of lands under their sway. Of the two, Portugal has the least to apologize for on the score of inhumanity; but her colonies have not added visibly to the world's stock of wealth or helped work out sums in racial redemption. Germany has not found out how to reconcile a native people to her iron rule; and under her system such a settlement as the English made in the Transvaal would, it is likely, be regarded as impossible. France, in her work of colonization, cannot induce her laboring classes to do their part. A Frenchman does not like to travel far from home; and he likes far less to settle for years, or for life, in any place that is a long way from Paris. The Dutch, like the Germans, have no tolerance for the natives they conquer, and the Belgians, in their administration of the Congo, or in their King's administration, are guilty of the darkest crimes. Russia does not attempt to civilize the lands into which her eagles strike their talons; and they remain barbarian, with such restraints as martial law affords.

Wherever England goes, she establishes justice and seeks to inculcate loyalty to her institutions and to impart a fair knowledge of their workings. To Egypt she has brought civilization and the means of developing wealth. She is teaching the Boers of South Africa to become as useful to her empire as the Boers of Manhattan and Albany became, first to the British, and then to the American power. From a congeries of warring states, she has turned India into a peaceable community of farmers, merchants and artisans; and has drawn from their ranks an army devoted to her flag. In the vast work of empire which has fallen to her, England has made fewer mistakes and won greater triumphs than any of her neighbors.

For these reasons it is to be hoped that the Congo will fall into her hands. If it does, the Cape-to-Cairo railway will be built the sooner, and its branches will penetrate the farthest recesses of the great Negro State, encouraging industry and trade, emancipating the slaves and building cities in the wilds. There will be something else than a selfish exploitation of resources; something for the people of the soil, and something for civilization at large. On the other hand, what can be expected of the government of King Leopold more than some slight alleviation of the misrule which has grown up under the personal direction of the King himself?

JOINT TOURIST WORK.

Fiji views most favorably the plan of the Territorial Transportation Committee, looking toward joint Australasian-Hawaiian tourist offices in the United States. In a letter received yesterday from Sir Everard im Thurn, Governor of Fiji, and High Commissioner of the South Seas, assurances were given of Fiji's hearty support of the project.

Governor im Thurn states that he will write more fully by the next mail, when also replies will be due from the Australian and New Zealand Premiers, to whom Governor Frear wrote, and from the Tourist Bureau communicated with through the Secretary of the Transportation Committee.

The plan of the committee is to combine all the forces of the Pacific in one common cause to induce the tourist and settler to migrate in this direction. By joint effort infinitely more effective work can be accomplished than by the maintenance of a few separate and expensive information bureaus in the United States. With central bureaus of information on the continent, the long delay of writing to far-away countries and awaiting replies, that often arrive too late, will be overcome.

Fiji is the first, after Hawaii, to give official encouragement to the scheme. New Zealand and Australia, it is expected, will be heard from by the next mail from the Antipodes.

BETTER MAIL SERVICE.

Thanks to George W. Carr, Assistant Superintendent of the Railroad Mail Service, the letter mail postoffice delivery for Honolulu is to be improved.

The first-class mail will be divided from the second-class mail in San Francisco, ready to be put off here before the ship carrying it has been docked—perhaps an hour or more before—a service which will be assisted by the customs launch.

This expeditious delivery has been sought by the Chamber of Commerce, and has found, in Mr. Carr, a sympathetic and efficient co-operator.

Owing to the warnings by cable which he had from the Associated Press and from private sources here, Bishop Harris was able to elude the San Francisco agents of the Korean League by landing at Oakland. It is plain, however, that he will need to be protected wherever he goes, as the Koreans are apparently determined to keep him from seeing the President. Meanwhile the United States authorities can, under the laws, go to great lengths in dealing with the criminal society which the Koreans seem to have instituted. Having disciplined the Mafia, the Molly Maguires and the Miners' Federation effectively, the government is not likely to find the Korean problem insoluble.

Secretary Taft has not got, and does not expect to get, a majority on the first ballot. It is conceded that he will go to the convention with a smaller proportion of the total strength in delegates than William H. Seward had in the first convention that nominated the then least prominent aspirant, Abraham Lincoln. Should the forces of Hughes, Fairbanks, Knox, Cannon and La Follett combine with the unattached delegates who are not, primarily, for Taft, they could name the man. That is the situation as it stands, and it is one not favorable to bets.

If the chairmen of the various sub-committees of the Fleet Entertainment Committee will telephone in announcements of their committee meetings, with time and place, due notice of them will be printed in this paper. Postcard notices are uncertain. Messages should be telephoned after one o'clock, and will be given a special place in the Advertiser of the following morning.

Are the Chamber of Commerce rooms large enough to seat the number of people who will wish to hear what Major Haan has to say on the reciprocal relations and duties of the Territory of Hawaii and the United States government in connection with the National defense?

PEACE CELEBRATION TO BE HELD MAY 17

Arrangements for the holding of a special Peace Service in several of the churches in the city on the evening of Sunday, May 17, are under way, the Central Union, Methodist and Christian churches having their plans well in hand, while it is possible that St. Andrews will also take part.

May 18 is the anniversary of the opening of the first Peace Congress at The Hague and that date has been adopted by the advocates of peace throughout the Christian world as a day of celebration in schools and churches. The participation of Honolulu in this celebration was decided upon too late to allow of any particular preparations being made in the schools, although the matter has been discussed with Superintendent Ebbitt, but the churches have taken the matter up and will observe the celebration on the day before, Sunday.

At the Central Union church the service will be under the auspices of the Cabinet, a group of young men who are behind Dr. Scudder in his church work. These cabinet members have arranged a program of speakers and special music for the celebration, the speakers being United States Judge S. B. Dole and Walter G. Smith. Invitations will also be sent out to the members of the local consular corps to be present and the affair will in that way be given an international significance. Acting Governor Mott-Smith will preside.

At the Methodist church the speaker of the evening will be Chief Justice Hartwell and special music will also be prepared for this service.

The program and list of speakers for the Christian church has not as yet been announced and Bishop Restarick's absence from the city makes any announcement of whatever plans there may be for St. Andrews impossible.

FAIRCHILD SAYS THE TIME IS TOO SHORT

The time within which the Makee Sugar Company were to return an answer to the government's proposition in regard to the Kapa's lands expired day before yesterday, according to a letter written by Land Commissioner Pratt before the latter left for the Coast on the Alameda.

Manager Geo. H. Fairchild has written the following letter to the Land Commissioner, insisting that under the circumstances the time allowed is too short.

James W. Pratt, Commissioner of Public Lands for the Territory of Hawaii, Honolulu.

Dear Sir: I am in receipt of yours of the 21st inst., giving me until the 28th inst. in which to either accept or reject your general proposition as outlined in yours of the 18th. It seems to me common justice that I should be allowed to communicate with Col. Spaulding before acting on your offer or committing myself for or against your proposition. The Government has taken long periods of time in the past before acting upon various phases of the land matters now under consideration, and I feel so emphatically the impropriety of passing judgment for Col. Spaulding on those matters of such far-reaching consequence to him without hearing fully from him that I must decline to take action on your offer before this can be done.

The Makee Sugar Co. has been in business for a long time in this Territory, has developed a large business interest here and paid thousands of dollars into the public Treasury in one way and another. It has been a tenant of the Government for many years and I believe that you will see the impropriety of considering negotiations between the Makee Sugar Company and the Government in reference to the lands in question closed because I stand firmly to the right of communicating fully with my principal and obtaining his views upon these important issues. Yours very truly, GEORGE H. FAIRCHILD.

MRS. TURMAN'S LECTURES.

At her second lecture on Tuesday evening, Mrs. Turman said in part:

"New thought proves to man his own power—for instance, telepathy, now accepted as a fact by the most scientific minds. It shows us where heaven is and how we may live in the glory of God here and now."

"New thought gives us a spiritual understanding of the Bible. 'He who is empty of the true conception of self is a bottomless pit.'"

The next lecture will be on Thursday evening. For the remainder of the course, Mrs. Turman has preferred to take the library on the back of the second floor of the building, for there it is more quiet. Lectures begin at 8 promptly. Admission 35 cents. The first two lectures have been given on the ground floor in the permanent exhibition room. The semiannual exhibition is occupying the main hall upstairs.

CHINESE PROMOTION COMMITTEE.

The Chinese committee, appointed last week, met tonight at the Chinese United Society to talk over plans for the welfare of Hawaii's Chinese. It is planned also to form a Chinese Promotion Committee here in Honolulu. This committee will look after Chinese interests in Hawaii, and also consider ways in which the Chinese may prove of greater value and assistance to the progress, development, and growth of Hawaii. It is hoped that this may become perhaps a branch of the Hawaiian Promotion Committee, and receive direction and advice from that larger body.

THE BEST REGULATED FAMILIES ACCIDENTS WILL HAPPEN IN

The average home is frequently in need of a good liniment, as accidents will happen and slight ailments appear when least expected. For a cut or bruise, a burn or scald, Chamberlain's Pain Balm is excellent. It is also good for sprains and swellings and for lame back it is superior to any plaster. NEW ZEALAND'S TOURIST BUREAU

How the Southern Sea Colony Attracts the Traveling Public There.

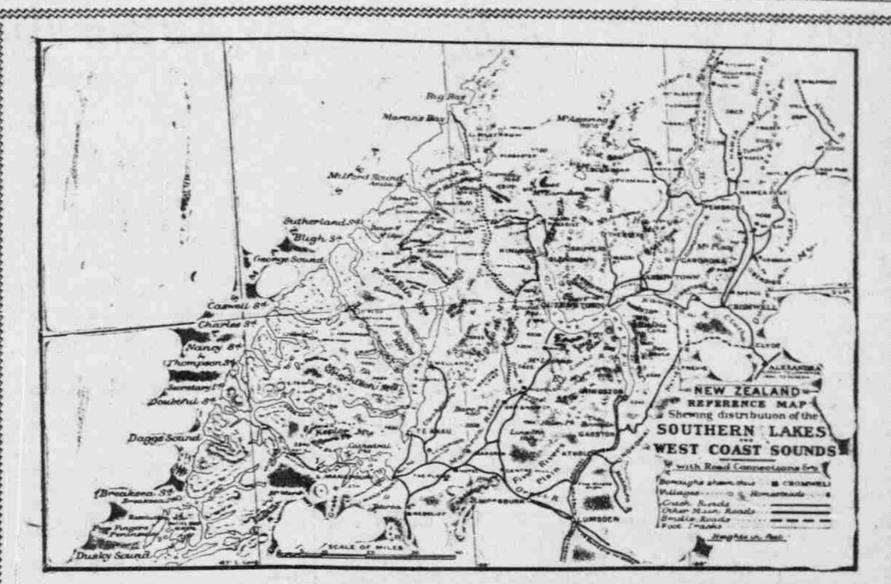

Hawaii can learn several healthy, sensible and thought inspiring lessons from New Zealand and the way they do things there, and throughout the Antipodes. New Zealand has a Government Tourist Bureau that does things on a splendid scale, does them well, and then invites the world in to enjoy the results. How does she do it? By finding the man who does things, and then giving him unlimited backing. The story of New Zealand as a tourist resort is largely bound up with the history of one man—a real, live New Zealander.

The Tourist Bureau in New Zealand is a department of the government, with a director at its head (T. E. Donne), whose office is almost as important and consequential as that of any cabinet minister.

The Tourist Bureau builds hotels, runs automobiles, stage lines, steamboats, cuts roads and trails, builds, operates and maintains systems of accommodation huts wherever needed, employs an army of guides, spends one hundred thousand dollars annually advertising New Zealand resorts, and as much more in maintaining palatial offices at home and abroad, issues illustrated literature of every kind by the ton, compels reasonable hotel, railway, steamboat and stage-line rates wherever it can, either by moral suasion or direct government interference, in behalf of the man who wishes to travel in New Zealand—and it all pays—pays so well, in fact, that New Zealand contemplates an American invasion to secure both tourists and settlers, and is only pausing to learn what steps Hawaii will take to bring about a consolidation of Pacific Ocean interests that they may all be jointly represented throughout the American Continent.

Mr. T. E. Donne, Superintendent of the Government Department of Tourist and Health Resorts of New Zealand, is a man who does things. He is a friend of President Roosevelt, who admires his energy, and has had the pleasure of Mr. Donne's company at lunch at the White House. Mr. Donne believes in New Zealand; that it is the wonderland of the whole world; but he does not believe in sending out a single circular that is in anyway misleading or withhold information to which the tourist is entitled. At all his sub-offices he has lists kept, not only of all the hotels and their rates, but of the boarding-houses also, and there is no talk in New Zealand of the desirability and superiority of the ten-dollar-a-day tourist over the man who spends less than this amount. In fact, Mr. Donne's whole time is occupied in the attempt to make it easier for the man who has far less than ten dollars a day to spend in New Zealand; and he finds it pays New Zealand to look out for the dollars as well as the pounds. So well has the Tourist Department been managed that the town of Rotorua has voluntarily turned itself over to the administration of Mr. Donne, and hereafter this most famous and populous health resort in New Zealand will be managed by the head of the Tourist Bureau.

Magnificent baths and sanatoriums, equal to any in the famous spas of Europe, have been erected at Rotorua, by the Tourist Department, yet the rates at these and at the hotels and boarding-houses have been kept at a regular, moderate rate that attracts tourists for prolonged stays, not only from other parts of New Zealand and Australia, but from America and Europe also. What wonder that the $20,000 spent annually in the United States advertising Rotorua and the other wonders of New Zealand brings tons of enquiries and many tourists, when the circulars distributed are followed up by actual work accomplished for the comfort of the entire one, whom the government that invites him protects from the fleeing process—and New Zealand gains thereby.

The following is a regular standing advertisement given out by the Tourist Department:

Government excursions are run in every direction from Rotorua throughout the length and breadth of Geysersland. Wherever a private line operates at extortionate rates, the Tourist Department steps in, to the relief of the traveling tourist. Cook's agency complains that it made more money twenty years ago when there were not a tenth of the people visiting New Zealand resorts as now, and the rates were ten times as high, but then New Zealand is not run to support Cook's agency there.

Mr. Cook is 12,000 feet high, and on its slopes are some of the most extensive glaciers in the world, beside which the Swiss glaciers are but puny affairs, yet the government of New Zealand makes it possible for all to visit this wonder, which, by the way, is far more inaccessible and out of the way than is either Haleakala or Klauau.

Visitors desirous of making excursions are requested to arrange with the guide the previous evening. If the number of any party be greater than the guide considers consistent with safe traveling, he may reduce it to such limits as he may think fit.

The huts are for the use of visitors to the "Hermitage." Any other parties camped in them must vacate should the huts be required by parties from the "Hermitage."

Intending visitors to the "Hermitage" are advised to secure accommodation before making their visit.

Think of a hotel, and a good one, to which provisions are hauled ninety miles by motor car, charging $2.50 a day, and $2.00 per day, after the first week, and those accommodation huts, they exist all over New Zealand; every ten miles along a trail there is one; you take your own provisions and secure from the caretaker, bunks fifty cents a night, meals fifty cents each. There is a hut with bunks (great wide, roomy affairs) for ladies, another for men, and between the hut of the caretaker and the big general dining room. What wonder that everyone goes a walking and a traveling about in New Zealand. Every now and then it becomes necessary to tear down an accommodation hut and erect a hotel in its place, then two classes of tourists are catered to, $2.50 a day is charged for first class accommodations and $2 a day for those who wish to travel second class—and mind you this in a land where wages are really high, and in out of the way places where often the entire equipment and provisions must be packed—and yet it pays. New Zealand first prepares for the tourist, then advertises. She does not get the cart before the horse; result, New Zealand is becoming more and more a world's tourist resort, and her lands are filling with intelligent well to do, progressive people of the white race.

Occasionally it is necessary on some almost inaccessible mountain lake, where a trip a week is made for the few tourists who are being taught new routes, to charge pretty stiff transportation rates, but each season the rate is lowered, until the four cent a mile rate becomes a maximum—the tourist is given full information, however, in advance, as the following page from the official itinerary book will show:

LAKE WAKATIPU GOVERNMENT STEAMERS.

Summer service, Nov. 1 to April 30. Winter service May 1 to October 31. From Queenstown to Kingston, 25 miles, fare, Sal., 4s. single; 8s. return. From Queenstown to Head of Lake, 25 miles, fares, Sal., 5s. single; 10s. return. Steaming time: Between Queenstown and Kingston, two hours and a quarter; between Queenstown and Head of Lake, three hours.

First class meals or other refreshments to be had on board steamers.

An oil launch can be chartered at Queenstown for parties numbering up to twenty-five, and interesting parts of Lake Wakatipu may be visited.

This remarkable tourist bureau issues maps of every carriage road in New Zealand, every road fit for a bicycle, horse, travel and even foot trails to seldom visited parts of the land. The tourist is never urged to go to any one place, he is given the information he wants and then aided in every way to carry out the plans he makes for himself. Take, for instance, the West Coast Sounds; numerous trails were cut to these, some years ago, the tourist seemed to prefer the one from Lake Te Anau via Sutherland Falls (3000 feet high) to Milford Sound, one of the seven scenic wonders of the world. Every ten miles accommodation huts were built, and a hotel at either end of the trail, and now other trails are to be cut to nearby glaciers and other wonder spots. This Te Anau trail is only for foot passengers, yet there is a constant stream of people passing back and forth, so that the huts, every eight or nine miles apart and accommodating thirty persons, are sometimes overcrowded. So much for the management of a tourist bureau that said: "Perhaps the people will walk if we prepare the way;" and had the money to act on this sound judgment. There are walks about Honolulu, within five miles of the city, scarcely less beautiful than that world famous tramp from Lake Te Anau to Milford Sound; and there are people who if they knew the trails, would gladly take them. New Zealand has much to teach us in the way of appropriating money to develop the country in a way that will tempt people to travel. It took many years of hard earned endeavor to find a trail over the mountains from the lakes to the sounds, but no one begrudged the money spent. T. E. Donne kept at it until the pass was discovered and the trail cut, then he erected his accommodation huts, policed the trail with guides and added the following page to the government guide to New Zealand:

New Zealand has won out as a world famous tourist resort because she realized at the start, that the tourist would demand a fair, square deal—and New Zealand is Scotch—so she gave it to him. Fortunately she is too in having a man at the head of her tourist department who knows how to do things and does them. Absolutely fearless of monopolistic companies, and they exist in New Zealand, Mr. Donne has fought the fight of the people and of the stranger, so that travel in New Zealand, once a luxury, is now being placed within the reach of all, the sentiment of the people is not "We can't afford to travel," but "We can't Nervous women should profit by Mrs. Barton's experience with Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound.

Mrs. Helen Barton, of 27 Pearson Street, Chicago, Ill., writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"I was all run-down, and on the verge of nervous prostration from overwork and worry, and ill in bed, when I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. After I had taken it a week I commenced to get better. I continued its use, my nervous trouble disappeared, and I am completely restored to health. I hope Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will benefit other women as it has me."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

afford not to travel, it is as cheap as staying at home and sometimes cheaper." T. E. Donne of New Zealand is one more demonstration of the one-man power; he is enthusiastic about the possibilities of combined Australasian and Hawaiian effort in America to turn tourist traffic toward the Pacific. He has visited the States and the President of the United States on a kindred mission, and finds that it pays New Zealand to spend even independently some twenty thousand a year advertising in American newspapers and magazines, the splendid results in his department of the government.

New Zealand has had years of experience in trying and adopting methods that have been tried in every part of the world to entice the tourist; we can do better than study the plans and methods that have most helped New Zealand. There the tourist department is a systematized part of the government, and New Zealand has no more to offer the world than has Oahu, Kauai, Maui and Hawaii. The fight has been more along the line of making transportation cheap and attractive and providing comfortable hotels that charge uniform reasonable rates. We have much to learn from New Zealand, but no more sensible lesson than the one just mentioned.

STORY OF "THE MASCOT" AS PLAYED TONIGHT

"What a charming bright display we're about to see today." This quotation taken from "The Mascot" can be used of that comic opera itself very appropriately, for tonight "The Mascot" will be presented with a brightness and brilliancy seldom before witnessed on the local stage.

All is now in readiness. Principals and chorus are waiting, the audience is assured and all seems promising for a huge success.

The story of "The Mascot" is a particularly clever one and it is easy to follow, which, in itself is a great advantage over some other present day comic operas whose plots are exceedingly hard to find.

The first scene opens in Rocco's ("Sonny" Cunha) vineyard with the peasants and farm hands celebrating the close of the vintage season. Rocco has had a terribly hard season and is stony broke.

In despair he appeals to his rich brother for aid, who answers his appeal by sending him a basket full of eggs, and his turkey-keeper Bettina (Mrs. L. R. Crook), who he claims is a Mascot and will alter Rocco's ill luck. Rocco at first intends to send Bettina back to his brother, but just as he is on the point of doing so, Pippo (Mr. Hugo Herzer), rushes in with a budget of good news which converts Rocco to belief in the Mascot, and he decides to keep her for the rest of his life. This however he is not allowed to do, as Prince Lorenzo XXIII (Mr. M. H. Webb) who, whilst hunting over Rocco's estates, discovers Bettina's valuable qualities and by right of might decides to take her away himself.

HUGO HEFZER, Who appears tonight as Pippo in "The Mascot," and under whose direction the opera is given.

This greatly upsets Rocco until Lorenzo makes him his Chief Chamberlain, and takes him along also. This leaves Pippo disconsolate, as he is Bettina's favored suitor. However, he follows her, disguised, to the court, but is discovered there by Lorenzo, who, fearing Pippo will take the Mascot from him, orders him to be hanged.

But here The Princess Fiametta (Mrs. Hugo Herzer), the daughter of Lorenzo, and betrothed to Prince Frederick of Pisa (Mr. Jas. D. Dougherty), who has fallen in love with Pippo on sight, saves his life, and persuading him that Bettina is false finally makes him promise to marry her.

Lorenzo seeing in this a chance to keep Bettina, agrees to the match, thus insulting and angering Prince Frederick who immediately returns to his country and declares war upon Lorenzo. While the wedding festivities are being prepared Pippo and Bettina come together. Explanations follow and they together jump from a balcony of the palace into a river below, and fly to the camp of Prince Frederick.

The third act opens on the scene of Frederick's troops, led by Captain Pippo, celebrating their victories over Lorenzo.

Lorenzo, Fiametta and their suit disguised as wandering musicians, enter Frederick's camp in an endeavor to regain Bettina, the Mascot.

Here they are discovered and Lorenzo is about to be imprisoned when the fickle Fiametta once more turns to Frederick, begs forgiveness for both her father and herself and finally declares her love for Frederick. He, still loving her listens, and her father is restored to power, whilst she becomes Frederick's bride.

What the Kidneys Do

Their Unceasing Work Keeps Us Strong and Healthy.

All the blood in the body passes through the kidneys once every three minutes. The kidneys filter the blood. They work night and day. When healthy they remove about 500 grains of impure matter daily, when unhealthy some part of this impure matter is left in the blood. This brings on many diseases and symptoms—pain in the back, headache, nervousness, hot, dry skin, rheumatism, gout, gravel, disorders of the eyesight and hearing, dizziness, irregular heart, debility, drowsiness, dropsy, deposits in the urine, etc. But if you keep the kidneys right you will have no trouble with your kidneys.

W. J. Maxwell, of Honolulu, writes thus: "I suffered with a horrible pain in the small of my back (an almost invariable symptom of kidney trouble) for a number of years. I was advised to take some of Doan's Backache Kidney Pills; and following the suggestion I went to the Hollister Drug Co.'s store, Fort street, and got some of these. Having taken them, they relieved me straight away, and are, I may say, the best and in fact the only cure for backache. I have mentioned the virtue of this wonderful remedy to several persons, among whom is a friend, who found relief, and is now a firm believer in Doan's Backache Kidney Pills."

Doan's Backache Kidney Pills are sold by all chemists and storekeepers at 50 cents per box, six boxes $2.50, or will be mailed on receipt of price by the Hollister Drug Co., Honolulu, wholesale agents for the Hawaiian Islands.

MARAMA'S CAPTAIN CABLED AGENTS

The captain of the Marama cabied Theo. H. Davies & Co., Ltd., before leaving Victoria Tuesday, that he would make an effort to reach Honolulu Monday evening. Should the steamer arrive before nine p. m., she will be docked. But if for any reason it be after that hour when she gets into the harbor the doctors will not board her and she will remain outside until morning. This rule is known to the officers of steamers coming here and it is not likely the captain will take a chance of getting into the harbor after the curfew has sounded.

There is a suspicion that Kubelik will use all of his influence and will get the influence of everyone on the steamer to have the firemen throw on more fuel and bring the good ship into port so there will be no hurry and the concert may be given Monday night with comfort to all concerned. At his farewell concert at the Hippodrome, New York, on Sunday April 12, Kubelik appeared before an audience which paid $7000 for the privilege of hearing him. Assisting him was the famous New York Symphony orchestra led by Walter Damrosch. Kubelik played on that occasion Mozart's D major concerto, Wieniawski's fantasia on "Faust," a Paganini transcription for the G string on Rossini's "Moose" and Bazzini's "Ronde des Lutins." The reception accorded him amounted to an ovation and he responded several times to encores. In this respect Kubelik is said to be an exception to the general rule of great artists. He wins his audience and gives them what they crave: good music and a good return for their money. Seats for the concert to be given here are on sale at Wall, Nichols Co. Mr. Adams requests that all persons who have had tickets laid aside call for them not later than Saturday noon. The demand for them is increasing and he desires to know what seats will be available.

MARINE

Drawing admiration from all who saw her, for she is just such a vessel as one would like to travel round the world in, the Chargeurs Reunis S. S. Ceylan, Captain Jouan, docked at 11 o'clock yesterday morning at the channel wharf from Yokohama, having sailed from the Japanese port on April 17. She brought nearly 2000 tons of general freight for Honolulu, and a couple of passengers, Serapion Von Hook and Namiki. There were fourteen through passengers for various ports. The Ceylan sails at noon to-morrow, or expects to, for San Francisco and Vancouver, and then down the Pacific, through the Strait of Magellan, and up the Atlantic, calling at numerous South American ports on either side, and so to West Africa and then to Europe, through the Red Sea to India and Australia and to China and Japan.

The Ceylan, now making her first call here and on her first round-the-world trip, started on her long voyage from Woesung on March 28.

For those who have a taste for wandering upon the face of the earth, the Ceylan presents an opportunity which would be hard to better. She is a fine, solidly-constructed vessel, built by Swan, Hunter and Wigham Richardson of Wallsend-on-Tyne, and is designed to withstand the heaviest weather. She can carry 30,000 tons of cargo, and her twin screws make her along at from 12 to 14 knots or better. She has accommodation for sixty first-class passengers and one thousand third or steerage.

There is no undue gilding, but the decorations of oak paneling gain thereby. Nothing has been omitted for the passenger's comfort. On the lower deck are two-berth cabins and small apartments of four beds in two compartments intended for family use. On the deck above are the dining saloon and social hall and a number of single cabins, while a deck higher are the smoking-room and bar, two special cabins with private dressing rooms, and fine promenade decks specially constructed so that whichever way the wind blows it is possible to find shelter. The cabins are roomy and well appointed with luxurious spring beds, wardrobes, writing tables, chairs and sofas, and each cabin has an electric fan.

Aft is a hospital and a laundry. In the hospital are separate wards for men and women, an isolation room, disinfection room and operating room. One of the through passengers, Mr. O'Kelly, of the Imperial Chinese Maritime Customs, going home on a furlough, is bound for France.

HEMMING'S NEW BOAT.

Captain E. A. Hemming, formerly master of the S. S. Miowera, recently purchased from the Canadian-Australian line by the Union S. S. Co. of New Zealand and renamed the Maitai, is a passenger aboard the C. A. S. S. Aorangi, and is en route to London to take a berth with the New Zealand Shipping Company, and will probably be given command of the steamship Rimutaka to take here around the Cape of Good Hope to New Zealand and back around the Horn, calling at Montevideo, Rio de Janeiro and Tenerife. Hemming was for fourteen years commander of the Miowera.

FAKE NOBLE IS A STOWAWAY.

There are a couple of entertaining stowaways aboard the S. S. Aorangi. One is a Roumanian and calls himself a noble. His name is C. Staisico. Traveling with him is a Jew of London, whose name is Torres. At Vancouver they will be handed over to the police and probably do a term.

These smooth gentlemen boarded the ship with their luggage, alias their baggage, in a hurry just before the vessel was getting out of Suva, and made for the saloon, where they did justice to the vint. They claimed to be looking for the steward to tell him they had no money, but would be rich when they got to Honolulu, but their was nothing known of their insolvency till Purser Coxall asked for their tickets and discovered they had none. Their story of expiring money by cable did not "go" with the astute Coxall, and they were treated as stowaways. Upon approaching this port they were locked in a cabin, so they might not escape the jail that awaits them in Vancouver, and the purser seized their trunks. There was nothing in their baggage of sufficient value to pay for their passage, so there is not likely any way of their escaping prison.

AORANGI COMES AND GOES.

Canadian-Australian Royal Mail steamship Aorangi, Captain Phillips, arrived off port at daylight yesterday and docked at the Oceanic wharf at 7:30 o'clock. She brought several passengers for Honolulu and carries a large through list. Cargo for Honolulu amounted to over 300 tons and included carcasses of mutton, onions and sulphate of ammonia. The Aorangi coaled here and was late in getting away on that account, being delayed several hours after the advertised time of sailing, 6 o'clock. Among her through passengers are Sir Edmund Arthur Lechmere and Lady Katherine Lechmere, touring the world. Sir Edmund is a noted hunter and while the Aorangi was off port, waiting for the doctor, he amused himself shooting at sharks of which there happened to be several.

Among the deck passengers is a kangaroo from the Zoological Society of Sydney for a Vancouver collection of animals.

The Aorangi sailed from Sydney on April 13; Brisbane, April 16 and Suva, April 21. She called at Sydney Island for half an hour to see if any stores were needed. None were required.

MARAMA DUE MONDAY NIGHT.

Theo. H. Davies & Co., local agents for the Canadian-Australian S. S. Co., and the Union S. S. Co. of New Zealand, yesterday received a cable from Vancouver to the effect that the U. S. S. Co.'s S. S. Marama would arrive here on Monday night next. She sailed from Vancouver on April 24 and arrived back here on April 26 with her air-pumps broken, sailing again for Honolulu and the Colonies at 3 a. m. of Tuesday, April 28. It was expected that, sailing Tuesday morning, she would not arrive here until next Tuesday morning, May 5, but it would appear from the late cablegram that she is to hit it up and endeavor to make up for lost time between the Canadian port and her Australian destination. She is looked for to arrive in time to enter the harbor Monday evening and will probably sail for the Colonies early next Tuesday morning.

NEVADAN FROM KAHULULU.

The American-Hawaiian steamship Nevada, Captain Greene, arrived in port at 6 o'clock last evening from Kahululu whither she had gone from here to discharge San Francisco freight and to take on a part load of sugar. She was to have returned here yesterday morning, but was delayed by rain interfering with her taking sugar aboard. She sails tomorrow at 5 p. m. for San Francisco.

CROOK SAILS TODAY.

It is planned to dispatch the U. S. A. transport Crook, Captain Williams, for San Francisco at 11 o'clock this morning. One of her officers remarked last evening that she was never known to get out on time, but it is not likely, unless there are further cable instructions from transport headquarters at San Francisco to the contrary, that she will be delayed much after the time noted.

SHIPPING NOTES.

Schooner Concord sailed at noon yesterday for Hawaii ports.

Over two hundred tons of coal were put aboard the Aorangi here.

The steamer Mikahala arrived yesterday morning with 3435 bags of sugar.

The Union Oil S. S. Lansing sailed from Kihel on Tuesday night for oil ports.

The steamer Nilhau yesterday morning brought 6502 bags of sugar from Koloa.

The steamer Maul, Captain Bruhn, sailed at 12:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon for Laupahoehoe and Papaaloa.

The steamer Claudine is due this morning from Hawaii and Maui ports and will sail again at 5 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

The American-Hawaiian steamship Mexican, Captain Nichols, sailed at 5 p. m. yesterday for Kahululu, Kaanapali and Hilo to load sugar for Salina Cruz.

The United States tug Iroquois leaves at 7 a. m. today for Molokai with the Acting-Governor and party to inspect the settlement. She will leave Molokai Friday afternoon.

The Aorangi sailed for Vancouver and Victoria at 8:45 p. m. yesterday. In addition to being delayed in getting bunker coal aboard she had an accident with her telegraph and had to repair a break therein.

The Inter-Island steamer Kinau, in command of Captain Gregory, sails at 5 p. m. today for Kauai ports on the steamer Mikahala's run. Gregory has long been master of the Mikahala and now transfers his affections to the former flagship of the fleet. Purser Grube of the Mikahala goes along as purser of the Kinau.

Sports GOOD TIME FOR SOLDIERS

The entertainment given last night to the soldiers on the Transport Crook at the Y. M. C. A. was a decided success both from the viewpoint of the number present, and the numbers on the program.

Singing and various other forms of entertainment were indulged in and the boys voted last evening the best of their five days stay in Honolulu.

Though the gathering was announced to begin at half past seven, a large number of men were on hand at seven o'clock and these sang old college songs.

While waiting for an accompanist for the soloist of the evening General Secretary Super entertained the men with several demonstrative pieces on the piano.

Tom Lane made the hit of the evening. Though not an army man, Mr. Lane sang songs, which showed his familiarity with soldier's life. He was accompanied on the piano by Sergeant Flocker of Company H, who followed him with a stuttering song which gained for him such a round of applause that he was forced to return to the platform. The sergeant then favored his audience with a humorous song of his own composition.

Later in the evening Mr. Lane was again called upon to sing.

The experiences of a young Englishman fresh from the country, related by H. Thompson amused the men considerably.

Jiu-jitsu and fencing took up a portion of the time. The exercises were gone through with precision and were much appreciated.

William Warren recited several amusing pieces, and lemonade and cake played their part in making the evening a pleasurable one.

PRESS WORK FOR LEAGUE

There will be a meeting of the Honolulu Baseball League at 12:15 p. m. today in the office of Frank Thompson. Business relative to the opening of the season on Saturday will come up.

There is a movement on foot to have the press work of the league done by someone who will make the matter his business and keep the newspapers posted on all matters pertaining to the league.

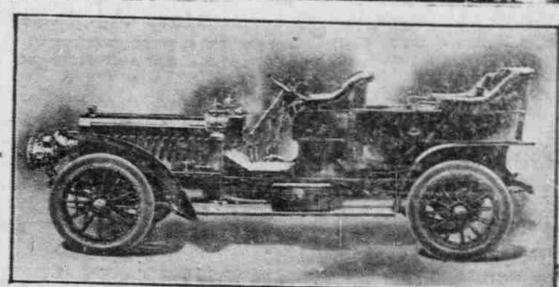

The minor leagues have their press work systematically attended to and in consequence the games are always well advertised. Charlie Falk has attended to the matter in past years to the satisfaction of all concerned, but it is understood that pressure of business will prevent him rendering a similar service to the league his year.

A WONDERFUL DISCOVERY.

This is the age of research and experiment, when all nature, so to speak, is ransacked by the scientific for the comfort and happiness of man. Science has indeed made giant strides during the past century, and among the by no means least important—discoveries in medicine comes that of THERAPION. This preparation is unquestionably one of the most genuine and reliable Patent Medicines ever introduced, and has, we understand, been used in the Continental Hospitals by Ricord, Boetan, Jobert, Velpeau, Maisonneuve, the well-known Chassagnac, and indeed by all who are regarded as authorities in such matters, including the celebrated Lallemand, and Roux, by whom it was some time since uniformly adopted, and that it is worthy the attention of those who require such a remedy we think there is no doubt. From the time of Aristotle downwards, a potent agent in the removal of these diseases has (like the famed philosopher's stone) been the object of search of some hopeful, generous minds; and far beyond the mere power—if such could ever have been discovered—of transmitting the baser metals into gold is surely the discovery of a remedy so potent as to replenish the fading energies in the one case, and in the other so effectually, speedily and safely to expel from the system the poisons of acquired or inherited disease, as to have been the object of the most earnest and persistent search of many of the discoverers of our day, about which no little ostentation and noise have been made, and the extensive and ever-increasing demand that has been created for this medicine wherever introduced appears to prove that it is destined to cast into oblivion all those questionable remedies that were formerly the sole reliance of medical men.—Diamond Field Advertiser, Kimberley.

LONG FOUGHT CASE ENDS IN NONSUIT

Judge De Bolt Grants Motion After Eight Days in Court.

Judge De Bolt yesterday granted a nonsuit on the defendant's motion in the damage suit of Carolina Vierra vs. the Waiialua Agricultural Company. The suit has been on trial for eight days before a jury, and a large number of witnesses have been examined. The plaintiff is the widow of one of the Portuguese immigrants who came on the Suveric. She married him in Madeira January 21, 1905. He was a widower with one small child, when she married him. Two children blessed their union. He was employed on the Waiialua plantation at $24 a month. In November last he was employed with others on the Haleomanu railway fill on the plantation. A trestle was built and track laid on it, and down this track dump cars filled with dirt and rocks were run by gravity, the brakes on the cars being depended on to regulate the speed of the cars and to stop them at the right point.

On November 22, 1907, a loaded car was run out on the trestle. There were four men on it. It did not stop at the end of the trestle but went over and fell down fifteen feet. Two of the men jumped and escaped. The two others did not, and were killed, the husband of the plaintiff being one of them. The plaintiff sued for $25,000 damages alleging that the death was due to the negligence of the defendant in not providing a buffer post at the end of the trestle to stop the car; and that the brakes on the car were not efficient.

There was testimony to show that on this last fatal trip the car gained great momentum early in the course, and that when the brakes were applied to their fullest extent the wheels sometimes slid on the track and sometimes revolved, but that the car did not stop within a distance much farther than usual. An expert who was called testified that the brake rods, having a bend in them, when pressure was put on the brakes, they straightened out to some extent, thus falling to bring the shoe of the brake up against the wheel sufficiently hard. On the other hand it was shown that this car had been used for some time in this work and that it had always worked efficiently until this time.

The plaintiff moved a nonsuit on the ground that it had not been shown that the accident was due to any neglect on the part of the defendant or that there was any defect in the appliances furnished from which it could be safely deduced that the accident had occurred.

Argument on this motion lasted nearly two days. Judge De Bolt rendered his decision yesterday morning. The decision was evidently prepared with some care and in making it the Judge discussed at much length the law and the evidence in the case. He cited many authorities and read from both text books and reports, granting the motion and discharging the jury.

The plaintiff will now begin another suit. The plaintiff was represented by J. Lightfoot and E. Vincent, and the defendant by J. W. Cathcart and F. W. Milverton.

DIVORCE GRANTED.
Judge Lindsay yesterday granted a divorce to Yo Takuhara from Nakaeon Takuhara on the ground of desertion for three years and failure to provide.

DEFENDANT DENIES.
Louis Amoy, by his attorney C. F. Peterson, has filed an answer to the libel for divorce filed by his wife Mollie F. Amoy, formerly Mollie Fountain. He denies all and singular the allegations of the libel except that of the marriage of the parties. The allegations accuse him of violent actions and violent and humiliating words toward his wife.

SCHOOL RECORDS IN COURT.
A subpoena for a rather unusual purpose was issued from Judge Robinson's court and returned yesterday. It was directed to Miss Sadie McLane, one of the teachers in the public schools and ordered her to appear in court May 5 and to bring with her the school record showing the school attendance of certain persons.

FOR RUSSIAN FRANK'S WIDOW.
Judge Lindsay yesterday entered an order allowing Mrs. Minnie Lucweiko, widow of Frank Lucweiko, $19 a month for her maintenance at the Leahi Home. The order was entered on the petition of William Savidge, administrator with will annexed, of the estate. The petition set out that the widow is infirm, destitute and feeble and that no provision for her support had been made. Father Valentin on behalf of the Catholic Mission, the chief beneficiary under the will, joined in the petition for allowance.

REGISTERED TITLE.
Judge Weaver in the Land Court yesterday gave a registered title to certain lands in Ewa to Elsie Wundenberg, widow of the late Fred Wundenberg.

Mr. Prouty is a Chicago lawyer, the attorney here of W. W. Bierge, Ltd. BIG CHINESE WHIPPED BY SMALL JAP WOMAN

You Chuck, who weighs in at one hundred and sixty, took the count yesterday afternoon from Murashima, a diminutive Japanese woman, who has to bear down to crowd over the seventy-pound mark. You Chuck began the fight, according to a witness, but after being beautifully scratched and having his head cut open with a flying dish, he beat a masterly retreat for the police station, there to swear out a warrant against the midget for assault and battery. In his wake, triumphant, trailed Murashima, giggling every time the burly Chuck stopped to mop the gore off his countenance with a towel of generous proportions.

You Chuck is a Chinese teacher, and arrayed in the glory of spick and span duck, he paraded Maunakea street yesterday afternoon until he reached the corner of Beretania. Here Murashima was swooping off the sidewalk, and in her housewife-like bustle she splattered water on the immaculate trousers of Chuck. Chuck looked around, and seeing that there were no roving Japanese kanes to interfere, began to revenge the splashing by chastising the woman. He hit with a right swing, but misjudged and tripped. Then things a-plenty began to happen to him, and he thought he had been blown by a typhoon into a barbed-wire fence. Murashima uppeered and gouted, landed on his solar plexus and ricocheted to the jaw, concluding a star performance by giving Chuck the cross-buttock, and smashing a plate with his bumpy aggression. Then the procession for the police station started.

The next time You Chuck starts a fight he will find out beforehand whether the wildcats are chained up or not.

THE DAY'S DOINGS IN THE ANDRADE ASSIZE

The Chinese gamblers who have been scared away from their accustomed place in the Liliha street joint, raided a short time ago, and who shifted quarters for the time being until the publicity given their barricaded rooms quieted down, were before Judge Andrade yesterday, the result of a raid the night before. Sixteen in all had been rounded up, and they each pleaded guilty as charged, escaping with a fine of six dollars each. The proprietor of the game, the man who runs the barred-door joint on Liliha, was one of the sixteen, and he paid the same small penalty.

Thirteen other gamblers, all Japanese, were fined eight dollars apiece, this bringing the total amount collected from the chance artists for the day to an even $200. McElroy, the peripatetic bum, the star pandaniander of the Territory, whose one ambition in life is to get free board on the reef, managed to win a thirty-day sentence from Judge Andrade, coming up on a drunk charge. He was in high glee as he swung into the patrol wagon yesterday afternoon for the ride to jail, calling out, "All aboard for the Young," as he swung himself up the steps. With him in the wagon went Jim Jack, whose record for drunk convictions is among the four highest.

George Courtney got fifteen days for assault and battery, having in a moment of alcoholic weakness beaten up the features of his best friend. He confessed to having let the circumstances of the whole affair slip from his mind in the sobering-up process, but his friend's face bore striking testimony of the vigor with which it had been punched.

QUARRYMEN WILL AID NUUANU PARK SCHEME

Referring to "The Bystander's" comment on the quarry work of a Japanese company at the Nuuanu falls this side of Bates street, Mr. Yokonizo, of the Naniwa Company, which has the work in hand, said yesterday: "It is not our purpose to do any blasting excepting where it is necessary to reduce the size of loose rocks. No blasting will be done to the sides of the gorge or to the part where the water comes over. We want the loose stones only. It is also our purpose to enlarge the pond below the falls, put an island for a temple in it, and change it into a miniature Japanese lake. Fine swimming facilities will be provided; also some sort of filter to make the water clean. We want to do our part in creating a Japanese park."
