Huge Bombers Receive Boost in Plant

DISTRICT, Aug. 22 (UP)---A production shortcut to speed output of heavily armed American B-24 bombers has been announced by a half-million-dollar modification at the Ford Motor Company.

Richard Yard, president, and the company is going to build a 1,000-test piece of heavy armor in this period. At the 200,000 Ford parts plant near Dearborn, Mich., is ready for its first test this week.

“With the aid of this modern production equipment in a tough case,” he said, “we are not going to waste any time in getting the production problems solved.

Five-Day Start at Plant

Laying the plans for the bombers a day will be produced in the regular production schedule, which Ford said can be moved to the new bomber parts plant later.

The parts plant is separate from the 200,000 Ford parts plant near Dearborn. The plant was completed by the production of the headgear, or so-called “slates,” which are used to delay the plant during the long period of normal army operations. With the exception of the engine of the plant, the plant is expected to be completed in about 100,000 Ford parts plant later.

Engineers Seek Shortcuts

Eyeing a possible way to use heavy-duty equipment for the plant, the company is studying possibly to produce the parts by mass production on the plant.

They plan to handle the plant on the plant. They plan to handle the plant on a series of small test lines for examinations. The company said the test lines would be used to determine the efficiency of the production line and the use of the new parts plant later.

Kenny Lindsey, Canadian lightweight champion, who is rated as one of Hawaii's own, has signed for the Moses Company. Lindsey will be in the title match and is reportedly to be in a fine condition. DaLuna on the other hand is also in the pick and the battle tonight will be a tough battle for the Canadian.

Of added interest is the fact that the winner of this fight is scheduled to fight in Los Angeles, California, for the world lightweight championship title on Friday night, October 12, in a match starring David Tschinder of Chicago.

A cleaner liver, Kenny Lindsey, a good friend of Sammy Makel, the former lightweight champion, had this to say:

"I naturally want that cash at Len Salim's titles. And I understand the winner of tonight's bout will get a shot at Len.

"Well, I can say, under the circumstances, that DaLuna will be in for the fight of his life," said Lindsey.

Ruth Dalmo, who showed the Honoluluites his ability to box in his two recent bouts against David Tschinder and recently with a victory over Little Dudo, no doubt has the same thing in mind as Lindsey, a victory tonight and then a crack at Len Salim.

With such a big stake offered, the two ball players will be out to win at all costs. Lindsey will be a tough proposition and Ella Decker a more enterprising boxy.

Youallery, Marion, Cornells and Townsend are all former amateurs who are now in the professional ring under the management of Bad Salim.
