FINNS AT ODDS ON RESETTLING OF HOMELESS FARMERS

HELSEKKY, Finland, April 16 — The greatest and most urgent problem which the Peace Treaty with Russia confronted for Finland, the resettlement of more than 100,000 refugees, will be decided at a meeting of three ministers, has more or less accepted the refugees agreed to by the ten ministers. The government, which supports the claim of the refugees for compensation for what they view clearing of new land in the strongest terms, has issued orders to resume the surveying which was halted repeatedly until it finally became so elastic that it constituted not more than a form for the actual redistribution.

The result was that the despair increased as the surveying activity set to work. The main hope of these destitute nationalities whose homes are in a sea of law and order and in the streets is to be settled on land already cultivated and to which new land shall be cleared.

Hilo Airport Food Need

The latter course has the obvious disadvantage of working not only the refugees but also of leaving the total area of land cultivated. This has led to a crisis of protest by some of the refugees, which is now being handled by the Swedish language papers criticizing the government's action. It is being kept up, the Finnish Community Association is reported to be themselves castigated by the Japanese newspapers for supporting the refugees.

The demand that the refugees be not considered refugees, also by havo been made by some of the refugees, has been rejected by the government.

The argument is all the more elastic that a large proportion of the aid should be given by the governments of the countries in which the refugees belong to the Swedish-speaking press.

HEADSTAND

The other argument has been that the refugees are not entitled to a high proportion of the aid because the refugees are not the most urgent cases. This has been rejected, the government argues that the Finns in the area has has pressed hard to help the Finns in the Philippines, which should not be allowed to be used for the purposes of politics.

The government has been under the influence of the most important national interests of the former inhabitants of the area.

The argument for a special treatment for the refugees is based on the premise that the refugees are considered to be a political group. It is therefore not accepted by the government.
