COMMISSIONERS REVOKE ALL THE SUNDAY RIGHTS

The License Board Takes Away Right of All Restaurants and Hotels to Sell After Hours and on Sundays.

The Following licenses were granted:

Lewis & Co., Ltd., wholesale; J. P. Medeiros, Waialua, wholesale; Ah Chow, Heeia, retail; Shigematsuku, Waipahu, wholesale.

The following were granted without Sunday and after-hours privileges: Waikiki Inn, Moana Hotel, Seaside Hotel, Young Hotel, and Haleiwa Hotel.

Waipahu saloon, present license extended three months in order to give the Deas estate time in which to settle up its affairs.

R. Tanaka, Honouliuli, asked for rehearing of his case, but this was denied.

E. L. Berndt, Harbor Saloon, asked to have his license transferred to Matthew Heffern. Denied.

Union Grill and Royal Annex Cafe had rehearing in regard to Sunday privileges. These were denied.

James Thompson received permission to keep his saloon open on Alakea street until July 3, as his Bethel street place will not be ready for opening until that date.

Every Sunday privilege to hotels and restaurants in the city of Honolulu was revoked at the meeting of the Oahu Board of License Commissioners yesterday afternoon. This action was taken in an executive session of the Board, and means that hereafter no drinks, under any conditions, may be served on Sunday in any restaurant or hotel in the city.

Fighting to the last ditch for the Sunday privileges, liquor men and their attorneys were present in force at the public meeting held yesterday afternoon in the Capitol. E. C. Peters, appearing for Al Thurlow, proprietor of the Royal Annex, presented a plan that for a time was thought to be the salvation of the restaurant and hotelkeepers with regards to the Sunday privilege. He stated that, while he was not the attorney for any other than Thurlow, he had consulted with every restaurant man and hotelkeeper who has in the past had the Sunday privilege, and that each and every one had expressed a willingness to carry out the plan proposed by Peters. This was:

RAID ON THE TREASURY FUND

City Salaries Raised in Many Ways and Amounts.

The supervisors, headed by Aylett, made a raid upon the City and County Treasury last night by boosting the salaries of nearly everybody employed in the county. Aylett plunged into the session with a bunch of resolutions, to specify individual salaries instead of passing the lump appropriation resolution, presented by Logan, covering over $300,000. Aylett sprung a trick upon his fellow-supervisors and at first they were inclined to vote him down, but he was supported by Kane and Ahia, with Logan, Quinn and McClellan opposed, giving tie votes, as Cox was absent. Finally, some of the resolutions were passed and then the whole set of resolutions went through quickly, much to Aylett's surprise.

The meeting was charged with electricity, Aylett making Fourth of July speeches. There was petty politics played in some of the proceedings and the meeting had little head or tail to it.

In the matter of appointments Mayor Fern is to be congratulated for nominating Halvor Myhre, as Milk Inspector, in order to prevent obstruction in one of the most important departments of the city government. The Mayor had another appointment to make, but in deference to what may have been public interest, he nominated Mr. Myhre. A. K. Williams was nominated for Fish Inspector and both appointments passed.

The big appropriation bill calling for expenditures for salaries and materials and supplies covered $312,568.50 according to Mr. Logan's figures. This does not include an auto for the mayor,

A BANQUET IN HONOR OF IJICHI

Japanese Admiral Voices His Friendship for Uncle Sam.

Admiral Ijichi, officers of his training squadron, Captain Gleaves and officers of the U. S. cruiser St. Louis, local Army and Navy officers and representative men of this community were entertained at a banquet given by the members of the Commercial Club in the McCandless building last evening. The diningroom was appropriately decorated, Japanese and American flags being crossed on the walls to form the main theme of the decorations. Speeches were called for from Admiral Ijichi and from several others.

President Wakefield, who acted as toastmaster, called first for a toast to William Howard Taft, President of the United States. This was drunk standing. A toast was then proposed to the health of His Majesty, the Emperor of Japan. Consul General Uyeno asked the privilege of answering this toast, and he expressed the thanks of his nation for the friendly spirit displayed by the citizens of Honolulu, and especially by the commercial organizations, towards Japan. He then asked those present to join him in drinking the health of Governor Walter F. Frear.

President Wakefield, in a few excellent words, introduced Admiral Ijichi, the guest of honor of the evening, speaking the pleasure which the Commercial Club of Honolulu had in entertaining so distinguished a guest. In answer the Admiral said as follows:

Admiral's Speech.

"It is a most agreeable task for me to stand here in offering the heartfelt

DAUGHTERS OF HAWAII UNVEIL TABLET ON THE NUUANU BATTLE SITE

A marble tablet, commemorative of the Battle of the Nuuanu Pali, was unveiled, with appropriate ceremonies, yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Pratt, for the Daughters of Hawaii. This tablet is set in a niche, cut in the rocky face of the pali, just at the turn of the Nuuanu road.

The tablet is of gray marble, inscribed as follows:

"Erected by the Daughters of Hawaii, 1907, to commemorate the Battle of Nuuanu, fought in this valley, 1795, when the invading conqueror, Kamehameha I., drove the forces of Kalanikupule, King of Oahu, to the pali and hurled them over the precipice, thus establishing the Kamehameha dynasty."

Over a hundred years ago, the invading warriors of the Great Kamehameha drove the defenders of Oahu up the narrow valley of Nuuanu and over the pali's brink to their death. Yesterday, two score of the Daughters of Hawaii and their guests assembled on the pali's brink and unveiled a tablet to mark the spot where final victory crowned the invader's effort. The Conqueror and his barefooted warriors fought from the sea to the summit against a brave enemy, fighting for their homes; the Daughters of Hawaii sped rapidly over the same ground in flashing automobiles. The spearsmen of Kamehameha fought their way from heiau to heiau, from one series of rocky barricades to another, through terraced taro patches; the Daughters of Hawaii, gathered in his honor, sped past handsome villas, picturesque summer homes and bungalows, over a macadamized highway lined with imported trees.

But it was the same old pali wind that greeted them. The same blasts that brought the sounds of battle down the valley during that death grapple in 1795 caught up the strains of Hawaii Ponoi yesterday and tossed them makai of the reservoir; the same gale that tossed the locks of the Lonely One, as he leaned upon his bloodstained spear and ordered the slaughter to be stopped, yesterday tossed the skirts of the Daughters of Hawaii, twisted the peach-basket hats and tagged masculine headgear ahead of pursuing owners. It was the same old pali wind, a hundred years older and stronger.

It was a noteworthy gathering which crowded in the lee of the rock guard on the turn of the pali road, including the present Governor of Hawaii, a former Governor and President, a descendant of the Hawaiian leader of the troops who pushed back the Oahuans, and a descendant of an Oahu chieftain who fell that day at the head of his men. Side by side stood those in whose veins flows the blood of the chiefs among the invading army and the chiefs of the defenders. With them, numbered among the sons and daughters of the soil, stood descendants of the early missionaries, who brought the first Gospel tidings to the land, and others representing the new Hawaii, the American Territory.

Mrs. B. F. Dillingham, the president of the Daughters of Hawaii, read an address, which included a description of the battle of Nuuanu, written by Mrs.

HIS HONOR TAKES COURSE IN STEERING AN AUTO

Will Mayor Joseph J. Fern be his own chauffeur? Or is the Mayor of the opinion that it is better to be the owner of a car that is outside the jurisdiction of the City Fathers? Questions similar to the above were asked yesterday afternoon when, seated at the steering-wheel of one of the finest tour-about automobiles in the city, Mayor Fern was seen coming down King street.

The Mayor was not to be found subsequent to his afternoon ride, and consequently the burning question as to whether the city's chief executive has decided to be his own chauffeur, and also that of the Board of Supervisors, has not been settled. Jim Quinn might have put in a requisition for the job, had he known that it was to be made one of dignity.

To be sure, the Mayor had his teacher with him yesterday. The teacher explained things and the Mayor, who has a reputation for "doing things," carried out orders. The Mayor evidently had been taught the intricacies of "shoffering" an auto in the outskirts of town, for when he appeared on the business streets he sat bravely on the right-hand front seat and speeded 'er up.

Down King street came the Mayor in the auto and at a rate of speed that made even the trained chauffeur at his side shiver and shrink back into the darkest seclusion of his seat. There were some murmurs of "scorcher!" but these were quickly hissed down by the Mayor's friends. As the fine, big car successfully negotiated the intersection of King and Fort streets, passing Ewa-wards along the former, the Mayor was the cynosure of all eyes, as the poet might well say. Nor to right nor left looked he who guides municipal affairs, however, but drove right courageously onward.

The truth will out, and it will undoubtedly be known today whether or not the Mayor has decided to appoint himself as City and County Chauffeur.

LAND BUREAU TO BE MOVED

Department Will Go With the Public Works at Capitol.

Important changes, both in regard to personnel and methods of administration, will follow the consolidation of the Departments of Public Works, Land and Survey, which will go into legal and active effect on the first day of July, the beginning of the new biennial period.

In conformity with the plans of Superintendent of Public Works Marston Campbell, who will have full executive control over the three consolidated departments, the Public Lands Bureau will be moved from its present quarters in the Judiciary building and will be given space in the present quarters of the Department of Public Works in the Capitol. Mr. Campbell believes that this will tend toward the centralization of the work and be an important factor in contributing to successful administration.

The Survey Department will remain where it is at the present time, in the building mainly occupied by the Board of Health. It is believed that the Public Lands Department will be in full running order in its new quarters in the Capitol by August 1, although Superintendent Campbell is not sure that the new vault to be placed for the reception of the valuable land records of the Territory will be dry by that date.

The quarters to be vacated in the Judiciary building by the Public Lands Department will be used as an addition to the present cramped accommodations of the Tax Bureau, which has been forced to endure inadequate accommodations, electric lights being hung over the clerks' desks throughout the day, in addition to the smallness and general dinginess of the office.

DAUGHTERS OF HAWAII UNVEIL TABLET

Nakuina, the granddaughter of Nahili, of the Hawaiian army, and also the granddaughter of one of the 'Oahu chiefs, who died rather than surrender.

Mrs. Dillingham's address was:

The Battle of Nuuanu.

"The Daughters of Hawaii invite the friends who are here today to share with them the pleasure of unveiling a tablet commemorative of the most momentous deed in Hawaiian history.

"Travelers from all parts of the world have visited this historic spot, and borne to their own lands the tale of conquest effected here.

"The first objective point in the itinerary of all who visit our shores, tarry they for hours, or weeks, or months, is this pali.

"To none, however, can the interest in the event or the character of the surroundings appeal, as to us, who are of Hawaii-nei.

"Conquest necessitates a weaker opponent. While we celebrate a victory, we give thanks that it was no alien foe who won.

"Hawaiians against Hawaiians, brothers of the same great insular family store for the first place in authority and sovereignty over Hawaii as a whole.

"The battle of Nuuanu commenced at the heiau of Kanelaau just below the old flagstaff station on Punchbowl, about where Alapai joins Kinau and Lunalilo streets, and raged along a series of heiaus that formed the guard or outposts of the Puowaina sacred heiau. There was one called Mana above the Queen's Hospital, Kahehuna (Royal School site) and one at Kakopua (Princess Ruth's, now the Central Grammar). Here the battle raged the fiercest and the Oahuans were so hard pressed they were divided into two sections, one fleeing Ewaward carried the young prince Kaomealani along. He was the son of Kalanikupule, king of Oahu. This division was followed up by Nahili, one of Kamehameha's most brilliant generals.

"The main portion of the Oahu army retreated fighting up Panoa way, but were met by the Hawaiians under Heulu who had stolen a march around Punchbowl and poured down on the retreating defenders by the pass above Punchbowl, Papakolea. The Oahuans then retreated to the height above Elekoki, on what is now known as Craigside, and the eastern portion of Judd street. Here Kaiana was killed and Kalanikupule, the Oahu king, was wounded by the shots from guns and cannon served by Young, Davis, Cox and other white men in the service of Kamehameha.

"The Oahu king, performing prodigies of valor and mortally wounded, ordered a retreat up the valley to gain the heights of Ahipuu and Puiwa, both strongly fortified heiaus, but as no attempt was made to stay the flow of blood from his wounds he got weaker and weaker and was carried to the Mua heiau, just above the Johnstone homestead, where he died.

"The victorious Hawaiians pressed on after the fleeing Oahuans who, now deprived of their two recognized leaders, fought despairingly to give time to their wives, children and old people gathered in upper Nuuanu to get over to Koolau and comparative safety by the dangerous Nuuanu trail, clinging on the face of the steep precipitous Nuuanu Palisade. A fierce, running battle was fought from Ahipuu to Puiwa and again the despairing Oahuans were dislodged and retired mauka, fighting every step of the way. They took a final stand on the hill above the pond of Kahuailanawai, a heiau site. Here the wives—those who were not fighting with their husbands—children and elderly folks of the Oahu chiefs were gathered, having refused to obey the order deliverd by panting runners to 'get over to Koolau.'

"These now joined by their despairing husbands, sons and fathers retreated slowly upwards towards the pass of Kaholoakeahole and were driven over the pali by the victorious Hawaiians under Nahili, who had pursued one wing of the fleeing Oahu army up Waolani pass on to Nuuanu and had arrived a little ahead of the main Hawaii army. Kamehameha, who arrived later in the rear of his army, recognizing that the fight for supremacy was practically over, gave orders to stop the useless slaughter.

"It is a matter of record that not a single Oahu warrior obeyed the order to surrender, preferring to leap over the tremendous precipice to immediate death rather than to accept life at the hands of the invaders.

"In that awful hour of carnage and death, of defeat so complete, of victory so dearly won, it was given to no one to lift the veil of the future, and behold what was in store for Hawaii.

"A century has run since that notable day; a century of progress and uplift. From the darkness of strife, superstition, despotic government, ignorance and terror, has emerged a land, beautiful beyond compare in its physical attractions, filled with law, order, justice, kindliness and the fear of God.

"The ten years granted to Kamehameha the Great, in which to prove his acquired right as King of the Hawaiian group, were years in which he laid, in a crude way, the approach to the worthy structure that in time was to stand at the crossroads of the Pacific. He builded better than he knew in those days when the light of civilization was yet dim. He developed sterling qualities of greatness in the fairness and consideration with which he treated his united people. He encouraged them to work, and did much to interest them in agriculture and improvement of the land. The comfort of their lives was assured by apportioning to them strips of land reaching from the mountains to the sea, that all their needs might be met.

"Peace reigned, and though customs and morals were still on a low plane, and superstitions had great influence over the people, there was an ebbing in the wave of unrest, that for years had broken upon their shores. The darkest hour of their night was passing.

The Pali Mele.

At the close of the address, Mrs. Hakuole, an elderly Hawaiian, chanted the mele of the pali, a chant in which the charms and mystery of the historic spot are told. It dealt with the mountains and the streams, the flowers and the birds, the sunshine and the rainbows, the moonlight and the wind. This chant, rendered as it was, seemed singularly appropriate, even to the many who did not understand the words.

Poetical Address.

Miss Anna Paris, concluding the preliminary ceremonies, then read the following:

"A voice from the past calls to us today.

"It tells of a victory dearly won, of a conflict from which there was no retreat.

"We listen, impressed with our indebtedness to those who have gone before—to those who, in the memorable struggle of a century past—paved the way for the present with all that it holds dear.

"The spell of a birthright is upon us, as swayed by a common impulse we meet on this spot where brave men fought and died. Again, rises the note of victory, the wail of defeat. Kingly warriors pass in review and each heart throbs with the pride of a privileged inheritance.

"With the struggles of humanity, the pathway of human progress is marked, hence, for all that relates to the onward march of events there is a sentiment that deepens with the years.

"Places where men have suffered or died in whatever cause become centers of interest. This is true of battlefields the world over. Shall it be less true of our own Hawaii, or of this historic spot on which nature has set the seal of her most impressive charm?

"Judging events by their far-reaching consequences, this pali was the scene of the most important event in Hawaiian history—next to the discovery of the Islands.

"Little dreamed Kamehameha when he landed at Waikiki, (his fleet of war canoes lining the shore) of the part he was playing in the great world movement of today.

"In his desire to unite the group under one head and that one himself 'he builded better than he knew.'

"But is he the less great? Do we not find in him the will of one predestined to victory—born to leadership, as well as the far-reaching intuitions of the seer? Fully recognizing the fact that in unity is strength, he never lost sight of the end in view, and while we shudder to think of the process by which this unity was attained, it is gratifying to know that its results were beneficent.

"Foes became speedily friends under the rule of Kamehameha, and by his clemency and wisdom the group was firmly united.

"To place in an enduring form a tribute to the memory of the conqueror—to link with this beautiful spot a name famous in Hawaiian history we meet today. We meet to honor the name of one, who, conquering others, was able also to conquer himself—the Great Kamehameha! Nor would we forget on this occasion the daring Kaiana, or the brave Kalanikupule, leader of the vanquished forces, or that undaunted band who faced death at this pali, the victims of a lost cause.

"Happily the day of savage warfare is over, but happily, too, the spirit still lives that will sacrifice itself for the cause to which it is pledged. Rich is the country with a background of tradition and storied song—and of this wealth Hawaii may well boast. The mists of antiquity are luminous with a mythical radiance and through this shadowy land we are led by menehunes and giants—gods and goddesses.

"This legendary charm it is ours to preserve. It is ours to keep alive the memory of her heroes, for, from the days of Paao, the famous voyager, down to historic times, their name is Legion. A glance, too, at her history shows that there were heroines as well as heroes and there are names among her women we can not recall without thrills of pride and affection. Keopuolani, Kaahumanu, Kinau, Kapiolani and others who were friends on whom one could count in the days when friends were needed.

"Discarding ancient beliefs, great were they in their loyalty to what appealed to them as truth!

"The memory of these Daughters of Hawaii and of many others later on must be to our society a fount of inspiration and hope.

"The fair young Kaiulani will live forever in our hearts, and we have but to recall the name of Emma Kaleleonalani, Queen Mother of our hospital and of Bernice Pauahi of undying fame, to feel our enthusiasms rekindled, our ideals renewed!

"In this age of change and rush—when the ocean no longer isolates but unites us to the great world, let us not forget our heritage.

"Daughters of Hawaii! great memories invite us—they are sacred, inalienable.

"Let not party-spirit or selfish interest separate ever those linked together by a past unique in its history and charm, but like Kamehameha of old may we ever remember that in unity is strength!"

High Chiefess Officiates.

Mrs. Pratt, a chiefess of high rank, was then escorted across the road to the face of the rocky cut, where, within a sheltering niche, the tablet had been erected. Before it, tugged at by the wind, was draped the flag of Hawaii, which Mrs. Pratt withdrew.

The unveiling of the gray marble stone was the signal for the singing of Hawaii Ponoi, in which all joined. The singing was led by Miss Winne.

Among the fifty or more present were Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Dillingham, Governor and Mrs. Frear, Judge and Mrs. Dole, Professor and Mrs. Alexander, Mrs. Pratt, Mrs. Nakuina, Mrs. Irene Holloway, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Wilcox, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. HILO EXODUS STARTS TODAY

Ayres, Jackson and Fahy Leave for Hawaii to Bring the Laurels Back.

The big exodus for Hilo will start today. A bunch of live ones will leave on the Mauna Kea and will be followed by many more good sportsmen later in the week. Everything is arranged for a record good time at the city where they build breakwaters. Official information comes that the weather bureau has ordered the sunshiniest weather to last from Friday till Tuesday and everybody who has time, money and sense enough to go to Hilo, will have one great time.

There will be a party of three notables aboard the good steamer today. H. M. Ayres, scheduled to show the Hilo boys how to walk a mile. Nigel Jackson, the Marathon kid who expects to win the race from Nine Mile, and Dal Fahy, the waukenphast, who will, like Jackson, appear in both the Marathon and walking events.

The local interest really centers in the Marathon and walking events as these will have Oahu representatives that are expected to carry back the honors with them. The long race will be on Saturday afternoon and the walking race will be on Monday.

It is not known just what athletic talent they have on Hawaii, but after the showing that both Fahy and Jackson have made here, it seems very probable that one of them will win the Marathon race while both of them will be in the mile-walking race as well as Ayres and one of the three should be able to hand it to the good Hawaii athletes.

Great Horse Races.

The horse races are going to be the best ever. All the thirty-two stalls are full and the Japanese horses are being housed under the grandstand. The big event, the Merchants' Stakes will be run on Monday, July 5. The distance is 1¼ miles and there will be four entries.

The four entries are all fast ones. There is Johnnie O'Rourke's Banonica, the filly that won the same race last January. Drollett will be up and he is the kid that rides a grand race. Then there is Louie Warren's Warning with Domingo Ferreira up. The Kukaiau ranch entry, Major Collier, and Weber, the Coast horse entered by Colin McLennon.

Warning Is Favorite.

Inside information from Hilo states that Warning is expected to win the race. This is taken as much from the expert clocking, that has been done, as from the dope. It seems, according to what has been written by correspondents of local sportsmen, that both the clocking and the dope conform and that Warning will be an odds on favorite at the post.

The next most interesting event on the race program is probably the Monday event of six furlongs for Hawaiian bred maidens. There is absolutely no dope on which to base any forecast of the race and the consequence is that each of the four entries has a ranch backing that will spend all its money to say that the home horse will win.

A maiden event of this kind is always a very keen one. The ranch that enters a horse for the race always has some hundreds of employes who are ready to back their own animal to the limit and the maiden colt or filly, that comes in first, will pack a heavy load of dough for the lucky people who happen to be workers or partisans of the ranch that enters it.

Some Keen Soccer.

The soccer game will be on Monday. This will give the visiting players a chance to get over any seasickness that they may suffer and to take a nice rest and be properly ready for the great game. Eddie Fernandez has a live bunch working with him and, under the leadership of that veteran player, Jock Catton, we may feel assured that the Honolulu dribblers will come back with the cup. Even though they lose, we may be sure that they will put up the game of their lives and make the Hiloites work some to find their goal.

Jackson Subpoenaed.

Nigel Jackson was served with a subpoena yesterday in which he was commanded to appear in court this morning and give evidence in a case. But it is unofficially understood that the examining lawyers and the court will do their best to get through with him before 11.30 so that he may make a run for the Inter-Island wharf and get aboard the Mauna Kea before she leaves port.

Jackson wishes it stated that he is in the very best of lively trim. He says that he never felt better in all his life and he is confident of coming back with the Marathon wreath on his brow. Jackson has made good his promises in the past and Honolulu has no need to feel anything but proud of the champion runner that is going to defend the honor of this Island.

Official Program.

The entire official program of the Hilo celebration as rearranged and finally decided on, is as follows:

July 3rd.

Baseball game.

MAUI PREPARES LARGE ALOHA

The Mauinese people who were all christened "H. H."—happy and hospitable—are looking forward with great joy to the visit of the Honolulu baseball players.

Jim Williams has been very busy-making bookings for the Mokolii trip. The Low-Miller craft will have a live bunch aboard and the Maui people will find that the visitors have plenty of willing rooters on the bleachers on Sunday when the All-Maui team gets its second licking from the Oahu gang.

Molokai is also heard from on the subject. The visit of the baseball team on Monday has made a hit with the people there and they will be out in force to root for their own team, to bring in and ride horses in the races and to hand out a real, live Aloha to the Oahu ball-tossers and rooters.

Special arrangements have been made for the comfort of the visitors and the luau is going to be one of the finest ever prepared anywhere. They will have fish cooked in so many different ways that any man who wants to keep tab on what he is eating will have to have a dictionary and a note book.

There is still a chance for anybody who wants to go on the Mokolii. All you have to do is to see Jim Williams on the subject and you can find him at the Hawaiian Gazette office at 12:30 to 1 o'clock any day till Friday.

ENTIRE PROGRAM FOR NEXT SATURDAY IS ARRANGED

Joe Cohen Has Three Great Preliminaries Fixed for Cordell-Sullivan Go on Saturday.

Program for Next Saturday, July 3.

Cordell vs. Dick Sullivan, 15 rounds for middleweight championship of the Pacific. Including Pacific Coast, Hawaiian Islands and the Orient.

Soldier McCollough of Fort Shafter vs. Wahilani, 6 rounds at 140 pounds for welterweight championship of the Hawaiian Islands and the Orient.

Bugler Sarconi of Camp Very vs. Fernandez, 6 rounds at 128 pounds for the lightweight championship of the Hawaiian Islands.

Miller of Fort Shafter vs. "Limey" Richards of Camp Very, 4 rounds at 160 pounds for the light heavyweight championship of the Hawaiian Islands.

The above is the program arranged by Joe Cohen for the big event at the Orpheum next Saturday night and it makes a noise like being the very best that has ever been produced here. The main event is properly for the Pacific championship in the middleweight class as both men have beaten everything that came their way on the Coast and Dick Sullivan is doubly the Hawaiian Island champion as he has always beaten everybody here.

The St. Louis cannot provide material for any preliminaries as it is very probable that she will not be here on July 3, but may go to Hilo. This has not yet been decided, but it is unlikely that there will be any changes made even should she stay, as Joe rightly figures that he has arranged a bumper card to improve which would be a hard task.

McCollough a Favorite.

The appearance of McCollough with Wahilani will be a great treat for the fans. The soldier is a local favorite on account of his sterling gameness and Wahilani is a lad of great speed and cleverness, with the Hawaiian fans to back him and make even in the betting with the sturdy Irishman.

McCollough is something of a puzzle. He never works out very hard before a bout. He seems to be afraid of getting his muscles sore or of having some part of his hitting apparatus put out of commission beforehand. But, when he gets in the ring, it is all off. He goes in for all he is worth and eats punishment so fast that, if it were only pie he were contending with, he could carry off the prize at any pie-eating contest in the world.

Bugler Has Made Good.

Young Sarconi, the bugler from the Marine corps, made a hit with the fans at his last appearance. He went on in a preliminary with Nigel Jackson, the great Marathon runner, and made the wiry athlete back up once or twice. The Fernandez whom he is scheduled to meet is a protege of Joe Leal and is said by the energetic chief of detectives to be a wonder.

The Portuguese fans will be out to give their champion a royal welcome and plenty of noisy encouragement, while Sarconi will have the backing of the Marines and the sons of sunny Italy. At 128 pounds both men will be at their very best and a rattling good go will be the result of their meeting.

Dick Likes Miller.

Miller is the big road-pounder who is so well liked by Dick Sullivan as a sparring partner. There will be an additional interest to this go on account of both men being from the rival camps of the two principals. "Limey" Richards, the husky marine who has appeared here before and shown good form, is working with Jack Cordell and it is said that each camp has made up a jack-pot to be put up on their representative in the preliminary event.

Cordell is working earnestly and with a view to being in the tip-top of condition on Saturday night. He is still the center of attraction at the Orpheum every afternoon and seems to be in more lively mood every day.

Cordell Looks Well.

Jack has taken on a very becoming coat of tan since he has been training and he is as full of ginger and life as a green mule with its first pack-load. It is a joy to watch him go through his work, there is so much zip to it and he can dispose of all the different sparring partners, who are rash enough to want to work with him, and then call for more.

Dick started in with some harder work yesterday afternoon. He had been taking things rather easily for a day or two as he is anxious not to go stale, but yesterday he went at it with renewed vigor and gave Miller and Fahy all they could handle out at Fort Shafter.

Fahy will leave for Hilo today so Dick will be one shy in his training force, but he states that Miller can keep him busy and he will work the big fellow overtime today and tomorrow and then slack off again. He will do only a little work on Thursday and, on Friday, reduce his training to a short jog on the road.

KALIHIS ARE THE LIVE ONES

There was a large attendance at the special meeting of the Kalihi Athletic Club held last evening at the residence of the secretary. President Edwin Fernandez reported that the details for the concert and dance, to be given at the K. of P. hall on the evening of July 10, have been all arranged and the tickets will be out for sale beginning this morning. A very select program has been arranged for the concert and dancing music will be supplied by the ever-popular Royal Kawaihau Glee Club.

Several new members have joined the ranks of this club and although the club is in good financial standing, as per the report of the Treasurer rendered last evening, the proceeds of the above concert and dance will be devoted solely for the benefit of the baseball teams.

After a delay of several months, the new Kalihi park, established through the efforts of this club, has been again visited by the official cleaning gang and within a very short while the grounds will be available for sports which will undoubtedly mark the opening of the Kalihi league started some time ago by the Hon. A. L. C. Atkinson.

Sport Notes

There is a new arrival in town. His name is Charlie Cameron, and he has made a great hit with the regatta committee of the Yacht Club. For further information apply to Vice Commodore Jaeger.

It seems that there is no chance of any athletic doings on July 5 here. A committee of local athletes came to the Advertiser last night and asked for assistance in starting something. This paper is always ready and willing to give publicity to athletic events, but can hardly be expected to start and pull off doings of this kind with only one week's notice.

The members of the "Breakers'" Club at Kahului send an invitation to a dance to be held there on July 3. Hoot Mon Skinner encloses a note to say that the walking from Honolulu to Maui is good and that they will have holokus for all Honolulu people who drop their dress suits overboard on the way there.

THEY USED A LONGER AND UGLIER WORD.

While Herman Whitaker was in Mexico gathering material for his much-discussed novel, "The Planter," he wrote an article describing the cruelties of the plantations, which, before it could be printed in a City of Mexico newspaper, had to be censored by the minister of interior affairs. That open-minded gentleman having signified not only his tolerance but his approval, Mr. Whitaker marched with the article to the editor. The latter read it grimly. "I'll give you three days to make El Paso, Texas," he said, "before I bring it out. If you don't go, the government may decide to throw you into jail until you prove a few charges of murder." "So out I got," Mr. Whitaker told a friend. "When the article came out it brought the storm. Planter after planter rose up to call me a liar, and that wasn't all. The paper discovered that it had made a mistake in attacking a vested interest, and sent a man down there with a pail of whitewash and an extra large brush. The business was all painted white again; and I, who had condemned it, not on sentimental grounds at all, mind you, but as bad economies—I was not called a liar, oh no! but merely put down for a harmless humanitarian."

STAND OF THE LICENSE COMMISSIONERS.

The Board of License Commissioners has definitely decided that Honolulu is to be a dry town on Sundays. It is to be expected that this decision will be criticized, but the majority of the people here will applaud. Those who desire to see the cause of temperance advanced can not but be gratified. Those who are not in favor of prohibition, but who realize that it would be a comparatively easy matter to induce Congress to pass a stringent prohibition law for the whole Territory, should rest satisfied with the implied assurance that this effort will not immediately be made.

We have no sympathy with the arguments advanced that the refusal of Sunday privileges will result in an increase of drunkenness and a boom in the blind pig business. The question of suppressing the illicit sale of liquor rests with the police and the other officials sworn to carry out the law. If our police are trustworthy and our officials honest and efficient, the stamping out of the illicit dealers can be accomplished. If they are not, this will be a good opportunity to find it out.

Neither prohibition nor partial prohibition have ever yet injured any community. Prohibition for one day in each week will not be harmful to this community. On the other hand, it will be beneficial in proportion to the measure of enforcement given it.

COMMISSIONERS REVOKE SUNDAY RIGHTS

That an undated, but signed, letter, stating that the writer thereby withdrew his rights to hold a Sunday liquor privilege, be put in the hands of the License Commissioners of every restaurant man and hotelkeeper granted the privilege; and

That the License Commissioners could, at any time they felt that this privilege was being infringed upon by the grantee, fill in the date on the letter and write to the grantee that his withdrawal as a holder of the Sunday privilege had been accepted.

This, stated Attorney Peters, would leave the whole matter arbitrary with the Board. If at any time the Board had information that the law was being transgressed in the matter of the Sunday privilege, that privilege could be immediately revoked.

Peters argued at some length, stating that he had had a conference with Alexander Young of the Moana and Young hotels, who had stated to him that a great hardship would be worked, possibly resulting in the closing of one of the hotels, if the privilege were withdrawn. He stated that he wished the Board to overlook whatever he had said in previous meetings with regard to the granting of the privilege to hotels, as his talk with Mr. Young had convinced him that hotels and restaurants were on an almost equal basis in the matter.

Judge Edings spoke for the Union Grill, stating that it was not so much the Sunday privilege which the proprietors wished to have granted as it was the privilege of selling liquor after hours. The Judge made a strong plea in favor of the Grill.

When the matter of Al Thurlow's Royal Annex Cafe come up, a good sized scrap was precipitated. Attorney Peters spoke for Thurlow, stating that, if the Board would accept the proposition he had submitted, it would at any time have the right to revoke the Sunday privilege.

Chairman Cooke stated that a complaint regarding the sale of liquor had been made regarding sales on last Sunday. The specific charge was that men had been sold bottles of beer and had been allowed to depart from the cafe with them. Al Thurlow leaped to his feet and entered a strenuous denial of any such action on his part. He said that he knew that Inspector Fennell had sent a man to his cafe Sunday, instructed to attempt to buy a flask of liquor. Thurlow stated that the man did not get the booze.

Fennell was given a chance to answer, and he said that it was not upon this occurrence that he had based his complaint to the Board, but that it was upon the fact that he had seen two men enter the cafe with nothing in their arms or hands. When they came out, however, one of them had what appeared to be a bottle of beer wrapped up under each arm. Thurlow stated that he was not at the Royal Annex at the time this was alleged to have happened, but he was confident that no one had left his place with any bottled liquor. The wordy conflict between Fennell and Thurlow became so warm that Chairman Cooke was forced to call for order.

E. A. Douthitt appeared as counsel for J. B. Deas, executor of the estate of P. A. Deas, deceased, and made the longest argument of the day with regard to the continuance of a saloon license at Waipahu, formerly held by P. A. Deas. Douthitt argued that the continuation of the license should be allowed for a period of at least six months in order that the affairs of the estate of the deceased could be closed up satisfactorily. Attorney General Hemenway had rendered an opinion to the Board on the matter, stating that he believed the right could be allowed the executor to sell the liquor on hand, but the question as to whether the right to restock the saloon could be granted the executor was doubtful. Douthitt stated that, unless the right were allowed the executor to purchase more liquor, if the license were continued for a specified time, the object in view, that of clearing off debts, could not be obtained. The matter was taken under advisement by the Board.

Meeting This Afternoon.

M. F. Prosser appeared on behalf of S. Osaki, charges against the conduct of whose saloon were made by wireless from one of the other islands, and on his request, the Board will hold a special meeting this afternoon at four o'clock to consider the matter. A letter containing detailed charges against Osaki's place of business will arrive here this morning on the Mauna Loa.

Could Hang Douthitt.

Attorney Douthitt appeared also in the interests of Ah Chow, whose saloon is on windward Oahu. A petition, signed by a number of residents in the vicinity of the saloon, protesting against the renewal of Ah Chow's license, has been presented to the Board and it was with regard to this that Douthitt confined his oratory. He stated that the majority of those whose names were signed to the petition did not understand its import, and, furthermore, when asked if they would sign a petition against the granting of a license to Ah Chow, replied in the negative.

"Why" said Douthitt "anyone can get signatures for any kind of a petition in this country. I'll go so far as to say that I could, inside of fifteen minutes, get a full list of names on a petition to have me hanged."

Cries of "kokua" and "Put my name down on the list" came from all parts of the room, especially from the attorneys present. Laughter reigned supreme until the Chairman rapped for order.

Applications for licenses from Lewis & Co., the Alexander Young, the Territorial Hotel Company, and the Oahu Railway and Land Co., for the Haleiwa Hotel, were brought before the Board, but there was no discussion pro or con upon them at the time.

BANQUET TO ADMIRAL

thanks on behalf of myself and the officers of my squadron for your cordial entertainment of this evening. Moreover, I wish to express my best thanks for your kind hospitality extended towards us during my previous, visit three months ago. At that time, you caused us to spend so many happy days that we could not forget them.

"Since we had been received with such cordialty in Honolulu, we were welcomed most warmly and most heartily by all citizens, especially by the members of commercial organizations, everywhere we touched on the coast of the Pacific. When I go back to Japan, I will tell with much pleasure to the commercial body of our country about your favor, and your kindness to us will be gratefully acknowledged by the whole Japanese nation.

"This evening, I have heard many pleasant eulogies of Japan and high praise to myself, for which I have to thank the previous speakers, and I want to remind once more the fact that the relation between the two great nations, United States and Japan, is not of today.

"Really, whatever Japan is today is due to America. Since Commodore Perry opened our doors some fifty years ago, the people of Japan have recognized the fact that America was their friend and they know that America has ever interested herself in the progress and development of Japan along lines of education, industry and commercial and social intercourse.

"I wish to add here that in my visit to America at this time, I had the pleasure of meeting Admiral Rodgers, the commander-in-chief of Puget Sound Naval station, who is the grandson of Great Commodore Perry, and his nephew, who is also the descendent of Commodore Perry.

"Of course the purpose of my visit to these waters in command of the training squadron, is simply for the training of midshipmen, to afford them an opportunity to witness the splendid civilization of your country. I think it is very happy, if my visit to Honolulu and the Coast will add in some measure to the ever-increasing friendly intercourse between these two nations.

"In my way home, I came back here to see again these beautiful islands of Hawaii and to take some supplies here. It is needless to say that the situation of Honolulu is very important in the intercourse of two nations on the two coasts of the Pacific, being about midway between them. I trust that the mutual regard and goodwill which exist now so happily between America and Japan may become every day more firmly and more closely rooted between them.

"Now, gentlemen, thanking you again for the hospitable treatment accorded us, I take this opportunity to express in the name of the squadron our most sincere gratitude to the commercial bodies of Honolulu, and I have the pleasure to drink the health of the members of the Commercial Club and the prosperity of this city of Honolulu."

St. Louis Commander.

Admiral Ijichi's speech was applauded to the echo. Following him on the evening's program was the speech of Captain Gleaves, U. S. N., commanding officer of the cruiser St. Louis. Captain Gleaves spoke briefly, taking for his subject the friendliness which now obtained between Japan and the United States and expressing the belief that it was at such gatherings as that of last evening that this spirit of amity and good-feeling between the two nations was firmly cemented.

President Wakefield proposed a toast to the commercial bodies of Honolulu, after which M. Tokieda spoke on behalf of the Japanese Merchants' Association. He thanked the hosts for courteous treatment and for the kind invitation to the dinner.

Friendship, National and Individual.

George W. Smith was then called upon. He spoke at length regarding the friendly feelings which exist now and have in the past between not only the two nations of Japan and the United States but also between the individuals of the different nationalities in these Islands. He said that the American business men of Hawaii welcome the Japanese as competitors in the fields of trade, for it is in this competition that the people really become closer friends. He welcomed Admiral Ijichi and the officers of the squadron, stating that while they were not directly in the field of commerce, they were potent factors in preserving peace, which means commercial advancement, between the two nations.

Solos were then rendered by Henry Clark, James Dougherty and Clarence Waterman and a humorous recitation was given by C. H. McBride.

COMMISSION ON SCHOOL FUNDS IS APPOINTED

Governor Frear yesterday announced the appointments of the members of the School Fund Commission, those who will serve being W. A. Bowen, W. R. Farrington and Edgar Wood.

The appointments are made under the authority of a joint resolution which was passed by the last Legislature, providing for the appointment of a commission of three members whose duty it will be to make an exhaustive examination into the methods of applying and distributing school funds on the mainland.

The report of the commission is to be ready for the perusal of the Governor not later than July 1, 1910. In addition to investigating the conditions that exist outside of Hawaii, the commission s expected to make suggestions that will result in the improvement of the system that now prevails in the Territory.

The sum of $250 is allowed the commission for expenses incident to its work of investigation.

About 200 persons have already booked for passage on the Mauna Kea for the Hilo and Volcano excursion next Saturday. The sale of tickets will not commence until Wednesday, but names are being taken. The outlook is for one of the biggest excursions ever carried to the Rainy City. The Mauna Kea is scheduled to sail at 4 p. m. Saturday, arriving at Hilo the following morning. The vessel will leave Hilo at 4 p. m. Monday, arriving at Honolulu early in the morning, in time for business men to get to their work.

WATERFRONT NEWS

With six inches of water pouring into her hold every hour and with hand and steam pumps going continuously for nearly twenty-four hours, the four-masted schooner Prosper, which left port Sunday morning at 9 o'clock for Redondo, returned to her dock at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. When alongside the wharf, soundings showed over two feet of water yet remaining in the hold.

"Wherever it is, it is a bad leak," said Captain Trainor as he went over the side and landed on the wharf.

The Prosper left Hilo a couple of weeks ago for Redondo, carrying a full load of ohia ties for the Santa Fe railroad. The vessel put into Honolulu in a leaking condition, the cargo was unloaded, the vessel placed on the marine railway, and was supposedly tight again. Then the ties were loaded on again.

On leaving Honolulu the schooner stood to the south, and late in the afternoon put against head seas. Although she drove hard she did not list much, but water was discovered working into the hold. By sunset the water had gained so rapidly that the hand pumps were manned. Soundings at first showed that she was taking about 5½ inches of water every hour and this increased to 6 inches. About midnight the steam pump was rigged, and when the engine took hold there were thirty inches of water to tackle. Yesterday morning Captain Trainor decided to put back to Honolulu.

She was picked up by the Matson tug Intrepid and towed into the harbor, and only when in the channel did Captain Trainor stop pumping operations. When Harbormaster Clark and Alec Lyle of the marine railway and the captain took soundings, there were twenty-four inches.

An effort will be made to locate the leak, which seems to be a bad one, and if the vessel has to lay up for a long time the owners will be cabled to. If the leak is discovered soon and can easily be stopped, Captain Trainor hopes to be able to proceed to Redondo in a short time.

Iris Here on Thursday.

The United States supply ship Iris en route from Guam to San Francisco touched at Midway Island on June 26 and a cable message was sent from there to the naval station here apprising the authorities of the departure of the vessel from Midway on that date. She is looked for about Thursday or Friday, and if she arrives in the afternoon will be berthed at one of the naval wharves. The Japanese warships leave on Thursday forenoon for Japan.

A.-H. Movements.

The American-Hawaiian steamship movements for the week include the arrival of the Massachusetts from Seattle on July 2. She loads for New York (via Magellan) and will take out about 12,000 tons of sugar. The Missourian is due from Seattle on Saturday, July 3, with New York (via Tehuantepec) freight and also San Francisco freight. She will load sugar for New York to be shipped via Tehuantepec. She will leave Hilo with about 12,000 tons.

The Mexican left Port Allen (Eleele) last evening at 5 o'clock for Kahului. She leaves Hilo for Salina Cruz about July 2 with 12,000 tons of sugar. These three vessels alone are carrying away about 36,000 tons of sugar or the season's product of one of the best single plantations in the islands.

Manchuria Wednesday.

The Pacific Mail steamship Manchuria is due here tomorrow morning from San Francisco. The Mongolia left Yokohama for Honolulu and San Francisco yesterday. The Asia arrived at San Francisco on Sunday, and did not leave there for Honolulu, as reported. As far as the local agents know she will leave for Honolulu about July 10. This will give her an extra long stay in San Francisco.

which was cut out, but it includes general raises of salaries in every department. The bill as passed to first reading calls for more than Logan's totals. Aylett's resolutions called for increases in the County Attorney's office as follows: First Deputy, Milverton, $225 per month, from $185; Second Deputy, Brown, $200, from $175. Logan made an earnest plea for the raises, especially for Milverton, who he said had more work than ever, and had even attended a coroner's inquest last week, every evening. He said that more work was to be given them by the action of the Legislature in transferring other duties to the City Attorney's department, and Brown was also to do Circuit Court work in addition to his police court work. The increases passed. The chief clerk is to get $110 and the stenographer $100. The messenger's job, $75, is cut out, thus depriving Willie Crawford of a job. McClellan objected to the items for Milverton and Brown, saying that the caucus fixed the salaries at $200 and $185 respectively.

This action drew from the Mayor some clear-cut comments on the manner in which the Supervisors were raiding the treasury. He called upon them to stop and consider. He said that salaries were raised in all departments. "I think the Board is too extravagant, and before we find out whether we are to get enough money to go around. I hope that you will not have to see fit to cut down salaries in the next six months.

"I don't think we are going to get the same amount of taxes as we have in the past. The present strike may affect the tax receipts very materially. However, the Board is the one which controls the finances of the county, not me, and it is up to you."

Aylett said something about the Mayor letting the cat out of the bag, whatever that meant, and added that the Mayor had the "last say" in the matter, as he could veto the bill, and—

"And I'm going to veto it, gentlemen," said Mayor Fern. "I have the veto power, but you have the majority of votes even then."

Logan said the raises in salaries were in keeping with the new duties imposed upon various departments by the Legislature. Some of the subordinates did the actual drudgery, but the heads of departments had additional duties imposed on them.

Aylett's resolution covering specific salaries for District Court employes was presented, as follows: Hawaiian interpreter and clerk, $115 per month; Portuguese, $75; Japanese, $75; Chinese, $75; Spanish, $75. In deference to the absence of Cox of the police committee, action was deferred.

Aylett's resolution in re salaries in Treasurer's office: Chief clerk, $150 per month; license clerk, $125; assistant clerk, $125.

Hawaiian band gave the bandmaster $185 a month, one soloist and assistant bandmaster, $85, and the other members were classed from $75 to $30 each per month.

Auditor's office: Clerk, $125; assistant clerk, $85.

Clerk's Office: Chief clerk, $150 per month; stenographer and typewriter, $105; assistant clerk, $100; file clerk, $90.

Keepers of Parks: Two at Thomas Square, $40 each; two at Aala, $40 each; one at Emma Square, $40; one on waterfront, $40.

Engineer's Office: Engineer, $250 per month; assistant engineer, $150; one rodman, $40; one chainman, $40.

Fire Department: Chief engineer, $200 per month; assistant chief, $145; five captains, $85 each; three lieutenants, $70 each; two lieutenants, $75.

Road Department: Road supervisor and superintendent of garbage, $250; timekeeper, $80; bookkeeper, $150; stenographer and clerk, $100; prison lunas, $75 each. But the road department matter was laid on the table.

There was a great deal of sulphuric language coupled with babyish methods employed all through the meeting. Aylett took the bit in his mouth and ran away entirely.

He had an early start when he and Ahia refused to O.K. a typewriting bill of $19 for three drafts of the plumbing inspector's ordinance, a reasonable charge for the amount of work done. They said that the member had no right to go outside the attorney's office to have typewriting done. Aylett pulled the municipal act on the board and the mayor and read where it said the County Attorney shall draft all ordinances, etc. There it was "in black and white ——"

When others tried to explain that drafting an ordinance did not mean typewriting it, Billy pulled the wool down over his eyes and refused to see. It was shown that members had worked days and nights on this bill, but Aylett had shut his ears to any music but that which flowed from his own lips and the board perforce had to submit. The item was turned down, even Quinn voting to kill it.

A report from the electric light committee gave an estimate of $900 for putting in lights asked for by residents through petitions to the board. Some of the lights have already been installed. The matter was approved, although Quinn called attention to the necessity for lights on the waterfront, which had been bitterly neglected. Quinn said it was criminal neglect.

A letter was received from George R. Carter, for the trustees of Queen's Hospital, asking what decision the board had arrived at with reference to a subsidy. It was shown by Logan that an item had been inserted in the appropriation bill to cover the hospitals, the hospital to be paid for whatever patients it received at a per diem rate.

Logan stated that he had just been informed by the City Attorney that an inspection of the bills passed by the last Legislature showed an item of $1000 for the Queen's Hospital per month. Logan said he remembered when the appropriation bill was passed by the Legislature and the item was struck out. However, if the item was in the acts as printed, it was a mystery. However, to prevent any miscarriage, the hospital lump sum of $1150 was inserted in the city's appropriation bill.

Superintendent of Public Works Campbell asked the board to vacate the rooms in the Capitol basement where the road department was located, as he wished to bring the land office there. The city will have to find rooms downtown for its road department offices.

A letter was received from W. W. Hall calling attention to a petition sent to the territorial government in 1905 and another to the county in 1907 asking for improvements on the road which runs behind the residences of W. W. Hall, S. M. Damon and others on Nuuanu avenue. The county had previously acknowledged receipt of the petition saying the road would be fixed. Nothing has been done and the road is in a wretched condition. It is so bad that the Hawaiians living along the road have to pass through the premises of the Halls and Damons to get to their homes.

The Mayor said that something should be done. People should have ingress and egress to and from their homes. Anyhow, the Fifth District should have more road work done. Everything seemed to be done for the Fourth District. Ahia said that $72,000 had been expended on Fourth District roads this year and very little for the Fifth. Quinn said he was doing his best. There was certain work which must be completed in the Fourth and then the Fifth would receive attention.

Logan said he was sorry about the Mayor's request for an auto, but there had been a change of heart among the members and the auto couldn't be bought. The Mayor thereupon asked that his monthly incidental fund for materials and supplies be placed at $150 instead of $100 as cut, and the Supervisors acquiesced.

The Mayor had something to say about the hospitals and the subsidy. He said that if anybody went to a hospital he should be allowed to have his family doctor attend him. The members koknaed this suggestion. This probably refers to the strained relations between Dr. O'Day and the Queen's Hospital. The Mayor's suggestion was referred to the health committee.

W. H. Hoogs, a member of the Promotion Committee, appeared before the board and made a straightforward plea for funds for the promotion work. He said the legislature had cut out the $250 per month and he hoped the county could furnish the amount. The Promotion Committee was helping every one in the Territory. It was a business institution and if the members would go to the committee's headquarters figures could be shown that the committee was bringing plenty of people here who spend much money in the Islands and therefore help everybody. The committee had plans to spread the promotion idea at the Seattle fair and needed money to do so.

Mayor Fern backed up Mr. Hoogs. He said he had received about 150 letters from people in various parts of the world, all of which he had referred to the Promotion Committee to answer. "We have given money to various departments which have been turned over to us by the Territory" said the Mayor. "Therefore, I think we should do the same for the Promotion Committee." The matter was referred to the Ways and Means Committee. Some of the members are favorably inclined toward the Promotion Committee, and it is possible some way may be found to give funds for its work.

The roads committee reported that for the month of July it recommended that as soon as oil arrived from San Francisco work should commence on Merchant street and that King street be finished. It recommended working on lower Emma street and continuing the Punchbowl road. The committee thought it could do something for Kapiolani Park and Diamond Head and recommended the work continue on the Pali, and the Belt road.

LAND BUREAU TO BE MOVED

Reduced Personnel.

The personnel of the departments will be materially reduced, this being necessary to come within the appropriation made by the last Legislature of $90,000 for operating expenses and salaries, and that is all that Superintendent Campbell can figure on in drawing up his estimates.

Land Commissioner Pratt will retire July 1, and Josh Tucker will be the chief of the bureau under Superintendent Campbell. The other changes in this department's personnel are not known as yet, but it is believed that there will be several.

Surveyor Wall will continue in office as chief surveyor under the direction of the consolidated departments' executive head. It is understood that there will be some changes in the personnel of the survey bureau, all necessitated by the reign of economy and centralization of duties that will come with the beginning of the new biennial period.

Similar action will be undertaken in the Department of Public Works, but Superintendent Campbell has not yet given out the full program of new duties and possible vacancies that will occur.

Walter H. Bromley, who has been acting as chief engineer of the water works bureau, will be transferred to the pumping station on Beretania avenue, and the force of inspectors will also be affected by the new order of things.

By reason of the fact that it has been decided to move the Department of Public Lands from the Judiciary building, Superintendent Campbell thinks that it will be August 1 before the machinery of the consolidation scheme will be turning to his satisfaction.

Will Fix Salaries.

The necessary alteration in the Public Works quarters in the Capitol and the building of a large vault to provide for the safe keeping of the land records will be done without delay, and it is estimated that the general preliminary details incident to a practical revolution in the administrative functions of the three Territorial departments will be effected within the course of the month.

Superintendent Campbell will have the sole responsibility of the successful conduct of the departments under the regime authorized by the last Legislature and approved by Governor Frear. He will apportion the work to the heads of each bureau, and they will be responsible to him.

The important question of salaries for the employes of the consolidated department is entirely in the hands of Mr. Campbell, and he can make reductions or increases as he sees fit. When the consolidated idea was considered in the Legislature, it was acknowledged that it was such a radical departure that it would be impossible to bind the executive head in the matter of expenditures and, as a consequence, one appropriation was made to include everything, with the exception of the salary of $400 per month which Mr. Campbell will draw, and which is the only segregated item.

Heavy Bookings for Islands.

The Inter-Island bookings this week are extremely heavy and the steamship people are hard put to it to furnish accommodations for all who apply. The Mauna Kea has a very heavy list and the Kinau and Mikahala are well booked, even the Claudine, sailing Friday for Maui ports and Hilo, being already filled, according to bookings.

Old Continental

AMBASSADOR O'BRIEN'S TRIP PLANNED WEEKS AGO

"Ambassador O'Brien, who is reported leaving Japan for Washington on the Mongolia, planned his present trip many weeks ago," said Dr. Thos. Green, the lecturer, yesterday. "I was with the Ambassador several weeks while in Tokio and on that occasion and also at the Memorial Day services on May 30, at Yokohama, where I delivered the oration, Mr. O'Brien told me of this trip. His wife had gone to Brussels, via Siberia, to visit their married daughter, and from there she would go to Washington. It was planned that the Ambassador and his wife should meet in Washington.

"So, after all, there is nothing really significant in his departure for Washington, about the time it is announced the Japanese Ambassador at Washington is leaving for Tokio. It is merely a coincidence, that is all."

Dr. Green, is one of the best known lecturers of America today. He is detained in Honolulu at present while his wife is convalescing from the injuries she received in the Quinn auto accident the night the Chiyo Maru was in port. Dr. and Mrs. Green now plan to resume their trip to the Coast on the next Tenyo Maru. Dr. Green will give the Fourth of July address at Central Union church next Sunday evening. He is a finished speaker, his address at St. Andrew's Cathedral on Sunday evening being exceptionally fine.

ERICSSON RELICS SHOWN AT SEATTLE

SEATTLE, June 15.—John Ericsson, inventor of the famous "cheese box" Monitor, used a large block of wood as a pillow on which to rest his tired head after spending days and nights in his study. The identical block has been kept as a historical object, and is to be seen among other things in the "John Ericsson" room in the Swedish building at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition.

As the visitor enters the room he is almost startled to see seated at a table at the farther end the figure of a man. So amazing is the likeness of this wax figure to the familiar portraits and pictures of the inventor that the visitor unconsciously stops in reverence before going nearer. The table in the room is the one from the study of Ericsson, and nearby is the oldfashioned "hair-cushion" piano stool which was used by the inventor in place of a chair.

Ericsson had two tables in his study—one at which he worked on his plans and drawings; the other was used as a bed and with the block of wood as a pillow.

The walls of the "John Ericsson" room are hung with pictures of the naval officers who commanded his first armorclad, and there is also shown the engraved resolutions passed by the New York State General Assembly March 13, 1862, commending Ericsson and the naval officers of the Monitor for their work.

WONDERFUL UNDERGROUND VILLAGE.

Deep in the salt mines of the hamlet of Villiczka, in Austrian Poland, some 11 miles from Cracow, lies a veritable underground village which dates way back to the days when slaves first opened these mines in 1334. It is a busy subterranean human hive, all the busier in contrast with the sleepy hamlet above. In fact, all the life of the settlement is concentrated below ground. The air is clean and the temperature that of a warm spring day. The center of the mine is situated in a sort of court which forms a railway station. Here all the railway lines which intersect this huge mine meet. Men and women go above ground to do their marketing, and meet in this court on their return to gossip and compare their bargains. Children play about in the shade of the grottos and sail boats in the gutters, running with salt water. These gutters were made hundreds of years ago to get rid of the moisture which runs from the upper floors of the mine, and lead down to the very bottom, forming a huge sale lake, the water of which is gradually pumped off and distilled to obtain salt. So difficult and expensive is it to light up the whole mine that visitors must make up a party of at least 30 and pay various sums according to their number. No less than 260 steps lead down to the second floor of the mine, just over the salt lake, and it is there that the chapel of St. Anthony stands.—Leslie's Weekly.

THE LAW'S DELAY.

It is a hopeful sign that lawyers are joining with laymen in the demand that is fast becoming insistent for a reform in legal procedure. The folly and injustice of the present methods are too well known to need any setting forth, but unfortunately the lawyer claims that the revision of the code will accomplish what is needed, while the layman well knows that this is only half the truth. The idea of protecting the innocent has been carried to such an excess that it is becoming increasingly difficult to convict the guilty. The thousand forms which merely obstruct justice in the trial courts are supplemented by endless technicalities in the appellate courts, until reversals upon the most puerile grounds have become so common that they would be ludicrous were they not so sad in their far-reaching effects.—St. Louis Times.

THE REGULAR ARMY.

The part of the regular army in the civil war has yet to be fully written. It furnished nearly all the army and crops commanders of the volunteer army, most of the general and a large part of the field officers. It gave the force which protected the capital before Sumter was fired upon. It guarded the retreat at Bull Run, and had the regular army wisely expanded by adding new men at the opening of the civil war to the small force of 10,000 men that rout would probably never have occurred. At Gettysburg it did its full share, particularly in its splendid artillery, and it is the worst criticism of General McClellan's handling of Antietam that he did not launch on the retreating foe the unshaken division of regulars under Gen. Fitz-John Porter.—Philadelphia Press.

MENTAL LIMITATIONS.

"Your Honor," said the arrested chauffeur, "I tried to warn the man, but the horn would not work."

"Then why did you not slacken speed rather than run him down?"

A light seemed to dawn upon the prisoner.

"Gee!" he said, "that's one on me. I never thought of that.—Philadelphia Ledger.

KAIMUKI CONVENT IS NEARLY COMPLETED

The handsome $50,000 convent of the Sisters of the Sacred Hearts, at Kaimuki, is approaching the finishing stages and will be in readiness by September when the fall term opens. The big school, which is of handsome design and finish and topped with a cross-surmounted cupola, will be a boarding school. The down-town convent, adjoining the Roman Catholic Cathedral, will be used in future as a day school. Some of the old frame buildings within the convent walls will be torn down and the sisters will live in the quarters to be vacated by the boarding department.

Plans are also under way for a renovation of the old cathedral building, the woodwork in the galleries being reported as badly worm eaten. The entire gallery section will be removed, when the renovation starts, and instead of the galleries in future running down the sides of the building, there will only be a gallery which will include the organ and choir loft and room directly in front for a number of worshipers. This will give better ventilation for the body of the church. It is also planned to place a vestibule along the entire front of the cathedral on Fort street, so that the interior of the church will not be exposed to the direct gaze of passers-by.

MEDICINES MADE FROM ROOTS AND HERBS.

In the good old-fashioned days of our grandmothers they depended upon medicines made from the roots and herbs of the field to cure disease.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, that standard remedy which is made from roots and herbs for woman's ills, had its origin in this way. For thirty years it has been redeeming its promises written on the label of every bottle by curing thousands of women of feminine ills. It's a good, honest medicine.

THE ARMY MULE.

By an order from headquarters the automobile passes from some of the army posts and the mule comes back to its own. It was only a question of time, for the attachments of the ages are not easily broken. The mule's enlistment never was intended to expire, and as for the summary dismissal, it was ill-considered, but now all's well once more with the mule and the army. The army mule is a tactician and a strategist. Study of its habit has won many a battle. By the mere curl of a lip it develops a defensive front, and under no circumstance of seeming peace or of active war are its flanks left unguarded. The mule heard the army swear in Flanders and it hears it swear in the Philippines. It always has been the target for profanity, and it has done loyal service as the soldiers' safety valve.—Chicago Post.

On June 30 the stockholders of the Rapid Transit Company will receive a 3-per cent dividend, payable on that date, and a quarterly dividend of one per cent on the common stock.

Japanese fishermen, it is said, are catching birds at sea and bringing them to town for sale. It may be that Captain Rees, commandant at the Naval station will investigate the matter.

Mayor Fern and others had a conference with regard to the Honolulu jail matter yesterday. The Governor had High Sheriff Henry in consultation on the same matter also during the day, and gave out that the additional land needed for the jail would probably be turned over, the municipal government standing the expense of moving the buildings.

JUST IN TIME.

A German shoemaker left the gas turned on in his shop one night, and upon arriving in the morning struck a match to light it. There was a terrific explosion, and the shoemaker was blown out through the door almost to the middle of the street.

A passer-by rushed to his assistance, and after helping him to arise, inquired if he was injured.

The little German gazed in at his place of business, which was now burning quite briskly and, said:

"No, I aindt hurt. But I got out shust in time. Eh?"—Lippincott's.

A COMPARISON TO HAND.

Pertinent was the rebuke administered by a police magistrate, who is a keen horseman, to a bluejacket who had been using his liberty more for the benefit of sundry saloonkeepers than himself.

"You men," said the judge, "earn your money like horses and spend it like asses!"—Youth's Companion.

Don't get down-'earted, Bill. Lummy, don't you look gashly! But there, keep up yer spirits, ole sport; I've come to see yer an' cheer yer up a bit. SUDDEN DEATH OF MRS. JOHN H. JONES

Mrs. John H. Jones, wife of John H. Jones of McInerny's shoe store, died suddenly yesterday afternoon from the effects of a fall. Mrs. Jones was expected to give birth to a child within a short time, and it was due to this fact that the fall, which might not otherwise have amounted to anything serious, proved fatal. Mrs. Jones was formerly Miss Julia K. Bush. She was employed for a while as a stenographer at the Police Station. She had a host of friends in the community who will mourn her loss and who will sympathize with her husband in his great bereavement. Besides her husband, she leaves a little daughter, Thelma, who is one year of age, and a son, Melville, who is aged seven months.

LETTERS OF A JAPANESE SCHOOLBOY

POOR BOYS WHO BECAME FAMOUS

By HASHIMURA TOGO (Wallace Irwin)

To Editor who got a helping hand for Poor and Needy who will be less so if they put slight advertisement in the Wanting Column of this paper:

Dear Hon. Mr.:—

A Book Agent came approaching to me yesterday with Carnegle Library expression & said he got a History every Japanese Schoolboy should have before he advance very far into America.

"How much, please, to purchase this total book?" This from me.

"For $2, thank you, and the rest by degrees till payed for." That from him.

"O so sorry, no can do!" I corroborate with great chivalry. But this Book Agent are a very firm literary man; so he drop that fat Work on my bedstid & part off with these charitable words:

"You shall read this Great Compile and learn how-do to become Famous. Then I shall come around weekly and collet 50c. till payed for."

"At what date shall it be payed for?" But he have already parted off and left me with this expensive literature. It was a very Taft-shape book bound in sheepish leather with guilt-colored edges. I already feel somewhat prosperous to see it laying on my bureau. By opening this Hon. Book I am charmed by very valuable invoice of Thought which I receive. It relate about many youths of very Hobo parentage who, by constant smartness, start at first round of the ladder and soonly climb to second story of Success. "Do not be discouraged to start at feet of the Ladder," Editor of this Book say. "You will always find a window unlocked on the second story."

This Book pronounce great Hope to any boy who is poor enough to be ambitious. It say, "Keep your brain close to deeds of Great Men and attempt to learn how. Nearly every Life Insurance President, Poet, Marter or Politician now occupying wealthy chairs in glass offices was formerly office boys in buildings they now owns. Folks get famous by constant application.

"Pray listen, little Boy, if you're
Intent to reach that Golden Niche:
Don't waste your kindness on the Poor,
But jump, O jump and help the Rich!"

I chew this information with my brain. This Author say you must obtain Fame "by constant application." I have made constant application for all sorted jobs; but maybe I have applied at the wrong place. So I read on.

Frontish-piece of this Hon. Book are a large crane-portrait of Hon. John D. Rockefeller with sad & loving expression like he did what he done to America more in sorrow than in anger. Next come following brief historical write-up:

Life of John D. Rockefeller.

Hon. J. D. was borned on July, 1839, of pious, patriotick, poverty-stricken people. After a loveless youth he left college at the age of 9 and accepted an obscure post as office-boy at the modest salary of $4 a week. Little is known of his subsequent career; but he must have advanced rapidly, for we find him in the year 1909 universally known as a leading oil merchant. He lives at Tarrytown, N. Y., where he is loved and suspected by all.

Life of Wm. Shakspeare (deceased.)

Wm. Shakspeare was born, if at all, in the latter part of the 16th Century. His works are full of historical blunders. For further particulars see Francis Bacon.

Life of E. H. Harriman.

Hon. E. H. Harriman was borned in the 19th Century, but refuses to talk about it. As a young man he worked as a collector for a railroad. Recently he has branched out into a railroad-collecting business. He lives in a private car and moves in a mysterious way. He is loved and respected by all. For further particulars see George Gould.

Life of Jas. A. Patten.

Born of poor but contented parents little James went out at an early age to earn his bread & butter. He didn't have no luck in butter but he was soon able to corner the bread. He is called at Yeast King because he has raised so many loaves He lives quietly on his Western farm where he is loved and respected by all.

And so onwards through every stage of greatness. I am completely fascinated by this Hon. Book so filled of grand acheevments & biographies! How nice to be included in History! I should more rather be Famous than almost any other job. Could I, too, not be mentioned some day because of my sweet disposition & firm-tooth stroggle to Success? Would it not be nice for Prosperity to see following information about me:

Life of Hashimura Togo.

Hon. Hash. Togo was begun in Japan about 1874. His parents was poor but perfectly natural. He came to America to learn intelligence and was employed as soup-carrier in many boarding-houses where he stayed until he quit. He got so famous for his perpendicular character & honest face that he wrote a book of poetries and died controlling 3 banks. He is always at home to friends at Room 405 Hall of Fame. Tokyo papers please copy.

Mr. Editor, when I read them paragraphs full o f bright & flashy hope I resolved to become a Office Boy and learn how-do to get Famous, Because that Hon. Book, though entirely inspiring to folks enjoying poverty, do not tell what them Great Men was doing after they quit being office boys. It merely say "Hon. J. D. Rockefeller began on the farm as office boy & he was next discovered at 26 Broadway running the place." Therefore I must find some gentleman what have arrived at top-tip of Fame and ask him some replies.

So I put on my frockaway coat and courteous derby, so I might appear sublime as possible. Then I retire to a rich-looking street & hunt up a tall Building what appear to be occupied by a Poor Boy Who Had Become Famous. Pretty soonly I seen an eminent looking Building of extreme tallness which appear very dignified as if it had stole something & wished to keep still about it. Over the main entry to this place was sign "Chicago, Rakeoff & Backaway R. R."

This would be very nice Building for me to become famous in.

So I get elevated to 9th story where glass office was; and there one very kindly looking Ladd was setting engaged in gum-chew & reading a Book by title "History of Famous Home Runs." I suppose this to be some important book on the Railroad business.

"Name, if any!" require this Ladd after 5 or 15 minutes after he was sure I was there.

"Hashimura Togo," I say reverently to this child, because he was a poor boy & might become Famous unless neglected.

"Business, if any!" are next slam-out for him.

"Hon. Child," I say-it. "I desire a earnest wish that I could see the Pres. of this Co. so that maybe I also can get job to Office Ladd & so upwards till I owned the Building.

When I said this Hon. Office Boy become peeled with laughter.

"You are a species of Oriental lemon," he report.

"Kindly to respect my color, if nothing else," I say doggishly.

"I am Office Boy to this organization," snib that Kidd-person. "My salary are $4 weekly which I earn by shapening pencils & being a Dummy when called for directors meetings. Therefore you should not burst into my career. Kindly remove away."

"I should not go until I saw Hon. President," I provoke with Samurai voice.

While this loud alteration was going on between us, door of glass office crunch open suddenly & a blank-haired gentleman of Trust appearance and wealthy vest rosh out with voice to yellup.

"Why you burst up my office with hellish conversation & talk?"

"Please, Mr. Sir," I say-so with humble derby, "I wish to make interview with Pres. of this Assn."

"I am him," say this swollen person with lion voice. "Therefore come inside & be insulted."

So he bang me behind glass door where was considerable mahogany desk all buttoned up with electric signals & other simptoms of Success.

"What you wish see me by?" he ask it with refrigerated eyes.

"I wish some talk with you because you are Famous," I say-so cordially.

"How you know that" he reply nervously.

"I read so in newspapers," are answer for me.

"Heavenly sakes!" report this Magnet, "Have the newspapers discovered me? Nextly I shall be surrounded by the Magazines. How can I keep out of Jail?"

I could not think of no intelligent reply.

"Are you one of them Poor Boys who become Famous?" I require.

"I are!" he say locking the door.

"Kindly explain to me how you got in this condition," I corrode.

"I came on gradually," say this Famous Man sadly. "I was born 57 years ago. My parents was too lazy to do anything dishonest. But I was ambitious. No one at home sympathized with me, except my dear old grandfather who taught me to smoke cigarets; and oft at evening took me on his knee and read me stories from Nick Carter so I could know something about the Great World outside. When I was 11 years old I resolved to run away to sea. This was hard to do, thank you, because we live in Kansas. One night at 8:30, when the village was all asleep, I dropped out of a window and vanished into the darkness. My only wealth was 38c. and 5 loaded dice which my dear old Grandfather gave me at parting.

"I nextly was seen in Cincinnati where I amassed enough pennies with my loaded dice to set myself up in business as a horse thief. After the first mis-step the upward course is easy. From horses I went into mining stocks. Nobody can't never get discouraged at nothing when they can't fail at nothing. Wall Street, after attempted murder, embraced me with loverly kindness. Then one day I made the great criminal stroke of my career. I took a Railroad and forgot to return it."

Speaking suchly words this Hon. Success arise up, unlock the door and show me how to get out.

"To what one influential Factor in your career do you mostly owe it that you have arrived so great?" I ask it at parting.

"I got my education from these," he say. And he show me them 5 loaded dice what his deary Grandfather had gave him in antique date of childhood.

So he slam me outside & leave me full of muses.

Here is a Japanese Poem what can be poured into any column, no matter how gas-pipe it is in shape:

Musical Suggestions to Sculptors & Stone-Cutters Who Manufacture Famous Statuaray for Public Parks.

Hon. Sculptors
Standing around with chisels
Waiting for some Great Man to die so you can ossily him in immortal stoneware,
Soonly Public Squares
Will be full
Of new faces sawed out of marble and bronze.
Soonly we will see popular heroes
Standing on basis of granite
And looking much handsomer than we ever thought they would.
Think of Hon. Jo-Uncle Cannon
Standing patly on a pedistool
Looking grand
And wearing creases in his stone pants like he never actually had!
Think of Hon. Wm. H. Taft
Standing in posy publick attitude
With his stomack idealized to look like a chest!
Imagine Philander P. Nocks
With stone forehead of Napoleon
And cross expression
Like he was forever jerking Hon. Castro back from Venezuela!
In joy-day of future
Some fine sculptuary groups
Will also appear.

"Hon. Nelson Aldrich Commanding the Tariff to stand still."
Hon. Jim Patten in sweet pose entitled "Bringing in the Sheaves,"
"Harriman Tickling the Octopus"
Would be another
And "Serene O'Pain Killing Time"
Would look very distracted.

O Fame,
In ordering statues
To show future generations
How Civilization behaved himself in 1909
Please do some of them works of art I suggest,
And oblige,
Yours truly,
HASHIMURA TOGO.

MAKES STRONG NERVES

No matter what kind of nervous trouble you may have, I claim that Electro-Vigor will cure it. I have never known of a single case where Electro-Vigor has failed to cure nervousness, insomnia, neurasthenia and similar complaints.

Electricity is the life of the nerves, and the lack of this force is what causes your ailment. Restore electricity to the weak, starving nerves and the trouble can not exist.

Electro-Vigor is an electric body battery for saturating the nerves and vitals with a powerful current of electricity while you sleep. For hours at a time it pours a steady, unbroken stream of electric energy into the body, without the least shock or burn. It renews the energy and activity of every weak organ, and charges the nerves with new life and vim.

I can prove that Electro-Vigor cures. You don't have to take my word for it. I'll give you the names of cured patients and you can ask them about my treatment.

FREE TO YOU

My 100-page book, beautifully illustrated, tells all about Electro-Vigor, how it cures and cost of treatment. This book is free if you'll mail me this coupon.

ARMY AND NAVY NEWS

Preparations for the installation of the pair of 3-inch guns at the end of the Naval Reservation on the Waikiki side of the channel are under way, a frame building to house workmen's materials being under construction makai of the marine detachment tent camp. The reservation is known under its Hawaiian name as Kaakaukuikui Reef. The army will establish a gun battery on the point. When completed and manned the battery will return the national salute in exchange for all national salutes fired by incoming warships. This is in accordance with the practise followed at Fortress Monroe.

Brigade Post Site Chosen.

The army board has decided upon the site for the new army post at Leilehua, which is to be in the vicinity of the present cavalry cantonment known as Schofield Barracks. The board, however, has not finished the details of the choice, but all matters will be adjusted at the next meeting. The delay in definitely locating the site for the permanent post largely depended upon the question of an adequate water supply. The source of such a supply was located in the Koolau range, and it then became a question of where the post should be located with reference to the best fall for this water. This was believed to be in the vicinity of the Waialua road at a considerable distance away from the cantonment. It is this site which has been decided upon, and now only the details need be worked out.

So far nothing has been received here by the army officers from the quartermaster general's office with reference to the plans and specifications for the new post. The receipt of these may depend upon the receipt at Washington of the information that the army board has finally decided upon the site for the post. The buildings may be constructed of reinforced concrete on the plan of the buildings erected at Camp Perry.

Capt. Gleaves on Airships.

Captain Gleaves, of the U. S. cruiser St. Louis, is quoted in an afternoon paper as follows:

"What do I think of airships for use in warfare? Well, that is rather a hard question. The subject is a new one, of course, but the general impression seems to be rather too strong, perhaps, in favor of the idea that the airship will change everything. Try standing on the roof of a three-story building some day and dropping a marble into the hat of a man standing below. Your position and that of your target will be stationary. See how far you come from your target.

"Of course the subject of torpedoes is one about which very little can be said for publication. We are always conducting experiments at the Newport station where I was till recently, but most of these matters are kept under cover. The latest thing in the torpedo line is the turbine torpedo, which is propelled by a turbine engine, the motive power being given by compressed air. This is an American invention and has been successful. By the use of the turbine instead of the reciprocating engine greater speed and longer range has been obtained, the room taken up by the engine being much less than in the ordinary type."

Ijichi to Leave Thursday.

Admiral Ijichi plans to leave Honolulu on Thursday, the two Japanese cruisers heading direct for Hakodate, in the northern part of the Island Empire. The vessels took on all their coal last week, the stuff coming from the Inter-Island Company's big piles by way of their new hopper, and the ships now present a spick and span appearance.

On Sunday Admiral Ijichi called upon Captain Gleaves aboard the U. S. S. St. Louis, accompanied by his staff. Captain Gleaves returned the call in the afternoon. Salutes were dispensed with on both occasions. Last evening the Admiral and officers were guests of honor at the Commercial Club banquet. This evening Admiral Ijichi entertains aboard the flagship Soya at a banquet given in honor of Governor Frear and Mayor Fern and about twenty others. Tomorrow evening the Admiral entertains at dinner for Consul-General Uyeno and a score of Japanese residents. On both occasions the enlisted men have planned a unique entertainment for the honored guests, something in the shape of an al fresco vaudeville show, which is really very good. On Thursday some of the Japanese newspapermen will be entertained, and on the same day the squadron sails.

St. Louis Doings.

The bluejackets of the St. Louis finished taking on 1500 tons of coal last evening and today the ship will be cleaned up and tomorrow will shift out into the stream, where she will remain until her departure for Samoa, via Hilo. Coaling operations were suspended for awhile yesterday for about two and a half hours, owing to slow delivery. This will interfere with the record the St. Louis had in mind to make.

Yesterday morning Governor Frear and Major Dunning, U. S. A., commandant of Fort Shafter, made official calls upon Captain Gleaves.

West Point Graduations.

WEST POINT, N. Y., June 9.—There are some places of learning where a downpour on any day of graduation week would so upset matters that even the sweet girl visitors would be put out of sorts; West Point is an exception. True, the rain today spoiled the outdoor program, which consisted of an athletic meet that had to be given up a few minutes after it started, field artillery drill this afternoon, and also the baseball game with Colgate. One rather expects Uncle Sam's boys to laugh at a gentle midsummer rain.

Lots of the boys, and practically all of the sweethearts and sisters, rejoiced over it.

The rain turned the hotel on the post grounds into one big reception room for the afternoon. The corridors were alive with summery gowns, and the chatter was like the rallies at a skirmish drill.

For Annapolis midshipmen any port may do in time of storm, but for a West Point cadet any nook and corner will do on a rainy day, if the chaperon is properly indulgent, and all army chaperons are. So fast did the social whirl go this afternoon that the assistants of Col. Scott, superintendent of the academy, found it difficult to round up the graduation cadets this afternoon to make their declarations as to which branch of the army service they would like to enter.

The rivalry in the interclass field day events was intense and the events run off were closely contested, but the adverse weather conditions prevented fast work, and three events were postponed until tomorrow.

Today the class of 1910 led with 1909 a close second. With the individuals the best all-around work was done by Cadet Surles, of Michigan. Cadet Frank S. Besson, of Pennsylvania, won the hammer throw and secured two second places, but did not show form equal to that displayed in his previous work.

Commissions for 101 Men.

The class of 1909 consists of 103 members, but really there are only 101. Two of the class are the Chinese cadets, Wen and Chen, and they can't wear the United States uniform after next Friday. The authorities say it is an unusually bright class, and will rank with any in scholarship that West Point has ever graduated.

This year's class is unusually cocky, because West Point has cleaned up Annapolis in football, baseball, and fencing, all the sports they engage in. The graduating class always gets most of the credit or takes it in the spirit of military discipline for this success. So if on Friday evening next, when the graduating class goes down to New York for its good-by dinner, about 100 young men appear in the streets with what is known as a chesty style, no police inspector need arrest them out of pure jealousy.

The graduating exercises this year will be minus one regular feature, the usual board of visitors. Under the present law the board of visitors is made up from the military committees of both houses of Congress. Congress being in special session, no military committee has yet been appointed in the House by Uncle Joe. Of course, the Senate has one, but no one here looks for any senators to come up. The board of visitors usually bring a train of guests with them, and these will be missed this year.

The First Fifteen.

The order of the graduates was published today. The first fifteen in order are:

Stuart C. Godfrey, Milford, Mass.
F. C. Harrington, Bristol, Va.
C. C. Gee, Montpelier, Idaho.
J. M. Wright, Fairview, N. H.
J. R. D. Matheson, Billings, Mont.
W. H. Sage, Jr., Bellport, N. Y.
C. J. Taylor, Buffalo, Wyo.
E. V. Marks, Wilmington, Del.
Earl North, Imlay, Mich.
A. H. Acher, Grove City, Pa.
G. B. V. Wilkes, Washington, Ky., (grandson of Admiral Wilkes).
J. C. H. Lee, Junction City, Kans.
F. S. Bassen, Ambler, Pa.
L. G. Herkness, Wyncote, Pa.
A. K. Lyman, Hilo, Hawaii.

All these young men will go in the engineering corps, an unusually large number.

LICENSE MONEY A TIDY AMOUNT

Seventy Five Thousand Due on Thursday to City of Honolulu.

License paying time comes around again on July 1st, and on that date there will be due the City and County of Honolulu something like seventy-five thousand dollars from the various and sundry persons, firms and corporations engaged in various and sundry kinds of business on the Island of Oahu. The number of licenses to be collected will touch close around the five thousand mark, the smallest fee being one dollar for a boatman, and from that on up to seven hundred and fifty dollars for a banker.

The work and responsibility of collecting these licenses devolves this year for the first time on the City Treasurer, and Treasurer Trent is heels over head in work getting ready to handle the rush that is due for the morning of the first day of the license month. There have been blanks and forms galore to be printed, license laws and schedules have had to be studied up, and general preparation made for taking over what has heretofore been one of the chief duties of the Territorial Treasurer, and so far the county treasurer has had no assistance in this work. The Board of Supervisors has incorporated in its proposed budget for the next six months salaries for two assistants to help in the collection of the license money, but no provision was made for them to enter upon their duties in time to help in making the necessary preparations.

Already some of the leading business houses are sending remittances to Treasurer Trent to cover license fees to be paid by them, and asking him to hold the money until July 1st and then hand them out their license papers without the necessity of their having to wait in line for a long time while the rush is on. In such cases the licenses can be written out and signed and sealed in advance, and all that will be necessary on July 1st will be to hand the papers over the counter to any messenger that may be sent for them.

In addition to the license fee there is a stamp duty to be paid on every license issued, amounting to one dollar on every fifty dollars of license fee, or fraction of fifty dollars; except that a license the total cost of which is under twenty dollars is only assessed fifty cents for stamp duty.

Following is an alphabetical list of licenses payable to the City Treasurer, with the fee required by law. The license year runs from July 1st to June 30th, and any person, firm or corporation doing business after July 1st without having obtained a license is liable to arrest and fine, and in some cases imprisonment:

The above analysis shows the water to be EXTREMELY LIGHT AND PURE, and its freedom from organic matter and consequent excellent keeping qualities, make it a most desirable table water. As a mineral water, its lightness will enable it to be RETAINED ON THE MOST DELICATE STOMACH, and we believe that when freely used, it will be found to possess decided therapeutic value, since the potent ingredients present are free from lime and other inert salts. We would expect good results from its use in case of gout, rheumatism and stomach troubles, as well as diseases of a scrofulous character.

Respectfully, FROEHLING & ROBERTSON, Analytical and Consulting Chemists.

SECOND STRIKE JURY SECURED

Twelve Men Are Sworn to Try the Leaders of the Agitation.

A jury was secured yesterday for the trial of Makino, Negoro, Kawamura, Tasaka, and Yamashiro, the five leaders in the higher wage movement among the plantation Japanese, who are charged with conspiracy to interrupt the free operation of the plantations and to incite the laborers to violence.

The jury was secured shortly before noon yesterday and sworn by Judge De Bolt. The members of the jury were cautioned to refrain from conversing with anyone in connection with the case or the strike conditions in general. An additional request made by Attorney Lightfoot for the defense that the jurors be asked not to read the newspaper accounts of the trial, was acted upon by Judge De Bolt, who told the jury that while he did not have any power to forbid them to peruse the newspapers he felt that it would be better for all concerned if the members of the panel would refrain from reading anything bearing upon the conduct of the trial.

In the examination of jurors, Mr. Kinney for the prosecution simply asked a few general questions, a favorable answer to which eliminated the juror from the possibilities of being considered open to disqualification on the grounds of prejudice or business entanglements.

For the defense, Attorney Lightfoot adopted a policy of submitting each juror to a rigorous and searching cross-examination, the defense having been allowed every possibility to eliminate anyone whom they did not think would make a fair and impartial juror.

After the jury was sworn yesterday Mr. Kinney suggested that as the riot case was to proceed before Judge Robinson this morning at ten o'clock, it would be well to grant a continuance for a few days so Attorney Lightfoot could have an opportunity of continuing in the defense of the thirteen Japanese accused of riot.

Judge De Bolt agreed with the suggestion made by Mr. Kinney and accordingly granted a continuance until ten o'clock Thursday morning, when the first witness will be placed on the stand by the prosecution.

There is a possibility that the case against the Waipahu rioters can be concluded before Judge Robinson by Thursday, but it is expected that it will require a week or more to conclude the trial of Makino and his colleagues before Judge De Bolt.

A continuance was granted yesterday by Judge Robinson in the two first strike cases that developed. Four Japanese charged with assault and battery are the defendants. E. A. Douthitt is the attorney for them.

Court Notes.

James A. Thompson has been appointed the guardian of Sarah Nakookoo and Amy Helene Thompson, minors, with bond fixed at $150.

Judge Robinson yesterday granted the petition of Mrs. Irene Holloway, guardian of Francis Hyde Brown, that she be allowed the sum of $500 for defraying the cost of a trip to the mainland and also an increase to $200 per month for the costs of education.

W. O. Smith has been appointed the administrator of the estate of the late John Kea without bond.

Henry R. Macfarlane, Jr., has been appointed administrator of the estate of his father, the late Henry R. Macfarlane. Emma Macfarlane, the widow, and Cecil Brown are named in the bill as executrix and executor.
