TAFT TO PRESS THE BUTTON

ELKS' SPECIAL CARNIVAL EDITION

Hello, Bill!

President Ready to Open Elks' Carnival Tuesday Night.

Will Open Carnival

Do you who will probably see the lighting of the Elks' Carnival at seven o'clock on the evening of February 21st really appreciate what it all means? Can you actually make yourself believe that by the mere pressure on a push button in the city of Washington, at about 1 a. m. Wednesday morning a fete will be started in Honolulu at 7 p. m. the day before? Astounding as this may be is it not more astonishing that the ruler of nearly one hundred million people, at the behest of some three hundred of Honolulu's Best People On Earth, is going to do just this very thing? President Taft after his day is over will be in direct connection with Honolulu, his finger on one end of a telegraph wire with the eyes of multitudes in Honolulu on the other end waiting to note the exact moment when the President's finger will push the little button on his desk.

For possibly five minutes Honolulu will have the right-of-way over the whole world on the Pacific Cable Company's lines. This means something more than a mere message. It means that no matter what business may be in a hurry, no matter how important a message must be sent from any one of the hundred million people in the United States, it will have to give way to the President's message to Honolulu Lodge No. 616, B. P. O. E. This does not mean so much to the Lodge as it does to Honolulu. The mere stoppage of the work of the cable for just five minutes for a clear line will certainly make thousands who have never even heard of Honolulu or Hawaii sit up and take notice. Mention of the fact of Taft's message will be printed broadcast over the world wherever newspapers are printed. It will be the longest, direct wire ever used for a purpose of the kind by any human being.

Honolulu is to be congratulated on the fortunate suggestion made several months ago that the President be requested to do what he is going to do. There was a unanimity of opinion on the subject that there was no gainsaying. Honolulu got what she asked for and at a good deal more personal inconvenience to the President than would be the sending of a nomination to the Senate for confirmation. "There's a reason," also a moral.

SHRINERS FLASH ALOHA FROM SHIP

James S. McCandless, illustrious potentate of Aloha Temple, this morning received three wireless messages from George Filmer, who is in charge of the big bunch of Shriners on board the Wilhelmina. Several more names are added to the list as originally given. Today the final disposition of the Shriners among the hotels is being made. Imperial Potentate Fred A. Hines will stop at the Young Hotel. The others are to be put up at the Young, the Seaside, the Royal Hawaiian, and the Hau Tree.

WHERE WILL SOLONS GET PAY? NO DISBURSING AGENT IN THE TERRITORY TO HAND IT OVER

Who is to pay out the Federal fund appropriated by Congress for this session of the Legislature? Last session Secretary Mott-Smith acted as disbursing agent, and everything was ready for the opening of the Legislature.

It seems that someone has slipped a cog this time and the members of the Senate and House will have to wait for their mileage, and the officers and clerks of the Legislature will not receive their pay today as was expected. The money has not come, neither is the disbursing agent here.

Whether the Secretary, who is returning to Honolulu on the Siberian which arrives here on Wednesday next, has the legislative money in his inside pocket or not, is not known, but it is hoped that is so. Falling the arrival of the Federal money, the clerks will be paid out of the Territorial funds appropriated for the expenses of this session.

Congress made the appropriation this year $30,000. This goes for the incidental expenses of both houses, the pay of the officers and clerical assistance.

The failure on the part of the Territorial government to construct the new Kapiolani Home for Girls, for which purpose an appropriation of $15,000 had been passed by the last Legislature, caused surprise this morning in the House. Representative Correa introduced a resolution demanding an explanation from the Territorial government of why it did not carry out the wish of the people, through their representatives in the Legislature. The resolution was referred to a committee to investigate.

Shortly after the invocation had been said by Chaplain Rev. S. L. Desha, Speaker Holstein proceeded to turn the wheel of legislative machinery in motion. He announced that Governor Frear had sent an invitation to him, asking the members of the House to be present at a banquet to be given at the University Club on Thursday night, February 23, at 7 o'clock. The invitation was accepted with thanks.

Superintendent Poole of Public Instruction, Dr. Pratt of the Board of Health and other heads of departments will submit their lists on Monday.

Speaker Holstein introduced a bill asking for an appropriation of $20,000 for the construction of a new wharf at Waikiki, and another item for the same amount for a new wharf at Kaneohe. Referred to finance committee.

Waikiki of Lahaina, Maui, asked for $25,000 for the construction of a new school at ahaini. Finance committee.

Mahoe of Waialua wanted $12,000 for a new courthouse at Waialua. Referred to finance committee.

A number of House bills which passed first reading yesterday, passed second reading this morning. Most of them were referred to the Judiciary committee.

After the speaker's desk had been cleared of all business, the House adjourned until Monday morning at 10 o'clock. After that the members, under the leadership of Speaker Holstein, called on Queen Liliuokalani at Washington Place, on Beretania street.

UNCONSCIOUS 48 HOURS, UP JOHN DIED IN HOSPITAL FROM EFFECTS OF BRUTAL ASSAULT BY HAWAIIAN

F. Upjohn, who was assaulted on the night of February 15 in front of the Winston block, died last night at the Queen's Hospital from the injuries he received.

The deceased was from the survey ship Explorer, and on the night of the assault he was in the alleyway near the building when a Chinese steward of the Explorer got into an altercation with a Hawaiian girl who worked in one of the ice-cream parlors.

The girl started to assault the Chinese when the latter passed some remarks to her, and then William Keola mixed up in the affray. To help the Chinese, Upjohn went into the place, and the attention of the Hawaiian was turned to him.

Keola followed Upjohn to the sidewalk and struck him under the chin, lifting him into the air above three feet, and when he came down he struck the sidewalk heavily.

He was unconscious when picked up and taken to the hospital, and never regained consciousness before he passed away last evening.

Keola, when brought up before Mc-

Duffie and Attorney Brown, admitted that he struck Upjohn once, but whether of the affair say that he struck him several times.

He claims that Upjohn attempted to strike him while he was holding the girl, and it was then that the blow was struck.

Koala has been arrested several times for vagrancy and fighting.

When examined at the hospital, Upjohn was found to have a fracture of the skull over the right eye, starting from the ear in a curving direction for about six inches. Another fracture runs from the first toward the eye, being two and one-half inches in length, and extending to the temple bone.

All over the surface of the brain was an extensive hemorrhage.

The deceased was born in England and was but twenty-six years of age, single.

Deputy Rose and Dr. Emerson viewed the body this morning, and an inquest will be held tomorrow night at seven-thirty.

Keola was arrested last night by Mc-

Duffie.

CONTINGENT FUND EXPENSE SHOWN IN REPORT PRESENTED TO SENATE THIS MORNING

FOURTH DAY.

Contingent Fund.

The report of the holdover finance committee, named before the adjournment of the session of 1910, was presented to the Senate this morning, including the segregated items of the $26,000 contingent fund appropriated by the session of 1910 for extraordinary expenses. The report on the contingent fund showed that only about $15,000 of the fund had been expended by the Governor up to December 31, 1910.

The money of the contingent fund expended under the authorization of the Governor is summarized as follows:

Normal School Junior, $46.	Daily Commission, $60.75.
Normal School expenses, $114.30.	Truck Farm Commission, $39.16.
State Auditor, $1044.78.	Homestead Commission, $877.29.
Food Inspector, $225.	Wharf Commission, $1494.21.
Insanity Commission, $6.26.	Land Board secretary, $50 per month, $288.32.

Appropriations not yet rated, insufficient.

Boys' Industrial, $9.80.	Attorney-General, $50 per month, $260.
Oahu Prison, $25.	Deputy Attorney-General, $50 per month.
Third Circuit, $576.57.	The schedules of the committee report are exhaustive.
Tax Bureau, $605.15.
Harbormaster, Honolulu, $12.
Landing and wharves, Maui, $369.58.
Quarantine, $3698.93.
Attorney-General, $50 per month, $260.

Deputy Attorney-General, $50 per month.

The schedules of the committee report are exhaustive.

PIONEER MILL CO. WILL NOT CUT DIVIDENDS IS DECISION

Pioneer Mill Company's announcement after the annual meeting this morning that the big plantation will maintain the present dividends for the coming year, together with a better report than was expected from Manager to Weinheimer, was the feature of the local sugar market today. The Pioneer dividend was reported to be in the balance, at least a possible subject for another cut, but after the meeting it was stated that it will be maintained.

Manager L. Weinheimer reported in part as follows:

"Crop 1910—We started grinding this year on November 26, 1910, a little earlier than usual, and finished August 1910. The total output was 27,398 tons of sugar at an average polarization of 96.65 deg. This crop was harvested from 1968 acres of plant, 1511 acres of long ratoons and 257 acres short ratoons; a total of 2745 acres, averaging 7.28 tons of sugar per acre. The increased area, compared with the acre given in last year's report, is due to a new survey of the fields during the last year. It took 6,900 tons of cane to make one ton of sugar, as against 6,78 tons for the crop of 1909.

"Crop 1911—This crop consists of 2,158 acres plant, 1729 acres long ratoons and 135 acres short ratoons, a total of 4022 acres, from which I expect 28,000 tons of sugar. We commenced grinding this crop on December 12, 1910, and have manufactured to date 4638 tons of sugar. The juice stands somewhat lower than at the same time last year.

"Crop 1912—Consists of 2675 acres plant, 1765 acres long ratoons and 168 acres short ratoons, a total of 4042 acres. This crop is not as far advanced as crop 1911 was at the same time last year, the dry weather during August, September and October keeping us back with the planting, which was not finished until November.

"Sugar Factory—The work done in our factory has been very satisfactory. The total number of days grinding was 217, or 869.12 tons of cane per day, against 267.88 tons of cane per day the previous year, or 87.36 tons of cane per day less. The reason for this decrease was due to the boiling house. As crop 1911 is a larger one we made several improvements in this department, having installed ten new crystallizers, four 40-inch centrifugals and overhauled the two pans which gave us considerable trouble during 1910. The mill also has been thoroughly overhauled and put in good running order so as to enable us to take off this crop in a shorter time. Several minor improvements, such as an automatic scale, bag-sewing machines, portable carrier belt sugar conveyor, and automatic bagasse feeder have been installed, and are now working satisfactorily. The old wooden boiler house has been replaced with a larger steel building which adds considerably to the safety of the factory.

"The Kihonua flume, length 6300 feet, which would have had to be entirely reconstructed during the coming year, has been replaced by a tunnel 5300 feet long, which will be finished next month and be sure to catch all the storm water.

"A ditch, flume and siphon have been constructed through the Kihonua and Kahuna gulches, which enable us to take the Hemokuan, Honokowai and Wahikuli waters over to the Lahaina section of the plantation, thus relieving the Lahaina pumps.

"The laborers' cottages have been improved, and 24 new cottages for families have been built. Many of the larger houses have been rebuilt into smaller cottages for families.

"The largest part of money for improvements has been spent on developing, storing and controlling the water. By tunneling 13.4 million gallons have been developed; one reservoir has been enlarged by eight million gallons, and one new one built with a capacity of nine millions. The ditches and flumes have been leveled to enable us to make better use of the rain and fresh waters. A new concrete office building has also been constructed during the past year.

"No extensive improvements are planned for the coming year except the enlarging of the Wahikuli reservoir and the building of a hospital."

All officers were reelected, as follows:

J. P. Hackfeld, president; D. P. Riesenbeck, 1st vice-president; H. Fochi, 2nd vice-president; W. Pfotenhauer, treasurer; F. Klamp, secretary; A. Hancher, auditor.

The above officers, excepting the auditor with J. A. McCandless and F. W. Macfarlane, constitute the board of directors.

EDITORS ELK EDITION EVENING BULLETIN.

THE BIRTHDAY OF A GREAT ORDER.

February 16 is an era notable in fraternal societies, as the birthday anniversary of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks. The Order was the outcome of a happy inspiration of the noted ballad singer, Charles Algernon Sidney Vivian, who gathered around him in New York, in 1863, a few kindred artistic spirits into a local social organization which at first confined to members of the theatrical and musical professions, extended next to the journalistic fraternity, and has now expanded into a grand benevolent order whose doors are open to all lovers of humanity, to all Good Samaritans, to all who are willing to recognize the Brotherhood of Man by aiding the suffering, nursing the sick, burying the dead and ministering to the necessities of the needy.

When the demand for membership became so great as to compel the enlargement of the scope and purposes of the little original society, the title of Elks was adopted, February 16, 1868—a title distinctly American, as is also the Order, whose membership and lodges are confined exclusively to the United States and its possessions.

The highest officer was at that time entitled the Right Honorable Primo, the Exalted Ruler being next in rank, but the first title was discontinued on the adoption of the ritual in 1883, and the Exalted Ruler became the highest official.

"Tall oaks from little acorns grow," and the tiny seed planted by Charles Vivian has grown into a mighty forest, shading, ornamenting and enriching every State. From the storm-swept coast of Maine to the placid shores of the Mexican Gulf, from the silvery Potomac to the winding Rio Grande, throughout the broad, breezy, boundless West; along the fair Pacific coast from sunny California to the snowy realms of the far Northwest, where hosts of sturdy men are thronging now in search of yellow gold, are spread the lodges of the Elks, whose latchstring always hangs outside, ready for the grasp of the hand of the suffering.

For benevolence—the charity which is "the greatest of all"—is the corner-stone of the great Order whose ministrations have gladdened so many sad hearts, brought comfort to so many needy homes, illuminated so many despairing faces with hope and gratitude, brought joy and gladness to so many wretched little ones. In many of our great cities the Christmas donations of the Elks exceed those from any other source, and donations of tons of fuel and thousands of baskets of provisions are distributed, among deserving and needy persons, and thousands of childish hearts are gladdened with gifts from the wondrous Christmas trees prepared by the Elks for the occasion.

Each year, in honor of the Brothers who have passed away, is held a public Lodge of Sorrow, one of the most impressive services in all the range of memorial meetings. The beauty and pathos of the ritual enlist the sympathies and command the admiration of all, and eloquent tongues, inspired to fresh eloquence by loyalty and friendship, pay homage to their departed Brothers.

But the Elks are by no means a gloomy band of ascetics or fanatics. To get good, as well as do good, is their object, and no other order is more famous for its entertainment in which invited guests often participate. And if anyone has ever attended one of the "functions" and failed to have "a good time," there is something out of gear in his mind or his liver, for of all hosts the Elks are the jolliest. Bubbling over with fun and hospitality, the brothers abandon themselves to the genius of merriment, and songs, stories, jokes, witcisms and comicalities innumerable expand the surest face into the grin of Momus, and create a rise in the price of vest buttons.

Almost 375,000 strong, the growth of this great Order has just begun, and every week new lodges are erected, and hundreds of young Elks swell the mighty antlered herd.

The people are learning that this is an order which means something, does something, and as they see the good which it has accomplished and is accomplishing, the best, truest, mildest men of each community are attracted towards the young Order, and the ripples, caused by the little stone cast into the water, continue to spread in ever-widening circles, each circle embracing a wide area, until there is no predicting where the movement will stop.

Of such a body of men the Bulletin is proud to be the organ and exponent, and, hoping ere long to see them 500,000 strong, wishes them health and prosperity and many happy birthdays.

TO THE PUBLIC.

Imbued with the carnival spirit, the Elks by the courtesy of the editor and manager, herewith present to the public this issue of the Evening Bulletin.

With the feeling of good fellowship toward all and malice toward none, we have sought to give to the public something out of the ordinary in local journalism. It is not our purpose to offend even the most sensitive, nor do we wish the public to take seriously what has been written about any one of the many whose names appear in this issue.

Inspired by that buoyancy of spirit, which is characteristic of the Order, we have sought to bring mirth and sunshine into as many hearts as possible.

Let no one be offended, but accept everything that may seem personal in the same spirit which is intended.

JUST A LITTLE TIP

The Legislature has settled down to work in businesslike fashion and it now looks as if this were to be the most sensible session in the history of the Territory. But there are a few members who already show signs of dying off the handle and trying to put through certain measures that will not be for the best interests of Hawaii. The Bulletin sincerely hopes that these members may early be persuaded of the error of their ways and may be prevailed upon to reform.

With the object of pointing the way to a quick and businesslike session, the Bulletin desires to mention a few of the pitfalls that should carefully be avoided.

There has, for one thing, been considerable talk concerning the advisability of extending the scope of county government and turning over more money and responsibility to the several counties. For instance, some members favor turning over the Honolulu water works to the county. Nothing could be a more grievous er-nor nor one calculated to work more irreparable injury to the taxpayers.

Marshall Campbell, superintendent of public works, has been a most efficient and masterful manager of the water works system of this city has been greatly improved and extended. Any change in the way of curtailing his powers and responsibilities would be most regrettable and the Bulletin hopes that any action long along that line may be abandoned and a vote of confidence in Mr. Campbell unanimously adopted by the Legislature.

The Bulletin is also sorry to note that there has been in certain quarters in the past a note of hostility toward Governor Frear. This certainly is unjust. The governor has been a careful and most efficient executive and his strong right arm should be held up by the Legislature and he should be given every assistance possible in carrying out his plans for the betterment of the Territory.

In this connection it may not be out of the way to say that there has in the past been far too much politics connected with county, territorial and municipal government. What difference does it make whether a man is a Republican, a Democrat, a Home Ruler a dynamiter or a Congregationalist if he is a competent and honest official? What the people want is results, and in the face of that it seems little less than ridiculous to require that before he can be appointed to any official position an applicant must have the endorsement of his precinct club or the county committee. That really makes it appear that we are governed not by executive officers elected to do the public business but by Republicans or Democrats, according to which party happened to win at the last election.

The Bulletin, therefore, sincerely hopes that the members of the Legislature will, in their deliberations, forget that they are members of any political party and will do whatever they can for the advancement of the best interests of the people as a whole.

THE LION AND THE LAMB

The entente cordiale existing nowadays between the Advertiser and the Star is almost touching enough to bring tears to the eyes of the readers of both these daily. Nothing like it has ever before been observed in the history of the newspaper business in Honolulu. It is doubtful if anything like it will ever again. But it is most beautiful while it lasts.

It is a game of "You scratch my back and I'll scratch yours." The editor of the Advertiser, for instance, writes an editorial on almost any subject and says almost anything about his subject. Next day the editor of the Star writes an editorial in which he complements his brother in arms on the excellence of his diet, the perspicuity of his perception and the clearness of his logic, not to mention the illiteracy of his grammatical construction.

The third day the editor of the Advertiser once more takes his trusty typewriter in hand and emits another opinion in which he metaphorically puts the erstwhile treacherous editor of the Star upon his editorial back, telling him what a duc of a good fellow he is, praises his ideas as the day before expressed and generally pours soothing syrup all over him.

The clarity of spirit so exhibited is, as before remarked, most touching. The only question remaining is as to who is going to make the first touch and whether or not he will get away with it.

NOW IS THE TIME.

It may be considered by some that it is a little bit previous to talk about the "doings" of Hawaii at the Panama-Pacific Exposition to be held in San Francisco in 1915, but we don't look at it that way.

It is over four years to the date set for the big event on the coast, and it would seem that there is plenty of time to carry out the most elaborate scheme in the line of an exhibit. Four years will slip by pretty fast, and there is nothing to lose and everything to gain, an early start on Hawaii's greatest effort can be made now.

Hawaii can afford and should provide the most attractive and unique exhibit at the exposition.

It is safe to estimate that ninety visitors out of every one hundred who attend the exposition will come from continental America or Europe, and any exhibit of a tropical nature, be it fruits, flowers or trees, will catch the eye and retain the memory longer than the commonplace exhibits of the States.

This exhibit will certainly bring glory to the Paradise of the Pacific. We cannot begin the task too soon. To accredit ourselves in a way befitting the status that we think we now occupy in the world is going to take a good deal of money, a good deal of time, and a great deal of energy. The preparation for the assembling of the Territory's representative enterprises will take a monotonous lot of work and thought. Civic and commercial bodies should get busy at once with the preparation.

This is Hawaii's chance to shine before the world and we are going to do it. It is not too soon to commence work.

GENERAL BOOTH WILL UNDERGO OPERATION FOR CATARACT ON EYE

LONDON, Feb. 2.—General Booth, head of the Salvation Army, will soon undergo an operation for cataract on his left eye. It will be recalled that, although an operation for cataract on his right eye some time ago was temporarily successful, he eventually lost his sight in that eye. The growth of a cataract on the other eye has since blinded him entirely. He has not seen for a long time the audiences he addresses. He is now eager to submit to another operation, believing that it will completely restore the sight of his left eye.

Ships That Passed In the Night.

Pastor Pete Phillips saw things last night. He returned to Honolulu by the Maha Kea this morning and taking the Elks' Bulletin reader away back behind a stack of fertilizer delivered himself of the following information.

Phillips said that he sighted the steamer Helene off Molokini point and the steamer Iwahiki was steaming near Kipu Light both vessels being bound westward.

President and General Manager Kenney of the Inter-Island Steam Navigation Company left the above, he simply having a deep drawn sigh of relief.

The Elks' Bulletin representative then sought a purer atmosphere.

WAILUKU, Maui, Feb. 17.—The board of trustees of the Maui Chamber of Commerce—Hon. H. P. Baldwin, chairman; D. H. Case, secretary—met at the latter's office in Wailuku last Wednesday, and among other matters noted upon the following resolution was passed unanimously:

"Whereas, The board of trustees of the Maui Chamber of Commerce have been given to understand that in the report of the Superintendent of Public Instruction, soon to be presented to the Territorial Legislature, provision has not been made for proper and necessary educational appropriation for the County of Maui; therefore, be it

"Resolved, That this board earnestly request the Maui Senators and Representatives in the Legislature to take such steps as will result in securing to this county such educational appropriations as will meet the needs and requirements of our schools both as to buildings and equipment; and that action be taken thereon before the Governor presents an appropriation bill to the Legislature."

PLAQUE DEATHS 100 EACH DAY

(Associated Press Cable.)

PEKING, Feb. 17.—Plague conditions show no improvement. From the north the reports received tell of horrors added daily to the situation, with the death roll mounting up by thousands. The population in the Manchurian cities is beyond control and the efforts of the Japanese and Russians to check the ravages of the pestilence are being met with open opposition.

An official report was issued today by the viceroy of Manchuria, in which he estimates that to date sixty-five thousand have died of the disease. Those who have kept in touch with the situation believe that this estimate, terrible as it is, is far too low. Some estimate the number of dead at least twice that number.

The Russian authorities have reported that at Kwantungtsay, the terminus of the Chinese Eastern Railway, the deaths are at the rate of a hundred a day and that five thousand corpses are still awaiting cremation at Pudzidian, thirty miles northeast of Harbin.

The situation in other towns is equally terrible. Mountains of corpses are heaped on the ice of the river Sungari at Tumen in order that when the ice breaks up the river will carry off the bodies.

REBEL MEXICANS ROUT FEDERAL TROOPS

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 17.—Mexican revolutionists, who have been lying in wait between Campo and Jicaranda for the approach of General Vega's force of Federals, succeeded in ambushing the regulars today and in the fighting that followed the Federal leader was seriously wounded and his force dispersed. General Vega was carried off the battlefield by five men, who, at first reports, were attempting to evade the rebel pursuit and get their general to some place of safety.

The rebel force was much larger than the detachment of Federals, being composed of actual revolutionists, outlaws and many Indians of the Cocopah tribe. They knew every foot of the various trails through the mountain passes and were kept fully informed of the progress of the Federals by the residents of the district.

According to the plans of the rebel leaders, the victorious force will now move on to Tia Juana, where a new government will be proclaimed.

INVESTIGATING CHARGES OF GRAFT

SEATTLE, Feb. 17.—The special grand jury drawn to investigate the charges made against former officials of graft through accepting bribes from the keepers of brothels, commenced its work today. Among those charged is former Mayor Gill, recently "recalled" through the efforts of a good citizens' league and the votes of the women of this city.

MOB STEALS TRAIN.

ASHLAND, Ore., Feb. 17.—A mob composed of members of the Industrial Workers of the World today took forcible possession of a train and left for the south. It is believed that they intend to attempt to reach Mexico, there to join the revolutionists.

DANGER

FROM RATS!

They Do $50,000 Damage to Property in Honolulu Yearly —Are Serious Menace to Health.

Authorities Will Wage War Against Rats and Moles and All Other Insects Should Join in the Work of Exterminating These Pests.

Rats do $50,000 damage every year to goods in Honolulu, wholesale and retail houses. It is estimated.

Their ravages in the jobbing houses were worse in 1910 than ever before, and many of the losses were due to the rats.

By buying several boxes of the large size of Stearns' Electric Rat and Roach Paste, the only reliable exterminator for these pests.

In the United States, England and Germany, the rat annually damages property to the extent of $30,000,000. Sir James Crofton-Brown, president of a recently formed international union of exterminators, who were together for the extermination of rats, declare that every rat in the United States costs the citizens at least two cents a day for its board. And there are millions of rats, each female increasing the rat population some fifty or more a year.

The rat is eternally hungry, and in the average house, barn or store, he inflicts serious property damage in a short time, while with the farmer, entire crops are destroyed. Poultry houses, fruit gardens, all kinds of vegetable gardens, are no wonder that Stearns' Electric Paste has such a large and rapid market both in the United States and abroad. The roach breeds rapidly. Its sole enemy has been other rat poisons, and these have been completely overcome by the new product, driving the rodents out of their holes.

Give no quarter to the stern enemy of the scientists who are directing the world-wide war against the rodent pest. It is really the last of the many industries needed in the world.

As general service, we are freely and sincerely and a serious agent for attacking all manner of pests. The rat and the roach especially prove the power by which that terrible disease, bubonic plague, may easily be transmitted.

The great plague plague is spread by the rat, and it was only through the persistent efforts of the scientists who are directing the world-wide war against the rodent pest that the pestilence was exterminated from the country.

As general service, we are freely and sincerely and a serious agent for attacking all manner of pests. The rat and the roach especially prove the power by which that terrible disease, bubonic plague, may easily be transmitted.

In the war on rats, that amounts results can be obtained. Our local and State governments are doing their best to effect efforts to check their extermination, and every household should give its personal aid in the extermination of this dangerous animal.

The rat-proof construction of buildings and the use of Stearns' Electric Rat and Roach Paste, that can be bought at any drugstore, will go far toward assuring public safety. The use of this paste for the extermination of rats and mice have been experiments with, but they appear to be the most effective and reliable exterminators. Stearns' Electric Paste is much less and whose cost is much less and whose cost is much greater.

A 25c box of Stearns' Electric Paste will kill off all the rats and mice in a house in a single night.

WATER BUGS, COCKROACHES, BED BUGS

and other vermin are quickly killed by Stearns' Electric Paste. Very easy to mix.

PLAGUE WARNING

Stearns' Electric

Departments of public health everywhere are thoroughly familiar with the methods adopted by the authorities in San Francisco in their crusade against rats, and most earnestly request that all citizens should join in the general destruction of rats, using any and all methods that will produce the best results, including Stearns' Electric Rat and Roach Paste. It was used successfully in San Francisco, the authorities there buying many thousands of pounds.

WHO WILL PASS THE ELKS' FREAK

It is up to Dr. Ramm, or Dr. Nordgaard, to pass on an exhibit for the coming Elks' carnival which is soon to arrive from the west. The question is, Is the exhibit man or beast? and who are the scientists of two continents at longlength? The Sells-Elfto Circus shipped the freak at once to Paris, and it will arrive on time for the carnival at the Elks' Carnival, at the U.S. Deems, who lately arrived here for Alakea wharf. Some claim the wild family at Wailuku.

man is human, while others claim it is an animal. Now, who has jurisdiction—Dr. Ramm, as chief quarantining officer, or Dr. Nordgaard, as Territorial Veterinarian? One passes the buck to the other, and in the conflict between the two departments, the wild man may not grace the Elks' Carnival. Elms declares, however, he will land the freak somehow and have it or him on deck at the carnival, in spite of everybody. He has certainly started something and the end is not yet in sight.

RECREATIONS

THE BIJOU

Saturday night at the Bijou Theater is one of the events of the week. Then it is that the laboring man loves to take his family out for an evening, and there is nothing more reasonable in the way of entertainment than an hour and a half at one moving picture show and then, if desirable, another hour and a half at another moving picture show. The films at the Bijou are excellent, and there are numerous attractive vaudeville stunts which please,

THE EMPIRE

There will be a matinee at the Empire Theater this afternoon, as there is every afternoon, and there will be the regulation two performances this evening, when good pictures will be presented, including the exciting baseball game in which a bulldog tackles the umpire; and the famous "cowboy" picture in which Western out-of-door men do deeds that are unusually extraordinary to the casual observer, but which are matters of everyday duty with the cowboy. The late Dolliver & Rogers are on in dainty dances, the most entrancing couple in the terpsichorean art.

THE SAVOY

Be sure to attend the Savoy tonight to see the Doric Trio, most popular of singers in the male persuasion ever starring on the Long Brilliant Esplanade in Honolulu—we have said Great White Way before, and must change the description. They are singers with the heart as well as with the voice, and they stir an audience to a strenuous degree. Also great fun to be seen and other attractive vaudeville stunts.

Thomas de Mello, representing Armstrong of Troop G, stationed at Schofield Barracks, Leilehua, called at the Bulletin office this morning and stated in effect that a contest between Fink and Armstrong ought to be a winner.

Armstrong is perfectly willing to meet Fink at catchweights, conditioned on one month's notice. The one offering the largest purse will pull off the fight. It is immaterial to Armstrong where the contest is to take place.

Armstrong has already had two contests here, in which he showed class and speed. Fink is a well-known marine from Camp Very, and a contest between these men ought to draw a large crowd.

If Fink wishes to consider a challenge, the columns of the Bulletin are open to him.

Honolulu Rapid Transit and Land Company.

The annual meeting of the Honolulu Rapid Transit and Land Company will be held at the office of the company, 609 Stangenwald building, Honolulu, T. H., at 3:30 p. m. on Monday, the 27th day of February, 1911.

THE GREAT WHITE WAY

Miss Winnie Baldwin: What class of Elks always occupy the front row at the Savoy theater, Mr. Reporter?

Give it up,

Why, they are Bald-wins.

Miss Rogers: This is surely the B. P. O. E. town—best place on earth, at least the best town we ever showed in. I hope to some day join the Come Back Club.

Miss Dolliver: I think you ought to elect me a member of the Come-Back Club, for this is my third visit here. The last time I visited the Islands I was playing juvenile parts with the Ellerford Company, my star part being Little Lord Fauntleroy. I was then known as Baby Lillian. Yes, I was practically raised on the stage. I have been all over the United States, but there is only one city that I am always glad to play in and that is Honolulu. Oh, I just love the Islands. Everything is so beautiful here. When we were booked for the present trip I just danced for joy and I always will when I know we are headed this way. Nearly everybody in the theatrical profession has a good word for this city and everybody wants to play in Honolulu. You haven't got a better bunch of boosters in the world for the Islands than the show people who have been here. And nothing would please me more than to stay for good.

Mr. Kipling (not Rudyard): I am an Elk, but of all the Elks' lodges I have ever visited, Honolulu 616 contains more royal good fellows and brains than I have ever come in contact with. I predict that the Elks' Club will be the biggest club in Honolulu in a very short time. They are thorough bohemians in every sense of the word, and I have met "some."

Bob Hughes: I have played for lodges of all descriptions, but believe me, I never saw such a bunch of live wires in all my days as that bunch in 616, Honolulu. They certainly know how to go some.

Weiser & Weiser: Get us a steady job here and we will become permanent members of your hundred thousand club. No wonder all the show people are crazy to come to Honolulu. You've got the goods.

HONOLULU ELKS CAN POINT TO LONG AND BRIGHT RECORD HERE

History of 616 Shows Steady Development—Will Soon Move Into New Home on Alakea Street and build Another Later. Men Who Have Made the Order.

During the darkest days of the dark year of the great Civil War—1863—when the terms "Abolitionists" and "Copperheads" were hurled at one another by members of the same family with the rancor of death, Farber—then brother to the "Brotherhood" sought to "fill the breach" and when it seemed as if our great country was to tear itself rent by contentious questions that the teachings of the Great Master had been forgotten and discarded forever, a group of newspaper and theatrical men were seated in what was then a fashionable restaurant of the city of New York, situated on Broadway near Spring street, discussing a subject dearest to the times—"The Brotherhood of Man and How Best to Promote the Same." Many of the group were idealists, men who believed that despite the bitterness and strife which at that time pervaded the great nation, the American people would again take the lead in buffering a country founded on the doctrine of "Love of fellow-men," and following the Golden Rule.

organized under its present name and ritual. Its wonderful success and great prosperity need not be recounted here. It stands today preeminent among the American Orders, both by reason of numbers and by the distinction of its membership. Its lodges number upward of twelve hundred, situated in practically all of the cities and towns of the United States, and it has reached out wherever the American Flag flies, there to teach the lessons its ritual conveys, and to preach the doctrine of brotherly love.

number each member of the group wrote upon a slip of paper his idea of a emblem which would best express in a practical form the doctrine they hoped to see in the future the guiding spirit of the world. Among other emblems there written, one—"The bolts of our brothers we write on the sand; their virtues upon the tablets of love and memory"—caught the attention of a member of the group, Charles strange pastures of Hawaii found these pictures fair and fit for an antlered herd of its own. On meeting other wandering Elks who had located in these fields, through his inspiration, was set on foot a movement to inaugurate a Lodge of Elks in the Paradise of the Pacific: Francis M. Brooks of Silver Bow Lodge No. 242; William Barwick of Seattle Lodge; Horace J. Craft of Butte Lodge; J. L. Rockwell, Chas. E. Jaycox.

C. D. Laffin and Thomas Richards, also members of the Order, met in Honolulu early in 1900 and commenced correspondence with the Grand Lodge of the Order for a dispensation to organize a Lodge in Honolulu. After much correspondence a meeting was called at which was determined who would be good material as charter members of the proposed Lodge, and finally a temporary organization was formed with the following membership:

der, Frank E. Nichols, T. E. Wall, E. M. Boyd, F. E. Richardson, Lorin Andrews, G. H. Paris, H. A. Wilder, D. L. Conkling, F. T. Peachy, C. V. Keenan, J. R. Burns, A. L. Morris, J. W. Allen, Chas. E. Meston, H. H. Simpson, Geo. W. Spencer, Geo. H. Allen, W. G. Ashley, A. L. C. Atkinson, Wm. Minton, I. R. Burns, C. J. Bockus, Jacob Bearwald, Emmett May, Tarn McGrew, Chas. B. Cooper, George Cutler, Frank Woodbridge, L. D. Timmons, W. E. Fisher, Jos. Seeley, D. Whitman and A. F. Judd.

Active in this work of organization were A. E. Murphy, now clerk of the Federal Court; Frank Thompson, the well-known attorney; J. W. Allen, at that time manager of the Hawaiian Hotel; George Gear then Judge of the Circuit Court; Fred J. Church, I. R. Burns, F. W. West, and Lorin Andrews.

The early meetings were held in Waverley Hall and afterwards in the old Chamber of Commerce rooms in the Campbell Block.

Finally, and after some suspense, the glorious word arrived. A dispensation had been granted creating Honolulu Lodge No. 616, and Grand Exalted Ruler Jerome B. Fisher, of Johnstown, New York, came to Honolulu accompanied by his staff of Grand Lodge officers, and installed the local Lodge.

On the 15th day of April, 1901, at Progress Hall, the neophytes of the Order met the members of the Grand Lodge and with due ceremonies were initiated into the mysteries and taught the lessons of Elkdom—Charity, Justice, Brotherly Love, and Fidelity—to all men, and on that night the following were enrolled as the charter members of the Lodge:

F. J. Amweg, Lorin Andrews, G. H. Allen, J. W. Allen, W. G. Ashley, A. L. C. Atkinson, W. D. Adams, A. A. Braymer, E. M. Brown, C. E. Brown, I. R. Burns, C. J. Bockus, Jacob Bearwald, Emmett May, Tarn McGrew, Chas. B. Cooper, George Cutler, Frank Woodbridge, L. D. Timmons, W. E. Fisher, Jos. Seeley, D. Whitman and A. F. Judd.

Success marked the progress of the new institution from its inception. The regular meetings at Progress Hall were well attended and the members soon became devoted to their Lodge and the principles of Elkdom. After an unsatisfactory experience of moving to several different hired quarters, the Lodge obtained permanent and more suitable quarters in a building leased by them at the corner of Beretania and Miller streets. Here the progress of the Lodge was ever upward. Its membership increased rapidly with the inauguration of each new set of officers, and with the increase of membership came a sociability and good-fellowship which made membership which had an enabling effect upon its membership which was seen in their daily lives.

The private charities of the Order were carried on without ostentation or notoriety. Its Christmas donations to the poor and needy were made without demonstration. Its helping hand was ready for the sick and distressed of its own Order, whether from distant cities or from this locality. These quiet charities and the fruits thereof all found their place in the upbuilding of Honolulu, and became a silent but no less powerful factor in the creating of better ideals in this community.

In 1906 the Lodge found that it could no longer remain in its then cramped quarters, although the lease had many years to run, and after financial arrangements had been made involving the termination of the then existing lease of the quarters on Beretania street, the Lodge moved to King street, securing the two upper floors of the Cooke building, where it is at present situated. Here its growth has again been phenomenal, and the members decided that the only possible solution was to secure and build a home of their own so that on the 14th day of January, 1911, the Lodge bought the present Y. M. C. A. building on the corner of Alakea and Hotel streets, where it proposes to erect a palatial clubhouse and a permanent home for the use of its members.

The "Social Sessions," the "High Jinks" and other affairs indulged in by the Order, set standards of entertainments which have never been equaled in Honolulu, and invitations to these affairs have always been greatly prized. But the people also learned that to be an Elk meant something beyond good fellowship. There was a serious and patriotic side to the Carnival which, in conjunction with the Floral Parade, is advertised throughout the United States, and brings to our shores thousands of tourists each February.

The initial Carnival of 1910 was a glorious success and marked an epoch in the social life of Honolulu, and this year's Carnival bids fair to greatly surpass its predecessor.

The Elks believe and intend that as their Lodge has grown, so will this event grow until its magnitude can be estimated only as the magnitude of the present Lodge was estimated by the faithful band of charter members who instituted its career ten years ago.

Looking back through the decade just passed, a great deal of this success has been due to Past Exalted Rulers C. B. Cooper, F. M. Brooks, F. E. Thompson, J. H. Fisher, G. H. Angus, F. E. Richardson, H. E. Murray, W. H. McNerny, and E. A. Douthitt, who so capably handled the affairs of the Lodge during their respective terms of office. Faithfully and zealously they guarded the trust reposed in them, and to their untiring efforts is due the eminence which the local Lodge has attained.

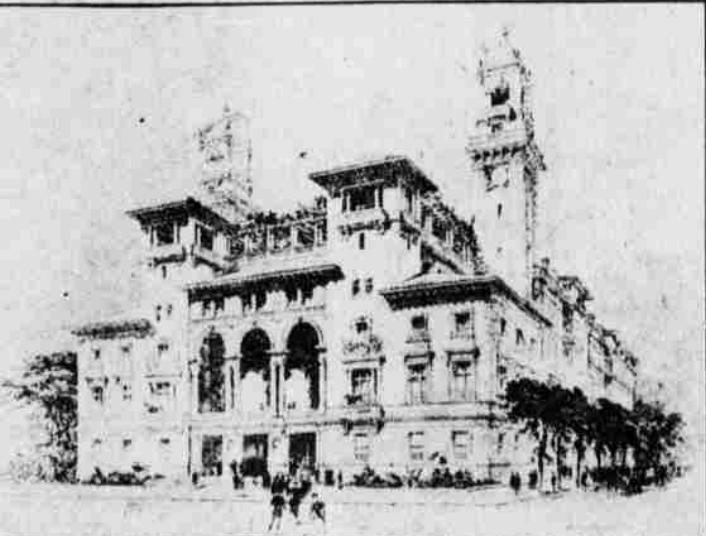

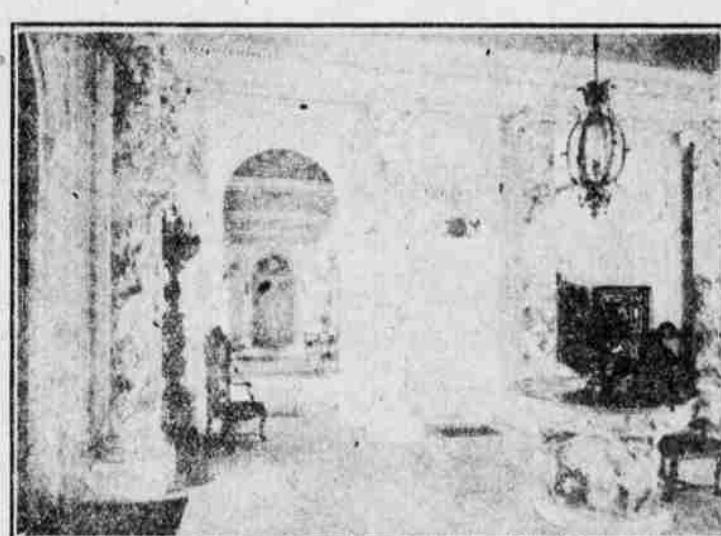

To the present Exalted Ruler, James D. Dougherty, has come the splendid opportunity of culminating the work of his predecessors by securing a permanent home for the local Lodge, an opportunity which was grasped with rare executive ability and skill, and to whom great credit for this achieve-

MARATHON RACE
FOUR DAYS OFF

King Training Regularly But Others On Quiet May Be Surprises.

Soldier King did his last hard work yesterday afternoon before the great Marathon, which is scheduled for Wednesday of next week, doing twenty miles in one hour and fifty-seven minutes, finishing at the Y. M. C. A. building at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

Jackson accompanied him part of the way, but owing to the straining of a tendon in his leg the Marathon Kid will be unable to enter the race on Wednesday.

"It is all off with me as far as the race is concerned," said Jackson yesterday afternoon. "I will train King now on but that is all I shall do in regard to the race. My leg is in such shape that there will be nothing doing for me in the race. I am going to stand on the side-lines and root for King. That's all."

From now on King will do nothing but easy work short runs every other day just to keep himself in good condition to meet the best runners who can be turned out on Wednesday.

"Say, I think I could beat Kao at Marathon at Chinese dinner," said King yesterday when he ran into the sporting editor of the Bulletin. "You know I did a lousy job on that show that was put up by the Chinese Athletic Union last Sunday for you saw me at it. That was sure some feed, and I think if I can't get Kao on the running start I'll challenge him for an equal Marathon with a regular Chinese dinner. That was all right."

Kao is working out in the early mornings when other runners are fast asleep and it is hard to get a line on what he is doing, but there is nothing sure and that is that the old Wahaha Hone is going to make the race of his life over the distance he arrives.

claims the Territorial championship and the fans who go out to the Athletic Park on Wednesday afternoon will have the time of their life watching the old men run against the youngsters.

If he wins out it will be the most remarkable feat that an athlete of his years has ever accomplished and he will richly deserve all the credit that is coming to him.

Tsukamoto, too, is out after the first place in that race and he is working out in the country where there is no chance of finding out what he is doing.

If the Japanese can run the way he did in Japan in September he has the Hawaiian championship clinched securely, and both King and Kao will have to take a back seat.

That run of thirty miles in Japan shows that Tsukamoto is a shyster and he should be among the first to cross the line in the Marathon here even if he does not break the tape first.

The chances look bright for him in the race, in fact brighter than for any of the other runners.

Charlie, the Chinese runner, is doing faithful work and if he does not finish with the rest of the bunch he will create a lot of fun while he is making the circuit of the track.

The weather for the past week has been so cool that work on the track put over but at the finish the visiting put over four baskets which won the game, while the men from the fort could neither prevent them or score for themselves.

At the end of the first half the score stood 16-8 in favor of the C team, and then after the second opened each team made points enough to tie the score at 16-all.

From that time on the game was fast and furious, and the whirlwind finish handed four more points for the visitors, while the home team could not score.

The lineup for the Y. M. C. A. was:

Fort Shafter—Right forward, Woodruff; left forward, Chilton; center, Putnam; right guard, Hudeley; left guard, Marlowe.

Details—Baskets from field, Honan 5, Larimer 4, Silva 1, Maby 1, Chilton 3, Woodruff 2, Fulton 4; baskets from goal, Woodruff 4, Honan 2; time of halves, 15 minutes.

Y. M. C. A. Defeats Fort Shafter at Basketball for the First Time.

Beaten by four points was the fate of Fort Shafter basketball team last evening, when they went up against Team C of the Y. M. C. A. at the fort, the final score being 20-16 in favor of the town team.

This is the first defeat that the soldiers have suffered this season, but the game was hard fought, and for a time during the second half the score was tied, each team having sixteen points to its credit.

It was some game, and each team went for the baskets as if they liked them. Captain Honan of Team C scoring five field goals and two from foul for his side.

HOW THE ELKS WORKED, AS DOPED OUT BY MUGGS, THE OFFICE BOY

"Say, boss," and the office boy came over to the sport writer's desk and sat on one side of it while he lit a cigarette. "These Elks are sure a hot bunch. They are getting out the pot today, yes, they are."

"Well, yes, and do stuff was going on vacation, etc. Looks like it round this office. Everybody here, and dev was even goin' to do my walk today."

"Aw, it makes me tired. Run a paper, say, tree of the guys just had a scrap outside. One feller said yes he come in and said, 'Nothing doing; you kid drifted out to tell the newsies what he really thought of the crowd inside, 'Who is this chap Douthitt? Six and his remarks were picturesque."

DOTS AND DASHES.

Two gentlemen teams from Watertown and Alex will cross bats at Alex tomorrow. A baseball game will be played. The gentlemen from Alex expect to win from the visiting team. Strong men are on the Watertown team; they work for the Hawaiian Dredging Company.

The Elks' sporting journalist wishes to state that he received some points from other sporting writers. He did not see much to write about and called for help from the regular man, who wrote two articles (doped a couple of stories, he called it). They will be recognized. It appears much easier to write one paragraph instead of a long article. That is why there is so much short "stuff" (they call it) on this page.

They tell me here in the office that sometimes a journalist writes about things he never saw. I can't write what I did see. I saw a basketball game last night, but all I got was the scores, and those were given me after the game was over.

Mr. Marcelline gave me the news tennis on Alexander courts yesterday afternoon. Three sets were played—6-3, 6-2, 6-1.

chaps were here when I come in this morning looking for him. Gee, I bet he has a job squaring himself for some things in this dope sheet.

"The little feller, Conkling, he is the main squeeze. Worked all night while the rest of the bunch slept. He oughter be the editor. He's a worker, all right, all right."

"Say, I can't tell yer what I think of this bunch. Woids fall me, as the actor guy says. Gimme a dope stick and I'll be on my way. So long."

Helping himself to a Pall Mall the kid drifted out to tell the newsies what he really thought of the crowd inside, "Who is this chap Douthitt? Six and his remarks were picturesque."

DOTS AND DASHES.

There is another thing I've just learned. The sport writer has the privilege of telling what he thinks of sporting events in these columns. He can use "I" when writing and commenting on sport events. That is a good thing, I believe, and I am going to follow in what I do for this page today.

I don't see how anyone does any work here. There are three machines—linotypes they call them—going twenty feet from where I am, and downstairs the press is running, making an awful noise. Five men are talking just behind me, and then there is another on the phone. It must be wearing to work with so many distractions all the time.

HILO, Feb. 15.—It is going to be war, merry war, on the proposition of the construction of sidewalks on Front street between Mooleau Park and Wakaka. The holders of lots who have been ordered to build sidewalks before March 10, declare that they intend to utterly disregard the notice, and that they will let the Territory make the first move.

The storm seems to a great extent to be due to what the objectors term the law-disregarding attitude of the Territory. It is pointed out that Superintendent of Public Works Marston Campbell has given notice that within thirty days of January 10 the sidewalk must be constructed on the muaka side of Front street, and at the same time he is giving notice of the sale of several lots, within the area covered by the sidewalk notice, in which it is stated that a condition of the sale will be that the purchasers must build sidewalks outside their property. "As the sidewalks, according to the notice, must be constructed before March 10, and as the sale of the lots mentioned does not take place before April 8, the critics of the administration are drawing the conclusion that the Territory does not intend to construct sidewalks outside its own lots, but that it will make all the other property-owners do so before March 10 or "Institute proceedings as provided by law," as the notice says.

This condition has been pointed out to Campbell by Attorney Wise, who made the application for the sale of the lots mentioned. Wise, by the way, is much in favor of the construction of a sidewalk to Wakaka, but he states that he does not think it proper that the Territory should force people to obey orders, with which it itself will not comply, and in a recent letter to the Superintendent of Public Works he pointed out that this attitude does seem rather paradoxical.

The Doric Trio. We show people are all hoping that the theaters will close for at least one night during the Elks Carnival so that we can take it in from beginning to end. We like to see a show ourselves once in a while and we know that when the Elks take hold of anything it is just one tremendous success. Then, too, the Elks started as a theatrical organization and we feel as though we are brothers.

Mr. and Mrs. James McDaniels entertained Mr. and Mrs. Harry Chapman in their home and Mr. and Mrs. George Carter entertained Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cooke, Mr. and Mrs. William Gantner, Miss, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Gant and Miss Achim.

Others invited were Governor and Mrs. Frear, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Atkinson, Princess Kawainui, Mr. McMillan, Miss Beatrice Campbell, Dr. Arthur Douglas, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bryant Cooper, Mrs. J. S. McIver, Mr. and Mrs. Minnie Phillips, Mrs. Meyer, Princess Kauai, Mrs. George Smith, Judge and Mrs. W. L. Whitney, Mr. Harcourt Lathrop, Mr. and Mrs. Harry MacFarlane, Mrs. James Dougherty, Mr. and Mrs. George Hemmick and others.

Princess Kawainui wore a creation of white satin and chiffon, wearing a gold corsage in her hair and necklace of diamonds, while Miss Beatrice Campbell was a severe princess gown of black velvet jet and wearing jet wings in her hair. Princess Kauai was regal in a white spangled gown over white satin with ring carriage of pearls and pearl ornaments in her culture.

Miss Smith was a confection of white chiffon embroidered in pale pink flowers, and Mr. Dougherty was dapper in a habillé gown of blue pink mescaline.

Major and Mrs. E. J. Timberlake at dinner party at Lieutenant and Mrs. Graham's quarters at Fort Shafter on Monday evening.

Red roses were used on the dinner table candlesticks to harmonize a charming effect.

Lieutenant and Mrs. Graham always entertain delightfully and on this occasion, as many old friends of Captain Booth called during the evening, many reminiscences of army life were recalled.

Captain Booth was entertained at a dinner party at Lieutenant and Mrs. Katherine Walch of Davenport, Iowa who are guests at the Young Hotel entertained Mrs. Daly and Miss Daly of Portland Oregon and Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Whitehouse in their box on Wednesday evening at the Opera House.

The program of the preceding week has been crowded with brilliant affairs, the social calendar this week is equally notable, inasmuch as the annual College High Ball of last Friday evening furnished a brilliant climax to a succession of events which will go down in the annals of Honolulu social functions.

The gowns worn at this cosmopolitan gathering of society matrons and debutantes, which were particularly admired and conspicuous are worth while mentioning in these columns as follows:

Miss James H. Higgins' looked stunning in a proletarian petticoat of dark green, covered over with antique black lace and a feather boa made of rose feathers.

Miss Alberta Snow, who, by the way, is one of the latest arrivals in Honolulu, and who has been spending the winter at Kawainui, wore a tulle skirt of pink, covered over with a cincture of Peau D'Espagne tied in a bow.

Miss Elizabeth Furt, looked quite foray, gowned in a smart frock of French organdy trimmed with lace.

The table was a symphony of red feeling into old rose and artistic and exceedingly picture-like illusion.

In the center of the table rose a basket heart shaped filled with Jacobin roses, and whose handle was tied with a large Cupid's bow made of rose pink mescaline.

Above from the chandelier, fell a shower of tiny satin hearts of all sizes, hanging by satin ribbons.

The place cards were red hearts pierced by golden arrows, and the emeraldines were shaded with rose pink fashioned like inverted roses and adorned by a fringe of red satin hearts.

After dinner Major and Mrs. Timberlake with their guests motored to the Meana Hotel to attend the dance given on that evening.

These present were: Lieutenant Andrews, Miss Edith Cowles, Miss Claire Williams, Miss Kathryn Stephen, Mrs. Vaughan and Dr. Sanford.

The table was a dazzling robe de ville, in train of black spangled net over black satin. While Mrs. Bishop wore a cream lace robe over pink silk.

Major and Mrs. Herman Focke were departing passengers in the Manchuria last Saturday for San Francisco whence they will proceed to New York before the heat of the summer descends upon the Eastern metropolis. From New York Mrs. Focke will accompany her children to Germany where the latter will enter a select school, Mrs. Focke remaining indefinitely with them.

Mr. Focke, however, will return to Honolulu.

Among those who entertained at the Opera House on Monday evening were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ivers, who entertained Mr. and Mrs. E. Faxon Bishop and Mr. and Mrs. George Parker.

Mrs. Ivers wore a dazzling robe de ville, in train of black spangled net over black satin. While Mrs. Bishop wore a cream lace robe over pink silk.

Mrs. W. H. Winters, wife of Captain Winters, 3rd Cavalry, entertained at an elaborate Valentine bridge luncheon on Tuesday evening at her home at Kamueliahu when covers were arranged, twelve.

The reception room was decorated by great quantities of potted ribbon hair and hanging baskets and here the charming hostess received her guests of the local service set.

The luncheon table was resplendent in tones of scarlet a huge heart of illusion filled with red carnations, a cluster of tiny hearts strung on ribbons cascading from the central basket.

The place cards were heart shaped, and pierced with golden arrow, and the hen-ben cups were red hearts of illusion, a cluster of tiny hearts strung on ribbons cascading from the central basket.

The shades of the house were drawn and red candleholders with silver strands and silver fringe shed a subdued but entrancing light on the pretty setting of the luncheon table.

After an elaborate menu the afternoon was devoted to bridge the three pieces of Cupid pictures being won by Mrs. Samuel Dunning, Mrs. Pardee and Mrs. Marx, respectively.

Those present were: Mrs. Montgomery Macomb, Mrs. W. C. Neville, Mrs. Kennedy, Mrs. Samuel Dunning, Mrs. A. T. Baldwin, Mrs. Koester, Mrs. Faulkner, Mrs. Putnam, Mrs. Frederick Ramsey, Mrs. Arthur Marx.

Mr. W. H. Winters, Mrs. Faulkner, Mrs. Chapman, Mrs. Willard, Mrs. Putnam, Mrs. Cochrane, Mrs. Wilcox, Mrs. Wilder, Mrs. Roy Smith, Mrs. E. K. Johnston, Mrs. George Cleveland, Mrs. Wren, Mrs. G. D. Graham, Mrs. W. B. Graham, Mrs. Pardee, Mrs. Payson, Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Calfee, Mrs. Wallace, Miss Goldman, Miss Kathryn Stephen, Mrs. Ward and Miss Edith Cowles.

Miss Claire Williams entertained at a luncheon luncheon on Wednesday, at her home at Waikiki, complimentary to Mrs. Frances Needham of Canada, her house guest.

The reception and dining room were an artistic ensemble of brown, green and gold, the former being abloom with great bronze jardinières of Japanese Day lilies and palms.

The luncheon table bore a Chelsea bowl as centerpiece whence laced Day lilies and gold brown nasturtium blossoms and foliage being strewn over the cloth.

The guest cards were hand painted in brown and gold Japanese tarbo, forming a design.

After the luncheon the hostess and her guests indulged in several absorbing rubbers of bridge.

Those present were: Mrs. Frances Needham, Madame Tenney, Mrs. F. J. Lowrey, Mrs. Weixer, Mrs. Bonham E. Dillingham and Miss Ethelwynne Castle.

A very elaborate Valentine dinner was given on Tuesday evening in the private dining room of the Moana Hotel by Mrs. James Hough when the engagement of his daughter Miss Helen Hewitt Hough to Mr. Perry Thomas Cleghorn was formally announced.

The decorations of the dinner table were carried out in red and the arrangements were suggestive of the festive season.

Captain Booth and Captain Arnold, passing through in the transport Sheridan on Tuesday, made two of a luncheon party of four at the University Club on that afternoon.

The other guest was Captain W. H. Winters of the 3rd Cavalry, and the host was Lieutenant Graham of Fort Shafter.

American Beauty roses created an alluring center piece, and after luncheon the host took his guests for a motor tour of the city including the glorious Fall and the fortifications of Fort Ruger at Diamond Head.

Lieutenant and Mrs. Smalley and Lieutenant Barrig, through passengers in the transport Sheridan on Tuesday, were motifs for a delightful dinner party at which Lieutenant and Mrs. Kingsbury entertained at the University Club.

Others in the party were Miss Edith Cowles, and Captain and Mrs. Frederick Ramsey.

The time was abloom with chaeta daisies and violets, with corsage clusters of violets as favors for the tables.

Palest green and white candlesticks a perfect illumination over the table.

After dinner the hosts and their guests motored to the Moana Hotel to attend the dance given that evening complimentarily to the officers and ladies of the transport Sheridan.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. C. von Pannier, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Douglas, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bryant Cooper, Mrs. J. S. McIver, Mr. and Mrs. Minnie Phillips, Mrs. Meyer, Princess Kauai, Mrs. George Smith, Judge and Mrs. W. L. Dear to the Hearts of the Women.

DR. T. FELIX GOURAUD'S
Oriental CreamOR MAGICAL BEAUTIFIER
An Indispensable and Necessary Article for Particular Women who Desire to Retain a Youthful Appearance.

Every woman owes it to herself and her country to retain the charm of youth and beauty which has been bestowed upon her. For over half a century this article has been used by actresses, singers and women of fashion to keep the skin like the softness of velvet leaving it clean and pearly white and is highly desirable when preparing for a day or evening attire. As it is a liquid and more agreeable to the taste than a cream, it remains unnoticed. When attending dances, balls or other entertainments, it preserves a graceful appearance of the complexion caused by the skin becoming heated.

Gouraud's Oriental Cream cures skin diseases and removes Sunburn, Herpes, Tan, Pimples, Blackheads, Moth Patches, Rash, Freckles and Vulgar Redness.

Fellow and Muddy skin, giving a delicately clear and refined complexion which every woman desires.

GUIDE, PHILOSOPHER AND FRIEND.

L OVELAND wished that he might dare to be dangerous, but the idea of having her for a friend into whose pink shell of an ear he could pour confidences really attracted him, since her value, not being cash value, could be realized by him in no other way. And, of course, if she would promise to be his friend it would be foolish to make love to her. He felt very virtuous as he laid down this rule for himself.

"I'll let you study me as much as you like and put me into your next story."

"As the villain?"

He looked rather blank. His conception for himself was always the part of hero.

"But, after all, it's usually baronets where villains—in stories and plays," she went on. "A marquis—you are a marquis, aren't you?—may perhaps be a fellow being."

"Please treat me as such, then," said Loveland.

"I will, anyway till further notice. Now you may begin to tell me frank things, and I'll give you frank advice about them as a friend."

"How I wish you were rich!" exclaimed Loveland, thinking aloud, as he did sometimes.

"How do you know I'm not? Oh, of course Major Cadwallader Hunter found out for you. He would! He's the sort of man who takes a worm's eye view of the world and of women and wealth. But never mind if I am not rich."

"I do mind. I shouldn't want you for a friend if you were."

"You wouldn't—oh! Well, now you are being still franker, aren't you?"

"You said you liked people to be frank."

"Yes."

"I haven't offended you, have I?"

"No. I'm just getting used to you. It's quite interesting. What do you want my advice about? Other girls, I suppose."

"It may come to that," Loveland admitted.

"Any one in particular at the moment?"

"Well, supposing I were forced to marry money for the sake of—of my estates and all that, is there any one on board you'd recommend?"

"You're two very eligible girls at your table."

"Yes. But, hang it all, it's too much of a good thing having them at one's elbow like that, you know. If only it were you instead!"

"On the principle of having the poor always with one. But for that you'd have to change and sit at mine. We're all poor there, I think. It's the ineligible's table for both sexes. Would you care to come?"

"I'd care to, but I couldn't afford it," said Val. "I must stop where I am and take the goods the gods provide."

"You mean the dining room steward who arranged the seats."

"What else did Miss Milton say about me?"

"That you were very good looking, as we're being frank."

"I hope you agreed with her?"

"Oh, yes; I had to. Your looks are so obvious, so much a part of you."

"YOU THINK I'M A BEAST TO MARRY trade, if you don't a girl for her mind my saying MONEY."

It would be silly to deny that the shop windows are well decorated. It was apropos of your marrying that she spoke. I said a handsome man oughtn't to be driven into the obscurity of marriage by necessity; he ought simply to be supported by the nation, become a sort of public institution and be the pride of his country—be sent, hopefully got up, to walk in parks and dance at balls and make life pleasant for girls."

"Thank you. Anything else?"

"Let me see. She said it seemed as if you'd bought your eyelashes by the yard and been frightfully extravagant."

"Wish I could pawn them!"

"If you marry as you intend you won't need to."

"I say, I'm afraid you're frightfully sarcastic," said Loveland, who had never had an American girl for a friend before and found that having one kept his hands full. "You think I'm a beast to marry a girl for her money."

"First catch your hare."

"You mean I may not get one to take me?"

"One never can tell. There have been slips between cup and lip."

"Although I'm poor, I can give my wife a lot of things a woman likes to have."

"Second best things."

"Oh, come! You haven't stopped to think what they are?"

"I've stopped to think that love's the best thing—the blue girl care more for a man to live for."

DISCOVERS

Then presently the rugeness or the great city seemed monstrous, magnanimous in purple shadow against such a blue sky as Italy and New York know.

A crowd was massed on the deck to welcome the Mauretania and her passengers, and for the first time since he had left England Val felt a vague homesickness stirring in his breast. Almost every one else on board seemed to have at least one hundred best waving friend, and some had half a dozen, but all the smiling, eager faces looking up were strange to his eyes. There was no one for him, and he had a sudden, queer sensation of not being at home in the world this in spite of invitations from everybody he had met on the ship—except one—the one who mattered.

Mr. Codalgae and several other fathers and uncles of pretty girls had asked him to make their homes his home, but he had taken Jim Harborough's advice to heart and excused himself warily. His idea was to let New York society pass before his eyes in review before risking a premature entanglement. To this course he committed himself in cold blood. Since he could not have Leslie Dearmer, all that mattered to him in a girl was decent manners, decent looks and—many millions.

He had planned a moonlight farewell for the night before, but Lesley thwarted him by talking the whole evening long with a sporting youth whom Val wrathfully stigmatized in his mind as suffering from motor bicycle face, bridge eye, clutch knee and fists elbow. Then when she had tired of her flirtation she went to bed.

Next morning it was only as the Mauretania neared her slip that the girl appeared again. Without seeming to notice Loveland she stood leaning her elbows on the rail not far from him. It occurred to Val that after all it was a matter of no importance to her that their lives were to be lived apart. And the separation was at hand. He had thought of this hour, but now it was here. He was going to love her. Tomorrow and all the tomorrows he would have no sweet, merry, mysterious eyed friend to advise him and listen, half amused, half earnest, to his confidences.

Suddenly his heart beat like a large cold boiled beet root in his breast. He went and stood behind the girl, dumb with a strange new misery he could not understand, and, as though she had heard the "unerring speech" of his silence, she turned.

At first her beautiful brown eyes flashed a laughing challenge at him as if they said: "Wouldn't you like to make me think you really care? But I don't think it and won't. And neither do you care. We've both been playing."

Then something in his look softened her. She smiled kindly, though not wholly without guile.

"Aren't you excited?" she asked.

"Why should I be excited?" he grumbled.

"Because—well, you're a soldier and know what war is like. I've heard that the most exciting thing which can happen is a call to make a sortie in the middle of the night, in the midst of a dream—and on an empty stomach. But I should think the call to a matrimonial sortie!"

"An empty purse?"

"Yes. When it's a question of selling yourself to do it."

"I don't mean to sell myself. I shall still belong to myself and to one other. I won't say who that other is, for I've pretty well told you already."

"It's no use pretending not to understand. I know what you want me to think you mean."

"If I never knew before how much I do mean it I know it now, when I've got to say goodbye."

"Look here, Lesley—do look at me. I'm awfully cut up at leaving you."

"You're not to call me Lesley."

"You can't prevent my calling you Lesley to myself."

"You'll soon forget the name."

"Never. I can never forget you—worse luck. The thought of you is going to come between me and—other things."

"The thought must learn better manners—not to butt in, as we say over here. Oh, it will soon be tamed. You'll have so much to do."

"I hope I shall," said Loveland. "I say, are you going to forget me as soon as we're parted?"

The girl was silent for a moment. Then she laughed. "I shall make a noise of you for my next story but one," she answered.

"You're not very kind."

"Are you sure you deserve kind news?"

"I'm sure I want it—from you."

"You have always got what you wanted in your life, haven't you, one way or another?"

"Life wouldn't be worth living if one didn't."

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

is an absolutely pure distillation of malted grain. When taken at meal-time it stimulates the mucous surfaces and lining glands of the stomach to a healthy action, thereby improving the digestion and assimilation of the food and giving to the system its due proportion of nourishment. This action upon the digestive process is of great importance, as it brings to all the tissues and organs of the body the nutrient necessary to their maintenance and indirectly to the whole system strength and vigor. It makes the old feel young and keeps the young strong and vigorous.

What Efficiency Did for the Overland

The success of the Overland is a splendid example of modern efficiency applied to automobiles. The Overland's supremacy is due to nothing else.

Amid all the changing conditions in motordom—the comings and goings, the ups and downs—the souring prestige of the Overland has remained the most notable fact.

Over 25,000 are already in use. Details from dealers on this year's models exceed any previous record.

There are five factories now—all working on Overlands. Enormous additions have been lately completed.

But, with all our preparation and all our capacity, it is already apparent that the spring demand will again far exceed our supply.

Before you decide on a car, it is due to yourself that you find out the reason for this amazing success.

If Isn't Invention

The Overland position is not due to control of any pre-eminent features. Motor car engineering was brought close to perfection when Overlands came out. The three Overland years have brought no startling improvements in mechanism. Nor can the future bring them.

Our improvements have been in the way of simplicity, of lessened trouble and lessened cost of upkeep. We have built for the careful, economical buyers, most of whom run their own cars.

We started a system of super-in-

The Extreme of Care

The main Overland factory was once the plant of the Pope-Toledo—a famous high-priced car. So hundreds of men, when they started on Overlands, had been trained for years in high-class engineering.

The inspectors here were men of advanced ideals. They knew materials and demanded the best of them. They had never been stinted on price.

Thus we were equipped from the start with a wealth of the best talent ever employed in making automobiles.

We employed inventors, systematizers and expert machinists. And we spection—the same as we employ today. The various parts of each Overland car pass more than one thousand inspections. Each is subjected to severer tests than it ever will get in use.

Each Overland engine is run for 48 hours before it goes into the car. Each crankshaft is turned six thousand times in its bearings.

Each finished chassis is given two severe road tests. Any factory error is thus found and corrected before the car leaves our hands.

The result is that Overland owners have all received perfect cars. They have needed no breaking in. Weaknesses did not develop. Every buyer became an Overland enthusiast. And those owners have sold our cars.

Cutting Down Cost

The next step was to equip our plants so that every part could be built in our factories, better and cheaper than anywhere else.

We installed hundreds of automatic machines, each of which cut the cost of some part.

Each gave us exactness to the thousandth part of an inch. And each made the parts interchangeable.

We employed inventors, systematizers and expert machinists. And we gave them carte blanche on any expense which would serve to cut down some cost. The investment to date in this modern equipment amounts to $3,000,000.

Overhead expense was gradually cut by enormous production. This item—which costs more than the labor on most motor cars—is but a trifling per car on the Overland.

The cost of Overlands, in the past two years, has been cut 23 per cent. That means an average of $300 per car. And every cut of that saving has gone to Overland buyers.

That is a real reduction. It is not like cut prices on old-model cars. It is not like the bargain sales of motor cars that failed. It is the simple result of efficiency carried to far extremes.

Overland costs are now at the bottom. The costs of making and selling have been reduced to the minimum. The margin of profit is as small as it ever can be. Neither we nor our rivals can ever hope to sell an equal car for less.

There can be no further reductions. The buyer of a 1911 Overland will never find a car made as good as it can be—or of equal size and power—sold for any less.

In these model plants, with their enormous production, efficiency has done all that it can do.

The time is past when mere assemblers of cars can compete with real motor car makers. One cannot pay to a hundred parts makers and compete with a factory which makes its own parts.

One cannot trust others with his reputation. He must watch every process, inspect every material. The man who pretends to make the car must suffer for all mistakes.

The wise motor car buyers will insist on a car that is made in the shop that's behind it.

Fore-Door Bodies

The cars of the future will have fore doors. Both in Europe and America, in the finest makes, fore-door models are practically universal.

Before many months, open-front models will be as unsaleable as the old-time rear-door tonneaus. Most open-front cars are simply left over models. And they are, or should be, sold at heavy reductions.

In buying a touring car for years to come, insist on a fore-door model. Get a style which is coming in, not a style going out. No reduction in price can compensate for a car that is out of date.

See that the maker doesn't add the fore-doors to a left-over open-front body. The result is a botch.

The finest fore-door models—like the Overland model pictured here, to continue the curve of the front. Note that the door handles are on the inside. All these little perfections indicate infinite care.

Compare, if you can, what owners say. There are Overland owners everywhere. They will tell you what they got and what you can expect.

We still make open fronts for those who desire them. But the Overland line for 1911 is a fore-door line. And the fore-door models cost no extra price. Don't pay anyone extra for them.

Other Comparisons

In comparing cars, compare the power, the cylinder sizes, the wheel base and the size of wheels. Compare each item in the specifications to see where the differences lie. You can easily find out which car gives most for the money.

Compare the equipment. See that the maker includes the necessities—such as magneto, headlights and sufficient tire size—in his advertised price.

Compare the appearance, for your satisfaction depends largely on that. Note what a difference hand-buffed leather makes. Note the wide differences in painting and varnishing.

22 Overland Models

There are 22 Overland models for 1911, so that every motor car buyer can exactly meet his ideas on size and style, on power and price.

The power runs from 20 to 40 horse power—the wheel bases from 96 to 118 inches—the prices from $750 to $1,675. The body styles include all that are wanted. All are four cylinder cars.

Von Hamm-Young Co.,

Agents

With the approach of the fine weather, the automobile business has taken another fresh start this week. The repair department of the von Hamm-Young Company, in spite of its large autunions, was crowded to the utmost.

Packard Sold. The Packard car—the great favorite in Honolulu as well as all over the United States—during the week again found several enthusiastic purchasers. A fine Model 30 Packard runabout was sold to Dr. E. C. Waterhouse.

Another Packard car was delivered by the von Hamm-Young Company during the week was a fine 5-passenger touring car of the famous fore-car body type to A. A. Young.

Several Packard enthusiasts from the mainland are among the tourists visiting Honolulu. Mrs. Hough of Stockton brought her large 7-passenger Packard touring car with her and is enjoying the beautiful island scenery in some. Another Packard owner who is in Honolulu at present is T. Hutson, who is driving his beautiful 1911 Packard runabout all over Oahu. Mr. and Mrs. Hutson are visitors at the Moana Hotel.

Cadillac. The Cadillac has come to the fore this week, the sale of a fine 1911 demitonneau four-passenger car being negotiated by the von Hamm-Young Company with Harold Castle.

Among the tourists arriving this week was C. S. Edwards of Vancouver, B. C. Mr. Edwards brought with him his fine 1911 five-passenger Cadillac.

Another Cadillac owner from the mainland who is at present in Honolulu is Mr. Spencer, a prominent banker from Seattle.

The next carload of Cadillacs due to arrive for the von Hamm-Young Company should reach here early in March. Several cars out of this shipment have already been sold.

Overland Sold. Mr. Schaefer of the von Hamm-Young Company, who went to Maui a short time ago to deliver an Overland demitonneau to Dr. Osmer, reports the sale of a model R Stevens-Duryea touring car to B. H. Rabe. The Stevens-Duryea is one of the best known cars on the Islands.

Stoddard-Dayton. During the week Henry Holmes joined the ranks of automobile enthusiasts, having purchased from the von Hamm-Young Company a pretty little Stoddard-Dayton runabout, which he states is a wonderful improvement over a horse and buggy. The car runs beautifully, and is just the kind of locomotion to bring Mr. Holmes' fine residence on Pacific Heights within easy reach of town.

Howes Resigned.

This week Frank E. Howes resigned from the sales force of the von Hamm-Young Company to become manager of

NEW LEAGUE IS AMBITIOUS

National Republicans Have Large "Reform" Plans Laid.

(Special Bulletin Correspondence.)

(By John E. Monk)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 3.—The National Progressive Republican League just organized has not yet set fire to anything, but it is young yet and has two large barrels behind it. Those of Senator Bourne of Oregon and Gifford Pinchot, who was dismissed by President Taft as forester for insubordination. Both Senator Bourne and Mr. Pinchot are many times millionaires. Some observers seem to see in the movement an attempt to corral the next Presidential nomination for a Middle-Western progressive Republican such as Senator La Follette of Wisconsin or Senator Cummins of Iowa. The league has a comprehensive set of principles, including all the "progressive" ideas.

The National Progressive Republican League's officers are: Jonathan Bourne Jr., Oregon, president; George W. Norris, Nebraska, 1st vice-president; Chase S. Osborn, Michigan, 2nd vice-president; Charles R. Crane, Chicago, treasurer; Frederic C. Howe, secretary.

Its printed matter says:

"The National Progressive Republican League is organized solely for the promotion of popular government. Its purpose is to purge politics of special privilege and selfish interest, and to substitute therefor the general welfare of the whole people. It aims to make the government directly responsible to the popular will; to enable the people to select their public servants, and to hold all officials directly accountable to the composite citizen. By this means the personal obligation, always existing, where the public servant is nominated or selected by a convention, caucus or political boss, will be destroyed."

Popular government will be achieved through the election of United States Senators by direct vote of the people; direct primaries for the nomination of all elective officials; the direct election of delegates to national conventions, with opportunity for the voter to express his choice for President and Vice-President; amendment to select their public servants, and to hold all officials directly accountable to the composite citizen. By this means the personal obligation, always existing, where the public servant is nominated or selected by a convention, caucus or political boss, will be destroyed."

John Larson is a sailor held but he went about with a rather heavy list to port and as a result had a very close call from drowning yesterday morning. Larson was rescued from what might have been a watery grave through the prompt and timely assistance of Harbor Police Officer A. E. Carter and the several boat boys.

Larson had partially filled his ballast tanks with a mixture of liquids that rendered him incapable of main-taining a true course. He finally waded to the wharf and went to the Matson wharf and went to sleep.

While in the land of nod, Larson rolled from the wharf into the water. His struggles brought Officer Carter to the scene. With the assistance of a stout boat hook, Larson was fished out, not a great deal the worse for his wetting but thoroughly scared. On his person were several partially filled bottles of wine.

Leprosy Cure.

An apparent cure for leprosy has been found in the Philippines, according to the Secretary of War Dickinson. He calls this cure chaulmoogra oil, and hopes it will turn out to be a real specific for the disease. Dr. Victor G. Heber, who is in charge of the medical department of the Insular government, told him that within a general investigation of the lepers, he had found a cure for leprosy which had disappeared from the Islands, owing to the success of segregating the lepers. Only a few have not been transported to the island of Culion. The natives have become so educated to the danger of contamination that only little opposition is now made to the removal of the afflicted. While independence is a great thing for those who know how to make use of it, we are prepared to say that if leprosy shall within the next fifty years be banished from the Philippines the boon will more than offset whatever lost imaginary blessings the most sanguine and optimistic anti-imperialist could imagine flowing from the exercise of complete independence; for it is not conceivable that the Filipinos themselves, with their ignorance of sanitation and prephyaxis, would drive out that most awful disease if left to their own devices.

To Prevent Collisions.

George Westinghouse is reported to have completed an invention by which danger to ships from collisions at sea from the heavy muscular exercise and chilling incident to his physical walk of the prescribed fifty-mile walk. About half of the distance was over a rough, uneven and partly frozen trail. Pain and stiffness of the left lower extremity had become progressively worse from their first indication, and on the morning of the third day of the test he found, on arising from a short rest, that the extremity was quite stiff, and for a few moments he was unable to move the member. He had now some twelve and a half miles to cover and was determined to finish the test. As he walked the stiffness and pain wore off, but he dared not stop for another rest. Until after the examination by the medical officer at the conclusion of the walk he felt little pain, but shortly after the examination the pain returned to such an extent that he had to take to his bed. So severe did the pain become that on the second day the leg was splinted, and it was not till the sixteenth day that the patient was discharged cured.

ASSOCIATED GARAGE HAS MANY DEPARTMENTS—HANDLES CARS AND READY FOR REPAIR WORK

Big things are predicted for the Associated Garage under the new manager, Frank E. Howes, who has been in the automobile business in Honolulu, with the old Hump-Young Company, a salesman for over two years, and who has grown up in the industry, having been connected with it for nearly ten years in different capacities.

Improvements Made.

The improvements in the garage made necessary by the extension of Bishop street toward the waterfront, thus cutting off a portion of the building, are nearly completed, and within a short time every department will be at rights and everything moving along smoothly.

Cars Handled.

Pierce-Arrow, Chalmers and Hudson cars will be the ones handled, as it is believed these are the best that money can buy. Their popularity in Hawaii is steadily growing, and the number of them seen on the streets of Honolulu and on the other islands is constantly on the increase.

The Hudson especially has taken a strong hold on the buying public, being the lowest price car which is handled by the Associated Garage.

Mr. Howes, who assumed charge of the garage this week, is well known in the automobile industry of Hawaii, and he promises patrons that they will all the time receive prompt and courteous attention.

Tire Repairs.

An important department of the Associated is the tire repair department, where all kinds of tire repairs can be done. An owner can come into the garage with a bad tire, have a new one put on, and his old one will be returned to him within twenty-four hours, in proper shape.

Cars on the Way.

There are six new Hudsons on the way from the factory, three touring cars, two demi-tonneaus and one roadster, all of which will be in the garage within two weeks.

One 6-36 Pierce-Arrow will arrive within a short time, which is one of the finest cars ever on the streets of the city.

Special Improvements.

To facilitate coming into and leaving the garage, new doors are being built. There will be an entrance into the repair shop and one into the garage from Bishop street, and in order that everything may move smoothly, the exit from the garage will be through the door on Merchant street. This will enable patrons to come in the Bishop street entrance and leave by Merchant street without the trouble of backing or turning around.

California Next to New York in the Number of Autos.

NEW YORK.—There are about 500,000 licensed automobiles in use in the United States, according to statistics given out by the National Highways Protective Association.

The states which lead in this census are:

New York	64,000
California	40,000
Massachusetts	39,000
Illinois	35,000
Pennsylvania	34,000
Ohio	32,000
Iowa	31,500
New Jersey	29,000
Michigan	18,500
Indiana	16,000
Wisconsin	16,000
Nebraska	14,500
Missouri	13,000
Connecticut	11,000

Dynamite on Auto.

Some motor car manufacturers go to great lengths to provide complete equipment for their cars, but according to Montana standards even the most liberal of them do not go far enough. A Pierce-Arrow representative, who has just completed a trip through that state, in writing from Great Falls, says:

"I find that out here the Pierce-Arrows are owned mostly by men whose property interests are scattered and who find it necessary to cover a great deal of ground, some of their trips lasting a week. Ranch owners will pick up several of their foremen and make long trips of inspection. The equipment on our cars is, I believe, more comprehensive than on any car on the market, but it does not go far enough when this part of the country is concerned."

"Here every private garage has its set of block and tackle and shovels hanging on the wall, ready to be packed on the running boards, but it seemed to me that the limit in the way of equipment had come when the owner of a car started out the other morning with a couple of sticks Walz & Zerwick, having an open package. I stood there open-eyed until he explained in a most matter-of-fact manner:

"Oh, we always carry dynamite when we start out on a trip. We have to blast our way through, sometimes, when we get up in the mountain passes."

Packard Trucks at Auto Show.

The Packard Motor Car Company's exhibit of motor trucks during the second week of the New York automobile show in Madison Square Garden, January 16 to 21, is a comprehensive display of commercial vehicles of different types. It occupies nearly 5,000 square feet of floor space in the central arena of the Garden.

The exhibit consists of five "thirty-tonners" and three "thirties." The latter are shown, respectively, as a police patrol, a fire squad and a chemical wagon and a light delivery.

These are comparatively new fields for the Packard "Thirty," but in each one their introduction gives promise of great success. The Packard "Thirty," is particularly well adapted to patrol, fire, ambulance and other manifold and public service, while surely no one has any doubt that the same Packard "Thirty" makes a pretty effective delivery wagon.

One reason that the Packard "Thirty" as a delivery wagon is brought to the public attention is because of the excellent opportunity there is to rebuild used Packard cars into delivery wagons and thus obtain high-class commercial cars at a moderate cost. Several large users of commercial vehicles have done this, as, for instance, Marshall Field & Co., in Chicago. The patrol wagon exhibited is practically the same as the Packard patrols which have entirely replaced horses in the Detroit patrol service and the fire wagon is a duplicate of one recently delivered to the fire department of Indianapolis.

The three-ton trucks displayed, of course, do not begin to cover the wide range of body designs whereby this truck is made adaptable to many lines of business and individual needs. All of the trucks shown, however, are interesting types of trucks used in practical, everyday hauling. First of all, there is a standard chassis. Then there is a truck for the Pioneer Warehouse which shows a large moving van body. A special builder's truck for Wilson & Adams shows how Packard trucks are equipped with nest or loading bodies.

The arrangement is similar to the bodies previously built for department stores, such as those of John Wanamaker and Kaufmann Brothers, but it is novel in one respect—that the loading box is a complete body in itself and is not an inside cage.

The other two trucks are one for Walz & Zerwick, having an open body especially suited to brewer's barrels, and a covered truck for Lemuel Sears & Co., which is typical of enclosed trucks for general merchandise in many lines of business, where loads vary in their character.

Woman Drives Rent Car. There is no question about the growing importance of woman in every day business affairs of the world. The American woman is especially progressive. Mrs. Frank Petty of Coalanga, Cal., is an excellent example of this. She drives a Chalmers "Foxy" touring car between Coalanga and the oil fields in the rent service, and probably has the distinction of being the first woman to enter this field.

Wireless on Automobile. Manager L. V. Lynch of the California Speedwell branch has received the following account of an interesting wireless test:

Wireless telegraphic communication from a moving automobile has just been successfully accomplished by O. P. Guldemaster and E. P. Preble on the streets of Portland.

Many attempts had previously been made, but in all cases the vibration from the motor of the cars used rendered electrical communication impossible.

In this test a small portable wireless plant was installed on a seven-passenger stock Speedwell car, which was selected because of its almost vibrationless motor and smooth, easy motion when traveling over the streets.

Ground connections were made through the frame of the car with a movable wire running from the hub to the tire chain grips.

The Speedwell car carried six passengers and messages were sent to a Portland newspaper office. Besides the address and signatures, this message was sent: "Wireless working successfully," and this answer received.

Glad to hear of your success." Copies of the message sent and received were made in the motor car and tallied absolutely with those at the newspaper office.

At the conclusion of a general meeting of the Honolulu Amusement Company held yesterday morning the officers who will guide the destinies of the newly-formed theatrical combine were chosen.

Arrangements have been completed in the selection of officers the following will look after the welfare of the combined theatres.

Paschall, J. C. Cahn; vice president; J. T. Scully; treasurer; Robert W. Shingle; secretary; H. Rosenberg; auditor; A. W. Meyers.

The board of directors includes the following: Steers, J. C. Cohen, J. T. Sweeny, H. Rosenberg, E. Congdon, the man that has been passed around Walter, Fisher, A. Mason.

The board of directors made a wise selection of J. T. Scully as general manager of the combined playhouses.

If the Senate approves the plan, a financial protectorate will be established by the United States over Honduras.

The President will send to the Senate a treaty embodying this proposition which has been negotiated by the State Department.

Has a sweet, angelic, calm and even disposition. Voted "no" at the recent plebiscite. Handles the funds of the Elks Lodge.

EDINGS, WM. S.

A passive sort of a chap from the Sunn South, but manages to make his presence known once in a while.

COHEN, JOEL C.

Fifth of all, he is a child. His joys are simple and his wants few. Is easily pleased and will laugh at anything that has his own bum jokes. Smoke rotten cigars all the time, and is a thorough politician.

COOPER, WILL J.

Journalist. Writes with a pair of shears for the Promotion Committee.

COYNE, ARTHUR.

Lieutenant Colonel First Regiment of Hawaii. Expert marksman. Could hit a barn if not too far off.

DOLE, SANFORD B.

The father of his country. An able kind-hearted man and is respected by every one in the community.

ANDREWS, EMIL C.

Attorney at law and ex-Attorney General. Noted for his ability to win cases. Is a firm believer in never doing on Monday what he can put off till Friday.

ADAMS, W. D.

Manager of the Royal Hawaiian Opera House. Has recently become the side partner of Calve. Distinguished as a lavish spender.

DAVIS, GEORGE A.

The liveliest wire of the legal fraternity. Buildings tremble when he talks. Would rather argue than eat, gets mad and has lucid intervals. Acts as though he would like to fight. Was where he belonged in the last Shriner's parade. Expects soon to become an Elk.

DEKUM, EDWARD.

A quiet and unassuming fellow, very popular with the ladies. A hard worker, "to hear him tell it," and a member of the Come-Back Club. Often hides his going under a bushel.

WATERMAN, CLARENCE FERRET.

Booze-bottle and brewer. Manager Honolulu Bureau of Gossip. Works overtime trying to find out what his friends are doing. Residence, Kakako.

KLUEGEL, GEO. T.

Genial Secretary Honolulu Lodge 616, B. P. O. E., when not working. Assistant head of the tin-pot department of T. H. Davies & Co. Wears glasses and is looked upon as "the white man's hope." Was educated, but isn't now.

ANDREWS, LORRIN A.

A fat, chubby-faced lad from the wilds of New York. Always was and forever will be an unsophisticated youth. Nephew of Lorin A. Thurston. Member of the Come-Back Club from Shanghai, Reno, etc. Captures the fair ones with his winning smiles.

ARMITAGE, HARRY.

A solemn-visaged personage who possesses a deep voice and an intellectual expression.

DAMON, SAMUEL M.

Knows a good thing when he sees it. Looks wise and says little.

CANAVARRO, A. de SOUZA.

Consul General of Portugal. Can serve a Republic or a kingdom with equal loyalty.

CARTER, GEORGE R.

Ex-Governor of Hawaii. Teddy's pet. Asks everyone's advice and takes none. A man of action.

CARTWRIGHT, BRUCE.

Insurance man. As easy-going as a bell cow.

CHILLINGWORTH, CHARLES F.

Tall, handsome and has a merry laugh. Was an athlete once. Has not yet lost any flesh from overwork; in fact, never was known to work except in a boat-race where he couldn't get out of it. Expects to be the real thing at the coming session of the Legislature.

LANGSTON, WM. H.

Supposed to be the editor of the Paradise of the Pacific. Fond of Chinese dinners and good stories. Looks wise and has an able partner.

PAXSON, SUMNER S.

Manager Singer Sewing Machine Agency. Is often seen in company with Lightfoot. Is the real thing when it comes to selling sewing machines.

HAGENS, J. F. C.

Manager Pacific Gunno and Fertilizer Co. A German by accent. Entertains lavishly. Interested in the growth of sugar cane. Can be disengaged in a crowd by his accent.

RATH, JAMES K.

Supervisor of Palama Mission. Vocational unknown. Supported by subscriptions. Contemplates joining the Bar Association.

BELSER, JOHN J.

Contractor and boomer. Makes times but not lemons. Very fond of red paint.

BOYER, FRANK O.

Manager Dearborn Drug & Chemical Co. Otherwise known as "Olly Frank"—not because of his smoothness but because he is there with the goods. Is Noble Grand of Exchange Lodge I. O. O. F., but no one knows why.

BALCH, JOHN A.

Manager Wireless Department of the Mutual Telephone Co. Full of hot-air and currents. Is in touch with all the gossip.

BALDWIN, HENRY P.

The uncrowned King of Maui. It is rumored that there are a few acres of land in his realm which he does not own.

ANDERSON, ROBERT W.

Cricket player. Speaks with a strong German-Scotch accent. Is good-looking and knows it. Is a bet-

YOUNG, NORMAN B.

Although but a shrimp in size. Is a lobster big in his own eyes.

HERTSCHE, J. H.

Manager Hotel Trust. Especially popular among the Shriners. Knows how to run a hotel but don't want the fact to be known. Menu cards furnished on application.

BERG, ARTHUR.

An insurance man of the first water. Knows how to keep his temper but not his hair. Rent automobile insurance is his long suit.

WHITEHOUSE, LOUIS M.

Manager Honolulu Music Co. Sold some years ago and went to Oregon to raise apples, got cold feet and joined the Come-Back Club.

BIGGS, CLARK.

Is a perambulating encyclopedia of useless information. Is a pessimist. Sees Hawaii and everything and everybody going to the bow-wows, but you couldn't pull him out of the country with a block and tackle.

CASTLE, JAMES B.

Otherwise known as "Foxy Jim." Promoter and all around athlete in the financial world. Is a great believer in timber, but it must be good. Knows a good thing when he sees it. That's why he employs Sam Johnson as manager of his lumber mill at Palau, Hawaii.

DRUMMOND, MALFORD H.

Has a sweet, angelic, calm and even disposition. Voted "no" at the recent plebiscite. Handles the funds of the Elks Lodge.

EDINGS, WM. S.

A passive sort of a

Why Jim McInerny's reputation among the fair sex for smoothness, persuasiveness, and chaste ness is founded upon fact or fiction?

Why "Hubby" and Sam Walker and "Cunnie" Carter green with envy?

If the two R's in front of Reidford Retreat are such bosom friends?

Why doesn't Seudder sit away?

Why Jack Doyle regards Dr. Cooper so highly as a physician?

How does gum make it easier to slip off a water-wagon?

Did the doctor prescribe anything else besides gum?

Did the prescription cure the cold?

Who shipped Scully five lemons on one Sierra?

Why didn't he start a boilermakers' union, it's noise he wants?

How did he get wise to the fact that the public wouldn't stand for it?

What San Francisco "Theatre" are those lemons in now?

Can Frank Howes demonstrate himself?

Would he wear out the brakes doing it?

Whether Dodge pays as much attention to his automobiles as he formerly did?

If not, why not?

When George Richardson will succeed John D. Rockefeler?

Whether Swallow as manager of the Elks Geisha dance, has invited Rev. Gulick to participate in the festivities?

Whether Gulliver ever saw a Geisha or a Hindu dame?

If the Hula in a religious ceremony why doesn't Central Union Church give one?

Is Dickie Davis to be the first Con?

If a Hebrew man-of-war enters the harbor, who will be the reception committee?

Would not Cohen, Rosenblatt and Derby do?

Would the man-of-war bombard the town with matzas and Kocher sausages?

Why is Will Adams so generous?

Can anyone prove it?

Does he use Ayers Hair Vivor?

Why doesn't K. R. G. Wallace get some more initials to his name?

Has anyone ever discovered what K. R. G. stand for?

Did he ever bleed "wi Wallace?"

Why is Josh Tucker a walking encyclopedia of knowledge?

Isn't most of it "Josh?"

Why some reverent gentlemen claim to possess such a profound knowledge of the seductive and fascinating mysteries of the ancient and honorable hula?

Whether the search for such knowledge should be considered a commendable endeavor to throw the light of publicity upon the alluring pastimes of the quiet early days for the guidance of those who live in the fast and furious present, or prima facie evidence of a misspent youth?

Do the hundreds of thousands who answer to the greeting of "Hello, Bill!" there are multitudes more who, though not officially affiliated, really belong in the antlered herd and will compare with the best in the bunch.

Everybody who believes in and loves humanity—who reveres one Good Man and knows there are many good men—is an Elk. He who believes in and applies charity in its broadest sense, without brass-bandian boast or phrasical proclamation, is an Elk.

The man or woman who knows that it is never to late—that many a shipwrecked soul has been saved by a friendly beacon rising out of blackest night or timely throw of a life-line—is an Elk. The man who meets a brother and fellow who has been up against it good—who has played the limit of license and hard luck and who admits that he is much to blame but insists that he is can and will do better—and who is willing to believe that he is not wholly bad and well worthy of saving assistance—is an Elk. He or she who without clatter of hoofs or bombastic bellow lights up a sick-room with a smile and a word of good cheer, is an Elk. A bunch of flowers, or a basket of fruit, a meal ticket or Uncle Sam's autograph, a hospital bill paid and a ticket back home—these are footprints of the longhorns which even the novice knows. All men who feel and know that faith, hope and happiness in this life make a mighty good heaven and realize that it can only be attained through love and forbearance toward each other, are Elks. In truth, this is the very heart of what the Nazarene taught, brethren, if it be blasphemy from the orthodox standpoint.

Whether the title is justified; if so, how much did it cost him?

WHO'S WHO AND WHY AND WHY NOT

FREAR, WALTER F.
Governor of Hawaii. Asks innumerable questions gets opinions from everyone he comes in contact with, and has none of his own.

MOTT-SMITH, ERNEST A.
Secretary of Health and President Board of Health, and wouldn't mind holding down a few more official positions, as he has time, and the salary wouldn't hurt.

PRATT, JOSEPH G.
Pomeraster at Honolulu. Likes the job and intends to stick as long as possible.

LUCYRUS, GEORGE.
A young and retiring fellow. Owns and conducts the Union Grill. After partaking of a good feed at his place of business you can always get a smile out of George by paying cash.

CATHCART, JOHN W.
Auditor of the Territory. The man who signs the warrants for the pay of all officials, and is in consequence the most popular official in the Territory. Might be good-looking if he didn't wear whiskers.

CONKLIN, D. L.

Treasurer of the Territory, and an ex-newspaper man. He is related to Roseau, but won't admit it. Is a stalwart toiler and always works where it is least seen. Loses everything but his temper. When aroused he will violently swear quaint oaths until you laugh at him, whereupon will smile his sad, sweet smile and cease. Has been mistaken for a British tremor, and has been recognized by all the pretty girls about town. Never too much put out to think of someone else and never too tired to do a favor.

HENRY, WILLIAM.
High Sheriff of the Territory of Hawaii. Admits all who apply and turns away none, and is on the job all the time. Came near having his office legislated out of existence by those who feared they might somehow get his gavel.

CRANE, CHARLES L.
Treasurer and manager of the Hawaiian Gazette Co. Has been everything in the publishing business from the devil to manager, knows how to get business and hold his job. Took first prize in a baby-show and dreams of it yet.

DOUGHERTY, JIMMIE D.

Exalted Ruler of the Elks. One of those self-possested people who always do the correct thing, always to be counted on in the festivities. Walks like the original Little Egypt and is a good singer.

WHITEHOUSE, LOUIS M.

One of those fat, rosy-cheeked men that never look cool. Gets as much enjoyment out of life as though possessed with common sense. Shows frequent displays of eloquence and oratory at committee meetings, but hasn't yet succeeded in equalling Douthitt when the latter wants to talk.

FERN, JOSEPH J.

Mayor of Honolulu. Likes and intends to have something to do with the running of the town. Believes it would be a good idea to do away with the Board of Supervisors.

STACKABLE, E. R.

Collector of Customs. Searches vessels arriving at this port for opium, finds it "sometimes", and can't understand why anyone would want the job. Has been known to smile.

DOUTHITT, EDDIE A.
A lawyer and partner of Jim Coke. Believes in free country and free speech. Likes to talk, play the piano, and phonograph. Has recently become an editor. Writes editorials.

BERNDT, EMIL A.

Manager of W. W. Dimond & Co. Became a disciple of Woolley, and went to manufacturing pineapple juice. Is of German descent, and talks like a cross between a Hisp and a mouth full of hot spuds; and deserves great credit for his perseverance and success in business.

FISHER, J. H.

Auditor of the Territory. The man who signs the warrants for the pay of all officials, and is in consequence the most popular official in the Territory. Might be good-looking if he didn't wear whiskers.

CONKLIN, D. L.

Treasurer of the Territory, and an ex-newspaper man. He is related to Roseau, but won't admit it. Is a stalwart toiler and always works where it is least seen. Loses everything but his temper. When aroused he will violently swear quaint oaths until you laugh at him, whereupon will smile his sad, sweet smile and cease. Has been mistaken for a British tremor, and has been recognized by all the pretty girls about town. Never too much put out to think of someone else and never too tired to do a favor.

VAUGHAN, EDWARD C.

A loving and lovable son of Ireland. Was at one time behind the footlights in Yanderville and has never forgotten him friends left in the past. Likes to keep up with his old-time profession as an impersonator of famous characters. He loves the fair sex and utters such awful oaths as, "Oh, Fudge!" "Pliekes!" "Oh, Splash!" etc., etc. Has hopes for the future.

MCDOUGIE, ARTHUR.

Chief of Detectives. One of the notorious band of ladies' men. Can be on duty for days and not show it. Sleeps in his auto while making trips to other parts of the Island. Gets the "mon" for the City. And by bringing in a large bunch of gamblers several times a week.

BERGSTROM, JOHN R.

The real thing when it comes to tuning pianos. An efficient young man whose principal fault is that he comes from Minnesota. Mixer of famous punches, is leary of automobiles, a good story-teller, and spends his evenings nobody knows where.

CAMPBELL, EUGENE M.

An able young man with the Waterhouse Trust Co. Good-looking and pleasant. Has a coy smile that is most enchanting; amuses himself by watching the people go up and down Fort street to the Oceanic dock on steamer-days.

BAIRD, WM. H.

Treasurer and manager Theo. H. Davies & Co. Believes in edifying conservations. On all subjects has his own ideas and sticks to them most tenaciously. Looks like Indiana Jones. Can't be bluffed, and when he solemnly says, "Now, look here, that's settled", it's time to make a get-away.

SHINGLE, ROBERT W.

President Henry Waterhouse Trust Co. and County Treasurer, and doesn't know how he did it. Has used every hair-raiser known to dagogets. Used to brush his hair, but now brushes his shoes instead.

McCLELLAN, W. H.

Secretary and large stockholder of Peacock & Co. Has a bold knob. Likes to wear a tunic but shucks the bairns superfluous on account of the humidity in the atmosphere "piling" up the "stielcum". Sells more booze than he imports.

ISEMRENG, D. PAUL R.

Otherwise known as Happy Paul. Always speaks Hawaiian to a Frenchman. The only reason he wasn't elected Mayor of Honolulu was because he wouldn't run. He is as generous an Elk as he is big.

LAKE, H. T.
Detective, effective, corrective, protective, on criminals who are spying, trying and defying. His favorite song is:

"When on the trail I go,
All thieves had best lay low,
For they are in a scrape,
They haven't got a show."

O'NEILL, GEORGE J.

Secretary and large stockholder of Peacock & Co. Has a bold knob. Likes to wear a tunic but shucks the bairns superfluous on account of the humidity in the atmosphere "piling" up the "stielcum". Sells more booze than he imports.

MCCLELLAN, W. H.

Large democrat on the Board of Supervisors. Always commutes with Uncle Joe Fern in blocking the attempt at progress of a semi-civilized Board.

EXTRACTS FROM THE WILL OF AN EARL OF PEMBROKE.

ARNOLD, LOUIS E.
Baby Elk. The man with the grip of iron. Tall as a pine and effusive when he is least seen. Loses everything but his temper. When aroused he will violently swear quaint oaths until you laugh at him, whereupon will smile his sad, sweet smile and cease. Has been mistaken for a British tremor, and has been recognized by all the pretty girls about town. Never too much put out to think of someone else and never too tired to do a favor.

LUCAS, CHARLES.

Lumber magnate. Runs a shaving and trimming shop. Runs a hog ranch at Kauai. Is an easy Mark.

MARTIN, GEO. A.

Tattoo and toiler. Makes his customers wear their winter clothes in summer. Fills orders with promptness and dispatch. Very active in athletic sports. Called "Duke". Of what?

MCINTYRE, DONALD.

Horticulturist — whatever that means. Has a rich oat meal voice with a few burrs in it. Says he was born in Roumania, but we "hao on" don't.

YOUNG, SANDY."

Superintendent Kapalolani Park. Has large lances and trouting lamps like the gentle Bovine. Insists on concealing his natural expression by a fierce crop of barley heads.

LOW, EBEN.

Rawhide Ben the Terror of Punawana, and near Chairman of the Road Committee of the Board of "Semps". Is a gay, dashing blonde.

Recently gun shot a mule out of the government stables with bare hands intent. Is the kahuna mui of the Manoa insurgents and luau perpetrators.

LANSING, N. B.

Clerk in the American Brokerage Emporium, in which nobody worked but father. That's all.

LINCEMAN, F. J.

Salesman in the drygoods department of Hackfeld & Co. Has nothing to do with the wet goods department. Is very quiet and reserved. Has a sweet tenor voice.

BAIRD, WM. H.

Salesman in the drygoods department of Hackfeld & Co. Has nothing to do with the wet goods department. Is very quiet and reserved. Has a sweet tenor voice.

A TOAST TO AN ELK.

Here's to all good Elk Boys,

In this world and the next.

I'll drink to you a toast tonight,

"Good Elkdom" is my text.

He's not the man to grasp your hand,

When only the "High Balls" flow;

Not the man to slap your back,

In an idle hour or so;

But the chap that speaks the kindly word,

Look out when the wine looks in.

The man that grips your hand like

For the fool is a fool, and the cad is a cad.

Whichever God means him to be, But the Elk is a man, who never forgets he's a man,

Tho' he's out on a Jamboree—

So we'll drink our toast to the Elks, boys,

From heart to heart let it run, Good Elks here, and o'er the world, "Their health"; God bless every one.

OFFICIAL PROGRAM FOR SHRINERS

The final official program of the visitation of the Shriners who will be the guests of Aloha Temple has been issued.

Some changes have been made from the tentative plans previously given out. The last word on the official program follows. The details will be outlined out to the letter:

Tuesday, February 21.

At the time the Wilhelmmina's arrival is announced by the usual whistles, the Reception Committee will immediately report at the Matson wharf, foot of Nuuanu street, to board the yacht Kulanama II, to go out and meet the visiting Nobles and their ladies. The Royal Hawaiian Band will go out on the Matson tug from the same wharf. The Arab Patrol will report at the Matson wharf, dressed in white uniforms, to await the Wilhelmmina at the dock. The Automobile Committee will be on hand at the same time with their machines to convey the Imperial Potentate, Fred A. Hines, and the visiting Nobles to their hotels.

In the afternoon, at 2 o'clock, at the Seaside Hotel, Waikiki Beach, Mrs. James S. McCandless, assisted by the ladies of Aloha Temple, will hold an informal reception, to give the visiting Nobles and their ladies an opportunity to meet the Nobles and ladies of Aloha. A luau or Hawaiian feast will follow immediately after the reception, in the same place, for all local and visiting Nobles and their ladies. Music by the Hawaiian band and Kaala Glee Club.

In the evening the Shriners will attend the Elks' Carnival at the Alakea street wharf.

Wednesday, February 22.

At 10 o'clock a.m. the Flora Parade will be viewed. Elks' Carnival in the evening. Promptly at midnight all Nobles and their ladies who intend to visit Hilo and the Volcano, will board the Wilhelmmina at the Alakea street wharf. A private entrance will be provided by which to board the steamer.

Thursday, February 23.

The Pilgrims will arrive at Hilo about 1 o'clock p.m. The Nobles of Aloha Temple and the visiting Nobles will immediately repair to the Masonic Temple and prepare for the Ceremonial Session in the Temple. At the conclusion of the first section at Hilo, the Nobles and their ladies will leave for the Volcano House. After dinner all members of the party will leave for the crater to view the molten lava. ample time will be given in the ladies to view this wonderful sight; they will then return to the Volcano House. After their withdrawal the concluding section of the Ceremonial Session will be held on the floor of the Crater, and the Novices conducted upon their pilgrimage across the burning sands of the desert.

Friday, February 24.

Breakfast at the Volcano House; return to Hilo, where the members of Aloha Temple, who preside on the Island of Hawaii, will give a reception to the visiting nobles and their ladies. A street parade of the officers and nobles of Aloha, with a drill by the Arab Patrol, will be given. Board steamer Wilhelmmina, for return trip to Honolulu as early in the evening as possible.

Saturday, February 25.

Arrive at Honolulu about 11 o'clock a.m. Street parade of Aloha Temple will start promptly at 2 o'clock p.m. The novices will report at Masonic Temple not later than 1 o'clock p.m. and place themselves in charge of Noble F. E. Richardson. The nobles of Aloha Temple and all visiting nobles will assemble at the Opera House at 1:30 p.m. The officers and Arab Patrol of Aloha will meet at the Opera House at 1 o'clock, to robe and prepare for the parade. The line of march will be: From the Opera House to Alakea street, up Alakea to Beretania, Beretania to Fort street, Fort to King, King to the Capitol, thence to the Opera House, where the ceremonial session will be held at the conclusion of the parade.

At 3 o'clock p.m. the visiting ladies will meet at the Alexander Young Hotel and will then be taken by the ladies of Aloha Temple to visit the Bishop Museum and the beautiful gardens and grounds of the Hon. S. M. Damon, at Moanalua.

At 8 o'clock p.m. Mrs. Robert Lewers will hold an informal reception to Mrs. Fred A. Hines and the visiting ladies, at her home, 1725 Kewalo street.

In the morning at 9 o'clock, automobile trip to Oahu Sugar Mill and Pearl Harbor. Return to Honolulu about noon.

At 9 o'clock p.m. grand Shriners' ball at the Seaside Hotel, Waikiki Beach. Music by Kaala's Glee Club.

Tuesday, February 28.

At 1 o'clock p.m. starting from the Alexander Young Hotel, auto trip to the Nuuanu Pali, thence to the Aquaticum; from thence to the Moana Hotel, inflicted by the gods, must mortal man, Constrained by hard necessity, endure."

This was written about the second section aight, but this poet was a Greek and must have had something slipped over on him not in the regular work. Some people have it in for Greeks, anyway. Nervous novices need no fear; just follow Frank and the Oriental Guide around and they will see that no one does anything to them not in the ritual.

Third Section.

Bill Shakespeare, after passing into the Third Section, wrote as follows:

"I have seen tempests, when the scolding winds Have riv'd knotty oaks, and I have seen

The ambitious ocean swell, and rage, and foam,

To be exalted with the threatening clouds;

But never till tonight, never till now, Did I go through a tempest dropping fire."

Of course, this is a cryptogram, and like much of Bill's stuff, is so poorly written that you have to go through the work to understand it. Now, the following, written by a man named Bloomfield, shows better how the novice feels in the third section:

"Rest, how sweet art thou!

You see, he thought it was still on the day of joining our Order just on this account, and while we have in previous issues of notices of Ceremonial Sessions, tried our best to show that this impression is all wrong, there can be no doubt that it still exists, a rank injustice to our Noble Order.

Now, we are going to the third; we are going to expose the whole ritual, and after a careful perusal it cannot be possible that anyone can longer hold the opinion that we are not what we are, and that it is one of the Grandest, Noblest, Beauteous societies of Kind Hearted Gentlemen ever banded together for the enfranchisement of humanity and the general good of mankind.

Prologue.

The Ancient Arabic Order Nobles of the Mystic Shrine to give its full name gives its work in three sections according to a ritual prepared solely with an eye single to the good, the true and the beautiful. We will give in these pages what has been said by some of the greatest poets who have ever lived, men who have been through it and have lived and loved to write of it in passionate, soulful strains. You cannot help believe them even if you wouldn't trust the Shriner who lives in the next block to you, for works in the same office, when he tells you that he will not do a thing to you.

First Section.

Let us take the following beautiful description of the first section, written by Richard Henry Stoddard:

"A pillar avenue of stately palms, Slay in the sun; a fountain rose and fell,

Breaking the silver surface 'tis its base;

Goldfish like sunken ingots lay in heaps;

Beneath the fountain's rain besides its rim

Dipping his long bill in a lotus cup,

A black crane stooped beneath the silent palms

A length of silken carpet was unrolled;

A white gazelle dangled a silver chain,

Picking its way through tufts of broderied flowers,

Flowers of all hues and odors strewed the ground;

Roses, fire-red; large tulips, cups of flame;

Banks of snow-lillies, turning dew to pearls,

And rolling rivers of anemones,

Broad meadows stretched afar, where-in dim seen

Through winking haze," and so on. Say there is some style to Richard Henry, is there not? And he must have been profoundly impressed with the first section to exude poetry from his system as classy as that. And he tells you right out that there is no rough house about it; just goldfish and flowers and silken carpets and things like that found only in the most ladylike initiations. It is well worth all the money just to see the swell furnishings Richard tells about. You do not see cups of flame and black cranes and things like that ever day in Arizona.

Second Section.

This section is not so famous in song and story as the others perhaps because it is not so striking, and the impression on the novice is not so lasting. This section is in charge of Frank Thomas, and this is assurance that nothing is done, in it to injure the feelings of the most sensitive and delicate. Frank is so tender hearted that when he runs over a chicken or duck with his automobile he always takes the fowl home to be dressed. He pilots the novice around in the gentlest manner and always provides them with a good strong piece of manilla, so that they may hang on the rope and avoid all danger. He wouldn't allow any rough house in the second section for anything. We asked Frank if he knew of any poetry written about the second section by some one who had been through it, and he said he recalled a few lines written by Asaphus which runs something like this: "Grief like these exceed

The power of speech or question; yet even such,

CAN AGNOSTICS BECOME ELKS

"At a recent session of a lodge in this vicinity the proposition of a candidate for membership was read and in answer to the question, 'Do you believe in the existence of a Supreme Being?' the answer was, 'I am an Agnostic.' The Exalted Ruler immediately ordered the proposition returned to the proposer, together with the proposition fee."

"Subsequently a number of the members of that lodge in consultation became involved in a controversy relative to the equity of the action of the Exalted Ruler, and the editor of the Elks Antler was asked by letter to answer the question which is the caption of this article.

"The action of the Exalted Ruler in this case referred to is not involved in the discussion of the question. It is purely a local matter and should not be reviewed in the columns of a fraternal paper, but the main proposition involved is one of national interest and can therefore be treated in a manner not limited by local considerations.

"The question is purely an academic one, resolving itself into an analysis of the definition of the term agnostic. The common acceptance of those who have never indulged in such an analysis, is that the terms agnostic and atheist are synonymous. This is not based upon actual facts.

"An atheist is one who denies the existence of a supreme being, asserting an argumentative opinion at variance with the very idea of agnosticism. In order that agnosticism may be understood, the following from eminent writers given in the Standard Dictionary may be of value in illustrating the subject:

"Most of my colleagues (in the Metaphysical Society) were 'ists'—and I, the man without a rag of a label, took thought and invented what I conceived to be the appropriate title of 'Agnostic'. It came into my head as suggestively antithetic to the 'gnosis' of church history, who professed to know so much about the very things of which I was ignorant."—Huxley's Essays Upon Some Controversial Questions.

"The agnostic calls God unknowable, but that He is unfathomable is all they prove and often all that they mean."—Joseph Cook, Biologist.

"Agnosticism contemplated on its philosophical side is a professed exposition of the limits of human knowledge and thought, maintaining the impossibility of knowledge of the infinite, in opposition to the theory of a restricted but true knowledge of the First Cause as infinite and absolute."—S. H. Relig. Enigma.

"Theo!—The theory that God is unknown or unknowable?"

This theory has a positive form, maintaining either that finite mind can not know the infinite and Absolute Being, or that God, being absolute, can not come into relation to finite beings, and therefore cannot reveal himself to man; and a negative form, maintaining that man does not know God, and God has not revealed himself to man—this last opposed to dogmatic theism.

"As more satisfactory than these abstract positions and defenses, we see Agnostics working its proper effects and forming character."—McCosh, Conflicts of the Age.

"In loose usage, the view that all supernatural beings or existences, all spiritual vehicles, etc., are unknowable, or at least incomprehensible."

"The genuine and sincere agnostic is the meekness of those content with the unfoldings of a real life."—H. M. Alden, God in His World, intro.

"It will be seen from these explanations that there is not a denial in agnosticism of the existence of a Supreme Being, though probably the candidate who signed the application for membership in answer to the question, used the term, 'I am an agnostic,' as the equivalent of 'I am an atheist,' and could therefore be properly rejected.

"Had he been really an agnostic, he could have answered affirmatively that he did believe in the existence of a Supreme Being, though he doubted the authenticity of revelation, without disqualifying himself for membership in this Order.

"The Order of Elks has for all time held that the peculiar beliefs of individuals applying for membership are not susceptible of criticism, provided their applications affirm their belief in the existence of a supreme being, and if an agnostic, that is one who states that he believes in the existence of a supreme being, though not knowing what that supreme being is, can undoubtedly join this Order. However, the distinction between agnosticism and atheism must be clear to the minds of the applicants as well as to those who are passing judgment upon the proposition for admission to the fraternity.

"In the opinion of the writer, a man's belief other than his acceptance of a supreme being is a matter for his individual conscience and does not concern his neighbor in the slightest degree. It is the liberal spirit of Elksdom which endears it to its members and any attempt to narrow its broad American value is almost a blow at the vital existence of the Order itself."

Murphy's wife was at the hospital and Murphy called everyday to find out how she was getting along. One day Mike met Murphy on the street, and Murphy was crying, and Mike asked him what was the matter. Murphy went on to explain how his wife had been sick at the hospital, and that he had gone everyday to inquire about her and that the doctors had always told him improving, but that morning the doctors had told him she had died. "What did she die of?" asked Mike. "I don't know" replied Murphy, "but I think from improvements."

IS SIMPLE

In one of his works Joseph Alden states: "The importance of models is not confined to the fine arts. They have their place in every department of human effort where excellence is sought."

"This may be said to be another way of stating that there is nothing new under the sun. Anything we have is but a copy of something that preceded it, and anything we may receive will have an already existing prototype. To attain to excellence it is necessary to have a model to copy from, because human effort is incapable of absolute originality in the field of endeavor."

"Such fact may be humiliating and disappointing to humanity, but on the other hand, it is consoling to realize how skillfully we can copy from models and attain to some degree of excellence which generally results when the effort is well directed and accompanied by intelligent concentration."

"Human effort covers a wide field, notwithstanding its limited opportunity and power. When we refer to the social, the educational, the mechanical, the governmental and the moral, we are quite as far from including the possible range of human effort as would be the expert astronomer from bringing within range of his most powerful telescope all of the bodies that belong to the astral creation. It is not necessary to know of invisible suns in order to realize the existence of our own 'orb of day.' No more is it needful to contemplate the entire extent of human effort in order to appreciate the necessity for models."

"We are all children of a larger growth, and the inclinations of childhood never leave us. This is manifested in a special manner by our desire to associate with our fellows, which is a reflection of our youthful longing for playmates. In our associations we are slaves to forms. We would not dare digress from fixed forms, and in observing them we model our conduct after the fashions that have come down to us. Our method of dress is sufficient as an illustration. The changes that occur are merely modifications of that which already existed."

"Napoleon considered that he had become powerful enough to be independent in human affairs, when he declared that he was his own ancestor. He meant to imply that he was the beginning of a new family tree, but his expression ignored the fact that he was a descendant of the human race in general. His dependence on ancestry was demonstrated in his study of the methods pursued by Alexander and Caesar, the generals whom he chose as models. Even Napoleon could not separate himself from the human family, nor could he entirely ignore social forms, which statement could be easily demonstrated."

"Our social ambitions are largely responsible for our interest in education, even though such interests be also connected with material aspirations. An education received without following patterns is almost beyond conception. The very system of education is modeled on past experiences, not to mention the use of text-books and the desire to follow in the footsteps of men of great attainment. In fact, to copy great men is considered so essential to education that their likenesses are reproduced and placed in prominent positions in the schools as a reminder to the scholars to take their works as models."

1910 -- ELKS' CARNIVAL -- 1911

BOHEMIAN THROGHT TO GATHER IN SPIRIT OF KING CARNIVAL

ANTLERED HERD AND THOU SANDS OF FRIENDS TO MEET UNDER BLAZE OF COLORED LIGHTS—CARE WILL BE THROWN TO WINDS.

Some people say one can have too much of a good thing. Sometimes this is so. The first Carnival of the Honolulu Elks was a good thing. No one had too much of that in fact no one had enough except some of the Executive Committee which had the whole burden of the affair on its shoulders, but the weak brothers have passed on their way and the present committee having the Carnival in charge have taken a hitherto in their masts, put their shoulders to the wheel and are straining every muscle and using every bit of gray matter in endeavor to outdo the spectacle of the last show. It looks like they would do it.

The very inception of the Carnival was Christmas Eve two years ago when a score of Elks in costume took up the Carnival game in a spirit of fun on the streets. Christmas Eve in Honolulu's streets down town has become one of the institutions of the city and as people become more accustomed to the fun of it, it is getting more popular. Confetti and streamers, horns and masks and music take their place in the general jollity and the unorganized attempt proved such a joy the Elks decided that a couple of nights set aside for an organized effort at fun would prove a good thing.

The first Carnival held on the nights of the 21st and 22nd of February last will live long in the memory of those who participated in it. It was the greatest spectacular amusement stand ever attempted in Hawaii. That it was a success both artistically and financially goes without saying. From the proceeds a nucleus was formed for a building fund and on the strength of the nest egg and on the good faith of the Elks, the order has lately been enabled to purchase the old building and grounds of the Y. M. C. A. on the corner of Hotel and Alakea streets. This second Carnival is for the primary purpose of continuing the aid to the building fund and secondarily to give the people of the city and visitors from abroad and the other islands a chance for enjoyment not usually found in this, the Capital City of the Paradise of the Pacific. It is not the intention to repeat the show of last year. Repetition of even good things grows monotonous. Some features will be repeated. There will be a ball, and the Hold-Up Court will be in session at which all causes of complaint against this issue of the Evening Bulletin will be heard. Anyone feeling himself aggrieved at anything appearing in this paper has the right of appealing before this just and sagacious tribunal and being heard. Satisfaction is guaranteed in every way or costs refunded. Besides the ball and Court, a temple has been provided in which the ancient and mystical rites of the religion of the hula will be exemplified. This matter has caused some few heart-to-heart talks among some of our oldest inhabitants and some say the hula is caught up and has no place in any well behaved Kingdom or Carnival. That its proper place is to the east of where the east wind comes from so that the seem of it will not reach to the nostrils of the wild asses of the desert. The Bureau of American Ethnology of the Smithsonian Institute thought enough of the hula as an institution to get out a bulletin on it. It was compiled by Dr. N. B. Emerson of this city. In his preface to the bulletin he states "the hula was a religious service in which poetry, music, pantomime and the dance lent themselves, under forms of dramatic art to the refreshment of men's minds." The refreshment of men's minds is one of the objects of this Carnival. And the minds will be refreshed at so much per refreshment. One thing about the hula that those who object to ordinary round dances cannot object to is that it is not performed with the feet. Of course the feet of the performer are in the hula, but they are not used to any great extent. Besides there is no bony hugging. This bony hugging business being an art by itself.

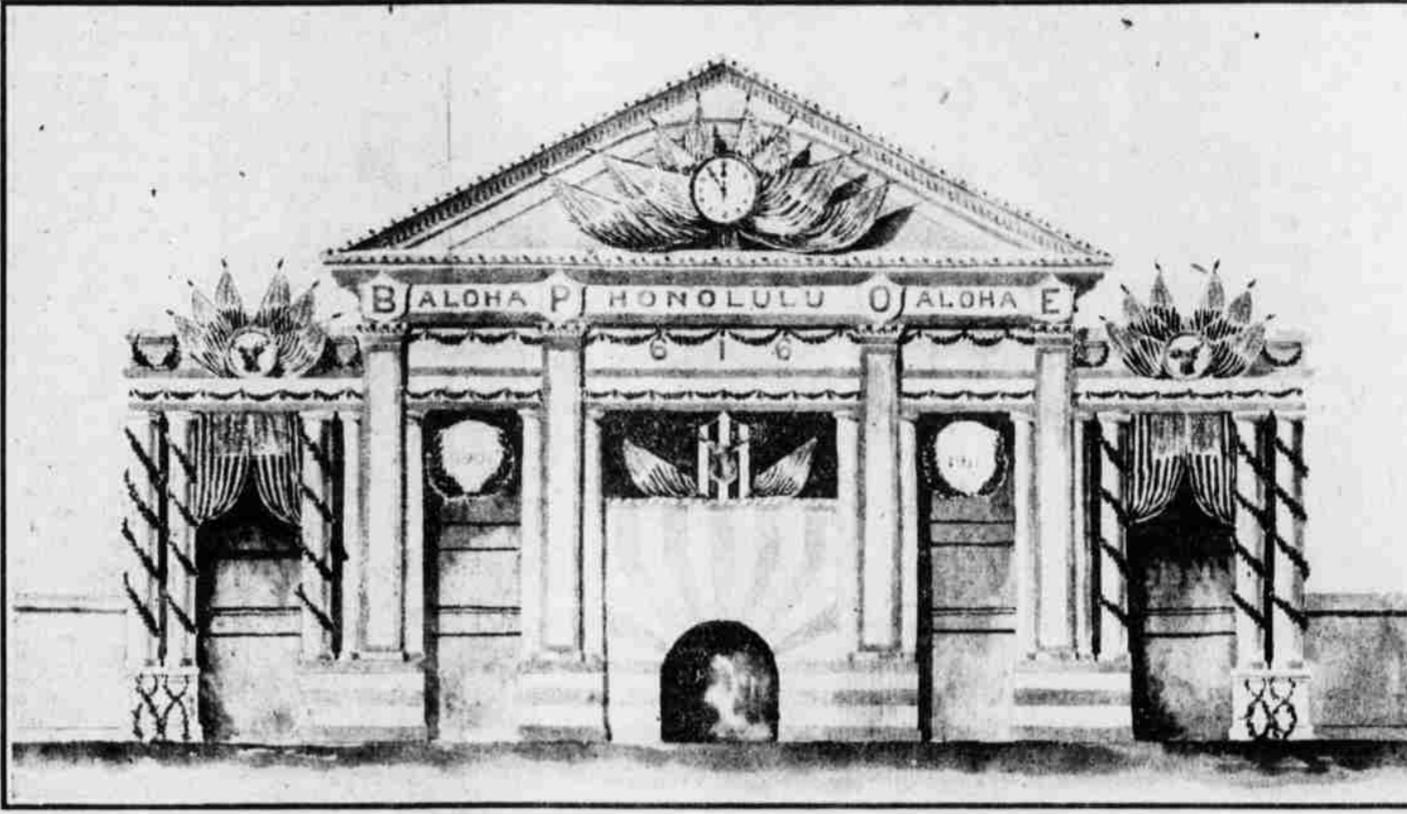

Lorrin Andrews with five other Cudlids, namely W. W. Thayer, Eddie Hons, Eddie-Bufandau, Eddie Miller and Eddie Vaughan, have at great expense been able to bring a troupe of Lilliputians, captured on the travels of the celebrated Gulliver, to Honolulu for two nights only. There are six in the troupe, and under the tutelage of the above-named gentlemen they have been taught many pleasing tricks and are the cutest of all wee things. Their English is not of the best and, of course, could not be expected to be perfect, as their stay in the United States has been so short. The wonderful intelligence displayed by the tiny beings is beyond all belief, and their show will sure instruct and amuse.

Everybody either knows or has heard of the Union Grill. In union there is strength. The Union Grill will cater to the wants of travelers along the Great White Way for two evenings. There will be pretty Chinese girls in costume to serve the hungry, and fish chowder and bread and coffee or a German cold lunch will be served to those desirous of replenishing their vitality. Frank Winter is the principal chef; assisting him will be Geo. P. Thielan, Frank Barrere, Nelson B. Lansing, W. F. Heilborn, and G. G. Schweitzer. This establishment is called the Onion Grill because in onions also there is strength. You will be provided for as you pay and are expected to pay as you go, that you may enjoy what is yet to come.

Si Young's Country Store and Post-office is right next to the Grill, N. B. Young, E. E. Dodge, Chester Irwin, F. O. Boyer, Geo. Marsby, John Fulter, Henry P. Roth and Walter Ryecroft will be in attendance. All articles in the store are for sale, from an Overland Automobile to a postage stamp. In the postoffice letters will be handled for your convenience, special delivery and registry departments having been opened. A choice line of Yankee novelties, glass beads, hairpins and gewgaws too numerous to mention have just arrived and will be on exhibition until disposed of. There is to be a clearance sale, and goods will go at a sacrifice. It is not necessary to say what the sacrifice will be, but go in and see for yourself. Heine's Rat Paste, warranted to remove rats from the garret or bats from the belfry, will be given as a premium to the purchases of every article which costs more than the price of the paste. Young's store imports goods direct from Europe, India and Stirrup, and so has no competitors when it comes to quality or price.

You have, of course, heard of the hair on the tail of the dog of the Wild Man of Borneo. Well, in the Museum of Freaks, under the management of Geo. A. Martin, J. R. Bergstrom, Wm.

Scene of The Great Elks' Carnival

Entrance to Alakea Wharf, Where the Brilliant Carnival Will Be held Next Tuesday and Wednesday Nights.

C. McCoy, C. J. Lynch, K. R. G. Wallace, and Benjamin Brum, the real Wild Man of Borneo will be on view to witness this much-discussed exhibition of grace and judge for yourselves and your wives as to whether the dances of the Geishas are proper. Let criticism pass and fear not if some of greater import in the community goes by you enter. The dance is as safe as the first flight of the wee birds of spring, and to miss it is to pass by something that is worth while.

This year the space allotted to the concessions, booths and sideshows is so much greater that the crowding for entertainment are twice as large as last time. Especially is this so of the photograph gallery, where instantaneous pictures will be taken of all who present themselves, and will be finished while you wait. Ray Irwin, Paul W. John, R. J. Taylor, E. W. Ehron, W. D. Wilder and John A. O'Brien solicit your patronage. You will be operated upon by Representative E. Kane Fernandez who, with Borneo, has made such a success of moving pictures in Hawaii. If you prefer a moving picture of yourself it may be taken but of course will be much more expensive than the regular postcard kind, which is all that it is necessary for you to have taken.

VOTING CONTEST.

Among the many interesting features of the Elks' Carnival will be the Booth presided over by Mrs. J. Morton Riggs and Princess Kawananakoa.

They have in charge two large hand-painted China Tankards—one on which will be the Shriners' Emblem, and on the other will be that of the Elks.

Mrs. Riggs has painted these Tankards and presented them to the Elks to be voted for at her booth and there will be awarded to the most popular visiting Shiner and most popular Honolulu Elk.

The Tankards are on display in H. F. Wichman & Co's window and are being greatly admired on account of their originality and artistic beauty.

A number of Elks have announced their intention of entering the contest for the Elks' Tankard, and the Shriners when they arrive, will get busy in order to have one of their members secure the other one.

The voting will continue during the two nights of the Carnival—February 21st and 22nd—and close at 11 P. M. when the result will be announced and the Tankards delivered to the fortunate winners.

THE JOY RIDE.

Here's to the auto that takes us out, with a honk and a whizz and a whoop and a shout;

Here's to the auto that whirls us on, till we can't remember how far we've gone,

And a bolt comes loose And raises the deuce, Or a tire blows up When we hit a pup, Or the fitful spark Grows cold and dark, Or we break the springs Some other things,

That are there to twist and to break and crack— Then!

Here's to the auto that pulls us back!

HUGH MOORE VISITS CAPITOL BUILDING AND TELLS ABOUT IT

By Hugh Moore.

Having for many years been an observer of men and affairs, I have finally yielded to urgent appeals and published a few of my observations for the guidance of the public and the enlightenment of posterity.

Those who are so fortunate as to read what is here recorded are requested to pay double price for the paper and order a few hundred copies sent their friends (cash in advance) and those who do not read what I have to say will have to settle with their own consciences—if they can.

Bent on gratifying a thirst for information, I recently called on my old friend, the shyster on the floor on the hair," etc. While the Wild Man is the peculiar attraction, it is too early at this time to give a list of the other queer things that will be on view. Suffice it to say that the Museum of Freaks will live up to its name under its able management.

True to the predictions of the many patrons of last year's Carnival, the second show of the Elks is now almost ready, being bigger, stronger and grander by one hundred per cent than its predecessor.

The Elks once starting anything carry it out to a finish, and Honolulu is to be congratulated in having a bunch with the enterprise and invention of the members of Honolulu Lodge, whose hard work, inventive brains, and good-fellowship have enabled them to hold a show of the kind that is not surpassed in any city of the mainland of the size of Honolulu.

True to the predictions of the many patrons of last year's Carnival, the second show of the Elks is now almost ready, being bigger, stronger and grander by one hundred per cent than its predecessor.

The Elks once starting anything carry it out to a finish, and Honolulu is to be congratulated in having a bunch with the enterprise and invention of the members of Honolulu Lodge, whose hard work, inventive brains, and good-fellowship have enabled them to hold a show of the kind that is not surpassed in any city of the mainland of the size of Honolulu.

Speaker Hofstein—"Makapala by the sea," my residence in Kohala, was made famous by Anne Marie Prescott, but I propose to make it famous by keeping up with the Times, and using the "Big Stick."

Rep. Kellum—I believe in a square deal, independently, the "Big Stick." But why should it be used this session? And on me!

Rep. Rice—Kauai is known as the Garden Island, and I have a resolution to introduce this session to the effect that in future all floral Parades should be held on Kauai.

Rep. Cook—Oahu holds so many attractions which the other Islands lack, that Kamehameha in his wisdom made it the capital city. That is why I live here. My duties in this session of the Legislature are many. Principally, I am for education, and will see to it that being as I am born, the young idea shall be taught to shoot properly.

Rep. Atkinson—Yes, I represent the Big Island, and consequently have big ideas of the way we should legislate. Small subjects such as the Advertiser, infatuations are not worthy of attention from me.

Rep. Cooke—Molokai has more bees than all the other islands put together. Can you blame me you getting a bee in my bonnet and running for the Legislature? I intend to introduce a bill for the promotion of the honey industry and the protection of the bees.

Rep. Hinckley—I have been repeatedly mistaken for Van Dyck, and it annoys me. I shall introduce a bill this session of the Legislature making it a serious offense for anyone to do this again.

Rep. Marcellino—Yes, I know that I will never achieve the fame that Senator Quinn achieved when he was in the House, on account of his famous Sunday law, which allows himself to be played on Sunday, but I expect to gain some renown before the session is over, by captaining a team from the House to play the Senate on some Sunday afternoon when Quinn is not working some lead-pipe cinch.

I have been used to meetings of the Honolulu Stock and Bond Exchange, where the Bulls and Bears have been on the rampage, and the House seems tame. Of course, I shall look on for awhile, but as soon as someone says "Rubber," you just watch me. My attorneys are now drafting a bill which I intend to introduce, making Nahuku rubber the standard of the world, and prohibiting the use of any other rubber in the manufacture of auto tires, in the United States. My bill further provides that any surplus left in the treasury of the United States Government, after the completion of the Panama Canal, shall be used for the further development of the rubber industry in the district of Nahuku.

Rep. Yates—During the plebeiate campaign I was an advocate of the cause of temperance, believing in the merits of Kona coffee, and advising its use as the finest beverage in the world.

Fellow Representatives, the day is dawning when the sun will shine on no fairer spot than Kalama.

Honolulu will have paled into insignificance. What is needed now is an appropriation of $100,000 for holding the next convention, in 1912, in the crater of Kalama.

Rep. Watkins—I have an amendment to propose to the bill introduced to promote diversified industries. The amendment is to strike out the word "and" on the 23rd line on the first page and insert in lieu thereof the word "Forcereuth."

Rep. Archer—The Fifth District is the district from which is derived the largest portion of taxes on the Island of Oahu. What we want is that the largest expenditures be made in this district. We have in the Fifth District the Oahu Jail, the Insane Asylum, the Poor Industrial School and the Girls' Industrial School. I believe these institutions should be kept up. More money is needed, and the Fifth District is looked for the supply; consequently more appropriations are needed for developing the district and increasing the population.

Rep. Coney—on have, of course, noticed how little I have to say on the floor of the House, but have you observed how the Kauai contingent get everything they are after? No, it is not true that Kauai intends to erect a barbed wire fence around the island, but any attempt on the part of politicians to oust the present Kauai Representatives from their positions will be shut off at this session of the Legislature, as I intend to introduce an act prohibiting the election of Representatives other than ourselves, to represent the Island of Kauai. This act is to take effect immediately and is not subject to repeal or amendment.

Rep. Williamson—This is my first attempt, but it does not frighten me.

Rep. Hale—I am opposed to any division of the Island of Hawaii. We do not want to be divided. We have in the old motto of "Undivided we stand." When the Panama Canal is completed we will be the greatest State in the Union, and I believe we should assist and help the other States. Canada is looking to the United States for reciprocity, and I am in favor of uniting their economy and have presented a joint Resolution, which I shall introduce later in the session, as follows:

"Whereas, The Dominion of Canada has through its proper representatives made representations to the government of the United States, that it desires and will approve of reciprocal arrangements; and

"Whereas, In an uncertain tone it's desire to consume and take all the bananas, coffee, pineapples, guavas and other Island products produced in the Territory of Hawaii; therefore, be it

"Resolved, That the President of the United States is hereby authorized by and with the consent of Harry E. Murray to sign such Reciprocity Treaty, and that the term of such treaty be for a period of not to exceed 99 years, or until the next Democratic landslide."

Rep. Tavares—Makawao is a portion of the Island of Maui, and is held in place by a grape vine. Maui is one of the islands in the Hawaiian group, annexed to the United States some time ago. It was made famous by Jas. L. Coke, a Democrat, who was twice elected county attorney. I have asked him to prepare a number of bills for me, and amongst the most important is one which no doubt will receive the support of every member of the House and Senate. It is as follows:

"AN ACT

"To Connect the Islands of Maui and Oahu By Some Other Means Than the Inter-Island Steam Navigation Company's Steamer Claudine.

"Be it Enacted by the Legislature of the Territory of Hawaii:

"Section 1. Whereas, The Island of Maui, being in the group of islands annexed to the United States, and being too far distant from the capital city of Honolulu, situated on the Island of Oahu; and

"See 2. Whereas, It is necessary and convenient to the citizens of both islands to be in touch with the circuit judges and others, therefore be it,

"See 3. Resolved, That one-half of the revenue derived from the liquor licensees from the Islands of Maui and Oahu be set aside as a special appropriation, to connect said islands by other than steam communication; and be it further

"See 4. Resolved, That the expense of water between them is hereby bridged, and made a public highway, by suspension.

"See 5. This act shall take effect from and after its passage."

Rep. Kamauai—I have hatched my ideas to a "Star," and when the next comet comes along it will not be Hall's, but Smith's. I have among other bills one which I shall introduce, as early as possible in the session. It is an educational one and provides that the "Hawaiian Star," a newspaper of daily circulation, shall be read in all the public schools of the Territory each day, and the editor eulogized. It provides an appropriation of a considerable amount for the purchase of the Hawaiian Star and the necessary files to keep it intact. It further provides that the teachers in the public schools shall each Monday morning, before the salute of the flag, read to the pupils the editorial in the Saturday afternoon issue. It further provides that each pupil after committing to memory one of these masterpieces shall be graduated with the title of M. C. B. C.

Rep. Correa—I am an "Advertiser,"

JOINT RESOLUTION

Editor Harris informs us that the following Joint Resolution will be introduced simultaneously in both the House and the Senate of the Legislature of the Territory of Hawaii, on Monday, February 26th, 1911.

Arrangements have been made with the Mutual Telephone Co. and the Wireless service for a clear line, so that upon the pressing of the button by Frear and Murray, the readings will begin in both houses.

JOINT RESOLUTION

Whereas, the Carnival spirit is rampant, and has permeated the Legislative Halls, and

Whereas, this spirit has created a feeling of unrest among the members of the House of Representatives and the Senators of the Legislature of the Territory of Hawaii, distracting their minds from the important duties before them, and

Whereas, it is authentically reported that the Elks' headquarters in Washington, D. C., that President Taft will press the button which will open the Carnival in Honolulu, and that Congress will adjourn for a period of three days, in honor of the event, and

Whereas, all business will be suspended in the United States during the progress of the Floral Parade through the streets of Honolulu, and

Whereas, all amusement houses throughout the world will remain closed during the big show of the Elks' Alaea street wharf, and

Whereas, cable advice have been received from Kawahae and Macedonia, that the citizens have declared themselves in favor of celebrating this event, and desire flash light pictures of the Geisha girls and the hula dancers, with the autograph of Gulick attached thereto, to certify to their being genuine, and

Whereas, Madame Calve and the Kirmens, are side shows to the big features to be pulled off at the Alaea street wharf, by the Best People On Earth, and

Whereas, the Senate and the House concurring in all of the above, and believing that recognition of the work performed by the Elks and the Committee, in directing the attention of the world to the Alaska street wharf should be rewarded;

B. It Resolved, that the sum of twenty-three thousand dollars ($23,000.00) is hereby appropriated out of any moneys in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, and any balance of Road Supervisor Wilson's salary, which he may not have drawn, to defray the expenses of the public in taking in the sights. It is hereby expressly provided that no portion of the money so appropriated shall be expended at any other place, than Alaea street wharf, and

It is Resolved, that this appropriation shall be a continuing one, and be binding on our successors, and as signs.

Approved this 20th day of February, A. D. 1911.

(Signed) H. E. MURRAY,
W. F. FREAR.

We hereby certify that the foregoing Joint Resolution was adopted and approved this 20th day of February, 1911, with the following amendment:

"Provided, however, that should the Elks at some future date select some other place than Alaea street wharf for the holding of their Carnival, the Treasurer of the Territory is authorized to notify the public by proclamation that the money will still be available."

(Signed) ELKS COMMITTEE.

and to this I owe my election. Congress has its own printing establishment, but I propose to make a change.

With the approval of Governor Frear, W. R. Farrington and Walter G. Smith, I intend to introduce a bill at this session directing Congress to call for tenders on all printing work.

The bill is general in its provisions, and provides that the Advertiser shall be exempt from all liability suits of any nature or kind whatsoever and grants to L. A. Thurston, his associates, successors or assigns, the right to impeach the county attorney at any time during his natural life.

It further provides that T. McFadie Stewart and L. E. Pinkham shall be put upon the free mailing list, and that all copies of the Advertiser shall be delivered to them by special delivery.

No contracts of any kind shall be entered into without the approval of E. J. Testa and countersigned by Edmund Norrie. The Act generally is to protect the public from any chance of being without its morning paper, and not getting the news.

Rep. Moana—The different bills introduced in this session are very good in their way, but I have one which will turn people's attention to the Big Island. I propose to put Hawaii on the map, by the introduction of my bill, which I am assured will receive unanimous support from the Senators and Representatives from the Island of Oahu.

DREAMS OF CELEBRATING TWENTY-FIFTH ANNIVERSARY IN ELKDOM

Although the winter of life, the time up the good flight for the universal brotherhood of man, until its enemies close is drawing nigh, and nature's law must be filled, yet her tole and age's infirmities were forgotten as we revelled last evening with the antlered herd in a glorious Saturnalia of fun. Carnival social session and high jinks all combined in one to celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of the opening of this Elks' home.

The celebration was remarkable in many ways—in the number and personnel of those who attended, in the event it commemorated, and in the diversity and high order of the program from the drop of the gavel to the solemn tolling of the eleventh hour. Mirth, music and oratory wailed forth like a clear and limpid stream flowing from a mountain's heart, and at the hour named as in a transformation, our memories were swept from this melstrom of gaiety to dwell for a time beside the tomb of our absent brothers.

I. R. Roseburo was master of ceremonies, and, as our venerable Bro. Judge Davis would say, "words are superfluous to describe" how this jolly bohemian upheld the reputation of the Elks as right royal hosts and kingly exemplars of good cheer.

There was quite a crowd. Counting members and their guests, there were fully two thousand. From Hawaii we had four hundred. They came via the Hilo-Makukona electric road and thence by the electric greyhound "Kennedy" to Honolulu—a six-hour trip; whilst from Maui, Kauai and the towns of Wailuku, Waipahu and Kaneohe, air machines carried the boys and did lucrative business.

The opening serenade started at 8 p.m. Then followed a program intellectual, interesting and humorous. Immediately following the opening wireless messages from Absent Brothers and friends were received and read. The first, from our Senior Senator at Washington, was as follows: "Aloha, may all Elks float down life's stream on argosies of joy. I here and now state we are not only the best people on this planet, but on any other planet."

The next was from Theodore Roosevelt, Washington, President of the International Court of Nations—"Congratulations, cranks and fanatics vaporized for years about the world, Peace and good will. Elks worked for it and did much to accomplish it. Keep built up a patriotic citizen. Our next objective point was the municipal buildings, where city fathers delve deeply into social and political questions and study the people's needs. Here mayoralty, political knavery and divided responsibilities are not known except as food for romantics and historians. Now majorities rule and business is transacted in a busineslike way.

Then was visited the Pacific Institute of Art, Science and Commerce, the noblest piece of architecture in our city. This building came after the universal peace treaty and opening of the Panama Canal. The marvelous increase in trade caused thereby, with the substitution of electricity as a motive power, made this island the great emporium of the Pacific. In this building all nations bordering on this ocean have their representatives, and their chambers of commerce meet in annual convention.

Past Art Gallery, Museum, Conservatory of Music, Public Library and Metropolitan Opera House, we reach the great artery of Island trade, the railroad depot, a prime factor in Oahu's supremacy. Flanking its grand arched statue of B. F. Dillingham, merchant-prince of Hawaii and pioneer of American railroads.

Attending our celebration were not only many of our own most prominent citizens, but also many notables from neighboring lands. Mingling freely with the boys was the Governor of the State and officers of the international Pacific fleet patrol, the admiral of the flagship Dewey and captains of the Dreadnoughts Togo, Li Hung Chang and Australasia.

Brother Douthitt of the Supreme Court was the orator. His personality, magnetism and enthusiasm easily bridged the chasm of thirty years, for those of us who knew Eddie when he was one of the boys.

When the fun was over, lights out and the last strains of "The Star Spangled Banner" melted into ambient air, a few of the old boys with their guests took in the sights of the city.

The first stop was made at the Federal Building, a rather modest structure of Island stone. Indeed, the only noticeable thing connected with it is a statue in heroic size of marble and bronze, representing Sanford Ballard Dole, the Grand Old Man of Hawaii, first citizen, first President and first Governor.

From there our footsteps led to the Capitol and Governor's mansion, a stately pile of buildings in the Gothic style. No more is heard around its corridors the wall of the office-seeker.

Many moons have passed since he, the boss, moans and convention have held sway. Education, the initiative and referendum have given him peace, and, greatest of all—The Elks.

WHAT OLD HONOLULU USED TO LAUGH AT

From the Old Newspaper Files in the Archives—1836-1839.

Dr. Mr. Editor:—Perhaps through the medium of your valuable paper, you can inform me, when is a man not a man? and why is an umbrella like a horse?

We must look to our readers for a solution of the above. D'ye give it up?

Mr. Editor:—Is a man not a man when he is a bed? "I guess so," Yours.

Mr. Snooks is right, probably, but a man is also not a man when he turns to a woman.

"An umbrella is like a horse"—because it is most useful in rains (reins).

In the Sandwich Island Gazette of August 6, 1836, the village Barber (also probably the Gossip; with apologies to Clarence) holds forth thusly:

"SHIRINE OF ADONIS.

"Wm. Johnson.

"Cuts, curls and shaves with taste and care;

And to bald heads restores the hair."

A gentleman riding over a copious when it rained very hard, set up a gallop, and met with a traveler whose horse was standing still. Somewhat surprised at the sight, he asked the reason for it. "Zounds," said the other, "who but a fool would ride in all this wet?"

SPEAKING FOR POSTERITY.—During the delivery of one of those interminable and tedious speeches which are sometimes inflicted upon the House of Representatives in America, a member who had occupied the floor for several hours was called to order, on the ground that his remarks were not pertinent to the question before the house. "I know it," he said; "I am not speaking for the benefit of the house, but for posterity." "Speak a little longer," said John Randolph, in an undertone, "and be hawked about by poor children."

TRROUBLESOME TIMES.

"Those who have cash,
Have trouble about it;
Those that have none,
Have trouble without it."

It has been asserted lately, from the pulpit in Honolulu, that "he who telleth the truth, with the intention to injure his neighbor, is guilty of bearing false witness."

C. PORTER JOHNSON'S ADDRESS.

Brother C. Porter Johnson, prominent lawyer and one of the best public speakers in Missouri, delivered the memorial address for the Elks in St. Joseph, Mo. He said in part:

"I am sometimes led to believe that this earth is but a tomb in which are buried the highest hopes and noblest aspirations of our race. From the instant being the bravest and the truest must pass into fadless time, that all our achievements, of hearts, and brain, and hand, will vanish and pass away and be lost in the dust that settles about the crumbling works of man, that nothing that is material endures. All such is transient and passing. The mountains remain, but the vegetation of the valleys withers with the touch of time."

"The sad lesson of our race teaches us the sad lesson that man, with all his strength, and science with all her achievements, cannot stay the hand that withers and deadens all things. The wise men of all ages have seriously pondered this question: does death end all? Is this life the finale of existence? It cannot be denied that all material things have their beginning and their end in this world; that rank and wealth begin and end here; that so far as we can see and appreciate this life is complete at the tomb. But we feel an abiding assurance that there is in man a living force that survives the grave and endures in endless days. If this be not true, then all that we term "civilization" may as well be swept away. The impulse to live honestly and properly had as well be disregarded and overcome by our base motives."

"If we are but animals, what differs the grade of our instinct? If man's love and reverence for higher and nobler things, which connect with and hold on to immortality, is but a vague instinct or superstition, then the battle of the ages for higher ideals and loftier moral and spiritual conditions have been in vain. The race of life is not worth the running. The struggle of love and tenderness made by the noble motherhood of all ages makes a mockery of creatures and puts to scorn the thought of progress, and at once reduces the best in the heart of man to the level of the fading instincts of the beasts of the field and forest. Such thoughts do not satisfy the desolate waste of materialism into the bright glory of immortality."

The spirit moved the talent and the talent moved the show, And every patriot in the land dug up the coin to go.

The ladies, charming creatures, contributed their aid,

And the Elks and good King Karnival a glorious triumph made.

According to a spinster, the dark ages are anywhere between 28 and 49.

CRUMBS FROM FOOLISH DICTIONARY

ABSINTHE—From two Latin words, ad, and sinistrum, meaning "the bad". If in doubt, try one. (Old adage, "Absinthe makes the jack last longer".)

ABSTINENCE—From the Persian, ab, water andstein or tankard. Water-tankard or "water wagon".

AFFINITY—Complimentary term for your husband or your wife. Some times a synonym for "Your finish".

AGE—Something to brag about; your wine cellar and forget in a birth day book. The boast of an old vintage higginson of an old maid.

ALIMONY—An expensive soothin syrup, prescribed by the judge for divorcee's bleeding heart. (Old spelling, alay money.)

APPENDICITIS—A modern pain costing about $200.00 more than old-fashioned stomach-ache.

ARSON—Derived from the Hebrew (See Insurance.)

BANDIT—An outlaw. See Supervisor.

BACKBITER—A mosquito.

BACHELOR—From the Latin, Ba chelus, a stick, unattached. Hence an unattached man which any lady may stick to, or get stuck on.

BONNETS—A female head trouble which is contracted the latter part of Lent and breaks out on Easter.

CAVALRY—The arm of the military service that engages in the real hostilities.

CHAUFFEUR—A man who is smart enough to operate an automobile, but clever enough not to own one.

COLLECTOR—A man whom few care to see but many ask to call again.

COMPLIMENT—From Eng. con, — hot air, and Lat. ples, to fill. Hence to fill with hot air.

COMPLEXION—Color for the face. From Eng. complex, difficult, and shun, to avoid. To avoid difficulty buy it of a druggist.

CREMATION—A means of disposing of the dead likely to become very popular, especially with women who are so fond of having the last resort invented by St. Vitus.

DANCE—A brisk physical exercise.

DEBT—A big word beginning with Owe, which grows bigger the more it is contracted.

DENT—A cavity.

DENTIST—One who punches the face and fills cavities.

DIAMOND—A bright gem the sparkle of which sometimes renders a woman stone-blind to the defects of the man proffering it.

ECHO—The only thing that can cheat a woman out of the last word.

ECONOMY—Denying ourselves a necessity today in order to buy a luxury tomorrow.

ENGAGEMENT—In war, a battle in love, the salubrious calm that precedes the real hostilities.

EPITAPH—A statement that usually lies above about the one who lies beneath.

EVOLUTION—A clever trick performed by one Darwin, who made a monkey of Adam.

FACE—A fertile, open expanse, lying midway between collar-button and scalp, and full of cheek, chin and character. The crop of the male face is hair, harvested daily, by a lather, or allowed to run to mutton chops, spinach or full lace curtains. The female face product is powder, whence the expression, "Shoot off your face". Each is supplied with lamps, snuffers and bread boxes.

FAILURE—The quickest method known for making money.

FEINT—A pugilist's bluff.

FAIR—A woman's bluff.

FAMILY—Originally a wife and several children, a matter of pride to the possessor. Now absolute among the careful, or confined to the wife, a bull pup, or a canary bird.

FIG—Nothing. Note: "I don't care a fig," etc.

FIG LEAF—A small outer garment, next to nothing, worn by Adam
