REPUBLIC OF PORTUGAL BECOMES A REALITY--LISBON IS QUIET

At Very Moment When Success of Revolution
Is Assured, Its Chief Takes His Own Life, Thinking All Is Lost.

LISBON, October 8.—The last doubts about the success of the revolution which turned Portugal at a stroke from a Monarchy to a Republic have now vanished in the face of the complete ascendancy of the Republican party. The Republic is an accomplished fact. With its success is coupled a tragical note, however, Admiral Candido Reis, the leader of the revolutionists, taking his own life at the very moment that the guns of his party swept away the last remaining vestiges of opposition under the delusion that the royalists had successfully beaten off their attack. With the death of Commander Gorjao, this makes two lives sacrificed to the revolution through suicide.

going on as before. Many tourists are in the city, a large number of them having been attracted by the revolution, and during the troublous times to satisfy their curiosity. Yesterday afternoon reports reached the city of an engagement between royal and republican troops at Setubal, a coast town some miles away from Lisbon. GIBRALTAR, October 7.—Both the British and American warships stationed here rendered King Manuel and his mother the royal salute upon their entrance into the harbor on the yacht Amelie, the action being taken as signifying their continued recognition as sovereigns. WASHINGTON, October 7.—The cruiser Des Moines was today ordered to Gibraltar, to proceed to either the Portuguese or the Spanish coast should its presence be needed. NEW YORK, October 7.—Senhor Machado, the foreign minister of the new Republic of Portugal, at the request of President Braga, has cabled the Associated Press a statement outlining plans for a progressive form of government.

MANUFACTURES FIGURES OF CENSUS SHOW TOTAL FOR HAWAII FOR YEAR OF $47,947,151

Only a little short of forty-seven millions of dollars totaled the values of the manufactured articles of this Territory for the business year of 1909, according to the figures of the census bureau, issued yesterday by Dr. Victor S. Clark. Of this highly satisfactory amount, the sugar mills turned out a product valued at $35,493,643, a little more than three-quarters of the whole. Second to sugar in the order of importance comes, not canned pineapples, but the products of the rice cleaning mills, which was valued at $2,238,067, with the products of the pineapple canneries third, at $1,591,073.

Of considerable importance, also, was found the products of the foundries and machine shops of the Territory, which turned out in all, products to the value of $1,025,480. Altogether there were four hundred and ninety-eight establishments in the Territory which could be listed as manufacturing concerns. Of these, forty-five were sugar mills, seventy-four were rice cleaning plants, ten were pineapple canneries and three were foundries, these being the only ones dealt with as classes, all others being lumped together as "All Others."

In these various manufactures, were found 6465 employees, 589 being listed as salaried men and 5876 as wage earners. Those earned in wages and salaries during the year $2,777,306, an average of $1980 each for the year. Other cost of operating the plants, exclusive of raw material and help, amounted to $3,296,432. Preliminary Figures. In giving out the statistics, Doctor Clark explains that they are to be taken as a preliminary census of the manufactures, figures as received from Washington, being subject to revision in the later revisions of the schedules and of the tabulation itself. The totals are nearly enough correct to be accepted provisionally, however. Population Figures. The delay in the publication of the population statistics of Honolulu and Hawaii, in the opinion of Doctor Clark, is explainable in the fact that to tabulate the Hawaiian statistics, a number of the tabulating machines will have to be readjusted. The number of nationalities here and the other particulars in the Hawaiian census that differentiates it from that of any other

POLITICS TODAY WILL BE LIVELY

Republican politics will fairly hum today, for at eleven o'clock all the candidates and officials of the party will leave in motor cars for Hauula, via the Pali, where a grand rally, followed by a luncheon, has been arranged for this afternoon. All the Hawaiians of windward Oahu, taking in those from Kaimuki, Kakaia, Laie and other towns, will be brought to Hauula. The campaign will really open at Hauula. Link McCandless left for Kauai yesterday afternoon. He was accompanied by Kaniho, the "Cannon Ball of Kaimuki." The Boss will make a tour of the Garden Island and return to Honolulu next Wednesday morning and take the first steamer out for Maui. McCandless believes that Kauai is not so strong for him as he was led to believe. Prominent Republicans from Kauai say that McCandless will fall below his last campaign's canvass.

AERONAUT KILLED; WIFE GOES INSANE

ST. PETERSBURG, October 8.—Another tragedy was added to the long list of aeronautic fatalities yesterday, when Captain Macievie of the Russian army fell 1640 feet while flying in a biplane, meeting instant death. His wife was among the thousands of spectators of his spectacular flight, the shock of her husband's awful death sending her insane over his body.

SPAIN'S FEARS FOR ITS OWN SAFETY

Threat of Spanish Republic Hovers Darkly Over Old Castile.

KING ALFONSO.

BARCELONA, October 7.—A riotous gathering, feared to indicate the newly arisen spirit of revolution in Spain, was yesterday charged by the civil police and temporarily dispersed. The greatest anxiety reigns throughout southern Spain, which harbors the hottest revolutionary spirits and sentiments. The government is taking heroic steps to stamp out the alarming discontent and unrest among the masses, already excited by the Spanish clerical troubles, and now inflamed by the Portuguese revolution. The leaders are being watched closely, and the royal police stand ready to break up every convulsion of those supposed to be conspiring against the government.

ALFONSO DERANGED, RUMOR IN EUROPE

The Socialist Press Publishing Stories About Spanish Monarch.

ROME, September 24.—Some very severe attacks are being made on Premier Canalejas of Spain, King Alfonso and others concerned in the war on the Roman Catholic Church. Senor Canalejas is set down as the head and front of the offenders, although it is believed he is partly controlled by wirepullers. The Giornale Italia, a non-Catholic organ, recently gave the report of an interview said to have been held with a Spanish personage of authority passing through Rome. One feature of the interview is that in which the Spanish "personage" describes Canalejas. "Canalejas," he said, "is regarded in Spain as a man of strong will but of medium talents. It is now some years since he was bitterly attacked because at the conclusion of his defense in a civil case (he is evidently a lawyer) the property of his client, who, if I do not mistake, was the Marquis of Santena, all came into his hands. It was thought then that his political career was irreparably smashed."

REGISTRATION NOW OVER 7000 MARK

Seven Hundred More Voters
This Year Than in 1908.

Ten hours yet remain to eligible voters to register for the November election. Today is the last day for registering and the board will conclude its labors at ten o'clock sharp tonight. The board will sit from 7:30 to 9:30 this morning; 12 to 1:30 p. m., and from 4 to 10. The Civic Federation yesterday morning adopted the following resolutions, urging registration: WHEREAS, It is the duty of all citizens of this Territory to take an active interest in the political and civic problems confronting this community, and WHEREAS, The present political campaign and election present to the people of this Territory important problems to be considered and solved, and WHEREAS, The time in which citizens eligible to vote can register is fast drawing to a close, IT IS HEREBY earnestly urged and recommended by the executive committee of the Civic Federation, that all citizens of whatever organization, or whatever political affiliation, eligible to vote, cause themselves to be registered immediately, that they may be able to vote in the coming election. Yesterday's registration ran the total for the island up to 7139. The fifth was still in the lead of the fourth last night, and unless the delinquents in the fourth are all rustled to the registration office the fifth district will have the majority of voters at the general election in November. Robert W. Shingle, acting manager for the Republican campaign, stated on Thursday that the registrations would be at least 7200. The figures will probably run over this total. Two years ago the fourth district registered 3239 and the fifth 3288. The fifth had the majority at the last election and in all probability will keep her place in the lead this campaign. Register today.

THANKS TAFT.

BEVERLY, October 7.—President Taft has received a message of appreciation from Prince Hsun, head of the Chinese navy, who is on his way home, expressing his thanks for the reception and kindness of the American people.

TEDDY GOING SOUTH.

KNOXVILLE, Tennessee, October 7.—Colonel Roosevelt delivered the principal speech today at the exposition here. He touched in a lively way upon national issues.

POLITICIANS TO MEET.

CHICAGO, October 7.—James S. Sherman and Senator William Lorimer will meet at the forthcoming Columbus Day banquet.

DISASTROUS FLOODS.

LOUISVILLE, October 7.—Disastrous floods are sweeping through the Ohio Valley. Much damage is being done to cattle and crops. Heavy downpouring of rain has caused the overflowing of the waterways. No loss of life has been reported.

The plant of the American Olive Company, Los Angeles, was destroyed in a midnight blaze. An almost continuous explosion of one-gallon tins of olive oil hindered the firemen in their attempt to save the buildings. The loss is estimated at $250,000.

George W. Patten, the millionaire grain operator, who died of tuberculosis at Evanston, Illinois, left a fortune estimated at $5,000,000, the greater part of which, it is said, will be left to public charities, including a large donation for the furtherance of the anti-tuberculosis congress.

COLONEL MACOMB, U. S. A., WILL BE BRIGADIER-GENERAL IN COMMAND HERE

Col. Montgomery M. Macomb, Sixth Field Artillery, United States Army, has been designated to command the new military district of Hawaii, as soon as he becomes a brigadier-general on November 14, when Brigadier-General Albert L. Myer retires from active service. Meanwhile Col. Walter M. Schuyler, Fifth Cavalry, who has been ranking officer in Hawaii since the cavalry arrived here a year and a half ago, is temporarily in command of the new district. Colonel Schuyler will probably remain on duty here until his successor arrives. With General Macomb will probably arrive his chief of staff and other officers, including aides. Major Dunning, Twentieth Infantry, who commands the military post of Fort Shafter, it is rumored, will be chief of staff.

DETAILS OF THE LOS ANGELES TRAGEDY

Latest Account of the Crime Which Shocked Entire Nation.

ELDER JUMPS THREE STORIES

Foreman of Composing Room Is Saved by Being Blown Through Floor.

The first complete details of the terrible tragedy in the Los Angeles Times building early on the morning of October 1 were received in Honolulu yesterday in the San Francisco Evening Post of that date. While Honolulu has already learned the main facts of the gastly crime by cable, the real terror of that explosion was hardly pictured in the brief messages which were received here. A late dispatch in the Post tells of the death of Churchill Harvey-Elder, former city editor of The Advertiser, whose awful fate shocked a hundred friends here. It said:

"Churchill Harvey-Elder, the assistant city editor, who was terribly injured by the flames and by leaping from a third-story window to the street pavement, died at the hospital at seven-thirty o'clock. He suffered terrible agony from the time he was removed from the burning building to the hospital, and no hope of his recovery was entertained at any time by the attending surgeons."

Of the bloody events immediately following the explosion of the bomb, which seems to have gone off in the basement, the Post said:

"The head and missing come principally from the composing-room of the paper, which was directly above the spot where the explosion occurred. The bodies of a number of printers and linotype operators are believed to be buried in the still burning debris in the basement of the building."

"In the local newsroom of the paper all of the editors and reporters had gone home, with the exception of two or three men. Assistant City Editor Harvey-Elder was still on duty, and suffered injuries from which he died later. When the explosion came and the flames shot up through all parts of the building, Harvey-Elder was badly injured, but attempted to escape. Finding exit by the stairway shut off, he ran to the windows which opened out from the third floor on Broadway. There was no fire escape there, and, hemmed in by flames, he was forced to jump. Firemen below held a net and he jumped, but partly missed the net and struck the pavement. His right leg was broken, and besides his serious burns he was badly injured internally."

Telegraph Men Missing.

"Night Editor Taggart was at work in the composing-room. He leaped through a window and made his way out across the roofs of adjoining buildings to safety."

"The entire force of editors and operators was at work in the telegraph room, excepting Telegraph Editor R. N. Whitney, formerly of Boston, who but a few moments before had left the office to go to his home. He heard the explosion and returned. Harry L. Crane, the assistant telegraph editor, was at his desk and was seen to rise and attempt to make his way out of the building. He was not found among the survivors and is believed to have perished."

"R. L. Sawyer, a Western Union operator, is also missing. With another employee Sawyer, who was crippled and humpbacked, started to make his way to the stairway. The man with Sawyer finally escaped by leaping through a third-story window to a net stretched below and was saved. Sawyer has not been found."

"Several men were seen by spectators to come to the upper windows a few minutes after the fire broke out and wave and cry for help. The firemen failed to get their ladders up quick enough to save them."

START LIBRARY NEXT FEBRUARY

Final Plans by Architect Whitfield Expected Before Long.

Work on the construction of the Carnegie library is expected to begin about the first of next February. Architect Whitfield, who, after looking over the situation here, returned to the mainland on the last of September, has submitted to the building committee his preliminary plans and drawings. These have been approved by the committee and Mr. Whitfield took them back with him to New York to work over and put into the form of the finished drawings.

The building as proposed will be two stories and a basement. It will have an initial capacity of about 69,000 volumes and will be so constructed that, by a few small changes, the book stacks can be made to hold twice that many books. The building is planned to suit the climate of Hawaii and will be as open as possible, with large rooms, spacious lobbies and plenty of ventilation. There will be, in addition to the large general room and the book stacks, several rooms for the meetings of literary and historical societies and also their will be children's reading rooms.

The finished plans are expected from Architect Whitfield before a great while.

COMPLETE LIST OF CONTRIBUTORS TO THE RELIEF FUND

Manager Akai of the Yokohama Specie Bank has handed in the first complete list of the white persons who contributed to the Japanese flood fund. They contributed a total of $5024, which has been cabled by him to Japan for the relief of the sufferers from the recent floods that devastated certain portions of the kingdom. The complete list is as follows:

A lady friend, $5; James D. Dole, $5; Castle & Cooke, Ltd., $250; W. C. Parke, $5; the Mary Castle Trust, $100; Theo H. Davies & Co., Ltd., $250; S. H. Danger in Delay

Kidney Diseases Are Too Dangerous for Honolulu People to Neglect.

The great danger of kidney troubles is that they get a firm hold before the sufferer recognizes them. Health is gradually undermined. Backache, headache, nervousness, lameness, soreness, numbness, urinary troubles, dropsy, diabetes, and Bright's disease follow in merciless succession. Don't neglect your kidneys. Cure the kidneys with the certain and safe remedy, Doan's Backache Kidney Pills. Read what follows:

Samuel N. Tanyue, machinist, 1224 Jason street, Denver, Colo., says: "While living in Virginia City, Nevada, I began to have trouble from my back and kidneys. When I stooped, I suffered severely from pain in my back, and often I had to lie down for some time. The kidney secretions were too frequent in passage, especially at night, and contained sediment. Soon after beginning the use of Doan's Backache Kidney Pills, I found them to be just the remedy my case required. The contents of three or four boxes entirely drove away the pains in my back and disposed of all the other difficulties, due to disordered kidneys. I am a firm believer in the merit of Doan's Backache Kidney Pills."

Doan's Backache Kidney Pills are sold by all druggists and storekeepers at 50 cents per box (six boxes $2.50) or will be mailed on receipt of price by the Hollister Drug Co., Honolulu, wholesale agents for the Hawaiian Islands. Remember the name, Doan's, and take no substitute.

OUR CANDIDATES

S. P. Correa, who has been nominated as one of the Republican candidates for the house of representatives for the fifth district, is a Honolulu-born young man of Portuguese-Hawaiian parentage. He is now for the third time a candidate, having twice served in the house with credit to his party and himself.

Mr. Correa is thirty-four years old and has spent the last seventeen years of his life in the employment of the Hawaiian Gazette Company, as printer and linotype operator. He is not the oldest hand with that company, which has men in its service whose date of engagement runs back for twenty-seven years, but he is among the kamaainas who are assisting in the publication of The Advertiser.

His father was, until his recent retirement, one of the best-known retail merchants of the Islands, having conducted businesses in Honolulu and on the other Islands for twenty years. Correa has a public school education, amplified by the education he has received as a practical printer in a daily newspaper office. He first attended a private school, and later the Royal School.

In his first term in the legislature Mr. Correa was a member of the agricultural committee and the public lands committee, doing good work on both. Last session he served as chairman of the printing committee and as member of the education committee. As committee chairman he won the public praise of the speaker of the house for the expedition with which his work was accomplished, this contributing much to the working record of the session.

Mr. Correa is one of the solid young men in local political life. He is hard working, temperate in habits and thought, able to reason clearly and to express himself in public addresses in a forcible, logical way.

PROMOTION IS MAKING GOOD

Secretary Wood Says Business Has Now a Very Solid Foundation.

"The promotion work has never been better appreciated on the mainland than at the present time, and from Chicago west all railroads and tourist agencies recognize that a solid foundation for Hawaii as a tourist resort has been laid, and they have fallen into line to urge travel this way," said Secretary H. P. Wood of the promotion committee yesterday.

"I look for a very material increase in tourist business this winter and am certain that the steamship companies will have unusual patronage and that the hotels here will be crowded to their utmost capacity."

"Railroad men who have been here have expressed surprise at the manner in which the tourist business has been approached and the preparations made for taking care of the travelers. W. J. Lynch of the New York Central lines was especially surprised at the up-to-dateness of our work and he will do what he can to exploit Hawaii as a winter tourist resort."

LINK NOW WANTS A NEW CHANCE

Moves for Reopening of Default Declared Against Him Thursday.

Link McCandless, through his attorney, E. C. Peters, has filed a motion with Judge Robinson to reopen the default that was declared against him last Thursday and the motion will come up for argument this morning. The attorney-general's department will vigorously oppose the motion, holding that McCandless had plenty of warning and that he utilized his time in playing politics instead of attending to his other business.

The motion to reopen the default is backed by an affidavit of E. C. Peters, in which Peters claims that McCandless was away for some time on Maui and Hawaii—he was making political speeches—and that Peters himself was engaged in the trial of another case, and anyway, that he forgot what day McCandless' answer must be in on and thought it was October 4 instead of October 6.

The attorney-general's department thinks that McCandless is merely trying to take advantage of every possible technicality, and has no intention of doing him a single point without a fight.

To Register Is a Citizen's Duty. Last Chance on Saturday.

DETAILS OF THE TIMES TRAGEDY

(Continued from Page One.) enough and the flames burst out below them. Nets were stretched and the people at the windows were called on to jump. Many did and they alighted safely. Others hesitated, and, according to the statements of the first spectators, fell back into the flames.

Andrews' Close Call.

"Managing Editor Andrews escaped, having left the building and gone to his home but a short time before the explosion occurred. He heard the explosion from a distance of more than two miles, and at once surmising that the Times had been the object of an attack by its enemies, hurried downtown. City Editor John L. von Blon had a close call, having left the building but a short while before the explosion.

"Sim Craybill, foreman of the composing room, had one of the most remarkable escapes. He was standing near the center of the room where the full force of the explosion was felt. He was hurled into the basement and made his way out through a paper chute by crawling on his hands and knees, being terribly burned about the face and hands.

"Wrapped with bandages and with his hair and eyebrows singed off and his face covered with blisters, Craybill worked for hours afterward in an endeavor to check up the list of men in his department and ascertain who had perished.

Survivor's Description.

"I am mighty lucky to be alive," said Craybill. "I was standing near the center of the composing room, when all at once a terrific force from below seemed to raise a section of the floor clear to the roof. The upheaval came between two linotype machines. Flames and broken timbers flew in all directions.

"The force of the thing was indescribable. Grant Moore, a linotype machinist, was directly over the spot where the explosion came through the floor. His body was hurled against the ceiling. E. A. Ordan, a head-setter, and E. W. Wasson, a galley man, were nearest to him, and they, too, were hurled against the ceiling of the composing room.

"Everyone of the typesetting machines was thrown down and hurled in all directions. There was no time to do anything for anyone else, and every man instinctively rushed for safety.

"In ten seconds, it seemed to me, the whole inside of the building was afire. The flames were everywhere. I ran for the fire escape on the Broadway side, intending to climb down the two stories to the street. The flames cut me off and I rushed toward the elevator in the end of the building. Just as I got near the elevator door someone ran into me and knocked me down the elevator shaft. I fell in a heap in the basement, hurting my arms and legs pretty badly. I managed to get up, however, knowing I must get out of the building quickly.

Says It Was Dynamite.

"The fire was everywhere in the basement, too. I tried to get to the doors, but could not. Finally I broke through a thin partition that let me into the mailing room. The only way out of this room, which was all afire, was through a little paper chute which ran upward to the street and through which we ordinarily slide bundles of papers.

"The wind from the street was fanning the flames into the chute and I could see them licking into the chute between me and the daylight. However I realized that this was my only chance for life and I dove into it and crawled directly toward the flames. How I got through I don't know, but when I reached the sidewalk and drew myself out of the chute I realized that I had been badly burned. As soon as I got to the street, firemen and others helped me to my feet and away from the building."

Chandler's Narrow Escape.

"Assistant General Manager Chandler narrowly escaped with his life. His office was on the ground floor and he had left it but a few minutes before the explosion. He was accustomed to remaining in his office until later in the morning, but on this occasion his wife had come for him and he had gone to his home a few blocks distant. Chandler's private secretary, J. Wesley Reeves, remained in the office and has not been found since the fire broke out, and it is believed the secretary lost his life. Chandler's office was wrecked by the force of the explosion and it was hardly possible for any one to escape from it. He had scarcely reached his home when he heard the explosion, and says he at once believed that the Times had been dynamited. He hurried to the scene, but found the building a mass of flames when he reached there.

"You can say for me that there is no doubt that this terrible outrage can be laid at the doors of the labor unions. They have destroyed the building and plant, and have killed a number of our men—we do not know how many—but they can't kill The Times."

Wires for New Plant.

"Two hours after the fire Chandler was busy writing telegrams, ordering new printing presses, linotypes and a stereotyping outfit for a new plant from New York. An issue of the paper was gotten out today from the composing and pressrooms of the Los Angeles Herald and from an auxiliary of the Times office in another part of the city.

"Chandler stated that two years ago the Times had established an auxiliary plant at College and San Francisco streets, equipping it with a press and twelve linotype machines, with the expectation that the present plant would some day be destroyed."

This auxiliary plant which the Post account refers to is the linotype school which The Times conducted in another portion of the city to teach apprentices the trade and thus supply themselves with nonunion men. In another part of the account, it says that two men were discovered climbing to the roof of this building with the aid of ladders but fled when the watchman fired at them. It is believed that this building was also marked for destruction. The preparedness of The Times management for what occurred is plainly shown by the above extracts and by this:

ment for what occurred is plainly shown by the above extracts and by this:

Guns in Times Office.

"Recently, according to Managing Editor Andrews, the strained relations with organized labor have almost reached the breaking point, since the precipitation of the brewers and iron workers' strikes here six months ago.

"Less than a month ago a stand of fifty Springfield rifles was purchased and installed in the tower room in the fourth floor of the building. This fact had been kept secret; but it was admitted by Andrews today.

"Last week a case of sawed-off shotguns, which had stood in the managing editor's office, was moved into the reporters' room."

Concerning the bomb found in Zeeland's home, it says:

"Dynamite sticks were found by the police today at the home of Secretary Zeeland, of the merchants and manufacturers' association, connected with an electric battery, to which was attached an alarm clock, and extending to one of the most ingenious infernal machines that ever was brought to the attention of the local department.

"The alarm was set to go off at 1 o'clock, the hour at which the explosion at The Times building occurred. The clock was so tightly wound, the police who took charge of the machine said, that the alarm was prevented from working, probably saving the lives of every person in the house.

"The machine was found this morning by Miss Elizabeth Wilder, a visitor at the Zeeland's home."

Rhodes Was Building Foreman.

Rhodes, the Manoa Valley florist, was the foreman of the construction corps which put up the building in which the Los Angeles Times was located. Mr. Rhodes states that the building was not strongly constructed, but he was merely obeying orders when he acted as foreman, although feeling that the building did not come up to the mark.

Editorial Comment.

The afternoon Coast papers of October 1 were the first which had an opportunity to comment on the tragedy and the Post said editorially:

"All newspaperdom is thrilled and shocked today with the horror of holocaust which followed the dynamiting of the Times building in Los Angeles. The loss of property is but a detail, as the Times is a wealthy organization, and its plant was well insured, but not all the money nor the sympathy in the world can relight one of the twenty human candles whose lights were blown out by the chilling blast of exploded nitroglycerine.

"Appalled by the effect, a million tongues are asking today concerning the cause, the human cause, which plotted and planned the explosion. In its fight with organized labor, The Times is a world figure, and, at loss for a more lucid theory, this crime will be laid by many at Labor's door. The most plausible explanation seems to be that it is the work of misguided fanatics—and these have missed the men they probably sought to strike, only to kill and maim scores with whom they had no quarrel.

"Two suspects are already under arrest. The Post trusts that the real perpetrators of this outrage will be discovered, that the world may know what forces were responsible for a deed that will forever blot a page of the industrial history of southern California.

"In the loss of life, the outrage is greater than the Haymarket riots in Chicago, and the case may become as celebrated a one."

ed, but look at him now, instead, stronger than before. This demonstrates that he has 'ruse,' that is to say, cunning, artifice, means of deception, craft, williness—in fact, the quality which makes an untrustworthy politician and a man to be avoided. Undoubtedly he might do good to Spain, proceeding with firmness, caution, and, above all, with good counsel."

Of the other members of the Cortes who was recently in the public eye, Pablo Iglesias, this same "personage" said: "Pablo Iglesias was a compositio who, making himself the mouthpiece of the Socialists in Spain, set up on several occasions as candidate for Bilbao, without success. Now he is a member of the Cortes for Madrid, and is the only Socialist in the Spanish Chamber."

However much he may have striven to cultivate his mind, and he is not devoid of praiseworthy qualities, yet he is not, and can not be, the man capable of giving organic life and guiding to victory a party, especially when this has an original vice, as the Spanish Socialist Party has."

Alfonso Deranged.

When asked what is thought in Spain of the young Alfonso XIII, the "personage" replied: "Oh, the King is a good little fellow, personally sympathetic to his exuberant youthfulness. Perhaps one of the most painful stories, whether real or imaginary, concerning the young King of Spain is that which appeared in nearly all the papers of Rome. It is from the Paris Libre Parole, which is a bitter anti-Catholic journal. After noting the situation in Spain, the Libre Parole continues: 'Certain strange rumor is spreading, which, if it be confirmed, would explain many things. Alfonso XIII has been stricken by a cerebral affection, and for some time past has indulged even in public eccentricities, which have greatly disquieted the persons who approach him.'

The Libre Parole relates that quite recently at the station of Bayonne Alfonso XIII, after talking for a while to some friends, returned into the train, and as it was still waiting he suddenly jumped out of the window on the station platform to the great surprise of his friends, who congratulated him on his remarkable agility. And in his official visit to France five years ago he surprised many persons with the childish tricks he performed, which were not quite compatible with his rank. The etiquette of the Spanish court has always been unusually strict, but the agility displayed by King Alfonso XIII in jumping out of a train window and his peculiarly childish conduct seem to surpass even the less rigid rules of other royal courts regarding Kingly behavior.

A drawing by the French artist "Sem," published in the Paris Figaro June 9, 1905, represents the young, long-legged, Austrian-jawed Alfonso XIII with M. Loubet, then President of the French Republic, and three other kindred spirits, M. Hennessy, Prince Murat and M. Dos, who were evidently "out in a spree," and in the picture each has a more or less comical smile, as if they were amused by some peculiarly funny story.

The King and Loubet.

It was at this time, says the Libre Parole, that, being in grand uniform, Alfonso diverted himself by taking off his general's "kepi," or military cap, and putting it on the head of M. Loubet, the very "bourgeois" President, and this foolish bit of fun delighted the King immensely. Another amusement he indulged in, according to the same journal, was to come in his automobile into the court of the Palais d'Orsay, and when the business which brought him there was over he entered his automobile again and, launching it out at full speed, pulled up within an inch or two of the wall. People thought then that these were the unregulated ebullitions of youthful activity, but in the light of later events they have another color.

A further incident is related which is also out of the ordinary. A few weeks ago, when King Alfonso was at Biarritz, he received cordially the director of the local journal, La Frontiere, a certain Seitz, who is a Protestant and the editor of the journal which had violently attacked him for the execution of Ferrer. Furthermore, he accepted from Seitz a copy of the Royal Biarritz, of which he is editor, and promised him an autograph, expressive of his enthusiasm for that delightful resort, of which he has such pleasant memories. All these incidents related together give a certain color to the idea that the mind of Alfonso XIII is unbalanced, not one of which, taken singly, would be regarded as other than the frolics of a restless young man. Then the sudden flight of the King and Queen from San Sebastian to England, at the menace of the demonstration which was to take place there, gives people little confidence in the wisdom of the King.

King's Double.

Alfonso has a double in Paris in the person of a journalist. During a recent visit of His Majesty to Paris, one of the illustrated papers thought that its readers would like to see the King of Spain in the act of being interviewed. The journalist was therefore put into a magnificent motorcar, which drove to the Place Vendôme and stopped. The journalist climbed into the car, and, in hand, interviewed "the King," while the camera took the picture.

Verisimilitude was added by a policeman, who stood at the salute while the picture was being taken. He, however, really thought that the king of Spain was in the motorcar. His Majesty saw the picture and was very much amused.

During his visit to Paris some days ago he sent for his double, who is doing his military service in a regiment of cuirassiers, and saw the likeness of himself. Both he and the Queen were very much interested, and the King had himself photographed with the cuirassier's helmet to see whether he really looked like him. This photograph, however, will not be published.

SPORTS

ADVISES OUTRIGGER CLUB TO DRAW LINE

Dr. Hand Says Boys Owning Canoes Should Be Allowed to Take Tourists Surfing.

Members of the Hawaiian Outrigger Canoe Club are still at variance on the question regarding the scope of the term amateur as applied to this organization and in discussing the various problems which may fall to the lot of the board of governors of the local branch of the A. A. U. to decide as soon as the charter is granted by the national union to the Hawaiian Amateur Athletic Association. Doctor Hand said yesterday: "There is one which ought to be threshed out."

There has been a good deal of controversy in this club over certain of the younger members taking tourists out in their canoes for a financial consideration. This is held by some of the members to constitute professionalism. The sports promoted by the Outrigger club are strictly Hawaiian and board and canoe surfing is one of the chief attractions to lure the tourists to the beach at Waikiki.

Being exclusively a Hawaiian sport the A. A. U. would have no rules particularly applying to regulate it and the local branch would have complete jurisdiction. According to Doctor Hand's views a distinction should be made between boys owning canoes and receiving cash remuneration at odd times for taking tourists out through the surf and boys following this pursuit as a livelihood. The use of club canoes or any club property for individual gain, Doctor Hand asserted, should be forbidden and no exhibition contests of any kind for purposes of financial reward should be allowed, but if a boy chooses to make a few dollars now and then to help keep up his canoe it is a matter outside of athletics altogether.

"A canoe costs from sixty to ninety dollars," Doctor Hand explained. "Paddles cost three dollars and a half and it is a very common occurrence to break one. Then the canoes have to be varnished once in a while. If you owned a boat, would you loan it to greenhorns to use? It takes a good, experienced man to steer a canoe on a good or high surf and for this reason the boys who own canoes do not loan them unless they steer them themselves. Supposing a boy has a date after school to play a game of tennis or something of other. He could not be expected to break his engagement to meet visitors here to the thrill of native sport unless they offer him some inducement. There is no one else to entertain the malihinis in the surf if these boys don't do it. There are two or three boys here, however, who make a regular business of teaching swimming, surfboard riding and taking parties out in the outrigger canoes. They are professionals, but there are about twenty school boys who own canoes and a few working boys. There should be a line drawn between these boys and the few who make the sport a profession. Some time ago the Outrigger club offered cash prizes in races, but the new board of governors has put a stop to that. Members would not be in good amateur standing who competed for cash prizes in any event in the club or out of it and members should not use the club property or canoes for financial consideration."

Another question came up yesterday which Doctor Hand said ought to be passed upon by the higher tribunal of the A. A. U. Henry Chillingworth is the umpire in chief of the Oahu Baseball League and receives a regular fee for officiating at all the league games. Kiddo is anxious to know whether the A. A. U. would deny him this source of revenue. As baseball is not under the jurisdiction of the A. A. U. as a game and as the umpire takes no part in the competing and is not connected in any way with the professional teams playing Doctor Hand was inclined to believe that it would not affect Chillingworth's amateur standing, but he said it was a nice question to decide and should be put up to the A. A. U. direct.

STAR POLO PLAYERS COMING WITH CAVALRY

There are said to be a lot of crack-jack polo players among the officers of the second squadron of the Fifth Cavalry, which is on the way down here to take its station at Lelehu. They have some very handy and speedy polo ponies, it is also asserted, and the Fighting Fifth are all cheered up over the prospect of running a closer race for the lead in next year's polo tournament at Moanalua Field.

The cavalry team was number four against the Kaianui champions, Maui and Oahu last summer, and it would tickle them to reverse the order next year. The cavalry reinforcements are due here on the next transport, October 15, and their horses will come later on the transport Dix. They have been stationed at Yellowstone Park, and were champions of all the polo fields around there.

CHILLINGWORTH GETTING UP TEAM OF GIANTS

Charlie Chillingworth is organizing a baseball team composed of heavyweights to go after Kiddo Sheba's aggregation of bachelors. Chillingworth has sized the boys up for what they are and he thinks it will take a bunch of two hundred pounders to hold them, so he has made that weight the eligibility limit and nobody under it can get on. The Chillingworth giants will get busy shortly to check the other old bucks in their wild career.

CHANGES COURSE FOR MANOA TOURNAMENT

Oahu Country Club Green Committee Adopts Suggestion of Mrs. Walter Dillingham.

The new greens committee of the Oahu Country Club held a meeting yesterday afternoon with Chairman George Angus presiding. Angus just returned on the steamer Sierra yesterday morning from a six months' trip through the States and England, and one of the first things he learned upon landing was that he had been chosen to head this committee. He started committing at once by calling a meeting to arrange matters for the Manoa trophy golf tournament which starts tomorrow to decide the annual golf championship of the Hawaiian Islands.

A suggestion made to one of the members of the committee by Mrs. Walter Dillingham was considered such a good one that the members wondered why it had not been thought of before, and it was adopted without a dissenting voice. The committee was so pleased with Mrs. Dillingham's idea and with themselves for adopting it that they adjourned without doing anything else.

The innovation has to do with the golf course. Heretofore the start in every golf tournament has been made from up on the hill back of the clubhouse. Mrs. Dillingham, who is a star golfer, made the suggestion, during a visit to the Oahu Country Club, that the start be made in front of the clubhouse so that the members and guests might have a view of the start at close range without having to discomfort themselves. The greens committee took up the proposition and altered the course for the Manoa tournament.

Starting from the eighth tee, which is right in front of the clubhouse, the first hole drive will be to the eighth green. The second will be from the ninth tee to the ninth green. The third hole drive will be from the present first tee to the first green and thence over the regular course, finishing at the seventh green. Another advantageous feature of the change is that there is very little rough starting from the eighth tee to the eighth green, the three last holes of the present course are the longest and the committee was of the opinion that better golf would result from the change. Players starting on the first round of the regular course, Chairman Angus explained, are often discouraged by the treacherous and difficult green to drive to. The committee adopted another rule forbidding putting or approaching the greens on the days of the championship match.

The preliminary match will be played tomorrow, starting at ten o'clock, and the finals for the championship and the Manoa Cup will come on the following Sunday. The committee will meet again today to fix the elimination basis for the preliminary match. There was some question yesterday whether it should be the lowest eight or the lowest twelve. The rules which cover this point were included in the arrangements under which the Manoa trophy was put up, but the document bearing these rules was not at hand at yesterday's meeting. Although the competition will be a scratch affair, there being no handicaps allowed, a very large entry list is expected as it is an open tournament to all golfers in the Islands. Percy Morse, the secretary of the committee, has sent out invitations to the members of the Haleiwa and the Honolulu Golf clubs to take a hand and a general invitation is extended to the nonmembers who care to compete. The entries will close at the Oahu Country Club at ten o'clock tomorrow morning and play will commence immediately.

The members of the new greens committee are: George Angus, chairman; William Woon, Jack Belser, Frank Halstead and Percy Morse, secretary.

COMMISSION REFUSES BARNEY JOY'S PETITION

The case of Barney Joy, the former Segl, against the Boston Nationals was the subject of discussion before the national commission the other day. The following was clipped from Sporting Life: "An appeal of Barney Joy, the Honolulu pitcher, to be released from the Boston National Club's reserve list and be made a free agent, has been decided by the national commission. The player made his demand because the Boston club refused to send him funds for transportation and $250 advance money after he had signed a contract." The ruling of the commission was as follows: "The records show that this player was drafted by the Boston National League Club from the Pacific Coast league in 1907; that he has been tendered a contract each year and has failed each year up to the present time to sign or return the same. There is nothing in the contract which he signed which provides that transportation must be furnished him or that salary should be paid him in advance. His application to be declared a free agent is therefore refused."

TO SAIL WREN RACE FOR HOWARD CUP TOMORROW

The seawren race for the Howard cup, which was to have been sailed the day following the rowing regatta, will get under way tomorrow morning at ten o'clock. This is a Hawaii Yacht Club event, although it is possible that some of the members of the Honolulu Yacht Club may enter with their pearls. The race will be over the same course as before. Howard Bowen holds one leg on the trophy, and if he wins the race tomorrow the Howard cup will be his. The trophy has to be won twice in succession to obtain possession, so if Bowen wins tomorrow this series will be pau.

CAMP SAYS SEND HAWAIIANS TO YALE

Angus Meets Football Veteran on Trip. Hears of Austin White and Sees Stewart.

George Angus, the veteran golfer of the Oahu Country Club, returned on the steamer Sierra yesterday morning from a trip which extended over a period of more than five months and took him across two oceans and covering the United States and England.

Before leaving the Coast Angus dropped into the Stewart Hotel in Frisco to exchange a few idle words with Mr. Stewart for sociability's sake, in remembrance of the latter's visit to Honolulu and the Oahu Country Club. Mr. Angus said yesterday that he did not discuss Mr. Stewart's gift to the country club with the donor, except in a casual way. Mr. Stewart remarked, however, in the course of the conversation, that he intended the handsome silver cup to be the property of the Oahu Country Club, to do with as the members liked. The letter that accompanied the present, he told Mr. Angus, merely contained suggestions, and they were not intended to restrict the club in any way as regards how it should be competed for.

The club can therefore put up the trophy for an interclub tournament or keep it for members of the Oahu Country Club only to play for. Stewart hoped, however, that the cup would not be let go to the winner of only one match. Some of the members of the Oahu Country Club who are also members of the Honolulu Golf Club, suggested a while ago that as Mr. Stewart had visited the Haleiwa Golf Club and the Honolulu club links, it would be more courteous to him for the country club to put up the trophy for interclub competition, as Mr. Stewart was a hotel man, and all hotel men were congenial souls and liked to cultivate as large a circle of friends as they could.

While Mr. Angus was in San Francisco he met Walter Camp, known as the father of modern football. Camp, he said, wanted to know why there were not more Hawaiian boys going to Yale University. Camp spoke of George Carter, who went to Yale from here, as one of the best athletes Yale ever had. The old gridiron veteran spoke very highly of all Hawaiian boys who had attended the big eastern colleges, as counted among the best athletes in the field. Reference was made to the two Wingington boys as Harvard's best athletes, and Camp said they wanted more of them at Yale.

Mr. Angus did not happen to run across young Austin White while on the

THE INTERSCHOLASTIC LEAGUE LOSES PUNS

Oahu College Athletic Association Resolves to Withdraw From Membership.

The Puns have decided to withdraw from the interscholastic league. At a meeting of the Oahu College Athletic Association held yesterday the following resolution was adopted:

"Since the policy of the Oahu College Athletic Association has always been to encourage the participation of all students in all forms of student activity; and

"Since the Oahu College Athletic Association expressly accepted these rules last year only experimentally, in hope that the objectionable features might later be eliminated; and

"Since the interpretation of the scholarship rule has proved very unequal and unsatisfactory during the past year; therefore,

"Resolved, That the Oahu College Athletic Association withdraw from membership in the Interscholastic League."

The matter of the A. A. U. was also discussed, it being decided to defer action until the many difficulties involved were cleared up.

WANT TO GET INDOOR BASEBALL STARTED

The Kalihi Mission Club expects to put out an indoor baseball team pretty soon to tackle the Y. M. C. A. bunch. The Palama Settlement has a team of youngsters and there is some talk of their playing a game with a Y. M. C. A. practise team. There was something said yesterday about the Marines getting into the game. A trileague has been suggested, taking in the Kalihi, the Y. M. C. A. team and either the Kam alumni or the Marines.

Coast, but he heard lots about him. The golfers up there, Angus said, thought the Honolulu was a marvel at putting, and they predicted that in a few years he would astound the world. Mr. Angus traveled all over England, and he said the Britishers had beautiful golf links. He saw no championship matches, but when business was not too pressing he went out to watch the Englishmen play. He also took in some of the courses in the States.

LEWIS SAYS HE HAS ORDERED FLYER

There has of late been considerable talk about a flying machine coming to Honolulu, and E. H. Lewis is the man who is responsible for the proposition. He returned from the mainland in the Sierra, but he has not yet brought the aerial boat with him. Lewis said he could not get a machine on the Coast which he cared to possess. There were no flying machines for sale except those which had been used by aviators who found that their devices were failures. It is hard luck in this modern age when a man can not buy a flying machine, especially when he has the money to pay for it.

Nothing daunted, Lewis has ordered that a flying machine be constructed to his order, and he expects to have it here about the middle of next month. Lewis, ambitious that Honolulu people should really see a man flying over these Islands, went so far as to offer Aviator Hamilton five thousand dollars to come to Honolulu, but Hamilton had a date in Chicago which he could not very well change.

POSTPONE HORSE RACE UNTIL NEXT SATURDAY

The horse race which was to come off at Kapiolani Park this afternoon has been postponed again, but both owners have posted a hundred dollars forfeit money each, and it was declared yesterday that the event would surely take place next Saturday afternoon. Instead of running it over a three-quarters of a mile course it will be a half-mile race. The mare Mary Winfield has got over her lameness, it was said yesterday, and she will be entered and raced by Cal Leonard, who won the blue ribbon event on the Spreckels Park track in the Fourth of July races with the mare Flavius which was shipped down from the Coast shortly before the Maui meet. The native lad Opiopio will ride William Beckley's mare Lizzie Moore next Saturday.

RAIN INTERRUPTS TENNIS TOURNAMENT

The rain got the drop on the Manoa Valley tennis courts last evening so that the tournament players did not venture out and the gay and brilliant scene of the night before was one dark and dismal drizzle. If the moisture will hold up the while the assemblage will reconvene tonight for the second session of the six days play.

GOLF WINNERS.

GLENCOE, Illinois, September 17.—Mrs. Thurston Harris of the Westward Ho Golf Club won the eighth annual championship of the Women's Western Golf Association at the Skokie Country Club, defeating Mrs. Harvey L. Pound of the home club 3 and 2 in the 18 holes final.

BROOKLINE, Massachusetts, September 17.—William C. Fowkes Jr., of the Oakmont Club of Pittsburg, a young millionaire, this afternoon won the amateur championship of the United States Golf Association, having defeated in the final match Warren K. Wood of the Homewood Country Club, Chicago, by the score of 4 up 3 to play.

PLAYER IS REWARDED FOR HIS PATRIOTISM

Infielder French, who was sold by Boston to Chicago last spring, is one player who found it paid to be enthusiastically patriotic. The day he was sold by Taylor to Chicago, French was on the coaching lines, yelling his head off in his efforts to have Boston win. The sale had already been consummated, but was not to take effect until that night. One of the other players remarked to him: "What are you working so hard for? You are going to be one of the White Sox tomorrow."

"Well, I am one of the Red Sox today," was French's reply, "and I am playing for Boston. Tomorrow I shall play just as hard to beat Boston." When Taylor heard of the conversation he added $150 to French's check.

THE YOUNG MAN'S CHANCE.

The territorial election of next month will probably be decided by first voters, by our young men who for the first time come into their right of citizenship and have the privilege of casting their first ballots. In every crisis of American history, the young men have been the determining factors in the final crisis. This year the conservatism of old-time Democracy has been thrust aside to satisfy the lust for office and power of one man, formerly a Republican but a bolter from that party because his ability and his capability were not recognized by that party at the face value of his personal estimate and human capidity. This man was repudiated by the people two years ago. Realizing this he knows that his only hope for success in the present campaign exists in talking persistently upon other questions, so that the people may forget possibly that he is the same man who was defeated on other issues in 1908, thus showing his weathercockability and his lack of stability.

Once more the Republican party in this Territory makes its campaign as the champion of the principles of progress and prosperity which have placed the American Nation in the world's front rank. It enters the contest once more under the leadership of Delegate Kuhio, one of the ablest of Hawaii, who has four times been the Republican party's successful standard bearer and who has always been able to return here, from his duties in congress, and give to the people a successful account of his stewardship.

The young men of Hawaii should feel a peculiar interest in the results of this campaign. If the seeds of folly are to be sown, it is they who must reap the fruits. If this Territory is to listen to evil counsels and adopt a policy of reaction, the baneful results will fall with greatest weight, not upon the present, but upon the generation to come. The large number of young men who are to cast their first votes next month should take, and we believe they are taking, an active part in the struggle now in progress. Such action on their part will not only help to win a victory in the present campaign, but it will do much to prevent a renewal in the future of the attack that is being made upon republican government.

Following the leadership of their standard bearer, Delegate Kuhio, let the young men of Hawaii advance proudly onward to the greatest political victory in the history of these Hawaiian Islands and of this Island Territory of the United States.

A "BABY" CRY.

A fair sample of the "arguments" being used in his campaign among the Hawaiians by L. L. McCandless, is the following, taken from the report of the Democratic candidate's speech at Hilo, on September 27. Discussing immigration, he said:

The babies in the land are weeping and hungry because you have let immigrants be imported who will cause them to starve. You know that your wives and your children are starving, and still you cling to the Republicans, who are responsible.

Such assertions as the above are not only mighty cheap and melodramatic politics, but they are absolutely without warrant in fact.

The Organic Act states that a man must be twenty-one years of age before he may vote, but, recent rulings of the board of registration say that he must be twenty-one years and one month. Nowhere in the law does it require an otherwise qualified voter to be of age when he registers, but he must be of age when he votes. It would appear, in the face of this, that anyone whose twenty-first birthday comes between today and November 8 ought to be allowed to get on the list.

GREATLY ENLARGE ICEMAKING PLANT

Local Company Doubles Capacity of the Manufacturing and Storage Departments.

The completion of the new buildings and the installation of highly improved machinery in the plant of the Oahu Ice and Electric Company marks another notch on the gun barrel of Hawaiian prosperity, not only because it will add to the income of the particular company making the enlargements, but because it indicates, by indicating an increased demand for ice, that old bounds are gradually being passed.

This increased demand, on analysis, proves to be a barometer of prosperity in general. It means more ships in the harbors, more imported and exported products, and larger local trade, all very pleasant things to contemplate.

The new ice-making machine which, with the other improvements, has cost over $40,000, has been installed by Will P. Stevens, of Los Angeles, the head of one of the best known ice and refrigerator manufacturing houses on the Coast.

With the aid of this machinery, the capacity of the company's plant on Huihua street, Kakaia, is raised from thirty tons of ice a day to sixty tons. For the present forty tons will be turned out. The older machine which has done faithful service for six years will be maintained, but not in operation, as an auxiliary plant. This will give the company the means to manufacture ninety tons a day if it becomes necessary.

A new condenser will also have to be added to the equipment, the present one being overworked, and Manager A. W. Seabury has already cabled for it.

The enlargement of the manufacturing facilities have been kept step with the storage department, the new building enlarging the storing area four or five times, adding to it the most improved features.

The old store room, which is now being used as such, will be converted and used for the storage of ice, doubling the capacity of this department. The temperature will be kept at 18 degrees Fahrenheit, enabling the company to hold the ice indefinitely.

The new buildings across the street which now become the storage department, have been divided into compartments, each department cooled from the same ammonia pipes from the main building, but each so arranged that the temperatures in each can be regulated differently.

There is a room for meats, already contracted for by a local company, a room for eggs, one for butter, one for fresh fruits, and so forth. To store these properly, different temperatures are needed for each which give rise to the present system of regulation. Manager Seabury stated yesterday that customers have been turned away frequently through inability to handle the daily increasing orders and hopes that the enlarged plant will remedy this condition. The whole shows a decided improvement over the time when ice was being brought around the Horn in sailing vessels and sold at a prohibitive price.

THE DAY'S DOINGS ON THE STOCK EXCHANGE

Still uncertain and depressed, yesterday's trading in the stock market was no improvement on that of the week, or the week before. With several exceptions, the decline still continued, but was rather a discouraged one than a pessimistic one.

Hawaiian Commercial remained at 23, both in trading and bidding with a half more asked, but seems steadier after the slump of several days ago.

Oahu Sugar sold Thursday afternoon at 28.75 but had reached 29 flat again before trading on session began yesterday. With 28.75 only asked and 28.125 bid, the stock does not hold forth much promise of an early recovery.

The market was not so active as during the earlier part of the week and neither off board nor session trading was sufficiently extensive to permit much fluctuation. Ewa dropped seventy-five cents to 30.50 and Pioneer noted a further decline, dropping as far as 207.50, five dollars less than the previous sale.

Waialua declined but fifty cents, more in sympathy with the market than for any real reason. No other features of importance were noted.

The sales for the day were:
McBride—20 @ 5.
Oahu Sugar—50 @ 28.75; 10 @ 29.
Waialua—10 @ 112.50; 15 @ 112.
Hawaiian Commercial—50 @ 35.
Ewa—50 @ 30.625; 25 @ 30.50; 5 @ 30.50; 5 @ 30.50.
Pioneer—9 @ 207.50.

Another exemplification of the almighty technicality was shown yesterday morning in police court when T. Eugli, charged with receiving stolen goods, was discharged because it was shown that the goods had not been "stolen," but merely "taken on a forged order." Eugli was the man who bought $80 worth of sugar sacks from the notorious Tin Soan knowing that they had been illegally obtained. Yet because the thief didn't take them through a window at night the "fence" gets off nor can the prosecution find a charge upon which they can hale him before justice.

FIND DISEASED MEAT IN MARKET

Laboratory Experiments Expose Criminal Negligence of Political Appointees.

What will probably prove to be the first step in a crusade for a sanitary meat and fish market was taken yesterday, when, by order of Territorial Chemist E. B. Blanchard, a Chinese butcher occupying a stall in the market was arrested and charged with selling rotten meat.

Chang Yai, the first man to fall into the clutches of those who are attempting to clean out this spot, will be arraigned this morning in police court and will be tried next week. The meat which has been secured from his stall was found to be full of maggots from the eggs laid by the swarms of flies which disgrace the city's market center. Seven other samples of meat are now in Blanchard's laboratory, all of them expected to develop maggots. These samples were found matted with flies' eggs, and Blanchard states that many more samples could be secured in the same state.

The condition of the market he brands as disgraceful, and by the arrest made yesterday launches a campaign to arouse public sentiment to such a degree that it will force the fish and meat and even the vegetable merchants to place their goods under glass or in other ways protect them from the fly.

These insects, which are advertised by the health boards of the country at an expense of thousands as the deadliest means of transmitting disease, are allowed full range in the market. Blanchard believes the fish partially immune, as the salt water sprinkled on them keeps the flies off, but few eating meat exposed as this is can escape an unknown flavoring sauce of maggot eggs, according to the experiments being carried on in the official laboratories.

The arrest of Chang Yai will be followed by that of others as fast as the experiments come to a head and the warning to the public is duly given as to the meat it is getting. Blanchard recommends that market patronage be given only to those dealers who keep their meat covered, to force this method's adoption everywhere.

A city ordinance could be drafted covering the whole situation.

The meat inspectors in the market are apparently doing nothing but play politics. Mr. Blanchard is doing the best he can to remedy the laxity of the men responsible for the public health by carrying on laboratory experiments and calling attention to the results.

The meat inspectors have not brought one case into court during the whole time that they have retained their office, yet Blanchard's present cases and many cases in the past, where indignant customers have exhibited rotten fish in court and called the merchants to legal account, testify to the burning need of inspection and enforcement of what regulations there are.

MORRISON MAY GET HONOKAA MANAGERSHIP

There is a rumor about Broker's Row that Manager Gjerdrum of Honokaa plantation is to be succeeded by Mr. Morrison, who has been head luma on various plantations and is regarded as one of the best fitted men for a managership. Honokaa plantation fell down in its output this year. The manager's estimate was for a little over 10,000 tons and the actual output was about 7,500 tons.

The Pacific Engineering Company has been given the contract to erect the new $41,000 concrete building of the American Can Company on the Douthitt property in Iwilei.

SILVA PERMITTED TO MOVE SALOON

Proprietor of the Notorious Pantheon Treated Kindly by Booze Board.

Joseph Silva, proprietor of the notorious Pantheon Saloon on Hotel street, was, at a meeting of the board of liquor license commissioners yesterday afternoon, granted permission to transfer his license to premises on Nuuanu street opposite the Novelty theater. The granting of Silva's petition came as a good deal of a surprise, as it had been supposed that on account of the reputation of the place the board would take the first opportunity to close it up. The Pantheon is known as the ordinary hang-out of a certain tough element, consisting largely of ne'er-do-wells, prizefight hangers-on and other undesirable citizens, and several disgraceful affairs that have occurred in the place have given it an unenviable name.

Silva has been notified by the owners of the Pantheon block that he will have to vacate by next Monday. He stated to the board that the new place into which he expects to move will not be completed for about three months and during the interim he will be out of the business.

Takafugi Turned Down.

Takafugi applied for a saloon license for Waialua. He was represented before the board by M. P. Prosser, who argued that the license be granted. It appeared that there was on file a protest signed by thirty-seven persons, including the Waialua Agricultural Company. This protest was not against the granting of a license to Takafugi in particular but against the granting of any more licenses for Waialua. As opposed to this, Takafugi's petition was signed by a large number of persons, many of whom, Prosser said, are among those who previously signed a petition against the granting of any saloon license for the district.

Inspector Fennell claimed that at least one of the names on Takafugi's petition was clearly a forgery. He also stated that Takafugi had given $50 to someone to have his petition circulated and signed. Prosser in reply to this said that Takafugi, being a busy man, had merely paid someone else $50 to circulate the petition. Besides, if any opponent of the saloon were willing to withdraw his protest for a dollar and a half, the protest ought not to be considered, anyway.

But the board, in executive session, turned Takafugi down hard.

Lemon Is Handed One.

James Lemon, who applied for a second-class saloon license for Waipahu, was also refused the license asked. There was on record a general protest from Waipahu against the granting of any second license for a saloon at that place.

Smithies Luckier.

George Smithies, for the auction house which he represents, asked for and was granted permission to sell off at auction for H. Hacksfeldt & Co. 100 cases of port wine.

The applications of Okazaki for a wholesale license for Honolulu and of Peterson for a retail license for Waipahu were received and the public hearing on each set for November 11.

TIMELY ADVICE

Never leave home on a journey at this season of the year without a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It is good advice for young and old. No one can tell when it may be required. It can not be obtained on board the cars or steamships. Buy it before leaving home. For sale by all dealers, Benson, Smith & Co., Ltd., agents for Hawaii.

RETURNS TO LOS ANGELES TO FACE UNION THREATS

Returning to the Coast on the Mongolia today, Will P. Stevens, who has just completed the installation of the new plant of the Oahu Ice and Electric Company, goes to Los Angeles to take his place in the great industrial war being waged there, a war which so far has featured the destruction of the Times building.

Several days ago Mr. Stevens received from his foreman in Los Angeles a cable stating that his plant was one of those threatened with destruction by the striking unionists. His shops are but one of many which have been so threatened, the threats having been made after the Times building was destroyed. It is in the face of these threats that the Los Angeles unions have declared no wish to indulge in the tactics which wiped out twenty lives and a half-million dollars' worth of property.

Mr. Stevens has been one of the foremost figures in the fight against the extravagant demands of the unions, maintaining an open shop for nine years in Los Angeles in the face of all opposition. At the commencement of the brewers and iron workers' strike, four months ago, he himself went to the brewery and held three days' continuous watches, day and night without sleep, lending his men to the other shops.

At the present time he has loaned most of his men to the other houses, keeping but nine in his own shops. Two pattern shops in the city were wrecked by the unionists, armed with sledge hammers, during last month.

Mr. Stevens employs two watchmen, one in the front and one in the rear of his shops, but stated yesterday that he does not consider this an entire safeguard against union lawlessness. His attitude towards the situation is that of every employer in Los Angeles at present—he won't grant the outrageous demands of the unions if they blow his whole works up.

The Kona Railway Company is soon to incorporate with a capital of $150,000 for the purpose of building the Kona-Kau railroad that has been discussed for the past two years. Engineers are said to be already surveying for it.

Joe Ferrage, on trial for highway robbery and larceny, will have to answer to the regular criminal courts, the plea of his counsel that he is a juvenile having been overruled by Judge Andrade yesterday.

Be Sure You are Right, Then Go Ahead.

Lakeview Oil Company No. 2 is only 14 1/2 miles from the biggest oil well in the world. We are surrounded by 10 big oil gushers. Our big gushers will come in about December 1 and expect our stock well then be worth from $5 to $10 per share. Our price is now only 40c per share. Any man who wishes to better his condition should buy some stock now. It is a good gamble and confidently expect it will put us on easy street. Don't let this opportunity pass. Hacksfeldt, Kennedy and lots of our wealthiest people of Honolulu are heavily interested in oil property about four miles north of us—they certainly investigated carefully before doing so. Don't you think you are perfectly safe in following their example?

Gasoline Row

There was one very much pleased man in town during the week and that was George Wells, manager of the Royal Hawaiian Garage when he received the cable stating that the Alcoa car had won the Vanderbilt cup race, making the second time the valued trophy has gone to an American car.

The American Locomotive Works, which turns out the Alcoa is either greatly crowded with orders or else its capacity is not so great as the other factories which are supplying the country with chugmobiles. Mr. Wells has been unable to secure any more of the cars for several weeks, although the three or four which he imported went like the proverbial hot cakes.

Just at present it seems as if the factory was confining its attention to limousines for Wells could have secured several of these but the enclosed means do not appear to have made a success in the Islands and he decided he would wait until he could get the touring cars.

His order for them is already standing and it is possible he may hear in several months that he has another commission on the way.

Oahu Requirements.

"Prospects for present and future business in the automobile world are very bright," declared Manager Hall of the Associated Garage yesterday in sizing up the situation.

"This is not a 'town or boulevard car' country. What is needed in Oahu is a car that is strong on hills—hills like the Pali—and bad roads. Cars with big healthy engines don't go astray here. I'm not knocking the roads when I say that they're bad, for in spite of the naughty remarks of that Hawaii county supervisor who insisted on going around the island in the worst rainy spell in two years, the Oahu roads are good enough for baby carriages. But you can't call a road with a forty per cent. incline and fifty turns to the mile an exceptionally good speedway.

"That is why the limousine and the landaulet haven't come into use extensively. They're not strong on around the island turns where a car stands on both ends at once and does sundry flip flops down precipices. I think the local chauffeurs are the best in the world to handle the auto traffic they do around Oahu and leave the scenery with no more holes in it than at present."

"The Pierce Arrow cars of the 1911 model which are on their way to us evidently come up to the requirements for they all have been sold without being seen on the strength of the performance of their predecessor.

"What factory reports have come to me indicate that the car is finding equal favor on the Western ranges and the New York boulevards and I hope to add a few reports to these saying that they do just as well on Hawaiian palis. It's fitted luxuriously enough to make it acceptable on any road."

Sheridan Party.

One of the parties to make the belt trip during the week was Lieut. Phil Sheridan of Lelehu who went around in Willie Well's Alcoa last Sunday. The car had a strenuous day for it had to go to the barracks after the party who chose to return to town and make the tour east, instead of up the Pali, making once and a half around the island for the big machine.

Works for Uncle Sam.

The Royal Hawaiian Garage finds in its repair shop something that simply won't stay within bounds. Its gear department is now working on a very complicated set of gears for the Fort Ruger mortars, a decided change from the cutting of the comparatively simple auto gears. They have presented a set of problems to the garage's gear man, the solving of which has reflected quite some glory upon him.

Some Free Advertising.

Up to H. P. Wood who "personally conducts" the promotion committee to see that every man who is an official of the Territory, or even a sugar baron, should buy an automobile. Mr. Wood would probably appreciate the value of this suggestion if he read the automobile pages of the Coast press.

Jim Jones or Jackson Brown can buy anything from a 60-hp. Renault racer to a Baker Electric and if he happens to reside in Smithville, San Francisco, or any other of the villages on the Coast he won't get more than a three-line squib in the local press but if he happens to be third assistant to the second secretary of the chief clerk in the water department of Hawaii he'll receive a half-column writup from Androscoogin, Maine, to Ta Juma.

Of course, it's all good advertising and reflects a great deal of credit on Hawaii. Besides, it doesn't show anything particularly vindictive between the lines. But it's the hole in the doughnut to the whole doughnut that if the workings of the brains of the particular advertising manager who concocted that writup were to be discovered, somebody wouldn't feel highly flattered.

Pretty soon some enterprising publicity manager to an auto factory will go his compass one better and color up an immaculate model of a 6-cylinder dier and put in a few dinky officials with plug hats and hula skirts and label it "Boonmobile Becomes a Favorite in Tropical Hawaii."

There's been a little scrap of press dope going the rounds on the mainland (cornered at last in a Norfolk, Virginia, paper) that depicts a special head to the fact that Governor "Freer" and Mr. E. A. Mott-Smith have bought Cadillac cars and that the Hawaiian government has thus adopted this make as its official car. This announcement was followed by the address of the Norfolk agency where these cars could be secured.

When the local agents reported the sale of the car to Mr. Mott-Smith and Mr. Campbell the publicity man in the Cadillac factory probably got a Hawaiian directory out and located the titles of the two officials. The press clipping referred to is evidently a natural result of the despair that followed. But in justice to that publicity man it might be said that the "Hawaiian Government" is more than satisfied over their Cadillac.

Von Hamm-Young Notes.
Several large consignments of the car that cheers in several makes were arrivals at the von Hamm-Young garage during the week, six Overlands and four Cadillacs being among them. Few other garages have yet received their consignments, although they are all on the way.

The Cadillacs had nearly all been sold before their arrival and are shortly to be delivered to W. B. Crow, Judge A. Perry, and others.

The Overlands which arrived during the week are shortly to be followed by another consignment, for the staying powers of the prime little cars have made them favorites. The first of the machines arrived in the Islands seven months ago, and since then the agency has disposed of forty—a sufficient testimonial.

Other sales made by the same garage include that of a Buick model 10 runabout to W. N. Patten. James P. Lynch was the purchaser of an Overland roadster, another car of the same model being bought by Mr. Congdon of the Mutual Telephone Company.

The Volcano Stables bought an Overland demitonneau, which was delivered during the week. Dr. F. F. Hedemann became the owner of a demitonneau Overland during the week, making the purchase from the same agency.

Atherton Returns.

Arriving on the Wilhelmina during the week, Frank Atherton found himself preceded by his handsome 1911 Cadillac, which he had ordered and which beat him home. He is now a satisfied unit in Honolulu's automobile parade.

Packard Expanding.

The von Hamm-Young garage has received information during the week from the Packard company which gives a black eye to the rumor that there were troublous times in the auto labor world.

The Packard factory has added 528 men to its payroll during one week lately, and during the past few months installed $110,000 worth of new machinery. The record month was August, when the factory turned out 451 cars and 60 trucks.

More Chalmers.

Two "thirties" and a "forty" of the famous Chalmers make are expected in the near future by Manager Hall of the Associated Garage. The Associated's books now contain almost more orders than they have cars coming, the Glidden tour being the Chalmers' chief advertisement, for this season at least, as this year was the first time that that classic endurance run was ever won by a car under $4000, a Chalmers "thirty" being the victor.

The Hudsons which have been ordered by the same agency are expected in consignments of three or four each month during the season, and the performances of these cars on the Island roads assure their future success in the market.

Auto Miscellanies.

One of the cars of this make, a five-passenger touring model, was purchased during the week by Mrs. Castle-Coleman, who joined the ranks of Hudson owners after trying the merits of other makes represented in the city. A quick ride up Pacific Heights with six passengers in the machine is claimed to have capped the Hudson arguments.

Charles Desky was the chauffeur of a party which made the tour of the Island during the week, his own sturdy little Cartiercar doing the trick. They took the west route, to permit him to try the powers of the car "going up" the Pali.

PERSONALS.

W. M. Gifford of Brewer & Co. returned yesterday from the mainland.

H. W. Knight of Kauai was a guest at the Stewart Hotel, San Francisco, on September 29.

Dr. and Mrs. S. D. G. Walters were guests at the St. Francis when the Sierra left San Francisco this trip.

Mrs. Henry Holmes and daughter of Honolulu are established in apartments

at the Hotel Bellevue, San Francisco, for the winter.

The Misses Kranthoff, who have been visiting in Honolulu, will have apartments at the St. Francis Hotel, San Francisco, for the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Y. Campbell, well known society people of San Francisco, arrived on the Wilhelmna, to remain here a short time.

J. H. Schneck was one of the kamaaians who returned by the Sierra yesterday from the Coast. He has been spending some weeks in California.

Dr. John W. Gilmore, president of the College of Hawaii, arrived in San Francisco recently, en route to Spokane to attend the dry farming congress.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Afong and Master Afong returned from San Francisco yesterday on the Sierra, having spent several months in the Bay City, quartered at the Palace.

Capt. George D. Moore, Twentieth

United States Infantry, and Mrs. Moore are located for the winter at the Brighton apartments, 2131 California avenue, Washington, D. C.

While Thomas Magee of San Francisco is visiting in San Francisco, Mrs.

Magee is en route to New York with Mrs. Sadie Tobin. Mr. Magee will join his wife in New York on his return to the mainland.

Mrs. E. D. Tenney and daughter, Miss

Wilhelmina Tenney, returned from California on the Wilhelmna. Mrs. Tenney was hostess at her apartments at the Fairmont in San Francisco, just before leaving for the Islands, at a bridge party. The prizes were sandwich plates of rock crystal and silver.

Capt. William G. Fay, U. S. M. C., on October 1 was detached from the headquarters of the Marine Corps and detached to Marine Barracks at Annapolis.

The change is like "going home" for Captain Fay. Captain Fay's father was an instructor at the academy for twenty three years.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dillingham returned from San Francisco yesterday.

While in San Francisco they were the recipients of many social compliments, among these being a luncheon given at the St. Francis by Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin Wood, the latter of whom is a sister of Mrs. Harold Dillingham.

George Angus, head of the hardware department of T. H. Davies & Co., returned yesterday in the Sierra, accompanied by Mrs. Angus. They went to England and visited many of the leading cities and enjoyed every moment of their stay in London. Mr. Angus changed his views in one respect—he found London was not a slow town, after all.

Rear-Admiral W. H. H. Southerland,

U. S. N., has arrived at Washington,

D. C., from a cruise that took him as far as Honolulu. Mrs. Southerland and Miss Mary Southerland returned September 15 from Magnolia to meet the admiral. They have opened their home in N street. Miss Southerland is making some visits and will arrive home this month.

The horticultural staff of the Hawa-ian Experiment Station has been announced by the appointment of Valentine Holt, a part of whose time is being devoted to horticultural work. Mr.

Holt has collected and prepared exhibits of a large number of fruits and other products of California shown at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition. He has begun work in the selecting and propagation of varieties of papayas, with a view of systematic breeding.

HONOLULU ARRIVAL
RECALLS A ROMANCE

The arrival of Gerald Hughes, son of United States Senator Hughes of California, in Honolulu on the Manchuria, recalls the romance of Cornelia Mc-Ghee Baxter of Denver, the famous Denver beauty who was first engaged to marry Gerald Hughes, who then married Hugh Tevis, who died, the widow afterwards marrying Hart Mc-Kee, from whom she was divorced after a stormy and brief matrimonial effort.

In March, 1901, California and Colorado circles were stirred with the anouncement of the engagement of Miss

Cornelia McGhee Baxter to Hugh Tevis, the California millionaire. Though hardly past eighteen at that time her beauty had become famous on two continents. After her engagement to Gerald Hughes she went to California and at Monterey met Hugh Tevis. She broke her engagement with Mr. Hughes, and Tevis broke his engagement with Miss Livingstone, a St. Paul belle. It was a case of double jilting.

The Baxter and Hughes families lived in Denver side by side. Miss Baxter's father was a former Tennessean, who married in Knoxville, a Miss McGhee, famous as a beauty and society leader,

and there Miss Cornelia McGhee Baxter was born. When Grover Cleveland was president he appointed Mr. Baxter,

Governor of Wyoming, then a Territory. He afterward went to Denver, achieving distinction and fortune. One of his neighbors was Charles Hughes, a wealthy attorney then, and now United States senator. Miss Baxter and Gerald Hughes were playmates.

Miss Baxter and Hugh Tevis were married and their honeymoon extended as far as Japan, where Mr. Tevis died.

The widow returned to the mainland passing through Honolulu en route.

Mrs. Tevis was courted by many titled men, but she was won by Hart

SPRECKELS' SUGAR WAR IS WARM ONE FROM THE START

San Francisco Bulletin Becomes His Ally in the Fight Against the Staple Product of Hawaii.

Using the same tactics as his father in his time, Claus A. Spreckels has entered the local market to break the grip of the sugar trust upon California and a war is on with prices and the casualties so far all on the side of the combine, reports the San Francisco Bulletin of September 29, which makes the story of the sugar fight the principal one of the day. Continuing, it says: There has been a sharp break in quotations and timorous retailers, previously held in subjection by a coterie of trust jobbers, are venturing to handle non-trust sugar.

It is a whim of fate that Claus Spreckels, in carrying war to the combine, has found the enemy's country in the very city where his father started out a generation ago to oppose the sugar trust. At that time the enemy undertook to invade the territory of the elder Spreckels and he promptly retaliated by establishing a refinery at Philadelphia and beating the trust at its own game.

But since that time the trust has gobbled the whole country and Claus Spreckels comes back at this time to fight it on the Coast. For the first time in the history of San Francisco a cargo of refined sugar has been brought into this port around the Horn and 100,000 bags are the munitions of war with which the trust engagement is being fought.

With the output of the Federal Sugar Refining Company of New York, the one refinery of the country independent of the trust, Spreckels is entering the field against the Hawaiian production controlled by his brother, John D. Spreckels.

On his entrance into the local market Spreckels met with opposition of the jobbers who stand in with the sugar trust.

Trust Tries Intimidation.
The jobbers demanded a concession of twenty-five cents a hundred pounds for handling the production of the Federal company. The reply of Spreckels was a circular to all the retailers of the city and State, quoting them a price of five cents a pound on cane granulated sugar. Typical trust methods of warfare followed quickly. Yesterday a representative of the combine was stationed in front of the Federal company's office at 26 Davis street to take note of all the retailers who would venture to break away from their grasp. He was reluctantly forced to move on by a policeman after he had kept his vigil for four hours.

The retail dealers have eagerly accepted the quotation of five cents a pound. The trust price has been five and three-fourths cents a pound and at that price the trust has adulterated its cane sugar with beet sugar, which sells at twenty cents less on the hundred pounds. It does not brand its sacks as pure cane sugar in order to escape the attentions of the pure food inspectors.

The Federal Refinery brands all its packages "Pure Cane Sugar, guaranteed under the Food and Drugs Act," to give assurance of the quality of its product.

The campaign of the independents was quickly brought results. Already the jobbers are offering terms of peace. But the Federal Refinery is in the California market to stay and is prepared to supply the local demand by more shipments of refined sugar around the Horn. Its plant at New York now has a capacity of 1250 tons a day. Even after getting its raw material from the West Indies, paying the high duty written into the tariff by the trust, refining it in New York and shipping it around the Horn, the independents are still able to cut under the prices of the combine upon the Pacific Coast.

What the Tariff Does.
What the tariff does to California through the sugar schedule is summed up in one important statement:

California pays $12,000,000 duty a year on sugar to protect a total annual production in this State of $11,000,000. The people and industries of the State pay more than $1,000,000 for the benefit of having $1,000,000 worth of beet sugar produced in California, and they still have to pay for the sugar in addition to this tariff. The figures are not to be disputed. In the eight months from January 1 to September 1, 204,000 tons of sugar came into this port on which $40 a ton duty was paid. That makes $8,160,000, or little more than $1,000,000 a month as against the $11,000,000 annual output of the beet sugar refineries of the State, controlled by the trust.

And while California pays this price for protection that swells the profits of a trust, it is itself throwing away millions of dollars' worth of its fruit products because it can not afford to pay the price for sugar to preserve them. The removal of the duty on sugar would do more to plant fruit trees in the rich valleys of California than all the colonizing and irrigating projects that have yet been undertaken. It would provide a use for all the fruits which California could raise, where now the production is limited owing to the exorbitant cost of canning and preserving them.

California canneries now actually have to waste enormous quantities of byproducts which could be converted into good jams and jellies, but for the prohibitive price of sugar. Only choice, large fruit can be used for canning and for table trade, and all the undersized fruit and byproducts of canning, that are of just as good quality as the other, have to be thrown away.

California Versus England.

Jellies and jams are fifty per cent sugar, and the canneries can not afford to put them up in competition with eastern and foreign products. Besides the enormous handicap of the tariff, they are working against a one-half cent a pound discrimination in the price of sugar which the eastern canners enjoy from the trust.

The result is that California has not nearly the production of fruit that it is capable of raising, and as for jams and jellies it can not compete with England, which does not raise a tenth of the fruit it exports. But England has free sugar. It imports its fruits from Mediterranean ports and its sugar from the East and West Indies, converts them into preserved products and has an enormous market throughout the world.

England is able to buy apricots, for instance, in America, transport them across the Atlantic, convert them into jam and then ship them back to the United States in competition with the output of this country.

Free sugar would mean that California could enter this market now enjoyed by foreign trade, greatly increase its acreage of orchard land and fill a demand for much more fruit than it now finds profitable to raise.

If the duty on sugar were removed the price could be reduced two cents a pound.

The argument of the tariffmakers is that the duty is necessary to protect the sugar industry of the country. It is the sugar trust arguing for its enormous profits. In California alone, for an illustration, it has been shown that the State pays dollar for dollar more for protection than the total value of the domestic-raised sugar.

"Cheap Foreign Labor."

And it is not the American citizen who is being protected against "cheap foreign labor." In California it is not the American laborer who gets the benefit of the duty which the people of the State pay as a bonus for home industry. In the fields of the beet sugar refineries the Jap and the Hindu are doing the work. The horde of Hindus who are flocking to the Pacific Coast find there poor wages, which are nevertheless great enough by contrast to attract them from their own poverty-stricken country.

It is "cheap foreign labor" against which the American citizen is supposed to be protected, which receives the small benefit of the protection of the tariff. But his share is insignificant. The great profits go back East to the trust which controls the sugar industries and makes the tariff to protect its monopoly.

The agitation that has been started for the removal of the duty on sugar has received the eager support of the canners and fruitgrowers of California. They demand relief from the present conditions and have welcomed the advent of the independent Federal Sugar Refining Company into this field. Many of them dare not come out in open opposition to the trust, for fear of being discriminated against, but the sugar war is on and the local trade is quick to take the measure of relief that is offered.

CUSTOMS EXPERT SEEKS STATISTICS

Sugar Refinery Officials Subpenaed and Books Will Be Investigated.

SAN FRANCISCO, September 29.—H. H. Waters of the liquidation division of the New York customhouse arrived in this city yesterday and this morning will begin an investigation of the books of the California-Hawaiian and Western sugar refineries, under instructions from the secretary of the treasury.

Representatives of the two companies have been subpoenaed to appear in the office of the collector of the port in the customhouse, at Washington and Sansome streets, at ten o'clock this morning.

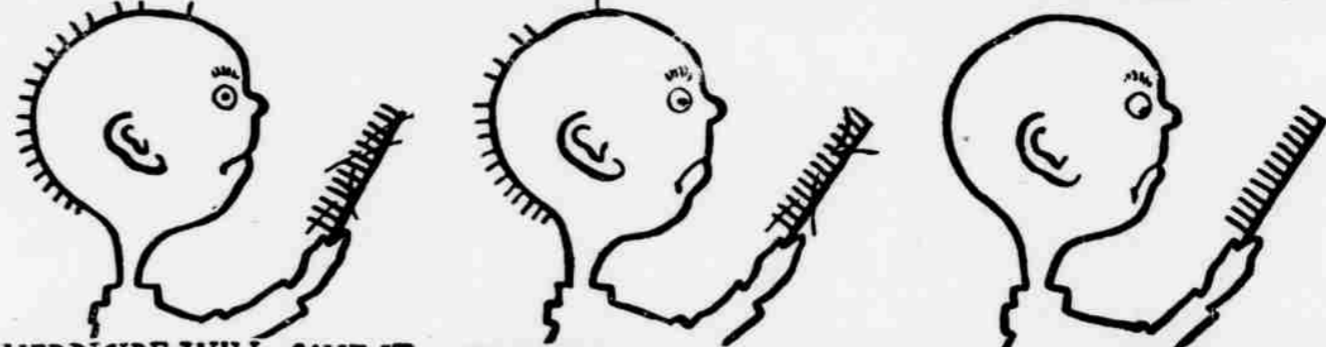

The nature of Waters' duties has not been completely divulged, but it is believed he is here merely for the purpose of securing statistics as to the movement of sugar, and not because there is fear of any wrongdoing. Waters comes to San Francisco from New Orleans, where a similar investigation has just been completed by him.

Statistics were forwarded to Washington from New Orleans, and there were no charges of any kind made against the sugar companies following the investigation.

WHY?

From a small beginning the sale and use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has extended to all parts of the United States and to many foreign countries. Why? Because it has proved especially valuable for coughs and colds. For sale by all dealers. Benson, Smith & Co., Ltd., agents for Hawaii.

SAVE YOUR HAIR WITH NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE

The time to save your hair, is while you have hair to save. Newbro's Herpicide kills the germ that causes dandruff itching scalp and falling hair, after which the hair is bound to grow as nature intended (except in cases of chronic baldness.) Herpicide stops itching of scalp almost instantly.

I find that Herpicide will do all you claim for it. I am now on my second bottle and it has cleansed my head and it has come in. It also stopped my hair from falling out and I am well pleased with it and will and do recommend it to all.

(Signed) R. L. LEIGH.
Hopkinsville, Ky.

I wish to say that I have used part of the bottle of Herpicide that you sent me and I think it is a good tonic and have recommended it to quite a number of my friends. I believe it will cure dandruff and it is a splendid and delightful hair dressing.

(Signed) H. J. FORSDICK.
Memphis, Tenn.

I have given your Herpicide a thorough test. I can cheerfully say that it is the best Hair Tonic I have ever used. It will be one of our household remedies from now on and will surely recommend same to all my friends and acquaintances.

(Signed) PETER PEHL.
Sedalia, Mo.

You very kindly sent me a bottle of your Herpicide and I gladly answer your inquiry as to its qualities. I have used it now for some time and know it to be the best thing for the hair I have ever used and it keeps my hair free from dandruff and soft as silk. I have induced several of my friends to use it and they are pleased with it.

ARMY AND NAVY NEWS

MARINE BARRACKS WILL BE BID UPON AGAIN

Attorney F. E. Thompson, who is connected with the big local contracting firm of Lord-Young Company, returned from San Francisco yesterday, bringing news that the specifications for the marine barracks building and officers' quarters to be built at Pearl Harbor will be offered again to the contractors for bids, the specifications having been scaled down so that bids can be within the appropriations allotted for the buildings, which is less than $200,000. He had a talk with Colonel Denny of the marine corps, who is now stationed at San Francisco, and received this information. The Lord-Young Company will be a bidder, and the firm expects to get the contract. In the first bidding the Lord-Young Company was the lowest bidder, but the figures were in excess of the appropriations. It was a case of where the specifications called for certain materials and methods of construction and the figures could not be made to meet the demands.

The revised specifications will be ready the middle of this month, and the advertisements will call for one set of barracks and five sets of officers' quarters.

Engineer for Honolulu.

George G. McDaniel of San Francisco, has received an appointment from Washington as an engineer, at a salary of $1600 per annum, and he will have his first station at Honolulu at army headquarters.

Long, a Lieutenant-Colonel.

Major C. G. Long, U. S. Marine Corps, commandant of the Marine Barracks, Honolulu, will shortly become a lieutenant-colonel, according to the following newspaper information from San Francisco:

Word was received at marine corps headquarters yesterday to the effect that Col. Paul St. C. Murphy, senior colonel of the line in the marine corps, has applied for retirement, having thirty years' service. As Colonel Murphy was one of the candidates for the position of commandant of the corps on the retirement of Major-General Elliott, which takes place next month, the race for the position now narrows to the following officers in order of seniority: Col. Frank Denny, chief quartermaster, and Colonels Biddle, Wood, Waller, Mahoney and Barnett of the line.

The retirement of Colonel Murphy will make the following promotions possible: Lieut. Col. George Barnett to colonel; Maj. Charles G. Long to lieutenant-colonel; Capt. H. W. Carpenter to major; First Lieut. Fred Kessill to captain, and Second Lieut. Frank H. Drees to first lieutenant.

Twentieth Infantryman Killed.

MANILA, September 14.—Private James G. Drew, Company I, Twentieth Infantry, was almost instantly killed last evening about 6:30 in the regimental gymnasium at Cuartel de España by a fall while performing on the parallel bars.

The unfortunate young soldier had been missing the regular class work at the gymnasium by reason of being on special duty at the garrison and to make up for the loss, had been doing his gym work in the evening after his day's duties were completed. The gymnasium was almost deserted at the time of the accident but it is thought that, in attempting a hand spring from the bars, Private Drew's hand slipped. He struck on his head and shoulders, breaking his back and snapping the spine.

Capt. John R. Bosley, the post surgeon, was on the scene almost immediately and every effort was made to save the young man's life but he died while en route to the Division hospital.

He is spoken of by both officers and men of the Twentieth garrison as an extremely dutiful soldier of abstemious habit and unquestioned loyalty to the service, and his untimely end is causing deep mourning among his comrades.

Naval Pruning Knife.

WASHINGTON, September 30.—The total estimates for the appropriations necessary for the naval service in the next fiscal year were announced today to be $138,300,000. This stands against appropriations of $137,913,000 for the fiscal year ended last July, and $132,384,000 for the present fiscal year.

Besides the two battleships and two cruisers already announced as the naval building program for next year, there will be several other vessels of minor class, including two sea-going tugs of a type better than the Patuxent and Patapasco.

Double Time for Hawaiian Service.

In a letter to the Army and Navy Register, "J. V. M." says: Referring to the annual report of the commanding general, department of California, it is noted that he has recommended that troops serving in Hawaii be given double time for service there. This is an excellent recommendation and merits the approbation of every enlisted man whose lot it has been to have served in Hawaii. Double time is now allowed for Alaskan service and was allowed the army of Cuban pacification. For some unknown reason it was never allowed in Hawaii, although conditions of service do not warrant any difference. This matter should be brought to the attention of the department, first, on account of the dissatisfaction which has always existed, and second, to promote the interest of the service. It is to be noted that but few organizations ever served in Hawaii; therefore to allow double time to those who have served there will be a nominal expense only. Up until 1909 not more than four or five companies were stationed there. Those who served after annexation should surely receive the same allowances as those who went to Cuba in 1906 and those who are now serving in Alaska. Since it is proposed to keep a large force in Hawaii, it would be to the interest of the war department to put forth some effort to keep old soldiers. They will never be able to do, as men will leave those islands just as soon as their term of service expires and seek service in the Philippines or Alaska, where every day counts two. Let those interested in this just cause get together and put forth every reasonable effort to secure legislation which will place Hawaiian service on a par with that rendered in the Philippines and Alaska. We desire the service papers to advocate this matter in their editorials. When opportunity offers itself, place it before inspectors and others. That it is just there remains no doubt in the minds of the men concerned.

That the rain crop of the world is 100,000 tons short as compared with last year is the substance of a report made to the board of supervisors by George Robertson, Fresno, county statistician. The figures on foreign countries were obtained from United States consuls. The world shortage is attributed to unseasonable weather.

Judge Lewis, in the superior court at San Diego, practically ruled that the charge of George L. Patterson that his sister, Julia P. Quinn, was held a prisoner at Mrs. Tingley's Theosophical Institute at Point Loma, was true. The court ordered her release and that she be turned over to the care of her brother.

CHINA ON THE VERGE OF GREAT NATIONAL CRISIS

Next Few Months Will See a Revolution in the Celestial Empire--Younger Element
Opposed to the Manchus.

VICTORIA, September 23.—E. A. Ross, professor of sociology at the University of Wisconsin, who has been making extended journeys through China during the past six months studying sociological conditions arrived by the steamer Empress of China yesterday. He said China was on the verge of a crisis and the next few months would show whether there would be a great uprising, perhaps with much bloodshed, or a peaceable revolution. Professor Ross says there is a strong movement for reform and the younger element seeking the change is waiting to see what the Prince Regent will do.

The reformers consider the attitude of Peking more or less a sham to impress the powers and there is a disposition to look upon the Manchurian officials as obstacles in the way of the eagerly-sought reforms. It is probable that Yuan Shih Kai will be recalled to Peking and this would be the means of preventing a rising, for the reformers are satisfied that in his hands China would go forward. The currency reform will be a great boom, and the doing away with the growing of opium, a movement which is being energetically carried out, will also greatly aid China. Professor Ross went through the north and traveled overland from Taiyuan in Shansi to Chengtu.

"While it is generally understood abroad that China is awakening, there is still a great deal to accomplish. While it took Japan forty-two years to build an empire it will take China much longer," said Professor Ross. "I saw much of interest, making a thorough study of the family system, the anti-opium and anti-foot binding crusades, and will lecture before the university on these questions."

"The next year will decide much for China. If the government does not prove vigorous and effective enough to meet the wishes of the people I fear there will be trouble, serious trouble."

Great Deforestation.

"One of the most impressive things I noted on my long journey," said Professor Ross to a Colonist reporter, "was the terrible effects of deforestation in central China. The result near Taiyuanfu has been that the country there will now support but one family to every four square miles. Around Taiyuanfu all the mountains are bare and bone dry. All the way to the Yellow River one never sees a tree on a mountain or foothill save those about temples. The original hardwoods are all gone, so in the valley one grows cheap, soft woods, poplar, cottonwood, box, elder and willow. With the original tree cover gone, the rains wash the soil from the hillsides and with it choke up the valleys. Wherever a brook or creek debouches into the valley of the Fen it has built with this debris a great alluvial cone down the crest of which runs the broad shallow gravel-strewn bed of the stream. The cone has covered yards deep with gravel and sand some square miles of the former rich bottom lands of the Fen and never can they be recovered. Twice we passed splendid ancient stone bridges which once spanned affluents of the Fen, but which now, their arches half silted up and the approaches swept away by floods, stand amid fields of wheat and rape. Since the bridges were built twenty feet of silt have been dropped in the watercourse and the stream, no longer fed by the springs on the forested slopes, is dry in summer and a wide devastating flood in the rainy season."

"With the forests depart much that makes life worth the living. The streams no longer run clear water filtered through leaves and moss and humous, but are turbid with the wash of the slopes. Fish will not live in them and bathing ceases to be a joy. With the shade also vanishes the springs, the feed and the evergreen pastures watered by the seepage from wooded hillsides; the brooks and creeks wander in their muddy sheets over wide stretches of ground instead of flowing in deep shaded channels under high banks. No fallen tree or log jam checks the brook and offers an August cooling place for the trout. Roots, twigs, grass, straw and dung replace firewood. Brick or mud is the only building material, brick benches and chairs replace wooden porches or verandas, the highway stretches glaring and dusty to where the heaviest by the tea-house offers a spot of shade. With the woods vanishes most of the sources of beauty and poetry, and life sinks to a sordid round of food getting and begetting."

First Against Opium.

"The fight against opium was another of my chief impressions. Shansi has thoroughly stamped it out, poppy growing and the importation or sale of opium is prohibited. As a result it is three to five times as dear as it was a year ago, and a price of two or three times its weight in silver is to many smokers equivalent to a change of heart. Moreover, smoking is becoming disreputable and many a man contents himself with a single secret smoke who formerly smoked openly three a day."

"Last year there was not a field of poppy in the province; this spring planting occurred in a district a few miles from the capital. The magistrate called for troops and a detachment of 300 was sent him. Several villages combined met the soldiers with rustic weapons and refused to let their fields be trampled. A clash ensued in which about fifty peasants were killed. Both sides were horrified at the deadliness of the rifles which were scarcely more known to the soldiers than to the farmers. The board of rites was directed by Peking to punish the governor and there is fear of a setback to the antiopium movement."

Woman's Condition Deploable.

"The condition of women in central Shensi is deplorable, but it is quite what is to be expected when the male sex takes upon itself to shape not only its own standards and life but also those of women. Little girls of nine years shrink away into the interior of the house if your gaze lights on them a moment. It would not be 'proper' to be looked at by a man. All the women who are not old vanish away into their apartments like frightened birds, when a man leaves in sight. The traveler might easily suppose that all the females of ten to twenty-five years had been carried off by a plague, so rarely does he see one of them. Never does a woman travel unless she belongs to an official changing his residence. The women of the common people probably get not a mile from home in the course of their lives. Their feet are every tightly bound, so much so that in Kansuh the housewife crawls about her home on her knees. The result is that crippled in feet, crushed by conventional restrictions and regarded with contempt, she shows none of the home-making instinct that in America brightens even the log-hut of the mountain backwoodsman with 'crazy quilts,' tidies and old newspapers scissored into patterns and pasted round the clock shelf, or over the windows. There is no effort to adorn, no bit of white or color, no sign of 'woman's' hand. There is not even a family meal, but each fills his bowl and stands or lounges about, eating when he pleases."

"We are invited to believe that the raison d'être of the bound foot is its appeal to the esthetic senses—that is to suppose of the dweller in a thatched mud hut with a dirt floor, smoke-blackened, cobweb-festooned walls, a tattered paper window, a mad kang with a frazzled mat upon it, where the pig and the dog dispute with the fowls the scraps brushed from the master's grimy table, has an esthetic sense so acute that this man of filth and rags, as the cost of going through the struggles of life with a crippled partner, insists on having a wife who, below the coarse garment of an Indian squaw, exhibits the 'golden lily' of a four-inch foot!"

Struggle for Existence.

"In Shensi I found the struggle for existence terrible—far different from the situation in Shensi. In Szechuan mountain trickles had been led on to tiny rice fields no bigger than a dinner napkin. Pash animals disappear entirely, and their places are taken by men, who must accept a wage of fifteen or twenty cents Mexican—that is half the amount in our currency—a day. The country is weedless, tilled like a garden, but coarse utility looks out of it everywhere. No lawns, shade trees, flowers or shrubbery. Not even an orchard, vineyard or orange grove suggesting an appeal to the palate, but rice, wheat, cabbage, corn, beans and garlic—the maximum of sustenance. Not even honeysuckle cottages for the well-to-do. Passing a farmhouse, you glance at dirty, naked babies, listless, bowl-footed women, dirt floor, mud walls, dark rooms, sagging tile roof, rooting pigs, a many cur, a festering cesspool, a donkey or a woman grinding at a mill, a couple of bushels of wheat drying on a mat in the sun. In their lives these people have no books, no newspapers, no music, no courting, no social gatherings, no uplifting religion. There is nothing that speaks of outlook on the life of humanity, aspiration, hope. In six weeks of travel I saw but one man reading, and he had fallen asleep over his book. The faces of the boys of eight to twelve years are most appealing in their eagerness. They look brighter than white children of the same age. It is sad to realize that in the absence of good public schools and economic opportunity they but grow up into ignorant, superstitious, overworked men their fathers are."

"Human beings are so thick they poison the ground for one another; they poison the water, they poison the air, they poison the growing crops and fruits. Scarcely anything has been reared from the sordid struggle for food. Even yards, lawns, parks, meadows, pastures, arbors, hoots, pictures, carpets, rugs, parlors or other margin above necessities—all has gone into the hopper; nearly everything has been sacrificed in order to maintain the largest possible number of human beings. Physicians in Szechuan tell me girls marry at from fourteen to sixteen. Four children out of five never reach the age of two years. The survivor may be the fittest, but his vitality has been impaired by what he has been through. Old age arrives fifteen years earlier than with us. Ulcers, tumors, swellings, wens, eruptions and wastings are shockingly frequent. Tuberculosis is on the rapid increase, and one shudders to think what the white plague will do when the dens, warrens, furniture, clothing and streets of the Szechuanese become saturated with the spores of the tubercular."

Professor Ross started his long journey from Taiyuanfu, the capital of Shensi.

"A day or two from Taiyuanfu and all traces of foreign influence vanish," he said: "The inns are lighted by a wick in an open cup of rape seed oil. All windows are of oiled paper pasted on lattice. The cigarette is not seen and even the posters vanish. Coined silver does not circulate after the third day. One carries lumps of silver which each dealer accepts according to the verdict of his own scales. Prices are astonishingly low. Certain missionary ladies who furnish their table with all the delicacies their market affords tell me their living does not cost them more than 60 cents a week each. Not one girl in two thousand is receiving any education, and among the rest food-binding appears to be universal. No strong desire for education is manifested either by the girls or by their parents. In the government schools the girls are not only supported but actually paid for attending."

"Because of their bound feet the women are, as one educated Chinese put it to me, 'extra dirty and extra lazy.' The women of the well-to-do take no exercise, pass their lives on the kang and are never seen save when on some festive occasion they are driven out in a Peking cart. The women of the people have no cars to ride about in and hardly ever get half a mile from home. At evening the women and girls come out and sit on a mat in front of the house for a breath of fresh air—vanish, however, if you but glance at them. Occasionally one hobbles down a village street bracing herself against a wall or leaning on a stick. You never see a woman in a crowd or walking along the highway."

Prof. Ross traveled over the Great Southwestern trunk road which connects Peking with the western provinces. He said: "The valleys traversed by the road were one vast expanse of wheat and the harvest was just beginning. The thresholds had been beaten and rolled smooth, the gardens watered, the sickles sharpened, the children recalled from school, and every morning the family, the women and children piled along with pots and jugs on a wheelbarrow or a cart drawn by a donkey or a dun cow, the men walking alongside, set out from the village for the distant field. The grain is reaped with the sickle and occasionally with something like the 'cradle.'"

"The trouble with Chinese highways is that there is no permanent highway administration. Never but once in twelve hundred miles did I see a stroke of road work done. There is no force to mend the highway after rain or floods. A portion slips away or is covered by a cave-in. The laden coolie finds a way above or below the gap and the traffic flows on. We saw two fine stone bridges building. The official goes for a bridge because it is a work you can put your name to, or for which a grateful community will erect a tablet in your honor. Or he may build a road outright, for that may be known as his. But he will not repair and maintain the existing highways because he gets no glory out of it—nothing lasting is linked to his name. What China needs is a superintendent of highways in each prefecture whose business it shall be to organize a force that shall constantly repair and improve the roads—an expert, making roads his life work, not an official on the next rung in the ladder of promotion."

RHEUMATISM THE MOST COMMON CAUSE OF SUFFERING.

Rheumatism causes more pain and suffering than any other disease, for the reason that it is the most common of all ills, and it is certainly gratifying to sufferers to know that Chamberlain's Pain Balm will afford relief, and make rest and sleep possible. In many cases the relief from pain, which is at first temporary, has become permanent. For sale by all dealers. Benson, Smith & Co., Ltd., agents for Hawaii.

HUGHES' HEALTH IN CRITICAL STATE

Colorado Lawmaker, Now Here.
Compelled to Leave Home.

United States Senator Hughes, Jr., of Colorado, who arrived here Tuesday on the Wilhelmina from San Francisco, is seeking to regain health and strength by his trip to the Islands. He is suffering from an ailment which his Colorado friends believe will result in his retirement from public life, and which has long been a source of worry to his family. When he left Colorado the latter part of September he contemplated only a trip to California, but decided on arriving there to gain strength from a sea trip taking in Honolulu and probably a visit to the volcano. That his illness is acute was proved to Denverites when he took his two sons, Gerald and Lafayette with him.

Never robust and always an indefatigable worker, Senator Hughes first gave signs of a breakdown when he left the breakfast given at Overland Park in honor of Colonel Roosevelt and retired to his home so ill that he was unable to go to his office for several days. After that collapse it was said on good authority that the senator is afflicted with a gout which has greatly distressed him, and which it is feared may yet strangle him. His circulation is extremely poor, due, it is said, to hardening of the arteries.

He has been in a highly nervous condition as a result of hard work during the last session of congress, in which he took a very active part.

Evidence of the critical nature of the complaint from which the senator is suffering is given in the only comment which one of his physicians would make and that was to the effect that the duration of his visit to the Coast was not known even to his most intimate medical advisers. It was hinted that perhaps he would be compelled to come as far as the Hawaiian Islands to recuperate and the statement was made that not until he is entirely restored would he be permitted to take up his duties as a member of the United States senate.

Those who have been closely identified with the senator since his return to Denver from Washington have noticed that he was greatly depressed and that the strength which had departed while he was in the capital had not returned after he returned home and that on the contrary he had shown even greater weakness.

Almost from the moment of his arrival in Denver he gave up business and remained in the open air as much as possible, turning over his political affairs to his son, Gerald, although he hoped later to take a more active part in the campaign. His condition grew rapidly worse and his physicians, alarmed by his inability to acquire strength, and the progress of his malady, warned him that the excitement of a political struggle would probably have a fatal result and it was in consequence of this admonition he decided to go away.

At a recent luncheon of the Colorado Electric Club, the senator was invited to make a speech and he did so, although his address was so short that the members of the organization were keenly disappointed until they observed that he was so weak he had to be assisted from the dining hall. His appearance then was that of a man who was suffering intensely both physically and mentally and who needed a long sojourn in a place where he could totally abstain from all work and be entirely free from worry.
