LEGISLATIVE SUPPLEMENT

In the House, the威海 Select Committee is hearing arguments as to Sen­ itigation bill, will attempt to force ac­ rewarded 2-2 for and against forceful to report a deadlock on the Japanese Heneke intends to have the Se­ the measure. It is understood ir

TAX INCOMES DISCLOSE BIG JUMP IN 1941

March 31st out of net income

JAPAN INCREASED FAVOR, SENATOR FARRINGDON CLAIMS

of Kohala. Assuming that the bill

ded by the governor and the Hawaii

tion may be able to not only

According to the report, the to the Hawaii Sugar Board Com­

FIGHT LOOMS IN SENATE

_LAST HAPPENINGS

A clear indication that consi­

TAX INCOME ESTIMATES

THIRD READING BY HOUSE IN SURPRISE MOVE

MEASURE GOES TO SENATE BY VOTE OF 19-8

LARGEST WAREHOUSES MAY BE CONSTRUCTED IN HONOLULU

At the same time, another

IN WASHINGTON

LATE MARCH IS USED TO CLEAR DOCK SPACE

include the future ability of all

LAUNCH-UP JAPANESE IN THE U.S. PRESS

An American ship, the Kusuma­

Washing­

March 31st out of net income

A serious indication of

TROPICAL AIRWAYS

Senator Farr­

_paid.

IN THE SENATE

IN JAPAN

Jack Kimball, who has been

IN JAPAN

of the government of Denmark in the United States.

that the treaty concluded on Greenland.

the possibility of lack of war in the U.S. government; (3) that with the U.S. government.

MATSUOKA VISIT TO MOSCOW CULMINATES IN CON­

While diplomatic relations between of future commercial contacts,

the U.S. government.

Matsukawa, Yoshio Marcarlino, O'Dowda, Paschoal

was relieved of his duties as of the U.S. government; (3) that

About the most intricate poli­ to the Europe City Mill Company, an­

ties by the City Mill Company, an­

ties by the City Mill Company, an­

ties by the City Mill Company, an­

ties by the City Mill Company, an­

ties by the City Mill Company, an­

ties by the City Mill Company, an­

ties by the City Mill Company, an­

ties by the City Mill Company, an­

ties by the City Mill Company, an­

ties by the City Mill Company, an­

ties by the City Mill Company, an­

ties by the City Mill Company, an­

ties by the City Mill Company, an­

ties by the City Mill Company, an­

ties by the City Mill Company, an­

ties by the City Mill Company, an­

ties by the City Mill Company, an­

ties by the City Mill Company, an­

ties by the City Mill Company, an­

ties by the City Mill Company, an­

ties by the City Mill Company, an­

ties by the City Mill Company, an­

ties by the City Mill Company, an­

ties by the City Mill Company, an­

ties by the City Mill Company, an­

ties by the City Mill Company, an­

ties by the City Mill Company, an­

ties by the City Mill Company, an­

ties by the City Mill Company, an­

ties by the City Mill Company, an­

ties by the City Mill Company, an­

ties by the City Mill Company, an­

ties by the City Mill Company, an­

ties by the City Mill Company, an­

ties by the City Mill Company, an­

ties by the City Mill Company, an­

ties by the City Mill Company, an­

ties by the City Mill Company, an­

ties by the City Mill Company, an­

ties by the City Mill Company, an­

ties by the City Mill Company, an­

ties by the City Mill Company, an­

ties by the City Mill Company, an­

ties by the City Mill Company, an­

ties by the City Mill Company, an­

ties by the City Mill Company, an­

" Ngoại giao", the newspaper, was even more explicit in its increase in importance.

Natural Corollary

Describing the treaty as a natural to the signature of the Japan-Soviet the Japanese-American neutrality of the treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.

The treaty with Japan.
"I guess," Tonia said. "I'm that way sort of.
"You're pretty sweet," he lied out for me and took me to the dance. "What I see you play the saxophone to," he said. "I was watching you and I thought it's you. We've heard the saxophone at various parties."
"Mike was confiding in her."
"I understand Jim. He's a cynic — he's not in love with me. You don't want me to marry him, yes—but you don't want me with someone else."
"He didn't say." Tonia said. "Oh, didn't he mean more than that?"
"No. He didn't mean more than that."
"I don't think after all it was right not to wear whatever you were used to wear."
"She was smart and I take off my red slippers."
"Yes. You don't mind, do you?"
"Sorry." he said. "I talk to you about the airplane factory."
"He grinned. "Not romantically."
"I'm done with romance, just as I'm done with glamour girls."
"Pro-British Officers Lead These Jugo-Slavs"
"Sally Martin, a plain girl who wasn't a glamour girl ever."
"Almost after a year that was her name," he said. "She like me down here and it hurt me."
"Maybe he was badly hurt some day after that."
"I was out with your truck driver who fooled Sally."
"I was out with your truck driver who fooled Sally."
"And it hurt me all that added up for him."
"May I see you again?" he asked.
"If you wish." she told him, smiling. "I've had a lovely time."
"You're pretty sweet."
HEARST VIEWS ATTITUDE OF JAPAN AS PEACEFUL
IN REGARD TO THE PACIFIC

NEW YORK, April 14—William Randolph Hearst, in his normal column, in The New York Journal, strongly expressed his belief in the policy of the United States as being peaceful in regard to the Pacific.

Mr. Hearst said: "The attitude of Japan in the Far East is one of peace and conciliation. This is the attitude which this country desires to see maintained in that section of the world."

HEARST VIEWS ATTITUDE OF JAPAN AS PEACEFUL

Matsuoka, authoritative spokesman for Japan, said:

"The Japanese people understand the word peace in no other sense than that to the Orient, at least in its immediate field of contacts. The very ones who, through their own policies, accelerate their own destruction, are merely prolonging the conflict with China to no purpose and for a mere gain of prestige."

In an interview given lately in Tokyo, Foreign Minister Matsuoka declared that the "powers that criticize that pact are the ones who are really interested, either for a sphere of trade, and a sphere of influence, and a sphere of defense in the Orient 'betokens ambitious designs.'"

In an interview given lately in Tokyo, Foreign Minister Matsuoka declared that the "powers that criticize that pact are the ones who are really interested, either for a sphere of trade, and a sphere of influence, and a sphere of defense in the Orient 'betokens ambitious designs.'"

Perhaps it is a good thing that Japan is in the Axis combination. Her influence might be for peace.

The attitude of Japan seems to be definitely conciliatory and pacific—especially her immediate home interests and concerns.

QUOTES MATSUOKA

In an interview given lately in Tokyo, Foreign Minister Matsuoka, authoritative spokesman for Japan, said:

"The Japanese people understand the word peace in no other sense than that to the Orient, at least in its immediate field of contacts. The very ones who, through their own policies, accelerate their own destruction, are merely prolonging the conflict with China to no purpose and for a mere gain of prestige."

In an interview given lately in Tokyo, Foreign Minister Matsuoka declared that the "powers that criticize that pact are the ones who are really interested, either for a sphere of trade, and a sphere of influence, and a sphere of defense in the Orient 'betokens ambitious designs.'"

"The Japanese people understand the word peace in no other sense than that to the Orient, at least in its immediate field of contacts. The very ones who, through their own policies, accelerate their own destruction, are merely prolonging the conflict with China to no purpose and for a mere gain of prestige."

In an interview given lately in Tokyo, Foreign Minister Matsuoka declared that the "powers that criticize that pact are the ones who are really interested, either for a sphere of trade, and a sphere of influence, and a sphere of defense in the Orient 'betokens ambitious designs.'"

Perhaps it is a good thing that Japan is in the Axis combination. Her influence might be for peace.

The attitude of Japan seems to be definitely conciliatory and pacific—especially her immediate home interests and concerns.

"The powers that criticize that pact are the ones who are really interested, either for a sphere of trade, and a sphere of influence, and a sphere of defense in the Orient 'betokens ambitious designs.'"

"The Japanese people understand the word peace in no other sense than that to the Orient, at least in its immediate field of contacts. The very ones who, through their own policies, accelerate their own destruction, are merely prolonging the conflict with China to no purpose and for a mere gain of prestige."

In an interview given lately in Tokyo, Foreign Minister Matsuoka declared that the "powers that criticize that pact are the ones who are really interested, either for a sphere of trade, and a sphere of influence, and a sphere of defense in the Orient 'betokens ambitious designs.'"

Perhaps it is a good thing that Japan is in the Axis combination. Her influence might be for peace.

The attitude of Japan seems to be definitely conciliatory and pacific—especially her immediate home interests and concerns.

"The Japanese people understand the word peace in no other sense than that to the Orient, at least in its immediate field of contacts. The very ones who, through their own policies, accelerate their own destruction, are merely prolonging the conflict with China to no purpose and for a mere gain of prestige."

In an interview given lately in Tokyo, Foreign Minister Matsuoka declared that the "powers that criticize that pact are the ones who are really interested, either for a sphere of trade, and a sphere of influence, and a sphere of defense in the Orient 'betokens ambitious designs.'"

Perhaps it is a good thing that Japan is in the Axis combination. Her influence might be for peace.

The attitude of Japan seems to be definitely conciliatory and pacific—especially her immediate home interests and concerns.

ARMY, CIO KEEP FORD BUSY

As the Army's Combined Intelligence and Operations Office, Ford Motor is busy these days, according to Lieut.-Col. R. S. Chavin, commanding officer, who said they are working night and day to do the best for the performances of the Army in the future.

"We have a great deal of work to do and have done; to disseminate information; to assist our people in the different communities as well as to do a great deal of the work of conservation and development."

Lieut.-Col. R. S. Chavin, commanding officer, who said they are working night and day to do the best for the performances of the Army in the future.

In his interview with the Pacific Journal, Lieut.-Col. R. S. Chavin, commanding officer, who said they are working night and day to do the best for the performances of the Army in the future.

"We have a great deal of work to do and have done; to disseminate information; to assist our people in the different communities as well as to do a great deal of the work of conservation and development."

Lieut.-Col. R. S. Chavin, commanding officer, who said they are working night and day to do the best for the performances of the Army in the future.
HILO YBA, KOHALA VICTORS
IN BLAU TENNIS TOURNAMENT

The annual Big Island Athletic union tennis championship tournament got under way with first matches yesterday at Hilo.

In Hilo, the Hilo YBA club turned the tables on the Kona Kauai High School, winning 5-1, while at Kona the home team showed unexpected strength downing Naalehu visiting by a 4-1 score.

It was another day of good tennis for the island with each team giving its best to win the annual Cup. Hihiu of Hilo and Amos of Kona were the outstanding players of the day.

BEAT WAINAKU
IN FINAL TILT
IS UNDEFEATED

Ending the saga of the Hilo-Cartwright-Lihue-Maui tennis Climbers, Madlos Alla, 10th and last Saturday morning in an invitation inter-island game at the Memorial Field, the powerful Oahu nine, Pearl City, played off 3 to 0 in a one-hour match.

In the sightseeing game, Hihiu, a member of the Oahu Climbers sponsored by the Honolulu All-Stars, was able to accept an invitation to take part in the championship possibilities as the match will have no bearing on the 1941 AAU cage title. Hank Luisetti will in the 4-Island championship, and the match which was originally scheduled for this afternoon, instead. These two and the Tax Office vs. Canec AC tilt will be played on Wednesday afternoon, instead.

The only Kau victory was scored by Benny of Kula High School 9-2 against the homes in the very first contest of the day.

The Tax Office won the 4-Island game by 3 to 2 and thereby took the lead in the scoring, while Leahi lost three to nine points against the local stars.

Kauai beat Maui 4-2.

Another game was played with the Oahu Climbers against the Hilo Memorial Hospital, the latter winning 3 to 2.

Following his return to the mainland, Prince Konoye revealed that the signing of the Neutrality Pact was the axis.

HILO YBA, KOHALA VICTORS
IN BLAU TENNIS TOURNAMENT

HILO, May 14-15—The annual Big Island Athletic union tennis championship tournament got under way with first matches yesterday at Hilo.

In Hilo, the Hilo YBA club turned the tables on the Kona Kauai High School, winning 5-1, while at Kona the home team showed unexpected strength downing Naalehu visiting by a 4-1 score.

It was another day of good tennis for the island with each team giving its best to win the annual Cup. Hihiu of Hilo and Amos of Kona were the outstanding players of the day.

BEAT WAINAKU
IN FINAL TILT
IS UNDEFEATED

Ending the saga of the Hilo-Cartwright-Lihue-Maui tennis Climbers, Madlos Alla, 10th and last Saturday morning in an invitation inter-island game at the Memorial Field, the powerful Oahu nine, Pearl City, played off 3 to 0 in a one-hour match.

In the sightseeing game, Hihiu, a member of the Oahu Climbers sponsored by the Honolulu All-Stars, was able to accept an invitation to take part in the championship possibilities as the match will have no bearing on the 1941 AAU cage title. Hank Luisetti will in the 4-Island championship, and the match which was originally scheduled for this afternoon, instead. These two and the Tax Office vs. Canec AC tilt will be played on Wednesday afternoon, instead.

The only Kau victory was scored by Benny of Kula High School 9-2 against the homes in the very first contest of the day.

The Tax Office won the 4-Island game by 3 to 2 and thereby took the lead in the scoring, while Leahi lost three to nine points against the local stars.

Kauai beat Maui 4-2.

Another game was played with the Oahu Climbers against the Hilo Memorial Hospital, the latter winning 3 to 2.

Following his return to the mainland, Prince Konoye revealed that the signing of the Neutrality Pact was the axis.
Piling Up Argentine Surplus

Long lines of trucks carrying all manner of agricultural and industrial goods are evident in the Argentinean port of Buenos Aires. The port is busy with ships loading up as result of war. Argentina also has surplus of beef which promotes trade with other nations.