DRUNK WITH THEIR NEW FREEDOM

Perelstrous Tells Russian Idlers That Their Heads Are Swelled.

DISGRACING THEIR RACE

Strong Letter by Immigration Man Read at Iwilei Camp.

"You have been slaves for centuries at home and the change to freedom has swelled your heads." "You seek to find in every man an enemy. My idea is that the worst enemy a man who doesn't work can have is his stomach."

"Don't be like a lot of sheep led by somebody else, such as you had to be when you were slaves in Russia. Now you can use your own minds and decide for yourselves."

The above are some of the heavy jobs given yesterday by A. Perelstrous in a letter to the Russians who are in jail refusing to work. They are translated from the Russian. Perelstrous wrote a quite lengthy letter in which he gave the vagrant immigrants some sound advice. He told them that they were disgracing their country and that they had better go to work for what they could get rather than accept small presents from poor Hawaiians.

Perelstrous' letter didn't seem to have any effect. The Russians again voted enthusiastically against work and proceeded to enjoy their great capacity for sleep and card-playing. The conditions at the camp, however, are such that there will be a change very soon.

Perelstrous' letter is as follows:

An open letter to the Russians newly arrived in Hawaii and now living under the American flag:

Do you know what it means to be a free citizen?

You have been slaves for centuries at home, and the change to freedom has swelled your heads. The Americans spent a lot of money to bring you here; everybody now is very sorry on account of your foolishness.

More than half of you can not read and write, and that, people think, is why you do not understand. When people come here they must take what they can get for working. You must all understand that when you accept small presents of something to live on from Hawaiians and Portuguese, you "lose your face" and sense of shame.

These Portuguese came here a long time ago under harder conditions than yours now. They can tell you this themselves. Now they are prosperous.

Some of you went to the Governor and asked that he give them places to work in the city, and said they wouldn't work anywhere else but would beg and steal. This is to the shame of the Russians.

I think maybe your leaders had good plans at one time, but made mistakes. And you are suffering for the mistakes. It is no good for leaders to tell you not to go to work out of town, and that you will be slaves if you do. The leaders of you, and all of you, not long ago were slaves at home and you, not long ago before you could find work were hungry. Here the job looks for you. In Russia you could not find the job.

I understand what is going on now.

COLLECTOR DRAKE HAS CABLED HIS RESIGNATION

Complete Reorganization of Internal Revenue Office--Frank Winter Candidate for the Job.

Collector of Internal Revenue Walter E. Drake yesterday afternoon cabled his resignation to Washington, in view of the report made by Special Agent W. B. Thomas on the omission of the books and records of the local office. Drake admits that the books are not in regulation shape and does all responsibility on this score, and says that under the conditions of the work in these islands it is impossible to keep up to the department's stringent demands in the way of keeping clean.

It is expected that Drake's resignation will be accepted and that his departure will retire with him, and this will probably end the matter. There will be a complete new force in the office.

MRS. GRACE IS NOW ACCUSED

Wife of Escaped Murderer Also Charged With the Crime of Murder.

ACCUSED AS ACCOMPLICE

His Confession Indicated That She Helped Him in the Crime.

Mrs. Anderson Grace was arrested yesterday on a federal warrant charging her with murder. She is the divorced wife of the negro who escaped from the chain gang last week and for whom all the police of the island have been searching. After he pleaded guilty of murder in the second degree and was given a life sentence, she sued him for divorce.

Mrs. Grace is alleged to have been an accessory to the murder of Mahu, the Hawaiian whom Grace killed. In fact she is said to have assisted him in his preparations to establish an alibi. Grace was a watchman in the federal service, and had to register his watches every half hour, in an automatic time register. According to his confession, before he started on his murderous mission, he told his wife that he was going to kill Mahu, and asked her to register for him while he was away, so that he could subsequently prove in alibi. He gave her the key to the time register and she worked it for him.

The fact that Grace was regularly registered, every half-hour through the night of the murder was the great difficulty in the way of proving a case against him, when the first investigation indicated that he was the murderer. He was apparently in a position to prove that he had stayed at his post until it developed that he had left his post, but had first arranged to have his half-hourly registers made for him. Mrs. Grace was arrested late yesterday afternoon. She has been held for some days at the police station on account of the escape of her husband, who is variously reported as getting help from her and threatening to kill her, and threatening to kill the attorney who brought her suit for divorce.

LIEUT. HATFIELD SHOOTS HIMSELF

Promising Army Officer Dies by His Own Hand at the Presidio.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 26.—First Lieut. Albert Hatfield of the Thirtieth U. S. Infantry committed suicide yesterday in his quarters at the Presidio by shooting himself through the head.

Despondency due to continued illness is supposed to have been the cause of Lieutenant Hatfield's desperate act.

For several months he had been in poor health and for some time he was a patient in the officers' ward of the general hospital at the Presidio. Hatfield was considered an exceptionally promising young officer and was one of the most popular men in the service.

Lieut. Albert Hatfield was born in the army, his father being Col. C. A. P. Hatfield, commanding the Thirteenth U. S. Cavalry. After leaving school Hatfield spent some time in newspaper work, later being appointed an officer in the army from civil life. For the past year he had commanded his company which under his direction became known as one of the crack organizations of the service.

BROUGHT HERE FRAUDULENTLY

Russian Women Who Had No Right to Land in This Country.

MARRIAGES WERE FAKES

Half of the Supposed Families Said to Have Been Pretense.

Under the "white slave" law, as the new immigration law is most generally known, a large proportion of the Russians now in Honolulu are booked for deportation, if statements made yesterday on good authority are substantiated. Evidence which either has been or will be submitted to the federal grand jury during the investigation now under way, is to the effect that nearly fifty per cent of the supposed married couples brought in were not married couples at all, but deceived the immigration officials with pretenses of marriage, in order to get into the country.

The women in question would not have been allowed to land, except as the wives of the men with whom they came. It is asserted that they were not the wives at all, but merely claimed to be for the purpose of passing the immigration barriers, and now that they are in the country they are living in a manner bringing them under the provisions of the "white slave" law, just passed by congress, as an amendment of the general immigration laws, for the purpose of meeting just such cases.

The law is one of extraordinary stringency and aside from its provisions for deportation, it contains all sorts of provisions for prosecutions of all persons harboring or having anything to do with the so-called slaves. The Russians who helped the women come here under false pretenses may be up against some heavy sentences with deportation at the end thereof, and all of the women of this class will be deported.

The federal grand jury spent some time investigating the matter yesterday.

QUARANTINE IS NEEDED

City Physician Mackall Says Russians Should Be Isolated.

Declaring the Russian camp at Iwilei to be a menace to the community and a disease spot, made worse by the late rain, Dr. Mackall, city physician, stated last night that he is only awaiting means to declare all the Russians in quarantine.

"If I can get the money to enforce the authority which I possess I will close them all in and have them on the plantations, in jail or starving to death inside of two weeks," said Dr. Mackall. "It will take twenty-five men to enforce the quarantine, and it will take money for this and for the food that must be supplied, and I do not think it is fair that the city, which is not responsible for their being there, should pay. I can't use the city money."

Should Dr. Mackall follow out his plan, or obtain the means to do so, he will establish three quarantines—one on the women and children and one on the sick, who will be fed, and one on the "boozers," as he calls them, who will not be fed, and who must either start a famine and land in jail or go to work. He states that this is absolutely necessary to preserve the health of the community, the health of the Russians and the morality of the Russian women.

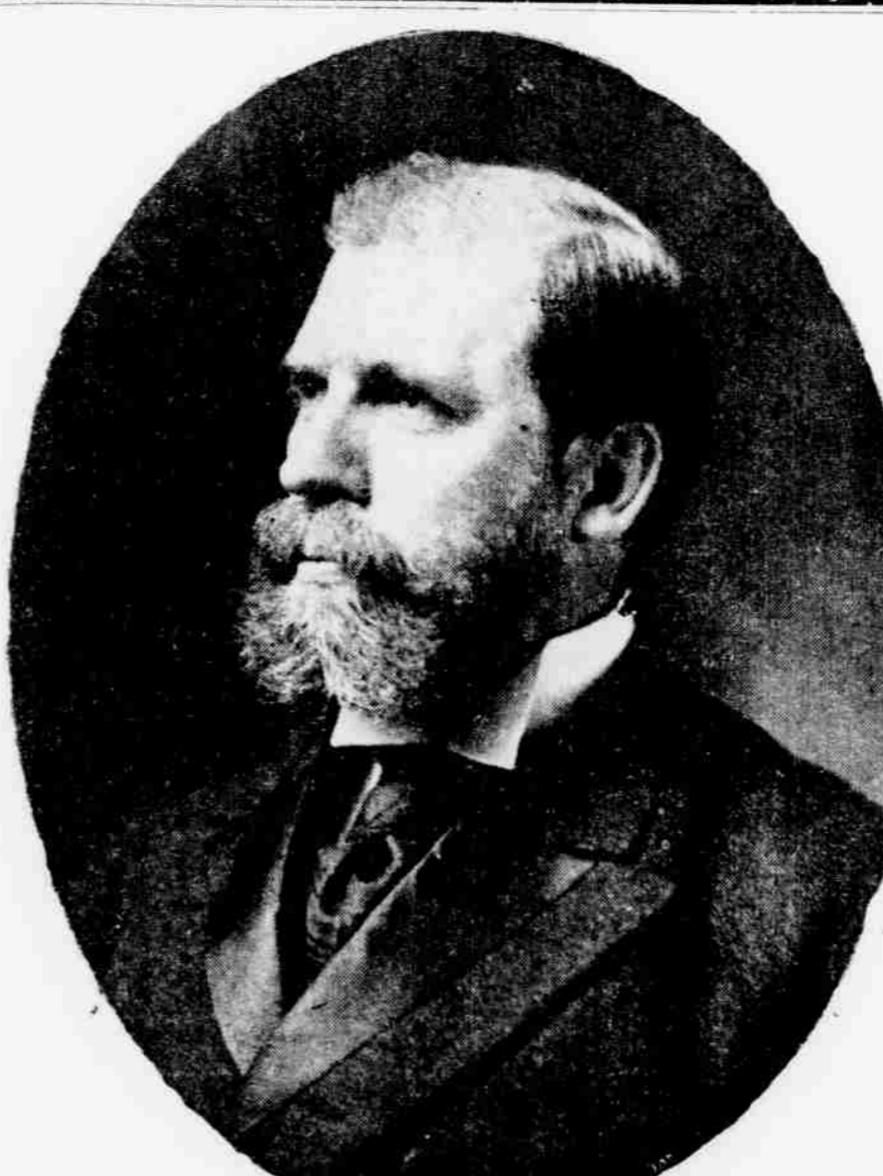

Several people who are high in official authority, but in whose departments the Russian problem does not come, stated yesterday there is a lack of nerve somewhere, or measures won't have been taken that would have ended the trouble long ago.

WRECKED CAR ON TRACK NEAR AIEA

For four hours yesterday forenoon the Union railroad line was tied up on account of a wreck near Aiea. At eleven o'clock the line was cleared and the traffic resumed. On the early morning train a freight train were a number of oil tank cars. Near Aiea the truck under one of these nearly exploded and collapsed. Owing to the automatic brakes on the cars the train came to a stop within a short distance. The broken trucks, however, had torn up the track and trees owing to the train the train was not cleared for some time. Passengers had to be transferred by foot around the wires.

Senator Burton of Ohio opposes the Rivers and Harbors bill, saying inland water transportation is going out of existence and ridicules the proposed deep waterway between the Lakes and the Gulf.

CENSUS MAN HAS COMPLAINT

Refusal to Answer Personal Question May Cause Prosecution.

The first of the census man's pilikia locally was reported yesterday, and the name of a very prominent citizen is said to be connected with the pilikia, which may lead to a prosecution. The pilikia in question was a refusal to answer one of the inquiries made by a census agent.

"Is your home mortgaged?" is what the census agent asked.

The man to whom the question was put by Uncle Sam's agent told the census agent it was none of his business. The census man replied that his instructions required him to ask the question and the printed census blanks called for answers. The answer he got was another refusal to tell whether his home was mortgaged or not.

"You can go ahead and take any legal steps you please to take," is what was said to the census agent. "But I decline to answer any such question as that. The government hasn't any right sending men around here to inquire about my private business."

"You can go ahead and take any legal steps you please to take," is what was said to the census agent.

"But I decline to answer any such question as that. The government hasn't any right sending men around here to inquire about my private business."

The above is the substance of the rumpus into which a census man became involved. Who the rebellious citizen was, is not known. Under the law, it is said, he is liable to a fine of $100 for refusing to answer a scheduled question, and he is also liable to further threatened penalties to compel an answer. The census men have a certain list of questions they are required to ask, and refusals to answer them are an offense under the law.

DR. ATCHERLEY TELLS HIS TROUBLES AGAIN

SAN FRANCISCO, April 16.—The Chronicle says:

Dr. John Atcherley, recently of Honolulu, who came into some notoriety about two weeks ago through the refusal of the local board of health to permit him longer to treat the leprosy patients in the isolation hospital, issued a statement yesterday denying charges which had been made against him.

Regarding his banishment from Honolulu, Doctor Atcherley declared that it was done really "to remove the sentiment of keeping a sane person in a mental asylum." The reference being to his commitment to the asylum on the ground of his insanity and his subsequent release on condition that he leave the Islands.

Doctor Atcherley defends his treatment for leprosy against the criticism of it made by Dr. John T. Wayson and Dr. Brinkerhoff, leprosy experts of Honolulu, and gives specific cases of benefits which he believes result from treatment. As to the charge made that he is addicted to the use of drugs, Doctor Atcherley says:

"If I eat drugs it is because I am inattentive to my work. The charge of immorality or personal faults against me by interested parties was neither true nor true of the most intelligent physicians, who have been guilty of the most abominable malpractices. I showed no more signs of insanity than I am now."

Doctor Atcherley said that he has made no effort to secure a reversal of the action of the local board of health, because he was not paid for the work and provided his own drugs. The attorney, he said, was simply a mutual benefit one between himself and the patients.

SPORTS*CITY SCHOOLS ORGANIZE A GENERAL ATHLETIC LEAGUE

Boys Take to Proposition at Once and Coaches Will Be Appointed to Train Them All for Coming Contests.

A Grammar School Athletic League was the result of the labors of Paul Super, E. H. Hand, R. S. Gault and others yesterday, and the new organization started life with a rush. The organization includes most of the schools, public and private, in the city, and invitations have been extended to all others to enter at once, if they care to. It is modeled after the New York Association, now in its fifth year, and in which one hundred and three teams played last year.

Yesterday morning Super and Gault visited the Royal School and held a meeting at which plans and purposes were discussed, and Gault went back again at two o'clock and organized the league. After the Royal School had been visited, Super and Hand went to the Central Grammar School, where the same action was taken. Larimer attended to the Kaahumanu School. All the pupils took to the matter like ducks to water.

The organizers struck while the iron was hot and the schedule and finance committee met in the afternoon and arranged plans for financing each school.

The schools now belonging to the association are the Royal, Central Grammar, Kaahumanu, Kauihoni, Training School, Punahoa Prep., and St. Louis, Kalihiwai, Mills Institute. Others have been invited to join.

Charles T. Flits, principal of Punahoa, is president of the new league; Vaughan McCaughey, vice-president, and R. S. Gault is secretary. Stanley Livingston and Paul Super are the other two members of the executive committee. Larimer will coach the Kaahumanu

School, Hand will coach the Central Grammar, Gault the Royal School, and coaches will be provided for the Kamehameha and training schools. St. Louis and the Punahoa do not need any. Kaahumanu has also joined, but also has no need of the appointment of a coach.

The first sport to be taken up by the association will be baseball, and the series will start next Friday, when the Kaahumanu and St. Louis hitch up. The balance of the schedule is now being arranged. Kaahumanu will take no part in the baseball, as it dismisses too late in the afternoon. The games will be played on the lower Punahoa campus. Boys' Field, Aala Park and Makiki Field. E. O. Hall & Son have offered a trophy cup, which will become the property of the school winning it this year.

There will be a meeting at the Kaahumanu School this afternoon at one o'clock and one at the Kauai School at ten in the forenoon.

The plans of the association thus far include swimming in September, when races will be arranged; soccer and basketball in the early winter; track after Christmas, and baseball during the late spring and summer.

Boys must be under eighteen to represent their school in any team. The league is formed from the sixth, seventh and eighth grades of the schools.

Owing to the lateness of the season, the grammar school track meet, as arranged in the triple track meet series, in which they, the boys' clubs and the Sunday schools were to figure, will not take place.

Some of the schools in the triangular league have already held their meet, and the boys want to get at baseball at once.

The Sunday schools will be the next to be organized.

NEW SCHEDULE FOR MILITARY PREPARED

Fort Ruger to Make Debut on Diamond Saturday With Fort Shafter.

McCollough is training out at the Fort Shafter gym which he has all to himself. The iron man did ten miles on the road Sunday morning and in the afternoon spent a couple of hours in the gymnasium, where he took it out of the punching bags and the pulleys. He took Kid Brown on for four or five rounds just in the way of a little recreation, and the Kid was a little of the worse for wear. Miller, who was relegated to the punching bag class a few weeks ago by Nelson at the skating ring, was practised on also.

"It Wahilani answers the bell in the fifteenth," said McCollough yesterday, "I will be the most surprised man in the house, as I feel fit to go on tonight. I have improved a whole lot since I boxed Wahilani last and if I don't win it won't be for lack of training."

Wahilani took a seven-mile jaunt on the road Sunday but spent most of his time at the punching bag at which he is a wonder. Young Gans and Jim Hono are boxing him a few rounds every day and are themselves getting ready for their respective fights next Saturday night.

Hono is a protege of Bill Huihalo who says he is in line for the middle-weight championship of the Islands. Limay Richards is taking on all the boys at the Marine barracks and is sounding into good shape.

TENNIS CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS FOR YEAR

The Beretania Tennis Club held its annual meeting last night and selected the following officers: A. C. Wall, president; E. H. Wodehouse, vice-president; W. B. Booth, treasurer; John Minervini, secretary; C. G. Buckley, captain.

It was decided to build another court and Buckley, Wall and Booth were appointed a committee to arrange matters. The tournament for the Wall cup will be the next event and as F. G. Gee and W. M. Warren, who are "legs" on it, are both away, there will necessarily be a new name on the cup.

The new schedule of the Military league, as rearranged to accommodate the Fort Ruger and Hospital Corps teams, is presented below. It will be noticed Barry's Beauts have been lined up just as the same as ever, and the grouch that arose over their disbarment at the opening of the season has evidently worn off. No one, however, has come forward to explain about the uniforms.

All the Sunday games in which the Cavalry figures will be played at Leilehua, and the others will be pulled off at the league grounds, as usual. The Fort Ruger team is an unknown quantity in the league and the fans are awaiting its debut on the diamond to see what kind of ball they are going to dispense. They will play their first game with the Fort Shasters, and will therefore cross bats first with the team that looks to be the strongest in the league. Next Saturday will see the commencement of the new series, and besides the road pounder-gunner game, the N. G. H. and the Marines will hitch up in the second spasm. On Sunday the Hospital Corps will travel out to Leilehua, and Barry's Beauts will commence their new season by crossing bats with the troopers.

The admission of the hospital corps splits the team representing the First Regiment of the N. G. H., as some of its players are Barry's old stretcher carriers. The new lineup has not been given out.

The schedule is as follows:

April 30—Fort Shafter vs. Fort Ruger; National Guard vs. Marines.

May 1—Hospital Corps vs. Cavalry.

May 7—National Guard vs. Fort Shafter; Marines vs. Hospital Corps.

May 8—Cavalry vs. Fort Ruger.

LET IN SOME LIGHT.

Repeated jury acquittals in liquor cases have pretty clearly demonstrated that the prosecution of blind pigs is a thankless business to say the least. It is apparently next to impossible to convince a jury that the liquor law has been violated, no matter how strong a case the prosecution may submit. Each acquittal gives the proprietors of other blind pigs that much more confidence and the work of the license inspector becomes correspondingly harder.

But blind pigs can not be allowed to flourish unmolested and it looks as though it were up to the license commissioners to try their hand. Apparently nothing short of the most stringent regulation in regard to the dispensing of spirituous liquor by wholesale houses will accomplish the desired end and now seems to be the time for the commissioners to put such regulations into effect.

In their recent decision to confine licenses to the fire limits the commissioners showed that they intend to keep a closer tab on the wholesale booze dispensaries. But there is another step which might well be taken and which would undoubtedly prove very discouraging to the blind pig keeper.

The license commissioners have practically plenary power and they can impose practically any conditions which they may see fit when they grant a license. Furthermore they may revoke a license at any time unless their regulations are lived up to.

Why would it not be well for the commissioners to make a regulation requiring each wholesale liquor house to submit monthly a list of all sales made during the month. Let this statement be full and complete and cover every transaction for the thirty days preceding its rendering. The report should be confidential and for the information of the board and inspector only.

This report could be placed in the hands of the license inspector who could readily ascertain what persons were getting more liquor than they could reasonably be expected to consume themselves. Where any great amount of liquor had been sent during the month to any unlicensed premises the inspector could then make a thorough investigation and ascertain to just what use it was being put.

With a series of monthly reports at hand, there would be little or no difficulty on the part of the inspector in ascertaining to a reasonable degree of certainty where the blind pigs are being operated.

There is no doubt but that a certain clique of wholesalers would howl at the regulation, and the supporters of the liquor ring would probably set up a hysterical shriek of un-Americanism. But the decent element of the community would certainly stand back of the commissioners. Those wholesalers who object to the methods of their confederates could doubtless be counted upon to support the commissioners for they have every reason to oppose the selling of liquor to blind pigs.

Under present conditions the decently conducted wholesale establishments suffer for their law-abiding spirit in that their less scrupulous fellows get a very profitable business from which they are cut off. It would only be fair to those wholesalers who have steadfastly refused to sell to blind pigs to furnish them some protection from those who are not so mindful of the law.

The lawless liquor dealer has had his way long enough. The license commissioners have tried in every way possible to put a stop to illicit booze dispensing and the time has now come when strenuous methods must be resorted to.

Whether Hawaii will ultimately vote for prohibition or not remains to be seen, but pending the settlement of that vital question it would be a very good plan to put the law-breaking wholesalers in a position where their shortcomings can be made public to the world. The license commission has no interest, officially, in the prohibition question; its only object is to enforce the law as it now stands so that it will be for the greatest benefit to the greatest number of persons.

It is a comparatively simple matter to keep tab on the retail saloons, but the wholesaler is in a position where he can at least encourage violations of the law with impunity, even though he does not actually commit an overt act.

With a new regulation in force requiring the wholesalers to make full returns of their monthly sales, and with the number of wholesale licensees on this island reduced to ten or less, the license commissioners would be in a position to keep close tab on the sale of liquor and the present disgraceful state of affairs would pretty soon cease to exist.

THE EXPOSURE OF CORRUPTION.

One chapter in the investigation of legislative corruption in New York State is closed with the resignation of Senator Conger, which last week followed the plain condemnation of Alldis by the New York Senate, as already reported, says The Outlook. Mr. Conger and his friends hold that he did a brave and public-spirited thing in giving to the New York Evening Post the facts relating to this disgraceful case of bribery; and it certainly should be recognized generally that the Evening Post has never done a more definite and valuable public service than in its thorough and convincing exposition of the facts, and its persistence in pressing home the subject until action was absolutely unavoidable. It is still to some extent an open question whether the crime committed was more in the nature of extortion and blackmail, as Mr. Conger declares, or more in the nature of an attempt by the bridge companies to secure unfair advantage, which in the end would come out of the pockets of local taxpayers. Probably there is some truth in both theories; under all the circumstances the resignation of Mr. Conger seems to make direct action against him undesirable. It does not, however, make it undesirable to set on foot a complete investigation of the corrupt state of affairs in the New York legislature, of which this instance is clearly only a single example which almost by accident has been forced into the light. Such an investigation has been urgently recommended by Governor Hughes, and the legislature should not shrink from it. As to the method of investigation, any plan which should secure Governor Hughes's approval would be acceptable to the people of the State.

In the published reports of the trade of Yokohama for the year 1909 it is noted that through that port Hawaii bought $94,189 yen's worth of goods and sold $385 yen's worth, a healthy balance of trade in favor of the Japanese port. Practically a quarter of the amount spent by the Islands for Japanese goods through Yokohama was for soy. Sake also figured largely in the total of imports.

In the tragic death of Lieut. Albert Hatfield of the Thirtieth Infantry, the army loses one of its most promising young officers and one whom the country all could spare. The son of a distinguished soldier, Hatfield had the traditions of the American army bred in the bone and was an enthusiastic as well as a courageous soldier. Had he lived he would without doubt have distinguished himself in the service of his country.

Miss Mamie Adams, whom told she had been selected to appear in the American production of Rostand's drama, The Chautelle, absolutely refused to consider any other part than that of the rooster. Just another case of the woman wanting to wear the pants, that's all.

Why should Los Angeles kidnap a little thing like a 100-mile-a-second April day? And on the same date the middle West freight belt was sliced by the longest April snow storm in record! The California fruit goads one into despair over the losses.

The displacement of the Republic has proved the way to a new industry, thousands and hundreds of them are now engaged in the manufacturing of the various air drying machines. Naturally, what does not go well goes wrong.

The latest issue of the Garden Commercial contains a column of 1000 words on the new seed sowing. It is a very good article and is especially interesting if the success of the bulb and seed business is concerned.

The Los Angeles man who had his mouth cut in two by a self-inflicted cut by the knife of a calf would make a great cult for the amateur craft of a local twilight organist.

At the Theaters

THE WOLF.

The Wolf, the new play in which the McKee company opened at the Hawaiian Opera House last night, is melodrama pure and simple, but it is good melodrama. It is pretty hard to find a more pleasing form of dramatic offering than a good melodrama well produced, and the McKee production is good in every respect.

The house was not as good last night as it should have been, considering the excellence of the offering, but the audience was an enthusiastic one and there were repeated curtain calls. Furthermore, the usual rustling and scraping of the "smokers," who generally spoil the final curtain by their anxiety to get out were not evident by their absence. There was not a move to leave until the last curtain had been rung down, and then the audience waited to give a curtain call before it started to move.

All the old friends are there. There is the beautiful and innocent maiden, the honest but gullible old father, the cigarette-smoking villain and the generous and trusty friend. Only the homely soubrette is missing to make the melodramatic roll complete.

But all of the characters are real people. They talk and move and act as rational mortals, or as rational mortals might do were they placed in the same position. The lines are not stiff, and in some places they are very beautiful.

The cast is small, but the parts have been judiciously allotted.

Unfortunately the lines are such that Laura Hudson is forced to wear a blonde wig. Any such arrangement as this is little short of criminal, and the lines might well be cut so as to eliminate that painful necessity. Miss Hudson has some beautiful lines in "Hilda McTavish," and she handles the part beautifully, but the wig disfigures her face so completely that it loses all of its personality. When she speaks the audience forgets the dissatisfaction which the wig causes, but it is impossible to keep from wishing that the wig were at the bottom of the harbor.

But even the wig can not destroy Miss Hudson's delightful personality, and she handles her role in a manner calculated to bring tears to the eyes of the even mildly sentimental.

Griffith Wray, as "George Huntley," gives a delightful performance. He is the trusty friend, who chucks up his job and goes sailing away, hale and hearty, in a birchbark canoe rather than see the villain carry off the beautiful maiden. His comedy is delicious.

The settings, which are the work of Tom Sharp, are exceptionally fine. In particular is the last act well mounted. This scene represents a mountain waterfall in the Canadian woods. Every detail is carried out with great care, even the running water rushing along after the customary manner of mountain streams and not trickling down after the usual fashion of stage rivers.

The cast follows:

Jules Raubien (a young French-Canadian) ..... George Webb

Andrews McTavish (a Scotch settler) ..... Louis Morrison

Hilda McTavish (his daughter) ..... Laura Hudson

Baptiste Le Grande (a Hudson Bay trader and Northwestern Nomad) ..... James Dillon

Wm. McDonald (an American engineer) ..... Ivan Miller

George Huntley (his assistant) ..... Griffith Wray

Francisco for examination. The report of the examining board, just received at the war department, shows that Lieutenant Titus failed to meet the legal requirements of an army chaplain.

Lieutenant Titus is a medal of honor man. While serving as musician in the Fourteenth United States Infantry he took part in the battle of Peking in April, 1900, and was the first man to scale the walls of the Chinese city. For his gallantry on that occasion President McKinley appointed him a cadet at the military academy. On graduating in June, 1905, he was appointed second lieutenant in the Fourteenth Infantry. He has served with that regiment to date, most of the time in the Philippines, but more recently at Fort William Henry Harrison, Montana.

Notwithstanding his record as a fighting soldier, he preferred evangelistic work, and it was to keep him in the service that he was given an opportunity to qualify as a chaplain.

Carter Must Yield Riches.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—It is rumored in naval circles here that a battleship fleet for the Pacific is to be built up and maintained. No battleship or warship is to be ordered out of commission for an indefinite period, it is reported.

A Pacific Fleet.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—The government has a double standard of debts. In other words, there must be at the soonest possible date a battleship fleet in the Pacific as well as in the Atlantic. No battleship or other warship for an indefinite period will be ordered out of commission. The sending of a battleship contingent to the Pacific Coast will not depend on the completion of the canal, as heretofore announced. The dispatch of some of the battleships to the Pacific Coast is contingent only on the attainment of sufficient men and officers and the navy department is working in that direction.

The Tennessee and South Dakota are going to Argentina, where they are ordered for the Argentine celebration.

The government has not decided to send the battleships of the Atlantic fleet to the Orient in 1912.

The foregoing statements are derived from the highest possible source. The most important consideration now before the government is the movement of the Atlantic fleet this summer. One of the officers concerned made this comment today:

"It would be necessary to send the fleet to the East, the starting place would be obviously in the Mediterranean and the fleet has been ordered to that direction."

The officials of the navy and state departments do not mention, at least officially, the reason why there is any specific reason for ordering the fleet to the Mediterranean except for a practice cruise.

Paymaster's Troubles.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 15.—Passed Assistant Paymaster Arthur S. Brown, U. S. N., who is very well known in this city, where he has some very weird friends, is threatened with a court-martial because his accounts have been found to be in an inaccurate condition. He wants to settle his account by transferring his resignation. His records have apparently been Washington authorities are considering whether or not to accept the resignation. Not long ago Brown was recalled to the capital by General E. L. Vining, American writer. He was then ordered to the paymaster's office and told to account for the loss of $478,372 which he had received $478,372 was paid in a previous bank in New York, New Jersey, Illinois and Oregon subject to the inspection of the present Auditor.

On the $478,372 the government is to have a claim against Carter for the amount of $478,372 which he had received $478,372 was paid in a previous bank in New York, New Jersey, Illinois and Oregon subject to the inspection of the present Auditor.

Fail to Pass Examination.

San Francisco, April 15.—Passed Assistant Paymaster Arthur S. Brown, U. S. N., who is very well known in this city, where he has some very weird friends, is threatened with a court-martial because his accounts have been found to be in an inaccurate condition. He wants to settle his account by transferring his resignation.

Paymaster's Troubles.

Connections are made to the government, on the ground that it was either an original investment from the profits, or a substitute.

The circuit court of appeals rendered judgment against L. D. Carter for $12,916 and against L. S. Carter for $18,204. From these features of the judgment the Carters took an appeal to the Supreme Court.

In announcing the opinion of the court, Justice Larson said Webster, Carter's father-in-law, was a "screen" for Carter.

Millionaire in Ranks.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—Fort Myer, near this city, is said to be unique among the army posts in the possession of an enlisted man who is a millionaire. Not only is he a millionaire, but he is also a favorite in Washington society, and this somewhat to the consternation of the officers of the fort, who themselves, sometimes through duty but more often inclination, are frequently in attendance on the very events at which the rich enlisted man finds himself.

Corp. Albert Myer, Jr., of the signal corps is this anomaly—a millionaire soldier. His home is in Boston, and he is a grandson of Brig.-Gen. Albert Myer, who served in the Civil War and after whom Fort Myer is named.

Corporal Myer decided upon a military career and determined to seek the top by way of the bottom. Therefore he enlisted.

With the day's duty done and night at hand, Corporal Myer, chrysanthemums in hand, uses his enlisted man's uniform, dons evening clothes, enters his automobile, which has arrived for him from his city garage, and, armed with a pass, descends upon social Washington.

Already Corporal Myer has taken his examination for a lieutenant, and greatly, it is said, to the relief of the officers at the post, passed handsomely.

Soon they may be able to recognize him socially without feeling that their dignity and all that is due their rank are compromised.

A SLY DIG.

"Miss Eleanor Robson, or, rather, Mrs. August Belmont," said a dramatic critic of New York, "has a very pretty wit. Miss Robson once attended a first night at a Broadway theater. The leading woman in the new play was a poor actress, rather a ranter. At the end of the second act, however, Miss Robson's party went back to offer its congratulations.

"The leading woman was found in her dressing-room in a profuse perspiration. As she mopped her face, Miss Robson couldn't resist saying:

"How well your skin acts!"

PINK PILLS HELPED FROM THE FIRST

*Parents of Girls Approaching
Womanhood Should Consider the Treatment Which Re stored This California
Woman to Health.*

When the young girl develops into womanhood there is always the danger of a general breakdown unless the blood is pure and red. This is especially true if she overexercises or overworks.

It is a danger, however, that can be easily avoided if the warning symptoms of impure blood are promptly heedful. Pallor, loss of spirits, depression, lack of ambition and shortness of breath are some of these symptoms which can not be mistaken. To ensure healthful development steps must be taken at once to build up the blood, whenever these symptoms are present. The experience of hundreds of women has proved that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the best medicine for this purpose. They are a certain blood builder and strengthen and give health to the entire body.

Mrs. W. M. Lyon, of 719 Flume street, Chico, Cal., tells of her cure by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as she hopes that other suffering women will be led by her statement to give this remedy a trial. "When I was in my seventeenth year," she says, "I began to suffer from weakness common to my sex. I had never been very strong and now seemed to break down completely. I had headaches every day. My back ached a great deal. I was pale and thin and didn't have ambition to do anything. I would lie around most of the time."

"My home was in Orland and I was treated by a doctor for about two months. He did not help me at all and I gave up his treatment to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They helped me from the first and a few boxes entirely cured me. I have been well ever since."

Parents of girls who go into decline as they reach the period of development should not neglect the first warning symptoms for the whole future health of the child depends upon the way in which she passes this critical time. Nature needs help in most cases and the tone treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is the most efficient that can be given.

If you desire full information about this treatment, write for a copy of our free booklet, "Plain Talk to Women."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

DECK OF CHINA LOOKED LIKE GARAGE

When the Pacific Mail steamship China arrived from San Francisco yesterday morning and dropped at the today morning and arrived at the wharf for after Starboard Channel, deck looked like a garage. The fire deck timbers were lined up alongside the rail. The vessel brought 110 tons of cargo for this port. During the day she took on a lot of coal and departed for Yokohama and coast ports at five o'clock in the afternoon.

Among the few passengers for Honolulu were Mr. and Mrs. E. Rutherford Bode. The former was an expert amateur of St. Andrews' Cathedral. He was invited in a previous occasion after his Manoa house a few months before his departure for the mainland a couple of years ago. Among those leaving for the Orient were Mrs. S. D. Hesby, who is in charge of the Kainani Home. She is making an extended vacation tour of the Far East. F. C. Read, the new chief steward of the China, is making his first trip on the liner.

Russians as Stevedores.

Much of the coal turned into the bunkers of the steamer's cabin yesterday was handled by Russian stevedores. They worked mainly on the chores and did fine work. They are husky and almost overdo what is required of them. Some of the shovels threw coal 20 to ten feet and kept up the performance almost throughout the day. It was stated by one of the men in charge of stevedoring that Hawaiians are always given the preference for jobs as stevedores, but where there is a lack of laborers the Russians are given chances to earn. With the Wilhelmina, the Glenfield and other freighters in port few Hawaiians were handy for working the China, and Russians were employed to fill out.

Crowd Wants to Leave.

About ninety people are anxious to leave on the Canadian-Australian steamship Makara for Victoria and Vancouver today, but the vessel has accommodations from here for only about fifteen cabin passengers. The Makara is one of the most popular of the new boats on the C. A. run. According to wireless reports the Makara will be off port about eight o'clock this morning from Sydney, via Sava, and will probably leave for British Columbia this afternoon.

Legan on the Way.

Captain Legan, depot quartermaster, has been advised that the transport Legan sailed from Nagasaki on April 21 for Nagoya and San Francisco. The steamer will arrive here about May 4 or 5. The Legan carries coal this trip, so regular organization being on board. Among the passengers to sail on the Legan from this port are Captain Custer, commanding quartermaster, who has been ordered to Fort McDowell in connection with army construction work.

Repairs to the Dix.

The Heffernan Drydock Company of Tacoma is the lowest bidder at $16,000 for cutting air ports in the United States Army transport Dix and for furnishing and installing a number of new winches. The alterations are to be made as soon after the Dix arrives at the Sound as possible. The Dix also sustained some damage during the recent storm which she encountered on the way from Milne to Honolulu and there may be additional expenses attached to these items.

Makara's Hull Examined.

VICTORIA, B. C., April 15.— There were many curious onlookers at Vancouver the other day, when Diver Moore

INSIDE AND OUT.

Speaker Carlson, who resides in Ward's Bay, said yesterday he is sending his wife and son to the mainland.

"After all, you know there is no better man and woman than the white men have their work to do here."

"It is the woman's duty to provide for the home and the family," he said.

LOCAL BREVIETIES.

The case of Luis Salgado, charged with vagrancy, was not pressed in the circuit court yesterday.

St. Andrew's girls and boys will meet today at three o'clock at the parish house on Emma street.

On motion Judge Whitney yesterday allowed the discontinuance of the suit of Fred Kiley against Jack Sealy.

The Hon. H. M. Kanchee, "the man bound of Honolulu," was host yesterday at a luncheon given at his Honolulu residence. The luncheon was a great success and was highly enjoyed by those who were fortunate enough to be present.

After sitting only three minutes, Judge Cooper's jury yesterday returned a verdict of not guilty in the case of Gracida Perez, a Weston black woman who was accused of selling liquor without a license. Leon Straus defended the woman.

The Main Improvement Club will hold a meeting this evening at eight o'clock at the home of Judge Henry H. Cooper, Manoa. Plans are to be held for an aggressive and extensive campaign for the improvement of the most beautiful and historic valley of these Islands.

PERSONALS.

Mrs. Tom Sharp is doing well after an operation at the Queen's Hospital. John G. Woolley, the prohibition leader, will arrive here on the Manchuria, due May 2.

U. S. Commissioner Farnoux of Hilo is in town to meet Mrs. Farnoux and her sister who return from Australia on the Makura today.

Mrs. William H. Smith, wife of one of Hilo's prominent attorneys, is a passenger on the Wilhelmina, en route to the coast. She is accompanied by Mrs. E. J. Weight of Papakolea.

James Wilder, artist, painter, engraver and the like of my congenial friends, may return today from the South Seas on the Canadian-Australian steamer p. Murray. He is booked to leave over the mainland tomorrow.

FORESTERS CELEBRATE
17TH ANNIVERSARY

Court Camoos No. 810, Ancient Order of Foresters, celebrated the seventeenth anniversary of its institution with a dinner in San Antonio hall yesterday evening. The table in the lobby hall was decorated with ferns and the menu consisted of all the delicacies usually found at a banqueting. After the inner man had been satisfied, the toastsmaster, P. C. R. E. Eckhardt introduced the speakers in the following order: A. V. Peters, P. C. R., organizer of the Court; Cesario Medeiros, junior P. C. R.; G. F. Afonso, P. C. R. or Court Mannia Kea of Hilo, delegate to the High Court Convention from Court Mauna Kea; A. K. Verra, P. C. R., delegate to the High Court Convention from Court Camoos; A. D. Castro, P. C. R.; M. A. Silva, P. C. R.; Josephine Silva and M. J. Costa.

Court Camoos has a membership of two hundred and twelve nearly all young men. It has excessed funds of $6000 and like other fraternal orders, pays weekly benefits and funeral benefits. Besides this it provides its members with medical attendance and medicines in case of sickness, and its benevolent fund is often used when members require more assistance than the regular weekly benefits. The following are the officers for the present term: Lou S. A. Perry, deputy high ranger; Cesar Medeiros, junior post chief ranger; John B. da Ponte, chief ranger; N. K. Hooper, chief ranger; Dr. H. V. Murray, Court physician; H. Pereira, financial secretary; M. J. Borges, recording secretary; G. F. Reis, senior woodworker; G. A. Goncalves, senior beadle; A. P. Lino, junior beadle.

FAREWELL DINNER TO JOHANSON

A dinner was given in the Alexander Young Hotel private dining room last week by the A. B. Johanson Company, Limited, in honor of A. B. Johanson, who is about to leave for Europe. The invitations were sent out by the three partners of the firm, A. B. Johanson, John Walker and John Onderdijk, the diners, made from the three named, being Dr. George Herkert, Harry Gray, Henry Davis, Clarence White, George F. Henshaw, F. C. Lowrey, O. Smith, A. Elton, A. Johnson, James Lucas, Charles Lages, J. K. Richardson, R. G. Moore, E. C. Peters, Marston Campbell and H. F. Bendham.

An elaborate meal was served at a large round table which was brilliantly decorated, and Kuni's quietness abated for the guests. Doctor Herkert was the toastmaster, and made a most entertaining and witty speech of the toast. Speeches were made by most of those present, during the evening, with many good wishes for the departing host, who has lived in Honolulu for many years. Late in the evening it was discovered that the day was John Onderdijk's birthday anniversary, and he came in for congratulations and good wishes.

Mr. Johanson leaves tomorrow for the Coast, en route for Sweden, with his family, the trip being undertaken for Mrs. Johanson's health.

ROBERT STEVENSON'S ISLAND LIFE

SAN FRANCISCO, April 18.—In a lecture which interested a large audience at the Century Club on Thursday evening, Mrs. Lloyd Osborne told of the intimate life of Robert Louis Stevenson from the time the author left England until his death in Samoa.

How Stevenson aided the natives of the island where, for the sake of his health, he would have been exposed to the simplest joys and sorrows and all the vicissitudes of an independent life, were related by Mrs. Osborne. In a discussion of the author's life in Samoa, she said that Stevenson's health was not good, and that he had to give up his work as a teacher because of the heat.

A flatironed jacket, a blue bowler hat, a long coat, a pipe, a pocket watch and a book were shown as belonging to Stevenson.

He was a tall, thin man, with a very large head, and a very small body, and he was fond of smoking. He was fond of reading, and he was fond of writing, and he was fond of traveling, and he was fond of his wife, and he was fond of his children, and he was fond of his books, and he was fond of his pipe, and he was fond of his bowler hat, and he was fond of his jacket, and he was fond of his coat, and he was fond of his pocket watch, and he was fond of his book.

He was a very good man, and he was a very good father, and he was a very good husband, and he was a very good son, and he was a very good brother, and he was a very good friend, and he was a very good neighbor, and he was a very good citizen, and he was a very good man.

Washington Officialdom Shows Much Interest in Status of Cabinet.

By Ernest G. Walker.

(Mail Special to The Advertiser)
WASHINGTON, April 10.—There is much interest in Washington as to whether Attorney-General Wickersham is to be the President's chief spokesman in the cabinet. He has been selecting the attorney-general of late for considerable platform work. On legislative questions Mr. Wickersham has been expounding before audiences at intervals for some weeks and apparently is to do quite a bit more work in that line.

Meanwhile all the other cabinet officials have practically dropped out of the public platform work. Secretary of War Dickinson is a very effective public speaker. The President designated him for certain tasks in the early part of the administration but of late Mr. Dickinson is making almost no speeches at all and none that have a bearing upon the administration's essential policies. Of course the fact that Mr. Dickinson is a Democrat militates against his being an effective advocate upon the platform of President Taft's measures. He is naturally supposed to be in accord with the President's policies, but the fact that he is a Democrat and has even been considered in recent months as a Democratic possibility for United States senator from Tennessee would seem to put a bar upon his speaking politically for the President.

Secretary of the Treasury MacVeagh is a very capable platform man. He holds the attention of an audience splendidly with scholarly and convincing utterances. But the topic of the hour which Mr. MacVeagh would most likely discuss, because of his position as head of the treasury, is the tariff. There again, it happens that the man in question is a Democrat. The tariff is a very gingerly subject any way and the strong political dislike of the Republican leaders for Mr. MacVeagh because of his Democracy does not make it feasible for him to appear before audiences attempting to justify the law. In fact he made a tariff speech before a Boston club once some months ago that many friends of the administration did not like and since then he has confined himself largely to his official duties without going abroad speechmaking.

The President, of course, has been doing the best of the talk speaking for himself. During the last Roosevelt administration he was the chief spokesman of the anti-tariff and保護主義 and a very extensive training in that particular line of effort. On the whole he has talked much more than did Roosevelt, because he has traveled much more and has been addressing more public gatherings. Because of his own activity there has been less talk from other spokesmen in the cabinet. Some of his closest friends, however, have been advising him to speak less frequently and to try out the ideas he has in mind through some column in a newspaper. There are indications that he will do this after he is completed his tour in the western part. He has announced that he intends to remain pretty close at Beverly during the summer and stay in town. Then the regular members of the office are in effect that a President shall not participate in campaign stumpings.

On the other hand, in recent weeks a practice has grown up of sending out or some members of the cabinet and to make political speeches. As Secretary Dickinson and MacVeagh are continually giving speeches to the public, the former having two of the leading western cities as his stations, it seems probable that round-trip to round out efforts in the East will be done by Attorney-General Wickersham.

Although so young, he was quite
