YUGOSLAVIA: ARE NOW FIGHTING BATTLE

British Forces Only Hope Of Balkans To Be Driven Out Of Their Positions By German Army

BERLIN, April 9 — The German government officially announced today that large mechanized forces of the Nazi army fought their way through to Salonika, after driving to within 30 miles of Greek forces from the plains of the Vardar valley, following a surprise march across the southeastern portion of Yugoslavia.

The official statement also said that the eastern flank of the Greek army had surrendered and all of the Nazi troops which crossed the Vardar valley succeeded in cutting off Yugoslavia from all possible reinforcements from both the British and Greek forces, and the relieve of Yugoslav Greeks or any British, the announcement further added.

In the mountainous western territory of northwestern Yugoslavia, the Nazi Panzer units succeeded in capturing and routling the Yugoslav troops, marching on to Skopje and farther towards the Kastina pass, driving the Yugoslav armies further northwestard and inland.

"YUGOSLAV" COUNTRY BATTLE

German official quarters are denying that the victorious Nazi army in the Vardar valley sector has been in contact with Balkan German forces, it was said, are advancing toward the Albanian border, with the Greek forces being cut off from all possible reinforcements from both the British and Greek forces, and the relief of Yugoslavia by Greek, German or British, the announcement further added.

Hilo Theatre

With Errol Flynn headlining the matinee attraction, "Sailors in the Square" begins a special three-day engagement at the Hilo theater today.

This eighty action drama is different from ordinary films in that it was made into a four-draft plot with effect from gratuitous statement that gives way to a special dramatic treatment. The motion picture features Errol Flynn in a sea-going part as Jack Arlington, a young, penniless lighthouse keeper. Miss Alice Faye, based on an actual lighthouse keeper's son, is the son of a lighthouse keeper and is the son of a lighthouse keeper. Miss Alice Faye, based on an actual lighthouse keeper's son, is the son of a lighthouse keeper. Miss Alice Faye, based on an actual lighthouse keeper's son, is the son of a lighthouse keeper.

There is not a single dull moment of Flynn's performance, which is the most side-splitting of the film, with a number of laughs. Miss Alice Faye, based on an actual lighthouse keeper's son, is the son of a lighthouse keeper. Miss Alice Faye, based on an actual lighthouse keeper's son, is the son of a lighthouse keeper.
