The habit of advertising is general not occasional---with successful merchants

EVENING BULLETIN

3:30 O'CLOCK The Bulletin Is Read By Nearly All of Hawaii's Buyers EDITION

The reader who actually de-vours shopping advertisements is the woman. Her interest in them is part of her devotion to herself and her family if she has one. Her wants are as multifarious as the stars in the heavens. She is constantly on the alert for bargains. Who invites her patronage but the merchant who informs her through such a home medium as the Evening Bulletin how he may satisfy her needs!

THE GOVERNOR

WALTER FRANCIS FREAR

Who Was Today Inaugurated as Governor of the Territory of Hawaii.

GLASS TRIAL ON.

San Francisco, Aug. 14.—The trial of Glass has begun. Lonegan and Boston repeated their confessions.

OPIMUM-EATER DEAD

Kodo, an old Hindu pensioner of the British Benevolent Society, was found dead in his room in a tenement house on the corner of River and Kukui street this forenoon. He was born at Calcutta and had been following the sea most of his life. Deputy Sheriff Jarrett, Dr. Pratt and City Sanitary Officer Tracy looked into the case but found that death was due to an over indulgence in opium, which the deceased was in the habit of eating. No inquest will be held.

Walter F. Frear Is Inaugurated Governor Of The Territory And Carter Retires To Private Life

The King is dead, long live the King! Governor Carter and Governor Frear were seated together on the platform, and in front of them, on the Waikiki side, were seated the members of the consular corps and the wives of some of them. In the front of the next section were the department heads, and in the section adjoining were Mrs. Carter, Mrs. Frear, Congressman Longworth, Admiral Very and representatives of the United States military and naval departments. The Judges of the various Federal and Territorial courts occupied the Ewa section of seats, the three members of the reorganized Supreme Court in their robes being seated together near the makai door.

The inaugural ceremonies were simple. Carter, without introduction, delivered his farewell address; Frear's commission was read by the new secretary; he took the oath of office and read his inaugural address. That was all.

There was no decoration of the Throne Room, beyond the draping over the platform of the American and Hawaiian flags. The room is one of the few that loses by any addition to its fixed decorations.

Governor Carter and Governor Frear were seated together on the platform, and in front of them, on the Waikiki side, were seated the members of the consular corps and the wives of some of them. The Judges of the various Federal and Territorial courts occupied the Ewa section of seats, the three members of the reorganized Supreme Court in their robes being seated together near the makai door.

Retiring Secretary A. L. C. Atkinson and the new Secretary, Ernest A. Mott-Smith, were seated in front of the Consular corps.

No provision was made for the members of the Legislature who happened to be present, and a number of them stood about the walls or were crowded out into the corridor, greatly to their indignation.

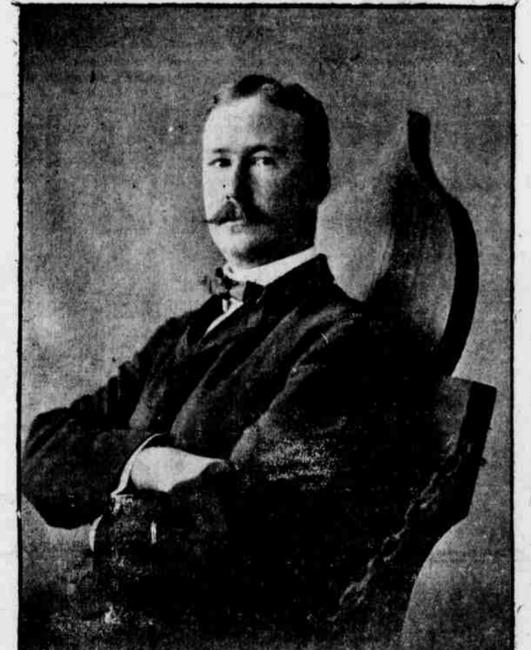

At the doors of the Throne Room were stationed the officers of the National Guard of the Territory to direct those who came for admittance. Lloyd Conkling, chief clerk of the Governor's office, acted as Master of Ceremonies and ushered the more distinguished guests to their seats. There were a great number of people who were unable to get into the Throne Room, and the lanais were filled and many more stood out on the lanais.

At the conclusion of the ceremonies a salute of seventeen guns was fired by the National Guard in honor of the new Governor.

The inauguration ceremonies were begun with an invocation offered by Rev. Lono, chaplain of the House of Representatives of the last Legislature, the assemblage standing during the prayer. This was immediately followed by Governor Carter

TENDER REPORTED AS DUE TOMORROW

BY SANTA RITA

The oil steamer Santa Rita, Captain Dickson, arrived early this morning and docked at the Hackfeld wharf at 7 o'clock. She brought oil for this port, and made the trip down from Port Harford in nine days. Captain Conner, who commanded the Santa Rita in the past, was taken sick before the steamer left for this port and was unable to come down. Pleasant weather was encountered throughout the trip with the exception of two days when the seas ran high. No damage was sustained by the steamer. The Santa Rita passed the steam schooner Florence Ward last Thursday. She was bound for this port and will probably arrive here some time tomorrow. The Ward is in the service of the cable company. She comes here to carry provisions between this port and Guam and Midway Island. She is a smart little vessel.

GALBRAITH NAMED ON ELECTION BOARD OF OKLAHOMA STATE

The Daily Oklahoman of July 26 publishes the following:
Chairman J. B. Thompson of the Democratic State Central Committee last night sent to Governor Frantz, the name of C. A. Galbraith of Ada, I. T., as the democratic member of the state election board.

Under the election laws of the territory of Oklahoma, the election board is composed of the Governor and a member each from the two political parties casting the highest number of votes at the preceding election, the two last members to be recommended by the chairman of the respective state committees.

Judge Galbraith was attorney general of Oklahoma under President Cleveland's last administration and was later appointed as a democratic member of the supreme bench of the Hawaiian Islands by William McKinley. He returned to the territories from the Hawaiian Islands a little more than a year ago, and has since been practicing law at Ada.

So far as known, the only contest before the board from the democratic side will be in the Fifth congressional district where Claude Weaver of Pauls Valley questions the right of Scott Ferris of Lawton to be placed on the ticket as the democratic nominee.

CARTER'S ADDRESS

Governor Carter's farewell address was not given out in advance.

The retiring Governor said that four years ago he had, trembling with fear, assumed the duties of office. He then says he is glad to say that "my promise not to spare myself in your interests has been kept. To me the period seems one continued struggle to accomplish things, accompanied by a vivid recognition of the meagerness of the results. It has been well said that a popular form of government is a most expensive luxury."

Mr. Carter made an extensive explanation of why he called for undated resignations. He says undesirable appointments were thrust upon him.

"Responsibility and power are co-existent; without the one the other cannot be, and this experience should teach the community that the true position of the Senate is not that it shares the responsibility or power of appointment, but rather that it has in its hands a check or balance on the abuse of the appointive power, and it should not attempt to share in the responsibility for appointments, but only exercise its power as a preventative of personal favoritism and inefficiency."

Mr. Carter believes experience will justify his course.

He explains his opposition to local

WIFE COMPLAINS OF HER AGED HUSBAND

After being married for 26 years, a 70-year-old Hawaiian woman, has filed a bill for separation against John Punaluu, her 75-year-old spouse. It appears that the old gentleman in spite of his years is leading a rather dissolute life.

The alleged fact that he for many years lived in adultery with a woman named Kouliwanahua, and that after her death he gained the affections of a negro by the name of Ana Maha, with whom he has been living for the past two years.

It is further shown that when the Punaluus were married they bought a home at Maunaloa, which was paid for in part with the money of the lieutenant, but after Punaluu had allowed his affections to stray he changed his wife out of this home and compelled her to live in a small shack on the same premises. He also allowed his promiscuity to beat her, and all these things caused her great mental and physical discomfort.

Mrs. Punaluu also complains that the contents of her property are so divided by the libel that she is not able to live on her share thereof. The libellant prays that a decree of separation be granted and that she be allowed $50 a month temporary and permanent alimony.

SHARK IS NOW READY TO SAIL

Jack London's ketch, the Shark, in command of Captain Warren, will sail this afternoon from the Bishop wharf for Hilo. There was a crowd of interested spectators on the dock this morning watching the working of the gasoline engine, Jack London and his wife and Captain Warren were not there at the time, and the little swimmers busied themselves in jumping from aboard the vessel into the water. Everything was in readiness for a long voyage, which the London's expect to make. The sea was unusually calm, at least in the harbor, this morning, and the indications are that the trip up to Kona will be a pleasant one.

Admiral Bethley, who went aboard on the Kilauea last Tuesday, will, it is said, arrange for an elaborate luncheon for the London's at Hilo.

HAWAII'S PINEAPPLE INDUSTRY ADVERTISED

Secretary Wood of the Promotion Committee has prepared an interesting report which will be submitted at the meeting of the Committee this afternoon. He dwells at length on the shipments of pineapples to the East, part of which will be for free distribution for advertising purposes. The mission of Mr. Higgins in this matter is attracting not a little attention in Chicago. Photographs illustrating the pine industry are also being distributed.

It is also shown that Hawaii is getting considerable advertising by articles and by photos. Pictures of the auto parade have been asked for by leading auto clubs and have been placed on exhibition in places where they will attract much attention. Many folders have also been sent out both to the mainland and the Orient.

The N. G. H. rifle team is taking a number of these, which it will distribute during its stay away. The committee's pamphlets have been placed on file in almost every library on the mainland.

self government by the old cry:
"How would this community judge officials of a corporation who had property intrusted to their care and who deliberately alienated that property to another corporation without compensation, in utter disregard of the liabilities of either corporation, on the ground that the stockholders of each were identical?"

A tribute is paid the Hawaiians and closes in these words: "We must not expect them to develop strength of character and capacity too rapidly, and they should not be burdened with responsibilities beyond their capacity."

Finally Mr. Carter said: "And now let me say that from the first I have believed that the administration of each Governor should be distinct; that the line of demarcation between each period of administration should be plain, and that the responsibility for the selection of those who are to assist should not be divided by the implied necessity to continue the leads of departments in office, no matter how good their records may be, and I trust that those who have stood the brunt of the work during my administration will feel that their work for this period ends with today; that when they are asked to serve the public again they will recognize that they do so under new conditions forming part of a new team loyal to a new chief. With this in mind, I desire to express to them my appreciation of the services rendered."

He then named each one of his heads of departments personally and gave each words of praise.

Carter's address closed with the following:

"And Mr. Atkinson, to your active mind is due the origin of not only some of the most important policies of my administration, but in one case at least you have the distinction of developing a plan which has been adopted by the Federal Government and is now national. Your popularity with all classes and nationalities—rich and poor, young and old, has been the strongest bond between much of this community and the administration. But it is not due to these qualities alone that your record deserves commendation, but rather to your strong development of that quality which all history shows to be the one most admired by man—a capacity for true friendship, and I desire that my last official act shall be a tribute to your loyalty to me under most trying circumstances. Had your strength of character been less the bonds of our boyhood friendship would long since have been dissolved. But no matter how strained, no matter what calamities, no matter what sacrifices it has required of you, your loyalty has never wavered, and let the future bring what it may, this must ever be a pleasant memory and a source of gratification to us both."

"And now as we make way for others, I can best express your thoughts and mine by this, that we hope those who succeed us will accomplish more for the land we love and will develop a capacity for devotion to public service deeper and stronger than ours, so that Hawaii will ever find men, honest and faithful, ready to serve her."

SMALLEST BABY.

What is supposed to be the smallest baby ever born has been sent to the baby incubator establishment at Coney Island. It is a girl and was born to Mrs. George Brown of New York. The baby weighs 19 ounces. It is 11 inches high. Its arms are 3 inches long. Both hands of the baby will go at one time through the mother's wedding ring. A ten-cent piece hides her hands, and a half dollar completely covers her face.

GOVERNOR FREAR'S INAUGURAL.

Governor Frear's inaugural address is a document that will appeal to the conservative sentiment of the Territory of Hawaii.

Solve as we go and never let up. This epitomizes the declaration the new Governor makes to our citizens. The careful review of the history of Hawaii shows that Mr. Frear has found inspiration in the record of steady advancement and no single instance to bolster the cause of the pessimist. This in itself is reassuring. The people are not well acquainted with the new Governor, but if they may be sure that he goes forward with confidence in the future and is prompted by healthy ideals, they may know that he is working along the right lines though differences of opinion give rise to the charge that he goes off on tangents of incidental error.

The declaration regarding the ability of the people to govern themselves, the expressed conviction that government by commission is not to be considered and the remarks on the success of local self government may read as plattitudes to the uninitiated.

This, however, means much to the American citizens who have been part of the struggle to convince, if not overthrow, the ultra conservative sentiment which has appealed to many as having been supported by selfish reactionaries. Whether justly or not Mr. Frear has been regarded as a part of the influence that has at times blocked the development of popular government. His inaugural statement proves that he is satisfied of the results having justified the movement toward liberal government, which in this instance is local self government.

It is well for Hawaii that it will not be necessary to fight over any old battle grounds on this score.

Governor Frear, after making his admissions and commenting as he deems proper, strikes out into the new field of today's duty and the problems of the immediate present and future.

He makes no effort to beg of the issues that face the citizens of this Territory. The fact that he does not spring any new problems on the public indicates that he has no intention of evading the real problems that are matters of every day knowledge. He does not suggest any new and Moses-like schemes for setting matters right and making the future what we all want it to be. He has no special panacea. He proposes the same old doctrine that has settled more difficult American situations than ours—hard work, honesty of purpose, patriotic endeavor, intelligence and keeping constantly at it.

There is abundance of theory and practice to support the position of the Governor that the public welfare may be better served, in dealing with the public lands, by leasing areas to plantations rather than cutting up this public domain for alleged homesteaders who will sooner or later sell out to the large corporations, and thus practically defeat the theoretical and they were supposed to serve. A liberal land policy, free from favoritism, and adapted to the facts as opposed to the fancies of the situation is the practical course of procedure from which beneficent results may be expected.

Governor Frear's inaugural is likely to attract special attention from some of our mainland friends in consequence of his very plain statement that Hawaii can and has turned out good American citizens from the Island-born Orientals. The Governor will have no reason to retreat or qualify his assertion. The public schools of the Territory of Hawaii are doing for the children of the Far East that which the public schools of the mainland have done for the Near East—and why not? All the present day citizen has to worry about is, that his conduct shall be of an exemplary character. Thus will the children of the Orient and Occident see that the lessons of patriotism they receive from their teachers are of good every day value.

A part of this exemplary conduct may be experienced by following the advice of the new Governor to cultivate the National spirit. We know that the Nation will stand behind us in any hour of serious trial. It is not the manly, self-conduct, powerful American who is forever applying to the National government to settle every little trouble, and especially those which fall within the reasonable limits of local endeavor.

Governor Frear's inaugural without being at any stage freaky or picturesquely original, is solid. He would never try to wipe out a lantern tike by driving a regiment of prettily decorated cavalry men through it. He would begin at the near side and cut out each tangled root and branch, one by one.

THE RETIRING GOVERNOR.

George R. Carter has been a vigorous Governor.

The record of his administration for which it is likely to be the longest remembered is the business policy by which he brought the Territory to a sound financial basis and convinced the people that it is possible for them to live within their income. There can be no possible excuse in the future that it cannot be done. Carter showed the way.

Where Mr. Carter has fallen short of the all round man is in his penchant for striking off on the most remarkable tangents when his personal desires are crossed. He declared most enthusiastically, in his inaugural address, for government of, by and for the people and was at least a friend of the movement epitomizing this sentiment. And when the people got results by the unanimity of their demand, the Governor seemed not altogether pleased. This attitude toward the majority opinion of the people has been the bane of the out-going Governor's official career. What the public has classed as little troubles have been magnified.

The pages of history which take no note of these small matters will write Governor Carter's administration a success. He leaves his duties not to retire to the privacy of an inactive life. He joins the ranks of vigorous citizens from which he stepped four years ago at the request of the President. There are no drums in the life of men like Carter, and it is well for Hawaii that it has citizens of this type.

DRY DOCK FOR HAWAII.

The letter from the Acting Secretary of the Navy assuring the petitioners of Hawaii that their request for the construction of a dry dock will be presented to Congress, is evidence to the citizens of this Territory of what timely agitation will do.

It is in work of this character that the people of the Territory may find good practice in cultivating the National spirit to which Governor Frear refers in his inaugural. A dry dock in Hawaiian waters of sufficient size to accommodate the largest vessel that flies the American flag is a National necessity. Early construction is not open to argument, if it be admitted that the United States of America intends to hold its own in the progress of the Pacific.

People of the mainland, intense upon their own affairs, are slow to realize how tardy they have been. Citizens of this Territory are performing a public duty in recalling the attention of their brethren to the National projects here demanding vigorous promotion and support.

Hawaii should now be prepared to bring support to the request of the Navy Department when its recommendation is placed before Congress.

FREAR INAUGURATED

delivering his farewell address. This occupied about fifteen minutes. In this address Carter took occasion to defend certain of his policies which have been severely criticized, paying particular attention to his "undated resignation" policy which came so near being the cause of a serious rupture between the Executive and the Legislature at the last session. He also denied that he had been opposed to County government.

Carter concluded by thanking the members of his official family, collectively and individually, for their services and praising them highly for what they had done. Each head of department was thanked by name, and the Governor wound up by paying his respects to Secretary Atkinson, whose loyal support, he said, had aided him greatly during his term of office.

At the conclusion of this farewell address the commission of W. F. Frear as Governor of Hawaii was read by the new Secretary, Ernest A. Mott-Smith, and Frear then took the oath of office, which was administered by the new Chief Justice, A. S. Hartwell. The audience stood while this ceremony was being performed.

The new Governor then read his inaugural address, which is given elsewhere in this issue, and the formal program was at an end.

The old and the new Governors, with their wives, and Chief Justice Hartwell and Mrs. Wilder, formed an impromptu receiving line to greet those who came forward to offer congratulations and expressions of good will.

Reserved seats were provided for the following spectators at the inaugural ceremonies: Mrs. Walter F. Frear and daughter, Mrs. George R. Carter and three children, Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, Mrs. Longworth, Mrs. E. A. Mott-Smith, Mrs. A. T. Atkinson, Honorable S. B. Dole, Honorable E. F. Bishop, Mrs. E. F. MOTT-SMITH'S CAREER

Mr. E. A. Mott-Smith was born in Honolulu on May 12, 1873, his father, Dr. J. Mott-Smith, a dentist, having located in the Islands in the year 1851. Mr. Mott-Smith, Sr., held various responsible positions under the Government, notably those of Cabinet Minister, Minister Plenipotentiary; at Washington and later in 1868 went to Washington in connection with the Reciprocity Treaty. Mr. Mott-Smith, Sr., was married to Miss Ellen Dominis Paty, daughter of General Paty. E. A. Mott-Smith when 5 years of age was taken to Boston, where he remained seventeen years, receiving his earlier education at Chauncy Hall School. In 1895 he commenced a course of study in law at Harvard College, but the death of his father in that year compelled his immediate return to Honolulu. After adjusting his father's affairs he entered the law office of A. S. Hartwell, but severing his connection with that firm, in October, 1897, he engaged with Messrs. Kinney & Ballou and in March of the following year was admitted to the Hawaiian Bar, when he opened practice on his own account. In July of the same year, he was appointed a member of the Board of Immigration. In August, 1898, he married Miss Anna Elizabeth Paty. He is manager of the Mott-Smith estate and also vice-president of the Hawaiian Trust and Investment Company. During the latter days of the Republic of Hawaii Mr. Mott-Smith served as Minister of Foreign Affairs.

FOR OUR DRYDOCK

Attorney George A. Davies received the following letter in response to the generally-circulated petition which he fathered last winter: NAVY DEPARTMENT, WASHINGTON. August 2, 1907. Sir:—Your letter of June 29th, addressed to the President, recommending the establishment of a dry dock at Honolulu, T. H., has been referred to this Department, and in reply you are informed that Honolulu is not considered the most favorable site for a dry dock in the Hawaiian Islands. However, the matter will be brought to the attention of Congress at the coming session with a view to securing an appropriation for a dry dock in the Hawaiian Islands capable of taking Naval vessels of the largest size, the location of such dry dock to be at Pearl Harbor. Very respectfully, TRUMAN H. NEWBURY, Acting Secretary. Mr. Geo. A. Davies, Room 21, Campbell Block, Cor. Fort and Merchant Sts., Honolulu, T. H.

RESIGNATION IS ACCEPTED

Miss Yarrow Asks For Speedy Action

A meeting of the members of Central Union Church was held last night at which Hon. P. C. Jones presided. After a prayer and song service the business of the evening came up for consideration,—the accepting or rejecting of the resignation of Miss Florence R. Yarrow. The standing committee presented the following letter which was read by one of that body: "To Central Union Church: I hereby tender my resignation as pastor's assistant of Central Union Church, to take effect December 31, 1907, when my year expires. If you desire, however, I will close my work October 1, my resignation taking effect at the close of my year. To say that it is easy to sever my connection with Central Union Church would be saying what is not true. I have loved the work as my life and have spared no thought, time or strength for the upbuilding of the church. It has been first in thought and deed all the time I have been connected with the church, therefore it is with the deepest regret and sorrow of heart that I now, after eight years of service, lay down my loved work. Wishing for the church the blessing of God. I remain yours in His service, FLORENCE R. YARROW. August 5, 1907, Honolulu." After the reading of the letter of resignation Miss Yarrow arose and urged upon those present to take action at once without any further questioning as to the reasons which brought about the tendered resignation. A lady who is not a member of the church spoke at some length regarding the good work done by Miss Yarrow. That she has carried light, comfort and happiness into many homes. Other ladies of the congregation told of the sterling worth of Miss Yarrow. The action on the letter of resignation was then voted upon. Some dozen raised their hands in favor of acceptance, and nearly the same number were in favor of rejecting the resignation. A lengthy resolution was then read wherein the good work done in the past years by Miss Yarrow was much praised and appreciated and regret expressed at the turn affairs had taken. After the meeting it was stated by an officer of the church that the cause of Miss Yarrow's resignation was that the Rev. Doremus Scudder desired a young man as his assistant. As previously stated Mr. Scudder forced Miss Yarrow's resignation.

The young ladies are worthy representatives of the islands. They are of island birth, were educated in the island schools, and three—Miss Aloiau, Miss Sadler and Miss Saffrey are successful teachers in the public schools of the Territory. They will tour the Coast under the chaperonage of Mrs E. T. Weatherred, leaving Honolulu on the steamer Sierra Sept. 4.

When the tour is complete these young ladies will have travelled a greater number of miles than any party ever sent out by an American newspaper.

GOV. FREAR'S INAUGURAL ADDRESS

Vigorous and Conservative Policy Is Outlined By Hawaii's New Governor --- Reviews Success Of Past and Dwells Upon Immediate Problems

Lord Bolingbroke, in his essay on the study and use of history, quoted from an ancient Greek, that "history is philosophy teaching by examples." One of the best philosophies which history thus teaches is that of faith in the future.

This it does not alone by self-sacrificing deeds and brilliant achievements which excite admiration, but even more by aggregations or successions of events and conditions which disclose movements, relations and tendencies. He who looks solely to the immediate or the isolated risks finding cause for pessimism alone; he who takes a comprehensive view can scarcely avoid an uplift to heights of optimistic courage and endeavor. Weeds of bickering and greed and spite ever stand conspicuous in the foreground, but by raising our eyes and looking back along the avenue of time, we may behold the stately palms of purpose and progress; happy are we if thus inspired we may turn and catch, through the mist of uncertainty or even apparent gloom, a vision of the opening future.

In no history is the philosophy of faith taught more clearly than in that of Hawaii. It is a great history in miniature. In small compass and the short span of a century it exhibits the problems and their solutions that have made up in large part the histories of great nations of centuries' growth—problems religious, educational, hygienic, racial, social, political, industrial.

For nearly a century Hawaii has been a sociological experiment station or laboratory. The problems have been those of the elevation of an aboriginal race from a state of pagan barbarism to one of Christian civilization and the realization of Anglo-Saxon ideals in a tropical environment. The solution has been, not by the slow process of self-evolution, nor by the forced imposition of foreign ideas, but by development through the peaceful yet rapid introduction of such ideas and their gradual but ready assimilation by the native race—the process of natural growth under artificially improved conditions.

The three main general agencies of modern civilization, the church, the school and the printing press, were brought to Hawaii in 1820. The influences of the better classes of whites coupled with the receptiveness of the natives for higher things and the recognition by the wisest of their chiefs and common people of the necessity of keeping pace with swiftly changing conditions if they would continue numbered among the nations of the earth, produced results that cannot but excite marvel. The natives soon graduated from the field of missions, a Christian nation; they quickly became one of the least illiterate of peoples; they rapidly acquired high moral, social and political standards and have manifested increased capacity for their attainment. There was swift transition from a state of feudalism to one of individual ownership of land; from a government of absolute despotism to one of limited constitutional monarchy and further, even before annexation, to one of advanced republican form. Industries were built up as circumstances required or permitted, until Hawaii attained first rank in point of high development of one of the world's greatest industries, and her inhabitants became one of the most prosperous of peoples.

These achievements were due mainly to American influences; here, indeed, grew the only community American spirit on foreign soil. So quiet were the workings of these influences that they permeated the native mind and heart without violent shock; so powerful, that the two races soon found themselves akin in spirit and aim; so rapid, that Hawaii, though the much-coveted gem of the Pacific, was enabled to preserve her independence against designing nations until manifest destiny required her adoption by the Great Republic, and then so thoroughly imbued was she with American principles that she was received as one of the family, and not as a mere possession.

Let us not be deceived into supposing that all this was merely fortuitous. The inspiration that comes from the study of Hawaiian history is not mere optimistic enthusiasm nor superstitious hope for future good luck based upon past fortune, but faith—faith that enables us to cry, with the poet, "The future I may dare to face, now I have proved the past." One cannot read that history intelligently and sympathetically without being impressed by the unflinching operation of the law of cause and effect. The Hebrew seer learned from history that, "Righteousness exalteth a nation; but sin is a reproach to any people." The strong Kamehameha I. went far toward discovering the same truth with the faint light that he had amidst the darkness of his own people and the godlessness of most of the whites with whom he came in contact. The magnanimous Kamehameha III. realized it when on the restoration of independence he gave to his people their national motto. High purposes, adaptability to conditions, vigorous and united effort—these rather than favoring circumstances account for Hawaii's moral, political and industrial progress. Biologists emphasize the factor of inheritance and the slowness of the evolutionary process; geologists discourage with their conns of time; but Hawaii's sociological laboratory shows what man can do through earnest and thoughtful endeavor just as her geological laboratory shows what nature can do under special conditions of climatic and volcanic intensity.

The same lesson of faith is taught by the story of effort and accomplishment under Territorial government.

Seven brief years, and yet what grand results, if we but pause to view them!—years, it is true, largely of adjustment to new conditions but equally years of advance. Natural feelings of sadness and even of bitterness over loss of independence—feelings not confined to Hawaiians alone—have passed from the stage of outward manifestation and in large measure from existence; there is every reason for belief that the Hawaiians will soon have passed from a state of reconciliation to one of the same ardent loyalty and patriotism towards their adopted country that characterized their attitude toward their former country.

The first legislature seemed to justify the contentions of those who opposed manhood suffrage; but how splendidly succeeding legislatures have proved the contrary!

The entire body of Hawaiian statute law has been put in compact and harmonious form and added to by numerous other laws remedial and constructive.

Government by the fictitious beneficent despot or even by a commission would be unsatisfactory, demoralizing and unworthy of a people at all capable of self-government; for the same reasons, government by limited suffrage cannot be justified where unrestricted suffrage is compatible with safety.

While the Hawaiians, composing the majority of voters, have not as a rule exhibited strength in initiative or administrative qualities, they have displayed in a remarkable degree qualities more essential in an electorate,—amenability to reason and a disposition and capacity to make right choices. The chief executive office has been filled by men of rare singleness of purpose, breadth of view and courage of conviction; the high standards of aims and methods and results which they have established under special difficulties will be hard to maintain.

It is true, the Territory must confess humiliation for a time through corruption and inefficiency on the part of several subordinate officials, but the lesson from this and from the promptness and vigor with which the condition was met has proved quite as valuable as that condition was painful.

The judiciary also experienced turbulent times for awhile owing to the grave and difficult questions that arose out of the new conditions and the disposition of some to bring the courts into politics, but has long since been restored to the high status previously enjoyed for half a century.

Local government has been established without the baneful results predicted—more expensive at present and perhaps in some respects less efficient than centralized government, but on the whole more satisfactory and educative to the masses. Public bankruptcy, threatened by the transfer of import duties to the Federal government, has been averted, and equilibrium restored between public revenue and expenditure. Recovery has been had from a calamitous pestilence, accompanied by an extensive conflagration, in the capital; scientific investigation has been begun for the ultimate eradication of the most dreaded disease; the public health has never been better safeguarded than now from dangers within and without.

Our industrial system has survived an excess of expansion followed by a period of low prices, epidemics of plant diseases, and scarcity of labor. Disastrous experimentation with one of Hawaii's gravest questions has had its natural culmination in a saner control of the liquor traffic. The schools have grown in quality of work as well as in numbers of pupils notwithstanding a period of abnormal inadequacy of funds. Progress has been made in the application of advanced penological principles, especially as applied to juvenile delinquents. Evidences of moral and religious quickening are apparent on every hand. Much has been accomplished in the construction of public works, preservation of forests, settlement of public lands, introduction of labor of citizen-making material, establishment of diversified industries, execution of irrigation projects, utilization of water power. And thus the list might be continued, but what of the future?

The good work thus begun in so many directions may be expected to continue and new work be undertaken in other directions. Our great president has the interests of the Territory deeply at heart. The recent visits of many members of Congress and the appropriations made by that body at its last session to an amount bearing appropriate relation to the revenue obtained from the Territory, indicate that acquaintance with our needs is sufficient to insure our due at the hands of the National legislature.

The developments of seven years call for changes in the Organic Act of the Territory with a view to greater simplicity in the machinery of government, greater economy and efficiency in its administration and greater elasticity and scope in its powers. What we ask of Congress is indeed reasonable and in the main for the national weal as much as for the local—appropriations for harbors, light houses, naval stations, military posts and fortifications, the public health—at this half-way station between the Occident and the Orient.

In asking let us cultivate the national spirit—readiness to bear our portion of any burden that may be required for the common good and, if need be, to do our part in the defense of our country through this outpost. The past augurs well for the future as to the work of our own Legislature, and the responsibility rests on the people to make that what they will.

Courtesy, adherence to law and efficiency as well as honesty must be exacted of every public officer.

But, after all, what may be accomplished through governmental action depends in large measure upon the vigilance, energy and cooperation of the citizenship at large, and even then the sphere of governmental action is circumscribed,—as it should be. The government is not, ought not to be, and cannot be a panacea for all ills. Individual ingenuity and enterprise must be the mainstays of a people that would grow and be strong and free.

Here in Hawaii are found such problems as exist nearly everywhere; these, though presenting difficult phases at times, need cause little anxiety. We may also expect to cope with the questions that arise out of the peculiarly cosmopolitan nature of our population—in the same spirit of justice toward all and freedom from race prejudice that has characterized the past.

The question both of paramount importance and of superlative difficulty concerns the character of the future citizenship of the Territory as dependent mainly upon the immigration, labor, industrial, school and land policies. Shall the Territory be dependent upon a single industry, and that be conducted on the present plan, or shall the policies of homesteading, small farming and diversified industries, both manufacturing and agricultural, be pressed?

It will be conceded that the Territory should not, if it can be avoided, keep all her eggs in one basket—especially when that basket's upsetting is threatened by probable tariff revision. Doubtless, also, no unprejudiced person would deny that the highest interests of these islands require them to be peopled as far as may be by small landed proprietors.

The disputed ground lies in the possibilities of attaining these ends.

The difficulties must not be underrated; the process by which they may be overcome will be slow; but true Americanism, as related to problems of this nature, consists not in waiting for something to turn up, nor in sound of trumpets, nor even in energetic action by traditional methods, but in vigorous action, it may be for traditional ends, by methods found through careful investigation to be adapted to the specific conditions.

Faith in what may be accomplished by such methods is justified by the history of our present chief industry. For forty years before the reciprocity treaty that industry was a tottering infant with scarcely better prospects than have other industries at present, and even long after the advantages of the treaty began to be enjoyed one venturing to predict that that industry could eventually attain more than a small fraction of its present proportions would have been branded as visionary. If the success of that industry during the last quarter of a century has been due to anything outside of the free admission of sugar into the United States it has been due to the application of scientific methods to every phase of the industry except—it is to be regretted—its most constant and troublesome phase—that of labor. In the light of experience in the industry, and of the progress that obviously to any careful observer has already been made in the direction of homesteading and diversified industries, and the plain probabilities of favoring conditions in the future, it would be reckless to assert impossibility of overcoming the obstacles. Under these circumstances the supreme importance of the end calls for heroic effort toward its accomplishment even at the risk of failure.

The aim must be for the highest class of citizenship possible. Japanese and Chinese citizens by birth under the constitution are growing to manhood and womanhood in constantly increasing numbers; it is no longer a matter of doubt that under proper training they will prove themselves worthy of their citizenship. Hawaiians and Portuguese form the bulk of our present citizen population; it cannot be questioned that they may become successful landed proprietors in far larger numbers than at present.

To what extent Anglo-Saxons may become such, whether tilling their lands exclusively themselves or employing others to assist, is not so clear.

The statutes should be amended if necessary to enable us to obtain in adequate numbers immigrants of desirable races; the highest types available and adaptable to local conditions should be secured; those reared here should be trained with reference to existing conditions.

The difficulties, apart from questions of immigration, are mainly those of suitability of crops, methods of cultivation and manufacture, irrigation, transportation and market. The limitations of the occasion forbid detailed consideration of these, whether as to progress already made towards the solution of each or to favorable considerations for the future. The solution will constantly grow easier. The rapid filling of the great West will drive increasing numbers to these islands as settlers and tourists, and at the same time furnish a growing demand for our products. The expanding commerce of the Pacific, arising largely out of that growth of the West and the awakening of the East, aided by the construction of the Isthmian canal, will enlarge the market for the products of this pivotal point as well as increase its facilities of transportation out of all proportion to its separate importance. The development of harbors already begun will enable us to take advantage of these favoring circumstances and at the same time will encourage the building of belt lines of railroad about the principal islands. Such lines will remove one of the main obstacles now confronting the would-be settler, not alone by facilitating transportation to and from the seaboard and reducing its cost, but by affording means of conveying crops to central factories and furnishing the advantages of competing factory owners. Development of internal means of transportation will make possible the production for local consumption of much that it now imported in such enormous quantities.

The Territory is underpopulated; it needs development along many lines in proper relation to each other in order to reach the highest point of efficiency through division and combination of labor and capital. Changes that may at first seem inimical to this enterprise or that will in the end prove advantageous through the general upbuilding. Many of our lands do not require irrigation; as to those that do, failure to devise feasible methods of irrigation for small proprietors would mean stultification in view of the recent reclamation projects of the west, the ancient complicated systems of Hawaiian water rights, and reputed American ingenuity and enterprise. The Planters' Experiment Station, the Federal Experiment Station, the Bureau of Agriculture and Forestry, the College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts, the special employment of experts and scientists in many lines indicate a disposition to pursue appropriate methods for discovery of suitable crops and methods of cultivation and manufacture. The public schools must be directed by the same spirit of inventiveness and adaptability in order to meet requirements by instilling into rising generations respect for manual labor and interest as well as instruction in agricultural and mechanical pursuits.

The factors are many; all must be made to contribute.

The more detailed the consideration the more feasible appears the object, but in general it would seem strange if the spirit that is converting what was once called the "Great American Desert" into what is coming to be called the "Bread Basket of the World" cannot insure success in a land of such salubrity of climate, fertility of soil, favorableness of location and natural attractiveness as these islands possess.

The policies of small landed proprietorships and diversified industries are not necessarily antagonistic to the prosperity of the sugar industry. There is no inherent reason for opposition to that industry; every reason for aiding it. Probably nowhere are business enterprises, large and small, conducted more generally under corporate forms, but probably nowhere are they conducted more honorably or with less abuse of capitalistic power. The sugar industry is the proverbial goose that lays the golden egg—from which directly or indirectly the Territory and her people derive their main support. To destroy or seriously cripple it would deprive us of what we have and render us impotent to get what we want. If it were still in its infancy it would call for most strenuous efforts to bring it to its present extent and state of efficiency.

Our policy should be constructive, not destructive, nor even substitutional except as to methods.

Indeed, far from being in opposition, the campaigns for small

GOV. FREAR'S CAREER

Walter F. Frear, the Governor of Hawaii, was born at Grass Valley, Cal., October 29, 1863. He removed with his parents to the Hawaiian Islands when he was ten years old. His father was pastor of Fort street church, Honolulu, also served as president of Oahu College.

Mr. Frear graduated from Oahu College in 1881 and the same year entered Yale University, whence he graduated with a Bachelor of Arts in 1885. He then spent a year in Hastings Law School, San Francisco. Returning to the Islands he was for two and a half years an instructor at Oahu College in Greek, mathematics and political economy. After a year in General Hartwell's law office he returned to Yale, for a course at its law school, graduating in 1890 with the degree of LL.B. (magna cum laude). He also won the Jewel prize for the best examination. The same time he was elected to the Phi Beta Kappa society of his alma mater.

Mr. Frear spent a summer in Europe and returned to Honolulu, being admitted to the local bar.

His first appearance on the bench took place on January 1, 1893, when Queen Liliuokalani appointed him as second judge of the Circuit Court of the first judicial circuit. On March 7 of the same year President Dole of the Provisional Government appointed him as second associate justice of the Supreme Court. On January 6, 1896, under the Republic, President Dole made him first associate justice. He was acting chief justice from 1899 to 1900, becoming chief justice in July of the latter year. Having filled the office one term he was reappointed by President Roosevelt on June 14, 1904.

Judge Frear on August 1, 1893, married Miss Mary Emma Dillingham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Dillingham. Mrs. Frear is President of the College Club, has published a book of children's songs especially adapted to Hawaii and has been active in public work. Judge Frear with President Dole of the Republic served on the Hawaiian Commission in 1898 to frame a system of government for what was to be the Territory of Hawaii, the other members being Senator Cullom, Senator Morgan and Representative Hitt—the two last-named of whom are dead. For some years he served on the board of trustees of Oahu College. He is a trustee for the landholders of the Oahu Railway & Land Co., and a director of B. F. Dillingham & Co., Ltd. Last year he was elected vice president of the executive committee of the Central Improvement Club of Honolulu. Since March, 1904, he has been the recording secretary of the Hawaiian Historical Society. Governor Dole appointed him as a member of the Law Compilation Commission in 1903, his colleagues being Arthur A. Wilder, now second associate judge, and A. F. Judd. This body submitted to the Legislature on February 14, 1905, a ponderous volume of more than 1400 pages which was adopted by legislation as the Revised Laws of Hawaii. Judge Frear is a member of the Pacific and University clubs.

landed proprietorships and the sugar interests should be, for best results to each, in closest conjunction. It is not too much to expect this. Those in control of the sugar plantations are among the most public spirited of our people or of any people; more than that, they need the small settler as much as he needs them.

The land laws must, of course, be applied liberally for the promotion of settlement and strictly for the prevention of speculation or of absorption into large estates, but these very objects demand that the laws should be applied with due regard to facts.

It would be fatal to those objects to divide among small settlers, as leases to plantations expire, sugar lands which IT WOULD inevitably soon pass to the plantations in fee, BE FATAL - whether because purchased for speculation or because impossible of successful cultivation on a small scale under specific conditions of irrigation, transportation, capital or other difficulties.

Until such conditions change, such lands should be leased to the highest bidders, thus securing revenue to the Territory, aid to the plantations, and above all, the retention of the lands for purposes of settlement when conditions warrant.

The lands most suitable for homesteading should be the first to be utilized for that purpose.

When circumstances permit or require, the utilization of other lands for the same purpose will doubtless be found consistent with the prosperity of the sugar industry. Meanwhile those in control of the sugar plantations are in duty bound from considerations both of the public welfare and of self-interest to offer every aid possible towards the homesteading of suitable neighboring lands. Thus will be guaranteed both success to the small proprietor by providing him a sure source of income through the sale of products or labor to the plantation, and the advantage to the plantation of a change from an evanescent supply of labor requiring constant expensive replenishment to a permanent, efficient and economical, because a self-propagating and attached, supply. Even before annexation the contract labor system had largely disappeared; long since, the purchase system, in one form or another, possessing in some degree the principle of profit sharing, has come into general practice, with increased returns to both planter and laborer; more recently the planters have begun extensively to provide laborers with homes of sufficient size for resident and garden purposes; already a beginning has been made towards cooperation in various ways by the planters with the government in the establishment of homesteads of sufficient size to support families independently - in one noteworthy instance by the erection and operation of a central factory for canning pineapples raised by the homesteaders - the advantage to the plantation consisting in the certainty that a large proportion of the stronger members of the families will desire work on the plantation much of the time; it may yet, in the natural course of events, prove to be to the advantage of the sugar planters to have their operations confined to central factories, and their lands, whether now held under lease or in fee, subdivided and sold to settlers.

"The conclusion of the whole matter" is that setting aside all meanness of spirit we should one and all proceed, with faith in the possibilities of high purposes, right methods and persistent and united effort, to the grand task of building up our fair Territory to the utmost in every possible way. Then will her political, social and industrial life be in harmony with the purity, beauty and grandeur of her azure skies, opal seas and richly variegated mountains and valleys.

SPORTS

TO MATCH BURNS AND JOHNSON

New York, August 4.—Charley Harvey, the local fight promoter, today received a telegram from Jimmy Coffroth of San Francisco, in which the California fight magnate offered a $25,000 purse for Jack Johnson, the negro heavyweight champion, to meet Tommy Burns.

Coffroth wants to get Johnson and Burns together for a 45-round battle for the championship of the world, which he claims Jeffries has relinquished definitely, to be held at the Colma Club in California on September 9. Burns is now in San Francisco and is in constant touch with Coffroth. As soon as he heard of the offer he accepted it without hesitation and it is more than likely that Johnson will jump at the chance.

FORGED TO QUIT

Dover, England, Aug. 6.—Jabez Wolfe, the amateur swimmer, in a fifth attempt to swim the English channel today, had accomplished a record swim from the South Foreland, getting within three-quarters of a mile of Cape Blanc, France, in the fast time of 15 1-2 hours, when the turn of the tide carried him away from the land and necessitated the relinquishment of his attempt.

OFFERS TO BRITT AND GANS

Jim Coffroth offered 70 per cent of the gross receipts for a fight at Colma on September 9.

Jack Gleason offered 75 per cent for a fight at the baseball park in San Francisco on the same day. In addition to a percentage, he guaranteed that the share of the fighters would not be less than $25,000.

Jim May, the representative of the Reno Athletic Club, made a flat offer of a $35,000 purse for a fight at Reno on September 2.

SPORTING GOSSIP

It may not be the good fortune of the New York baseball enthusiasts to see better games played this year than those between the Giants and Chicago in the series ended this week.

Not only were the players at their best in the field, and the pitchers working marvelously well, but the deportment of the men throughout the contests was admirable. On the first trip that the champions made to New York they were inclined to be noisy and boisterous. This time they went about their business in a clean, systematic manner that was heartily commended by the large crowds that saw them play.

It is certain that spectators will never object to a little sprightliness and plenty of life throughout the games, but they no longer care for the roughness and the back talk to the crowds that were too common two or three years ago. A series like that between New York and Chicago will be remembered for a long time after contests which were marred by rowdy conduct and language wholly unnecessary to elevate the game.

As the Chicagoes were criticized somewhat harshly, and deservedly for their manner of deportment in the first series, it is just as fair to praise them for the fine attitude that they took in the second series. They gained far more by it than they could by a continuation of the growling and snarling that gave a tinge of bitterness to the earlier games.

Another reader of the Evening Telegram desires to know whether it is true that McGraw has been spending most of his time at the race tracks instead of being present at the ball ground. No, that is not true. McGraw has been to the track during the season. Two or three of the afternoons when he was there no ball game was played at the Polo Ground. Probably on two or three days there was a game when McGraw was at the track. But what of it. It is purely his business and that of the club. If there are no objections to his going to the race track on the part of the owners surely there is no particular reason why the remainder of the world should become excited about it. Whenever McGraw leaves the Polo Ground for any reason, he also leaves somebody behind him whom he can trust, and who knows his methods well enough to follow them. Anyhow, whenever he has been absent the Giants have won, except in one instance. Guess that defeat couldn't very well have been avoided if he had been there.

In matters of this nature it appears in all fairness as if the argument lay between Mr. Brush and McGraw. They are the parties of the first part and the second part, as it were. It is the privilege of the owner of the club to permit his employes to try to take care of themselves in their own way. They seem to be old enough to do so.

Speculation is rife as to who will be the doubles partner of Beals C. Wright, the international lawn tennis team member, when he returns to this country to participate in the Eastern doubles championship at Longwood Cricket Club. It seems to be pretty well understood that the old combination of Wright and Holcombe Ward, holders of the national title, will be broken up this year, as a result of which Wright will have to play through the tournament with a new partner.

It was said, after Wright and Karl H. Behr went to England to strive for the Davis Cup, that upon his return he would pair with Raymond D. Little, captain of last year's Davis Cup team.

Washington, D. C., Friday.—The Potomac Boat Club is going after national honors and hopes for the credit of the city to land one or more events at the championship races next month. The racing committee of the club had been given authority to engage a professional coach to help Captain Carl Mueller in his development of the crews, and this committee has taken final action.

Victoria, B. C., Aug. 1.—"Provided I can find a good track in the United States I am going for every world's record from 100 yards to 1000," says B. R. Day, who arrived here yesterday on board the Manuka from Australia. Day is the short-distance professional champion runner of Great Britain, who has just completed a successful tour of Australia and New Zealand, where he met the champions of each country. While in Australia, Day established two new world's records over circular tracks, running 175 yards in 0:17 4-5 and 440 yards in 0:47 4-5.

Mr. Day is the professional runner who was desirous of giving an exhibition of running a couple of weeks ago in this city, but the short stay of the Manuka prevented it coming off.

Ogden, Utah, Friday.—At the Glenwood bicycle saucer track two world's records were lowered. A. J. Clark (professional), of Australia, broke the record for one mile, 1:49, made by Floyd McFarland in Australia two years ago, his time being 1:48 2-5.

Walter Demara (amateur) broke the record of 29 second for one-quarter mile open amateur, made by Fred G. West two years ago on this track. The new record is 28 2-5, which is one-fifth of a second lower than the professional record made by Iver Lawson in Salt Lake July 22 of last year.

There is a German baseball team in Milwaukee of which the citizens of that city are over proud. Among the players are men with the following names: Doyle, McCormick, McCann, McChesney, Dougherty and Connors.

Newport, R. I., August 2.—Mrs. Sears of Boston, the national women's tennis champion, won the Casino Cup in the women's tournament by defeating Mrs. Wallach of New York in the finals today, 2-6, 6-4, 6-4.

Southampton, August 2.—The American motor-boat Dixie, owned by Commodore E. Schroeder of the Auto Boat Club of America, today won the race for the international marine motor cup in Southampton waters, beating the nearest British boat, Daimler II, by three-quarters of a mile over a thirty-five mile course.

Trenton, N. J., July 23.—The attempt to hold an automobile race for the Vanderbilt cup in New Jersey, in the opinion of State officials here, is doomed to failure. Adverse public sentiment and the discovery that the law passed by the House three weeks ago is probably unconstitutional, in that it grants to automobilists privileges denied to other persons, has dimmed whatever enthusiasm there was to Mugsey McGraw for $8,500. This is the highest price ever paid for a minor leaguer, and the sale was the result of a spirited bidding between New York, the Philadelphia Nationals and Boston Americans. Thoney leads the Eastern League in hitting and is among the best basemen and fielders. Though he has already had a whirl in fast company and made a failure, McGraw seems more than eager to take another chance with him. Eight thousand, five hundred dollars is a whole lot of money to pony up for an outfielder. If Thoney were a crack pitcher or was here for the race, and it is believed that the Senate will kill the bill.

When Hen Berry reads this he will doubt elevate the price he has set on Cravath and Carlisle 500 per cent. Toronto has sold Thoney, an outfielder, catcher the price would not seem quite so steep. McGraw evidently realizes that some of his old stars are waning and he needs younger timber.

One of the most peculiar plays ever seen on a baseball field was made by Mitchell of Cincinnati, in Brooklyn on Friday, when he, an outfielder, completed a double play unassisted.

Lumley was on first, in the second inning, when Hatch lifted a short fly to right, which Mitchell nailed. Lumley had been tipped off on the hit and run, and was crossing second when the catch was made. The judge refused to make the vain attempt to regain first and Mitchell strolled in from the field and tagged first.

The Fitzsimmons-Johnson fight only drew $4,700, and still the promoters have gone to court in an effort to cheat the boxers out of their money. Judging by the fuss that was made over the affair one would think that the coin taken in at the box-office broke all previous records.

Los Angeles, Cal., July 20.—Jim Jeffries has announced that he will on Monday commence training at the Los Angeles Athletic Club. Jeffries says the training is for his health, but many of his friends think the retired champion desires to see if he can get in good shape again to re-enter the ring.

Poor old Bill Delaney! How he must feel the downfall! Once a handler and trainer of Jim Corbett and Jim Jeffries, but now the rubber of Bosher Bill Squires.

London, July 22.—In the contest for the Davis Cup, the international tennis trophy, today, A. W. Gore and H. Roper Barrett, British Isles, defeated Norman E. Brooks and A. F. Wilding, Australia, in the doubles by three sets to two. Score: 3-6, 4-6, 7-5, 6-2 and 13-11.

As Bulletin Artist Caught Polo Players

Excellent Playing Of Maui Men Beats Oahu At Polo

They played polo yesterday afternoon. Maui played it for three periods and Oahu played it for one. With that balance in Maui's favor she won out hands down, the score at the end of the game standing 8 to 5. But it was a good game with a hot finish. If Oahu had played during even half the game as she played during that one last period the heavy end of the score would have been on the other side of the score-board. Maui men deservedly. The Maui men played a good, clean, hard game from start to finish—and then they had the ponies. Whenever a Maui man got the ball with a clear field in front of him there was no chance of watching him. He would run the ball down the field and have a fair chance for a goal without any interference. They had plenty of ponies and changed whenever those they were riding showed any signs of tiring. But it wasn't all the ponies, though the latter appeared to know the game about as well as their masters. The riders themselves did work that showed their winning was not a piece of luck, and they were experts at back-handed strokes, a point of the game in which Oahu appeared to be deficient. Krumbhaar, particularly, had this stroke down to perfection. Oahu was badly handicapped by two of her men being in no condition to play. W. D. Baldwin was not at all well, and J. L. Fleming was hurt before the game began and so painfully that he was sick all the time he played. Yet he stuck to it, and in the last period pulled himself together and did work that had seemed impossible for him to do. Shingle and Walter Dillingham did their best to ward off the defeat they saw staring them in the face and both played a good game. For three periods Maui had it all her own way and simply played with Oahu, apparently making goals almost at pleasure and keeping the ball in Oahu's territory almost all the time. Oahu made two goals during these three periods but was compelled to make four safeties which, combined, lost one whole point for the side making them. But when the last period began it at once became apparent that something had happened to the Oahu men. They started in with a vim and determination that had been lacking in their earlier play, and simply ran Maui off the field. Both men and horses seemed inspired by a determination to make up for their loose play, and if there had been another period to play they would have stood an even chance of winning out.

The day was ideal for polo, and apparently everybody in town who had any kind of a rig took advantage of the opportunity to go to Moanalua. The polo field was the Mecca for long lines of automobiles, carriages, horsemen and women and pedestrians. A singular lack of enterprise on the part of the stables and those who might be expected to be on the look-out for a chance to make a few extra dollars was shown in the fact that, with the exception of one rig that would hold about eight or ten people, there was not a conveyance of any kind to be had at the end of the car line. There were fifty automobiles on the polo grounds, forty-five of them being parked along one side of the field. In addition, there must have been about 200 rigs of other kinds. Many people got out to the grounds on foot, and the crowd was a big and enthusiastic one. Everything went off well, though the pleasure of the day was somewhat marred by the accident to Mrs. Ballou, no one knowing how seriously she was hurt by the over-turning of the automobile in which she was riding.

ANOTHER TEAM

Honolulu, Aug. 12, 1907.

Sporting Editor Bulletin. Dear Sir:—Why would not the following be a strong team to pit against the Coast League boys? Catchers, Davis, Lyman; pitchers, Joy, Hampton, Reuter; first base, Gleason (Captain), E. Desha; second base, J. Williams; 3rd base, Hampton; shortstop, Evers; left field, E. Fernandez; center field, Aylett; right field, Darcy.

Can you beat that team? The weakest point is catcher, but Lyman is first choice. When he quit he was batting way over the .300 mark and throwing better than any of them. Joy, of course, would pitch. Gleason or Desha on first base. Gleason to captain the team from the bench or when he is playing. Desha with practice would make a better man than Pat as he is a harder hitter and faster on the base lines. I would give them both a chance. No one can question J. Williams at second, Hampton at third or Evers at short. These lads can all stick over .250. Fernandez is the fastest outfielder in the league; he covers much ground. Can outfoot any man in the league on the paths. He is leading the league in sticking. He is first choice for the field. Aylett for center on account of his stick work and fielding. Can you remember when this lad dropped a ball? No. Darcy in right for his hitting ability. Both he and Aylett are .300 men.

Here is a team that with the help of En Sue, Louis and Lemon, that would give any team a fight. This team will average almost .300 at the bat and they can also go some in the field. Put these lads against that Coast layout and you will get a run for your money.

Of course fans will differ in their opinion as to a team to represent Hawaii but I feel confident that those in charge will do the right thing when it comes to a selection.

Yours for good ball, JOHNNIE BUNT.

Buffalo, July 29.—Jockey Bullman and J. J. Walsh have parted, Walsh having released him from the contract he held on his services. There are some differences about money matters between Bullman and Walsh, each claiming that he has been mistreated, and the case has been laid before the stewards.

President Comiskey has told his Chicago players that to win the championship again they must beat out the Athletics. No doubt Manager Mack has told his men that to win they must beat out the White Sox which means that in the opinion of their leaders the race for first place is between these two teams.

MRS. BALLOU HURT

Mrs. S. M. Ballou, the wife of the Associate Justice, who arrived here a few days ago, was yesterday hurt in an automobile accident at the polo grounds. She and several other ladies were in their auto, driven by Ballou's Japanese chauffeur. The car had been stopped on the slope but, according to the Japanese, the brakes failed to hold. The car ran backward until two of the wheels went over the side of the road and the machine was upset. Mrs. Ballou received a severe shaking up and had her shoulder thrown out of joint. Her injuries were attended to by Dr. Wood, whereupon she was taken to her home.
