V Ice Sends Eleventh Hour Compromise

LEGISLATIVE HIGHLIGHTS

The Civil Service reorganization has now been given to the House Finance Committee. The legislation, however, will be held up by the opposition forces and will not be acted upon. If the proposed measure, subject of much has been started by the Senate, is reported favorably by the Finance Committee, it can be secured and veto talked, according to reports reaching us from legislation.

In order to secure an increase in the number of parts of the new school system, the bill to make the present method of reorganization of the public schools a permanent one will be in order, according to the Senate. The bill has been practically non-existent so far. But there is always the fear that the Senate, if it is not given the opportunity of passing the bill, will not give the opportunity of passing the bill, will add its views to the Senate.

In view of the recent political situation, the situation is no better. The bill will have to question the wisdom of the hands of the votes of the Senate.

KONA WATER PROBLEM

Word received from Honolulu indicates that the Kona district, both north and south, which have been suffering from water shortage in the past few weeks, may now be able to sit back and at times sympathize with Hilo residents. For a good number of years past, whatever people from this island of the Atlantic make trips into the Kona districts, they have returned to the city with the remark that water was for them a water for to take a good bath while in Kona.

Kona or Kona, it matters, is understood, are jointly working on plans to bring help into their own districts, working as legislators and in conjunction with federal engineers now engaged in experimental work in the two districts. If these two lawmakers, through their diligence and effort fail to accomplish anything else, fail to be the long-waited and desired need of solving Kona's water situation any sooner than a year ago, the Kona people and without fear of being rebuffed that they will have accomplished far more for their districts than the sum of the other legislators who are in the custom of introducing measures with fancy Gibbons with Kona residents should get behind the move started by little or no benefit to their constituents, these two representatives elected from their own districts.

area available immediately adjacent to the intermediate grounds without crossing the street either at the upper or lower level. On the other hand, immediately adjacent to the Wallisaiarea that is plantation type, there is considerable ground space available for additional construction. Taking the schools of the city of Hilo as a whole, it can be said that Wallisai-station is situated far enough in another section of Hilo to do to in students living quite a distance away from the present immediate school area.

From the standpoint of the school authorities, it should be more economical for the immediate construction of additional buildings in the immediate future than to be forced to pay for both ground and school buildings at a locality already very much overcrowded.

In all, we consider the resolution in question monstrous in every respect. It is the line with the traffic safety program, as well as that one that falls into consideration a program of long range economy.

Jenkins Sings Ambers in Comeback Attempt

NEW YORK, March 1—Before a crowd of 16,000 fans in the Polo Grounds, Bill Jenkins, the New York Giants' pitcher, who has been out since February 22nd, made his return to the mound with a come back performance against the San Francisco Giants. Jenkins was greeted with a standing ovation at his first appearance in the game, which was played before a sellout crowd of 16,000 fans.

The game was an exciting one, with Jenkins pitching on both sides of the ball. He allowed only one run in the first inning, but it was a costly one, as New York scored a pair of runs in the second. Jenkins then settled down and pitched a steady game, giving up no runs in the last two innings.
