Bruner Made Strong Plea For Protection Of Coffee Industry

(Special Bulletin Wireless)

Hilo, Hawaii, May 20.—The Sunday spent on the Kona side of Hawaii by the Congressional party was marked by a strong plea made by W. W. Bruner for the protection of the coffee industry. Mr. Bruner's speech was made after the Congressmen had driven through miles of small coffee plantations and was apparently received with much favor.

The party arrived at Napoosoo early Sunday morning. They first made the trip to Cook's monument. Then twenty-six rigs took them overland on the thirty mile drive through the coffee district toward Kailua.

A splendid "haole" feast was served at Holoaloa about noon. Here W. W. Bruner addressed the party, making a very strong and impressive argument for the protection of coffee.

Continuing from Holoaloa the guests were entertained at the Kailua Palace late in the afternoon by Delegate Kuhio.

Since leaving Maui the Congressmen have been loud in their praise of the officers of the ship.

Arrive At Hilo

(Special Bulletin Wireless)

Hilo, Hawaii, May 20.—The Congressional party arrived at Laysan early this morning after spending the Sunday very pleasantly on the Kona side of the island.

Senator Piles, Gen. Kiefer, Congressmen Lilley, McGavin and Webb and Correspondent Lowrey cut out the Kona trip and came direct to Hilo on board the steamer Mexican.

Arriving at Laysan, ten of the party went to Hilo overland and the remainder returned to the Claudine and continued to port. Secretary Atkinson telephoned to the local committee that he did not like the rigs provided for the drive in to Hilo. There were no autos or big talleys.

The Value Of Confidence

In no line of business is the buyer's confidence of more importance than in the selling of clothing.

The dealer who attempts to convince the buyer that his goods are the best, and that his place is the place where the best could be obtained, must see that the facts conform to his statements, and that his goods are in every way up to the standard. He had better never try to sell to a man than to mislead him or to exaggerate; for the customer will quickly discover such practice of misrepresenting merchandise.

There is never danger of a protest and always a certainty of full value received when a coat or suit is recognized as

NEBRASKAN BREAKS FREIGHT RECORD

Cargo Arrives From New York In 37 Days

A wireless message from Kahului was received this morning announcing the arrival at Kahului of the American-Hawaiian steamship Nebraska from Salina Cruz. She is due to arrive here tomorrow morning.

The Nebraska is the first vessel to come here from Salina Cruz direct, and her coming marks a new era in the shipping history of the Islands, as the freight she brings will break all records for speedy transit between New York and this port. Several loads of freight have already arrived here which were brought from New York by the American-Hawaiian Co.'s Tehuantepec route, but heretofore they have been taken north to San Francisco and the Sound ports before arriving here.

The Nebraska has been placed on the regular run between Salina Cruz and the Islands direct, which she will continue to hold, and this is her first trip. The freight she brings has been only 37 days on the way from New York, which is faster, at least so it is claimed by the representatives of the American-Hawaiian line, than it has ever been done by the railroads. Any reduction in the time in which freight can be shipped from the East to the Islands is necessarily of great importance to the local merchants, and it is believed that the record can be further reduced to 35 days.

The Nebraska made the trip from the Isthmus to Kahului in twelve days. She brings about 2000 tons of general merchandise for Honolulu.

NO PROSPECT OF ALAWA'S SPEEDY OPENING

The opening up of the Alawa lands appears still to be off in the distant future. Land Commissioner Pratt is waiting for a road which will give access to the tract, and Superintendent of Public Works Holloway is waiting for the three property owners whose land the proposed road will cross to reply to his offer to compromise.

The agent for the Rooke property says that he must write to England to get the authority of his principals. One of the Alawa property owners is in Canada and no reply has been received from him. Ballou, the other owner affected, has made no reply to the compromise offer. It will probably be necessary for condemnation proceedings to be brought. This will take considerable time, even when started, and there is no prospect of the speedy opening of the tract.

NEW STEAMSHIP MISSOURI FOR LOCAL RUN

The local agents of the American-Hawaiian line have today received a cablegram from the Coast advising them that the steamer Missouri left the Sound this morning for Honolulu with a cargo of about 11,000 tons. The Missouri is one of the company's new boats, and this will be the first time that she has been seen in Honolulu. She was bought at the same time as the Maine, which is to enter the local passenger service under the new name of the Virginian. The Missouri is a cargo boat and will heretofore be placed on the regular run between San Francisco, the Sound ports and the Islands.

A wireless message was received this afternoon from Kahului stating that the Nebraska would not arrive at this port tomorrow, as was expected, but on Wednesday.

BALL OF FIRE FELL IN SEA

(Special Bulletin Wireless)

Hilo, Hawaii, May 20.—When the steamer Claudine with the Congressional party on board was off Mahukona at 12:20 this morning, the ship appeared to be almost struck by a meteor which fell into the sea something like three hundred yards in front of the vessel.

The officers of the ship were almost blinded by the dazzling light and an explosion was heard, presumably caused by the meteor striking the water.

Territorial Senator Palmer Woods heard the explosion, thought comparatively few on board knew of the incident, the larger portion having turned in early to prepare for the first day in Hilo.

McSWANSON.

ROAD OWNERS

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., May 20.—The street-car situation is not changing. District Attorney Langdon is preparing to force a surrender of the Geary street line to the city on account of the failure of the corporation owning the franchise to operate the road.

SCHMITZ IS ON TRIAL

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., May 20.—Mayor Schmitz appeared in court today. His trial was continued till tomorrow, to allow the prosecution to prepare affidavits opposing the motion for change of venue.

ONE MADE TWO

Kahawala Kane was this morning granted a decree of divorce from his wife Mary E. Kahawala Kane, on the ground of desertion. He alleged that she was held in Honolulu in '96 during the quarantine, and while so kept away from him, her affections were alienated by another man.

SUGAR

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., May 18.—BEETS: 88 analysis, 9c. 11-14d. Parity, 4.09 cents. Previous quotation, 9c. 10-12d.

Judge Robinson this morning approved the final accounts of J. F. Morte, executor of the will of Francisco Fernandez Morte; L. R. Madeiros, executor of the will of Manuel Silva, and Julia Elizabeth Hughes, executrix of the will of Matilda Hughes.

In the matter of J. W. Leubart vs. Amoy Silva et al., Judge Robinson today overruled the demurrer of the defendant, Hawaii Land Co., Ltd., and gave ten days to answer.

LOCH GARVE LIBEL

Testimony is being taken this afternoon before United States Commissioner Frank Hatch in the matter of the libel of the Loch Garve company against the ship Looe. There are two libels against this ship, the second one being brought by Sprackell & Co.

Captain Jones of the Manning is on the stand. The Manning was largely instrumental in pulling the Loch Garve off the reef.

LAWYERS STILL TALK

Attorney Lightfoot had the floor this morning in the Along case and talked all morning. This afternoon J. J. Dunne is replying to the arguments of the attorneys for the complainant. It is possible that the hearing of the arguments will be concluded today, and the matter will probably be taken under advisement by Judge Robinson.

The case of C. W. Booth vs. J. H. Schneck, an ejectment suit, is being tried today before a jury in Judge Lindsay's court.

Snark Arrives Safe Off Port and Goes On To Pearl Harbor

The famous ketch Snark, in which Jack London, the well known writer, intends to circumnavigate the globe, arrived off port this morning with all well on board, 27 days out from San Francisco. She was sighted quite early, and soon arrived off the harbor, where she was boarded by the custom house, quarantine and immigration officials. After these officers had completed their inspections and found everything in good order, London chartered the launch Waterswitch to tow him to Pearl Harbor, and started immediately for that place without entering the harbor at all, much to the disappointment of the waterfronters who were waiting to see him and his crew.

"The first thing that London said when we went on board was that he wanted to go right on to Pearl Harbor," said Customs Inspector Farner, who was among those who boarded the vessel. "It seems rather strange that he did not want to come into Honolulu first to get inspections, but he was quite set on going to Pearl Harbor right away. Everything was all right on board, and as he has a yachting license he did not have to make the regular entry."

"London did not say much to us about his voyage. He said that he had had a pleasant trip, but that the weather had been so calm that the Snark had not been able to make much speed. This accounted for the slowness of the trip."

"There were on board the vessel six persons in all, namely London himself, Mrs. London, Captain James, two other men and a Japanese. All were in good health and spirits."

"As soon as we were through with our work London chartered the Waterswitch, in which I had come, and I went back in the doctor's launch. The Snark appeared to tow very easily. She is a nice looking boat, and did not show any signs of her long voyage."

"The whole trip was entirely uneventful," said London when he was seen by a Bulletin representative at Pearl Harbor this forenoon, just after the Snark had docked. "We stood South in the hope of catching the trades until we had reached the 19th degree. There we picked up flying fish and got some wind. We sighted Maui last Friday night and lay off Koko Head all day yesterday."

Jail Is Opened For Hummel

NEW YORK, N. Y., May 20.—Abe Hummel, the well-known New York attorney convicted of irregular practice, began service today of his sentence to one year in the penitentiary.

Life's Biggest Battle

Not when you are well and strong is the struggle hardest. Then you enjoy the fight, reveling in your strength. But any day an accident may render you helpless for months. During those months you will not be earning a cent; yet your family must live. THERE comes the rub. Everything is smooth, however, if you have a policy in the Standard Life and Accident Insurance Co. That pays the bills.

"TWO WAYS OF LOOKING AT IT."

Both are wrong; about fourteen inches is the average distance at which perfect eyes read most easily. Holding book or paper differently is apt to mean eye-strain; may mean a defect of focus or weak muscles; may mean grave harm later on. GETS CHRISTIANITY; PROSECUTES WIFE

Complaisant Husband's Sudden Virtuous Indignation

Kaimann has contracted a spirit of Christianity and a desire to prosecute his wife, Keawe Kama Kaimann, on whose earnings of prostitution he has been living, for fornication. These harmonious facts were brought out at the hearing before the United States Commissioner this morning.

John A. Rothwell has been living with the woman, and it appears he has been unwittingly supporting the complaisant husband. But something must have happened to anger the complaisant one, and he went to the United States authorities and complained of Rothwell and the woman. Both appeared in court this morning. The husband, who says he has become converted and now is filled with the spirit of Christianity, was the witness against the couple. He testified that he knew for months that his wife and Rothwell were living together, that he often visited the house at night and saw the two together.

The woman testified that her husband has not done a stroke of work for three months, but has been content to live off her earnings. Rothwell conducted his own defense and that of the woman. In the end Commissioner Hatch bound Rothwell and the woman over, under nominal bond, to await the action of the Grand Jury. But when the Grand Jury acts it is his duty to bring in a true bill against Kaimann as it is against the wife and Rothwell. The court and all the officers were very much of the opinion that the one who should be prosecuted is the husband, whose suddenly acquired virtue compels him to peach on his wife and the man who has been paying his board. United States District Attorney Brockens states that he will bring the matter to the attention of the Grand Jury.

There will be nothing but fun at the Orpheum tonight when the Elford company will present the farce comedy "Hello Bill." The fun is fast and furious and the manager of the company guarantees every one attending an evening of hearty laughter. George Hernandez will have the title role and his endeavors to explain his experience as a warrior are said to be ludicrous in the extreme. Specialties will be given by Miss Luce, Osborne and La Vigne in new illustrated songs. The Osborne children will hold a reception at the Saturday matinee.

MACKENZIE GORDON

Tickets are now on sale at Wall, Nichols Co. for the Mackenzie Gordon song recital, which takes place at the Opera House next Thursday evening. No one who enjoys good music should miss this concert as it is one of the few real good things that has come to Honolulu.

Mr. Gordon recently made a tour up and down the Pacific Coast. Everywhere he was received most enthusiastically. The following notice of one of his recitals is taken from the Oakland Enquirer:

Mackenzie Gordon is one of those tenors of whom people in this part of the country occasionally dream, but who are seldom heard. His singing aroused enthusiasm such as has not been seen in Oakland in many a day. And he seemed to enjoy it, too, for he sang one song after another, as if to show appreciation of his hearty reception.

Voice, art and temperament such as his are rarely the endowment of one singer in such generous measure as they are his. It mattered little what he sang, all were so beautifully done that the hearer was carried away by the art of it. Those who were not present last evening missed hearing an artist of the first caliber at his best. It was a musical treat only too seldom encountered here.

MILLIONAIRE'S WORK

Moritz Thomsen, president of the Centennial Mills; W. D. Hoffus, president of W. F. D. Hoffus & Co., and Captain J. S. Gibson, general manager of the Washington Stevedoring Company, the first two millionaires and the third a very wealthy man, and three officers of the German steamship Tolosan loaded 3288 sacks of flour aboard the vessel at the Centennial Mills, breaking all Puget Sound records for quick dispatch of cargo. The work was done in ninety-five minutes.

Because of the longshoremen's strike the German steamship could not get men to load the boat, and the millionaire president of the milling company volunteered to do the work himself if necessary to break the strike and get the steamship out on time. Hoffus is a stockholder in the mill company and volunteered his services. Captain Gibson is at the head of the company that usually does the mill's loading and took part. Captain Jepson and two mates on the Tolosan did the rest of the work.

THREW AT CAT AND KILLED HIS WIFE

Nishida was chopping up some meat with a fish knife when a hungry cat came meowing around. He threw the knife at the cat, but missed it and killed his wife.

That is the story Nishida told. The coroner's jury thought it pretty fishy and charged him with murder.

The homicide occurred at North Kohala on May 19. The victim was Tawahara Tatu, a Japanese woman who was living with Nishida as his wife. The findings of the coroner's jury were received by High Sheriff Henry this morning. The government physician who examined the woman after her death testified that the wound was in the back between the neck and shoulder and was about three inches long and two inches wide. The knife had even cut the bones of the vertebra column and severed the spinal cord—a pretty good blow for a knife thrown at a cat.

The coroner's jury reported that in its belief the woman came to her death by a knife wound in the neck inflicted by the hand of Nishida, who had lived with her in the relation of husband.

ANOTHER VESSEL MAY REPLACE THE ALAMEDA

It is rumored that the trips of the Alameda are numbered. According to advices she brings her own death warrant.

It is given out that in the near future there is to be a meeting of the stockholders of the Oceanic Steamship Co., and there are liable to be a great many changes made. One of the proposed changes is that the Alameda will be taken off the Honolulu run and another vessel put on in her place.

John B. Sprague & company, the owners of the bonds of the company, is reported, are about to take over the whole line of steamers, and in that case, there is liable to be a complete reorganization of the line.

W. G. Irwin makes the following statement touching on the above information.

"The conditions as regards the Oceanic Steamship Co. were unsettled when I left San Francisco and I cannot give you any definite news. It is hoped that both the Alameda and the Albatross will be kept on the run to Honolulu and as far as I know there is no plan to lay off the Alameda and have her place taken by another vessel."

LUAU AT WAIMEA BY MRS. WM. LINDSEY

(Special to The Bulletin)
KAMUELA, Hawaii, May 17. — It has been some time since Waimoa society folks had the pleasure of attending such a grand luau as that given by Mrs. Wm. Lindsey at her home Sunday, May 12.

The celebration was given in honor of her little nephew's birthday. There were three long tables set, with a capacity of twelve each, the tables and lanna being beautifully decorated with mountain greenery.

The guests were received by the hostess at 4 p. m. Those partaking of the appetizing eatables spread before them were: Mr. and Mrs. Wm. M. Lindsey, L. A. Andrews, Sam Dowsett, Mr. E. E. Conant, Miss Neal, Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Kook, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Lindsey, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Lindsey, Jr., Robert Kook, Misses Elizabeth and Christina Lindsey, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Purdy, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Mainaupa and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Waiuan, Thomas Kaunana, also all the noted cowboys of the Parker ranch and a number of others.

Music flowed from the gramophone throughout the feasting and it was late in the evening when the guests bid their genial host and hostess adieu.

SNARK ARRIVES SAFE

and although it was rather slow we did not lack in things to keep us engaged. I write every morning until noon, and this with the keeping of the watches, card playing and reading, we have a small library of some 500 books on board, made time pass along very pleasantly.

"I did not come here to collect material, although I may of course use some of the stuff which I pick up on the way in my books later on. The cruise is entirely a pleasure trip.

"We intend to stay at Pearl Harbor for at least a month. During that time we will fix up the Snark, which has not been entirely completed, and take a look around the country here. Later we will visit the other islands. I like this way of traveling better than anything that I have ever tried, and if I ever travel again it will be like this and not in the old, conventional manner."

In an interview with a representative of the Bulletin who boarded the Snark this morning, Mr. London said that he was off Diamond Head all day yesterday, that he ran into a series of calms and made only five miles the day before. Only one bad day on the whole trip and that did not amount to much, just a little nasty sea.

They left San Francisco with 1000 gallons of water and used only 200 on the way down. Just before leaving San Francisco the engine that is supposed to be used in driving the little vessel during calm spells, was completely disabled, and not caring to delay his departure any later he put to sea. He says that he will have the engine thoroughly repaired while here.

His reason for not entering the harbor he says is that he is very desirous of avoiding all or as much celebrity as possible.

The Snark is lighted throughout with electricity which is furnished by a small dynamo run by a small engine. He carries a 14-foot launch and a good sized life boat.

He is at present lying at a safe anchorage off the Hobron home at Pearl Harbor, where he expects to stay for two months.

According to Mr. London, his proposed trip about the world in a small vessel came as a brilliant idea while bleaching on the sand bank of the swimming pool at Glen Ellen.

In explanation of his ocean scheme he says that in so doing he is drifting along the lines of least resistance, and from the appearance of, and the home-like comfort surrounding his little craft now safely anchored in Hawaii waters, he has hit the nail on the head.

Very few definite plans have been mapped out by Mr. London. Of course a general outline of the trip is formed, that was mentioned when the idea of the voyage was born. Hawaii was the first port of call. That was settled before they plunged into the swimming pool again. Mr. London says that in a general way they have formulated a plan which will include the South seas, taking in Samoa, New Zealand, Tasmania, Australia, New Guinea, Borneo and on up to the Philippines, over to Japan and it is possible that a call will be made at Korea. Continuing, the Red Sea and the Mediterranean will be explored. Beyond that, Mr. London says nappinets are of too misty a nature to occupy his thoughts for a while.

The Snark is forty-five feet long on the water line and has a beam of fifteen feet. Her deck is flush, there being no house. The living apartments occupy the whole vessel from stem to stern.

Mr. London expects to put in several years on his trip, which is made in the interests of an eastern magazine, and will do all of his writing on board the little vessel.

The Snark will remain at her anchorage for some time, during which much of the unfinished work will be put in shape and painting up will be the order of the day.

The Snark is not a pretty craft by any means, but her build from a purely dry boat diving any head sea work. The long overhang forward will have a tendency to throw off seas instead of letting them come aboard.

Her dividing bulkheads form her into several watertight compartments. Tasting her all in all she is a stout little craft and looks fit for any voyage.

Her hatch rig is one of the best that could have been placed. It makes the working of sails an easy matter. In a heavy blow the mainmast can be retracted and under it and jigger the will ride out the hardest kind of a blow.

WHITSUNDAY FEAST

On Saturday evening and all day Sunday large crowds of a cosmopolitan nature, thronged the grounds of the Cathedral. It is a sight that is familiar to local people, but always attracts the attention of visitors.

The occasion was the Feast of the Holy Ghost, an institution brought about by St. Elizabeth, at one time Queen of Portugal, in gratitude for the eradication of a fearful epidemic that was passing over the land. Since that time the Portuguese have been true to the custom.

The two distinctive features, that seem to attract the largest share of attention, were the table where a large number of articles were deposited to be raffled off later, and the shrine.

Yesterday morning there was a distribution of food and clothing to the poor of both sex. At 10 o'clock pontifical mass was celebrated by Father Stephen. At 1 o'clock the "twelve poor men" were fed. Before they were served the food was blessed by the Bishop.

The Brotherhood expended in food and clothing about $600. The exercises closed with a sacred concert in the Cathedral grounds at 3 o'clock, which was very largely attended.

Women Avoid Operations

When a woman suffering from female trouble is told that an operation is necessary, it, of course, frightens her.

The very thought of the hospital, the operating table and the knife strikes terror to her heart.

It is quite true that these troubles may reach a stage where an operation is the only resource, but a great many women have been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound after an operation has been decided upon as the only cure. The strongest and most grateful statements possible to make from women who by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made from native roots and herbs, have escaped serious operations, as evidenced by Miss Rose Moore's case, of 307 W. 26th St., N. Y. She writes: "Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has cured me of the very worst form of female trouble and I wish to express to you my deepest gratitude. I suffered intensely for two years so that I was unable to attend to my duties and was a burden to my family. I doctored and doctored with only temporary relief and constantly objecting to an operation which I was advised to undergo. I decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; it cured me of the terrible trouble and I am now in better health than I have been for many years."

This and other such cases should encourage every woman to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before she submits to an operation.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation to Women
Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. From the symptoms given, the trouble may be located and the quickest and surest way of recovery advised.

MONDAY, MAY 20, 1907.

It is not stated why Luke Wright is withdrawn as Minister to Japan. Outwardly there is nothing to suggest his having done any harm.

Keep up the baseball pace not by the length of time that far and there is no doubt of the estimate that will be put on the season of 1907.

Clean up the sidewalks and the back yards. The town needs workers, not streetcorner rumormongers and Miss Naucies, who spread false stories between slips of tea.

The good feeling displayed toward General Kuroki in the Eastern States must remove much of the "enms" that California has put into the nation's relations with the country he represents.

Secretary Atkinson objected to the lack of notes and tallies at Laysan. Travellers by that route have noticed the deficiency for some years past. And Congressmen are seeing the country as it is.

Whether Foraker or Taft wins in the contest now pending for Republican control of Ohio, it is certain that the strife is sufficiently lively to say that the Republicans of Ohio are indulging in a first-class row.

Depend on Jack London to be considerably different than anything that has yet happened. Docking at Pearl Harbor no doubt lends more to the romantic feature of his tour than docking in regulation style at a Honolulu wharf.

Protestants, anxious that the Congressmen see more, should remember that there is a limit to human capacity. The visitors have been "on the go" from the moment of their arrival, and some are beginning to wonder whether they will be killed with kindness.

It is of interest that the trial judge handling the famous Idaho Pettibone-Haywood-Moyer case was once prosecuting attorney and succeeded in convicting one of the men now on trial for his life. If he renders absolutely even justice he has capacity above ordinary humanity.

Order has been talking again. He says "He is the best physician who knows the weaknesses of most medicine." He also told his audience of 200 physicians that there are four drugs of inestimable value in the practice. And then declined to name them. Evidently Order is beginning to take himself as something of a joke.

A New York dispatch tells of a new economic railroad men are fighting to encourage immigration from Europe. It is proposed to sell them conditionally to people they think will make good settlers, and then transport them under the guidance of a special agent from Europe to the new homes provided in Texas. This may be better than the plan of offering homes in Hawaii and providing transportation, but it is doubtful whether it will work.

THE AMERICAN DREADNAUGHT.

The first Dreadnaught was an American ship.

This interesting statement has been brought to light by a Coast Journal, which objects to the popular and reverting to the great British battleship every time Dreadnaught is mentioned. It is claimed with splendid confidence that the name did not recall anything British half a century ago, for in those days it was a fine American ship, that held the center of the stage. This vessel was a three-masted wooden craft, and reckoned by seafaring men as the fastest, finest packet that ever sailed the ocean.

In the days when the Yankee Dreadnaught roamed the seas with a broom to her fore, rich Americans going abroad would take passage on the packet-ship instead of the steamers, for the windjammer made almost as good time as the smoky old machine boxes, and was considered much safer.

Today the British Dreadnaught holds the speed record for war vessels of the battleship class, but other navies are now building craft that will exceed the English warship's running. But the American Dreadnaught holds a record that has stood for nearly two generations, and which will no doubt be the best mark made by a sailing ship in all time. Early in the winter of 1853 the packet-ship made the run from Sandy Hook to Liverpool in nine days and seventeen hours. This windjammer always made fast passages, and her fame was known in every seaport the world over in the days before the Confederate cruisers swept the Stars and Stripes from the seven seas.

In those days of long ago other Yankee craft sailed in a manner that surprised the foreigners that are now doing our carrying trade. The ship Flying Cloud, built in 1851, made the passage from New York to San Francisco in eighty-one days. The James Finney, constructed in 1854, made the run from Boston to Liverpool in twelve days and six hours, and the Lightning, built the same year, sailed from Liverpool to Calcutta in eighty-seven days.

Whenever anyone begins to tell of the wonderful feats of the new battleship Dreadnaught, just remind them that a Yankee ship bearing that name, and manned by a Yankee crew, holds the sailing-ship speed record," says the journal which wishes Americans to recall their glory on the high seas. It is well to remember that our ships once held the lead with a real Dreadnaught of the command. The pity of it is today that so few of our countrymen seem to care a rap that all the glory is passed, and some very strenuous work must be done to make the American Dreadnaught any more real than the Flying Dutchman of his story.

BOTHA AN HONORED CITIZEN.

Universal respect paid the memory of Robert E. Loos, commander of the Confederate forces, by the people of the North and South, was an impressive example of a kindly American spirit, and how the record of a brave fighter and honorable-man disarms revenge.

More striking perhaps than the rivalry with which our people have laid aside the animosities of bitter strife is the reception given by the people of England to General Botha, the hero of the unavailing battle of the Transvaal for independence. Botha while attending the Conference of Colonial Premiers at London has been the lion of the hour.

He is praised for his bravery in the field though it cost many a valuable British life, and he is equally honored for the humanity he showed in refusing to turn some of his successes into a carnival of fearful slaughter. Now that this brave fighter has accepted British sovereignty he does so with his whole heart.

It is hard for many to believe that the victories of peace are the greatest after all, and particularly difficult for men who have led a losing cause on the field of battle, to adapt themselves to the conditions which the arbitration of arms has brought about. Botha appears to be one of the men of good sense and keen foresight able to understand the folly of allowing the bitterness of defeat to put the iron of hatred in his soul and thus destroy his usefulness.

It is not to be supposed that the Transvaalers love the British mightily when, such a short time ago, they were so busy shooting them down, but with a fair measure of self-government under the British flag they are undoubtedly gaining more important victories for prosperity and community welfare than were possible under an independent government.

WHAT IS A DEMOCRAT?

The New York World has launched at the unsuspecting public the query "What is a Democrat?" A few of the answers that have been published in papers throughout the country appear below:

(From the Milwaukee Sentinel) "What is a Democrat?" queries the New York World. How long is a piece of string?

(From the Buffalo News) The New York World was making something like progress in its inquiry as to what constitutes a Democrat, but the Jefferson dinners have thrown all its fat into the fire again.

(From the Toledo Blade) The New York World's query, "What is a Democrat?" has received no satisfactory answer. Most people would rather guess on the number of beans in a jar.

(From the Portland (Me.) Express) A lot of people are trying to answer the New York World's question, "What is a Democrat?" but none of them has really given an answer yet.

(From the Rochester Democrat and Chronicle) The New York World keeps right on asking "What is a Democrat?" just as though it really hoped some day to

TAX COLLECTIONS SHOW AN INCREASE

Amounts Received Since May 11 Total $363,826.45

Since May 11 the Tax Office has taken in the sum of $363,826.45 in taxes. From May 1 to May 10 the collections were $43,309, making the total for the month up to today $409,135.45. The total collections from January 1 amount to $507,996.65, being $12,480.91 more than for the entire first half of last year—and there are still 41 days of the present period.

This is a pretty good showing, and all the more so when it is considered that the tax appeals have been unusually heavy. All the plantations have appealed on their income tax, and there have been the usual other appeals.

Tax Assessor Holt gives the following figures as representing the collections for the various districts for the first quarter of the year and for the second quarter up to May 15:

HENDRY'S OFFICE

LIKE A DISTILLERY

United States Marshal Hendry's office looks like a distillery today. There are stills, retorts, condensers, worms and tanks heaped up in the corners, along with bottles of koloheho, barrels of mash and other exhibits.

But the Marshal is not going to start into business himself. The collection is merely the result of a haul made by Ralph Johnstone, who went to Makawala last week to bring back some distillers that the Maui police telegraphed they were holding. Johnstone was specially deputized by Marshal Hendry to get the men. He got them and got their stills in the bargain.

Three men were brought back, but only two of them are held, the third being released. One of the men is Jimbo Ota, who was operating two stills at Kilauea. The other is Prudence (very appropriate name) Camachoa, who was the proud possessor of one still at Kaupakaha, Makawala. A number of witnesses were also brought along.

Both men walked examination and were bound over to the next term of court.

The alumnae and the alumni of the class of 1897 of the Kanehahana schools gave a sumptuous luncheon at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Auld at Palama last Saturday. A number of teachers of the schools, as well as the friends and relatives of the donors of the spread, attended, and were well entertained. During the progress of the feast speeches were made by both ladies and gentlemen, commenting on the progress which had been made in various walks of life by those who had left the old school ten years ago, all without exception being able to give excellent testimony of the benefit which their early training had been to them in later life. The grounds and the banal in which the tables were spread were beautifully decorated, and good music was furnished by a quartet of Hawaiian boys.

Present at the dinner were Consul Saito and his staff, Y. Akai of the Speer Bank, United States Marshal Hendry, District Attorney Breckons, Collector Stackable, Commissioner Hatch, Inspector Brown, the press and many representative Japanese. The dinner lasted until 9 o'clock.

Capt. I. Sakurai of the China Maru gave a dinner to his friends at the Mochizuki club last Saturday night. Many prominent people were present. The main room and the dining room were beautifully decorated and the table was laden with tempting Japanese eatables. During the dinner, several speeches complimentary to Capt. Sakurai were made. Capt. Sakurai responded fittingly to a toast proposed in his honor. At the close of the dinner Inspector R. C. Brown of the immigration service entertained his fellow guests with an America-Japan song which was loudly applauded.

Answering the New York World's question "What is a Democrat?" we would say in brief he is a man who is too honest to be a Republican and too decent to be a Hearstite.

CAPTAIN GIVES DINNER

Two large batches of Chinese gamblers were arrested yesterday by Detective Leal and other officers. One bunch of eighteen was caught at a house near the mountains at Moanalua. As the officers approached they were fired at by someone, but they were unable to tell whether the shooting was done by the Chinese whom they caught or by someone else. Judge Whitney this morning fined the defendants $7 and costs each. The other bunch was caught on Sheridan street. They were fined $5 and costs a piece.

WALEUKU COURT HOUSE

Superintendent of Public Works Hulaway is working on the plans for the new court house at Waleuku for which the Legislature appropriated $25,000 at the recent session. He states that they will be completed soon and that bids for the construction of the building will probably be called for in about six weeks.

Contest Poet Predicts Some Changes

Did you notice the amount in the last Contest count For the girls whom the public thinks best

Will show off Hawaii On the Coast by and by And she'll surely not stop Till some day in San Francisco she'll eat dinner.

Now there is Daisy Todd, With 200,000-odd; She sure looks to me like a winner; She is now at the top

Hattie L., from Honokaa, Has held her own, so far, But then there is no telling what will come

If others, further down, (Here in Honolulu town) Hustle 'round and make subscriptions fairly hum.

The next one here below Is Miss Hapai, of Hilo; She's riding easy in the third place down.

Be careful there's no slip About going on this trip— A trip that will make Hawaii world renowned.

Callie Lucas is all right; For her the trip's in eight. But she'll have to hustle hard till next July.

Changes are in store, For there are many more Who for this glorious trip will have a try.

Miss Mundon of Kauai On the list is standing high, But not so far above the danger line.

This week's count may show There are others in the go, And it's best to hustle now while there is time.

Miss Nailima of Oloa Holds sixth place so far; If she gets one further down her chance is dead,— For only six can go (The Bulletin says so) With the Queen of Chaperones, Mrs. Weathered.

Misses Emma Rose and Lemon, Sadler and Mrs. Clinton, Misses Peterson, Senna, Clark and Aloiau,

With Miss Watty Holt Are liable to bolt And show these top-notch holders why and how.

Look for changes soon; About next Friday noon, An overwhelming vote is now in sight. Names will sure change place In this contest race. The count will come again next Friday night.

NASHVILLE TO USE NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING

The Board of Trade of Nashville, Tenn., has inaugurated an advertising campaign for that enterprising city, which ought to bring results. Municipalities throughout the country are awakening to the advantages of advertising, and Nashville has shown her sister cities that she means business by appropriating $50,000, of the real to help do the trick.

Nashville proposes to advertise in the newspapers. Board advertising is not included in the category of means to the publicity end. The city's advantages will be set forth through the press. Hundreds of copies of Nashville's daily papers will be sent to reading rooms, libraries, hotels and other public places in the Northeastern States so that the reading public may be reminded of Nashville's existence.—Editor and Publisher.

"There!" she said. "Now, think that every drop. Ain't you hungry?"

Bradley, with tears in his eyes, the result of the first swallow of pepper tea, gaspingly protested that he wasn't hungry, not very. The slight and smell of the leaded supper table were so tempting that the denial was rather half-hearted.

"Not very! When did you have any thing to eat last?"

"Mr. Bartlett—he's the steward at Wellmouth—gave me a sandwich at the depot 'fore I started, ma'am, and I bought a turnover at Harborside."

"My sakes! Prissy!" to her sister, who came rustling in—"he hasn't a thing but a sandwich and a turnover since morning. Now, come right over to the table, Bradley, and set down."

As the boy ate he looked about the room. It was a big room, with a low ceiling, spotlessly white-washed. The oilcloth on the floor was partially covered with braided rag mats with carpet centers. On the window shades were wonderful tinted pictures of castles and mountains. The table was black walnut, and there were five rush seated chairs, each in its place against the wall and looking as if it were glued there. The sixth of the set he occupied. Then there was the chintz covered rocker and another rocker painted black, with a worn picture of a ship at sea on the back. There was another ship over the face of the tall wooden clock in the corner. This craft was evidently the Flying Dutchman, for every time the clock ticked it rolled heavily behind a fence of tin walled, but didn't advance an inch. On the walls were several works of art, including a spatter work motto, a wreath made of seashells under a glass and an engraving showing a boat filled with men, women and children rowed by a solemn individual in his shirt sleeves, moving over a placid sheet of water toward an unseen port.

"Cap'n Titcomb," remarked Bradley, whose bashfulness was wearing off, "came over in the coach with me to-night."

The effect of this announcement was remarkable. Miss Prissy looked at

Bradley shook the extended hands. Miss Tempy, and the latter returned the look. "Strange to say, both colored." "Cap'n Titcomb?" faltered Miss Prissy. "Cap'n Ezra Titcomb?" "Yes, ma'am. He talked to me 'most all the way. I liked him first rate." "Why—why, I do declare! I didn't know the cap'n was expected, did you, Tempy?" "No, I'm sure I didn't!" exclaimed the flustered younger sister. "Did he—did he tell you why he was comin', Bradley?" "No, ma'am, but I heard him tell the man that drove the coach that he had shore leave for a week 'cause his schooner was laid up for repairs. He said he knew you, though, and that he was comin' round to see me to-morrow."

This remark caused quite as much embarrassment and agitation as that concerning the captain's presence in the coach. The two ladies again glanced hurriedly at each other.

"Goodness gracious!" exclaimed Miss Prissy. "And the settin' room not swept and the windows not washed! I'll have to get up early to-morrow mornin'. I'm so glad I fixed that ruffie on my alpaca." She added in an absent-minded soliloquy.

"And I must finish that tidy for the sofa," said Miss Tempy nervously. "I've only got a little more to do on it, thank goodness! Prissy, I'm goin' to put an iron on. I want to press my other collar. Did—did the cap'n say anything more about me—us, I mean?" "No, ma'am, he didn't," replied the boy. "He just asked about me and told stories and talked."

Miss Tempy seemed a little disappointed and made no comment. Her sister, too, was silent. Presently Bradley yawned. He tried to hide it, but Miss Prissy, coming out of her trance, saw him.

"My sakes," she exclaimed, "what are we thinkin' of, keepin' you up this way? It's after 9 o'clock. Let me get the lamp. Tempy, you do up that soapstone for his feet."

Bradley was up early the next mornin', and his dressing was a sight of it.

for it was freezing cold. When he went downstairs it was evident that things had been going on. Miss Prissy came out of the sitting room, bearing a broom and with her "alpaca" gown covered with an apron. Miss Tempy, her curls done up in papers, was busy with the "tidy" for the sofa. Each of the sisters was nervous and excited.

Miss Prissy said a stiff little grace at the breakfast table. Miss Tempy had a large cup of "pepper tea" for herself and urged Bradley to partake, but the elder sister came to the rescue and gave him hot milk and water instead. After the meal was over and the dishes washed Miss Prissy went out to feed the hens, and Bradley went with her. The house, seen by day, was a big, square building, badly in need of paint. The roof was four sided and sloped upward to an cupola in the center. From its closely shut front door snow covered box hedges in parallel lines defined the path to the front gate, also locked and fastened. Like the front door, only used on occasions. There was a large tumble-down barn, with an empty place back of the house and a leanhouse and yard in the rear of the barn.

Next door to the left—on the right was a vacant field—was a small story and a half cottage, separated from the Allen household by a board fence. One of the boards in this fence had fallen down, and as Bradley, wading in Miss Prissy's wake, passed this opening he saw a girl, apparently about his own age open the back door of the house next door and look out at him. He wanted to ask who she was, but didn't feel well enough acquainted with his guide to do so just yet.

Just as the dozen hens and lonesome looking rooster were fed—Miss Prissy informed him that by and by looking after the poultry would be one of his duties—Miss Tempy's voice was heard calling excitedly from the kitchen door.

"Prissy," she screamed—"Prissy, come in the house quick! He's comin'! The cap'n's comin'!"

"My land!" exclaimed the elder sister wildly, and, her dignity forgotten, she almost ran to the house, followed by Bradley, who didn't understand the cause of the excitement.

"Oh, my sakes," ejaculated Miss Tempy as they entered the kitchen, "what made him come so early? You'll have to see him first, Prissy. I've got to fix my hair."

Miss Prissy rushed into the sitting room, wheeled a chair into place, set a tidy straight, laid the photograph album exactly in the center of the table instead of two inches from the edge and patted her own hair with her hands, dodging in front of the big gilt framed mirror as she did so. Then, as a smart knock sounded on the dining room door, she assumed her "company" smile and marched sedately to receive the visitor.

It was Captain Titcomb who had knocked, and after cleaning the snow from his boots on the "scraper" he entered the house, bearing two packages wrapped in brown paper.

"Well, Prissy," said the captain, lying down the packages to shake hands, "how'd you do? Didn't expect to see me in this port just now, did you?"

"No, indeed, Cap'n Titcomb," was the reply. "But we're real glad to see you all the same. Come right in. Take your things off. Bradley said he rode down with you in the coach last night. Dreadful storm we had, wasn't it? How's your health nowadays? Walk right into the sittin' room. You must excuse the looks of things. I've been sweepin'."

There was a good deal more, but when Miss Prissy stopped for breath the captain, who had thrown his cap and overcoat on a chair, replied that the storm was bad, that his health was good and that the room looked "first rate," so far as he could see. Then he held out his hand to the boy, who had seated himself on a chair close to the door, and said cheerily:

"Mornin', Brad. Well, how are you after your shake up last night? Wan't senkish after I got out, was you?"

Bradley grinned bashfully and stammered that he was "all right."

"Good! We had a rugged trip comin' over, Prissy. The old coach rolled so I felt like goin' on deck and shortenin' sail. Your new boy here's goin' to make a good sailor, I can see that. Where's Tempy?"

"Oh, she's upstairs for a minute. She'll be right down," answered Miss Prissy carelessly. "Tell me what brought you home so unexpected."

"Sprung a leak and had to lay the old hooker up for repairs. That's a specialty of my owners—repairs. They'd rather patch up for a hundred years than build new vessels. I—I—Brad, fetch me them bundles out of the dinin' room."

Bradley obediently brought the brown paper parcels, and the captain handed one of them to Miss Prissy, saying: "Here's a little somethin' I picked up over to New York, Prissy. I thought you might like it. I ain't got much use for such things myself."

The lady took the package and began to untie the string in a nervous manner, blushing a little as she did so.

"I know it's somethin' nice, Cap'n Ezra. You do buy the nicest things. It's real kind of you to remember me this way. Oh, ain't that pretty?"

PUNS HANDED A LEMON; DIAMONDS GET THEIR

Baseball, the kind you read about in the old dope-sheets, the kind that you will shake 25 cents out of Johnnie's savings bank to see, was passed up to the large gathering which took the tip that some good ball was to be seen Saturday at the park.

The sporting public like to see a game of ball in which there is something doing each and every minute; hits and plays of all varieties are what the fans desire. Well, they were certainly not disappointed in the last games played by the Honolulu league. The game between the Saints and Puns was boosted hard; all said that it would be a game worth going miles to see. "Doc" Monsarrat and Charlie Falk both shook in their boots before the game for fear that their favorites would go down to defeat. The crowd sat anxiously awaiting the finish of the first game so that they could get a glimpse of the real card of the day, St. Louis vs. Punahou. As the game progressed the fans were worked up to a high pitch, for spectacular play followed play, and first one team and then the other would have an advantage. This sort of baseball will get on the nerves of the coolest spectator and make him set his muscles with anxiety.

Don't let us lead you to believe that the first game was not good, for it was, as the closeness of the play and pulling out of right places by the Kans will show. Had this game been played last it would have had more interest, but the second game took some of the luster from it.

Below is our attempt to describe how the boys struggled, on the diamond Saturday. To repeat the history of the second game first is deemed more important:

Burns Chased to the Pines

Both En Sue and Hampton got a hand from the stand when they entered the game. Ed Desha chose the field and En Sue was up. He opened his season well with a nice little single. Bushnell, the butcher, also hit safe to right and En Sue went on to third. He certainly looked like runs, but John Williams settled down to business and pulled out of a tight hole. The Saints pulled off a double in their half in the field. This half got the crowd on its feet.

There were interesting features up to the third inning, when the real starting events began to happen. It was in this inning that the Saints drew first blood. Here is the way in which they turned the trick: Burns hit safe, En Sue poked the atmosphere, Burns annexes first on a passed ball by Ringland. Bush hits safe over first and is caught between first and second. While Jack Desha was closing Ringland, Burns spotted home with the first run and cheers from the St. Louis supporters.

Things went along nicely until the fifth. Up to this time Fletcher Burns was a puzzle to the fans, while Williams had been touched up for three safe ones. In this glorious fifth inning things happened in swift succession. Fernandez drew a pass, Burns hit for three bases, scoring Fernandez. This made the score read St. Louis 2, Punahou 0.

Now came Punahou's turn. King played one over second. Left Hanu met one of Burns' choice ones fairly between the seams and then began a hot-foot around the paths with King ahead of him. Hanuah turned into the home stretch but the ball beat him out, and in a close decision at the plate Ump. Bower cried "Out." King had scored. Hanu, hit safe, stole second and scored on Ed Desha's two-stealer. J. Desha out-sprinted a bun and Ed went to third. Gleason had taken Lo On's place at first and he ordered Bushnell into the box while Burns took the field. Jack Desha stole second. Both he and Ed scored on Ringland's bludge. Score: London 1, Saints 2.

The Saints worked a runner across the pan in the sixth, making it 4-2. The Puns pulled off some pretty hitting stunts in this inning. Their hold-up of men on third was grand baseball.

In the seventh En Sue whacked out a three-bagger and reached home on Ed Desha's error. This led the score to 4-3. The Puns pulled off some pretty hitting stunts in this inning. Their hold-up of men on third was grand baseball.

DIAMONDS DROP ANOTHER

This game between the Diamonds and Kans was played from the first to the last inning. The Diamonds out-batted their rivals but failed in going hits when men were on bases. They were also a trifle slow on the base line and let a couple of runs slip in this matter.

The ninth was by far the most exciting inning and for a few moments it looked as though there would be something doing. Sammie Davis worked out for a "comp." Ed Fernandez took Davis' place on the bases, Sam Chill hit safe past first and Fernandez went around to third. Sam swiped second. Here was a chance to tie the score, but weak hitters came up. Meyer hit an easy one to Vanmatia and was thrown out at first. Fernandez did not take advantage of the play. He should have scored Lo-Be, and Bill Chill, struck out, and it was all off.

Roster had a slight advantage over Chillingworth in the pitching end, inasmuch as he kept his hits more scattered. Bill had one bad inning and that was the fourth, when the Kans bunched three hits, each of which meant runs.

In the very first spasm Moses mis-judged Fern's line drive and the latter reached second and came home, after stealing third, on Kuluha's fly to right. The Diamond Heads evened up thunks in the third when the Major spiked the rubber on Almos' hit. In the fourth the Diamonds were all to the bad; Vanmatia walked, and went to third on Hanuauki's hit to right. Hanuauki and Kanool each scored in this inning. This inning ended matters so far as the D. H. boys concerned.
