Nothing in this world holds by beings in permanence. Anything which has form is likely to break. Even mortals who are subjected to changes with the evolution of society. Animals perish because they do not know how to cooperate or act upon reason. They use judgment. They study the past and look forward into the future, for there are concerns of the past, the present and the future.

THIRD CHAPTER

Jim was not accustomed to being up so early, but he was determined to make the most of the day. He had arranged to meet his friend, Harry, at the park at 8:30. He got up and dressed quickly, knowing that he had a lot of work to do. He had a meeting arranged with a client at 9:00, and he also had to pick up a package at the post office.

He quickly made his way to the park, where he met Harry. They walked to the office, where they had breakfast.

The first part of 1884 was a banner season at the prison, after adequate trial, had abandoned the "human system" of examinations which were conducted without predecessors that "chatting would never be eliminated until you shut off still competition for grades."

The most serious mutiny of the prison took place on Oct. 27, 1887, when convicts captured the new superintendent, Thomas Gates. An inmate serving a life term rushed to the superintendent's aid, and helped shoot four of the mutineers. He was pardoned for his action, and later it was learned that he had planned the mutiny with the intention of turning against the outlaws and earning the pardon he received. Superintendents Gates was stabbed in the neck and back and never fully recovered. He later committed suicide.

During this period, Tomstone's notorious Backside Frank Leslie was convicted of his 14th murder and sentenced to serve a life term at the Yuma prison.
