OWNS JEWELS WORTH MANY MILLIONS

Honolulu Entertaining One of the Most Interesting Rulers of the World.

HE IS GAEKWAR OF BARODA

His Income of $12,000,000. Owns Gold Cannons and State Elephants.

His Highness, the Gaekwar of Baroda, one of the wealthiest and most powerful and influential of the Hindu princes, and possessor of the most famous diamond necklace in the world, is in Honolulu, having arrived yesterday on the Pacific Mail steamship Siberia, en route to the mainland en tour of the world. His Highness is accompanied by his wife, the Maharani and their daughter the Princess Inderaraja. The Gaekwar's suite comprises eleven people, although he is traveling in an unostentatious manner. The Maharajah had wirelessed in for an auto for a party of five people, and immediately upon landing the party entered the machine and was driven about the city.

The prince, who is a potentate in his own country, educated in England, was attired in the conventional pongee summer suit of the far East, and looks like a gentleman in private, not public life. His wife wore a part native and part European costume, a pongee coat being worn over her native garb, the princess being attired in the same manner. The Rani is a handsome woman. In the center of her forehead the caste sign appears. Their daughter is a beautiful girl, with large, soft, lustrous eyes, with delicate refined features. She has been educated in the English schools and speaks English fluently.

On World Tour.

Maharajah Sir Sayiji Rao Gaekwar Shera Khar Khei Shamsher Bahadur of Baroda is on his way around the world, but will pay his main call at Harvard, where his son, Prince Jaisingaro Gaekwar, is a freshman.

This young prince occupies a sumptuous suite of rooms in upper Westmanely court. He is heir to an annual income of something like $12,000,000, yet he is considered extremely democratic. Two years ago the Gaekwar of Baroda visited Harvard and Boston and selected Harvard for his son.

The Gaekwar at that time flashed upon staid New England in 1906 with the brilliancy of a comet.

He is one of the semi-independent princes of India who are privileged to make laws, levy taxes, mint coin and maintain standing armies. When abroad the Gaekwar assumes the dress and follows the customs of western civilization and indulges in all the refined luxury that is provided for the modern man of wealth. He carries with him the splendid costume of brocade silk and gold lace and the wonderful jeweled ornaments in which he will appear at court receptions in England.

At home the wife and daughter of the maharajah lead almost lonely lives. There are no other women of high rank in Baroda, and the wives and daughters of neighboring potentates look at them askance because of their fondness for the ways of western civilization.

When the Gaekwar ascended the throne in 1875 the state had neither schools nor hospitals worth considering. Now there are a number of schools of various grades in which English is taught. The postoffice department delivered last year letters and post cards on an average of four to each inhabitant. The need of hospitals was even greater than that of schools, and has been equally well met. Baroda has been smitten by smallpox, scourged by cholera and decimated by plague time and again. Formerly the people coped with these dire visitations as best they might. Now the ill are well looked after in all parts of the state.

Plenty of Titles.

His Highness the Knight Grand Commander of the Exalted Order of the Star of India and of the Most Eminent Order of the Indian Empire is a very important personage in his own country. A salute of twenty-one guns signalizes his coming and going. He is escorted by a cavalcade of gaudy troopers whenever he leaves his palace. His state elephant is a beast of impressive proportions, bedecked with costly trappings. At the great durbars he occupies a place of honor near the viceroy, and yields precedence to only a few rulers, such as the nizam of Hyderabad and the maharajah of Kashmir.

Once a Herdboy.

Nevertheless, if the gaekwar's memory is ordinarily good he can recollect

THAYER SENT BY W. F. DILLINGHAM

Went to Philippines to Look Into Opportunities for Investment.

Alfred Finley Thayer was sent to the Philippines by Walter Dillingham. This statement can be made authoritatively and effectually settles the much agitated question as to whom Thayer actually represents in the far East.

It has been repeatedly denied by B. F. Dillingham and others now here connected with the Dillingham company that Thayer's statement that he represents Dillingham & Co. is correct. This denial is correct, for Thayer does not represent the company but only an individual member of it, and that without the knowledge of the head of the company. He was sent to the Philippines to look into the possibilities of investment in cane land because Walter Dillingham was persuaded that our Eastern possessions offer a fair field for making money.

It is also understood that when Thayer left Honolulu, he took with him Walter Dillingham's draft for $15,000, though this statement can not be made with the same authority as can the one that he was sent by Walter Dillingham.

The day he left Honolulu, Thayer ran about town trying to dispose of his automobile, but was unsuccessful. Finally, shortly before the steamer was to sail, he drove down to the wharf and met Dillingham, to whom he made the statement that he could not sell the machine but would have to get some one to take care of it.

"Put it aboard," said Walter Dillingham, according to the testimony of a bystander. "I'll pay the freight."

Thayer when he came to Honolulu had letters from Gifford Pinchot and other prominent men at Washington, and he made good use of these to make the acquaintance of Honolulu men foremost in financial circles. It is understood that ex-Governor George R. Carter became interested in him and introduced him to the Dillinghams and was thus, indirectly at any rate, interested in his Philippine mission.

Thayer's statements in Manila that he represents the Dillingham interests and the denials of the truth of that statement made here have aroused considerable curiosity as to what actually took the ex-newspaperman to the far East, and all sorts of wild surmises have been made. It has been supposed by some that he was a detective in the employ of the government, sent to the Philippines to get evidence concerning land grabbing by big corporations, but it is now certain that this guess was without foundation in fact.

SMOKES MAY GO UP ON JULY 1

Internal Revenue Tax on Tobacco Will Be Increased After This Month.

Beginning with July 1 dealers in tobacco in Honolulu as well as everywhere else in the United States will have to pay a substantially heavier internal revenue duty than they now pay. Consequently, there will probably be a rush from now to the first of the month on the part of the local dealers to get all their goods out of the bonded warehouses so as to save the increased tax.

The new tax on tobacco will be eight cents a pound instead of six cents as at present. The new rate on cigars will be $1.25 and $3.60, according to size and quality, instead of $0.54, $1.08 and $3 a thousand as at present.

AMERICAN TEAMS TAKE LEAD IN RACE

At one o'clock this morning the two American teams lead in the international twenty-four-hour go-as-you-please which was started by Mayor Fern at 10:45 last night on the rink track following the finish of the skate marathon race.

Nigel Jackson and Patrick Walsh, running together, had covered 14 miles and 7 laps in the first two hours and forty-five minutes of the long plod.

Five teams started, the two American, Portuguese, Russian and Chinese. The second American team made up by Dal Fahy and Wilson Feagler held second place at one o'clock, having covered 14 miles and 11 laps, or six laps behind the first team.

C. K. Charlie and Chung Lang, forming the Chinese team, were third. They had gone 13 miles and 14 laps. Simeon and Ivan, the Russian team, had traveled 13 miles 6 laps, giving them fourth place, and the Portuguese, Rufino Martin and Antone Carvalho, who started two miles behind at eleven-ten had done 11 miles and 7 laps at one o'clock.

PLAN TO SAVE THE BEACHES

Captain Robards Has Theory as to How Damage Is Done and Suggests Remedy.

Capt. Frank E. Robards, United States Marine Corps, of the Marine Barracks, has advanced a theory as to the reason why the beaches in front of the Moana and Seaside Hotels are disappearing through erosion, and has practically given a solution to the problem of saving the beaches.

At the meeting of the promotion committee yesterday afternoon Captain Robards presented his views on the subject in a clear and concise way and won the approval of the committee. He made rough drawings showing the contour of Waikiki Bay, with the line of reefs opposite the hotels and the channel farther over toward the Diamond Head side. He showed how a current sets in through the channel, strikes along the beach from the Liliuokalani and other nearby estates, and then sweeps down past the Moana and Seaside Hotels, carrying the loosened sand along toward Kakaako.

He showed how, at high tide, the waves beat in upon the beach, and with a curling motion swept sand from the shore into the water, where the sand was kept in suspension until the tide began to go out, when it either dropped to the bottom or was carried by the current westward.

It was Captain Robards' opinion that although the contour of the beach had been ages and ages in the making, yet, aided by outside material influences, the time had probably just arrived in this natural creation, for a change, and the current was doing the damage.

As to his current theory, he stated that he had tested this thoroughly and found that objects thrown into the water off Waikiki were carried one hundred yards in twenty minutes, the objects always setting toward the west. This was a rapid current and sand would easily be carried along.

His suggestion for preventing further damage would be to board up the posts of the Moana pier with planking, so that the current, sweeping along from the Diamond Head side and striking the planked pier, would be thrown out toward the breakers, thus avoiding the beaches which are now being so deeply eroded and damaged.

A. A. Young came before the meeting and heard Captain Robards' suggestions and they will probably be acted upon, along with other plans of the hotel company.

Captain Robards lives at Waikiki and is deeply interested in the preservation of the beaches.

The committee had little additional business to consider, consisting mainly of matters connected with the Atlantic City bureau. A letter from R. K. Bonine was also read. This referred largely to Mr. Bonine's work in making moving pictures and the expression of an opinion that work he is doing, for the trade, should have the backing and support of the committee. This was occasioned by the arrival of L. P. Ronvillain, the Pathe Freres' representative, from Paris, who has been making moving picture films of characteristic Hawaiian scenery.

PLEADS FOR LIFE; RECEIVES DEATH

Native Shoots Down Woman, Who Clings to Him, Asking for Mercy.

"We find the deceased came to her death through shock and hemorrhage, caused by being shot in the right thigh by a thirty-two-caliber revolver held in the hands of one Ben Kaluna."

This verdict of a coroner's jury, rendered last night, marks the tragic end of an existence that had been bright and flourishing in the morning, and by it, the slayer of Julia Kololou was last night charged with murder.

The shooting occurred yesterday morning about eight-thirty, when two police officers and the patrol were but a few yards away, coming for a woman they believed to have been already shot.

A call came in to the police station from the Nuuanu dam, stating that there had been a shooting affair and that a woman had been injured. Sergeant Kahanamoku and Officer Farrish at once started for the scene, and had come to within a short distance of the reservoir camp when they heard three shots.

They arrived on the hard gallop, just in time to see a young Hawaiian woman, barely twenty-two years of age, expiring on the floor of a deserted house, her murderer gone.

Chief McDuffie was at once notified, but as he was in court engaged at the trying of a case, he could not leave, and sent his officers out to investigate at once. An hour later he himself went to the scene, and after making an examination of the premises where the shooting occurred, stationed his men up and down the valley with strict orders to search for the murderer. One man was stationed near the Country Club grounds to prevent any escape down Lilila street to the other side of the city. As the chief had another case coming up in the circuit court in the afternoon, he had to return to town again.

Meanwhile the posse spread out. Officers Apana and Kamanoha taking up the district that surrounds the Cooke residence. Inquiries at all the native houses along the route failed to elicit any information regarding the movements of the man, and a search of the five-foot high brush was then commenced.

Four boys and another young Hawaiian volunteered to accompany them, and a discovery of the latter led to the arrest of Kaluna. While working

RUMOR THAT KING OF PORTUGAL WILL ABDICATE THRONE

PARIS, June 11.—A rumor is in circulation here that King Manuel of Portugal has announced an intention of abdicating his recently acquired throne in favor of the Duke of Oporto, his uncle, brother of the late King Carlos.

No confirmation of the report can be obtained from Lisbon.

A GAY EVENING AT THE BEACH

Outrigger Club's Chowder and Carnival Draws Big Crowd.

The Outrigger Club's carnival at the beach last night was a brilliant success, as a spectacle and financially. The attendance was beyond expectations and the weather was perfect. Honolulans accustomed to the brilliant night scenes of the beach enjoyed them over again, while visitors who had not before seen the illuminations of the Moana and Seaside, saw them with lighted surfboats and the lit-up hau trees and were full of enthusiasm.

The real crowd did not come until evening. In the afternoon there was quite a large gathering, and the chowder, served at the dinner hour, did not go begging by any means. But it was after dark that the assemblage began to be large, and by eight o'clock the grounds of the Outrigger Club and Moana and Seaside hotels were filled with people.

To many the extent of the preparations and the Outrigger Club's growth were something of a surprise. Alexander Hume Ford, who was the head and front of the carnival scheme, was many times congratulated in the warmest terms upon the success of the entertainment. The only disappointment was the failure of the McRae company to appear on the improvised stage. The company had stayed over at Maui, instead of taking the Mauna Loa for Honolulu.

MRS. N. H. CASTLE WAS MURDERED

Woman Who Figured in Sensation at Waldorf-Astoria Victim of a Foul Crime.

COMO, Italy, June 11.—Mrs. N. H. Castle, the divorced wife of the district attorney of Alaska, who won notoriety by shooting William Craig, her attorney in her divorce proceedings, last January in the Waldorf Astoria Hotel, New York, is again the central figure in a sensational mystery, of which she is the victim. Yesterday her mutilated body was found in a trunk, floating in the waters of Lake Como. The appearance of the body indicate that a bloody murder has been committed.

Mrs. Castle was the daughter of H. H. Scott, of San Francisco, and a sister of Lieut. Harrison Scott, U. S. A.

CHIEF M'DUFFIE NABS EIGHT JAP GAMBLERS

Chief McDuffie went out on the trail of some oriental gamblers late last night and landed eight Japanese. They were caught in an intensely interesting game of seven-eleven and were so absorbed in their pastime that they did not hear the officers of the law, headed by the big chief, until they were surrounded and captured.

SUGAR TRUST OFFICIALS GUILTY

Secretary and Superintendent of American Refining Company So Declared.

CRIME DISCOVERED IN 1907

Robbed Government by the Use of Short Weighing Scales for Imports.

NEW YORK, June 11.—Charles R. Heike, secretary of the American Sugar Refining Company, and G. W. Gerbracht, formerly general superintendent of the same company, were yesterday found guilty of defrauding the government through the use of fraudulent scales in the Brooklyn scale house, where foreign sugars were entered and checked up for customs purposes. Their trials began on May 17, the cases going to the jury late yesterday afternoon. Last night the verdict of guilty as charged was returned.

The charges against the sugar trust officials were based on information given the government by Richard Parr, a governent employe in the Brooklyn scale house. Acting on his information of crookedness, a raid was made by customs officials in November, 1907. The raid exposed the manner in which the government was being systematically robbed and a number of arrests were subsequently made. The company refunded an enormous sum to the government to cover the loss in customs revenue and, on the basis of this refund, Heike and the other officials pleaded immunity. Their plea went unheeded, however, and he and five other officials faced a judge and jury.

One of the principal witnesses for the government was T. D. Hyatt, known among the weighers as "the square weigher," because he refused to take part in the frauds. His appearance in the weighing house, it was stated in evidence, used to be announced by the ringing of a bell, the signal for hiding the fraudulent devices by which the underweighing was accomplished.

Springs In Scales?

Hyatt described the raid on the scale houses by Government Agents Parr and Brezinski in November, 1907, and identified a piece of metal similar to a corset steel which Parr claimed to have found concealed within the scales.

Hyatt, who was summoned to the dock on the day of the raid, said the action of the spring, introduced through a hole in the scale stanchion, retarded the action of the scale and made it weigh less. Sixteen out of seventeen scales, Hyatt said, contained the holes described.

Hyatt illustrated how the checker would press downward on the steel device, thus causing a loss of about eight notches, or sixteen pounds, when a draft of three bags of sugar was being weighed.

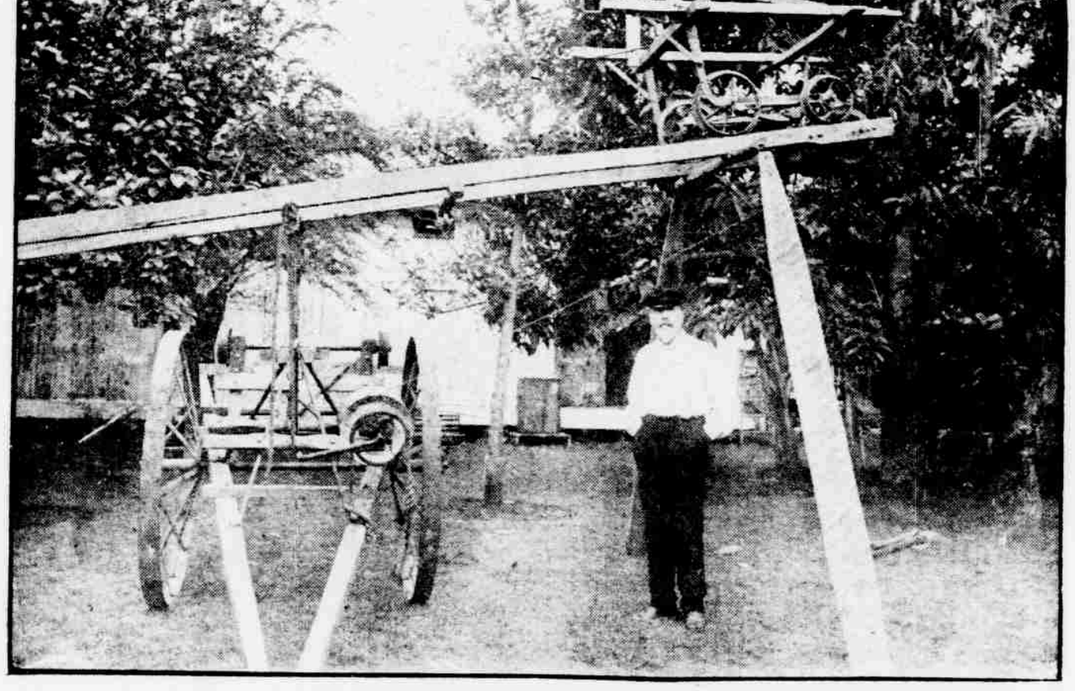
NEW CANE-LOADING MACHINE GIVEN TRIAL YESTERDAY AFTERNOON



THE CROZIER CANELOADER.

At the Honolulu Iron Works yesterday afternoon Foreman Blacksmith Charles Crozier, in the presence of a number of interested plantation men and others, gave a demonstration of the working of a cane-loading machine of which he is the inventor, with the result that the machine will be given a practical trial, in the field, by Manager E. K. Bull of Oahu plantation. While those who saw the tests of the machine had some criticisms to make, they were generally of the opinion that it was a valuable device, and Crozier's plan apparently has a chance to be an important feature of plantation work.

The Crozier plan consists of a very light mechanism designed to do away with the labor of carrying cane to load it on cars. The work is now done by laborers, who walk up planks with cane on their shoulders and dump it into cars. Crozier quickly showed that his plan would load the cane. His scheme is an inclined portable railway track, with a very light car, which is drawn by a pulley up to the necessary height and, by a very simple device, dumps its loads into the car. Crozier "loaded" a thousand tons of cane in a little over two minutes, for the benefit of those present yesterday.

Among those present were C. H. Cooke, E. D. Tenney, E. K. Bull, O. Sorenson, Mr. Davies, C. Hedemann, E. Faxon Bishop, T. H. Petrie, George H. Robertson.

After watching the experiments Mr. Tenney expressed the opinion that the plan upon which Crozier had worked was apparently a practical one. He said it certainly seemed to be nearer to a practical scheme than any other caneloader he had seen.

Manager Bull of Oahu took special interest in the matter, and made arrangements with Manager Hedemann of the Honolulu Iron Works, whereby the Crozier loader will be given a practical trial in the fields. "It is the best idea of a caneloader I have seen," said Bull, "but of course actual work in the field is necessary to really test it." However, Mr. Bull complimented the inventor quite warmly and agreed to put the machine into use.

The loading of cane is the hardest work on plantations. Most of the cane is carried on the shoulders of laborers up to the cars. Other cane-loading machines are all on the derrick principle. Crozier's is a very light portable track and a pulley device by which a carload of cane is easily drawn up and dumped.

Gasoline Row

After a great deal of competitive demonstrating the fire department has selected an automobile through its head, Chief Thurston, and through Chief Thurston will soon be seen chugging about Honolulu's boulevards at the expense of the public's life and limbs.

The car selected is a five-passenger Cartercar Model L, friction drive having won over the other mechanical principles as demonstrated in the autos of other makes throughout the city. The car cost $1800, the price appropriated for it by the board of supervisors in the half-yearly appropriation bill.

Manager Wells of the Royal Hawaiian Garage, who made the sale, is pleased with the result as he is a Cartercar enthusiast and likes to see them about the streets. This model is four-cylinder, 30-35-h. p. with 110-inch wheel base and magneto transmission.

Chemical outfits will be placed on the running boards and all the other available space will be fitted up with fire quenching apparatus. The chief will take four or five men with him in the auto every time an alarm comes in and will thus get them on the scene before the wagons arrive.

Now that the fire department has an auto, what's the matter with one for the police, who really need it?

The doctor studied the pale countenance of the young woman.

"You are anaemic," he said, "and you say you can not sleep. I will not give you any medicine, but I will tell you how you are to get back your appetite and sleep soundly.

"You are to ride in an open automobile eighty miles, at least, every day. The sharp air in your face will stimulate your circulation and give you rosy cheeks. It will soothe your nerves.

"When I prescribe the automobile for you I am giving you the advantage of a number of experiments recently made on an anaemic subject. In this case the effect of automobile exercise on the blood was marvelous. The number of red blood corpuscles to a cubic millimeter of blood rose from 4,300,000 to 5,600,000, during one week of the cure. Eminent doctors say that such an improvement in the condition of the blood could ordinarily have been accomplished only by a prolonged stay in the mountains at an altitude of 3000 to 5000 feet."

Frank Atherton has written to the von Hamm-Young Company from the mainland stating that he is investigating automobiles at the factories at Detroit and that he expects to place his order for one of their cars before the week is out. Willard Brown writes from Massachusetts that he has just visited the great factories of the Stevens-Duryea company. He was shown the greatest attention by the factory people who showed him all over the plant and gave him a ride in one of their big seven-seaters which Mr. Brown states gave him the pleasantest moment he has experienced since he left Hawaii nei."

The Alco cars have not yet started from the works of the American Locomotive Company, their builders, to the Royal Hawaiian Garage, which will become it- agent in Hawaii. The cable announcing their departure was expected last week and a great deal of disappointment was caused by its failure to arrive. Manager Wells, who has purchased one of the cars for himself, sold his other car some time ago expecting the quick arrival of his new one. He will put his new acquisition in the rent service as soon as it reaches Honolulu, and it will be the most expensive one in gasoline row, the selling price of the Alco being over $6000. Willie Wells will drive it.

Fujihara, the first man to institute an automobile service between Honolulu and the "other side" is working up a good business, contrary to expectations of a good many more experienced people who thought an auto stage was too much of an innovation to be a success. His five-seated E. M. F. is doing good work and has needed very little shop attention notwithstanding the heavy strain of the Pali roads. He makes one trip to Kahana and back every day, charging two dollars a passenger.

The 1911 line of Packard cars, made by the Packard Motor Car Company, of Detroit, is a departure from conventional practise, embracing both open and enclosed cars with bodies designed in a new foredoor style. Also, the Packard standard painting colors have been changed from Packard blue and cream yellow, to Packard blue, black and Packard gray.

The new Packard open cars, instead of having bodies of the "torpedo" type, are made with both the front and rear body panels in strong relief and with Victoria carriage lines. These panels are painted blue, striped with gray. The frame, bonnet, fenders and similar parts are black, while the wheels and running gear are gray, striped with black. The effect is not only pleasing but gives the Packard new individuality, the widely-known Packard blue and cream yellow combination which was introduced in 1904 having become quite conventional motor car colors.

The 1911 Packard "Thirty" line consists of a touring car, phaeton, close-coupled car, runabout, limousine, landaulet, coupe, fore-door limousine and fore-door landaulet. The Packard "Eighteen" Town Car is made as a five-passenger open car, close-coupled car, runabout, and in enclosed car styles similar to the "Thirty." Both cars are the same in quality and general design. The list price of the Packard "Thirty" open cars is $4200, and of the "Eighteen" open cars, $3200. The standard equipment of all open cars includes Packard tops. All cars are equipped regularly with continental demountable rims. The tires on the "Thirty" are 36 by 4 1-2 inches, all around, and on the "Eighteen," 34 by 4 inches.

The mechanical improvements in the 1911 cars are extensive but are all in the nature of detail refinement, developing prvious models. The motor of the Packard "Thirty" has four cylinders of 5-inch bore by 5 1-2 inch stroke. It develops 30-brake horsepower at 650 revolutions per minute. The "Eighteen" motor is of 4 1-16-inch bore by 5 1-8-inch stroke, developing 18-brake horsepower at 650 revolutions per minute. The wheel base of the "Thirty" is 123 1-2 inches, except in the case of the runabout, in which it is 108 inches. The "Eighteen" standard wheel base is 112 inches and that of the runabout 102 inches.

The Associated garage has sold another Chalmers Detroit 1911 model, to arrive. The success of this car as the pathfinder for the Glidden tour has given it quite a boost in popularity that is felt in Honolulu as well as New York.

H. B. Odell, who has been representing the Associated garage on Hawaii, is expected to arrive in town this morning and will probably start in to rush plans for his new taxicab venture.

The Schuman Carriage Company have sold two Ford cars during the week, both to Maui customers and both delivered by the Claudine yesterday. One was a touring model and the other a roadster, their purchasers being Mr. Nichols and Mr. Edwards.

The Motor Age, in recapitulating the successes of the various cars for the past season says "A compilation of results would seem to give the honors to the Chalmers which started twenty-two cars in the various events and came home first in five, finished second three times, and third twice. This left twelve cars unplaced."

By their own figures the Chalmers claims, in two seasons, 89 firsts, 32 seconds and 21 thirds, with probably many events counted which the official auto world did not recognize. But it is a good record.

The sales made by the von Hamm-Young garage during the week include several additional bookings for the 1911 Packards, the specifications for which are given above. The same car of the 1910 model that was recently sold to Dr. W. D. Baldwin was delivered during the week. The new models are expected during the middle of July.

Mr. Schoening, the company's agent on Maui, is still playing in the role of Johnny-on-the-Spot, and has sold another Cadillac touring car to a prominent business man on that island, delivery being made on the Claudine yesterday.

Hilo and Hawaii have now gone in for Thomas cars, after trying out the big Buicks, Chalmers Detroits and others of the high-power models submitted for their inspection. The Volcano Stables have recently purchased a Thomas Flyer six cylinder, which will go into service between Hilo and the Volcano House. A second Thomas car was delivered to a Hilo man during the week.

Six Cartercars are scheduled to arrive for the Royal Hawaiian garage in the near future, half of them being of model L, similar to the car just purchased by the fire department and the other half model H double rumble.

There is general satisfaction expressed around town over the police administration of county ordinance 11, which regulates traffic and automobiles in general. A canvass of the garage managements shows a majority who believe the present law to be a beneficial one and a few who think that the speed limits are too severe.

There is, however, no complaint on the manner in which the police have enforced it, for that department is not responsible for the law, however irksome it may prove. Sheriff Jarrett has been so fair in his enforcement of it that no one has a kick coming. William Chilton, the newly appointed automobile officer, has made several arrests during the past week on various sections of the traffic law, the offenders against which have never before been brought to account.

There is also a move on to change the system by which stock and demonstration cars are numbered, and the police will require a strict record kept of all these cars, which bear only a letter, with a name of the passenger, the time of leaving and returning and so forth. A failure to comply with this rule, which is fair enough, will mean that the autos will have to be numbered, similar to all others.

A. A. Young, who left for the Coast several months ago, intending to make an auto tour of California, was compelled to return suddenly without making it, owing to the illness of his father.

up the Nunanu Stream, he noticed a fresh footprint on the soggy grass, and Apana and himself commenced to beat up the brush on one side of the stream while Kamauoha searched the other side.

Kamauoha dropped behind a little, and then noticed Apana and the Hawaiian motioning him to come on, pointing excitedly into the creek. Upon arriving there they saw the form of a man lying behind several rocks near the stream.

Officer Minvielle then arrived on the scene, and leaving him, Apana and the boy to surround the man, Kamauoha went back to telephone for the chief. He was unable to get him, and also missed the sheriff and Deputy Rose, whereupon he returned.

Meanwhile McDuffie was already on his way up the valley hunting for his men but he found only Officer Oleson, whom he picked up. Further up the road the young assistants of Kamauoha and Apana, who had been set to watch for him, stopped him and told him that the man had been surrounded down in the valley.

McDuffie and Oleson started out through the brush and had got but thirty feet or so from the spot where the men were hiding when they heard three shots. McDuffie jumped forward and promptly disappeared in the bowels of the earth, having landed in a ten-foot hole. Clambering out of this he started for the direction of the sounds and found Kamauoha.

The latter had seen the man move above the rocks and then get behind them, where he stayed. Kamauoha then turned his gun on the officers, Minvielle returning the fire, when the chief arrived on the scene and stopped the shooting.

He told Kamauoha to tell the man in native, if he was there to come out or they'd shoot. The man, however, did not wait for an interpretation but gave a grunt and came forth with his hands held over his head.

Kamauoha handcuffed him and he was taken at once to the city.

In the meanwhile Doctors Wood and Mackall had performed an autopsy on the body of the murdered woman and decided that death had resulted from a puncture of the femoral artery and a consequent internal hemorrhage. She had been shot in the head and in the ankle as well as in the thigh, the latter wound proving to be the fatal one.

As soon as Kaluna was brought to the city station, Chief McDuffie, Prosecutor Brown, Deputy Rose and Sheriff Jarrett cross-examined him, Brown saying when it was over that he would hate to be in Kaluna's shoes.

From Kaluna's own statements it seems that he has been living with the woman for over eight years but that recently she had "taken up" with another workman at the reservoir. Kaluna had formerly been a soldier under the monarchy and was later a policeman under Brown's administration. After leaving this position he had worked for awhile as a stevedore and then secured the job at the dam.

He had been living there for a short time when he suspected the woman, who is not his wife, of going with another workman, and about a week ago got into a fight with him. Kaluna was beaten up a bit and his assailant was arrested on a charge of assault and battery. The latter posted a $25 bail which he forfeited and the police heard no more about the case until they picked up the dead woman.

For this scrap Kaluna lost his job at the dam and going into town he bought a revolver which he stated he intended to use on his successful rival.

However, yesterday morning Julia came back to his house to get her clothes. He became incensed with her and started to beat her over the head with the butt of the revolver. The neighbors heard her screams, saw the revolver in the mans' hands and telephoned the police that there had been a shooting scrap.

His anger growing, Kaluna threatened to shoot her, and as the police arrived the woman was clinging to his back pleading with him to spare her life. According to his own statement, he then calmly reached around his body firing three shots into her. He shook her body from him and escaped just as the police arrived.

SPORTS

OUTRIGGER LADS FROLIC IN SURF

Hold Paddle and Sailing Races and Ride Erect on Crest of Big Waves.

The sea had a great frolic with the outrigger youngsters at Waikiki yesterday afternoon, letting them in on all kinds of sport. It tossed them up and turned some under, almost smothering them in the gurgles of its surf, while many took long rides on the crest of its big waves. It upset canoes, giving the boys playful duckings and was just bubbling over with mirth for the affairs. Two-paddle, three-paddle, and six-paddle races, sailing and surfing took up the afternoon.

A triangular course had been marked out by a spar buoy directly opposite the Outrigger Club grounds and a big buoy off the end of the Moana pier. The starting point for the canoe races was from the club beach, the course extending around the buoys and back to the club again. The two and three paddle races only went out to the first stake and back.

Three-Paddle Race.

The three-paddle race was the first event of the afternoon, starting at four o'clock, and the outrigger Kaliuwa paddled by Captain Francis Cooper, who acted as steerer, Babe Pratt and Willie Harris, won this event. There were three entries, the other two being the Kanakanui, paddled by Captain Marston Campbell Jr., steerer, Frank Foster and Fred Short, and the Palolo, by Captain Sam Carter, steerer, Fred Carter and Elbert Tuttle. The Kaliuwa got away from the beach first. The Kanakanui pulled up in the first lap, got the inside of the course and rounded the stake first, but took too wide a turn and the Kaliuwa cut in on a short turn, recovering the lead and winning the race. The Palolo, which was last to get away, was swamped in the surf and did not go over the course.

Two-Paddle Race.

Marston Campbell Jr. and Frank Foster won the two-paddle race in the Kanakanui against Francis Cooper and Malcolm Tuttle in the Kaliuwa, and Sam and Fred Carter in Castle's outrigger. The winners rounded the stake first, making a wide turn, and the others cut in but could not hold the lead. Cooper and Tuttle came in second and the Carter boys last.

Sailing Race.

By this time Captains Magoon and Hustace had the masts and canvas rigged up in the outriggers Kona and Helakulani and the crews were picked for the sailing race around the triangular course. This race, however, was not finished, as the Helakulani capsized in the surf after she had taken the lead. The mast worked loose as the Helakulani was getting under way and the sail took a dip in the water, but the crew quickly secured the mast, brought her up into the wind and had gained the lead inside of the course when the Helakulani capsized opposite the first stake. The crew later brought the boat and the rigging in separately. The Kona proceeded on the course until she had rounded the first stake and then headed seaward on a pleasure cruise which lasted about half an hour, instead of covering the course. Captain Magoon went straight out, then took the opposite tack, came back to the Seaside Hotel and headed out to sea again, when Alexander Hume Ford, who was master of ceremonies, sent a canoe out after the sailer because the six-paddle race was awaiting her return. Frank Anderson, Marston Campbell Jr., and Willie Coney were with Magoon in the Kona and Captain Hustace and Eddy Hutchinson, Joseph Pratt and Kenneth Reidford with him on the Helakulani.

Six-Paddle Race.

The Kona won the six-paddle race, the White Horse coming in second and Doctor Wall's canoe last. The Kona was manned by Captain Eaton Magoon, Frank Anderson, Marmion Magoon, Kenneth Reidford, Sam Carter and Will Coney; the White Horse by Captain Marston Campbell Jr., D. L. Peterson, Will Harris, Bill Chapman, Henley Chapman and Arthur Brown, and Doctor Wall's canoe by Captain Curtis Hustace, Francis Cooper, Eddy Hutchinson, Elbert Tuttle, Fred Carter and Babe Pratt.

The three canoes started together and kept abreast in close formation until near the first turn when the Kona shot out from the middle, took the inside of the course and rounded the first stake in the lead. The White Horse came around second and the Wall canoe last. They all rounded the second marker opposite the Moana pier in the same order which was maintained to the finish.

Miss Pratt Best Surfer.

The surfing contest was the aquatic event which concluded the afternoon's sports. Miss Josephine Pratt being the only winner of a trophy. Miss Pratt and Carroll Lowe were the only girls to compete in this thrilling event and, although they went far out beyond where the big rollers form, they could be distinguished by the color of their bathing suits. Miss Pratt wore dark blue and Miss Lowe bright red. Both showed remarkable skill in riding the big waves on the surf boards but Miss Pratt made the longest standing ride, catching a huge wave and staying with it almost to the shore. When it broke all around her she seemed to be swallowed up in the foam, but held her balance despite the furious rush of the wave and stood erect throughout the whole course of her flight. There were nine entries for the boy's trophy in the surfing contest, but Col. J. H. Soper, who acted as judge of the events, was unable to distinguish the contestants from the shore and there was no judges' boat provided, so that Miss Pratt was the only one to be awarded a Clark cup.

Short Makes Long Dash.

The boys' contest, Mr. Ford said, would be repeated at some later date. S. T. Short, a Y. M. C. A. lad, and Will Evans, however, made the longest dash. They both started together on the same wave just as it was beginning to roll up far out at sea. Short wore a dark blue suit and Evans bright red. They presented a thrilling spectacle perched erect on top of the wave, the great billow gathering momentum as it sped on toward the shore. As it broke in its mad dash up the beach the two lads stood like apparitions borne on through the mist, with the sea frothing and foaming under their feet. From as far out as they could be seen they stayed with the wave until they reached shallow water by the Moana Hotel. Young Evans was the first to drop down but there was hardly a man's length between them when they both left the boards.

Ran Over Surf Board.

Frank Anderson was directly in front of Young Short as the two surfers were just starting the dash. He saw them coming and plunged into the sea, while Short rode right over his board. Short said afterward that he could feel the scrape as he passed over it but he managed to keep his balance and stayed with the wave.

Duke Powell, a native lad, performed the most startling feat, coming in on his head with both feet raised straight in the air, and young Marston Campbell gave a good exhibition of stunts on the board. The boys in the surfing contest were S. T. Short, William Evans, Duke Powell, Marston Campbell Jr., Malcom Tuttle, Donald Ross, William Harris, Frank Anderson and Young Fitzpatrick.

PUNS SHUT CENTRALS OUT NINE TO NOTHING

St. Louis Grammar League Team Ends Season With Clean Slate.

Punahou closed the grammar school baseball season in a blaze of glory, winning from Central nine to nought. Chup, who pitched his first regular game of the season, was in fine form and let his opponents down without the semblance of a hit. He passed only one man and was given faultless support by his teammates. Eleven men struck out before his curves.

Punahou won the game in the first inning by scoring six runs off Chang, who started to pitch for Central. Galbraith, who relieved him, pitched good ball, striking out eight men. Following are the lineups and score:

Punahou—Wadsworth, c; Koma, ss; Baldwin, 3b; Murray, 2b; Inman, 1b; Kim Wai, cf; Podmore, lf; Thompson, E. Gay and L. Gay, rf; Chup, p.

CAL LEONARD BRINGS RUNNING HORSE HERE

The race horse which arrived on the Lurline Wednesday consigned to Charley Bellina is in charge of Cal Leonard, the well-known California horseman who has been in the Islands several times training for local owners. He is a very capable conditioner and jockey, it was said yesterday.

The horse is believed to be for L. Warren of the Honouliuli Ranch, and will probably be entered in the Maui races on the Fourth along with Warning and Indigo from Warren's stable. The newcomer is a good horse and local turfmen say that he will make it interesting for John O'Rourke's St. Avon, previously conceded to be the best horse on the islands.

DAY FULL OF ALL KINDS OF SPORTS

Racing, Pig Chasing, Tennis, Baseball, Golf, Polo Game and Pugilistic Bouts.

There will be enough doing today to meet every variety of sporting fancy, and those of the holiday joy-seekers who care to make a salmagundi party affair of it can have a continuous performance from dawn, or before, until midnight of Kamehameha Day.

International Race.

First, last and all the time, will be the international go-as-you-please at the rink. Seven nations will be represented in this distance contest, which is the first event of its kind ever presented to the Hawaiian public. It is a form of attraction that will arouse flitting interest throughout the day and invite an occasional glimpse to see how the various teams are bearing up in the human race for the national long-distance supremacy. These occasional glances during the day will stir up a sort of country's pride among the different nationalities residing here, and at night as the time draws nigh to call a halt on the long stride, patriotic impulses will impel American, Hawaiian, Briton, Japanese, Chinese and Portuguese to the ringside where the miles are being torn off around the fifteen-lap track. As each runner flashes by bearing his country's colors in the struggle the enthusiasm should swell into universal acclaim in this comity of nations for the team that has covered the greatest distance, the winners to be announced immediately after the ten-thirty-finish gun is fired.

Progressive Tennis.

Next in line of novelty features of the day is the progressive tennis tournament which will be a continuous performance from nine o'clock in the morning until about five o'clock in the afternoon, with three hours intermission during the heat of the day. Twelve teams have entered for this racket and each one will play six sets of two games each, win or lose, the winners moving up toward No. 1, the head court, and the losers remaining to meet the others in the progression. All three of the Beretania courts, the two Neighborhood courts and one of the Pacific courts will be the scenes of terrific volleying throughout the day, and no one who passes either way can miss a look in at least at this form of exhaust of superfluous energy.

Athletic Sports.

For a bit of fun the greased pig chase has got them all skinned. This will be sandwiched between the three-mile amateur championship race, which is scheduled to begin at one-thirty, and the three-legged sprint at Athletic Park this afternoon.

Baseball and Polo.

At the league grounds there will be two baseball games between the First Infantry, N. G. H., and the Fort Shafter teams, and the Marines and Barry's Hospital Corps, the first game starting at one-thirty this afternoon.

There will be a polo practise game on Moanalua field and out at the Oahu Country Club links there will be a four-ball golf tournament to gratify the more sedate sporting fanciers of those who like to swat the ball at leisure.

Squared Circle.

The all-day whirl will have a furious finish at Aloha Park in the evening when the climax of excitement will be reached during the clash of the two pugilistic whirlwinds, Nelson and Cornyn, who will battle for the welter weight championship of the Islands, preceded by a four and a six-round bout between Bugler Sarsone, the Marine, and Young Gans, Jim Hono and Tim Terrien. If no one is put to sleep in the encounters the reaction from this stirring finale will probably be sufficiently conducive to slumber for all those who revel in the Kamehameha Day sports.

SCRAP IN THE CANE FOR WHITEWASH

Since the withdrawal of the Waialua plantation team from the plantation league, the Waialuans have not been idle in the baseball line, for they have already arranged one grand game with the famous Wainlee baseball team today at Waialua. It will be a game such as we never saw before.

The Waialees are a crack team, of course they are, otherwise the Waialuas would not butt up against them. The Wainlee team is said to have pitchers who never walked a man, catchers who never passed a ball, first basemen who never made an error and outfielders who never missed a fly.

It is rumored along the line that these star players, who are coming over to Waialua on tallyho, are determined to wipe the earth with the sassy sons of the plantation. In their tallyho, the Waialees will bring a barrel of whitewash inside of an iron box securely locked, guarded by the school teachers and some of the students. It is their intention to carry this whitewash tub aloft to the Waialua field and there have it spilled all over everything. The genial superintendent of the school, Mr. Gibson, will be there accompanied by a small army of minor students and surrounded by the famous Waialee band, will root for the winning Waialees.

Captain Aehiu of Waialua has been busy making preparations for this great game. His peerless aggregation have been told that they must keep up their reputation. Everybody knows about the sad events that happened in the vicinity of Haleiwa some time ago regarding the 'Tisers' whitewash tub, when the wily burglars of Waialua, by stealth and the use of burglar tools, broke into the baggage car and opened the barrel of whitewash and put it over those innocent swat artists.

Since it is rumored that the Waialees are coming full of hope and confidence to win, Manager Waikoloa has ordered his starry aggregation of ball-tossers to invent something to break open the iron box containing the tub of whitewash. Blacksmith Keonaona, catcher of Waialua, has invented a new design of burglar tools, and if he fails in this, there is Jack Souza, an expert horse-trainer on the plantation, who will let his span of horses kick open this iron box, and failing in this effort, Captain Lincoln Aehiu, who has recently made a study of the power of hypnotism, will certainly hypnotize the teachers and students guarding the whitewash tub, and with the help of his supporters will break it and carry the tub on the diamond and let this fatal fluid of barn-wall use trickle slowly over the innocent visitors.

It is understood that the Waialee band will play during the game. After the game, the visitors will be treated to a fine dinner at the Haleiwa Hotel and they will go home happy, whether they win or lose.

FIGHTERS IN TRIM FOR THE BATTLE TONIGHT

Pat Cornyn and "Battling" Nelson are in fine condition for the championship fight to be pulled off at Aloha Park, and both are conserving their energy for the engagement tonight when they will go to it for a knockout.

Paddy Ryan has been selected as the referee. Ryan was chosen by the principals out of a bunch of five. The others were Jimmy Fox, Bert Bower, Jack Scully and Mike Paton.

CUTS WORLD'S RECORD AT TWENTIETH MILE

Forrest Two Minutes Ahead, but Fails to Hold Pace to Marathon Finish.

Joe Forrest was two minutes ahead of the world's record at the end of the twentieth mile in the last of the series of skate marathon races at the rink last night, but he could not stand the pace to the finish. His final time, however, was only one minute twenty-four and three-fifths seconds behind the record. He covered the twenty-six miles, three hundred and sixty-five yards last night in 1 hour, 36 minutes and 25 seconds. The world's record on a larger track is 1:35:2-5. Forrest cut his time made last Saturday night down by 2 minutes, 8 and 1-5 seconds, his previous time being 1:38:44 1-5.

By winning the third race of the series last night Forrest comes into full possession of the McCandless cup, the Hustace medal and a ukulele which was put up as a special prize for the winner of the last event.

Charley Freitas came in second in the race, Joe Freitas third and Peterson fourth. Peterson was about five miles behind the third man at the finish.

Charley Freitas was awarded a small silver cup, Joe Freitas an order on Vieira's jewelry store for a suitable trophy and Peterson secured an order on Jack Scully for "something or other."

EXPECT TO SEE EWA TEAM IN FINALS

Tennis fans have it doped out that Greenfield and McKeever, the crack team from the Ewa plantation, will meet Castle and Nowell in the finals of the progressive tournament, which are expected to be reached about four o'clock this afternoon on the Beretania courts.

This will be the first time the Ewa combination has ventured onto local courts this season. The committee in charge, consisting of A. L. Castle, William Thompson and A. M. Nowell, has purchased two cups to be awarded to each member of the team winning the greatest number of games in today's tournament.

The committee has issued the following set of rules governing the play:

All matches to be two sets only, and no deuce sets to be played.

Every game won to be counted as one point.

Every team to play six matches, the team winning the most games during the play to be the winner.

Winners on court No. 1 to remain on same court, the winners on every other court to move up to the next higher court.

Losers on court No. 1 to move down to court No. 6, the losers on every other court to remain on same court.

In case of tie games in any one match, teams to toss, and winner of toss must progress.

Four matches to be played in the forenoon, commencing at nine o'clock, and two matches in the afternoon, commencing at three o'clock.

At conclusion of play, in case of a tie in games won, the team losing the less number of games to be declared the winner.

All matches must be completed and trophies awarded today.

Balls will be furnished by the committee in charge.

Entrance fee, two dollars per team, in advance.

The Neighborhood courts are located at the head of Victoria street, on Spencer.

TAKING OUT INK STAINS.

If the living room or library carpet has ink spots on it try the following remedy: Pour cold water on the spot, taking it up again with a spoon. Lay a cloth around the spot to prevent spreading, then apply a dilute solution of oxalic acid, sponging it quickly. If the color changes, apply ammonia water.

THIS SETTLES IT.

In an authoritative article in the Bulletin yesterday, printed in impressive, bold, black type, the statement is made that the wicked prohibitionists are saying that a vote against prohibition is a vote for a wide-open town. The article is authoritative because it is signed by Paul R. Bartlett, whose brother runs the brewery and knows all about the wicked prohibitionists. Mr. Bartlett, author, not brewer, is also an employe of the Bulletin, another proof of his perfect disinterestedness in the matter and another reason why he should be in a position to know all about the wicked prohibitionists who "want to run this town," who even "want to take the bread out of honest men's mouths" and who are strongly suspected by the Bulletin of being "a gang."

Mr. Bartlett, the author, not the brewer, says in righteous indignation, as well as bold, black type:

> A deliberate effort is being made to mislead the voter of Hawaii as to the true issue that is before the people of the Territory for determination on July 26.
> It has been declared that the voter will then be presented with two alternatives—that one is giving his support to a prohibitory law; the other to cast his ballot against prohibition, thereby placing his seal of approval on having a "wide-open town" for the Territory in general.
> This is a gross misconstruction of the intent of the plebiscite resolution and the practical effect that will follow a majority vote against the enactment of prohibitory legislation.

This expose settles the whole question. The bold, black type itself is enough to do that, even if the words were not the words of Paul R. Bartlett, brother of the brewer. After this the committee of one hundred need not expect mercy. The whole plan for taking the bread out of honest men's mouths has been uncovered and hereafter these honest men may have bread and beer by mouthfuls alternately, with Mr. Bartlett, the brewer this time, not the author, supplying the beer.

Of course, some prohibitionists, undismayed by the bold, black type and the name of Paul R. Bartlett, may object and state that the "wide-open-town" idea was born in the brains of the Bartlett family, both brewer and author this time. They may deny that they ever said any such thing, thought any such thing or have been fools enough to suppose any such thing, and they may call upon Mr. Bartlett, the author, not the brewer, for some proof of his remark made so boldly in such black type.

This will avail them nothing. As has been pointed out, Mr. Bartlett, whose Christian name is Paul, followed by an R. is a brother of the brewer of the same name without the Paul and the R. and is, of course, too impartial to say the thing that is not. He is also, as has been also pointed out, an employe of the Bulletin, which regards proof in the same way that it regards grammar, something that only faddists and missionaries bother about.

Consequently, we may regard the whole question as settled. Paul R. Bartlett has spoken; the brother of the brewer has told us what is what and an employe of the Bulletin has set our wayward feet back into the right path. For the populace it is all over but the shouting and for the Bulletin everything is done except to make its collections.

A TIMELY WARNING.

The Hilo Tribune warns the community of the loss to Hawaii in a promotion way that will result from foolhardiness at the volcano which terminates in any loss of life. The Tribune says:

> It is about time that a stop should be put to the performance of the material for the foolkiller who persist in tempting fate by venturing down into the innermost depth of the crater, generally for no other purpose than that of being able to brag of their performance afterwards.
> Last week a young Hilo man did this stunt, and had a narrow escape. According to the testimony of reliable witnesses, this man went down on one of the lowest ledges, and in less than fifteen minutes after he had left it to climb back to safety, the ledge fell into the seething mass of liquid lava. It did not require much imagination to picture what would have happened had the ledge fallen in while the chump in question was on it. It was enough to render a couple of lady visitors almost hysterical, and, if the young man thought he was gaining admiration from those who saw his feat, he was mistaken, for they appear to have been dominated by a preponderating desire to kick him.
> The fact that, if such performances are allowed to continue, some otherwise fairly valuable citizens may be unnecessarily lost, should alone be enough to put a stop to the practise of baiting Pele, but the point which is of main interest to the community here lies in the fact that if ever the foolkiller should take a swat at one of these adventurers, and he should be precipitated into the cauldron, the news of this would rapidly spread, and the effect on tourist travel would cause a certain loss to the business which the town is now deriving from that source. One single such accident would, as it would be certain to be exaggerated, do more to ruin the newly created tourist trade than could be remedied by thousands of dollars' worth of advertising. Hawaii can now boast of its "tame" volcano. Let no fools take that reputation away. The Volcano House people have long frowned on the practice, but appear to have been unable to stop it. Probably it can be best done by public opinion. It should be done.

PROHIBITION IN DOLLARS AND CENTS.

That it pays to close the saloons has been clearly demonstrated in the State of Ohio, in the forty "dry" counties in that State the savings banks reporting an increase in total deposits and in the number of depositors within a year following the enactment of antisaloon legislation. The comparisons are based on returns for the month of November, 1908, when saloons were allowed by law in the counties, and for the month of November, 1909, eleven months after the saloons had been closed.

In all, sixty-three banks in the forty "dry" counties show a total gain in savings deposits of $40,000. Forty-seven reported increased deposits and most of them showed an increase in the number of depositors. Ten reported a loss of deposits; five reported no difference.

With this splendid showing went glimmering the hopes of the Ohio liquor men, who predicted financial disaster and wide-spread ruin as a result of closing the saloons. In the county campaigns, in 1908, the argument most persistently urged by the liquor men was that if the counties were voted "dry," business depression and industrial stagnation would follow. Banks, their deposits and depositors, constitute an excellent business barometer, and especially the savings-banks show the prosperity of the large army of workers.

In a few of the banks there is a reason for unusual fluctuations in deposits. An occasional bank had state, county or other funds, which have been withdrawn, and, on the other hand, a few banks now have state funds and did not have them. In some instances deposits have been lowered by the increased demand for money caused by better business conditions. But, on the whole, considerable of this increase must be attributed to the closing of the saloons, the saving of money which formerly went over the saloon bar and its expenditure in legitimate channels of trade.

Some of the savings banks report a big increase in depositors as well as in deposits. For instance, the American Trust & Savings Co., of Springfield, increased its deposits $67,602 from January 1, 1909, to November 16, 1909, while the number of its depositors jumped from 1852 to 2382 in the same period, while for the entire year from January 1, 1908, to January 1, 1909, the increase in the number of depositors was less than 200.

The banks quoted are distributed all over "dry" Ohio territory. They do not belong to a select list. The only knowledge of most of them was that their names appeared in the bankers' directory.

Let these banks tell their own story; it is an interesting one, and should be read and studied by "wets" and "drys" alike. If these banks had simply held their own, the arguments of the liquor men would be nullified; but, as they have so largely increased their business and the number of their patrons, these reports should convince all that, from the standpoint of dollars and cents alone, it pays to close the saloon.

The series of murders during the past few months, in which Hawaiians have figured, amazes those who know the people of that race best, not the least amazing part of the series being the way in which revolvers have been used as the weapons of revenge. Hawaiians have never been regarded as particularly bloodthirsty and the history of crime in this country, until recently, holds few references to the use of the gun in the hands of Hawaiians. This matter is a subject of comment among the police officials. One point to remember in connection with the majority of murders and homicides of the past two years is that those who shed human blood first robbed their brains of reasoning power through the use of intoxicants.

Official word has gone out that the Judiciary Building is unsafe. The same information could have been secured long ago from High Henry's guests on the reef. Many of them visited that place in the past and found it decidedly unsafe, not to say disagreeable.

The secretary of the sugar trust has been caught, indicted and convicted of robbing the government. The next question is to get him in jail and after that to keep him there.

Jack Atkinson is not exactly lost in the Far East. The board of immigration merely does not know his present address.

Letters From The People

A YEAR AGO TODAY.

Editor Advertiser:—I am anxious that this letter shall reach you in time, that you may insert it in your issue of June 11, the anniversary of the tragic accident at the Hackfeld wharf—when I stood face to face with death in its most awful form—and from which several people will carry the marks of someone's criminal carelessness to the end of their lives.

This is only that I may send greeting and thankfulness to the many charming people of Honomu—strangers then, but friends forevermore, who were so kind and thoughtful for us during the days of uncertainty and suffering.

It is also that I may register the hope, that your officials have so lighted and safeguarded your wharves and streets that there are no more death-traps in beautiful Honolulu.

Mrs. Green is quite recovered physically, and while her nerves will never let her forget that night of horror, we are planning on our trip around the world, which begins in April, 1911, a long stay in the Paradise of the Pacific. With cordial regard, yours sincerely.

THOS. E. GREEN.

FAVORS LOWREY SUGGESTION.

Editor Advertiser:—It certainly is foolish for the members of our merchants' association to tell Uncle Sam to reduce the size of his building here if the site selected is not large enough. One would think it is their own building he is putting up. They forgot it is a United States building, erected for the accommodation of U. S. officials. Are not some people talking for their own personal gain? Does it make any difference whether or not another year is spent in preparing for this building, provided we get what we want?

I think the suggestion that two buildings be asked for, if the lot is too small, should have met with greater consideration at the hands of this body, and the proposal by Mr. Lowrey in this morning's issue of your paper could well be taken up at Washington with good prospects of winning. And it is a splendid suggestion, and should meet the approval of all parties. The business community want the postoffice down town, for convenience of the present generation. As to the judiciary, it can well be farther away from the business center. I would suggest that the Territory furnish a site for the judiciary building, that the present judiciary grounds be used for the purpose, and that Uncle Sam erect the building, one large and commodious enough for both territorial and federal courts. Could not our Governor, while East, take it up with the authorities at Washington, and save time? If met with their approval, it need not much delay the beginning of the erection of the postoffice and customhouse on the site selected. With Honolulu divided on the matter, as it is, their is uncertainly as to what is to be done and delay any way. It is said that a hundred thousand is needed to repair the territorial judiciary building. This is a way to save that sum.

SUCH IGNORANCE!

Editor Advertiser:—This morning's paper reports that a requisition has been made to deport the Russian Vasileff because he is an anarchist and a socialist.

It seems too bad that such an enormous amount of ignorance exists that prejudice can be appealed to by such jumbling classifications. I do not know whether Vasileff is an anarchist or a socialist, but if he is the one, he can not be the other and the heads of department offices should know it and should refrain from utterances that enable Sam Gompers or any other person from "getting his facts twisted." Indeed, it is little wonder that there are so many facts to get twisted, despite whitewash brushes, when one duly considers the report in this morning's paper.

H. CULMAN.

[The letter of the United States District attorney refers to Vasileff as "an anarchist and a socialist." The terms are not synonymous, but this paper is not responsible for that.—Ed. Advertiser.]

STEEL BUTTONS REVIVED

Seek out your old polished steel buttons, for they are an evidence of the latest style in costuming. They belong to the shepherd's plaid suit, to the navy blue serge or to the mulberry linen.

Any shape will do; the ball button is much sought for, but there is also the big flat one the size of a dime, a nickel or a quarter.

Use metal polish to restore them, and give them a rub with leather before you put them on.

The most picturesque feature of the affair was the illuminated canoe sailing. Tourists, kamaainas and malihinis also went into ecstacies over the sight of Japanese-lanterned surfboats riding the waves in the dark. The night was a clear one, with a crescent moon, and the electric illumination and the lantern lights of the canoes made a picture not to be forgotten.

Beginning at five o'clock, a chowder was served to hundreds of guests. At the same time the various booths were liberally patronized, and the club will realize a neat sum from the sales made. The grounds of the Outrigger Club, between the Seaside and Moana hotels, were occupied by prettily decorated booths, at which ladies served refreshments and sold flowers, and before the time for opening the dancing program, late in the evening, they had made handsome realizations.

The Outrigger Club booth was in charge of Mrs. Tuttle, with Mrs. Hall and Mrs. Ramsay as assistants. It was the first one visited by most of the guests. Close by was the lemonade stand, in charge of Mrs. Booth as chairman, with Mrs. Gartley, Mrs. Dutra and Mrs. Mackay as assistants. Many kinds of soft drinks were served here, and nearly everybody gave the booth a call.

Mrs. R. C. Brown presided at the candy booth. With her, to aid in entertaining and receiving visitors, were Mrs. Riedford, Miss Ehrhorn, Miss Jessie Kennedy, Miss Muriel Howatt, Miss Helen Brown, Miss Edna Curtis. With this gathering of salesladies the booth sold candy even to people who might not have wanted it, but for the chance to buy it at this booth.

Tea was served and jams and fruits sold at a booth presided over by Mrs. Graham, Mrs. Eubank and Mrs. Alder. The booth as decorated looked as if it nestled in the midst of an orchard in which were growing all sorts of fruits, from pomegranates to pineapples, and it was a popular visiting place.

Miss Newcomb presided at the coffee booth, another delightfully arranged and decorated corner. With her were Mrs. Fuller, Mrs. Smithies and Miss Lucy Ward. They had a steady stream of visitors and enjoyed their evening task of serving them as much as the visitors enjoyed their calls at the booth.

Ice cream and cake were in general demand, and at times it was hard for those in charge of supplying the visitors with these to keep up with the demands for their services. Mrs. C. Du Roi, Mrs. Galt, Mrs. Murphy, Mrs. Haneberg, Mrs. F. Harris and a number of other young ladies did a hustling business at this booth.

Flowers and leis were sold by the hundred at a booth presided over by Miss Lyons, with the assistance of Mrs. Fred Carter, Miss Roby Chase, Miss Gussy Schlemmer, Miss Amy Stratemeyer, Miss Sybil Carter, Miss Dorothy Waldron, Miss Irene Boyd and Miss Holt. The booth was so attractive that a number of visitors were observed buying buttonholes and leis twice over, and a big stock of decorations was disposed of.

Kapellmeister Berger and the county band were present, and helped with the entertainment. The non-arrival of the McRae company on the Mauna Loa yesterday morning left the expected vaudeville program shy, but an improvised program was given, under the direction of W. D. Adams.

Dancing was enjoyed late in the evening on the new platform of the Outrigger Club. The entertainment and floor committee was composed of Frank Armstrong, Harold Giffard, W. H. McInerny and A. Mackintosh.

The members of the Outrigger Club were enthusiastic in their praises of those mainly responsible for the affair, Alexander Hume Ford, as the main mover in the enterprise, being enthusiastically commended. Ford was ably seconded by Mr. Tuttle.

CHINESE STUDENTS ISSUE NEAT ANNUAL

The Chinese Student's Annual has just been issued from the press of the Hawaiian Gazette Company, published by the Chinese Students' Alliance of Hawaii. It is an exceptionally neat little volume of seventy two pages, the cover design being drawn by a young Chinese student and selected as the best of a number submitted in competition, the selection being made by the Gazette company.

The feature of the little book is the splendid English used in its articles, even the "reformed spelling" being adopted. There are political and other pertaining articles by Honolulu Chinese, all well illustrated.

OLD POLO PLAYERS WHO MAY FORM OAHU TEAM THIS YEAR

The second polo practise game of the season will start about half-past three o'clock this afternoon on Moanalua field. The games scheduled for last Wednesday afternoon was called off on account of the rain. Seventeen enthusiasts have declared their intentions to enter the preliminaries to train for a place on the 1910 team which will enter the field from this island in the interisland matches to commence this summer. Only seven turned out on the first day of practise, a week ago, and Frank Baldwin said yesterday that he hoped there would be at least enough on the ground today to make up two full teams for the game.

The horses are fine material, being quick and speedy, but they need hardening up and two days of scrimmage each week will put them in condition. If they don't get their work regularly they will not be in condition to stand the strain when the regular series of games start in August. The same men who formed the team last year expect to enter the field this year and they may make up the regular team for the coming games. They are S. A. Baldwin, Walter F. Dillingham, J. L. Fleming and W. D. Baldwin.

MARINE TEAMS FORM A BATALLION LEAGUE

The Marines have merged their company baseball teams into a battalion league and have barred the members of the big team, which plays in the Military and Oahu league games, from participating in the intercompany games. This will make the company teams more evenly matched, it was said yesterday, and will develop some good material for the big team.

The A company team put it on to the C aggregation, seven to one, in a seven-inning game under the new rules yesterday, and the winner has posted a challenge signed by "Chuck" Conners, manager, and C. N. Schave, captain, —barring all big leaguers,—to play for the best two out of three games. Following is the score by innings and summary of yesterday's game:

Co. A.....	1	1	2	3	0	0	0	—7	10	1
Co. C.....	0	0	0	0	0	0	1	—1	1	4

TEAMS WILL PLAY BALL AFTER AMATEUR SPORTS

A baseball game between the Muhocks and the Asahis of the Oahu junior league, will follow the three-mile race for the amateur championship, the greased pig chase and the three-legged race at Athletic Park this afternoon. The batteries are: C. Moryama and T. Moryama for the Asahi team and Wah Kai and Xavier for the Muhocks.

The pig which is to beat it all over the field with a bunch of pork eaters hot after him, weighed just forty-five pounds last night. Sam Hop said, and is guaranteed under the pure food law.

TO DRAFT ATHLETIC UNION CONSTITUTION

After due deliberation, Lorrin Andrews has selected Stanley Livingston of the Kamehameha Schools, R. S. Gault, president of the Boys' Club and Grammar School league, and James H. Fiddes, president of the Hawaiian Association Football, to serve on the committee which is to draft the constitution and bylaws for the Hawaiian Amateur Athletic Association.

WATERFRONT NEWS

SUSPICIOUS CASE HOLDS UP LINER SIBERIA

Owing to the discovery of a suspicious case of sickness, thought to be plague, among the Russian steerage passengers aboard the Pacific Mail steamship Siberia yesterday when the vessel arrived off port from Yokohama, the vessel was detained at the quarantine grounds from eleven in the forenoon until about two in the afternoon, when the quarantine officials had the vessel brought inside the harbor and moored at Quarantine wharf. There the steerage passengers were landed, to be held in quarantine on the island. An hour afterward the liner was alongside the Alaken wharf where pratique was given as far as the cabin passengers are concerned, they being allowed ashore and communication permitted from shore to the vessel.

There was a sharp colloquy between Doctor Sinclair, the quarantine officer who went out to board the liner, and Captain Zeeder of the Siberia, a difference of opinion arising as to what constituted a "lee side" for boarding. The discussion between the quarantine launch and the bridge of the liner was brief. The quarantine official order to steamer captains is that they shall give a lee side for the officers to board the vessel either by Jacob's ladder or gangway. Captain Zeeder was certain that he knew what a lee was and that he had given it. Doctor Sinclair was equally positive that he hadn't. The quarantine officials have rather the best of an argument of this sort, but the matter may go further and probably land in a lump in a Washington office.

The Siberia is traveling with a large list of cabin passengers, several of whom landed here, giving additional room for passengers booked from Honolulu for the trip to the Coast. Among the layovers are Count Pozzo de Borgo and Count de Neverlee, Prof. and Mrs. Eskart, relatives of Director Eckart of the Hawaiian Sugar Planters' Experiment Station; Miss C. W. Flanders, sister of Mrs. John Effinger, and George F. Renton, manager of Ewa plantation, who made a round trip in the vessel. Charles R. Buckland, former editor of the Hilo Herald and formerly chief clerk in the Governor's office, who was making a round trip on the Siberia for the benefit of failing health, was compelled to go ashore at Manila. He had not improved greatly and it was decided that it was best for him to leave the vessel there. He was accompanied by Mrs. Buckland.

The Siberia is landing about sixty Russian immigrants and a number of Filipinos, who are to work on plantations. There are a lot of Hindus aboard en route to the mainland.

The vessel is landing 792 tons of cargo here and will take aboard about 3,000 cases of canned pineapples—most of which arrived from Kona yesterday on the Mauna Loa—2,000 bunches of bananas, sixty bales of Kona tobacco—one of the largest single shipments sent out from that district—and 500 bags of coffee.

The vessel departs for San Francisco at ten o'clock this morning, carrying about thirty passengers from here.

More Mail for Honolulu.

Castle & Cooke, agents for the Matson line, have received a wireless message from Captain Johnson of the Wilhelmina, announcing that his vessel has 2100 tons of freight for Honolulu and 180 tons for Hilo. There are also ninety bags of mail aboard. The passenger list numbers ninety-six persons. All passengers are well. The Wilhelmina is due here Tuesday.

Coronado in Port.

The barkentine Coronado arrived yesterday afternoon from San Francisco, and berthed at the Oceanic wharf. The vessel was twenty-one days on the trip down. She brought a cargo of general merchandise.

Shipping Notes.

Purser Friel of the Mauna Loa reports the following sugar awaiting shipment at windward ports of Hawaii: Honuapo 5180, Punaluu 5841, Honokaa 1200, Kukuihaele 400, Paauhau 1100, Paauilo 2000, Kukaiau 6300.

Captain Falls, depot quartermaster, has arranged to have the transport Logan, due here on Monday, go to the Channel wharf, as she is bringing a quantity of army supplies for the local army posts. The troopship will be supplied with about 500 tons of coal here.

BROKE TRAFFIC LAW AS WELL AS FENDER

The last arrest made by Motorcycle Officer William Chilton is that of Guy Macfarlane, who was charged yesterday with violating section nine of county ordinance eleven. Macfarlane was driving in auto 190 down Hotel street, instead of down Fort without going to the freight of and beyond the center of the street," as the law requires.

This is a rule to which hardly any attention is given, and in this instance Macfarlane not only broke the law but the orders of a Police Transfer which he rode briefly over, thereby giving a good reason why the law should be observed.

It is probable that a warrant will be issued shortly for the man who rode down a Japanese bicycle rider in auto 544 several days ago, if the police investigation shows that there have been no extenuating circumstances.

TO SHIPPERS:

Application is invited from shippers of frozen cargo for export, to the ports of Brisbane, Australia, by the steamers of the Canadian Australian Royal Mail Line, from Australia to Honolulu and Vancouver, B. C., from November to July, for a period of nine months.

Particulars of space may be obtained on application to the agents.

the days when he was a poor village boy, living in a mud-walled grass-thatched hut, playing gilli-dando among the cocoanut trees, and, like Mowgli, taking his turn at tending the water buffaloes. He could have had no dream of greater fortune than to become the village headman. But suddenly the lad's life took one of those strange turns that seem extravagant when told in fiction. One day a pompous priest, with the caste mark of Siva upon his brow, attended by gorgeously clad retainers from the court of Baroda, came to the little hamlet, making subtle inquiries regarding the descendants of one Pilaji, who had been the first gaekwar of the state.

A Hindu family that has a genealogy to be proud of cherishes its history jealously and can generally establish its descent through centuries. This is not so remarkable where the priesthood is hereditary and where the restrictions of caste confine the scope of marriage. Moreover, generation succeeds generation in the occupation of one patch of land. At the present time ninety-six per cent of the rural population of India live and die in the district where they were born, and before the days of the railroad there was practically no movement. Thus the parents of the future gaekwar had no difficulty in satisfying the emissary from the capital of their right to claim membership in the royal family, although the connection was through a branch distant from the reigning house. That matter settled and the occasion duly solemnized by a feast and a religious ceremony, the barefooted village boy was suitably clothed and conducted with much pomp and circumstance to Baroda.

To explain the reason for all this ado—or, as the Hindus would say, tamasha—it is necessary to hark back a few centuries, which, according to oriental conception of time, is a mere trifle. The founder of the fortunes of the house of Baroda was a trooper in the force of the old Maratha freebooter, Khande Rao, who flourished toward the end of the seventeenth century.

This trooper attracted the notice of his leader by performing the feat which in modern times was credited to Col. Fred Burnaby, of "ride to Khiva" fame, that of completely severing a man's trunk with a single backhanded stroke. The Maratha who gave the wonderful exhibition of strength and dexterity was raised to the command of a puga and distinguished with the title of Sirasubar Bahadur (sirasubar means swordsman), which has been borne by the gaekwars ever since.

He finished his career as one of the prominent figures of that turbulent time and was ambitious and unscrupulous. Gaek's territory. His capture and murder, which he name, stepped into his shoes. He became a highly successful leader, established an independent principality and was the founder of the line of sovereigns.

READY LETTER WRITERS PLENTY

Congressmen Find Answering the Folks Back Home Their Biggest Task.

By Ernest G. Walker.

(Mail Special to The Advertiser.)

WASHINGTON, May 15. — Letter writing, particularly letter answering, has become a tremendous industry in Washington. Although congress has generously provided almost every possible facility in the way of clerks, stenographers, phonographs, typewriting machines and even mimeograph apparatus for facilitating the letter writing tasks of congressmen, a goodly number of senators and representatives have to put in many hours of hard work getting ideas and answers down upon paper.

Representative Victor Murdock, the Kansas insurgent, said the other day that letter writting was really the big task of holding a seat in congress for many men. The letters come pouring in at the rate of a score or even hundreds a day in some cases.

"And a vast number of people write, who have no particular reason to write except that they like to receive a letter from their congressmen," was suggested.

"Oh, yes, I suppose so," said the Kansas insurgent. "With some people letter writing is a form of laziness. I am satisfied that there are men, who, when urged to go out and chop some wood, declare that they are too busy. They must write to their congressman."

Much depends upon the constituency and upon its location in the country. There are many thousands of people in Mr. Murdock's district, of course, who occasionally have a legitimate excuse for writing to Washington. That is true of nearly every district in the land. But there are varying numbers of people, who write to Washington asking all sorts of freak questions and also making all sorts of freak suggestions and giving advice of a more or less freakish character. The wise congressman, be he a senator or a representative, generally acknowledges all those letters, no matter how freakish the communications may be. It has come to be almost axiomatic that nothing strengthens a man more in public office than prompt and detailed attention to his correspondence. And when Bill Jones writes down to his representative at Washington his denunciation of a legislative act or his opinion that such and such a law ought to be passed or his complaint against a given condition, he is reasonably certain nowadays to receive back in a few days an envelope, bearing the frank of that representative in the upper righthand corner. And when he tears the envelope open he will find a courtous, although often non-committal, communication of reply.

Most of the congressmen sign their letters, but not all of them sign everything. Senators from some of the more populous States and representatives from some of the urban districts have clerks who sign their names to ordinary routine letters. And then there is the handy rubber stamp with fac simile signatures. Scores of senators and representatives have these at the Capitol, and the rubber stamps can be used with certain kinds of ink so that one must look a second time to determine that it is not the real handwriting of the man it purports to be.

As a matter of fact, there is many a senator nowadays whose daily correspondence is quite as large as was the correspondence of the President of the United States fifty years ago. Letter writing has been made easy in modern times, and the occupants of congressional offices have been as progressive in keeping pace with it as have business men in other walks of life. It was not so many years ago that senators and representatives were able to answer a large part of their correspondence by hand. Within a dozen years it was no unusual thing to see a member of the house sitting at his desk writing letters most of the afternoon. It was not regarded as the most courteous thing for him to do while the house was in session, but he did it nevertheless. Nowadays it is very rare to see a representative writing a letter from his desk in the house. He goes to his office, calls for his clerk, dictates the letter and later calls around to find that it is written and ready for his signature.

The people who make a business of writing letters to Washington on all sorts of questions which they really have no business to bother public officials about are undoubtedly growing more numerous. They have been coddled so much that they have been encouraged. At the same time they serve an excellent end. They are a sort of barometer by which senators and representatives down at Washington measure public sentiment at home. That fact alone would suffice to make these letters more or less welcome. In the olden days the senator or representative who wanted to gauge public sentiment had to go home and circulate among his constituents to find out. Now he reads the newspapers in cities and towns and watches for the tenor of comment by the professional letter writers. They take their cues somewhat from the newspapers, but at the same time they have ideas of their own, and so it happens that occasionally the congressman knows something about public sentiment at home which the editor in his sanctum may not know. But some of these letter writers also keep up communication with newspaper editors and duplicate the expressions of their views.

All writs shall be returnable fifteen days from their date, except when the time is extended by the court.

All motions shall be presented at the opening of court on Mondays.

The court will permit amendments to processes or proceedings and may order cases remanded to the board of general appraisers for further testimony, and may affirm, reverse or modify any ruling, decision or conclusion of the board.

On final decision of cases the court will issue its mandate to the board of general appraisers for such further proceedings as shall be proper.

The fees of the clerk shall be six dollars in each case, and there shall be no fee in cases on appeal to other federal courts and transferred. The fee for admission to practise is $1.15 a folio for copies of records.

ANTIQUES FINE WEDDING PRESENTS.

Few brides get brass andirons and fenders in their collection of presents, nor are those oldfashioned mahogany cases and jewel boxes combined a usual gift, says the Wichita (Kan.) Eagle. Sheffield trays of any size, candlesticks of any of the odd, small pieces of this ware are effective when done over and restored to their pristine brightness.

Picture racks of Italian designs in gilded carved wood are new and attractive, and as they are covered on part of the shelf with a bit of silk damask in some soft color they will fit in any room of "period" description. Old lamps which may be fitted for electricity vie with the exquisite old French candelabra and sconces for decorativeness, and when properly equipped with really old globes are most attractive.

The Central Union Sunday-school picnic will take place today on the Punahou grounds. During the forenoon there will be baseball, basketball and other games, and at noon, the picnic lunch will be served, about 1200 persons being provided for. In the afternoon a "rubberneck" wagon, offered by W. M. Minton, will take the youngest children out for a sightseeing tour of the Punahou grounds, an innovation this year.

The St. Andrew's Priory School will hold its closing exercises in Queen Emma's hall at the priory on Tuesday afternoon at three o'clock. A musical recital will be given that will bring out the best talent of the school. Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons there will be exhibitions of sewing, and the week's exercises will be closed by the rendition of an operetta, "The Twin Sisters," in the Davies Memorial Hall, on Thursday evening, at eight o'clock.

The campaign for a hundred new readers of Association Men, the official organ of the Y. M. C. A., closed last evening with one hundred and thirty reported. This places Honolulu seventh in the list of three hundred and thirty-five American cities holding similar campaigns this year. A committee, composed of Ed Towse (chairman), J. C. Anderson, Robt. Anderson, Ernest Gibson, C. J. Hunn and C. H. Tracy, handled the local campaign. Each member of the committee secured a large number of subscribers, C. J. Hunn leading with twenty-five.

IN EMERGENCIES.

When a person faints lie at full length on floor, face upward. Loosen clothing; keep people from crowding around and let alone.

When poison has been swallowed take half a glass of water, a teaspoonful of salt, some ground mustard, stir, hold patient's nose, force mixture down. The poison will come up. Then give white of raw egg, followed by cup of strong coffee.

When artery is severed wrap bandage around limb between wound and heart; tie two ends together, put stick through band, twist tighter and tighter until blood ceases to flow. Keep pressure until doctor comes.

MEDALLIONS AGAIN IN USE.

Once in a while medallions politely step aside for something else, but there always seems to be a demand for this pretty lace trimming for dresses.

Now we see lace medallions placed ten inches apart between rows of insertion on the lower edge of the skirt.

The waist was finely tucked to yoke depth and three medallions were sewed in the center across the yoke.

A SIGN OF THE TIMES.

"Do you see that man going along with his head in the air, sniffing with his nose?"

"Yes; I know him."

"I suppose he believes in taking in the good, pure ozone."

"No; he's hunting for a motor garage, I believe."

THE KAWAIAHAO COMMENCEMENT

The commencement exercises yesterday afternoon at the Kawaiahao Seminary marked the closing of two years' work in the present school, and the clever work of the pupils was a fitting tribute to the efficiency of the principal and the teachers.

The exercises yesterday were held in the court facing the sea and the side and back walls facing on the court were draped with American, Hawaiian, Chinese, Japanese and Portuguese flags, those being the different nations represented among the pupils.

The program was opened by the Hawaiian band and this was followed by a song by the school and a greeting by the Chinese girls. Then the Portuguese girls of the school, all attired in their home country costumes and carrying small Portuguese flags, did a flag drill. The Chinese girls of the school in native costumes sang a song and the Japanese maidens in kimonos did a pretty drill with balls.

Following the singing of Aloha by the school, the president of the board of managers, Frank W. Damon, presented the diploma to the one graduate of the year. This was followed by a pretty scene when all of the schoolmates of the graduate walked past and each threw a lei around her neck.

The closing number on the program was a Maypole dance by twelve Hawaiian girls of the school, all dressed in dainty white.

In the sewingroom were the articles made by the pupils during the year and the pretty needlework found a ready sale among the visitors. It was a cause of deep regret that the principal of the school, Miss Bosher, was not able to be present at the exercise, as she is at present on a visit to her old home in New Hampshire.

Following was he program for the afternoon:

Song, "Waipio" .... School

Ball drill.............. Japanese Girls

WHAT THE PRESS AGENTS SAY

Operahouse Reopening.

The Henry McRae company will arrive this morning, and everything will be in readiness for the matinee performance of "The Chorus Lady" this afternoon. This same play will be given tonight. The seat sale for both performances is large and a packed house will probably welcome the favorites back home again.

The company enjoyed unusual success in Hilo and return to Honolulu well rested and ready to go back to hard work again.

Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Mr. McRae will offer another well known success entitled, "The Man on the Box," a play that created no little sensation when first produced in New York. It is a bright comedy full of laughable situations, at the same time giving a strong story, something that is often lacking in the comedies of today.

Mr. McRae has made arrangements for several new plays which he will offer in the near future among them being, "The Pit," "Dorothy Vernon of Hadon Hall," and "Faust."

Owing to the holiday today, the sale of seats will be at the operahouse, which will be open all day. Seats can be ordered by phone.

The Park Theater.

Carl Wallner had the audience at the Park in a continuous roar of laughter last night, and the Musical Bisons added to their triumphs in the rendering of Gilbert and Sullivan's famous compositions. Tonight there will be another good program, and the Park will undoubtedly be filled. Miss Rhodes will have a new song, and the usual wild and woolly western picture will be shown, "The Heart of a Cowboy." The only advice the management of the Park offers to its patrons is to come early. There is always something doing, and Santos Gilbo's orchestra furnishes excellent music.

CHAMBERLAIN'S COLIC, CHOLERA AND DIARRHOEA REMEDY.

When you fail to provide your family with a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy at this season of the year, you are neglecting them, as bowel complaint is sure to be prevalent, and it is too dangerous a malady to be trifled with. This is especially true if there are children in the family. A dose or two of this remedy will place the trouble within control and perhaps save a life, or at least a doctor's bill. It has never been known to fail even in the most severe and dangerous cases, and its cost is not beyond the means of any one. For sale by all druggists. Benson, Smith & Co., Ltd., agents for Hawaii.

WARM TRIAL ENDS IN A WARMER ARGUMENT

Lightfoot Roasted by Brown for His Methods in Handling Witnesses

The heedless driving case in which Tom Quinn has been the star actor for the past few days in police court, ended in a blaze of glory yesterday morning. After the introduction of evidence, which was interpolated with many pungent personalities and occupied three days, the arguments of counsel yesterday summed up all the personalities as well as the evidence.

Attorney Lightfoot, who is defending Quinn, came in for a hard roast from Prosecutor Brown who severely criticized him for "bullyragging" British Consul Forster, a witness in the case. Mr. Forster notified the police that he witnessed the smashing of the Chinaman's wagon a week ago and was in consequence summoned. While he was being cross-examined, Lightfoot asked him why he "butted in" to the case and why he didn't mind his own business. Brown characterized these remarks as a "dirty piece of business."

During the argument, Judge Andrade intimated that he couldn't understand why Quinn was able to see the water buffalo, which he dodged, and couldn't see the wagon. Quinn said that the wagon had no light on it and the judge, who took the case under advisement, is now wondering whether or not the water buffalo had a light on it. He forgot to ask.

SEND ONE AWAY.

One of the most beautiful of the annual attractions in Honolulu is the floral parade on February 22. This year the cars and floats were decorated with such exquisite taste that they were praised by many hundred tourists who were in the city and who viewed the procession. Official photographers made pictures of all, the best of which were selected by the committee in charge and published in pamphlet form by the Hawaiian Gazette Co., Ltd. These are on sale at the Advertiser office, on King street between Fort and Bethel, at twenty-five cents each. The postage on a copy is three cents to any part of the world.

ALL ALONE.

A Denver man who visited the museum at City Park recently tells of a farmer he saw there. The ruralist stopped in front of a portrait which showed a man sitting in a high-backed chair. There was a small white card on the picture, reading:

"A portrait of E. H. Smith, by himself."

The farmer read the card and then chuckled to himself.

"Regular fools these city fellers are," he said. "Anybody who looks at that picture 'ud know Smith's by himself. They can't no one in the paintin' with him."—Denver Post.

ACHI DENIES THAT HE IS A "BUTTER IN"

Charley Achi takes exception to The Advertiser's report of his appearance in a habeas corpus case before Judge Robinson on Thursday, the report stating that Mr. Achi had the appearance of a "butter in," his client apparently not having been consulted.

The report was based on the fact that the client demurred at having to appear in court, announcing to the high sheriff that he "hadn't done anything." In court he asked why he had been brought before a judge again, and gave the impression that Mr. Achi was acting on his own account. This Mr. Achi denies in an "open letter to The Advertiser," saying in part:

"I must state for your information that the prisoner was defended by me during the trial of his case over six months ago; that before I filed the papers in the habeas corpus proceedings Kuna, the prisoner, came to my office twice and urged me to do something for him in order to get out of the prison.

"If your writer wanted to write the truth, it was a very easy matter to find out from the prisoner; but I believe either your writer has some grudge against me or he does not want to write and publish the truth in matters of this kind.

"When I presented the papers to the judge, he felt as I felt at the time and issued the writ; and I assure your writer that no judge would issue a writ for habeas corpus without feeling that there was some merit in the case.

"Am I wrong in trying my best for the benefit of my client? Is it butting in without consulting a client? Your writer may answer it.

"I felt at the time that if I would not do anything for the man he might be kept in prison for ten years, while as a matter of fact the sentence of the court, so far as I remember when it pronounced its judgment, was for only six months.

"Please advise your writer to try to get the truth in matters of this kind, and do not try to down a man without any reasonable cause for it."

ARGUMENTS AGAINST PROHIBITION
CONTRIBUTED

The following articles are published in order to present the antiprohibition side in the present campaign regarding the liquor traffic and the effort being made to abolish it in Hawaii. Early in the campaign The Advertiser announced its readiness, in fairness to the public at large, to give the use of a limited amount of space to the Liquor Dealers' Association. This offer has been taken up. Nothing will be accepted for publication in these columns of a personal nature and unless signed by some responsible person or accredited to a reputable publication.

PROHIBITION AND DEATH.

(From Wholesalers' and Retailers' Review.)

The assertion is freely made by those who would prohibit all trade in alcoholic liquors that untold thousands yearly go down to drunkards' graves in the United States, and on this assertion is based, in part, the appeal for prohibition.

If this assertion is founded on fact it deserves grave consideration. In this connection, therefore, two inquiries are of prime importance; first, to what extent is this assertion true, and second, what effect has prohibition had on the death rate caused by the abuse of alcoholic stimulants? The best available source of information on the subject is the census reports of the United States.

On page 8 of Bulletin 83 of the census of 1900 is found a table, or list, of the diseases or causes principally responsible for death. In this list we search in vain for alcohol, or diseases growing out of the use of alcohol. It is only by referring to the tables of minor causes of death, on pages 6 and 24 of the same bulletin, that we find any mention of alcohol as a cause of death. From the table beginning on the latter page we find the following: Total number of deaths in the United States in 1900—

From all causes	1,039,094
From alcohol	2,811

The number of deaths from drink was, therefore, instead of "untold thousands," 2,811, or about one-fourth of one per cent of the total number of deaths. By a comparison of the number of deaths from this cause with the number from other causes recognized as minor, a truer idea of the relative importance of alcohol in producing death is gained. In the same year we find that in the United States the total number of deaths were:

From railroad accidents	6,930
From burns and scalds	6,772
From suicide	5,498
From drowning	5,387
From poison	3,390

Railroads and fire, therefore, caused nearly two and a half times as many deaths as drink, while suicide and drowning each caused nearly double as many, and poison caused 20 per cent more deaths than alcohol. Regrettable as the death rate from alcohol is, the assertion of the prohibitionists in this connection can not, in charity, be taken as other than gross, if well intended, exaggeration.

But what effect has prohibition had on the death rate caused by drink? Does it offer a remedy? If so, the death rate caused by alcohol should have diminished in those States which have given prohibition a long trial, and should be smaller in such States than in license States. From the census bulletins of 1880 and 1900 we find that the number of deaths from alcohol for every 100,000 of population was as follows:

	1880	1900
Maine	1.08	2.16
New Hampshire	2.02	2.18
Vermont	2.33	3.20
Average for the three States	1.57	2.41

In the twenty years from 1880 to 1900, during all of which these States had prohibition, the death rate in them caused by alcohol increased 53 per cent.

In the same census reports we find that the death rate attributed to alcohol in the license States named below was as follows:

Number of deaths from alcohol for every 100,000 of population—

	1880	1900
Alabama	1.35	1.10
Indiana	2.22	2.22
Kentucky	2.12	1.68
Missouri	3.68	1.70
Nebraska	1.76	1.50
North Carolina	2.07	1.64
Oregon	4.00	1.21
Texas	3.45	1.21
Tennessee	2.01	1.93
West Virginia	1.77	1.67
Average rates in these States	2.47	1.63

Decrease in rate from 1880 to 1900 in license States, 34 per cent.

The death rate attributed to alcohol, therefore, decreased 34 per cent in these license States during the twenty years from 1880 to 1900, as against an increase of 53 per cent in the rate in the prohibition States. Moreover, the actual number of deaths from alcoholism, regardless of increase in population, reported from the prohibition States increased 63 per cent from 1880 to 1900, while the actual number of deaths in the license States from this cause decreased during the same period 2 per cent. These facts are much more remarkable when taken in connection with the fact that during the period named the license States increased about 50 per cent in population, while the population of the prohibition States was practically stationary.

Under twenty years of prohibition then, the average death rate attributed to drink had in 1900 increased in prohibition States and decreased in the license States, and was in that year higher in the prohibition States than in the license States named. In proportion to population 40 per cent more people died from that cause in the prohibition States named than in license Missouri, Kentucky, West Virginia, or North Carolina, 60 per cent more than in Nebraska, double as many as in Oregon, and nearly double as many as in Texas.

Manifestly, whatever may be the effect of the use of alcohol upon the general death rate, prohibition does not offer a remedy.

MORTALITY IN MAINE.

Maine has had prohibition for more than fifty years and yet from 1880 to 1900 the death rate from alcoholism increased from 1.57 to 2.41, an increase of 54 per cent. The death rate from the same cause in the seventeen license States during the same period of time decreased from 2.47 to 1.62, a decrease of 34 per cent.

MAINE'S DIVORCES.

"The licensed saloon is a wrecker of homes and a sunderer of the marriage tie," cry the advocates of prohibition. Here is startling proof to the contrary offered by the United States Census Department in its recent report on marriage and divorce.

Strange, yea, incredible to relate, Maine, the venerable parent of prohibition, where the saloon exists not in the eyes of the law, actually far surpasses the licensed States in the number of her divorces.

Divorce and Marriage.

State	Mar's.	Ratio Mar's.
Maine	14,194	86,592 1 to 6
New York	29,125	1,205,655 1 to 41
New Jersey	7,441	335,809 1 to 45
Pensylvania	39,686	876,533 1 to 22

Divorces in Ratio to Population.
Census 1900—Twenty-Year Period.

State	Popu'n.	Divorces	Ratio
Maine	694,466	14,194	1 to 42
New York	7,268,894	29,125	1 to 250

Twenty Years, 1887 to 1906, Inclusive.

State	Popu'n.	Divorces	Ratio
New Jersey	1,883,669	7,441	1 to 253
Pennsylvania	6,302,115	39,686	1 to 160

One divorce to 13 marriages, Continental United States.

One divorce to 80 population, Continental United States.

Note also this significant, astounding fact:

Maine, in which the liquor traffic has been forbidden during more than sixty years, has the largest number of divorces in which drunkenness is given as the direct cause, with the single exception of Connecticut.

The percentage of divorces granted in which drunkenness or intemperance is given as the cause for the whole United States is:
Of women, 1.1; of men, 5.3.
In Maine the percentage is:
Of women, 3.3; of men, 16.9.

SALOONS NOT THE CAUSE OF

All the crime of the country is charged to the saloon.

Let us see what the United States government says:

In 1850 Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont were each license States.

In that year Maine had 171 convicts to every million of inhabitants.

In 1864 Maine was prohibition, and had 358 convicts to every million.

In 1880, under prohibition, Maine had 774 convicts to the million inhabitants.

The number of convicts in Maine after forty years of prohibition had increased more than four times for every million of population.

New Hampshire in 1850 under license had 104 convicts to the million of population; in 1890, after forty years of prohibition, had 853 convicts to the million; eight times more criminals to the million than under license.

Vermont had 334 convicts in 1850 under license; in 1890, under prohibition, she had 602 to the million of population.

Take the States of Iowa and Kansas, nearer home. In 1880, under license, Iowa had 494 convicts to the million of population; in 1890, under prohibition, Iowa had 531 to the million. Kansas in 1880, under license, had 1300 convicts to the million; in 1890, Kansas had, under prohibition, 1351 to the million. These figures, taken from the United States census reports, that must be accepted as authority, do not in any manner sustain the contention of the prohibitionist that the licensed saloon is the birthplace of crime, and that with its abolishment we should have a perfect period of virtue.

THE NEW FRENCH REMEDY.
TRADE THERAPION MARK.
This successful and highly popular remedy, used in the Continental Hospitals by Ricord, Kostan, Jobert, Velpeau, and others, combines all the desiderata to be sought in a medicine of the kind, and surpasses everything hitherto employed.
THERAPION No. 1
In a remarkably short time, often a few days only, removes all discharges from the urinary organs, superseding injections, the use of which does irreparable harm by laying the foundation of stricture and other serious diseases.
THERAPION No. 2
for impurity of the blood, scurvy, pimples, spots, blotches, pains and swelling of the joints, secondary symptoms, gout, rheumatism, and all diseases for which it has been too much a fashion to employ mercury, sarsaparilla, &c., to the destruction of sufferers' teeth and ruin of health. This preparation purifies the whole system through the blood, and thoroughly eliminates all poisonous matter from the body.
THERAPION No. 3
for nervous affection, impaired vitality, sleeplessness, and all the distressing consequences of early error, excess, residence in hot, unhealthy climates, &c. It possesses surprising power in restoring strength and vigour to the debilitated.
THERAPION is sold by the principal Chemists and Merchants throughout the world. Price in England 2/9 & 4/6. In ordering, state which of the three numbers required, and observe above Trade Mark, which is a fac-simile of word "THERAPION" as it appears on British Government Stamp (in white letters on a red ground) affixed to every package by order of His Majesty's Hon. Commissioners, and without which it is a forgery.
Therapion may now be had in tasteless form.

Truth and Quality
appeal to the Well-Informed in every walk of life and are essential to permanent success and creditable standing. Accordingly, it is not claimed that Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is the only remedy of known value, but one of many reasons why it is the best of personal and family laxatives is the fact that it cleanses, sweetens and relieves the internal organs on which it acts without any debilitating after effects and without having to increase the quantity from time to time.
It acts pleasantly and naturally and truly as a laxative, and its component parts are known to and approved by physicians, as it is free from all objectionable substances. To get its beneficial effects always purchase the genuine—manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., only, and for sale by all leading druggists.

COURTHOUSE MAY COLLAPSE

Judiciary Building Is Unsafe, Says Superintendent Campbell.

The judiciary building, according to a report made by Superintendent Marston Campbell to Governor Frear, is in such a rickety and dangerous condition that it is unsafe to allow any large number of people to assemble in some of the court rooms and no more books should be placed in the law library, for fear the floor may give way and kill a few lawyers, judges and professional jurors, not to speak of the tax office people who sit and write beneath the suspended Damoclean sword.

The the judiciary building is unsafe and greatly in need of repair or rebuilding is an old story. An effort was made at the last session of the legislature to get through an appropriation of $50,000 for its repair but the solons refused to waste the public funds in any such manner and turned the bill down incontinently. But, though the plaster has long been peeling off the walls, the floors sagging, and some of the judges and jurors have had narrow escapes from death by falling chunks of ceiling, it was not suspected that the building was in such dangerous condition until Mr. Campbell recently had an examination made and reported to the Governor the grave danger that exists.

Unfortunately, nothing can be done to remedy matters until after the next session of the legislature, as there is no appropriation to pay for repairs. Meantime, there is the daily possibility of a portion of the building collapsing and burying beneath tons of stone and mortar the habitues of the courthouse.

Newbro's Herpicide

BENEFITED

Miss Clutter's Hair

MISS MADELINE CLUTTER.

Read her letter about it:

"I herewith enclose you one of my latest photographs, which will show you what Newbro's Herpicide has done for my hair. Since using your remedy my hair is much longer than it was, and it has the lustre to it that one's hair always has when the scalp is in a healthy condition.

"(Signed)

"MISS MADELINE CLUTTER,
"No. 3953 Michigan Ave., Flat 210, Chicago, Ill."

The immense popularity of Newbro's Herpicide, particularly among the better class, is due to the fact that it never disappoints. It does all and more than is claimed for it.

Its delightful fragrance, perfect clearness and freedom from grease or oil, appeal to the discriminating, and its cleansing, refreshing and health-giving effect upon the scalp is immediately apparent.

Herpicide makes the hair light and fluffy and gives it a silken gloss.

Extraordinarily long hair is a gift of Nature that relatively few possess, but not many would complain if they could save Nature's head covering in its original beauty and luxuriance.

The dandruff germ is the greatest enemy of abundant hair. This is on account of the highly contagious nature of dandruff, which makes it almost impossible to escape the disease without the occasional use of a germ-destroying solution.

Newbro's Herpicide is the ORIGINAL remedy that "kills the dandruff germ." It promptly eradicates dandruff, stops falling hair, and (except in chronic baldness) restores the hair to its former health and activity. Herpicide stops itching of the scalp almost instantly.

Two sizes, 50c. and $1. At Drug Stores. Send 10c. in stamps to The HERPICIDE CO., Dept. N., DETROIT, MICH., for a sample.

Guaranteed under the Food and Drugs Act, June 30, 1906. Serial No. 915.

TO THE FOOT OF FUJI

Robert J. Burdette, in Los Angeles Times.

Miyanoshita, Japan.

This is the cleanest hotel in the world—the Fuji-ya. And I say this with the memory of hotels from Damascus to Medicine Hat. Cleanliness is one of the religions of Japan. When our little brown cousin has a little vacant time on his hands he takes a hot bath by way of past me, recreation, amusement or duty, whichever motive may be uppermost. His street shoes never get inside the threshold of his home. He would as soon think of walking on his dustless floors with his street shoes as an American would think of crawling into bed between the snowy sheets with his hunting boots on, as sometimes some Americans have been accused of doing. Unjustly accused, let us hope. The Japanese sits on the mats of his floor on the cushions spread thereon as we sit on our beautifully upholstered chairs. And aseptically the mats are much cleaner.

This, by the way, is the top side of the floor. I grieve to say that it has been found necessary by the imperial government to make house cleaning in the great cities compulsory. Once a year the houses are turned inside out, scrubbed, rubbed, fumigated, swept and garnished. Mats, rugs, furniture and "things" are dragged out of their seclusion; drains and catch-alls are looked into. Because not infrequently, that is, almost nearly always, there is a trap door in the kitchen floor, a loose board, easily lifted, and into the shallow abyss below the daily debris of the house is swept and the trap replaced, like a clean counterpane over a dirty blanket. And the place underneath the floor is soon beloved of roaches and rats. So, you see?

A tribute to the superior cleanliness of the American, or even the benighted pagans called Europeans, is paid in the fact that their houses are exempt from this annual besom of cleanliness. It is taken for granted that the passion for "cleaning house" which reigns in the heart of the American housewife and reaches the sublimity of worship in the soul of a German hausfrau survives expatriation, and that if an American should, which he certainly does, every time he comes into his happy home, shake the dust of the street off his feet against his own floor, home, he shakes it where it can be swept out, to the accompaniment of a sweet little ritual composed, words and music, by the housekeeper, expressive of her wonder why the good Lord made men, anyhow. Sister, that's one of the profound mysteries of the universe. I gave it up while I was cutting my first tooth. I have forgotten just exactly what I did think about it at that time, but my impression is that I probably wondered why He didn't finish me when He made me, instead of adding a lot of painful growths after the tenant moved in.

The journey from Yokohama to Miyanoshita is picturesquely delightful. You embark on the Tokaido Railway. It is an imperial railway, for the government can run anything it attempts to run in this empire. The Tokaido is the Camino Real of Japan. The word, you know, means Eastern Sea road. And long before there was a railroad in the world, or anywhere else for aught I know, except maybe in China, where railroads and aeroplanes were invented, this thoroughfare was thronged with travelers between Kyoto and Tokyo, who enjoyed a pleasant journey of two weeks on the way. The schdule has now been shortened to twelve hours, and the old highway is about as deserted as a highway for pedestrians, as is our own Camino Real. Thirty-eight years ago the railway came along and bowled the ancient travel off the right of way, a way the railway has in all countries.

We are ushered into a first-class car. The seats run along the sides, like the seats of an old-fashioned omnibus. I expected something of the sort when I saw that the engine which hauled the train was "made in Germany." However, it is a comfort to know that they don't call the coach a wagons lits nor the road a bum zag, or something like that. The railway education of the Japanese fell into the wrong hands in its inception. They were misled by the English, who taught these innocent children to call the ticket office a "booking office" and the baggage car a "luggage van." But they have one thing we might copy with all consistency. They call what we designate as an "information bureau" the "inquiry office." Now, that's much better.

Why?

Oh, because.

You see, it isn't the place at which you always receive the information which you desire. But it is the place where you ask questions. I think if I had my way I would write above the window of this place of a million questions simply the magic words indicative, to the female mind, of omniscience:

"The Man."

Then when your wife asked you to "ask the man," which she does in every case of doubt, you would know which man to ask.

I wonder what is the origin and the basis of a woman's sublime, unquestioning trust in the lightest statement of "the man"—any old "man"—no matter how flatly it may contradict the wisdom of her husband, who is perhaps an expert, a specialist, and an accepted authority on the question under consideration?

I reckon maybe it's because "the man" never lied to her.

I have noticed that she never trusts the same man twice.

But about this first-class car on the imperial railway, in which you journey sideways, like a crab going to war, and twist your spine when you want to look out of the window. If you and your wife sit on opposite sides of the car the views are somewhat dislocated by your constant appeals to one another to "Oh, look out of the window right behind you!" You twist your head as quickly as posible, but it is too late. You don't catch what Her Loveliness so much wanted you to see, and you have lost what you were just beginning to look at. But the fragments of scenery are picturesquely delightful, as I may have mentioned before. Rice fields; wayside shrines; old temples; cherry trees in the loveliness of bloom; tea fields; little clusters of tombstones in bits of ground that could be spared from the needs of the living.

Sh! Whoa! Back up! I have been trying all this time to get you to Miyanoshita. You know how to pronounce that, of course, so I won't indicate it. "What!" said the traveler to the stenographer. "You can't spell 'Skaneateles?' Then say that I will spend Sunday in Troy." Well M—etc. is a village away up in the Hakone district, about 1400 feet above sea level; air dry and sweet and stimulating; waterfalls; cascades; hot springs of soda, salt and sulphur; beautiful mountain walks and drives; scenery to burn, much of which has been burned and is now being reforestated with acres and acres and acres of cryptomeria and pines; shops—shops—shops; children—children—children. Curios, some native and some "made in Germany"; you can "do the shops" in two days, and they will "do" you when you reach the customhouse in your own dear native land, and do you good, too. Miles and miles of bamboo water pipes, and I've the first leaky joint to see in them yet. When they turn a corner, a block joint, a square block of wood with holes bored at right angles in two sides, is made by a carpenter, to the wrath of the Plumbers' Union. And if the plumber ever made a tighter joint he hid it under the ground when he finished it. Patches of bamboo; thickets of bamboo; acres of bamboo; forests of bamboo. And when the mountain range is too high for bamboo, comes on the bamboo grass which the people use for thatching their houses. Nothing—nothing—nothing goes to waste in thrifty Japan. Up a mountain grade; down into a valley; climb—climb—climb; and then down a long jinrikisha trail, and at a sudden turn the bearers—for you travel in a chair—shout "Fuji!"

And you behold, with a gasp of surprise and a cry of admiration, the "Shasta" of Japan.

Speaking of the character of the Japanese—but I am again straying from my subject. I will take a few weeks to collect myself and permit the reader to take a few bearings to ascertain his own longitude.

MAY PROVE FATAL

When Will Honolulu People Learn the Importance of It?

Backache is only a simple thing at first;

But when you know 'tis from the kidneys;

That serious kidney troubles follow;

That diabetes, Bright's disease may be the fatal end,

You will gladly profit by the following experience.

'Tis the honest statement of a sufferer who was cured.

S. D. Goodale, 196 Brattle St., Athol, Mass., says: "Doan's Backache Kidney Pills acted just as represented in my case. For six years I was subject to attacks of backache, so severe at times that I can only describe my condition as miserable. When I straightened after stooping, sharp twinges darted across the small of my back and I firmly believed my trouble to be lumbago. When I was suffering from an unusually severe attack, a neighbor advised me to give Doan's Backache Kidney Pills a trial, which I did. This remedy acted like magic and after I had taken the contents of one box I was entirely cured. Over two years have passed since that time and I have had no further trouble from my back or kidneys. I think so highly of Doan's Backache Kidney Pills that I cannot find words strong enough to express my opinion of them."

Doan's Backache Kidney Pills are sold by all druggists and storekeepers at 50 cents per box (six boxes $2.50) or will be mailed on receipt of price by the Hollister Drug Co., Honolulu, wholesale agents for the Hawaiian Islands.

EXPECT EXCAVATION OF OLD ROMAN CITY WILL HELP HISTORY

LONDON, May 26.—The excavations of the Roman city of Verulamium in the neighborhood of St. Albans and of which reference was made recently, will, it is hoped, be shortly announced. The area at the disposal of the archeologists comprises some 200 acres, and has been but slightly built upon, a part of the village of St. Michael and part of the village of St. Michael and only structures standing on the site, so that there is reason to believe that discoveries of great value and interest will be made.

It has been proposed that the exploration committee of the Society of Antiquities should act jointly with the local committee, and it is hoped that one or more of the early Christian churches will be discovered, and that fresh light will thus be thrown on a period of which comparatively little is known.

Discoveries will, it is expected, also be made which will add to the present knowledge of the Roman-British period as well as of the late Celtic age.
