CHAPTER I

BROAD bands of sunlight and shadow stippled the interior of the little Fruitland Church. Sunlight, shadow and a certain serenity lay upon the church. The bride sat alone.

Behind the church, in the second story, a light burned.

A small, nude, motionless figure lay on a bed. A red curtain was drawn around it. A great column of smoke rose toward the ceiling.

It was the bride.

She was not breathing, but her body was still. Her arms and legs were calm. The top of her head was covered with a white sheet.

In the room, a small figure sat on a stool.

It was the doctor.

He was speaking in a low, quavering voice.

"The patient is unconscious. Her blood pressure is normal. She is breathing normally. But she will not come to. She needs to be washed."

The nurse went to the foot of the bed.

She washed the bride's face with cold water.

The bride's eyes opened.

"Oh, yes," she whispered. "I know. I am married. I am—"

She died, and the doctor went to the foot of the bed.

He looked at the bride. Then he looked at the nurse.

"She is dead," he said.

The nurse nodded.

"Yes," she said. "She is dead."

Hawaiian Storitories

Being in the best of conditions of his whole fight- ing career, the Hawaiian challenger to Joe Louis, bantamweight, is confident that he will be the new champion comes September 25, Monday, when the title bout is scheduled.

So casual and unbusiness like is Novoa's confidence to that he has invented many of the delayed boxing fans that he may turn the trick which Billy Goan, Max and Bader, Jax Schonning and numerous others failed to do.

However, Joe Louis' backers along with several ring coterie are picking the Champion to successfully defend his title against the former Welterweight champion Barney Ross to a.mong those that are in the opinion that Joe Louis will win.

According to King, he gives Novoa six rounds, no less. Against the Heavy Bomer, Ross explains his predic-tion that he is a man who's always on Nova and loves as much to time to get himself set, can't hope to come with the swiftness of Louis' panning. After all, Max and Buxy have enticed that Louis and actually counting, hit half as hard. Nova will be awesome to figures and have him downed up, I don't think that will be enough in this case.

It is very likely that should Joe Louis retain his bantamweight crown Monday night of the New York, he will retire from the ring in which case he will be the second bantamweight to re- turn anothericht after gaining the title. Joe Louis will be ideal to the ar-my of his fans. And Louis P. back-ers that it will take more than the "cosmic punch" to knock him out.
