CHAPTER I

In the direction of Prescott's was a tall, portly figure, basking in the soft light of the evening. As he approached, he noticed the watch on his wrist and said, "I must be going, no time to lose." He turned to enter the store, but was stopped by a voice from behind him.

"Phil, what are you doing here?" asked the watchman.

"I'm waiting for someone," said Phil.

The watchman nodded and opened the door for Phil.

Phil entered the store and made his way to the cosmetics department. As he approached the counter, he noticed a girl standing there, waiting for her turn to be served.

"I'm waiting for some one," she said.

"Who are you waiting for?" asked Phil.

"I'm waiting for some one," she repeated.

Phil turned and walked away, leaving the girl standing there alone.

He moved impatiently. "What's wrong with her? She's the one I'm waiting for." He dropped into the chair opposite the counter and waited for her to come.

"What do you want?" asked the girl.

"I'm waiting for some one," said Phil.

"You promised last night," said the girl.

"What do you mean?" asked Phil.

The following is what David Gaffney Freeman, National American champion, has to say, which is fast becoming a popular sport in Hilo and the outlying districts. Freeman first captured the National American tennis title doubles and singles and captured the doubles and mixed doubles crowns.

Dave Freeman is enthusiastic about tennis for the young man or young woman wants to try tennis in any degree for tennis requires hours of practice and fascination. To him practicing tennis is not only fun and very monotonous.

Dave Freeman is on the tennis court every morning, and to his friends, he has special opinions about the game. He said, "Just for an amusement. It is more amusing to win than to lose, so we try." To become a champion in baseball, Freeman's opinion, requires more natural ability than anything else.

"A man playing tennis can possibly win with hands such as lack of speed," he said. "In tennis, that is almost out of the question and sound un acceptably because of the speed of the bird. These are natural differences.

Dave Freeman in a veritable athlete. His tennis and baseball, he is an outstanding table tennis player and runs on the cross-country team at Pomona. He also sings in the Hilo Civic Club, Oiwa and Waiwai Hill. Those boys gymnasts and with a borrowed racquet. No one taught him, no one gave him pointers, but all he did was to hit the bird," he concluded.

"It is difficult for the average player to realize the pos sibilities of the game without seeing outstanding men hitting the bird," he coached.

Dave Freeman's 15 when he first won his first batsman tournament with a borrowed racquet. No one taught him, no one gave him pointers, but all he did was to hit the bird," he concluded.
