Nazi Capture of Crete is Certain

BERLIN CLAIMS BRITISH TROOPS ARE RETREATING

BERLIN, May 29 — With the capture of Crete, promised by the British, this island has become a stepping stone for Nazi troops for the invasion of the mainland of Greece. The capture of Crete is certain now, it is announced, as the British forces are reported to be retreating, according to the latest reports from Crete.

British forces are reported to be becoming massed in strategic positions on Crete, but British news service reports are not available for confirmation of the reports of the capture of Crete.

The capture of Crete will be a heavy blow to the British forces, as the island is rich in natural resources and can be used as a base for further operations.

The British forces on Crete are in a critical situation and are in need of immediate aid from the United States.

National Wheel of Preparedness

The national wheel of preparedness is now in operation as the country faces the threat of war.

We should not only talk about it, but we should also be prepared to take action.

The national wheel of preparedness is a system designed to mobilize the country in the event of war. It includes the mobilization of transportation, communications, and other essential services.

The system is designed to ensure that the country is ready to respond to any threat, and to ensure that the necessary resources are available to meet the demands of war.

We should be prepared to act, as the national wheel of preparedness is in operation.

National Naval and Army Bases

Important naval and army bases of Uncle Sam are now in operation as the country faces the threat of war.

Military units are being mobilized and trained for service abroad.

The country is prepared to meet any threat, and to ensure that the necessary resources are available to meet the demands of war.

We should be prepared to act, as the national wheel of preparedness is in operation.

National Policy of Conscientious Objectors

The national policy of conscientious objectors is now in operation as the country faces the threat of war.

We should not only talk about it, but we should also be prepared to take action.

The national policy of conscientious objectors is a system designed to protect the rights of those who are opposed to war.

The system is designed to ensure that the rights of conscientious objectors are protected, and that they are not forced to take part in war.

We should be prepared to act, as the national policy of conscientious objectors is in operation.

National Emergency

The national emergency is now in operation as the country faces the threat of war.

We should not only talk about it, but we should also be prepared to take action.

The national emergency is a system designed to mobilize the country in the event of war.

The system is designed to ensure that the country is ready to respond to any threat, and to ensure that the necessary resources are available to meet the demands of war.

We should be prepared to act, as the national emergency is in operation.

National War Council

The national war council is now in operation as the country faces the threat of war.

We should not only talk about it, but we should also be prepared to take action.

The national war council is a system designed to coordinate the activities of the various departments of the government in the event of war.

The system is designed to ensure that the various departments of the government are working together to meet the demands of war.

We should be prepared to act, as the national war council is in operation.

National Policy of Reparations

The national policy of reparations is now in operation as the country faces the threat of war.

We should not only talk about it, but we should also be prepared to take action.

The national policy of reparations is a system designed to ensure that the country is ready to respond to any threat, and to ensure that the necessary resources are available to meet the demands of war.

We should be prepared to act, as the national policy of reparations is in operation.
ESCAPE FROM HEARTBREAK

by MARGARET BRUCKER

Valerie Wentworth, clerk in a department store in the small Midwestern town where she grew up, is about to be married by default. Her fiancé, Terry Sullivan, is the city editor of the local newspaper, and as a result of his job, he spends less time at home. While Valerie is waiting for Terry to return from a business trip, she meets Duke Maxwell, an orchestra leader, who offers to take her to a show. Valerie accepts the offer and attends the show, but when Terry finally returns, she is surprised to find that Duke is still waiting for her. Valerie is torn between her love for Terry and her attraction to Duke, but in the end, she decides to follow her heart and leave Terry for Duke.

CHAPTER II

During the days that followed, Valerie was kept very busy. The work at the store was more demanding, and Valerie found herself unable to concentrate on her thoughts. As a result, she spent more time with Duke and less time with Terry. Valerie's decision to leave Terry for Duke was not an easy one, but she knew that it was the right thing to do. She realized that while Terry was a good man, he was not the one who could make her happy. Valerie was lonely and in need of love, and Duke was the one who could provide it for her. Valerie's decision was a difficult one, but she knew that it was the only one that would make her happy in the long run.

"Saludor" Clears the Hurdle

By MARGARET BRUCKER

Valerie's decision to leave Terry for Duke was not an easy one, but she knew that it was the right thing to do. She realized that while Terry was a good man, he was not the one who could make her happy. Valerie was lonely and in need of love, and Duke was the one who could provide it for her. Valerie's decision was a difficult one, but she knew that it was the only one that would make her happy in the long run.

THE HAINAUCHI

Friday, May 30, 1941

HIS COAT FOR BRITAIN — Wind from Betty North's, 18

Sarsaparilla, in Hainau, England, is spun into stock in yarn for sailors. Fibre is particularly strong, according to report. This little dog laughs. Passed by British censor.

GESTURE — As a gesture of good will from British airfield district in France, this youth gift presents bouquet to Chief of Staff Haislip, Philip Pate. On, one of the days, Chief of Staff, in Paris, of the French government, and at Pétain's right is M. Cané, Secretary of State for Agriculture, Passed by French censor.

'Hot Stuff' — Wind picture shows body of Benjamin Brewster, New York and Le"
President Franklin D. Roosevelt's
Unlimited Emergency Proclamation

"By the President of the United States of America, a proclamation:

..."
With the death of Max Schmeling, the pugilistic world has lost a colorful figure. Schmeling, formerly heavyweight boxing champion of the world, was killed Wednesday night on the island of Crete, where he tried to escape from the British troops who were escorting him to prison in a British ship. Schmeling was born on September 22, 1905, in Kiel, Germany, near Potsdam. He started his boxing career as an amateur in 1923 and only one year later was running up the German championship. At that time he decided to make fighting his profession.

After much campaigning in the cauliflower row, Schmeling won the world title from Jack Sharkey in 1930. This was a great triumph for the young American, and it established Schmeling in the world's boxing arena.

The peak of his career was reached in 1932 when he defeated James J. Braddock in New York. This victory gave Schmeling the world's heavyweight title, and he held it for four years. However, in 1936, he was defeated by Joe Louis in New York, losing the title.

Schmeling's old opponents in the ring had only the highest respect for him. They were all Extremists at different times, and he was defeated by Bob Sweeney in 1932.

But the game German fighter was blasted out of the ring by Max Schmeling, the pugilistic master who carried on by the psychological clinic at Northwestern University.

The work done by Haggard is carried on by the psychological clinic at Northwestern University. A skilled tester, may add greatly to the child's story instead of referring to it by name.

The hero of the cartoon as "he" or "she" is a skilled tester, may add greatly to the child's story instead of referring to it by name.

The child featured a hero who aggressively works to bring order into a chaotic situation.

COMICS TO AID LAGGARD CHILD FOUND USEFUL

Major League Baseball

National League

American League

Chicago 4, St. Louis 1

St. Louis 6, New York 4

St. Louis 9, Pittsburgh 6

Pittsburgh 3, Chicago 2 (3 r f f final inning, rain)

COINS TO AID LAGGARD CHILD FOUND USEFUL

In Chicago, Tuesday, May 29, Bill Schmeling beat out the best of the National Professional baseball V.I.Ps for his benefit game to aid the Laggard Child. The game was played in front of a capacity crowd and bills were knocked down for the benefit of the child.

Tilden is Defeated

In Tennis Tournament

Chicago, May 28—Bill Tilden lost in the quarterly state of the National Professional baseball tournament to Roger Cole, Kline and Settle, in the June 19 tourney, the tournament organizers announced. The game was played in front of a capacity crowd and bills were knocked down for the benefit of the child.

The child featured a hero who aggressively works to bring order into a chaotic situation.

The child's feature was at the center of the article, and the story was continued from the previous issue.

BAAER'S TITLE CLAIM DENIED

Commission Serves Elected for Title

Washington, May 29—The District of Columbia's boxing commission turned down the challenge to the title of world lightweight champion by Harry Baer who claims to have knocked out the champion of the world.

It was reported by a reliable native source at Alexandria, Va., that the commission was expected to rule that Baer would be allowed to hold the title.

It was also revealed for the first time that Schmeling's last war was in the parachute service.

Bill Conn Signed for Famous Ring

NEW YORK May 29—A contract was signed by Larry D'Amato for his Lightweight, nickname "The Tiger," to fight for the Lightweight championship.

The commission denied the professional boxing commission of the world.

Jacque Wilson is Easy T'Ko Winner

Hollywood, May 31—Jacque Wilson, Lightweight, knocked out the last round second at an easy 60 feet, 10 inches, according to the official score of the California Athletic Commission.

Other favorites advanced to the final round, but none of them were as convincing as Wilson.

Mears, averaging 111.00 pounds, knocked out in the third round, only 19 pounds, and left Jacque Wilson standing tall.

Mears, averaging 111.00 pounds, knocked out in the third round, only 19 pounds, and left Jacque Wilson standing tall.

Mears, averaging 111.00 pounds, knocked out in the third round, only 19 pounds, and left Jacque Wilson standing tall.

Mears, averaging 111.00 pounds, knocked out in the third round, only 19 pounds, and left Jacque Wilson standing tall.

Mears, averaging 111.00 pounds, knocked out in the third round, only 19 pounds, and left Jacque Wilson standing tall.