These Are Kind of Men Who Ferry Bombers

SALLY MARTIN—Adventures in the small town of Midvale, leads an uneventful life. However, her spinster cousin, who lives in another state, has a son about her age. Sally writes letters home to him, and the cousin's son writes back. Sally is quite content with her life, and doesn't want to do anything different.

IN ARMY—Count Dino Grandi, former Italian Ambassador to London, removed by Mussolini from Italy as Minister of Justice and ordered to serve with army. He was a captain in World War. Two other members of Italy's Cabinet have already been killed in action, reports say.

FOUR GUILTY—Unusual wholesale murder verdict was given in San Francisco when four youths were convicted of slaying grocer.

FLIR HONORED—Flight Sergeant C. A. Sanders, coater, leaving the grounds of Buckingham Palace, London, after he was invested with honorary Distinguished Flying Medal by King George, for bravery. Wife, twin daughters and brother are with him. Passed by British censor.

WELCOME—Although Libyan natives are wearing white caps of surrender, they're really glad to go up to British and not to meet them, as it was in recent drive toward Derna. They regard British as liberators. Passed by British censor.

THE Truck driver suddenly reappeared. "Boy, your car has been stolen!"

Although Sally didn't go to church that Sunday morning, she didn't go because she had decided to leave Midvale and didn't want to see Charlie again—was afraid that she might persuade her to accept his arrangement for both of them. She would be more secure, she thought, if she went away in it and live on the two hundred dollars. Surely, she didn't want to get completely away from Charlie. He would be hurt, of course, but she didn't want him to know. "You see, I

FUGITIVE—Robert Elliott Barnes, escaped from Georgia chain gang in 1923 and again in 1927, when Governor Rodgers Tevett ordered recently, would be returned from New Jersey. Now Army officials, however, desired statement, Barnes was to be sent to a military camp near here after his home and two other people. Sally was afraid that she might persuade him to break her. Thinking of the mail she had now that Charlie had put on it, she asked her mother to mail it. Her mother, what a curious thing she would do to her situation, Adele, knew.

JAPAN NEVER WILL INITIATE ANY STRIKE IN THE PACIFIC, ADMIRAL NOMURA ASSERTS

RESTORATION OF RIGHTS OF THIRD POWERS IN CHINA..." Peace, envy, says in press interview

WASHINGTON... Admiral Kichisaburo Nomura, Japan's new Ambassador, predicted recently that points of conflict between Japan and the United States will not subside in a Pacific War. The Admiral made the prediction during the first official press interview with the United-States corps in the white state Japanese Embassy...

For nearly as long as the Ambassador has been here, a rapid fire of loaded questions. The final fling of his replies was that Japan wants peace, but is determined to complete establishment of the "new order in East Asia." Peaceful if possible, but if force is necessary.

Asked to define the danger of war arising from the present Pacific strain, Admiral Nomura made the prediction that "Japan does not like" the present position of Great Britain and the Philippines and other islands of minor power near to these areas.

Right to Fidelity "Tanaka..." he said, "to recognize that China and Hawaii and America are looking to the same thing. It is by no means certain that Britain is a big power, but it is not impossible that it is.

During the interview, Admiral Nomura made the warning that Japanese people is more interested in a foreign power, not in Japan, but in the United States, in the Dutch East Indies.

Alone Peaceful "I can say that Japan will not seek to form an alliance, but also Japan will not be willing to accede to any force to the principle. The fact that the United States have made a decision to enter the United States with the British and the Dutch do not wish for a war, we hope to do things peacefully. We do not wish for a war, but if it is called for, there is no way to avoid it.

The expedition struck a vein estimated to hold 120-million tons early in January, according to Dr. C. E. Pember-ton, president.

During the first evening of this month, an evening meeting, the usual papers will be presented by Dr. N. B. Wright, the chairman, J. W. Halliday, Melville St. John, Dr. E. R. Morison, and Hersey M. D. Miller, all of the University of Hawaii, and Dr. J. T. Collings of the P.P.O.

The event of exploring farther into the interior, with the material support of the naval landing corps. After more than 100 coolies, the expedition reached the Shihluling jungle, about 150 miles northeast of the Chiang river, which, flowing to the east coast, is the largest stream in the island. At that time the order had not been perfectly established, the enemy guerrillas are raiding in these areas.

Perfected by persistent efforts by the United States naval landing corps, the enemy guerrillas have been since driven farther in land, making it safer for our prospectors to explore the interior of the island.

THICK JUNGLES CLEARED

The Nikon Nippon Tobacco Co. organized and dispatched to the interior an expedition comprising some experts early in September. This expedition, having hundreds of Li treasurers as coolers, cleared the thick jungles, and succeeded in opening ahead to Shihpling by December 30.

First, the expedition struck a vein estimated to hold 120,000,000 tons on the southern slopes of the range. Details of the party were assaulted by the metallic chime registered by every exposed rock on the hills and gullies.

OUTPOST OFFICE CREATED

The company is extending the construction of the 56-mile railway from Shihpling to Pei harbor, whence the iron ore is shipped to Nippon for smelting.

VAST DEPOSITION OF IRON ORE IS FOUND ON HAIHAN ISLAND

By SENJI NAGURA

HAIHAN ISLAND — Hainan island is proving a rich treasure island. It's wealth lies not in the gold, silver or precious stones tucked away by bandits, but in a latent rich vein of iron ore, so badly needed by modern industry.

We heard, in a general way how rich the iron content of the Hainan ore is. But when Nippon prospectors struck a vein estimated to hold 120,000,000 tons of rich vein of iron ore, so badly needed by modern industry.
