REGULAR SCHEDULE IS ADVOCATED FOR JAPANLABOR IN PLACE OF PRESENT SETUP

EDUCATORS, INDUSTRIALISTS AND GOVERNMENT LEADERS MEET TO ADJUST WAGES PROGRAM FOR LABOR

TOKYO, June 6—A regular salary system for factory workers, based on efficiency and output will be the subject of discussion between educational, business and labor leaders.

Representatives from the Ministry of Education, National and Commercial co-operating companies will exchange opinions with officials from the Ministry of Labor and Labor College at the National University.

Discussion will center around the advisability of adopting a basic salary scale system on the lines of a safety net over the present system of salary Greater, as the basic salary scale system would lead to greater assurance of a minimum income for the workers, as well as eliminate criticisms directed against the system of the present system.

At the first session, a report on the present situation of Japanese labor was presented, with the hope of promoting standardized salaries in factories.

Several measures were proposed for the improvement of the present system, including the adoption of a new basic salary scale system.

NOUMA TALK IS HAILED BY JAPAN TIMES

TOKYO, June 6—Anticipating Kunitomo, the free-lance writer, has called for a "practical" approach to the problem of the relationship between labor and industry. He stated that "dramatic" statements are not needed to make labor understand their situation.

Mr. Kunitomo pointed out that the present system of salary determination is not adequate, and that real wages should be based on the actual value of work done.

The writer also emphasized the importance of the "human factor" in determining wages, as well as the need for better organization of labor unions.

JAPANESE BUSINESS MEN MEET TO DISCUSS THE PROBLEM OF Wages

TOKYO, June 6—Representatives from the Ministry of Labor and other government officials met with business leaders to discuss the problem of wages.

The meeting was called to address the issue of wage determination and to find a fair and consistent approach to the problem.

The discussion centered around the need for a new salary system that would take into account the varying needs and responsibilities of different workers.

Several proposals were made, including a system based on the "value of work performed" and another based on the "cost of living index.

ESCAPE from HEARTBREAK
by MARGARET FRICKER

Broken, hearted after a romance that ended abruptly at the hands of the censor, Miss Valerie Stanely has finally come to the conclusion that she was not only her own worst enemy but that her career as a stage actress was in jeopardy. In a desperate attempt to save her career, she decides to take matters into her own hands and leave the country.

CHRISTMAS DECISION

Valerie's desire to escape from Heartbreak Island is finally realized when she receives a letter from Torny, the man she loves. The letter contains a proposal of marriage, but Valerie is hesitant to accept it, knowing that Torny's family will not approve of her. However, she cannot resist the temptation to show Torny that she truly cares for him. On Christmas Day, Valerie makes her decision and prepares to leave for Heartbreak Island.

NEW YEAR'S EVE

Valerie's plan is foiled when she is stopped by a police officer who asks her to identify herself. Valerie is forced to confront her past and realize that her decision to leave Heartbreak Island was a hasty one. She decides to stay and give Torny a chance to make things right.

Valerie's decision is made

Valerie tells Torny about her decision and the two of them begin to plan their future together. They decide to marry and spend New Year's Eve together. However, their happiness is short-lived when Torny's family arrives and demands that Valerie leave immediately.

The end

Valerie is forced to leave Heartbreak Island and Torny's family. She is heartbroken but realizes that she made the right decision. She returns to Heartbreak Island and begins to rebuild her life, determined to make things right with Torny and his family.

County Defeats Helco, Canecs Down Amfac In Games

While much talk is being heard hereabouts about the necessity of swimming pools, the Ewa plantation of Rural Oahu only recently opened a million dollar pool in the rear of their big gymnasium. No, the Tenney Memorial Pool, as it is known, did not cost a million dollars, but for this generation and the next, the pool will be worth a million as a body builder for the boys and girls of the plantation.

As John B. Need, manager of the plantation’s industrial relations department, remarked, “Nothing like a swimming pool to keep the kids at home and out of mischief, and how they love it.”

This beautiful Ewa pool which is prized as the best in the territory is a gift from the Tenney children in memory of their father, Edward Davies Tenney, founder and director of the Ewa plantation from 1890 to 1924.

The pool is completely modern with dressing rooms for men and women and with concrete ladders to accommodate four hundred persons. A semicircular concrete pavilion adjoins the pool house the showers, attendants’ and musicians’ room.

Eving 75 feet by 15 feet the pool is the envy of every plantation in the territory. It is constructed entirely of concrete and faced with green and white ceramic tile. The latter, off-white in color, is laid with abundant motoring.

The depth of the pool is six feet six inches at the shallow end and five feet at the deep end. A reinforced glass, three-meter diving tower is located at the deep end. This diving tower and the type of ocean patron are the special features incorporated in this pool.

The pool has six lanes and is ideal for a swimming meet. The capacity of a 100,000 gallons of circulating chlorinated water, with pumping facilities for a complete change of pool water every eight hours.

Maintenance of the Tenney Memorial Pool will be under the Ewa Recreation Association, which sponsors all sports at the E. Tenney recreation center.

At the opening ceremony which was held two weeks ago, Duke P. Kahanamoku, former world’s champion swimmer, was the guest of honor, with F. Frank Rorka, former Olympic diving champion, as exhiubit.

Miss Wilmington Tenney, daughter of the late Mr. Tenney, presented the pool with a short speech in behalf of her Tenney children.
